CHRISTIAN SCIENCE COLLEGE ORGANIZATION — Meets every Thursday. Everyone is welcome to come, listen and ask questions. 7 p.m., Campus Center.

PRE-VET CLUB MEETING — New members welcome. Get involved. 7 p.m., Paige Lab 202.

NEW TESTAMENT FELLOWSHIP — Come join us for our weekly meeting of fellowship, worship and teaching from the Bible. 7:30 p.m., 175 Chestnut St.

UMASS FILM PRODUCTION CREW — Two films now in production. Completed portions of these films will be shown. Anyone interested in acting or film production is invited. Questions? Call 546-9058. 7:30 p.m., Campus Center 802.

"THE KGB CONNECTION" — A Canadian documentary film about Soviet espionage activities in North America. 8 p.m., Herter 231.

25 PLUS CLUB MEETING AND SOCIAL — Older students — "Live it up" with us. Announcement of Spring events. Open to all full time and part time undergrads, grad students, Cont. Ed and U.W.W. Info. 545-2145. 8 p.m., Campus Center Room 801.

Bloom County — By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone — By Mark Rollins

Katfood — By ARK

Scrod — By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall — By R. Miller

CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Bedouin
6 Clerics
11 Southern constellation
12 Set in place
14 —— to stand on 15 Used crayons
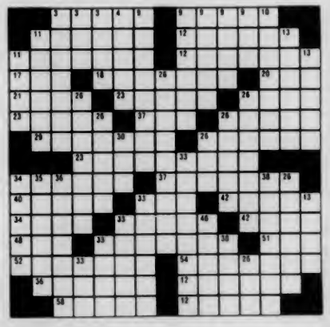
17 Miscellany
18 Tardy one
20 Mideast org
21 Fireplace ledges
23 Namesakes of author Uris
24 Marmalade ingredient
25 Van Gogh's "Bridge at ——"
27 Eggs
28 Poet Alighieri
29 Spiritualists gatherings
31 Classified
32 Leggy arthropod
34 Holiday happening
37 Another helping
40 Care for deeply
41 Airline abbr.
42 Razor sharpener
44 Poach
45 Segment
47 Beget
48 Naval off
49 Pollywog
51 New Deal agcy
52 Place
54 Funnyman's dud
56 Painter's material
57 Pit
58 Costume
59 Show derision

DOWN
1 Worthy
2 Italian hour
3 Suburban sight
4 Let's make ——
5 Rimster's product
6 Secret
7 Ill-mannered ones
8 Courageous
9 Ike's concern
10 Bushmaster
11 Gift givers
13 Remove
14 Okinawan capital
16 Gave sparingly
19 Type of march
22 Tidal line
24 Family types
26 Malicious
28 Fossils of a type
30 Suffix forming diminutive
31 Wall St. monitor
33 Proud ones
34 Strides back and forth
35 Handsome youth
36 Settled down
38 Guzzler
39 Reddish-brown
41 Sea ducks
43 Fruit bowl item
45 Noggins
46 Actress Terry
49 "— a —— told by an idiot
50 Site of Cork
53 Former Mideast gp
55 Compass point



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

B	I	C	E	D	O	R	A	S	C	I	L	A	D
A	C	R	E	A	M	O	U	L	E	C	H	A	V	A
M	O	O	R	I	S	H	A	B	L	E	C	O	V	E	R
E	N	S		P	U	L			L	O		O
	S	T	A	R			V	A	N	E		P	E	S
G	L	O	R	I	A		P	O	S	T	M	E	I	S
R	A	V	E			E	L	E	A	K		O	R	T
I	R	I		D	O	U	T	E		R	O	G	I	E
M	E	A	N	E	S	T		V	I	S	O	R
S	H			N	I	C	E	S			E	A	T	S
		I	O				S	T	E	S		O	P	U
C	A	M	E	O			S	T	E	S		O	P	U
E	V	E	N	P	O	W	D	E	R	S		E	V	I	L
E	L	E	R		R	E	L	M	A		P	E	N	N
E	S	T	E			S	E	L	M	A		A	R	I	E	S

WEATHER

Sunny, except increasing cloudiness west and central areas during the afternoon. Highs ranging from the mid 60's interior to mid 50's coastal areas. Clouding up tonight with showers likely west portion after midnight. Lows 40 to 45. Showers and windy tomorrow. High 60 to 65. Mid 50's south coast.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Grilled Cheese Sandwich, Spinach Frittata

DINNER
Fried Checken/Cranberry Sauce, Chopped Beefsteak Special

BASICS LUNCH
Grilled Cheese on Wheatberry Soybean, Corn, Tomato Casserole

BASICS DINNER
Nutty Noodles, Fried Chicken/Cranberry Sauce

SEX
(Now that I have your attention)
Night Graphics
There will be a
Mandatory meeting
Tonight at 7:00 p.m.

NOW FREE SODAS

whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY

NOW FREE SODAS

363 Main Street

THURSDAY SPECIAL

Large Mushroom Pizza ONLY $5.50

One FREE soda with any small one or more item pizza

Two FREE sodas with any large one or more item pizza

(must request sodas when ordering)

Price includes meals tax Call 256-8587 Amherst store only open 11:30 am - 2 am

GOING SOMEWHERE IN A GROUP?

For your next trip—any size group—call or visit us for a price quotation. No obligation—it will be our pleasure to quote you our economical rates.

CHARTER SERVICE To All Points In The U.S.A. And Canada.

• Mini-buses • School buses • Hotel, Meal & Sightseeing Arrangements • Luxurious Highway Coaches Restroom Equipped and Air-Conditioned • Express Bus Service to Bradley Airport. For Information, Call: 781-3320

Travel Time Bus Lines Inc.
99 Arnold Street, Springfield, MA
General Office & Charter Service: 783-0211
Toll Free in MA 1-800-322-0297

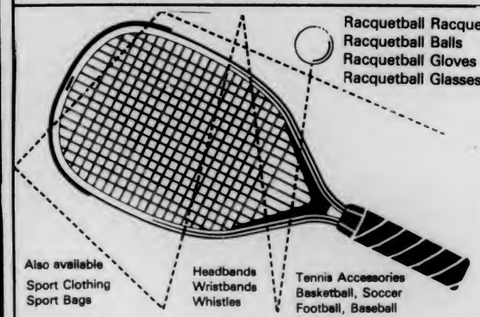
2 for 1 ON EVERYTHING

ALL NITE

Thursday

AT POOR RICHARDS

SPORT EQUIPMENT



Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees,
Swimming Accessories

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

Room in house Rt 9 Amherst for one or two June & July 253-9698

Sublet 2 bedrooms furnished Cliffside apartments $340 everything call 665-4210 evenings (June 1)

3 bedroom apartment with fall option $470+ Amherst Center excellent location starting June 1st 253-2169 Eric

Brandywine Apt for summer two bedroom fall option rent negot David 546-8730

Townehouse 3 bedrooms: close to campus air-conditioned, rent negotiable 549-5103

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 - Aug 31 call 549-1511

Two roommates wanted in Brandywine for summer sublet 1 male, 1 female with fall option 549-6289

Excellent cond. new carpets & floors 2 bedroom apt summer sub. fall opt. 665-2081 Randi

4 bdrm apartment August rent free call 253-5568 nights Swiss Village

Summer sublet 2 floors 3 bedrooms close to campus rent negotiable furnished call 549-6993

Puffton 1 bedroom apartment furnished June 1st $290/month, fall option call 549-0919

2 bdrms Cliffside $360/mo utilities inc fall option call eves 665-4953

Summer - three bedroom furnished Puffton apartment, swimming pol, bus, tennis call 549-1672

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Three bedroom Puffton sublet June thru August $375 mo 549-3722

Two bedoom Southwood apt for summer/fall option call Suzanne 253-5215

Great Apt - Brandywine 6/1 to 9/1 2 mo option, 1 bedrm, A/C, pool, cable, rent negotiable, 6-8110 or 6-8732

1 bedroom townhouse Southwood with fall option available July 1 or negotiable on bus route call 253-9662

One bedroom left beautiful Amherst home one minute from campus $176/month 256-0170

Two, one-bedroom apts Cliffside fall option 275.00 incl pool pets OK bus 665-2512 leave message

WANTED

Cash for your records, tapes 545-2836 (ask for Jaromir/leave message)

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

Wanted desperately - any old tests you may have from BioChem 205A. Please call if you can help. 546-7081 or 546-7051

WANTED TO RENT

$25 reward if you help us to find a 3 bedroom Puffton Apt beg June or Sept call Amy 6-5816 or Andrea 6-5498

Looking for a place on the Cape (Hyannis area) for summer rental. If you are female and need a roommate, please call Ann at 6-5440 Leave message

Wanted 2 or 3 bdrm apt in Puffton for June w/fall option 549-0787

2 or 3 bedroom apt dor 6/1 or 9/1 call 6-9126 or 6-9132

Three bedroom Townehouse apt to rent summer/fall beginning June call Stu 6-5445 Steve 6-5467

2 or 3 bedroom apartment in North Amherst area starting June or August call Mike 6-9361 or Sean 6-3210 not Bill

Couple seeks 1 bdrm apt in Amherst area for fall, w/possible summer sublet Call Steve (6-6877) or Alice (6-6871)

Two males seeking Townehouse, Brandywine, beg June on 546-5062, 546-5077

WATERSKI

Beautiful 66-inch O'Brien World Team Comp Waterski. Used one summer $75.00 call 549-4377

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10% • discount • Phone number FREE

ANNOUNCEMENT

American Indian Student Association Meeting: Fri 4-15 6 PM 303 SUB (Earthfoods Cafe) or contact Office of Third World Affairs

AUDIO

Speakers: Research Acoustic Laboratory 3000 - brand new regularly 700$ my price 270$ or best offer 125 watts call Peter 6-7593

AUTO FOR SALE

1975 Audi LS100 AM/FM sunroof radials call evenings 665-7541

'70 Valiant 318 ci $550 call Jera 546-9424

1979 Ford Fiesta mint poverty must sell great gas 545-0244 549-0363

'76 Blazer new parts rust 1800 253-3301

'68 VW Bug great condition, excellent gas mileage. Dependable, asking $400. firm. Call 25-5690 ask for Steve

1973 Capri 2000 automatic good for another 20,000 miles needs slight maintenance $600 or best offer call 253-7661 before 10 PM ask for Hal

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7822

CLIFFSIDE SUBLET

Summer sublet with fall option - 2 bedroom apt. equipped with dishwasher; and laundry in building. Area has a pool, tennis courts. Located on bus route. $295 per month including everything. Call 545-0182 before 5:00, 665-7729 after 5:00

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Semis, Greeks. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

ERIC'S BIRTHDAY

To a wild and crazy cat! We want to party with you! Have a great birthday. Love Fran and Joe

FOR RENT

1 bedrm Puffton apt. for rent; avail. June 1. Call Jesse: 545-2707, 549-5915

Summer sublet/fall option 1 or 2 bedrooms in 2 bedroom Sunderland apt. Bus directly out front - negotiable 665-3188

3-4 bedroom apt. summer sublet w/fall option. Pool, tennis courts, air conditioning. $440/mo. 253-3967

Large br in Amherst Ctr. apt. available immediately $150+ 549-0350

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse available May 31st Mayflower Apts 175/mo plus utilities on bus route. 256-0561

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

For Sale: Pioneer TX9500 AM/FM tuner excellent condition. Tom 549-4127

Four 21st row seats for Alabama 4/22 Hartford best offer 6-4459

Guitar six string and case both in great condition $150 253-5215

Grateful Dead: April 22 New Haven; ticket and bus $28.00 545-0500

Polaroid Time-Zero one step land camera, new, best offer 546-6629

FOUND

Found mans watch on field across Southwest last Tues call Mike 323-4929

Calculator in Grad Tower call to ID Lisa 253-5186

HELP WANTED

A SIGNIFICANT SUMMER EMPLOYMENT EXPERIENCE: in a rustic residential camp serving disadvantaged children. Stop by the concourse level II April 13 for more information. Or call TRAIL BLAZER CAMPS (212) 431-8390

Earn $600 or more each school year. Flexible hours. Monthly payment for placing poster on campus. Bonus based on results. Prizes awarded as well. 800-526-0883

Summer work big bucks work hard travel $1250 per mo car preferred not required send phone no and address to summer work PO Box 299 Amherst MA 01004

ALASKA JOBS Summer/year round, earn great money in this opportunity rich state, ie, earn $10,000-$12,000 on three month fishing boat. Send for 1983 employer listing and information packet covering all industries. $5.00 Lental Research Dept. AA2114 PO Box 99405 Cleve., Ohio 44199 satisfaction guaranteed

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate pyschology student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 PM

INSTRUCTION

Amherst Jewish Sunday School needs teacher, Hebrew, history, music and teen leader. PO Box 606 Amherst for application

LAMBDA DELTA PHI OPEN RUSH

All UMass women are cordially invited to Lambda Delta Phi's Open Rush Dinners Mon thru Fri, April 11-15 The delicious meals will be served at 5:30 p.m. feel free to bring friends RSVP 545-0839

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Fall 1983 semester. Up to 15 credits may be received from academic departments. Aid attorneys at LSO with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Maintain continuing caseload under attorney supervision. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. Applications due Friday, April 22, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required. Further information, LSO, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

Long gold chain extreme sentimental value - my life depends on its return large reward call 549-4741

RED CONVERSE BAG
with glasses, Audit books, and resumes. Please, I'm lost without them.
REWARD - Joe 253-5691

MOTORCYCLE FUN

'72 Honda 350 - orange, great shape, real cute. Sissy bar, 2 matching helmets, manuel included. Best offer. Call Tami at 665-4395 or 545-3500. Leave message.

MOTORCYCLES

1979 Yamaha 400XS Great cond. Many extras, just tuned-up must sell $1000 or BO call 253-5910 A nice bike

PERSONALS

Jolly Green Giant I love you! your little Green Sprout

Serious about losing weight? Support group starting which utilizes a safe new effective program 584-0491 after 5:30 pm

Summer work contact now call 549-4085 350 per wk relocate car preferred not required

Peer trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counseling, referral MTuThF 4-8 pm 433SU 545-2645

Sharon you are beautiful in my eyes Happy Birthday! Love Mark

Learn to Fly with the UMass Hang Gliding Club. Come to the meeting tonight at7:30 at Campus Center rm 804-08. Bring a deposit of $20 spaces are limited

MR S A MANDER Happy Birthday and Graduation remember that happiness is a woman - be sure to JHB have a good one SAL

Ilisa its been one great year I know number two will even be better love Jeff

Happy 20th John! Look out N. Attleboro Love, yours truly

Nancy Jean Marie Zaremba one final chance? William Anthony

Mitra - Happy nineteenth Birthday! (or is it twenty nine?) love Olan and Lo

If you have $180 and a way to New York you can be in Europe by the day after tomorrow. For details. call

RUN FOR RITTER April 23rd info at Newman Center

Northeast Area Government Elections President, Vice-Presidant, Treasurer, Secretary. All paid positions. Nomination papers available from 109 Mary Lyon.Due April 25. Elections May 4 & 5 questions call Doris 6-4808

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA
Open Rush
All UMass women invited
Tues April 12 9:00 - 10:00
Wed April 13 9:30 - 11:00
Thurs April 14 9:00 - 10:00
Tues April 19 9:00 - 10:00
Wed April 20 9:30 - 11:00
Tri-Sigma 382 N. Pleasant St
Questions: call 545-0046/0075

Rob - Friends are friends, and pals are pals, but buddies squash each other dead. Your buddy, Jenny

Steven - Thanks for making this past year the most special year of my life. I'll always love you. Happy Anniversary. Barbra Anne

Can you believe me when i say that there's nothing I like better than just to sit here and talk with you. . .

Happy 22nd Birthday Estelle! You really showed Florida how to party along with 16 other states, as well as finding time to vacuum (Hoover!). Have a great day! Love, Bubbles, Bunny and Redar

Michelle P. We're gonna miss you! Love The Eleventh

Do you think you might be lesbian or gay? "ComingOut" rap group for you! Fridays 7:30 PM Student Union Rm413B 545-2645

Attention Orchard Hill bus driver!! 4/11 @ 4:15 - a few minor mis-haps. Could a drink lift your spirits? My treat! - Struggling Food Science Major w/Physic 6-4759 Melissa

Cosmic Wimpout Tournament - Sat. April 23 Rusty Nail - 1st round starts at noon - Max Creek at night - $5.00 1st prize

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

ROCHESTER

Ride needed to Rochester for long weekend. Will share expenses. Call Matt 665-3930

ROOMMATES WANTED

Looking for roommate to share two bedroom apt in Puffton Village $140 per month per person cable TV call Neil 546-4309

Roommates wanted for fall semester in townhouse apartments 1 or 2 bedrooms available call Suzanne 549-2866

One female roommate wanted for two bedroom Brittany Manor Apartment 256-6632

Two considerate roommates to share Brt Manor apt in Sept call Karen 253-5798 keep trying!

2 roommates wamted for summer rental in S. Yarmouth one mile from Seagull Beach call Larry 6-7720 or Dave 6-7790

Housemates wanted for summer on Cape Cod 6 bedrooms 2 baths 6-5851

Male wanted for summer sublet @ Rolling Green 80.00 per month 256-8121 after 10:00 PM

Responsible female wanted to share sunny Southwood Apt summar/fall 253-5109

1 or 2 roommates for 3 bdrm townhouse apt for fall semester M or F 1 rm available call 549-1833

Rolling Green 3 (nonsmokers) women for fall available 6/1 $115 includes utilities Carol 256-6905

Two females for one bedroom in sunny Southwood townhouse call evenings 256-0659

Wanted: 2 or 3 females for 2 bedrm Brandywine Apt Jun 1st - Dec 31st spring option 549-2726

SUMMER SUBLET

Female wanted to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

Summer sublet Townhouse apts. furnished 3 bedroom rent negotiable call Betsy or Sherri 549-6709.

Rolling Green furnished two bedroom apt with fall option air conditioning, pool, all utilities included 256-8335

1 bedroom Puffton Apt completely furnished pool/tennis $125/person 549-5207

2 bedroom Brandywine Apt w/terace overlooking pond furnished $300 per month call after 6 PM 549-6788

Spend summer at Townehouse Apts 3 bedroom, air conditioned, furnished apt. 1 mile from campus, directly on bus route call 549-0307 ask for Liz or leave a message

1 bedroom apartment fully furnished Colonial Village with fall option rent negotiable 256-8385

Three bedroom Townehouse Apt 6/1 -9/1 rent negotiable call 549-1833

Large four bedroom apartment adjacent to campus. $460/mo negotiable call Debbie 549-0546

Rolling Green Apt 6/1 - 9/1 two bdr furnished, a/c, pool, quiet call after 6 PM 253-5986

Two bedroom Brittany Manor Apt fall option reasonable call 253-9678

1 cozy furnished room in Puffton 3 br avail summer only $110 mo resp female 549-5184

TO SUBLET

One bedroom apt for summer sublet with fall opt Cliffside eves 665-3980 549-6499

One bedroom townhouse Southwood Apts $310/month June 1 - Aug 31 256-8923

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Two bedroom Colonial Village Apt room for three, on bus route, laundry and pool facilities, $100 per month each Call 253-7158

Two bdrm Brandywine Apt pool, AC, bus rte., avlb 6/1 - 9/1, rent negtbl 549-4741

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Furnished apartment Brandywine one bedroom nice furniture avail June 1 - Sept 1 320 per month includes utilities call 549-0450

Summer sublet w/fall opt. 2 bdrm Southwood Apt. pool, tennis, bus route, heat Incl 256-6739

One bedroom Cliffside apartment summer sublet w/fall option utilities included 665-2294

1 or 2 rooms in 2 bedroom Southwood apt for summer and possible fall option! $206 for one room - big enough to share. Call 256-8323 except during any major sporting event of before 10 am

Puffton 1 bedroom apt for summer sublet with fall option 549-1331

Summer: N Woods 160/mo male or female nonsmoker call 665-7130 Thomas

4 bedroom apt in Riverglade 295/mo call 253-5487

2 bdrm Brittant apartment best offer fall option one person 256-0506

One bedroom in Brandywine apt, 6/1 -9/1 rent negot. call Sagron 549-0393

Two bedroom apartment Cliffside! Pool, T-court, on busline 12 minutes to UMass summer w/fall option 665-3904

Two bedrom apartment with fall option Cliffside $350 utilities included 665-4580

One bedroom apartment June 1 with fall option swimming pool tennis courts 665-4761

Rolling Green two bedroom air conditioning balcony summer - fall option 253-7924

Summer sublet fall option large two bedroom apartment on bus route $360 month call 665-3688

Up end downstairs apt with 1½ baths. Located ½ mi from campus in rural part of N Amherst on Hobart Lane. Summer sublet fall option 549-1749

One bedroom in two bedroom Southwood townhouse available June 1 with fall option 253-3497

2 bedroom apt Cliffside Sunderland fall option call evenings 665-3473

3 bedrooms avail in Echo Hill apt with fall option 253-7770

Two bedroom summer sublet fall option bus route pool call 256-0223

2 bedroom Cliffside apt summer sublet -fall option 340/month 665-7914 nites

3 bedroom apt in Puffton Village $350 month available June 1 - Sept 1 call 549-6912

Unique one bedroom Southwood apartment pool, tennis, bus, garden plot. Fall option $310 includes utilities start 6/1 253-5765

Beautiful Brandywine 2 bedroom furnished summer sublet facing pond, pool 549-0542

Brittany Manor apartment summer sublet with fall option 2 bedrooms 253-2214

3 bdrms in lg apt for sumemr 1 mi from town 137+ 256-0896

Sports

No wrestling fans, it's not the world's greatest athlete Andre the Giant coming to UMass. It's the next best thing. UMass alumni wrestlers will return to take on the 1982-83 UMass wrestling squad 3:30 p.m. Saturday at Boyden.

UMass escapes Brown with split

Collegian photo by Nick Mendicino

Steve Messina takes a rip in action earlier this year. The Minutemen split a doubleheader with Brown.

By KEVIN DeLUCA
Collegian Staff

PROVIDENCE - The University of Massachusetts baseball team was wondering why doubleheaders couldn't be shortened from nine innings to six. In the seventh inning of both games against Brown University the Minutemen squandered leads.

The first time it resulted in a 5-3 loss but in the nightcap the Minutemen were able to rebound and hold on for a 4-3 win.

Each game was highlighted by home runs, a three run shot by Brown's Mike LaPierre to win the first game, and roundtrippers by Chris Waszczuk and Todd Comeau enabling UMass to finish the day with a split.

In the opener, Brown struck first, scoring an unearned run off starter Bruce Emerson (1-3) in the first inning.

The score remained 1-0 until UMass scored two in the third on the strength of a Comeau double which scored Dean Bennett, and a Waszczuk single drove in Comeau.

In the bottom of the fourth Brown's Mike Sweeney, who had knocked in the game's first run, tripled and scored on a single by Steve Dailey to knot the game.

However, the Minutemen scored a run of their own in the next inning to give them a 3-2 lead going into the bottom of the seventh. In the Brown half of the seventh Emerson ran into trouble and reliever Matt Subocz entered the game. Subocz, after getting two outs, gave up the three run shot to LaPierre and the Minutemen dropped a heartbreaker 5-3.

The second game started out as a pitcher's duel between Dave Valdanbrini (0-2) of UMass and the Bruin's Tom Heckard (1-2). The game was scoreless until Brown scratched Valdanbrini for a run in their half of the fourth.

In the fifth, UMass took the lead as Waszesuk hit his eighth homer of the year (tying the UMass home run record set last year by Warren McReddie), a two run shot.

Once again UMass took a lead into the bottom of the seventh, but Brown came through again as Dan Rice singled off reliever Scott Foster to tie the game and UMass was able to end the threat with an inning ending double play and the game went to extra innings.

The eighth was scoreless, but Comeau, leading off the ninth, hit a solo home run to break the deadlock. UMass added an important insurance run to lead 4-2.

In the bottom of the ninth, Brown added a run but outfielder Steve Messina threw out the potential tying run to preserve the win for Scott Foster and the save for Subocz.

UMass is now 5-12 on the year and play at home Monday against Northeastern.

Trouble with 'T'; Gorillas lose third straight

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

PROVIDENCE Oh ya we got trouble, right here in lacrosse city, and that starts with 'T' and that rhymes with 'B', and that stands for Brown.

UMass shot 39 times at the Brown goal. And 37 of those were turned away. And there were rows and rows of Brown Desperados, scoring goals and having fun all day.

Brown scored three big goals in the first half, while the UMass team came up with none. Brown scored four more later, UMass was good but Brown was greater and, in the end, it was Brown at number one.

The University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team lost to Brown University by a score of 7-2 to extend their losing streak to three games and drop their record to 1-3 yesterday.

With the victory Brown, a team which has now won it's last five games in a row, will most surely reign as the number one team in New England, at least for the time being.

The name of the game was defense as the Bruins, led by senior defenseman Bill Aliver, a three time All-Ivy selection, stifled the Gorilla attack. Marcus Woodring was Brown's final line of defense in goal and, as his 37 saves indicate, he had a heck of a day for himself.

As for the Gorillas, the two goal outing they put in is the lowest point production they have had in some time. At no time in this or last season, did the Gorillas fail to score less than six goals.

And so, the gorillas find themselves faced with the task of breaking out of whatever laxadaisical state that has been the cause of a three game losing streak if any hope of regaining a prominent spot in the national rankings is to exist.

If they don't find a solution to their problems, it may turn into a laxluster run through the rest of the spring.

To Brown's credit, they came into the game ranked 12th in the national polls, thus making the Bruins the third nationally ranked team the Gorillas have played in a row.

On the bright side, the Bruins started their season off at 1-3 before coming together as squad and rattling off their aforementioned five-in-a-row, so a turnaround is a possibility.

The return to laxomania will hopefully begin Saturday when the Eagles of Boston College come swooping down onto Boyden Field in an attempt to wrestle a victory from the Gorillas before flying back to Beantown.

Women tennis team defeats Springfield

By LAURIE FISHER
Collegian Staff

They sat on the hill behind the NOPE tennis courts and grinned as they watched the last of three doubles matches. The University of Massachusetts women's tennis team had good reason to smile because they were putting the finishing touches on a convincing 6-3 win over Springfield College.

The team was off to a rough start this year, dropping their first two matches to Yale and Boston College last week. The tide may be turning as the team has more opportunity to practice under recently appointed coach, Pat Stuart.

Stuart, who was appointed less than a week before the first match against Boston College, is a graduate student replacing John Beal. Beal resigned in February.

It took over two months for the athletic department to hire a coach, according to team member Nancy Bolger.

"While our competition was practicing we were trying to find balls and equipment. It's hard to get organized without a coach," she said.

Well, they have a coach now and they certainly looked organized yesterday against Springfield. One tri-captain, Ariel Fowler, had no difficulty beating Springfield's Maureen O'Connor 6-1, 6-3.

"Ariel played a terrific match, she came into the net well and was always attacking," Stuart said after the match.

Bolger and freshman Chris Frazier also won their singles matches. Bolger won 7-5, 6-4 and Frazier won 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

All three doubles teams won. Maureen Hanlon-Wendy Sherer won 6-4, 6-1, Beth Goldberg-Anne Marie Mackertich 6-4, 6-4, and Laura Kaufman-Jillian Nesgos 6-4, 6-1.

Kaufman and Nesgos both freshman from Newton, played varsity tennis together in high school.

"They are a strong team, I can always count on them," Stuart said.

Stuart said she expected the team to win today.

"Considering the amount of time we've had to practice I think the women are playing well, she said.

The team will travel to Smith College for their next match next Tuesday.

Smith signs with UMass

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

Carl Smith, a 5'11, 170 pound point guard from Kings Mountain, North Carolina, signed a basketball letter of intent to attend the University of Massachusetts yesterday.

Smith, who averaged 19.9 points per game at Kings Mountain High School two years ago, attended Fork Union Military Academy this past year and averaged 11 points and six assists per game for Fork Union, which finished 22-6.

Smith chose UMass over such schools as Virginia Commonwealth, Western Carolina, and Atlantic 10 rivals Temple and West Virginia.

"We are very pleased that Carl will be joining us next season," said first year Minuteman head coach Ron Gerlufsen. "He will provide our program with additional depth and flexibility in the backcourt."

The Minutemen have the starting backcourt returning in Donald Russell and Ron Young, plus Darryl Carter, who came on strong for UMass late in the season. Smith is slated to help out the backcourt situation, but probably not immediately.

Smith, along with transfer guard Jackie Sheehan, will probably be the only new additions to the Minuteman squad for next season.

He is the second player from Fork Union to attend UMass. Freshman center Tom Emerson also attended the military academy in Virginia.

Susienka takes first place

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

Marlene Susienka reigns supreme on the local college golf scene.

The University of Massachusetts senior ran away with the Springfield Invitational held at Oak Ridge Country Club, winning by eight strokes.

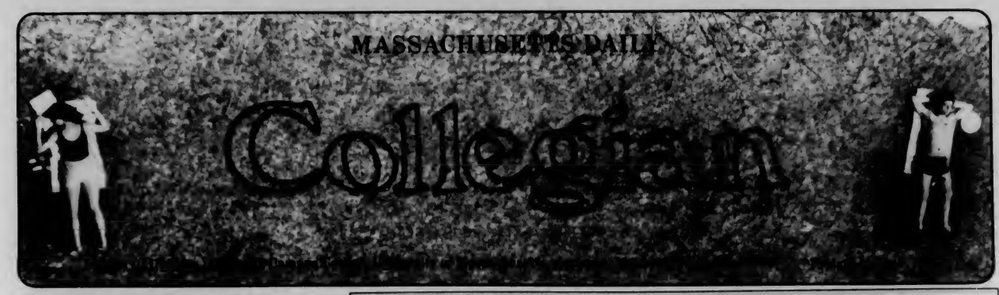
Susienka, coach Jack Leaman's top protege the last few years, shot 37 the first round and 39 the second round to finish with an 86.

Amherst College who took the team championships, took the next three spots. Judy Guzy was the next UMass finisher with a sixth place score of 92, followed by Jane Eagan who finished with a 94.

UMass was second with 370, Springfield College (423) Mount Holyoke (442) followed.

UMass will be back in action 1 p.m. today at Mount Holyoke Orchards.

Scores are anticipated to be high because it might be difficult to play the trees.



Coffee Shop's fate undecided; vote postponed

By SAMUEL CHALFEN
Collegian Staff

The Campus Center Board of Governors last night postponed a vote declaring their opposition to the Campus Center administration's plan to close the Coffee Shop.

The Campus Center administration's proposal would allow the University Store to expand into the area presently occupied by the Coffee Shop. Campus Center Director William Harris said the expansion would allow additional space for greater variety in clothing lines, furniture and for home computers.

Board Vice Chairman Mike Reilly said after the vote was tabled, "I really don't feel that we represented the student's interest." The board will vote to declare its position on the issue next Thursday night.

Board member Adam Peck, who proposed the board should table the motion which "vehemently opposed" the expansion, said, "We're supposed to be here to make a rational decision. It is not fair to make a decision without hearing the administration out."

A questionnaire distributed to students and staff members in the Coffee Shop and the Hatch showed that students opposed the expansion by "five to one," Board member Paul Knight said.

The Undergraduate Student Senate Wednesday night unanimously passed a motion demanding the Coffee Shop be left in its present operating condition.

Peck and other board members argued that until the managers from the University Store made a presentation detailing the strengths and drawbacks of the proposal, the board should refrain from taking a position.

Harris said after the vote, "The Board sure has changed."

Reilly said about 10 out of 14 governors were newly elected board members.

Board members also discussed reversing the two-week old Hatch jukebox policy. Board members argued that many students in the Hatch and board members themselves, resented the new policy which keeps the jukebox unplugged until the afternoon. The board will vote on a motion to make the jukebox operational by 11 a.m. next Thursday.

Ambassador from Grenada blasts Reagan policy in Latin countries

By CRIS SCHUSTER
Collegian Staff

Change in the United States government policy of political control and subversion in the Caribbean region is needed now more than ever before, according to the Grenada ambassador to the Organization of America States (OAS) who spoke last night at the University of Massachusetts.

Dessima Williams, an organizer of the New Jewel Movement in Grenada and the ambassador to the OAS for the past four years, defended Grenada's goals against the United States policies in her lecture, "The Role of the United States in the Caribbean: Focus on Grenada."

"The right to freedom and independence (in Grenada) has been trampled upon by the Reagan Administration in particular, and by the Carter administration," Williams said.

"Today the region of Latin America is engaged in a fist-to-fist, eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation with the United States," she said. "My thesis is that the United States relations, particularly the United States government relations with the Caribbean and Latin America is in need of change. I argue that the change is needed more now than in the decades past."

Williams said the United States government is raising greater public opinion against the Latin American policy and many people are calling for a new policy.

"This crisis is forcing an awakening in the people of the United States and the people of the Americas," she said. "That unjust and unequal relation of the governments of the United States and the Caribbean are a major source of antagonism in the crisis," she said.

The United States government attitude of Grenada has been one of intimidation and unfriendliness, Williams said, toward a country which has been "seeking to transform an independent path from the traditional lines of the United States government."

"The machinery of the United States ruling circles has not been kind nor respectful of the Caribbean integrity," she said.

Williams said the United States feels that there must be an "all out war" to regain the loss of its power in the world and that war will be in the Latin American region.

"You must know it is the intention (of the United States) to regain the sense of power on the backs of the people of the Americas," she said. "Grenada is a victim of this policy. It is the victim of the system of economic and political life in the United States where it is necessary to suppress the rights of others to maintain this system."

Grenada's right to develop relations with anyone, and its relationship with Cuba have been attacked by the United State government, she said. The United States fears the myth that Cuba is a threat will be destroyed as relations between Grenada and Cuba develop, Williams said.

The United States must allow the practice of self-determination of other countries and it must respect their governments, she said.

That will represent a start and "open up a dialogue among those who want to work for peace or bring about a change.

"I appeal to you to join hands and hearts and pens and minds for our struggle in the Americas for peace," she said.

Collegian photo by Tom Kudla

Dessima Williams, Grenadan ambassador to the Organization of American states, spoke last night in the SBA auditorium. She emphasized Granada's opinion of United States policy toward Latin American countries.

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

Amherst firefighters Mike Habel, foreground, and Dick Jenks installed an underground communication line betwen the Amherst fire and police stations. The line will accelerate emergency fire related calls between the two departments.

Vice chancellor search on

By DAVE LINTON
Collegian Staff

Beginning next week, the search committee to select a new vice chancellor for academic affairs and provost at the University of Massachusetts should begin interviewing candidates for the post.

About 200 people have applied for the top academic post at the University, according to Jan Ashwell of the UMass News Bureau. The committee hopes to recommend a candidate to Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey "Sometime in June," she said yesterday.

Last month, Duffey appointed Dean Alfange Jr., a political science professor, as acting vice chancellor for academic affairs and provost. Alphange succeeded Loren Baritz, who announced last January that he would resign as provost June 1 and is now vacationing until then.

Ashwell said Baritz will resume his teaching post in the history department and will begin working part time for Duffey as a special assistant by September 1984. Baritz will receive a salary of $56,979. He is currently working on a book about the impact of the Vietnam War on American life since the 1960's.

Duffey appointed Richard S. Stein, professor of polymer science, to head the search committee which expects to find a candidate to fill the position by September.

Alfange served previously as acting provost from June 1975 to October 1976, after former Provost Robert L. Glucksern left the University to become the Chancellor for the University of Maryland. Alfange has said he does not wish to become permanent provost.

Alfange first joined the UMass faculty in 1967 as an assistant professor of constitutional law and civil liberties. He holds an undergraduate degree from Hamilton College, a master's degree from the University of Colorado and a doctorate from Cornell University.

In 1970, he became acting dean of the faculty of social and behavioral sciences unitl he was appointed permanent dean in 1971. After taking a leave of absence from the University in 1977, Alfange returned to the political science department in 1978 as a tenured professor.

World and National News

Unexplained epidemic strikes Palestinian bank village

ARRABA, Occupied West Bank (AP) — The mysterious epidemic struck this remote West Bank village at 8:05 a.m. on March 21. Before it ended two weeks later, more than 800 Palestinian schoolgirls had been hospitalized.

They were the victims, say Israeli health authorities, of hysteria and "provocateurs," charges Palestinians strongly deny. They say the Israelis were somehow poisoning their children.

Investigators from the International Committee of the Red Cross, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and the World Health Organization examined the victims, but so far have issued no reports on the puzzling events that started in Arraba, a village of 7,000 Palestinians 45 miles north of Jerusalem.

It began at a girls' high school when several teen-age girls were sickened by the odor of rotten eggs. Dr. Baruch Modan, an epidemiologist and director-general of Israel's Health Ministry, believes the cause was hydrogen sulfide gas from a pit latrine at the school.

Two hours later, dozens of other girls, complaining of dizziness, nausea and blurred vision, became ill at the midmorning recess. It was the start of mass hysteria, Modan said. Arraba's mayor Mahmoud al-Fatah al-Arda said 69 girls were sent to hospitals.

On March 26, a second outbreak hit six girls' schools in and around Jenin, six miles northeast of Arraba. Almost 250 students were sent to the hospital. Modan believes the outbreak was caused by the rumors of poison gas.

On March 27, Palestinians stoned Israeli cars in Jenin, and sections of the town were placed under curfew. Israeli military sources, paradoxically, contributed to the poisoning rumor by saying that Palestinian militants might be spreading poisons to place Israel in a bad light.

The total of victims climbed to 320, but no one was reported seriously ill.

The next day, Modan announced that army, police and health ministry investigators found no evidence of deliberate or inadvertent poisoning. Modan says he would not rule out a psychosomatic cause for the illnesses.

That evening, a car or van, spewing smoke from its exhaust, drove through a residential neighborhood in Jenin. Almost 80 people were rushed to hospitals. Modan called it wave three in the epidemic. The victims still were genuinely ill, he said, but no physical cause could be found.

On March 29 Jenin was sealed off by Israeli troops and placed under a curfew. Reporters were not permitted to enter. In Arraba, Al-Arda and other West Bank leaders demanded an investigation to determine "what the poison is and the people responsible for doing it."

Kenneth Adelman to become chief in arms control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kenneth L. Adelman was confirmed, 57-42, as the nation's arms control director on Thursday after a long Senate fight over President Reagan's strategic policies as well as the young ambassador's competence and credibility.

Reagan pronounced himself "deeply gratified" and declared "It's my earnest hope that this positive step will mark the beginning of a new bipartisan consensus on the vital issue of nuclear arms reductions."

The president, at an informal news conference, said Adelman would head a "reinvigorated" Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. And "If we are met with reciprocal seriousness of purpose from the Soviet Union, 1983 can be a year of historic importance in securing a more solid and stable peace through arms reductions," Reagan said.

Only Sen. Bob Packwood, who was in his home state of Oregon attending a Republican conference, did not vote on the nomination. Forty-nine Republicans and 8 Democrats supported Adelman; 38 Democrats and 4 Republicans, Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland, Larry Pressler of South Dakota, Mark Andrews of North Dakota and Slade Gorton of Washington, voted against him.

Four Democratic senators with presidential ambitions spoke against Adelman in the closing hours of a three-day debate over the nomination that capped three months of deliberations in committee rooms and corridors.

Senate Democratic Whip Alan Cranston of California argued that Adelman's confirmation "would be a betrayal of the hopes of tens of millions of Americans for swift progress toward a mutual, balanced, verifiable end to the U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms race."

AP Laserphoto

Kenneth L. Adelman appeared at a news conference yesterday after being confirmed as the nation's arms control director.

Reagan declines details of U.S. in Central America

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said Thursday the United States is not doing anything "to try to overthrow the Nicaraguan government," but is trying to block military supply lines to rebels in neighboring El Salvador.

Reagan declined to go into details of U.S. operations in Central America. But he said his administration is complying with a federal law that forbids U.S. action to overthrow the government of Nicaragua.

"We are complying with the law," Reagan told a news conference in the White House press room. "We are complying with that fully."

Rep. Edward P. Boland, DMass., has said the administration may be acting in violation of the congressional prohibition against any covert operation to overthow the Marxist regime in Nicaragua. Boland sponsored the law.

While Reagan said he is heeding the Boland amendment, he questioned the wisdom of the ban. He said any legislation restricting a president's power to deal with foreign nations impinges on the constitutional powers of his office.

The brief session with reporters was dominated by questions about Nicaragua. Boland has said his House intelligence committee will summon top administration officials to look into U.S. operations in Central America.

Reagan said the whole controversy overlooks realities about the situation there. He said the Nicaraguan regime took power by force, is clearly Marxist, and has reneged on promises that it would not try to overthrow neighboring governments.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Student departmental evaluations of faculty not a matter of public record says court

BOSTON — Student evaluations of faculty members at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, are not public records, the state Appeals Court ruled yesterday.

The decision affirmed a trial court judge who ruled in favor of ..andolph Bromery, UMass chancellor, nine deans and 57 department heads who refused to disclose the data for publication.

The 69 were sued by Joseph Connolly and Steven Kropp. When the case started, both were members of the Student Senate Academic Affairs Committee, the publisher of a course and teacher evaluation guide.

The panel said some key issues of the case were recently decided in the Globe Newspaper Co. suit against the Boston .etirement Board in which the state Supreme Court held that personnel and medical files or information were "absolutely exempt from disclosure."

The UMass decision, written by Judge . udolph Kass, said: "It is sufficient to resolve the case now before us if we determine that the records to which the plaintiffs desire access are 'personnel files or information,' and, as such, exempt from inspection."

The panel said they were, which settled the question.

Tax evaders could run away with millions while honest taxpayers pay brunt of $640M

BOSTON — Tax cheats are expected to cost the state $640 million in uncollected revenue next year, and state officials said Thursday that honest taxpayers are the victims of the crime.

"The vast majority of working men and women do meet their lawful obligations," Revenue Commissioner Ira Jackson said at a seminar. "Unfortunately they end up subsidizing the evaders."

Greg Miller, deputy revenue commission in Minnesota and another panelist, added that people who pay their taxes are paying 20 percent to 40 percent more than they should be because tax evaders don't.

Jackson said his estimates are conservative, but for Massachusetts, "still we project that appalling 1984 revenue loss of $640 million, representing $8.5 billion in unreported economic activity."

The figure does not include lost taxes from illegal activity, such as prostitution, drug trafficking and car theft rings.

Jackson said tax evasion has become "a problem of epidemic proportions," and other panelists agreed the underground, untaxed economy is growing.

Brown University plans to spend $70 million will put a computer in "every pot" in six years

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Brown University announced yesterday plans to spend up to $70 million in the next six years to make computers available to every student, teacher, administrator and staff member on campus.

"What is a university going to be like in the year 2001? That's what we are looking at," said Associate Provost William Shipp. "We want to study the way scholars work — what they do and how they do it — and create a computing enviroment which lets them devise new ways to enrich and increase their work."

The Ivy League university hopes to have computer work stations for 10,000 people.

Berkshire armored truck robbed in Fall River, armed men make off with more than $161,000

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — Four men, including one disguised as a mail carrier, held up an armored truck Thursday and fled with $161,000 while a guard fired three shots at them, authorities said.

The four men, all armed, surrounded two employees of the Berkshire Armored Car Service Co. shortly after 8 a.m. as they prepared to deliver money to the Highland Branch of the Fall River Trust Co.

William Shanks, a Berkshire vice president, at first estimated that $300,000 was taken but later said the total was $160,577.

The photo on page 1 of the man and woman sunbathing in the Southwest area was taken yesterday by Tom Kudla, a Collegian photographer.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Ray Beauchemin
Copy Editor — David Summersby
Layout Technician — Will Hopkins
Photo Technician — Tom Kudla
Composition — Gain Tanzer, Laurie Frank, Adrienne Dufour, Brian Fitz Maurice, Joy McCarthy, Sheryl Silver, Margie Hochman, Liz Ward, Julie Marcinek, Alice Klingener, Sue Hawkins, Peter Soderberg, Will Hopkins, Sue Koczela, Laura Shanahan, James Shanahan, Mat Atkins, Stuart Sajdak

Subscription Rates

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Collegian photo by Tom Kudla

Ron Graham, a first year business major, took advantage of clear skies and mild winds, to do some kite flying across the Campus Center pond from the library.

Woman's charges over contract rebuked in letter by Duffey

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts administration officials claim the recent allegations of improper handling of the non-renewal of an employee's contract and the University's lack of commitment to poor women are inaccurate.

In a letter dated April 7, Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey responded to allegations made by Mary Wentworth, the Poor Women's Task Force coordinator at the Everywomen's Center.

Wentworth, who received notification on March 21 that her contract would not be renewed when it expires in June, had claimed "part of the administration refuses to acknowledge the fact that many older students with children have serious economic problems."

In his letter, which was mailed to supporters of Wentworth who had petitioned him to look into the matter, Duffey said, "The recent allegations that neither the University nor the Everywoman's Center is interested in the welfare of economically disadvantaged women are very far from the truth."

"The University is best prepared to aid such women by providing opportunities for them to further their education, thereby increasing their prospect of full job employment," according to the letter.

Wentworth responded to Duffey's comments saying, "The University is deciding what they are best prepared to do for a whole class of women."

"I don't think they have an understanding of what is involved," Wentworth said.

Wentworth has filed a written grievance against the University Office of Student Affairs claiming sufficient notice had not been given to her by her supervisor, Ruth Weekes-Washington, director of the center, concerning her contract termination.

Wentworth said non-professional University employees have a right to six months notice before a contract is renewed or discontinued.

Jim Coopee, assistant personnel director, said according to University policy, only "full-time permanent employees must be given six months notice."

"0-2 (professional non-academic employees) do not fall into that category," he said.

Coopee said Wentworth probably "misunderstands" her rights.

Wentworth claims however, when she was hired in 1979, she was given a booklet which states she must be given at least six months notice before contract termination can take place.

Coopee said the booklet specifically states "it does not apply to 0-2 employees."

Wentworth said she will continue with her grievance.

In his letter, Duffey said "Wentworth's case has been, and will continue to be, handled following stated procedures."

Graduate files brutality suit

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

Attorneys for a former University of Massachusetts student filed a $300,000 civil rights suit in U.S. District Court in Springfield yesterday against the city of Holyoke and several members of its police department.

Charles J. DiMare, director of the Student Legal Servics Office (LSO) of the University, and attorney Mark Eckstein of LSO, filed the litigation in the name of plaintiff Michael Kennedy of Holyoke. Listed as defendants in the case are Harold F. Skelton, chief of police of Holyoke; Lt. Richard C. Page, of the Office of Internal Affairs for the Holyoke police department; eight unidentified police officers; and the city of Holyoke.

The charges include intentional infliction of emotional distress, false arrest and false imprisonment, use of excessive force, general conspiracy and negligence, in connection with an incident that occurred Sept. 25, 1981 in Holyoke.

The complaint claimes that Kennedy suffered severe emotional distress and mental anguish when he was arrested by Holyoke police at the Suisse Chalet motel in Holyoke. Kennedy, the suit states, was searched by several officers, rolled on the pavement from side to side and had gun barrels placed at the side of his neck.

The complaint says officers told Kennedy he was taken in for suspicion of armed robbery, but did not inform him of his "Miranda" rights.

After being placed under protective custody for a short while, he was released, according to the suit. No formal criminal charges were filed against Kennedy.

Shortly after the incident, Kennedy filed a citizen's complaint with police chief Skelton who then charged Lt. Page to conduct an investigation into the allegations of police misconduct, the suit states.

The complaint says defendants Skelton and Page failed to properly investigate and discipline the police officers.

"Their failure to act, (in correcting the police officers) and their knowledge of the act" dictate an official policy which is unconstitutional because it encourages and permits officers to use excessive force, DiMare said.

"The complaint summarizes acts of terrorism which should not be tolerated in the United States of America," DiMare said.

DiMare said Kennedy asked the department to do something about the action "and it wasn't taken seriously. A civil rights suit was the last resort."

Skelton and Holyoke city solicitor, Harold F. Brunault, declined comment.

U.S. Student Association holding regional conference teaching lobbying techniques

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Students will have a chance to learn legislative lobbying techniques and attend workshops on student issues this weekend as the University of Massachusetts hosts the first New England Regional Conference of the United States Student Association (USSA).

Students from many New England colleges and universities will attend the conference, which "is open to all UMass students," said Public Policy committee chair, Sheila Sullivan.

Sullivan, who sits on the New England Regional Board of the USSA, said workshops this weekend will range from student control and civil rights on campus to financial aid and the Solomon Amendment, as well as lobbying techniques.

"USSA is the country's largest student run educational organization," said Sullivan. "Its main priority is lobbying for legislation of student concern," nationally and regionally, she said.

The conference begins today with registration from 1-5 p.m. in the Campus Center Hotel lobby. UMass students must pay a $5 registration fee, or $15 for registration, two dinners and a party.

Members of the Committee for Public Policy have been working on the conference since January, with some help from USSA's National Board in Washington, D.C., Sullivan said.

"This is the first New England Regional Conference," Sullivan said. "It's an invitation for New England schools to meet USSA, to strengthen networks and build a strong lobbying organization."

"Students are beginning to realize their full voting potential. If you have a tight organization working for common goals, then more can be accomplished," she said.

Janice Fine, president of USSA, will speak at an orientation meeting tonight, along with Joel Weissman, director of the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA), and two USSA board members for the New England region.

Workshops on Saturday, April 16, will start with a "Financial Aid Update," directed by Massachusetts Association of State Financial Aid Administrators (MASFA) member Lyn Nichols and SGA co-president Tom Ahern.

Director of the the Financial Aid Office Art Jackson will give information in a workshop later in the day on the Solomon Amendment. The Solomon Amendment will deny financial aid to male students who fail to register for the draft.

Professional lobbyist Anne Wexler and Public Policy committee member Sue Cottle will direct the workshop on basic techniques in lobbying. Wexler lobbys in Washington D.C., and the Public Policy Committee makes weekly trips to lobby for student concerns at the State House in Boston.

Other workshops on Saturday will cover "Civil Rights on Campus," directed by Sue Cottle and Gary Lee, director of the Office of Third World Affairs; "Voter Registration Drives," with Sheila Sullivan directing; and "How to build student control through student fees and student run businesses," directed by Sharon Davies, former speaker of the Undergraduate Student Senate, and Tom Osborne, director of the Economic Development Office.

Conference events for Saturday also include a USSA General Assembly, a dinner and a party from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Workshops continue Sunday with Fine and USSA Legislative Director Kathy Ozar instructing students on "Grassroots Lobbying," while Michael Pill from the Legal Services Office and Public Policy Committee member Jim Quinn advise on "How to write legislation."

A final general assembly to discuss state student associations, and evaluation will end the conference by 12:15 p.m. Sunday.

Labor Center out for students

By BROOKE STATES
Collegian Staff

When a University of Massachusetts student working in a local restaurant wanted to know what rights he had in terms of wages and tips, he went to the LRRC.

When a worker in a non-union shop wanted to know if she was protected by equal opportunity laws, she went to the LRRC.

When 40 masters candidates chose their majors, they too opted for LRRC.

LRRC is the Labor Relations and Resource Center, located in Draper Hall. The center was organized in the fall of 1965 with the help of the state AFL-CIO Labor Council and the educational department of the national AFL-CIO, according to Center Director Harvey Friedman.

The Labor Center offers undergraduates the chance to study labor history by combining the center's courses with another department, or with a Bachelor's Degree with Individual Concentration and the University Without Walls program.

Graduates can make an interdisciplinary major, leading to a master's degree in Labor Studies, according to Friedman. The center is not a department, but a special program and reports directly to the provosts office. It also receives its funding from there.

"This is the only program of its kind in New England. About 40 percent of our graduates work in unions, about 30 percent work in government and about 15 percent work in management areas. The balance works in other varied fields. We do have on alumnus who became a chiropractor," Friedman said.

"We work with and provide services to campus and area unions on many differnt subjects and issues," Friedman said. "We have people working on quality of life program, workers cooperatives and employee stock option plans. We are planning a new course in Occupational Health and Safety Administration regulations. In addition we run training sessions for labor law judges and clerks magistrates," Friedman said.

According to Friedman, the center has also worked with the federal government on the Puerto Rican minimum wage board and the state legislature on new methods of dispute management.

Friedman has worked with the center as assistant director since its inception in 1965. In 1971 he became director. The center has three professors who carry full course credit for teaching at the Labor Center. Professors from other departments also teach courses at the center.

Number of women in ROTC rising, recruiters say

By BOBBI GUILLERM
Collegian Correspondent

The enrollment of women in the Reserved Officers Training Corps (ROTC) at the University of Massachusetts has been steadily increasing for the past several years due to fewer employment opportunities and less harsh opinions of Vietnam, according to one recruiter on campus.

Capt. Dane Drasher, recruiting officer of the UMass Air Force ROTC, said ROTC has become more attractive to women students "as a result of a weak job market, dilution of Vietnam prejudice, and the fact that this is a heck of a good deal."

Twenty percent of the cadets in the Air Force ROTC on campus are women, Drasher said.

Major Jim Mahoney, enrollment officer for the UMass Army ROTC said although about 17 percent of the army recruits are women, "females are treated almost identically to males."

"An Army ROTC priority is to ensure not to have discrimination," he said.

Drasher said "Affirmative Action is an Air Force ROTC philosophy which permeates the whole environment of the Air Force ROTC."

Cadets Mary Tymczyszyn, a junior engineering major and Crista Jensen, a junior exercise science major, both agree they are treated fairly by other members of the ROTC.

"The guys treat me as an equal, as a Cadet and not as a female," Jensen, an army ROTC cadet staff sargeant, said.

Tymczyszyn said, "I've never run into any problems from people within the Air Force," but "I wish people who know nothing about the military wouldn't judge the military career as being bad or strange, because it is not."

Tymczyszyn and Jensen disagreed about women and combat training.

"Being in the Air Force, I think women should be allowed in combat roles. The Air Force combat roles are primarily flying, and I believe that women are just as qualified to fly as males," Tymczyszyn said. "Most of the women and men in the Air Force ROTC that I've talked to feel the same way. If given the chance to prove themselves, women would try to fly fighter aircrafts."

Jensen said, "I'm glad women are excluded from combat and I think most men hope they don't have to go into combat either. No one wants to go to war."

She said she joined the Army ROTC because "it is more outdoor-oriented than the Air Force."

"Women that like the outdoors, a challenge and adventure really go for it. It's the biggest step I've made in school and I'm really glad I made it," Jensen said.

Race for Ritter will run April 23 through Amherst

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

Runners who do not feel ready for Monday's Boston Marathon and people who simply enjoy roadraces can burn some Spring energy omApril 23 in the fourth annual "..un for . itter" roadrace.

The ten kilometer race,(6.2 miles) which is being sponsored by the Newman Center at the University of Massachusetts, begins at 10 a.m. at Alumni Stadium and runs through Amherst and Hadley, ending at the stadium.

Proceeds from runner sponsor sheets will fund the building of a shelter for homeless and sexually abused children near Boston's Combat Zone, said Joe Tringali, race director.

The shelter will be a replica of "Under 21," a nonsectarian emergency shelter established in New York City by a Fransiscan priest, Bruce . itter, Tringali said.

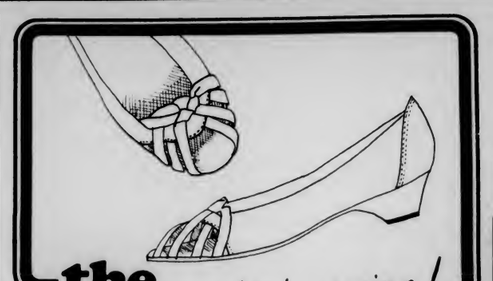
A variety of prizes will be awarded to different categories of runners, based on time, the amount of sponsor money collected and the number of entrants in a residential area.

Prizes include free dinners, a balloon ride, services of a disc jockey, athletic shoes and tee shirts to the first 300 entrants.

Tringali said that everyone is welcome to either run, walk or help on the day of the race, which he said is becoming a UMass tradition.

"I want to get the race imbedded in people's minds so they mark it on their calendar for next year," he said.

Tringali said that he is appealing outside the UMass community and is emphasizing the goal of the race. "We as college students have the opportunity to prepare for our futures. These kids have no future."



the SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st., amherst

Party with
Van Meter
Friday night 9 to 1
April 15
DJ and BYOB
Top 40 - Disco
Rock
Bottom Floor
Van Meter
Everybody Party

AMHERST CINEMA
$2.50 Double Feature
Wednesday - Saturday
Hair 7:00
Fame 9:00
Sunday - Tuesday
Time Bandits 7:00
Life of Brian 9:00
Downtown Amherst
253-5426

INTERNATIONAL FAIR 1983 AT UMASS AMHERST

SATURDAY, APRIL 16

exhibits, shows, dances, food, films, and much more from all over the world. Come and meet the world at the international fair-11:00 am to 5:00 pm. Admission free, Campus Center Auditorium.

INTERNATIONAL DISCO: 9:00 PM, COVER CHARGE INTERNATIONAL WEEK: APRIL 11-17

For details about the Fair & International Week visit the International Table, Campus Center Concourse, Umass, April 11-16. Check local newspapers or call Foreign Student Office (584-2843)

Sponsored by: International Students Association & Foreign Student Office,UMass.

SPRING 'S SPRUNG

Take advantage of our low album and tape prices. While supporting YOUR record store. KEEP THE COMPETITION THINKING!

TAPES: TDK SA-90 AND MAXELL UDXLII90 ONLY $3.50 each
ALBUMS: $8.98's ONLY $5.99

Union RECORDS Unlimited
The Student Run Record Store
201 Student Union
Univ. of Mass
Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0400/0401

Collegian photo by John Donnetta

David Schwartz, paddling alone in the canoe on the left, rows toward Mark Zukowski and Tim Herk. The canoes were brought down to the Campus Center pond by members of the University Outing Club, who expect to use the pond for canoing "excursions" whenever weather permits. Schwartz is a freshman astronomy major. Zukowski and Herk are freshmen in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Canoers probably won't be out on the pond today: forecasters are expecting rain.

Prince House may opt to leave SWAG

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

The Dorm Council of Prince House in the Southwest Residential College voted last night to take steps which may eventually lead to that dorm removeing itself from the Southwest Area Government. (SWAG).

A motion was presented at the weekly dorm council meeting to initiate a questionaire to Prince House undergraduates to see what, if any, level of participation they have in Southwest activities.

The next step, according to the motion, would be to call a meeting of all Prince House residents to see if they were in favor of petitioning to have all student activities funds, currently allocated to SWAG by the Student Undergraduate Senate, be placed in a separate RSO account for the use of Prince House residents. This in effect would remove Prince House from SWAG, Betty Fleishel-Lewis, Prince House dorm president, said.

The motion came as a result of a meeting in which Prince House had requested from SWAG $831.90 to fund an international dinner to be held on April 23 at Prince House for residents and guests.

The hearing held at the weekly SWAG meeting last night carried on for almost an hour and was heated at times as the three Prince House representatives presented their case for the total funding and ended up with a grant of $150.

Some of the arguments presented in opposition were that Prince House does not take part in Southwest activities, that the planned event was a social event and that the amount asked for was too much.

Jim Anderson, a representative of Prince House explained that the event was cultural in nature in that Prince was, the most unique dorm on the University Of Massachusetts campus because of the nature of the composition of residents. "This is the only dorm that has the mix of older students, foreign students, and grad students on the UMass Campus," he said.

After SWAG had voted a "friendly amendment" to grant Prince House the $150, Flexishel-Lewis, said, "We are going to petition to remove ourselves from this group (SWAG). You people just do not understand us and our problems."

In other business, SWAG voted to allocate $100 to John F. Kennedy Upper for dorm improvement (a new ping pong table and to provide music, party and party decorations for Southside on April 19 for opening night party and $25 for the event).

Tabled were motions to provide $250 to the Malcolm X Center for a new carpet and to allocate $80 to John Quincy Adams to correct an error on the part of SWAG.

UMass frosh close to others nationwide

By GREG BROWN
Collegian Staff

A survey of entering college freshmen, released last month, shows that University of Massachusetts students who entered in 1982 are similar in background to students who went to seven other public universities across the country.

The survey showed that just over half of the UMass Class of 1986 are men (53.6 percent), while the national average displays a slight majority of women (51.1 percent).

The survey has been conducted annually by the American Council on Education since 1975. A report comparing UMass first year student trends with those of the other schools was released in March by the Student Affairs Research and Education Office.

The other schools included in the survey were: Iowa State; University of Miami in Ohio; State Universities of New York at Binghamton, Buffalo and Stony Brook; The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; and the University of Virginia.

Academic backgrounds were also similar, according to the survey. More than three-quarters of the class of 1986 at UMass had average high school grades of between B- and B plus, while the grades of the students from the other schools were slightly higher.

The decision to attend UMass, according to the survey, is increasingly based upon the school's good academic reputation, 57 percent of UMass first year students chose the University because of its academic reputation. Low tuition costs and special education programs are secondary reasons.

In 1981, there was a trend toward fewer students receiving less public grant money and more students planning to borrow money to finance their education. A report by the Student Affairs Research and Evaluation Office compared 1981 financial aid trends with some from the 1982 survey.

One-quarter of the 1982 entering class at UMass expected to receive some money from a Federal Guaranteed Student Loan, compared with 41.5 percent of 1981's entering class. Overall, according to the report, practically all sources of financial support from grants, scholarships and loans have decreased.

The most popular career choices for UMass students continue to be engineering, business and computer programming, according to the survey. And a significant share (14 percent) of first year students are still undecided.

The survey, which polled 65 percent of the entering class in 1982, showed that most UMass freshmen then considered themselves "middle-of-the-road" politically. Over half of the freshmen felt this way, while a high proportion said they were "liberal" or "far left" (32 percent). Only twelve percent of the class of '86 considered themselves "conservative."

La Cuchina

WEEKEND SPECIAL!!!
Spaghetti Dinner
includes: small salad and garlic bread...
only $1.99
Saturday & Sunday
5:00 pm-11:00 pm
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR/STUDENT UNION

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
TONIGHT
"The DARK"
From Boston: Rhythmic Dance Kings!
with Guests: MOVING TARGETS
$2 COVER
HAPPY HOUR
3-6 pm with Ray Boston

Newslines...

Drunk driving and burglary among crimes reported by cops

A 17-year-old male Amherst high school student was arrested at 11 p.m. Wednesday for driving under the influence of alcohol, Amherst police said yesterday. Police, on routine patrol, observed the Shutesbury resident swerving from the northeast lane on State street to the northeast lane.

A burglary was reported at 11:40 p.m. Wednesday, police said. Jewelry, clothing and two cameras valued at more than $500 was taken from the Puffton Village apartment. Entry into the apartment was gained by forcing the bedroom window open. There are no suspects, police said.

Two women reported a man in a black van, which was parked in fromt of the Price Chopper grocery store, committing indecent acts at 12:45 a.m. Thursday police said. The women gave the police a description of the man and his car's license number.

In a separate incident at 11:10 p.m. Wednesday night a woman reported a man looking in the bedroom window of her Beston Street house.

UMass student hospitalized after being hit by automobile

A 38-year-mld man was arrested Wednesday by University of Massachusetts police in connection with a motor vehicle accident that hospitalized a female student, police said yesterday.

Police said the man was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and operating to endanger.

The man drove north on Butterfield Terrace and entered the intersection of Clark Road and Infirmary Way where he narrowly missed a mail truck and other pedestrians, police said. After passing the truck, he hit the 20-year-old Winchendon woman, police said.

The victim was brought to the Infirmary where she was treated and released.

Credit-Free Workshops Program offers trip to N.Y. Metropolitan

The Credit-Free Workshops Program, through the Division of Continuing Education, is sponsoring a one-day bus trip to view the "La Belle Epoque" exhibition at New York's Metropolitan Museum Saturday.

The bus leaves campus at 7 a.m. and stops at one pick-up point, Enfield Square (north side of G. Fox), at 8 a.m. Cost of the trip and preliminary lecture is $28. Participants will be free to lunch and spend the afternoon on their own.

Checks made payable to UMass/Division of Continuing Education should be mailed care of "La Belle Epoque" to the Division, University Library, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Fall course schedule books available today on Concourse

Course schedule books for the fall 1983 semester will be available beginning today on the Campus Center Concourse. The books will be distrubted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Campus Center today only. Due to short supply, only one booklet will be distributed to each student.

Beginning Tuesday, the schedule books will be available during the day at the Scheduling office in the Whitmore Administration Building.

The books contain course names, registration numbers, times, the name of the course instructor and other information necessary for pre-registration for the fall 1983 semester.

Jewish Community to hold reading for Holocaust victims

The Jewish Community of Amherst will hold a special service at 7:30 tonight to commemmorate the 40th anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising. The service will be a "Yom Hashoa" — a Day of Rememberance for the victims of the Nazi Holocaust in World War II.

The service will include a presentation of poetry and writings written by men and women who perished in Warsaw. Some of the writings were not discovered until 1950 when they were found in sealed milk bottles buried in ruins in Poland.

The public is invited to attend this special commemoration program.

Canada's Minister of State to discuss Women in the 80's

"Women in the Eighties: A Canadian Perspective" will be discussed by Judy Erola, Canada's minister of State and minister responsible for the status of women, at 4:30 p.m. today in Wright Hall Auditorium at Smith College.

$1.00 Cover at the Door
Starting at 9:00
Friday and Saturday
2 for 1 on EVERYTHING
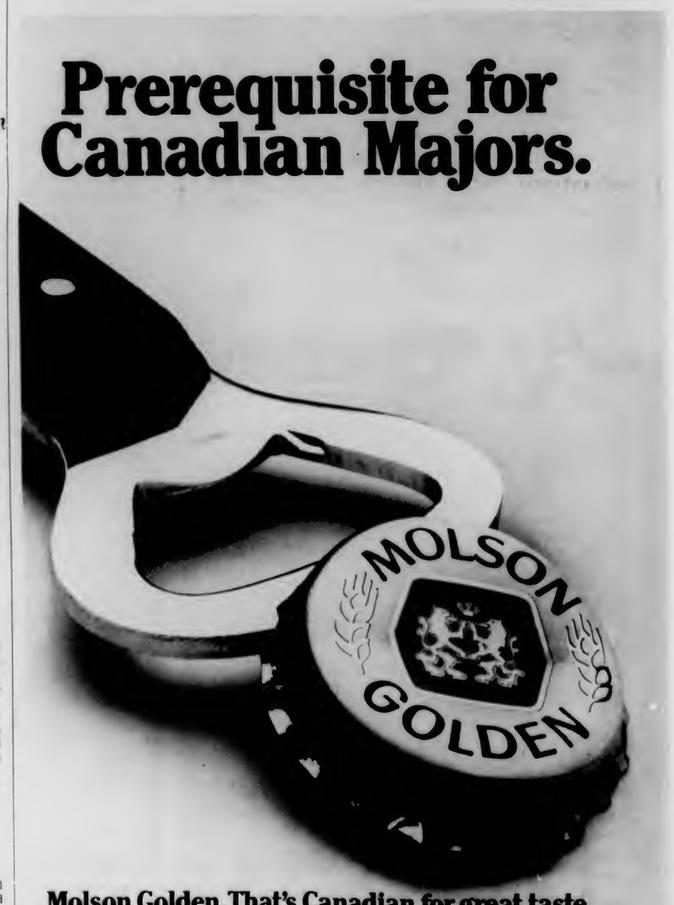
From 8:00 to 10:00
OPEN SUNDAY - 2 for 1
from 8:00 to 10:00 with no cover

Poor Richards

Prerequisite for Canadian Majors.



Molson Golden. That's Canadian for great taste.

Paper House COPIES
It's Simple. . . . .
High Quality 8200 4¢/copy
Self Service 2¢/copy
Fast • Inexpensive • Convenient
ON THE BUS ROUTE
Behind Peter Pan Bus
The Paper House Copy Shop
79 South Pleasant St.
253-9511

FOUR SEASONS
Busch.....bts.....$8.99
Bud & Bud Light.....cans.....$10.99
Carling Black Label.....bts.....$6.99
Lite.....bts.....$9.95
NEW ITEM
Classic Premium Beer bts or cans
Strogoff Vodka.....1.75.....$7.99
Wellington Gin.....1.75.....$7.99
Leroux Coffee Brandy.....lt.....$7.99
Old Crow Bourbon.....1.75 L.....$11.99
E & J Gallo Varietal Wines...1.5...$3.99
Sebastiani Table Wines....3 L....$6.99
Botter Lambrusco.....1.5.....$3.99
Andre Champagne.....750 ml.....$2.99
Kegs Delivery
Bring your empties to us.
Wines/Liquors
rte.9, hadley, ma./584-8174

Area newsletter successful in giving women career help

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

An area newsletter, devoted to linking women who need career development skills to organizations that provide career information, has been "successful" during its first year of publication.

The success of LiveWhoods, an "after-work," volunteer effort by members of the University of Massachusetts community has been "phenomenal" according to publisher Linda Levin, who said staff members are working "way over capacity."

"Our primary goal is to reach women around New England, bring them together and give them as much job-search information as possible," Levin said.

"I want to bridge the gap between women in corporate work and those in other kinds of work. There doesn't seem to be anything out there for the women who are just discovering their professional lives," she said.

Luahn Schofield, director of research and development for the publication, said LiveWhood's origin began in the Office of Continuing Education, where Levin is the program director.

"Everybody had these ideas about women and career development and we would talk about it in the office. One day Linda (Levin) saw an article about it in a news magazine and our ideas jelled."

Levin said she then consulted some writers and professionals for feedback.

Schofield said money for the first issue came from the staff's pockets. "We all put money in and got our friends to put money in" until people started subscribing to the publication.

The staff includes professional career development counselors, freelance journalists and other men and women with expertise in the subject, Levin said.

Each issue of the quarterly publication focuses on a particular occupation. It contains biographies of women employed in that field and information about preparation for the field, according to Schofield.

. ecent fields explored in the publication are women-run businesses, careers in the travel industry and computer education careers.

"It has been phenomenal because there are people all over the state writing articles to help us with the administration of the newsletter," she said.

Levin said that about 150 people in southern New England from various occupational fields subscribe to the publication.

International gala of events

By MARY CREESE
Collegian Staff

With its diverse cultural and academic events, it seems international events week is more than food and folk dancing.

Today marks the fourth day of the week-long series of events the International Students Association and the Foreign Student Office is funding and has been planning since last semester. Lectures and seminars on pressing world events and issues have been discussed and alternated with lighter cultural events, such as casual informational sessions and calligraphy demonstrations.

The groups are currently holding a raffle to garner additional funds to undercut the costs of the fair.

"So far we've had no problems, no problems at all," said Don Ross, fair coordinator.

But there is still the weekend...

The things to catch include:

Tomorrow's lineup of classical Indian Dance, a brown-bag lunch and discussion with event leader Ranjana Haksar, from 12:15 - 12:45 at the Old Chapel auditorium. It is sponsored by the Performing Arts Division. Also, tomorrow, the UMass Armenian Club will be sponsoring "The Armenian Case" — a film and discussion which will be shown at 7 p.m. The Philipine Cultural Film and Discussion will be held earlier, in rooms 174-176 in the Campus Center. The film will be shown at 3 p.m. and again at 4 p.m.

Saturday's first event is the annual Internation Fair, from 11 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be food, entertainment, and display tables from over 25 countries. The raffle drawing will be held at 3 p.m.

"Introduction to Asian American Theatre" is next on the agenda. It's conducted by the Acting Workshop and will be held in the Green Room at Smith College in Northampton from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

"Yellow Fever", a mystery comedy sponsored by the Third World Theater, will be shown at Bowker Auditorium at 8 p.m. $2 for students, $3 for the general public.

Professor Chan Kook Kim will hold a discussion on "The 100 Years' History Of Christianity in Korea from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. at 174-176 Campus Center. It is sponsored by the Korean Student Organization.

A disco and party will round out the week's festivities. Held in the Campus Center Auditorium, and the dance, by the International Student Association, the admission price is $1.50.

You are cordially invited to attend
CAREER NIGHT
for
PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS
Tuesday, April 19 8:00 P.M.
AT
Campus Center, Room 163
Several Psych. Dept. alumni/ae will be on hand to share their varied career experiences.
Sponsored by:
UMass Placement Service
Alumni Office
Department of Psychology
For more information contact:
Psychology Advising Office
Tobin 403
545-0377
Wine and Cheese to follow

家鄉園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant
"The Best Chinese Food"
BUFFET
Mon - Thurs
5 pm - 8 pm
Sunday Brunch
11:30 am - 3 pm
ALL YOU CAN EAT
$5.25 per person
MENU
Hot & Sour Soup
Beef with green pepper
Chicken Pan Fried Noodels
Sweet & Spur Chicken
Chinese Style BBQ Pork
Pan Fried Ravoli
Chicken Fingers
Luncheon Special & Take-Out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun - Thurs 11:30 am - 10 pm
Fri & Sat 11:30 am - 11 pm
19 Belchertown Road
at Rte 9, Amherst
256-[illegible]

You Au To
Wash Your Car
where you can soap,
BUBBLEBRUSH rinse, wax, engine degrease and whitewall clean.
Amherst Sunshine Car Wash
381 College St.
(across from Spirit Haus)
- Open 24 hours of every day -

TIME OUT
A GOOD PLACE TO START
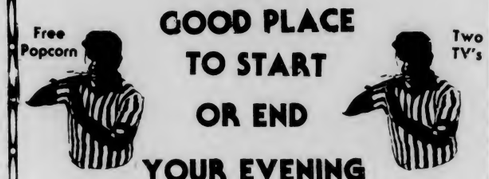
OR END
YOUR EVENING



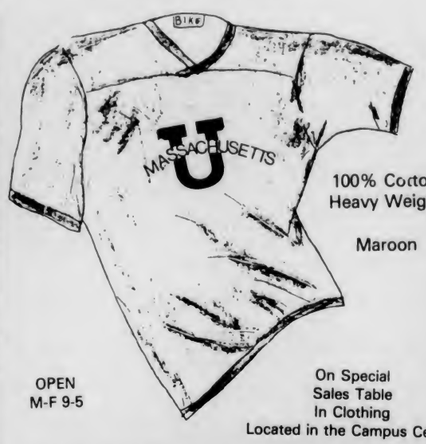
Amherst's Biggest Little Bar
37 N Pleasant St.

Campus Card.
No matter what your schedule or workload is, you can now do your banking at the new X-Press 24 located in the Newman Center cafeteria. There's only one card that lets you do all your regular banking at more than 350 X-Press 24s around Massachusetts — the BayBanks X-Press 24™ Card.
To get your card, just visit our Amherst Office at 75 East Pleasant Street today.
Try Something Better

Apply Now!
Collegian
Needs
Finance Manager
for next Fall!
It's a vital role in the business management of your newspaper

NEW SHIPMENTS!
INDIA PRINT T - SHIRTS ALL SIZES
Blouses - Tank Tops
Chinese Shoes - Sandals
GREETING CARDS 1400 DESIGNS
Daily 10 AM - 6 PM
Use the BUS STOP out front
great gifts - great prices
THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS

Special Purchase
Athletic Weight Jersey
$7.95 reg. $9.95



100% Cotton
Heavy Weight
Maroon
OPEN
M-F 9-5
On Special
Sales Table
In Clothing
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

BRITTANY BASH
LAWN - PARTY at 169 B. Manor
SATURDAY AFTER-NOON APRIL 16th
Hamburgers ★ 12 - 8 p.m. ★ Volley-Ball
★ LIVE BAND featuring TUESDAY R & R ★
★ 20 KEGS tapped at 12 Raffles
$4.00 in advance $5.00 at the door
Tickets Available at Dining Commons
 B.P. Productions ***

RUSSELL'S
LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441
Budweiser 12 oz cans.....$11.00/cse + $1.20 dep
Utica Club 12 oz bots.....$7.49/cse + $1.20 dep
Schaefer 12 oz long necks.....$8.50/cse + $1.50 dep
Rolling Rock 12 oz long necks.....$10.00/cse + $1.50 dep
Molson Golden Ale.....$3.99/6 pk + .30 dep
Gin or Vodka 80°.....$8.99/1.75 liters
Paul Masson Wines.....$6.99/3 liters...$2.49/750 ml
Chablis, Burgundy, Rose.....$3.99/1.5 liter
All Beer & Wine Specials are ICE COLD!!

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The case of the mystery series

The phone rang in the middle of the night so naturally I was wide awake and ready to answer. The voice at the other end of the line had the frenzied sound of a person who was rapidly reaching the end of their rope. It had the same tonal qualities as a first grader who has just discovered that they'd forgot their lunch. It sounded like trouble to me.

Mary Beth Hebert

It was trouble.

The caller was a student named Tom from up 'round Amherst area. You know, Amherst; the home of the University of Massachusetts, located in the bosom of the Happy Valley. UMass. A place that sells rubbers in the ladies room and used to have vending machines that sold rolling papers. It was a crazy kind of a dive that attracts all sorts of people. And some aren't the kind you could take to a beautiful baby contest in Atlantic City, if you know what I mean.

But back to Tom. . . As a senior, Tom had seen a lot of changes at ZooMass; the old affectionate nickname for UMass. He had seen it declared unlawful that students of different sexes share the same bathroom although it was perfectly fine for them to be next door neighbors on the dorm floors they live on. He had seen students barred from the use of their Campus Center and Student Union Building on Halloweens. Why Tom had even seen the Year Towards Civility. But Tom had never seen anything like this.

"I mean. . .this is just unbelievable. . . ," Tom said. I started to hunt for my cigarette lighter and said, "Uh-huh." Tom rattled on. I told him to take it easy. I checked in all my desk drawers to find my lighter. No luck. Tom spoke, "For years and years and years, UMass always had a real kick-ass Spring Concert in the football stadium. Thousands of people would show up there to get into the tunes of the Grateful Dead and the Allman Brothers. It was a totally phenomenal experience. . . But. . .in the Spring of 1982. . .it was decided by some vast conglomeration of malignant powers to not have a major Spring Concert in the football stadium. This shocked and disappointed many people, especially those who had decided to go to UMass so they would get free tickets for this wonderful annual event. But at least there was some semblance of a viable concession when The Pond Series was held. It was three good days of decent music. . ." I leaned over my desk and tried to see if my lighter had fallen in front of it. ". . . Now. . .this year, they won't even tell us where the concert is. . . ," Tom yelped. I started and bumped my head on the desk drawer.

"Can you help?" asked Tom.

"What?" I said, rubbing my head and sitting down on my cigarettes. At least I wouldn't need to find my lighter anymore.

"The Mystery Series. . .will you help us find it?"

"Good God," I thought. "Finding the UMass Mystery Series. That's certainly a cut above making a living finding housewive's cars in shopping mall parking lots."

"Yeah. . .I'll help you find the Mystery Series. The fee's $67.13 a day plus expenses. And I'll need the first days pay immediately."

"$67.13? Isn't that an odd amount of money?"

"Not when you've got a phone bill due," I replied.

I arrived in Amherst on the next Peter Pan bus. Using a stolen student ID, I checked into a room at the Campus Center which gives discount rates to students, (Notice the parallel between that and the rubbers in the ladies room?) and immediately set up surveillance.

I began by looking at all the bulletin boards and walls on Campus. Surely there would be signs to tell the students the date of the concerts and the people who would be performing there. But I couldn't find anything that even remotely resembled that. No signs that said "Get psyched for Slim Whitman". It was like James Watt had taken over UMass.

Called Tom up. "Hey, what's the story?" I asked. "I can't get any information. This town is as dry as a 4077th martini.'

"Well. . .," Tom said. "I'm afraid that that's part of the problem. We don't know anything about those other missing items either."

"You mean to tell me you expect me to find a concert that has no known date, location or performer?"

"Well. . .yes. . .sort of. . .I mean. . ," Tom's tongue always tripped over those extra periods.

"Forget it," I said. "It would be easier to find out how many snowflakes it takes to make a blizzard.

I went home and paid my phone bill.

I think about that case, every now and then when I want to feel nauseous.

UMass was so good.

Mary Beth Hebert is a Collegian columnist

As we plan to unite divided worlds

It's spring. The flowers are coming up, the weather is getting warmer and people are starting to come outside after a long winter of watching television.

Outdoor keg parties are popping up. More and more people are having cookouts. People are friendly and are forgetting about their day to day work.

Or at least they are supposed to be.

Some people have some tough tasks ahead of them.

Scott Hersey

One of those people is Harold Washington. Washington was elected Mayor of Chicago on Tuesday by a small margin over Republican Bernard Epton. The election attracted national attention because of basically one fact.

Washington is black and Epton is white.

The entire election was marred by angry mob scenes, watermelon lapel buttons and "vote right, vote white" t-shirts.

The campaign bitterly divided the city. Most black voters voted for Washington and most white voters voted for Epton.

But Washington won, and now he has to try to bring the city back together. In order for his administration to be successful, he must court those same people who engineered the campaign of hate.

It's going to be a tough job.

Chancellor Joseph Duffey also has a tough job. He wants to unite a divided campus.

Duffey announced this week that because of a rising incidence of offensive graffiti, and even death threats, he was starting three working groups to deal with those problems.

Duffey said he first became aware of the serious racial tension on campus when he heard a professor make a series of racial jokes at a recent reception.

Duffey said he was upset by the comments. He said he didn't know how to react.

"We simply will not tolerate harassment," he said.

But it still goes on. On Wednesday there was an altercation in the Student Union. According to UMass Police, a male student was assaulted by another man passing out leaflets after he took a leaflet and threw it away.

The coplaintant says he threw the leaflet in a barrel.

The alleged assailant says the leaflet was thrown at him.

Police say the complaintant was hit from behind and then struck several times in the face after he turned around.

One man is black, the other is white.

Some people have more to think about this spring than keg parties and cookouts.

Scott Hersey is a Collegian columnist

Letters

A fee for academic freedom?

To the Editor:

I was recently suspended without pay because I am in principle opposed to a "closed-shop" faculty union. I believe the traditions of the labor movement are brought into conflict with the traditions of academic freedom; no one gains from the confrontation, and students and faculty alike are the losers.

The presence on Campus of a faculty union that takes punitive action against professors who do not support the union is in my opinion oa state of affairs that brings shame to the University. According to Edward Kelley, Vice President for Human Resources, as reported in the Collegian of April 12, we must suffer in silence because protests by the "Amherst Eleven" will "help to tarnish" the reputation of the University. Surely only by protest can we hope to remedy injustice.

In a recent union circular we are told there is now much collegiality between the labor-lawyers of the University and the officials of the MSP union. It seems this is the only collegiality that now exists at the University of Massachusetts; the rest of us, circumscribed by the contract rules these officials manufacture, must remain silent while the foundations of academic freedom are undermined.

Nowadays collegiality consists of epithets such as "free-riders" and "union busters," of union propaganda, and of University officials engaging in a witch-hunt while claiming to be on the side of academic freedom.

The answer is simple. Repeal the mandatory agency fee and leave faculty members the right to support or not support the union as they choose. The argument against this by union officials is sheer nonsense. The Amherst-Pelham School System has a union with no mandatory agency fee, and the result is that 80 percent of the teachers are voluntary members of the union, which is a much higher percentage than at the University.

Edward R. Harrison
Department of Physics & Astronomy

Klan march for white supremacy

To the Editor:

The Ku Klux Klan is an old and firmly established organization. Since the abolition of slavery our country has experienced the violence directed against people of colour and non-Christians by the Klan. Unfortunately this Klan activity is not nestled only between the pages in our history books. In the last five years more than 1,000 acts of racist and anti-semitic violence has been documented by the Atlanta-based National Anti-Klan Network.

Last October the KKK marched in Boston advocating white Christian supremacy. They plan to return, or better put, to come out again to rally in Meridan, Conn. April 30th and in Boston May 1st. Their marches are not small or insignificant events. The presence of the Klan is growing. Their membership has grown to be five times its size in the past five years. To me the resurgence of the KKK has a significant connection with the conservative sway that our country has taken.

While individuals and groups struggle here for equality and a positive identity, it is not enough. The fact that the KKK can visably display their racism and hatred is cause enough to put aside our activities here to join together in our efforts to be present at the KKK rally and to voice our refusal to accept the racist and anti-semitic ideology of the Ku Klux Klan.

A. Aiko Pandorf
Amherst

UMass Maldonian is miffed

To the Editor:

Concerning Steve Masse's fine editorial to save the Coffee Shop, please be advised that we residents of Malden are known as Maldonians, not Maldenites. Actually, I suppose even an erroneous reference is better than no reference at all.

David Rosen
Amherst

We need columnists!
Drop by with a piece, CC 113

amc THEATRES

$2.99 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW ... REDUCED PRICES FOR STUDENTS & SENIOR CITIZENS WITH AMC CARD

amc HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550

Ben Kingsley Best Actor
GANDHI
winner of 8 Academy Awards
Fri (3:15 @ $2.00) 7:00, 9:15
Sat Mon (1:00 & 3:15 @ $2.) 7:00, 9:15

Flashdance
Fri (5:00 @ $2.00) 7:30, 9:45
Sat Mon (1:00 & 5:00 @ $2.) 7:30, 9:45

CHUCK NORRIS DAVID CARRADINE
LONE WOLF McQUADE
Fri (4:30 @ $2.00) 7:00, 9:45
Sat Mon (1:30 & 4:30 @ $2.) 7:00, 9:45

IT'S TIME TO FEEL GOOD AGAIN
MAX DUGAN RETURNS
Fri (4:45 @ $2.00) 7:00, 10:15
Sat Mon (4:45 @ $2.00) 7:00, 10:15

The Black Stallion Returns
Sat Thru (1:00 @ $2.00)

MIDNIGHT MOVIE MADNESS
amc HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550
ALL SEATS $3.50
ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW

amc MOUNTAIN FARMS 6 584-9153

My Tutor
Fri (5:30 @ $2.00) 7:45, 9:55
Sat Mon (5:30 @ $2.00) 7:45, 9:55

HIGH ROAD TO CHINA
Sat Mon (2:30 @ $2.00)

MONTY PYTHON'S THE MEANING OF LIFE
Fri (5:00 @ $2.00) 7:15, 9:45
Sat Mon (2:00 & 5:00 @ $2.) 7:15, 9:45

WALT DISNEY'S THE SWORD IN THE STONE
Fri (5:00 @ $2.00) 7:15, 9:30
Sat Mon (1:00, 3:15 & 5:30 @ $2.) 7:45, 9:55

They were looking to belong.
The Outsiders
Fri (5:15 @ $2.00) 7:45, 9:55
Sat Mon (1:15, 3:15 & 5:15 @ $2.) 7:45, 9:55

Pink Floyd's THE WALL

DAWN OF THE DEAD

The 1982 Index is in 103 C.C.

Mon-Fri 2:30 - 4:00

The cost is only $5.

We also have 1980 & 1981

Sooner Or Later You'll Get Responsibility Like This. In The Navy It's Sooner.

You're maneuvering 445 feet of guided missile frigate through the navigational hazards and non-stop traffic of one of the world's busiest ports.

But you'll dock safely. Because you know your equipment. You know your men. And even when the responsibility weighs in at 3,600 tons... you're ready.

After 4 years of college, you're ready for more responsibility than most civilian jobs offer. Navy officers get the kind of job and responsibility they want, and they get it sooner.

Navy officers are part of the management team after 16 weeks. Instead of boot camp, officer candidates receive four months of leadership training. It's professional schooling designed to sharpen their technical and management skills.

Then, in their first assignment, Navy officers get management experience that could take years in private industry. And they earn the decision-making authority it takes to make that responsibility pay off.

As their management abilities grow, Navy officers can take advantage of advanced education and training in fields as varied as operations management, electronics, and systems analysis. In graduate school it would cost you thousands; in the Navy we pay you.

And the Navy pays well. The starting salary is $17,000 (more than most companies pay). And that's on top of a comprehensive benefits program that can include special duty pay. After four years, with regular promotions and pay increases, the salary is up to as much as $31,000.

If you qualify to be an officer in the Navy, chances are you have what it takes to succeed. The Navy just makes it happen faster.

NAVY OPPORTUNITY INFORMATION CENTER W 207
P.O. Box 5000, Clifton, NJ 07015

☐ I'd rather have responsibility sooner. Tell me more about the Navy's officer program. (OG)

Name _____ (First) (Please Print) (Last)
Address _____ Apt. # _____
City _____
State _____ Zip _____
†College/University _____
Age _____ ‡Year in College _____ *GPA _____
▲Major/Minor _____
Phone Number _____ (Area Code) Best Time to Call

This is for general recruitment information. You do not have to furnish any of the information requested. Of course, the more we know, the more we can help to determine the kinds of Navy positions for which you qualify.

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast.

DELANO'S

APRIL HAPPY HOUR SPECIAL
Kronenbourg Bottles
2 for 1
plus our original twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a must
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

Spring Skiing

UMASS SKI CLUB Store

Ski Capital of the East
Bargain Weekend
April 15 - 17
Includes:
2 nights lodging
2 days lift ticket
2 full breakfast
Free Transportation
only $60
for more info call
5-3437 or 549-2775

Black Affairs

Role of women in Grenada important

By TRACEY ROBBINS
Collegian Staff

"The administration of Grenada has always been supportive of the rights of women, they have encouraged us and given us materials for growth. The government has understood the need for women's participation in Grenadian government," said Claudette Pitt, Vice-president of the National Women's Organization in Grenada.

Claudette Pitt visited Amherst yesterday with the Grenadian Ambassador to the United States, Dessima Williams. There was a reception yesterday afterday at 4 p.m. in Memorial Hall on the University of Massachusetts Campus. Ms. Williams spoke last night at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Building.

Before the revolution in 1979, the Women's Organization was established as an auxiliary arm to the New Jewel Government party. The main goal was to unite the women who were militant supporters of the New Jewel Movement,(the new government of Grenada) and to organize them as added strength,Pitt said.

Grenada is a small island situated in the Caribbean below the Antillian Chain. Its closest neighbors are Trinidad and Tobago, according to Barbara Johnston of the U.S. Grenada Friendship Society.

Grenadian government was revolutionized in 1979, and the new administration, the People's Revolutionary Government is headed by Maurice Bishop.

The government is classified as a people's democracy, a point that Pitt says, has added to the strength of women's rights on the island.

"Women comprise 51 percent of the population in Grenada, and 48 percent are heads of households. Because of unemployment our men have been forced to run from their responsibilities as patriarchs of the family," said Pitt.

"The brunt of all things has fallen on the women. For the past three years, women have been considered to be the vanguard of the revolution."

The Grenadian government is structured so that there is input on decisions made from all levels of society. "Because women are a majority of our society, and resulting from the way that our administration is organized, it is clear that women play a very major role in Grenadian politics," Pitt said.

Resulting from their involvement, women have gained a respect never achieved before. "The government does not look at the question of the status of women theoretically, their plans are implemented in a concrete way," Pitt said.

Collegian photo by Tom Kudla

Claudette Pitt of the National Women's Organization of Grenada at a reception yesterday in Memorial Hall.

"With the New Jewel Movement jobs and opportunities for women have opened that were never opened before,yet, with this there are still many problems," Pitt said.

"It is still difficult for women to assume positions because of our culture and heritage. The way to solve this is through academic and political education," Pitt said. "This year has been named in honor of education. You can see the understanding of the government."

Grenadian government is sympathetic to the plight of their country, yet Grenada has encountered some opposition from the American Government.

"We have met with open hostility from the American Government. Our position is that although there are problems between the two administrations, we do not hold the American people at fault," Pitt said.

"Our goal is not a selfish one, we think of those closest to us and what we can do to help. As a people, we (the U.S. and Grenada) share one objective: a better life for all people."

"The main reason for my trip with the Ambassador to the United States is to strengthen the ties between the peoples of our countries. That is the complement and the only thing that will unite us as one," Pitt said.

Always read
Black Affairs

Bluesman Jimmy Johnson will be appearing at the fifth annual country, Blues and Bluegrass festival, this Sunday April 17, 1983 from 1 p.m. until midnight. This all will be happening at Hangar One Route 9 Hadley.

Announcements

The Duke Ellington Committee/UPC Productions in association with the 12th Annual Black Musicians Conference proudly presents vocalist/composer Abbey Lincoln (Aminata Moseka) as part of the 5th annual Solos and Duos concert series, Friday, April 15.

Born in Chicago, Illinois and named Anna Maria, she began her career as a child of six performing to audiences in both church and school. At the age of nineteen, she made her professional debut when she was hired by the minister of a local church to perform for her peers in a cabaret atmosphere in the basement of the church.

Later, she continued to perform in small clubs in California, the Northwest, and Honolulu. In Hollywood, she met songwriter Bob Russell, and this began a fruitful collaboration. In 1956, Abbey released her first album, "Affair" and was followed by appearances in supper clubs throughout America.

In the 60s, Abbey collaborated with Max Roach in the collection of Evergreen recordings which set her apart, and established her as one of the outstanding contributors to music.

While on a trip to Africa in 1973, she was given the names Aminata and Moseka. And for Abbey Lincoln, a name change has always meant a new phase in her career. Abbey continues to perform today, and that now includes lectures and presentations as well as musical entertainment.

In addition to her extensive musical achievements, Abbey is also a highly regarded actress having appeared on Broadway in "Jamaica" as well as on several television shows.

The show will begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Cape Cod Lounge, Student Union Building. The show is free to the public.

On Sunday, April 17, the Duke Ellington Committee in association with the 12th Annual Black Musicians Conference is honored to present a Day of Gospel with Horace Boyer and Herbert Smith, at Memorial Hall, UMass-Amherst.

Horace Boyer is presently an associate professor of music at the University of Mass./Amherst. He is also a highly regarded Gospel performer, having worked with such Gospel greats as Mahalia Jackson, Dorothy Love Coates and the legendary James Cleveland, and has recorded on the Savoy and Nashboro labels.

Professor Boyer has written numerous articles on the history of Gospel music and currently serves as Consultant to the Smithsonian Institution on Afro-American Sacred Music.

Herbert Smith was born and raised with Gospel music in Dallas, Texas. As a young man, he performed with Gospel choirs and ensembles, and also peformed with the James Cleveland Gospel workshop. He is also a trained pantomime, and has used this art as a tool to teach children.

Mr. Smith is currently a doctoral candidate at the University of Massachusetts/Amherst, and he has performed with the University Jazz Ensemble and the Voices of Jubilee.

This promises to be a special event, and one that is long over due. The show will begin at 2:00 p.m., Memorial Hall, UMass-Amherst. Admission is free to the public.

Chicago's white voters fears led to racial madness

By GUS MARTINS
Collegian Staff

Harold Washington's mayoral victory last Tuesday in Chicago over Rep. Bernard Epton seems to be a natural progression in the changed complexion of America's central cities.

In previous decades when white ethnic groups were able to seize the pwoer of the central cities through their population and bloc voting, black Americans who now constitute the majority in many of the country's major cities are doing the same things.

Author James Boggs predicted in his book Racism and the Class Struggle," The Monthly Review, New York 1970 that by 1970 Afro-Americans would constitute the majority in 50 of the nations largest cities. In fact, he wrote there were more Afro-Americans in the city of New York than in the whole state of Mississippi.

With Chicago being one of the largest cities with a population of about 40 percent black, this progression should come as a suprise to no one.

In fact the one underlying reason that has prevented Chicago blacks as well as most blacks in major cities from achieving proportional leadership of the major central cities is racism. Boggs said this on the subject.

"Each previous ethnic grouping achieved first-class citizenship because its leaders became the cities' leaders, but racism is so deeply imbedded in the American psyche from top to bottom, and from right to left, that it cannot even entertain the idea of black political power in the cities."

The most disturbing thing about the whole election process since Washington's victory in the February primary, was the flagrant racial hatred by the city's white citizens.

The notion held by whites that after a black becomes mayor and allows subsequent upward mobility to blacks into white neighborhoods that their property would decline is an irrational fear at best. And only the remotest of possibilities.

There are currently 230 black mayors in the country. To the best of my recollection I can't remember the last revolution, or mass assault by blacks in white neighborhoods.

The fears of white America lie deeper in the heart of the matter. Whatever the fears of white America may be, the reality of the problems facing America's central cities were certainly missed by the people of Chicago.

Professor Bill Strickland of the Afro-American Studies Department explained this more clearly. "One thing that whites have to be aware of is that Harold Washington can't solve the problems of Chicago, and that Bernard Epton can't either."

"The problems of urban America are problems of the larger society and they can't be changed by a change in skin color."

"A specific problem that Washington will face is that problems tolerated under a white mayor will now be addressed as a failure of a black mayor and not a failure of the white system," Strickland said.

One of Washington's main concerns is to break up the awesome bureaucratic machine which has gripped the city for the last several decades. Realistically this won't be an easy task, and in all probability he would only be able to affect minimal change there during his tenure.

Another concern for Washington is his obligation to his constitutency. He is expected to bring some renewed life into the economically beleaguered blacks areas of the city. It's no mystery that blacks have historically lived on the bottom end of the social strata.

By exercising their franchisement, the implicit message was that blacks can no longer wait for white America's unfair practices that have blocked their paths toward parity and the right to a decent way of life.

Afro-Americans have always played by the rules in this country to better their lot. Harold Washington's victory is proof that there appears to be no change in their political tactics concerning ethics.

Even after encountering enormous resistance from Chicago's whites, the black community clung together. There are obvious signs for optimism to be read from this. Hopefully there will be tangible rewards forthcoming for the black citizens of Chicago who once again had to endure the wretched racism of America.

But the premium hope here is that if Washington is able to effectively deal with all sectors of Chicago, private and public, and all peoples regardless of color, with fairness and equity, then all those resources of human and economic dimension spent on the further division of the city by race and class would be an embarrasment of the highest order.

THE GLASS OF '83.

This semester discover a better way to study European history. Kronenbourg. The beer that's been brewed since 1664 is now brewing up a lot of excitement around campus. It has the great body you'd expect from a fine European beer without all the bitterness. So graduate to Europe's #1 bottled of beer. Kronenbourg. And drink better. Not bitter.

Kronenbourg®

BETTER. NOT BITTER.

Arts

In a life and death struggle with Paco (Esai Morales), Mick (Sean Penn) faces an ultimate decision, in Bad Boys.

A hit upside the head

BAD BOYS
Directed by Rick Rosenthal
Hampshire 4 Theaters

By ANDREW GORDON
Collegian Staff

Once the heavy Christmas movie season is over, there follows a dry period when almost no new films are released. Thankfully, that period is over and what we now have is a slew of new pictures entering national release. The bulk of these films are youth-oriented, centering around either carefree youth (Spring Break, The Last American Virgin) or troubled youth (The Outsiders, Bad Boys).

Most of these films are run-of-the-mill; they've turned out exactly as you'd have expected them to. But Bad Boys stands out. Directed by Rick Rosenthal and starring Sean Penn and others, the film depicts the harsh underside of today's urban youth. After a brilliant opening scene intercutting credits with photographs of the film's characters as innocent, sweet-faced children, the picture jumps twelve or so years to these characters today; tough, streetwise, socialized into a society that has wronged them. We are immediately drawn into this world and the world of Mick O'Brian, the film's main character.

Mick, as played by Sean Penn, is hard and embittered and whose only softness is displayed through his relationship with girlfriend J.C. (Ally Sheedy). A hastily planned scheme to rob some gang members results in several deaths, including Mick's accidental killing of one of the gang member's little brother.

This turn of events leads Mick to the Rainford Juvenile Correctional Facility, where he quickly learns the consequences of his actions. Greeted by a barrage of slurs and spitting from the inmates, he soon makes enemies and allegiences. In one particularly tense scene, he conquers and subsequently replaces the dorm's "barn bosses." The film moves along nicely here, but then the filmmakers add a capper conflict. Paco Moreno (Esai Morales), the gang member Mick tried to rob earlier in the film, avenges his little brother's death by raping J.C. The police grab him before he kills her, and he is sent to Rainford as well. The impending confrontation between Mick and Paco sets Mick up for the ultimate decision he must make.

Bad Boys is a powerful film. Rick Rosenthal stays with Mick always and doesn't throw in extraneous or explanatory scenes. His camera curiously stays far from the actors, which, although it makes many of the action scenes more exciting, creates a sort of distance between us and the characters. Fight scenes don't have dangerous feel of, say, Mean Streets, where the camera put you right smack in the middle of the action. There's something exhilarating about watching a fight scene that you're not directly a part of; and although I'm not one to criticize a film for being exhilarating, one must wonder whether if here it is antithetical to the movie's theme.

The acting is powerhouse. Sean Penn, who has been compared to DeNiro for his heavy reserach of character, is one of the most promising young actors to appear in some time. For Bad Boys, Penn stayed in costume and character throughout the shooting, was referred to as Mick at all times and even had a wolf's head tattooed on his arm. The actor's mother apparently drew the line when he asked to have his perfect teeth shaved down to look menacingly jagged. Audiences may remember Penn for his equally impressive roles as Timothy Hutton's caustic roommate in Taps and as the spacey surfer boy, Spicoli, in Fast Times at Ridgemont High.

Also good in supporting roles are Eric Gurry (Al Pacino's son in Author, Author) as Mick's intellectual cellmate, convicted of firebombing a bowling alley; and Reni Santoni (Dirty Harry) and Jim Moody (Fame) as Rainford's ever-present supervisors.

Rosenthal, whose only other directorial effort was 1981's pathetic Halloween II, has created a tight little film. It's well worth seeing.

trailers By Andy Gordon

* * * *

Editor's Note: I just want to take this opportunity to say that Andy Gordon's Oscar pix were all right on the money. That's right, all of them! Is this man phenomenal or what?!

Last week I talked about the dozens of sequels that are currently in production. Well the list is growing, and if you thought Porky's or Cannonball Run were lame films to continue, wait'll you hear what they're sequeling now. They Call Me Bruce?, the stupid martial arts comedy that came and went last month will spawn They Still Call me Bruce, again starring Johnny Yune. Gene Wilder and Gilda Radner's shitty summer collaboration, Hanky Panky, will produce Kissing; and last year's really, really awful Trails of the Pink Panther turned a profit despite the absence of Peter Sellers, and has cleared the way for Curse of the Pink Panther, which Blake Edwards, a man without dignity, will direct. All three are due out this summer.

Besides sequels, there are a slew of remakes currently on the boards and before the cameras. Cannon films will distribute Gunga Din, though the film has not yet been cast. Sean Connery and Michael Caine are under consideration. Cannon also has Hercules, directed by Lewis Coates and starring Lou Ferigno in the Steve Reeves role. Ferrigno will also star in The Seven Magnificent Gladiators, which borrows generously from The Magnificent Seven. Rumor has it that Arnold Schwarzenheggar will also star in a version of Hercules, after he's completed work on Conan II.

From 20th Century-Fox this summer comes a remake of the Preston Sturges classic Unfaithfully Yours, this time around starring Dudley Moore as a jealous orchestra conductor and Nastassia Kinski as his young wife. Armand Assante is also on hand as violinist and the object of Moore's jealousy. Howard Zieff directed from a screenplay by Valerie Curtin and Barry Levinson (Diner).

Remakes of television shows include, of course, the long awaited and ill-fated Twilight Zone movie, with four individual segments each directed by Steven Spielberg, John Landis, Joe Dante and George Miller. One of the segments will be a remake of the episode with William Shatner seeing a creature on the airplane wing. Then there's, get this, Batman: The Movie, which takes the old movie and makes it serious. This isn't to be confused with the soon-to-be-released Mighty Mouse: The Movie, which co-stars Pearl Pureheart and Oil Can Harry.

One big budget remake that should have them lining up around the block is Never Say Never Again, which has Sean Connery returning to the role of James Bond in what is essentially a remake of Thunderball. Irvin Kershner (The Empire Strikes Back) directed the picture, which also stars Kim Bassinger as Domino, Klaus Maria Brandauer as Largo and Barbara Carrera as Fatima Blush. The film will be different in may ways from the original, but for legal reasons must bear more than a striking resemblance. Either way, it should blow the proverbial doors off the upcoming Roger Moore Bond counterpart, Octopussy.

John Huston will direct Joe Don Baker in the title role of The Babe Ruth Story and, in a lighter vein, Dan Aykroyd and Bill Murray will update the Abott and Costello film, Ghost Busters. John Belushi was originally scheduled to play the Murray part. Aykroyd wrote the screenplay.

LOCAL BEST BET: Hair and Fame at the Amherst Cinema tonight and tomorrow at 7 and 9. Enough said.

Gilda Radner and Gene Wilder will reprise their silly Hanky Panky roles in Kissing, due out next summer.

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed only on the day they are taking place. Announcements must be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, and returned to the office by 3 p.m. the Friday before the event. All submissions should be written in a similar style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Friday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

Today

SCHEDULING — Fall course schedule books distributed to all students today in the Campus Center. Next week, the books are available in the Scheduling Office, 168 Whitmore. & a.m. to 4 p.m.

SHABBAT SERVICE — Shabbat is a chance to receive and give lots of good energy and be part of a creative service. 5:30 p.m. in Dukes room, Student Union.

BROWN BAG LUNCH 'N' LISTEN — The Performing Arts Division is having a free dance performance, bring your lunch and enjoy live entertainment with Ranjana Haksar and her Indian Dance Class. 12:15 to 1:45 in Old Chapel Auditorium.

A GOOD SHABBOS — Join us for our traditional Shabbos Services and meals following the prayers. It's everything you could ask for in a Shabbos from a a homey atmosphere to chicken soup and kugel plus more. Services begin after sunset on Friday and at 10:30 Sat. morning. Chabad House, 30 N. Hadley Rd.

FREE MEDITATION CLASS— Learn simple techniques you can use to clear your mind, calm your emotions, and relieve stress and tension. Call 549-6362 for information. 7 to 8 p.m. in CC Rm. 803.

Saturday

ULTIMATE AEROBICS: THE COMPLETE EXERCISE — A great way to get in shape combining breathing and movement to specially composed music. Call 549-6362 for information. 10 a.m. in CC rm. 804.

THE ESSENTIAL DIET — Improve the way you look and feel by learning how to satisfy your essential needs. This is a diet program unlike any other. Call 549-6362 for information. 12:00 in CC 804.

25 PLUS SWIM — Older students: time to get in shape. Join us for a swim, followed by "whatever!" 3 p.m. at Boyden Pool.

AMHERST AREA NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH — All are welcome to join us for our weekly service of worship, praise and teaching from the Bible. 3:30 p.m. in Campus Center.

Sunday

NO CHURCH BUS — Due to Patriot's Day holiday. Resume next week.

SUNDAY BRUNCH — Everything you wanted to know about Chabad/Lubavitch... We will be showing the film "The Spark" as well as featuring a variety of Lubavitch speakers. Brunch will begin at 11:30 a.m. and the program at 12:30. Call 253-9040 for more info. Chabad House, 30 N. Hadley Rd.

25 PLUS NATURE WALK — Older students, families and guests: Free nature walk led by foraging expert Georgette Roberts. Meet at CC Info. Desk, car pool. For more info, tel. 545-2145. 1 and 4 p.m. on Campus Center Concourse.

Bloom County — By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone — By Mark Rollins

Katfood — By ARK

Scrod — By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall — By R. Miller

CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

©1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Thin fragment
5 Shadow box
9 Kilt wearer
13 Loudly
14 Land of the shamrock
15 Norse god
16 Choreographer's concern
18 Demolish
19 Evian, e.g.
20 Coastal state in Brazil
21 Former Governor of New York
22 —— mater
23 Speak slowly
25 Has an aversion to 29 Invisible
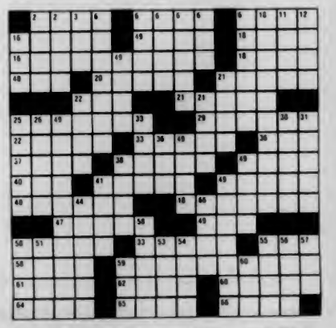
32 As ——
33 Ejects
36 Grand Canyon or Penn.
37 Part of a shopping mall
38 Snacks
39 Building upright
40 Make inquiries
41 Author Michael J.
42 —— Oro
43 Haystack item?
45 Paint additive
47 Historic meeting place of the Hig 3
49 Yoko
50 With ability
52 Helps with the dishes
55 Ring name
58 Roll up and secure
59 Square dances
61 Copper mining town in NW Venezuela
62 Arm bone
63 Kind of cap or club
64 Soaks flax
65 Actor Skinner
66 Equipment

DOWN
1 Wearing apparel
2 Island of the Hebrides
3 Pouch
4 Very exact
5 —— date
6 Pilaster
7 National Hungarian hero
8 Matter: Lat.
9 Items on a soda counter
10 Flapper's dance
11 Stretch of muddy ground
12 Playing card
13 Products of Madison Ave.
17 Membership
21 Supermarket items
22 Skin
24 Results of rain
25 Hooded rodent of Africa
26 Wipe out
27 Ragtime dance
28 Country
30 Musical piece
31 Consumer advocate
34 Amerind
35 Mailed
38 Harte the writer
39 Chinese, combining form
41 Form a connection
42 Treating the hair a certain way
44 TV favorite
46 Worker in the garden
48 Kind of education
50 In the distance
51 Unmitigated
53 Rajah's wife
54 Cantor and Lupino
55 Pond scum
56 Memorable comedian Lew
57 Ending with alarm
59 —— vadis?
60 Tell a fish story



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

N	O	M	A	D	A	R	B	E	S
D	O	R	A	D	O		R	O	T	T	E	D
N	O	T	A	T	E	S		C	O	L	O	R	E	D
A	N	A		C	A	G	G	A	R	D		P	E	L
H	O	R	D		W	E	N	S		P	E	E	L
A	R	L	E	S		R	O	E		D	A	N	T	E
S	P	E	A	N	G	E	S		S	O	R	T	E	D
		W	I	T			P	E	D	E
P	A	R	A	D	E		S	E	C	O	N	D	I	S
A	D	A	R	E		A		S	T	R	O	P
C	O	O	K		P	I	L	G	E		S	T	I	R
E	N	S		T	A	D	P	O	L	E		A	N	A
S	T	E	V	A		E		C	L	U	N	K	E	R
S	E	A	N	C	E	S		K	E	A	N	E	N
D	R	E	S	S			S	W	I	N	G	E	R

WEATHER

Rain developing today highs 50-55. Rain and windy tonight, lows 40-45. Rain ending tomorrow morning, followed by gradual clearing. Continued windy and turning colder tomorrow with temperatures falling through the 40s.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Pizza, Tuna Oriental

BASICS LUNCH
Pizza, Tuna Oriental

DINNER
Savory Beef Strudel /Mushroom Sauce, Seafood and Shell Casserole, Fruit Plate with Saltines

BASICS DINNER
Cheese Spinach Strudel, Seafood and Shell Casserole

Five-College Students

The Collegian wants to hear what's happening at your school. We need writers to cover news and human interest stories at Amherst College, Hampshire, Smith and Mount Holyoke Colleges. No pay but great experience and the chance to write for one of the finest college newspapers.

If interested, please contact Tami Borton or John DiPalazzo at the Collegian, 545-3500, weekday afternoons.

EARN OVER $1000 A MONTH RIGHT THROUGH YOUR SENIOR YEAR.

If you're a junior or senior majoring in engineering, math, physics or chemistry the Navy has a program you should know about.

It's called the Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate-Collegiate Program and if you qualify, you can earn $1000 a month right through your senior year. Then after 16 weeks of Officer Candidate School, you'll get an additional year of advanced technical education. This would cost thousands in a civilian school, but in the Navy, we pay you.

It isn't easy. There are fewer than 400 openings and only one of every six applicants will be selected. But if you make it, you'll have unequaled hands-on responsibility, a salary of more than $40,000 in four years, and gilt-edged qualifications for jobs both in the Navy and out.

Talk to the Navy representative on campus April 20, or call the nuclear program manager at (203) 528-9988 The Navy Nuclear Program. Not only can it help you complete college. It can be the start of an exciting career.

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast

Dinner for Two

Enjoy
any two entrees
with salad bar and a complimentary n/a beverage

12.95
Every Friday

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor · Campus Center · UMass

Men's Tennis creams MIT

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Let's put it this way: The University of Massachusetts men's tennis team certainly was not going to outsmart their counterparts from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in yesterday's match on the Boyden Courts. Instead, UMass bore down, played strong fundamental tennis and destroyed the boys from Cambridge, 8-1.

"It was a very nice, easy match," said coach Bob Szlesek. "Last year they beat us bad (6—2). This year the difference in talent was obvious. Last year we struggled with them, but today we toyed with them."

The tone of the afternoon was set early as Neal Mackertich, at number one singles, demolished Will Sauer 6—1, 6—0 in a match that lasted only a half-hour. Mackertich has now lost only two games in the last five sets.

"I can't get any more perfect," said Mackertich. "I felt real good. I can't play any better. Everything I tried worked, even the stuff I was experimenting with. I was coming in and the groundstrokes were falling in. It felt great. . ight now I'm a hot player."

The rest of the singles were the same story as M.I.T. failed to win a single set. Steve Jordan, at number two singles, crushed John Chen 6—0, 6—2. Stuart Goodman, at number three, used an effective first serve to roll past . ob Craig 6—3, 6—3. ..ich Lindgren, at number four, had it easy with . amy . izk 6—1, 6—1.

"I put every shot away that I had to," said Lindgren. "I played confident."

In the final two singles, Mike Duseau beat George Hoehn 6—3, 6—4 and senior co-captain Mark Gelinas (Mackertich is the other)) degeated Chiwon Hahn 6—0, 6—4. In the match, each of the first five games went to 3—3 before Gelinas won the critical last point.

"I served and volleyed well," said Duseau. "I was winning all my service games. It really wasn't as close as the score indicates."

In the doubles, Mackertich-Goodman pasted Sauer-Hoehn 6—2—6—3 and Jordan-Lindgren, recovering nicely from their defeat last Saturday against Boston College,(their first in over a year), soundly trounced Chen-Craig 6—2, 6—3.

M.I.T. recorded their only victory of the afternoon as . izk-Jones swept Dave Salem-Andy Pazmany in a close match, 6—3, 7—5. Pazmany, a freshman, was making his intercollegiate debut for the Minutemen.

UMass, now 2—1, takes its two-game winning streak into a rare doubleheader on Saturday at the Boyden Courts. At 11 a.m. the Minutemen face Bowdoin College from Brunswick, Maine. At 2 p.m., UMass will take on Central Connecticut. On Monday, Patriots Day, UMass faces Amherst College in a scrimmage. Tuesday, UMass will travel to Springfield College to take on the Chiefs.

Next weekend, April 22—23, UMass travels to Pittsburgh, PA for the Atlantic 10 championships. UMass will be one of the favorites to take the crown. On April 27 the Minutemen face Tufts on the Boyden Courts. Then comes the biggest weekend of the year, April 29—30, the New England Championships at Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut.

SPORTS: what's hot, what's not

By ELLIOTT KALB
Collegian Staff

(Editor's note: The following are the opinions of Elliott Kalb and in no way represent the view of the Collegian sports staff.)

WHAT'S HOT:	WHAT'S NOT
Baseball	USFL
Veteran ballplayers	Rookies
Steve Carlton	Carlton Fisk
John Elway	Art Schlicter
Kelvin Bryant	Herschel Walker
Ron Gerlufson	Tom McLaughlin
Larry Bird	Kevin McHale
Hubie Brown	Larry Brown
Phillie Phanatic	San Diego Chicken
Jim Valvano	Ralph Sampson
Akeem Abdul-Olujowan	Pat Ewing
National League	American League
Ralph Houk	Don Zimmer
Bob Stanley	Tom Burgmeier
Bob Lobel	Rollie Jacobs
USA Network	ESPN
Vin Scully	Tony Kubek
Big East	Atlantic 10
ECAC	Atlantic 10
Any respectable YMCA team league	Atlantic 10
Joe Paterno	Chuck Fairbanks
Tim Mazzetti	John Smith
Fenway Park	Yankee Stadium
Yankee fans	Billy Martin
NBA Playoffs	NBA Strike
John Tudor	Dennis Eckersley
Willie Wilson	Rickey Henderson
Tom Seaver	Craig Swan
Sports Cafe	Most call-in sports shows
North Carolina State	North Carolina
Kegs	The Bottle Bill
National Anthem before ballgames	National Anthem

UMASS 7, NEW HAMPSHIRE 0 (second game)

Minutewomen

	ab	r	h	bi
Roux, ss	4	1	2	0
Oman, 2b	4	1	2	0
Gaw, c	4	1	3	1
Maher, 1b	4	2	2	2
Talbott, rf	4	0	1	2
Coughlin, 3b	3	0	1	1
Coffin, cf	2	1	1	0
Ringrose, rf	1	0	1	0
Miller, dh	2	0	1	0
Lombardi, rf	2	1	2	1
Kelly, lf	1	0	0	0
Buckley, p	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	31	7	13	7

Game winning RBI — Gaw

Wildcats

	ab	r	h	bi
Kominarek, cf	3	0	0	0
Obuchowski, rf	3	0	0	0
Conroy, 2b	2	0	0	0
Levesque, 3b	1	0	0	0
Moran, ss	3	0	0	0
Roffe, 1b	2	0	0	0
Lund, lf	2	0	0	0
Agratstis, c	2	0	0	0
Greene, p	2	0	0	0
TOTALS	21	0	0	0

STADIUM

10 a.m.
til 11 p.m.
253-5595

U. Mass.
Amherst

LIQUORS
Kegs • Beer • Wine • Ice
University Drive, Amherst, Mass.
Just past UMass Stadium, from SW dorms
not responsible for typographical errors

Bud loose cans	$10.95	+ $1.20
Tuborg lt or dk	$9.25	+ $1.20
	-$4.00	mail in $5.25
Carling 12 oz bot	$6.95	+ $1.50
Busch 12 oz bot	$9.00	+ $1.50
Nat. Light 12 oz cans loose	$9.50	+ $1.20
Rolling Rock 12 pk cans	$5.00	+ .60
Rossi 3 L	$5.29
Almaden 3 L	$6.95
Almaden 1.5 L	$4.50
California Cellars 3 L premium	$6.49

Vodka 1.75	$8.20
Gin 1.75	$8.20
Rum 1.75	$9.95
Calvert 1.75	$11.95
Seagrams 1.75	$12.95
Beam 1.75	$11.95

Assorted Sports Jerseys $5.95

Assorted Styles & Colors
on Special Sale Rack Reg. $7.95

Open M-F 9-5

UNIVERSITY STORE

whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY

363 Main St. Amherst

SPECIALS

Mon-Fri 11:30 am - 7:00 pm
Small Pizza with two toppings $4.00

Tuesday and Wednesday
Large Pepperoni Pizza $6.25

Thursday
Large Mushroom Pizza $5.50

Fri - Sun
Large Pizza with two toppings $6.50

FREE Sodas:

One FREE soda with any small one or more item pizza
Two FREE sodas with any large one or more item pizza
(must request sodas when ordering)

Free, Fast Delivery in Amherst Area
HOURS: MON-THUR 11:30 A.M.-2:00 A.M.
FRI-SUN 11:30-3:00 A.M.

256-8587

Price includes meals tax

Male wanted for summer sublet @ Rolling Green 80.00 per month 256-8121 after 10:00 PM

Responsible female wanted to share sunny Southwood Apt summer/fall 253-5109

1 or 2 roommates for 3 bdrm townhouse apt for fall semester M or F 1 rm available call 549-1833

Two females for one bedroom in sunny Southwood townhouse call evenings 256-0659

Wanted: 2 or 3 females for 2 bedrm Brandywine Apt Jun 1st - Dec 31st spring option 549-2726

Male Roommate needed for summer. W. Yarmouth cottage near Seagull 8-8647

SERVICES

EUROPEBOUND? "Backpacking Made Easy" offers tips from experts that save money, time, frustrations. Handy guide makes backpacking fun and prevents hassles that'll ruin a trip. $3, SASE, to Solomon, 300 Palisade Ave, Yonkers, N.Y. 10703.

SUMMER SUBLET

Female wanted to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

1 bedroom Puffton Apt completely furnished pool/tennis $125/person 549-5207

2 bedroom Brandywine Apt w/terace overlooking pond furnished $300 per month call after 6 PM 549-5788

Spend summer at Townehouse Apts 3 bedroom, air conditioned, furnished apt. 1 mile from campus, directly on bus route call 549-0307 ask for Liz or leave a message

Three bedroom Townehouse Apt 6/1 -9/1 rent negotiable call 549-1833

Large four bedroom apartment adjacent to campus. $460/mo negotiable call Debbie 549-0546

Rolling Green Apt 6/1 - 9/1 two bdr furnished, a/c, pool, quiet call after 6 PM 253-5886

Two bedroom Brittany Manor Apt fall option reasonable call 253-9678

3 Bedroom townehouse Southwood apt fully furnished pool tennis courts rent neg. call 256-0840

Summer Sublet w fall option 2 bdrms partly furnished on bus route Squire Village 665-3849.

1 or 2 furnished bedrooms in a 2 bedroom Southwood townehouse pool/AC June 1 - Aug 31 $130 for single, 100 each for double rent negotiable call 253-2541 after 6 p.m. keep trying!

1 bedroom apartment fully furnished Swiss Village, fall option. 256-8683.

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Two bedroom Colonial Village Apt room for three, on bus route, laundry and pool facilities, $100 per month each Call 253-7158

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Furnished apartment Brandywine one bedroom nice furniture avail June 1 - Sept 1 320 per month includes utilities call 549-0450

Summer sublet w/fall opt. 2 bdrm Southwood Apt. pool, tennis, bus route, heat incl 256-6739

One bedroom Cliffside apartment summer sublet w/fall option utilities included 665-2294

1 or 2 rooms in 2 bedroom Southwood apt for summer and possible fall option! $206 for one room - big enough to share. Call 256-8323 except during any major sporting event of before 10 am

Summer: N Woods 180/mo male or female nonsmoker call 665-7130 Thomas

4 bedroom apt in Riverglade 295/mo call 253-5487

2 bdrm Brittant apartment best offer fall option one person 256-0506

Two bedrom apartment with fall option Cliffside $350 utilities included 665-4580

One bedroom apartment June 1 with fall option swimming pool tennis courts 665-4761

Rolling Green two bedroom air conditioning balcony summer - fall option 253-7924

Summer sublet fall option large two bedroom apartment on bus route $380 month call 665-3688

One bedroom in two badroom Southwood townhouse available June 1 with fall option 253-3497

2 bedroom apt Cliffside Sunderland fall option call evenings 665-3473

3 bedrooms avail in Echo Hill apt with fall option 253-7770

Two bedroom summer sublet fall option bus route pool call 256-0223

3 bedroom apt in Puffton Village $350 month available June 1 - Sept 1 call 549-6812

Britteny Manor apartment summer sublet with fall option 2 bedrooms 253-2214

3 bdrms in lg apt for sumemr 1 mi from town 137 + 256-9696

Room in house Rt 9 Amherst for one or two June & July 253-9698

Sublet 2 bedrooms furnished Cliffside apartments $340 everything call 665-4210 evenings (June 1)

3 bedroom apartment with fall option $470 + Amherst Center excellent location starting June 1st 253-2169 Eric

Mary Poppins would approval Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

Two roommates wanted in Brandywine for summer sublet 1 male, 1 female with fall option 549-6289

Excellent cond. new carpets & floors 2 bedroom apt summer sub. fall opt. 665-2081 Randi

One bedroom laft beautiful Amherst home one minute from campus $178/month 256-0170

Two, one-bedroom apts Cliffside fall option 275.00 incl pool pets OK bus 665-2512 leave message

4 bdrm apartment August rent free call 253-5566 nights Swiss Village

Puffton 1 bedroom apartment furnished June 1st $290/month, fall option call 549-0919

2 bdrms Cliffside $360/mo utilities inc fall option call eves 665-4953

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Three bedroom Puffton sublet June thru August $375 mo 549-3722

Two bedoom Southwood apt for summer/fall option call Suzanne 253-5215

Great Apt - Brandywine 6/1 to 9/1 2 mo option, 1 bedrm, A/C, pool, cable, rent negotiable, 8-8110 or 6-8732

1 bedroom townhouse Southwood with fall option available July 1 or negotiable on bus route call 253-9862

Summer sublet sunny 3 br apt in Amherst Center reasonably priced 549-4437

Summer sublet 3 bedroom Puffton apt. rent is negotiable 549-5715

1 bedroom apt Colonial Vlg June 1 with fall option $245 incl hot water pool on bus 253-7739 after 10:00 pm

Puffton 3 bdrm for summer furnished Chas 549-4711

Two bedroom apt summer sublet w/fall option pool, frequent buses, near 7-11 $315/m negotiable 665-7972 keep trying

One or two bdrm apt on bus route summer w/fall option 665-2253

Cheap sublet 2 bedrooms available $250 June - Aug call [illegible]

5 bdrm house summer/fall op. Near UMass & Ctr. On bus route. $750/mth. 253-2819

WANTED

Cash for your records, tapes 545-2836 (ask for Jaromir/leave message)

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

The Collegian Day Graphics Dept is now accepting applications for 3 pasteup positions for next fall. Applications available ONLY Tuesday April 19 and Wednesday April 20 between 9:30 am and noonin room 105 Campus Center.

WANTED TO RENT

$25 reward if you help us to find a 3 bedroom Puffton Apt beg June or Sept call Amy 6-5816 or Andrea 6-5498

Wanted 2 or 3 bdrm apt in Puffton for June w/fall option 549-0787

2 or 3 bedroom apt dor 6/1 or 9/1 call 6-9126 or 6-9132

Couple seeks 1 bdrm apt in Amherst area for fall, w/possible summer sublet Call Steve (6-6877) or Alice (6-6871)

Two males seeking Townehouse, Brandywine, beg June on 546-5062, 546-5077

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 Ford Fiesta mint poverty must sell great gas 545-0244 549-0363

76 Blazer new parts rust 1800 253-3301

68 VW Bug great condition, excellent gas mileage. Dependable, asking $400. firm. Call 25-5660 ask for Steve

1973 Capri 2000 automatic good for another 20,000 miles needs slight maintenance $600 or best offer call 253-7661 before 10 PM ask for Hal

CLIFFSIDE SUBLET

Summer sublet with fall option - 2 bedroom apt. equipped with dishwasher; and laundry in building. Area has a pool, tennis courts. Located on bus route. $295 par month including everything. Call 545-0182 before 5:00, 665-7729 after 5:00

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Semis, Greeks. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FEMALES STOP SMOKING!

Female, smokers. Short term therapy to promote cessation of smoking in comfortable, productive way. Sliding fee scale Pyschological Services center, UMass 545-0041

FOR RENT

1 badrm Puffton apt. for rant; avail. June 1. Call Jesse: 545-2707, 549-5915

3-4 bedroom apt. summer sublet w/fall option. Pool, tennis courts, air conditioning. $440/mo. 253-3967

Large br in Amherst Ctr. apt. available immediately $150 + 549-0350

One bedroom in two badroom townhouse available May 31st Mayflower Apts 175/mo plus utilities on bus route. 256-0561

2 bedroom apt. summer sublet w/fall option Colonial Vlg 295 + 253-5142

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

Four 21st row seats for Alabama 4/22 Hartford best offer 6-4459

Guitar six string and case both in great condition $150 253-5215

Grateful Dead: April 22 New Haven; ticket and bus $28.00 545-0500

Polaroid Time-Zero one step land camera, new, best offer 546-6629

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5689

★ 10-speed woman's Schwinn 22" frame $95 or trade for bike w/larger frame ★ 1970 Ford Falcon heavy duty alternator, needs engine work $200 or BO call 253-2942 Donna

C Dior Sweaters and Ties, Yves Saint Lauren, and Van Huesen dress shirts, also Van Huesen action wear tennis shirts. For sale at Campus Center. Low low prices get them while they last 253-3401

FOUND

Pair of glasses at FAC bus stop on 4/12. (Tuesday) 546-8519

Womens eyeglasses outside Morrill call Gary 256-8665

GLENN

Blonde hair, blue eyes, what more could a girl ask for? I've admired you since the beginning of the semester, hang around after Psych - I want to finally meet you XOXO Lisa

HELP WANTED

Earn $500 or more each school year. Flexible hours. Monthly payment for placing poster on campus. Bonus based on results. Prizes awarded as well. 800-526-0883

Summer work big bucks work hard travel $1250 per mo car preferred not required send phone no and address to summer work PO Box 299 Amherst MA 01004

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

Sales/Marketing Campus Rep. position for student. Working on promotion & sales of BEER Products. Part time. Flexible hours. Benefits. Lori 1-800-232-1904

Counselors private co-ed camp in Berkshires has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Arts & Crafts, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, dramatics, music director/piano accompanist, video/film-making, photography, model rocketry, radio station (AM), computers, waterfront (WSI), and sailing. Also needed: general bunk counselors (male openings only) and unit leaders. Good salaries - friendly atmosphere. Contact: Dr. Paul Krouner - Camp Schodack 268 Mason Terrace, Brookline, Massachusetts 02146 277-7600 day 9-4

CRUISE SHIP JOBS! Great income potential, all occupations. For information call: 602-837-3401 ext 833

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate pyschology student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 PM

INSTRUCTION

Amherst Jewish Sunday School needs teacher, Hebrew, history, music and teen leader. PO Box 608 Amherst for application

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Fall 1983 semester. Up to 15 credits may be received from academic departments. Aid atorneys at LSO with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Maintain continuing caseload under attorney supervision. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. Applications due Friday, April 22, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required. Further information, LSO, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

Long gold chain extreme sentimental value - my life depends on its return large reward call 549-4741

RED CONVERSE BAG
with glasses, Audit books, and resumes. Please, I'm lost without them.
REWARD - Joe 253-5691

MOTORCYCLE FUN

'72 Honda 350 - orange, great shape, real cute. Sissy bar, 2 matching helmets, manuel included. Best offer. Call Tami at 665-4395 or 545-3500. Leave message

92 PENNEY PUNK

Welcome to Cornell Mari and Linda! Love, Penney Punk

PERSONALS

Summer work contact now call 549-4085 350 per wk relocate car preferred not required

If you have $160 and a way to New York you can be in Europe by the day after tomorrow. For details, call

Greg Happy Birthday make this twentieth year of your life the best. I hope to hit at least twenty soft spots maybe I should bring icing? Sherry

Jill I'm really glad you made it! Love ALWAYS Jim

Joe congratulations! Happy 21st Birthday, lots of love, always! Steph

Attention U-Mass Football Player #21 there is a rape awareness session every Monday at 10:10 in the Hatch. This weeks feature is "How to Avoid the Common Belly Dancer?" sponsored by Putz 1 & 2

Hara: Exactly one year since the blue dragon attacked! No chemicals any more -Uncle Jerry will guide us! Go reality - Adnil

All University Woman are invited to Chi Omega for dinner Tues Apr 19 and Thurs 21 at 5:30 and for a Dynasty Party Wed 20 at 9:30 for more info or RSVP call Felice 545-0162 check us out

To the plaid shirt, denim jacket, and curly hair in front of me on Monday's N.Y.C. bus - call 6-9255

RUN FOR RITTER April 23rd info at Newman Center

Northeast Area Government Elections President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary. All paid positions. Nomination papers available from 109 Mary Lyon.Due April 25. Elections May 4 & 5 questions call Doris 6-4808

Happy Birthday Karen! Don't take this too lightly - it's your present! All the best - your roomie

Happy 20th Birthday Alan! It's been wonderful watching you get "older". I love you more each day! - Kathy

O Sweet D there - my one and only you there. Happy first - Thiebe

Robby, Happy Birthday Sunday. I promise it'll be most memorable. Always love, Sharon

Jamie we have been through good times and bad, rain and shine but we have always shared it together Happy 2 year anniversary I love you more than ever Patty

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

ROBIN SIDEL OF RUTGERS

Happy 19th Birthday, Slaeze, I.O.U. 1 present after finals you are now famous at the University of Massivecuteness. Love, Slimele.k.a.Liz) P.S. stop slobbin!

ROOMMATES WANTED

Roommates wanted for fall semester in townhouse apartments 1 or 2 bedrooms available call Suzanne 549-2866

One female roommate wanted for two bedroom Brittany Manor Apartment 256-6632

Two considarate roommates to share Brt Manor apt in Sept call Karen 253-5798 keep trying!

Housemates wanted for summer on Cape Cod 6 bedrooms 2 baths 6-5851

Legal Assistant Interns Wanted

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for the Fall 1983 semester. Up to fifteen credits may be received from academic departments. Legal assistants aid attorneys of the Legal Services Office with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, and attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts of Hampshire, Hampden, and Franklin Counties, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Legal assistants maintain continuing caseload under supervision of attorneys. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact the Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. For further information about the internship, contact Legal Services Office, 922 Campus Center. Applications due Friday, April 22, 1983, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required.

Annual Rope Pull
across campus pond
Friday April 22
12:00 noon - 5 pm
sign up
Campus Center Concourse Table
Tues April 19 Thru Thurs April 21
Hours 10 - 4

Still the Best Happy Hour in town.
Buffet including Hot & Cold dishes.
All you can carry & eat only $1.00
also 65 oz Pitchers of Rolling Rock Beer $2.95
3:00 - 7:00
Bottles of Rolling Rock $1.45

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Sports

More Sports on Page 17

Lax mania this weekend at UMass

Gorillas hope to clobber BC and then UNH in must games

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

Before the Gorillas took the field in the season opener against Hobart, Gorilla head coach Dick Garber scanned the difficult schedule and declared his team could finish 15—0 or 0—15 depending how the breaks go.

Obviously the Gorillas (1—3) won't finish the season with either record, but Garber's point is well taken. The Gorillas just haven't gotten the breaks so far this year.

After an impressive 11—4 win over Hobart the Gorillas faltered against Cornell (11—6 loss) but played well enough to be beat a good Rutgers team but lost when Rutger's All—American midfielder Al Ray did the Minutemen in during the last two minutes to give Rutgers a 14—13 win.

Wednesday was more of the same as the Gorillas ranked third in New England, travelled to Brown University to take on New England's top-ranked team, outplayed the Bruins, and still drove home thinking about the 7—2 loss and a 1—3 record.

"It was one of the strongest games I've ever coached in," said Garber, leader of UMass lacrosse for the last 30 years. "We played poorly against Cornell (11—6 loss) and we were barely hanging in there and I'll be the first to admit when we are playing poorly but we played well. Our shooting was poor against Brown but we played the rest of the game well."

Frustrated was the word Barber used to describe the state of mind of the Gorillas after they bombarded the Brown goalie with 25 shots in the first half, but went into the lockerroom down 3—0.

"This game we played as good defense as we've played all year, but on offense nothing happened," he said.

This weekend lacrosse lovers will get a double dose of laxmania when the Gorillas host New England rival Boston College 2p.m. tommorow at Boyden Field and arber will host son Ted and his University of New Hampshire team 3 p.m. Monday.

The only team both UMass and BC have played is Hobart, who throttled the Eagles 22—9 earlier this season.

BC, coached by former UMass Gorillas Brooke Sweet and Harry Conforti, possesses a good offense but only an adequate defense. The "D" could be saved by Eagle goalie Mike Phillips.

"He's very hot and cold," said Garber. "If he's on, he can be really tough. I know they'll be fired up.

The Gorillas should also be fired up, looking to break a three game losing streak and start to build momentum before starting a four game road trip.

UNH, the second ranked team in New England, lost to Brown 13—10 earlier this year but has played exceptional lacrosse this season.

Ted Garber, in his fifth season as coach of the Wildcats, owns only a 15—11 victory last year over his father. The Gorilla leader got the best of him in five of six meetings.

This weekend will be the last chance to see the Gorillas until they return home May 3 against Dartmouth.

Gazelles ready to gallop over Harvard in tough matchup

By ELLEN RICHARD
Collegian Staff

While the University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team is coming off of a 19-0 beating of Smith College on Tuesday, coach Pam Hixon said offense is going to be an important factor is Saturday's game at 1:00 against Harvard at Nope field.

"I think the key is going to be offense," Hixon said. "The scoring in the game will depend on the defense Harvard plays. If Harvard plays zone they'll keep our score down. If they play man-to-man there will be a lot of scoring.

"We've got people back and healthy now. We've got to get scoring from Linda Haytayan, Pam Moryl and Tish Stevens," remarked Hixon.

Those players have been heading the scoring attack for the Gazelles with Moryl leading with four hat tricks, including a five goal game against Smith. Stevens has had two hat tricks and Haytayan has had one, including a five goal four assist day, also against Smith.

Last year, UMass won the match with Harvard 5-3. Hixon said this year it will be another close game.

"Usually in New England for the past few years, UMass and Harvard have been the top two contenders," Hixon said. "It's hard to predict a score in lacrosse but they will be our most difficult competition this year. By no means is Harvard unbeatable but I think they are one of the better teams in New England and that's how we're looking at this game."

Defenseman Carol Progulske will have a tough job to do as she will be playing against Harvard's top scorer and National team member, Fran Denhartog. Progulske has covered the Harvard star for three years and has done a good job according to Hixon.

"I think Carol will have her hands full with Fran but the defense has been consistent all season long. It's going to be tough. We've got to get some good goaltending. That's a key against a team that has a potent offense. I'm unsure who will be in goal."

UMass goaltenders senior Rita Hubner and sophomore Debbie DeJesus, have been doing their jobs well in the Massachusetts net, surrendering only 10 goals against the Gazelle's 47. Two shutouts against Springfield and Smith have been recorded in the young season in which Umass has compiled a 4-1 record.

Linda Bevelander will be back on defense for the Gazelles for the first time in three weeks. Bevelander, who was sidelined with an ankle injury, will be an added plus on the defense tomorrow, according to Hixon.

"Linda will help us on the defense wing. After playing Smith we're going to have to bear down a little bit because they were a little tentative."

With the team healthy and strong, the Gazelles should stay on the winning track. The only loss of the season came in the team's second game to James Madison, a 6-5 decision. Hixon attributed the loss to inexperience and injuries. Since then, the Gazelles have posted three wins in a row.

With an active offense and a strong defense the Gazelles will hope to overpower Harvard at Nope field and leave with their fifth win of the season.

Collegian photo by John Doucette

There should be plenty of action for the Boyden Hill crowd as the Gorillas face BC at 2 p.m. on Saturday and UNH at 3 p.m. on Monday.

Softball blanks NH in 2

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts softball team picked up two important Division I wins over the University of New Hampshire, sweeping their doubleheader at Nope yesterday, 4—0 and 7—0.

Freshman Lynn Stockley struck out twelve batters in the second game and tossed a no-hitter in raising her record to 6—2.

"I think Lynn was awesome," head coach Elaine Sortino said of Stockley's performance. "UNH can really hit the ball. She's got to feel great about the game."

Stockley struck out the first three UNH batters (five of the first seven struck out) and the last four batters in a row. In fact, if it hadn't been for two walks, Stockley would have thrown a perfect game.

"It was a good game all around. The team really supported me," said Stockley.

Unlike the first game where UMass didn't score until the fifth inning, the Minutewomen wasted no time in the second game. Allyson Rioux led off with a single to left and after Missy Oman was caught looking, Jackie Gaw beat out a bunt to first.

Sally Maher, leading the team with 20 RBI, knocked in two more with a triple down the right field line. Chris Coughlin's single to left scored Maher for the 3—0 first inning lead.

After Mary Ann Lombardi singled up the ..dle and Rioux doubled to left, Gaw doubled, driving in the run. UMass added another in the third on a Lombardi RBI and two more in the fifth. Gaw ended up 3 for 4 with two doubles and two RBIs in the second game.

Meanwhile, Stockley squelched any UNH uprising.

"Our time had come," said Sortino. In the first game, UMass hit the ball well but it just didn't fall their way.

The Minutewomen could only manage one hit through the first four innings, Chris Coughlin's single in the second. In the fifth, UMass finally broke it open.

Ann Ringrose got on with a walk, followed by Debbie Pickett's single (error on the play), Rioux's single and a fielders choice by Oman. The bases were loaded. Gaw sent a shot to center field and the Wildcat dropped it and two runs scored. Maher hit a double and got the two RBI and all of a sudden it's 4-0, UMass.

"We never really felt threatened," said Sortino. "We were hitting the ball hard. It was just a matter of time."

The walking wounded played tough for UMass today including Gaw (sore shoulder), Oman (sore wrist) and Talbott (sore knee).

They won't get to rest today as Massachusetts hosts Vermont in another doubleheader at NOPE at 2:30.

"They are better than UNH. They have better pitching and better defense," said Sortino.

After Vermont, UMass (16—4) travels to Providence to take on the lady Friars on Sunday afternoon.

UMass Relays preview

By LAURIE FISHER
Collegian Staff

Trying to talk with UMass Men's track coach Ken O'Brien has been no easy task this week and justifiably so.

He, his staff and over ninety other people are preparing for the eighth annual UMass relay held tomorrow. UMass is going to play host to over 1,000 men and women representing 50 colleges and clubs, including many world-class competitors.

"This is going to be the most exciting relay UMass has ever had; the field is bigger and there is a higher quality of competitors," O'Brien said yesterday while typing out a final list of competitors.

The UMass competitor with the best chance of placing is high hurdler John Wright. Wright is a two year defending champion and is currently seeded number one in the high hurdle event.

The shotput event is certainly not lacking experienced participants. The competitors include three winners, Art McDermott from Boston College, James Dawson of Northeastern and Brian Donahue, formally from Texas.

. unning in the Invitational Mile are Geoff Smith of Providence College, Kevin Schuirer of Schenectady, N.Y. and James O'Connell of Syracuse. Smith has been clocked at running the mile in 3:55.

The high jump event includes five competitors who have topped seven feet. Nick Saunders from Boston University has a personal best of 7'6".

There will be no team scoring, it is each person for themselves. So if it is well-known track stars you are seeking, the UMass track field, located behind the Earl Lorden Baseball field, is the place to be Saturday at 10 a.m.

Sports Notices

ZooDisc will host all New England schools this Saturday and Sunday in the Collegiate Intersectionals, the first step towards the Nationals. Play begins at 11 a.m. at the Southwest playing fields on both days.

The UMass baseball team will host the Huskies of Northeastern in a doubleheader this Monday at 1 p.m. at Lorden field.

The UMass rugby team, top ranked in the East and ranked 4th in a national poll, will travel to Albany (NY) this weekend to participate in the Eastern Rugby Union Tournament.

UMass plays West Point Saturday, and if victorious, they will play the winner of the Cornell-Syracuse match on Sunday.

UMass alumni wrestlers will return to take on the 1982-83 UMass wrestling squad at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday in Boyden.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 116 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Tuesday, April 19, 1983

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

Danielle Germain, 2, and Jamie Miller, 4, enjoy yesterday's nice weather by rearranging the contents of a sandbox near their North Village homes.

Amherst students demand an end to S.Africa investment

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

An estimated 200 solemn faced Amherst College students and several faculty members staged a silent demonstration Saturday before the college's trustees in protest of Amherst's continued investment in American corporations in South Africa.

"We are looking for an end to racism, and end to injustice (in South Africa)," said Sam Mahlau, a student representative of the college's South African Support Committee (SASC), who organized the demonstration. "We mobilized on 16 hours notice, which is indicative of where the campus stands today."

"The trustees believed the issue was settled in terms of student apathy," said SASC faculty advisor Barry O'Connell, noting that the discipline and number of student protesters showed otherwise. "(We wanted) to remind the trustees that the issue of divestment from South Africa will not go away."

The demonstration was timed to coincide with the adjournment of the Board of Trustees meeting held in Alumni Hall and was announced on short notice to avoid possible administrative intervention such as changing the location of the meeting or cancelling the following reception, Mahlau said.

Students linked arms and lined both sides of the exit path from the building, remaining silent as the trustees passed by.

Several trustees refused a handout pledging divestment and others cut through the human barrier on their way to a reception which was held at a newly named language house. About half the trustees appeared to be reading the statement.

The students then marched around the language house behind a banner reading "Divest."

The demonstration occurred after seven years of controversy over the $17 million in Citicorp, IBM and Mobil Oil stocks the college holds. A student sit-in in 1979 and faculty pressure, resulted in partial divestment and the formation of an advisory committee to the trustees to further investigate the holdings, Mahlau said. That group's report is due out sometime next fall, he said.

According to an SASC pamphlet on apartheid and divestment, the reasons the trustees have refused to tally divest are threefold: divesting for political reasons violates principles of neutrality expected of intellectual institutions, Amherst is concerned with the possibility of financial loss, and the college feels it has a responsibility to try to influence corporations through their votes as shareholders to help reform racism in South Africa by the use of the Sullivan Principles. These guidelines for corporate conduct, of which there are six, include desegregation of facilities and equal pay for equal work.

"We are not interested in promoting apartheid," Acting Amherst College President G. Armor Craig said of the institution's investments. "We are certainly interested in insisting the Sullivan Principles be maintained by all companies in South Africa. We have a standing policy constantly under review insisting any corporations, in which we have stock, must do so in fulfillment of the Sullivan Principles."

Nationwide, nine colleges and universities, including the University of Massachusetts, have totally divested, while 28 other schools, including Amherst, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College and Smith College have partially divested from South Africa. Demonstrations were scheduled across New England this past weekend at schools such as Wesleyan, Williams and Dartmouth.

Students learn key lobbying techniques at U.S. Student Association Conference

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Students heard practical advice from a professional Washington lobbyist and held workshops on draft registration, financial aid, and civil rights this weekend at the United States Student Association's (USSA) first New England Regional Conference at the University of Massachusetts.

Anne Wexler, a Washington lobbyist and former special assistant to President Jimmy Carter, expressed her view from experience on lobbying and gave students a step-by-step process for successful lobbying.

"A mental attitude about lobbying is very important," said Wexler, who is married to UMass Chancellor Joseph Duffey. "When you are in lobbying you are as much a part of government as the person (legislator) sitting across from you."

A good lobbyist first defines the issue to be worked on, then prepares a case for it, Wexler said. Next, the lobby must produce a strong media strategy, and "start looking around early for a coalition," since it is "virtually impossible for one person or group to get a bill passed."

Wexler said that students don't vote enough as a group, and "this makes it difficult to have the kind of clout that you could have."

"Politicians don't listen to anyone who doesn't vote," Wexler said. "There isn't anything more important that you can do than voter registration."

Arthur Jackson, director of the Office of Financial Aid, followed Wexler with a presentation on the Solomon Amendment, which "links student financial aid with Selective Service," or draft registration.

The Solomon Amendment represents "a new type of political strategy to put pressure back on institutions to take money away from higher education," Jackson said.

This reflects "conservative feelings that higher education should have a lower priority than other programs," he said.

Jackson said that registration for the draft is "not a key issue," in the Solomon Amendment.

Draft registration is "a smokescreen for diverting funds from the education programs to other programs," Jackson said.

USSA President Janice Fine agreed, saying that USSA emphasizes the aid cuts rather than the draft issue in its lobbying efforts against the Amendment.

Fine outlined the history and organization of USSA at the General Assembly held earlier on Saturday. The organization began 35 years ago as the National Student Association (NSA). It was formed by returning World War II soldiers to show college students had a say in the national issues, Fine said.

"Through the forties and fifties the NSA was a progressive voice domestically," Fine said. In 1967 it was discovered to be "infiltrated by the CIA," for many years, she said.

USSA was born when NSA merged with the National Student Lobby in 1978, Fine said, and now forms part of the higher education lobbying coalition in Washington.

In a "Civil Rights on Campus" workshop held Saturday morning, Women's Caucus Coordinator Sue Cottle gave a history of Title Nine, which guards against sexual discrimination in federally-funded institutions, and Office of Third World Affairs Director Gary Lee explained the role of Third World organizations on campus, saying, "the psychology of racism stunts the community's growth."

Raising community awareness goal of rape march tonight

By MIRIAM ZOLL
Collegian Correspondent

In an effort to raise community awareness and action against violence against women, a march against rape will be held tonight in Amherst.

The march, originally organized in response to the New Bedford rape of a 21-year-old woman, will begin at 6 p.m. on the Amherst Common.

Valerie McCann, a member of the Sister's in Health, a feminist political self-help collective, said the collective decided to hold a march against rape because educating the community is a constructive way to fight rape.

"This march against rape is an awareness march," McCann said. "It's going to be loud and noisy so people will hear what we have to say."

Men Against Violence Against Women (MAVAW), a group of six men who counsel men who are close to rape survivors, is also sponsoring the march.

"We're participating in the march to make people, especially men, conscious of violence against women," Eric Radack, a counseling coordinator for MAVAW said.

"Rape is a man's problem as much as it is a woman's," he said. "Feminists have done most of the work concerning rape awareness but men should be doing something, too."

The march route will begin at the Amherst Common and continue down North Pleasant Street to Triangle Street, then will loop back to Kellog Street and end at the Bang's Community Center where the film "Rape Culture" will be shown.

According to McCann, the film illustrates how rape is embedded and accepted in society through advertising, motion pictures and music.

"The fact that no one helped the woman in New Bedford shows how men are socially conditioned to accept rape," Radack said. "Our culture romanticizes rape. It becomes a fantasy and men don't realize the torture the victim goes through."

The Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom (CERRF) and the Everywoman Center and Necessities (a shelter for battered women located in Northampton) are also marching in tonight's rally.

"By marching against rape we are committing ourselves to changing attitudes and the environment that creates rape," Marta Tapia, Coordinator for Educator Advocates Program at the Everywoman Center said.

"We want people to at least think about rape. Even if they haven't been raped themselves, our rape culture still affects them," McCann said.

World and National News

U.S. Beirut Embassy hit by bomb blast

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A car bomb devastated the center section of the seven-story U.S. Embassy yesterday, and authorities said 28 people were killed and 105 wounded in the fiery blast. Six U.S. Marines and two U.S. Army soldiers were reported among the dead.

U.S. Marine commander Col. James M. Mead said people were still trapped in the rubble and that rescue efforts were under way. U.S. Ambassador Robert Dillon was briefly trapped but escaped unharmed.

President Reagan said in Washington, "This criminal attack on a diplomatic establishment will not deter from our goals of peace in the region. We will do what we know to be right." He described the attack as "a vicious terrorist bombing" and a "cowardly act."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a member of the Armed Services Committee, called for the recall of U.S. Marines from Lebanon. But Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the panel, said the bombing should not affect the U.S. commitment to the war-ravaged nation.

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., called the bombing "rank terrorism."

The House Foreign Affairs Committee scheduled a late afternoon meeting to receive a State Department briefing. Speaker of the House Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said he would also attend.

The extremist Moslem Holy War group that claimed responsibility is believed to be a pro-Iranian organization actively cooperating with more than 1,000 Iranian Revolutionary Guards based in eastern Lebanon.

AP Laserphoto

People gather to view the wreckage at the U.S. Embassy in West Beirut yesterday after a huge bomb went off collapsing the entire front of the building. An ambulance races to the scene.

AP Laserphoto

Gen. Jose Guillermo is shown at yesterday's news conference where he announced his resignation as El Salvador's defense minister after 42 months on the job.

El Salvador Defense Minister resigns in face of crisis

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Gen. Jose Guillermo Garcia announced at a news conference yesterday that he has resigned as defense minister.

The resignation ends a week-long crisis in El Salvador's military, involved in a bitter fight against leftist guerrillas.

Garcia refused to say who will succeed him, but political sources, who spoke on condition they were not identified by name, said Gen. Carlos Eugenio Vides Casanova, 44, now director of the National Guard, will be appointed to the post by interim President Alvaro Magana.

Col. Juan Rafael Bustillo, the air force commander, had threatened to mutiny unless Garcia resigned and an undisclosed number of intelligence and logistics army officers were removed. He accused them of cronyism, corruption and bungling the war against the guerillas.

Garcia, 49, was among the last remaining in office of a group of officers who overthrew the corruption-ridden rightist regime of Gen. Carlos Humberto Romero in a coup Oct. 15, 1979.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Mike Mahoney
Copy Editor — Dave Summersby
Layout Technician — Will Hopkins
Photo Technician — Dave Deuber
Composition — Maria Cahillane, James Shanahan, Marianne Walsh, Ken Kalinowski, Donna Estabrooks, Nancy Gallo, Stuart Sajdak, Jackie Femino

Subscription Rates

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Volcker not expected to repeat as Fed Reserve Board Chair

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is leaning against naming Paul A. Volcker to a second term as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board this summer, but has not made a final decision yet, an administration source said yesterday.

The source, speaking only on condition that his name not be used, said that the president and his top White House aides are considering about a half dozen candidates to succeed Volcker.

The chances of Volcker being kept for a second term are small and diminishing each day, said the source, who added that the president has not made up his mind firmly although his top advisers are nearly unanimous in their belief that Volcker should be replaced.

The Washington Times, citing "informed sources in the administration," said Reagan does not intend to nominate Volcker to another four-year term in the powerful post at the nation's central bank. The newspaper said the president has decided to put his own man in the key monetary policy job.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes, commenting on the report said: "In the strongest terms, the president has not made a decision, and when we have something to announce, we will announce it. But the president has not made a decision on the replacement of Mr. Volcker or if he will be replaced. There has been no decision on that point."

Speculation has been rampant in the capital for weeks about whether Volcker, 54, would be willing to accept a second term and whether Reagan would appoint him when his term expires in August.

Protesters block Honeywell entrance over weapons deals

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — More than 100 demonstrators were arrested yesterday after they blocked the doors at Honeywell Inc.'s headquarters to protest the company's manufacture of weapons parts, authorities said.

Members of a group called the Honeywell Project blocked 13 doors and a company official said about 2,000 employees were delayed an hour in getting to work.

More than 200 other protesters watched, sang songs and held signs, but weren't arrested because they didn't block the doors.

Minneapolis Police Chief Tony Bouza said more than 100 people, including his wife Erica, were arrested for trespassing. Another police officer estimated the number of arrests at 140.

"The people behaved honorably and were expressing their conscious," Bouza said. "They're in the toils of the criminal justice system now, but they deserve to be respected."

Those arrested shortly after 6 a.m. were cited for a misdemeanor, which carries a maximum fine of $500 or three months in jail.

Honeywell, ranked 16th in weapons contracts by the Defense Department, will hold its annual stockholders meeting Tuesday. Company spokeswoman Karen Bachman said Honeywell's total revenue last year was about $5.5 billion — $700 million of which came from government defense contracts.

Hollings begins campaign

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Pledging to put the nation's jobless back to work, U.S. Sen. Ernest Hollings of South Carolina announced his candidacy yesterday for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Fritz" Hollings, 61, a three-term senator and former South Carolina governor who joined a growing list of contenders for the Democratic nomination, said the nation has all the elements of economic success — human ingenuity, industrial muscle and scientific imagination.

"But we lack the leadership to combine these precious resources into a partnership," he said. "Only a president can mobilize these resources in a common cause. I intend to be such a president."

Hollings made his announcement at Midlands Technical College, a two-year school in a statewide technical training network created while Hollings was state governor.

Quick trial process for auto violations result of new law

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

Those persons who do not pay fines for moving motor vehicle violations or request a clerk/magistrate hearing within ten days of a traffic offense will automatically have a warrant issued for their arrest under a new vehicle law that takes effect Friday.

The law, passed last December, decriminalizes most motor vehicle offenses punishable by fines under $100. Driving under the influence, a more serious offense, is still a criminal, arrestable offense. Parking tickets are not affected by the act.

Records of violations or hearings will not appear on offenders' probation or police records unless the fines are not paid or a hearing is not requested within ten days of the violation.

Under the old law, citations were criminal offenses but fines often went unpaid and hearings unrequested. Because the system was backlogged with previous citations, it could take up to five years for the courts to catch up with violators.

Janet Rowe Dugan, district court clerk for Hampshire County, said Hampshire County is backlogged with more than 10,000 unprocessed citations. Dugan and other proponents of the law say they hope it will speed up the processing, fining and hearing of violators.

Toby J. Kamens, legal counsel for the office of state district court Chief Justice Samuel E. Zoll which drafted the initial legislation, said she thinks "legislation streamlines the process for hearings."

Because violations will be decriminalized, the jury trial that had been the third appeal in the previous law will be eliminated. Instead, a "de novo" trial in front of a judge will be the final appeal. "De novo" denotes that the case would be heard anew.

Kamens said that under the new law, violators will "have a chance for two hearings. In my opinion that is adequate."

Charles J. DiMare, director of the Student Legal Services Office at the University, said one advantage of the new law is that "it provides for more efficient handling of complaints because it will not tie up juries. From the accused, they will lose their right to jury trial."

Hampshire Country Assistant District Attorney Richard Carey said the loss of jury trial was not of significance, "The risk is not as great because it's not a criminal conviction."

Both attorneys, however, did foresee a problem with the law's enforcement.

"What good is a warrant if there aren't any police officers to serve them? What are they going to do...serve warrants all day?" DiMare asked.

Carey foresaw a potential problem in the courts. "The new law sets up a trial in front of the clerk and mandates the officer who gave the citation" to be present as well, Carey said. "It might be somewhat expensive for the local cities and towns," he said.

"A $25 speeding ticket will not offset the cost of paying an officer for four hours," Carey said.

Amherst police chief Donald Maia and UMass Public Safety Director Gerald T. O'Neil said they did not anticipate problems with enforcement.

Mary Dumas, director of community relations and staff development for the public safety department, said "Recovering expenses of enforcing the law is not a realty."

Union head Laurie leaving UMass post for England at semester's end

By BROOKE STATES
Collegian Staff

Massachusetts Society of Professors (MSP) President Bruce Laurie is leaving his position as associate professor at the University of Massachusetts at the end of the semester. This summer he will be going to England to take a position as visiting senior lecturer at the University of Warwick in Conventry.

"They have a very good program. It is one of the best centers for the study of social history that there is, "Laurie said.

Laurie also said he is working on a new book, The Lost World of the Artisan, about the process of skilled tradespeople losing control of their skills as a result of industrialization.

Laurie has been teaching at UMass since 1971. He served as associate department chair from 1979-1981.

"The union (MSP) has tighted up internal operation and developed a more efficient staff. We have also built ourselves into a political force in the state legislature," Laurie said.

"It is often forgotten that in fiscal year 1981 the state senate was ready to make drastic cuts that would have forced major retrenchment. We turned what was a cut into an increase of 15 percent. The MSP had a major hand in this," he said.

According to Laurie the last contract was relatively good and the last two contracts have taken salaries from a mediocre level to one that is among the best in the big ten public universities.

"Our salaries are far above the University of Minnesota, they are approaching the Universities of Michigan, California — Berkley, and North Carolina. These are the leaders in the field. With this up-coming contract we hope to make our salaries on par with them," Laurie said.

The MSP is part of the Massachusetts Teachers Association. On campus the MSP represents 900 faculty and librarians. Statewide the MSP represents 60,000 teachers. They are currently negotiating a new contract.

"It will probably be a three year contract. We are looking for strengthened faculty rights in peer review and stronger affirmative action language in the contract. We are also looking for increases in salaries," Laurie said.

"This campus is in decidedly better shape than most major universitites. The University of Michigan has had layoffs and the state systems in Washington, California, Oregon and other places are in trouble," Laurie said.

The legislature is not going to support us because we are so virtuous," Laurie said. "You see my phone. I have one because I have to pay for it. In the History department there is virtually no travel money. Research funds are nonexistent. Resources are at rock bottom. We have been bled dry," Laurie said.

He said that he plans to take an active roll in the union before and after he gets back from England. He hopes to help represent them to the state legislature. The MSP has just completed elections for new officers.

"If everyone is entitled to benefits derived from the contract then they should pay," Laurie said in response to the stand of those professors that have refused to pay agency fees to the union.

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

Worcester Dining Commons has undergone roof repair. In this photo Stewart Boloz applies the necessary tar in order to keep the roof in top condition.

Women need more power to be equal says Canadian Women of the Year

By CRIS SCHUSTER
Collegian Staff

Even though no politician in Canada can safely oppose equality for women, women must still become the mainstream of their own political party to get that equality, according to the Canadian minister responsible for the status of women who spoke Friday at Smith College.

Judy Erola, voted Woman of the Year in 1983 by the Canadian magazine Chatelaine, spoke about the recent political gains by Canadian women in comparison to women in the United States.

"As women we must become more politicized. We must get competent women in the corridors of power," she said. "We have had precious little opportunity to test our morals. We must and will achieve equitable representation."

Erola said women in Canada have many things in common with women from the United States.

"We (Canadian women) have clearly benefited from feminist thinkers from the U.S.," she said.

However, the Canadian government has reacted more positively to the struggle of equal rights than the United States government, she said. Canada now has an equal rights clause in its Constitution.

American women, in their attempt to get the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment made many errors, she said.

"They thought because they were right, they would win," she said.

Women in both countries are still discriminated against, she said. In Canada, women earn an average of 59 percent of what men earn and in the United States, women earn 60 percent.

In both countries most women remain in the narrow categories of clerical and sales, she said.

"To me, policies must adjust," she said.

"We live in countries of affluence and material wealth, the more reason to be on the forefront of change," she said.

Canada has a lot more going for women than in the United States. There is a much smaller population (25 million) so it is easier to change, she said. However, women must still be strong and fight for the things they want.

"To be a feminist is not to be unfeminine," she said.

Many changes still need to be made, she said. "Changes in our pension, especially for women, is crucial. Forty percent of the time in Canada marriages end in divorce and the result is women are too often reduced to poverty," she said.

Better child care and maternity benefits are also needed she said, and economic changes will make "marriages of equality, not of dependency," she said.

OH power outage mostly hurt toilets

By PAUL BASKEN
Collegian Staff

A disruption in a feeder line supplying electricity to Orchard Hill Residential College early Saturday morning caused a seven-hour power outage to the four student dormitories, the Chancellor's House, and Fisher Laboratory.

Students who remained on campus over the three-day weekend experienced minor inconveniences, mostly as a result of toilets malfunctioning when the buildings' electric water pumps stopped.

"It was lucky that a great deal of the population was away for the weekend," said Donald Pelkey, Area Management Coordinator for the Orchard Hill/Central Residential Area.

Pelkey said he received a phone call from a cluster coordinator at about 7 a.m. informing him of the outage. After informing the Physical Plant of the problem, Pelkey said he then called housekeeping personnel in on overtime to watch for any problems that may have resulted form the stopped water pumps. The pumps only provide the pressure needed to operate the toilet system, and therefore drinking water to the dorms was not affected.

Donald Sturtevant, a technical specialist at the Physical Plant, said crews repaired a one foot section of line in a power substation shortly after 1 p.m. Sturtevant and Pelkey said they knew of no major problems arising from the blackout.

Newslines . . .

Two UMass frats face hearing today after Thursday night brawl

Two University of Massachusetts fraternities face a hearing today as the result of an early Friday morning altercation in which three UMass students were arrested.

Amherst Police say that they were first called at 1 a.m. on Friday to disperse a crowd in the parking lot in front of the Pub on East Pleasant Street.

Amherst Police were again summoned at 1:30 a.m. to the intersection of Phillips and North Pleasant Streets where they say they found "a pretty good melee going on" between members of the Pi Kappa Alpha and Beta Kappa Phi fraternities.

Amherst Police note that the number of persons involved made it impossible for them to control the situation, and that they put in a call for backup units which included State Police from the Northampton barracks.

The three students arrested were charged with disorderly conduct after they failed to disperse.

Spokesmen for each fraternity refused to comment on the incident, citing as a reason a directive from the Interfraternity Council. However, Beta Kappa Phi President, Paul Danello, did say that both fraternities had received a letter from the Director of Housing Services, Joseph Zannini, not to get involved in any more altercations until a hearing was held today.

— DAVID B. MINER

UMass student arrested friday for three motor vehicle violations

Amherst Police report that a 21 year-old University of Massachusetts student was arrested over the long weekend on several motor vehicle violations, the result of an incident late Friday night in which a passenger side door only several inches from the pavement.

Police say that the 11:45 p.m. incident, which occured in front of the Amherst police station, resulted in the driver being charged with driving while intoxicated, driving to endanger, and driving an uninsured vehicle.

Another arrest reported by the Amherst police was that of an Amherst College student, who was charged with shop lifting following the theft of $4 worth of candy from a local candy store on Friday.

Also over the weekend, Amherst police reported two minor motor vehicle accidents with no personal injuries noted.

— DAVID B. MINER

"Singing and dancing in the Nuclear Age" plays CCA tonight

A concert entitled "Singing and Dancing in the Nuclear Age" will be presented at 8 p.m. tonight in the Campus Center Auditorium.

The concert will be an evening of music and comedy starring the comedy team/psychologists Fran and Charlie, and folksinger Betsy Rose. It is planned as a celebration of people's ability to care about one another and the world in these absurd and troubled times.

The three performers will conduct a workshop this afternoon at Hampshire College. For more information call Jim Matlack at 549-4600 extension 405.

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS/AMHERST
ACADEMIC CALENDAR
1983-84

Approved: 5/14/81
Reapproved: 3/17/83

1983
FALL SEMESTER

Registration Day - Undergraduate, Graduate, Stockbridge	Monday	September	12
First day of classes	Tuesday	September	13
Holiday	Monday	October	10
Monday class schedule will be followed	Tuesday	October	11
Friday class schedule will be followed	Wednesday	November	9
Holiday	Friday	November	11
Counselling period begins (classes not suspended)	Monday	November	14
Counselling period ends	Saturday	November	19
Thanksgiving recess begins after last class	Wednesday	November	23
Classes resume	Monday	November	28
Last day of classes	Friday	December	16
One half reading day	Saturday	December	17
Final examinations begin 1:30 p.m.	Saturday	December	17
Last day of final examinations, semester ends	Friday	December	23
Final grades due 12:00 noon	Wednesday	January	4

Associated Dates*: Rosh Hashanah September 8,9, Yom Kippur September 17

MWF: 13 13 13 TUTHS: 13 13 12

1984
SPRING SEMESTER

Registration Day - Undergraduate, Graduate, Stockbridge	Monday	January	30
First Day of Classes	Tuesday	January	31
Holiday	Monday	February	20
Monday class schedule will be followed	Tuesday	February	21
Spring vacation begins after last class	Saturday	March	17
Classes resume	Monday	March	26
Holiday	Monday	April	16
Counselling period begins (classes not suspended)	Tuesday	April	17
Monday class schedule will be followed	Wednesday	April	18
Counselling period ends	Saturday	April	21
Last day of classes	Wednesday	May	16
Reading Days	Thursday	May	17
	Friday	May	18
Final examinations begin	Saturday	May	19
Last day of final examinations, semester ends	Friday	May	25
Commencement	Sunday	May	27
Final grades due 12:00 noon	Wednesday	May	30

Associated Dates*: Passover April 17-18, Good Friday April 20

MWF: 14 14 14 TUTHS: 14 14 14

SUMMER SESSION

Registration Day	Monday	June	4
First day of classes - First Session	Tuesday	June	5
Holiday	Wednesday	July	4
Last day of classes - First Session	Friday	July	13
Registration day - Second Session	Monday	July	16
First day of classes - Second Session	Tuesday	July	17
Last day of classes - Second Session	Friday	August	24

* Quizzes and exams should not be scheduled, or makeups should be provided so that students are not oenalized or disadvantaged as a result of religious observance. Rosh Hashana, Yom Kippur and Passover begin at sunset of the oreceding day.

Annual Rope Pull
across campus pond
Friday April 22
12:00 noon - 5 pm
sign up
Campus Center Concourse Table
Tues April 19 Thru Thurs April 21
Hours 10 - 4

IMPROVE STUDY HABITS
IMPROVE SPORTS ABILITY
HYPNOSIS CAN HELP YOU MAKE IT PERMANENT
Many of our clients are doctor referrals.
OVERCOME ANXIETIES, FEARS & PHOBIAS
Lose Weight • Stop Smoking • Insomnia • Nail Biting
Self Confidence • Sexual Problems •
HAMPSHIRE ETHICAL HYPNOSIS CENTER
Milton H. Askinoos, Member A.A.E.H.
Available Lecture Demonstrations
Call or Write for Free Brochure
The Farrick Building, Rte. 9, Hadley, Ma.
3/10 mile Hampshire Mall (next to Rocky's Hardware)
584-1919 by Appt. Only

TUESDAY
TWO FOR ONE
all liquor drinks
9 till 11
with music by
RACK-A-DISC
9 til 1 NO COVER
THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

CARBUR'S
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE

monday thru Thursday
400-600 P.M.
DOUBLE DRINKS
at the Elmwood Shops
Route 9 Hadley, Ma.
586-1978
PVTA STOPS HERE

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier
One of the many dogs who romp the UMass campus is framed by a bicycle wheel while taking a well deserved rest in the springtime sun.

Academic diversity offered in Five College programs

By JACKIE ROMANO
Collegian Correspondent

Approximately 4500 to 5000 of the total number of students attending Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke and Smith colleges and the University of Massachusetts participate annually in the various programs offered through the Five College Consortia.

The Five College Consortia, with origins dating back to 1957, provides the opportunity for students attending one of the five colleges in the area to become involved in the academic, cultural, and extracurricular activities at the other schools at no additional cost to the student.

University of Massachusetts students can sign up for courses on other campuses in the Five College Consortia during the pre-registration period that runs until April 23.

Course catalogues, Five College course lists, and other information about student interchange are available at the Five College Office of CASIAC in room E-27A of Machmer Hall, across from the Student Union.

E. Jefferson Murphy, the Five College Coordinator, says that the Five College program breaks down into three areas of offerings: student access, academic cooperation, and provision of infrastructure.

Under student access, students are given access to certain facilities and programs, with the exception of physical recreational facilities, which are under great demand.

Students are allowed to use the libraries, participate in plays, and even eat meals at the other colleges with their student meal program.

Students who wish to arrange a schedule of eating at another school can obtain permission through the food service at their own school. Students are also encouraged to take part in lectures, art exhibits, and other cultural activities offered at other schools.

The second area of benefits the program offers is academic cooperation. Students are allowed to enroll academically in courses offered at other schools within the program and receive academic credit.

Courses are offered in astronomy, black studies, medieval studies, photography, and dance, to name a few. The faculty from the five colleges often work together on joint academic projects, and a department such as astronomy is one department within the Five College program.

The last area of program offerings within the consortia is the provision of infrastructure, or programs designed to improve the flow of information concerning the Five College program.

Perhaps the most frequently used of these services is the Five College bus system. Students are provided free transportation to each of the colleges, with service also extending to South Hadley.

The bus service is provided by the Pioneer Valley Transit Authority (PVTA), but is financed by the Five College Consortia.

Resource Center opens today

By KAREN WEGRZYN
Collegian Correspondent

Southwest area residents may soon have greater access to University academic programs — right in their own back yard.

The Southwest Resource Center, located in Hampden Dining Commons, will provide Southwest area residents with academic and CASIAC requirement information, and information about alternative academic programs, internship offerings, and international and national student exchange programs.

In addition, the Center will provide news of current events and dorm activities. Tickets will also be available for purchase for Hampden Theatre events.

The Resource Center will be staffed by undergraduate students under the direction of coordinator Sandy Blanchard. There are approximately ten work-study students currently working with the program.

The students will not function as academic advisors, but rather as resource assistants providing patrons of the center with direction and insight into the programs being offered, Blanchard said.

"Our objective is to make students aware of what their options are on campus," Blanchard said.

"There are a lot of interesting programs on campus that go unused, and if information is concentrated in one place, students will be able to keep on top of what's going on."

The Resource Center will be open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to midnight. The center is located across from the main entrance of Hampden Commons. It includes ample work space, display shelves for materials and a lounge area for students to meet and discuss programs with staff members.

Opening ceremonies for the Southwest Resource Center will be held today from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., and students will be able to meet with faculty and CASIAC staff members who sponsor the programs to be offered at the center.

Plans for the center include major career nights, and internship planning sessions. The functions of the center will also be introduced to incoming freshman students at summer orientation programs.

Police detain escaped convict

By TAMI BORTON
Collegian Staff

A 20 year old Roxbury man, who had escaped from Massachusetts Correction Institute (MCI) in Plymouth, was arrested on campus Sunday morning by University of Massachusetts police on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a license and being an escapee.

A complaint to UMass police reported a car inside the UMass physical plant compound at 3:35 a.m. Sunday, Sgt. Donald Zidik said.

The car, which is owned by one of the three male passengers, was stopped near Boyden gymnasium. The men were waiting for a pizza, UMass police said.

When asked for identification, the suspect later identified as Ransom Brown could not produce any.

UMass police later learned a warrant for his arrest had been issued on Feb. 28 by the MCI. The man had escaped from the institute where he was serving a sentence for armed robbery.

In a separate incident, a 20 year old man from Oaks Bluff, Martha's Vineyard, was arrested at 2:40 a.m. Saturday morning at a dance in the UMass Student Union Ballroom on charges of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

A UMass police officer witnessed a transaction in progress in the men's room, where the man was in possession of two bags of marijuana, according to police reports.

Women's Week

TUESDAY

"New Technologies — Whose Progress? will be shown and discussed at noon in the Campus Center in room 811B. The workshop is part of the Women and Office Automation series.

March Against Rape will be held at 6 p.m. in the Amherst Common. Bring banners and signs. CERRF will meet at the march.

NBC Newscaster Jessica Savitch will speak on "Women, Media and Politics" at 8 p.m. in Sage Hall at Smith College.

WEDNESDAY

Information meeting and talk about DES will be given by Patricia Sipe, at 8 p.m. in the Neilson Browsing room at Smith College.

THURSDAY

Workshop on interviewing skills offered by the Everywoman's Center will be held at noon in the Campus Center in room 903.

Anti-racism team will meet at 4 p.m. in the Dukes Room.

Women's Leadership Project will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union in room 415.

An opening reception for the exhibition "Expressions: A Women's Art Exhibit" will be held 7:30 to 10 p.m. in Wheeler Art Gallery in the Central residential area.

The Gender Gap in Mainstream Politics will be discussed by Alice S. Rossi, professor of sociology at UMass, at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium.

SUNDAY

Herstory in Motion, a dance piece about violence against women, will be presented by Dancing the Undoing, a women's theater and dance group at 8 p.m. in the Hampshire College Dance Studio.

STYLES BY DEBORAH • STYLES BY DEBORAH • STYLES BY DEBORAH

NEW WAVE
&
DESIGN HAIRCUTS
$8.00 with this coupon
10.50 with shampoo & Blow Dry
11.50 long hair shampoo & Blow Dry
Free Consultations
please call for an appointment
STYLES BY DEBORAH
65 University Drive, Amherst
549-5610
C

COPIES
4¢ high quality-while you wait
3½¢ high quality-overnight
3¢ regular quality-while you wait
2½¢ regular quality overnight
WORKER OWNED 1983
COLLECTIVE 256-6425
Copies 25 N. Pleasant St., Amherst
HOURS: M-F 8am-midnight SAT. 9-5, SUN 11-5
THESIS QUALITY ACID-FREE PAPER
REDUCTIONS
BINDING $1.25

ENGINEERING STUDENTS
AIM HIGH

If you're a senior or second semester junior and have a 2.5 GPA in electrical engineering, you might qualify for the Air Force College Senior Engineering program (CSEP). CSEP members are paid nearly $1,000 per month during their senior year! Your commitment is 4 years as a commissioned officer on the Air Force Aerospace Engineering Team after graduation and completion of the three month Officer Training School. If you want to be part of the leading edge of technology. . CHECK US OUT!

Call TSgt Art Courtemanche
(413) 785-0352

AIR FORCE
A great way of life

IDB TIPS
227 Whitmore

REMEMBER
Wednesday, April 20
is a Monday Class
Schedule

a service of the Dean of Students Office

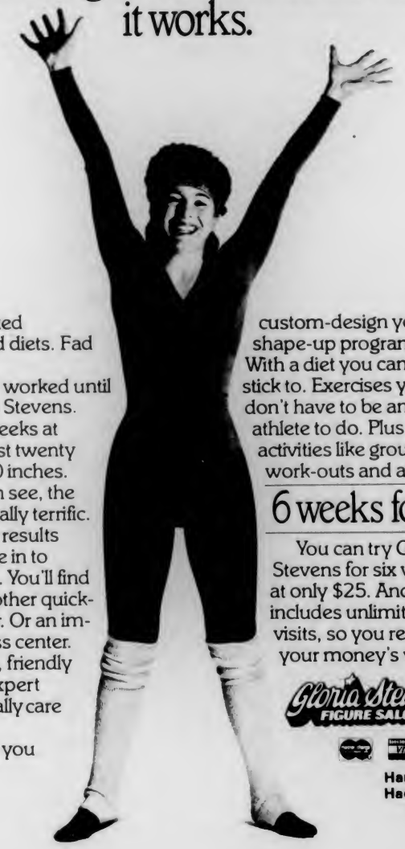
Flagstone
CAMPUS Cafe
CENTER
Located Outdoors on the 3rd Floor Terrace
Lunch: 11 am-2 pm/ Monday-Friday
Weather Permitting

Losing 20 pounds says something about Gloria Stevens: it works.



Pat Cotter tried everything. Fad diets. Fad exercises.

But nothing worked until she tried Gloria Stevens.

In just six weeks at Gloria's, she lost twenty pounds and 20 inches. And as you can see, the results were really terrific.

If you'd like results like Pat's, come in to Gloria Stevens. You'll find it's not just another quick-loss diet center. Or an impersonal fitness center.

It's a warm, friendly place where expert technicians really care about you.

They'll help you custom-design your own shape-up program. With a diet you can actually stick to. Exercises you don't have to be an athlete to do. Plus fun activities like group work-outs and aerobics.

6 weeks for $25.

You can try Gloria Stevens for six weeks at only $25. And that includes unlimited visits, so you really get your money's worth.

Gloria Stevens FIGURE SALONS

Hampshire Mall
Hadley, Route 9
584-0105

BUDGET AIR FARES

EUROPE FROM BOSTON — ROUND TRIP FROM
AMSTERDAM $418
FROM N.Y.C. — ROUND TRIP FROM PARIS $479
ATHENS $499
TEL AVIV $599

ASIA & SOUTH PACIFIC
FROM WEST COAST — ROUND TRIP FROM SYDNEY $880
AUCKLAND $1060
MELBOURNE $880
BANGKOK $885
HONG KONG $655

ALSO . . .
Eurail, Britrail, International Student I.D., Youth Hostel Card, Youth and Student Tours All Over The World, Domestic Air Fares

Please Call
617-497-1497
for a Free Catalog
We Are
COUNCIL TRAVEL CIEE
1278 Mass. Ave. #21
Harvard Square, Cambridge, MA 02138

Explore Careers in Performing Arts

Wednesday,
April 20, 1983
Campus Center, Rm 169 from 7-9:30 pm
with
Judith Allen, Director of Programming
University of Massachusetts
Fine Arts Center, Amherst
Jeffrey Struckman,
Set Designer and Costume Designer
Stage West, West Springfield
David Sporney,
Jazz Musician and Professor of Music
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
and
Barbara Schaeffer Bacon,
Arts Resource Coordinator, AES

TOPICS: A general overview of each career, including setting, skills needed, kinds of positions, and resources for job information.

Next Workshops: Careers in the Literary Arts and Careers in the Visual Arts.

TO REGISTER, CALL AES 545-2360.

Sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Homophobia — it's our problem

I was walking through the Campus Ce ter with my friend, feeling inspired by the advocates for human rights, world peace and other noble causes buzzing around us. We'd been talking about what a dynamic place UMass is; a place where one can live, learn and grow in conventional or nonconventional life styles.

"...It's really great," my friend said,..." I don't feel the discrimination against gays here that I do other places..."

I was psyched that my friend, in his unusual dress of earrings, feathers and a pretty scarf, felt comfortable in the crowd. Okay, so he was dressed a bit out of the ordinary, but did he deserve the comments, which followed?

Julia Courtney

"Who's the faggot? Your father must be proud of you!" I was stunned as two men walking behind us continued to berate my friend with cruel insults and ignorant accusations, just because he was dressed out of the "norm." Not only did they ruin our supposedly perfectly enlightened environment, they also left me feeling enraged, hurt, and helpless. My only reaction was to tell them they were idiots. I doubt that that was an effective comeback.

Why did these people feel entitled to invade our private space so bluntly? Did they consider my friend's nonconformity to the male image, (i.e...real men don't wear earrings or pretty scarfs!), as a threat to their identity's or perhaps a threat to their own latent homosexual tendencies? Is such a blatant verbal attack only a defensive tactic for fear of the unknown? What are people afraid of anyway?

I realize there are a lot of social changes happening these days. For example, the gay culture is coming out of the closet. Many men and women can't understand such changes, and I sympathize with such people. But I'm ashamed of those who just don't accept differences and blindly lash out with discriminatory attacks that disturb the lives of those who choose different lifestyles, and others who choose to accept those styles.

Whether discrimination exists as a racial joke or a few harsh words, it simply cannot be tolerated. (Why? Because it makes me mad and if such unfortunately common discriminatory occurances can make me, an innocent bystander, all riled up inside, think of how it must feel to the victim that such acts are directed at!) Isn't it true that one angry outburst usually leads to another angry outburst, and another? Where does it all end? Should we really have to put up with such ignorant and inhumane discriminatory actions? No.

I later told another friend about what had happened to me and my gay friend, to which he responded, "Welcome to the real world....that's life..." I know it's the real world, and I think it's time that each of us cared about the real world and spoke up about it. Don't be fooled into thinking that discrimination doesn't exist much anymore, even at this fine university, whose claim to fame is one of diversity and acceptance.

Open your eyes and ears. Legislative laws are being passed that support the rights of various minorities. But these do nothing to prevent the more subtle discriminatory thinking and acting that continues unnecessarily to agitate many people daily. Constitutional rights or not, no one will be free from the ill effects of discrimination until each of us decides not to ignore it.

The next time you're about to label someone in a derogatory fashion, such as a "faggot", stop and ask yourself, why? Or perhaps put yourself into that person's shoes. Does this person really deserve such treatment?

For those who do tolerate such differences among people, great. But you can't stop there. Try to help others examine why they have a hard time doing so. Finally, for those of you who absolutely refuse to be accepting of the differences among people, keep it to yourselves. You're making asses of yourselves and ruining many a perfect day.

Julia Courtney is a UMass student

Smoke-Out today

Today may be the first small step you take on the road to a cleaner, healthier life. The American Cancer Society, American Lung Association and a group of concerned students will be sponsoring the UMass Smoke-Out.

The facts and figures are all too familiar and all too devastating. The risks of heart attacks, strokes, lung cancer, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, mouth cancer, larynx cancer, urinary bladder cancer and pancreatic cancer to name a few, have been proven to be greatly compounded by smoking.

Cigarettes serve no purpose, except perhaps to keep people's hands busy, or give them a false air of maturity. Most people smoke because they started when they were young and impressionable and haven't been able to stop since. It's not that people don't want to kick the habit — it's because they can't. Nicotine is a drug, one of the strongest in terms of physical addictiveness. It is hard to quit, but the more knowledge you have on the subject, the easier it will be.

So take that first step. Give your lungs a well-deserved break, and take those extra few minutes to visit the Smoke-Out table on the Campus Center Concourse. It may be some of the most valuable information you're ever going to read.

Now is the best time to do it, with the pressures of finals week still off in the distance. So go for it. You'll be able to approach your favorite person and say, "Kiss me, I quit smoking." Think about it, and we'll see you on the Concourse.

Letters

Help your smoking friends out

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, April 19th, there will be a campus-wide boycott on smoking. This means that it's time to encourage (strongly) your friends, who haven't been able to kick the habit themselves, to quit smoking. You'll be doing your friends and yourself a favor. Don't go for that old excuse, "they're my lungs not yours". Remind them that your lungs breath the same air theirs do.

Believe me these smokers need our help. I've been at this school for three years now and I haven't met one yet that is able to read that two word sign that's in almost every building on campus — NO SMOKING — or maybe they just can't see it through all the smoke.

Jim Foley
Hamlin

WOOSH correction still wrong

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to your article on job safety for women in the Monday April 11th Collegian, and the subsequent correction in the April 13th edition. Both of these, unfortunately, contained inaccurate information. Women Organizing for Occupational Safety and Health (WOOSH) is an organization made up of students and workers concerned with women's health and safety on the job. We are a group of ten women, and have just become affiliated with Mass. COSH (Coalition for Occupational Safety and Health), as their Western Mass. Women's Committee. Western Mass. COSH, based in Springfield, has a membership totalling 34 unions and over 30 individual members. Mass. COSH is a statewide organization which assists unions and workers in winning better health and safety conditions. WOOSH welcomes new members and meets every Thursday at 5 at the Everywoman's Center. Thanks for your willingness to correct this information.

Myra Hindus
Member, WOOSH

Student input article well put

To the Editor:

I am impressed with the front page coverage of the Ad Hoc Committee for student input in tenure decisions at Smith College (April 14, 1983). Bill Wall's article, "Students at Smith seek greater input" was well done, and should bring attention to the same problem at UMass.

As a professor at UMass, I can attest to the reality that even though student evaluations and other input are supposed to be used in faculty personnel actions, that this is not always the case. More often, the personal biases of faculty dictate personnel actions.

If UMass, Smith College or any other institution of higher education is to serve the educational needs of students, student input should be more critical in personnel actions such as tenure, promotion and renewal of contracts. I can see that a small school like Smith is more amenable to student activism, but I would like to encourage students at UMass to form a similar Ad Hoc Committee to make students count when it comes to decisions about their university. The faculty they can select courses from and the courses that faculty teach seem important enough to take a longer, harder look at the consumers (students!).

I believe my own treatment (which involves the infringement of my academic freedom and resulting discrimination and punitive personnel actions) at UMass is but one example of a bureaucracy gone awry. Perhaps students can help put our university back on a course toward civility and fairness.

Roger W. Libby
Amherst

Collegian

Board of Editors

Kevin Bowe Editor-in-Chief
Ed Levine Managing Editor
James Shanahan Production Manager
Joel Myerson Business Manager
John Hudson Executive Editor
John DiPalazzo News Editor
Cris Schuster Women's Editor
Doug Muise Arts Editor
Gus Martins Black Affairs Editor
Billy Shea Sports Editor
Kevin J. Fachetti Photo Editor

Arts

Where bears dance

DANCING BEAR
By James Crumley
Random House, 228 pp., $12.95

By ALEX J. ZUCKER
Collegian Correspondent

If you're looking for a novel with a clean-cut hero who battles against myriad forces of evil and climbs up through all the greed and corruption of society to emerge clean-shaven and cleansed of all sin, then stay away from this book. The protagonist of Dancing Bear is a fourty-seven year old rent-a-cop with a nasty penchant for cocaine and peppermint schnapps. With an unlikely name like Milo Milodragovitch, you would expect as much but you get even more.

At first glance, Milo appears to be a man who's heading downhill as fast as his partying will push him. He lives in a shabby cabin at the head of Milodragovitch Park in Meriwether, Montana, "sixteen wildly overgrown brushy acres" of land that had been left to Milo by his self-destructive, rich grandfather. Milo's father was a faithless husband and a hopeless alcoholic who never wanted for money due to the generosity of his own father. He and his wife never had a decent marriage and they both ended up committing suicide in Milo's pre-investigative days. Milo has been working for Haliburton Security for two years and four months and he isn't exactly thrilled with his job. "The boredom of the work — rattling doorknobs, guarding twenty-four hour convenience markets, and holding the hands of lost children in shopping malls — had caused a sudden, and unseemly in a man of my years, affection for cocaine."

The action begins when Milo receives a mysterious letter from a wealthy old widow who turns out to have been one of Milo's father's numerous extra-marital lovers. Mrs. Sarah Weddington has intermittently kept track of Milo since they once met forty years earlier, and she wants him to take on an investigative job, but is unaware that it has been quite a few years since Milo gave up his work as a private investigator. Sarah is now living with her grand-niece Gail, a liberal-minded graduate student who is caring for Sarah in her old age. As Sarah has aged, she has become a bit eccentric and she is strangely eager to discover the identities of a man and woman who have been having apparently innocent rendezvous down the street from Sarah's mansion. Milo is appropriately surprised to be offered such a case but the pay is superb and any chance for a disruption in his stagnant life is happily welcomed. When it rains, it pours, and Colonel Haliburton, a retired army man who now runs the chain of security services for which Milo works, generously gives Milo a couple of weeks off with pay as well as a chance to break away from his boredom; he proffers a job as a tail on a woman named Cassandra Bogardus. Although the colonel gives no explanation of who wants the tail, Milo asks no questions; he now has just what he wants — a $5000 fee plus expenses from Sarah for a pushover investigative job, a simple task following an unknown woman, and a two week hiatus from his tedious work with Haliburton Security.

As Milo struggles with the tangled web of strange events through which his dual labors lead him, we see that he does not have as cynical an outlook on life as one would expect. He teams up with a nervous Vietnam veteran named Bob and they are drawn to each other by their shared escape from life through the use of coke and booze. In addition, Milo spends a greater portion of the novel trying to maintain his investigations and his cool while being stalked by men who would kill him for reasons he doesn't know. Milo's precarious position is made even worse by the fact that he must shoulder the burden of his knowledge by himself — such is his stake in life. Although Milo knows that he has but five years more to go until he inherits his dead grandfather's estate, he drives onward, pushing himself to the limits of both his mental and physical capabilities.

Milo is a man driven by two opposing forces and the fragile tension between the two keeps him going. One part of him wishes to do nothing more than fade away into a drunken pool of nothingness, into a world devoid of pain, i.e. without thought. When Milo thinks, he begins to be pulled into other people's lives in a way which can only bring more pain. For example, for the last year Milo has been having an affair with his married next-door neighbor whose name he does not even know. He does know that her husband breaks his back working to earn enough money to buy his wife everything she wants. It is knowledge like this which haunts Milo and so he maintains his neighbor's anonymity to protect himself from the deeper pain which stems from greater knowledge. On occasion, Milo allows his thinking, feeling self to emerge and at these times he shows a generosity towards others which is surprising, coming from a man whose physical view of reality is clouded by drugs. This unexpected benevolence shows itself at the end of the novel and serves to give the reader a lasting impression of Milo as an anti-hero who is very much more than likable.

Do read the book. 'Nuff said.

THE HUNGRY-U

Your Weekly Calendar — Take A Closer Look

TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY
"LADIES NITE"	QUARTER NITE	"HAPPY HOUR"	AFTERNOON
Strawberry daquiri's $1.25	25¢ THE HUNGRY-U	FREE PIZZA	ONCE AGAIN
	BEST BUY AROUND TOWN	• 99¢ bar drinks • 50¢ drafts	Happy Hour
			FREE PIZZA
			Miller/Miller lt. drafts ..... 50¢
			Your choice of bar drink..... 99¢
9:00-CLOSE	9:00-MIDNIGHT	9:00-CLOSE	2:00-5:30

55 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

GOING SOMEWHERE IN A GROUP?

For your next trip—any size group—call or visit us for a price quotation. No obligation—it will be our pleasure to quote you our economical rates.

CHARTER SERVICE To All Points In The U.S.A. And Canada.

• Mini-buses • School buses • Hotel, Meal & Sightseeing Arrangements • Luxurious Highway Coaches Restroom Equipped and Air-Conditioned • Express Bus Service to Bradley Airport. For Information, Call: 781-3320

Travel Time Bus Lines, Inc.
99 Arnold Street, Springfield, MA
General Office & Charter Service: 783-0211
Toll Free in MA 1-800-322-0297

TONIGHT
CAREER NIGHT
for
PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS
Tuesday, April 19 8:00 P.M.
AT
Campus Center, Room 163
Several Psych. Dept. alumni/ae will be on hand to share their varied career experiences.
Sponsored by:
UMass Placement Service
Alumni Office
Department of Psychology
For more information contact:
Psychology Advising Office
Tobin 403
545-0377
Wine and Cheese to follow

Having "MAJOR" Problems
B.D.I.C.
could be the solution
Come to an introductory meeting
Shape Your Own Future by designing an interdisciplinary MAJOR suited to your goals
7 p.m. April 19 Crabtree Main Lobby
7 p.m. April 20 Moore House Main Lounge
For more info call 545-0736 or come to Bartlett Hall Rm 15

Arts

Let them eat cake

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

UMass senior John Sullivan entered the Franklin D.C. Tuesday night and began making some very important decisions, decisions that would determine whether or not his dinner would be successful.

For an entree, John opted for the turkey, delicately enhanced by the addition of both stuffing and potatoes to the plate. Peas were for the asking from the veggie woman so what the heck, John took a whole bowl of peas. He washed this fine meal down with two glasses of milk, interestingly enough, one white and one chocolate, and a glass of juice. No dessert was selected, though.

"The kid hates sweets," John said as he picked up his tray and began the search for a place to sit.

Now, John Sullivan usually sits on the side of Franklin that faces towards Central, but not on this auspicious occasion. Sullivan wanted to get a seat on the other side of the dining area so he could watch UMass Madness, a UMass Theater Guild production that has been performed in the various dining commons during the last few weeks.

That, John, was your best selection of the evening. UMass Madness, the brainchild of theater student Larry Cox (who both produced and directed the show) provided entertainment at a reasonable price (all you needed was a meal ticket) as well as a diversion from what is often referred to as the blandest food this side of water.

"The people in Food Services wanted to provide something for the students," said Cox in describing the whole concept. "We (the cast) wanted to bring theater to the students. It's good for the cast because the D.C. audience is a lot like the audience they'll be playing in front of in the near future and I think the students enjoy it."

The cast, who can be seen when Hair plays in Southwest at the end of April and in Orchard Hill the beginning of May, did a very nice job, and the students did have a good time.

The show was pure parody from start to finish and poked fun at such student nemises as riding the PVTA buses, drugs, dating in the five college area, and Amherst College.

The first act (and one of the most visually satisfying) was about the PVTA. The cast tried in vain to figure out a bus schedule and then took a ride on one of those monstrous mishap-prone machines complete with a spaceshot at the wheel.

The show then explored being alone in the Alumni Stadium before singing a ballad to Ted Kennedy and then talking about drugs as a way of everyday life for students.

"Sniff, swig, puff and your cares are temporarily gone."

The audience was then treated to a rewritten Brady Bunch theme which again was visually fantastic, especially at the end when the nine singers moved into the characteristic squares from the opening credits of the show.

"The Five-College Dating Game" which followed was a riot, particularly the introductions of the characters from Smith, Mount Holyoke, Hampshire and UMass (an undecided senior; I know the problem).

As everyone grabbed a cup of coffee or a piece of cake, "Jerry Crest Superscholar" and "I Hate Midterms" (Jim Paul sang the "Impassable Class" to the tune of the "Impossible Dream") played before the grand finale.

And very grand it was. "Southwest Side Story" closed out the show and even if you weren't overly impressed with the material from the previous numbers, this one was worth the price of admission.

Photo by Chris Jungman

No, it's not a PVTA bus, but an incredible simulation about to plough through Franklin DC.

From "When You're a Prep" (We love those outfits that you UMies wear. Where do you shop at, Almy's or Zayre") to "Van Meter" ("Van Meter, I just met a girl from Van Meter") to "I Feel Preppie, Oh So Preppie" this was a classic.

The production was brilliant. The concept itself has been a missing dimension from the D.C. for too long. And, if these same people are going to do Hair outdoors later this month, I don't want to miss it.

John Sullivan and I will have to eat early so we can get good seats. Oh, pass the salt, will ya, John?

Jazz and classical harmoniously reconciled

SPRINGFIELD SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA with the BILLY TAYLOR TRIO
Monday, April 10
Fine Arts Center

By JULIE SUSSMAN
Collegian Correspondent

Few would believe that a jazz trio and a symphony orchestra could be any more compatible than, say, Oscar Madison and Felix Unger, but on Sunday night the Springfield Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Robert Gutter, and the Billy Taylor Trio reassured the small, heterogeneous, rain-soaked crowd that these two styles of music can be harmoniously reconciled.

Madison and Unger never had credentials this impressive: Maestro Gutter, who has conducted in concert halls and opera houses worldwide, began his thirteenth year as Music Director and Conductor of the Springfield Symphony Orchestra this season, while Dr. Billy Taylor, who received a combined Masters and Doctorate in Education from UMass in 1975, is celebrated as a pianist, composer, recording artist, arranger and conductor, lecturer, author, teacher, actor, and radio and television personality.

"Impromptu for Trio and Orchestra," an original by Taylor, marked the evening's peak, combining the spontaneity of jazz with the full, rich backdrop of the 75-piece ensemble. The piece metamorphosized through several different moods, starting and ending with a fast-paced latin rhythm, tied together by a slow, bluesy interim during which each trio member demonstrated his virtuosity on respective instruments. For "Dr. Jazz Taylor," the piano was a runway as he took off a flighty solo; his fingers seeming barely to touch the ivories. Victor Gaskin, whose face and upper body unfortunately remained a mystery to those seated on the right side of the house, plucked his string bass masterfully to achieve both whining and singing qualities. (Gaskin also accompanied the orchestra in the two classical works performed without the trio).

The ten most exciting minutes of the evening (not including making a mad dash through the whitewater rapids of Puffton to catch the 7:51) were provided by Keith Copeland, who has drummed with everyone from Stevie Wonder to the South Dakota Symphony. His use of drumsticks, brushes, mallets, and even his bare hands during "Impromptu" made for a drum solo so varied and heartfelt it elicited an enthusiastic round of applause. This was quite an accomplishment considering the high-brow caliber of the majority of the audience — at an all-jazz show the listeners would no doubt have been hooting with delight during and after such a display. The audience did, pull through, however, giving the entire group the double standing ovation they justly deserved.

Another interesting feature was the world premiere of the "Concerto for Piano and Symphony Orchestra" written by UMass' own distinguished faculty member, Dr. Frederick Tillis. Reflecting African as well as Eastern influences, the piece maintained a suspenseful, unresolved edge, breaking out into a thoroughly American jam reminiscent of "Cool" (West Side Story). The chilling squeaks from the violin section and the strong dymanic contrasts that could only come from an orchestra of this scale complemented the trio effectively.

On its own, the orchestra also performed "Concerto in F for Two Wind Choirs," by Handel, and Tchaikovsky's "Suite No. 3 Opus 55 in G Major" in a more traditional vein.

Overall, the orchestra-trio combination was an interesting demonstration of a successful Odd Couple that made this soggy, skeptical spectator felt it was worthwhile getting her toes wet.

When horror takes over

LYING LOW
By Diane Johnson
Vintage Books 278 pages $3.95

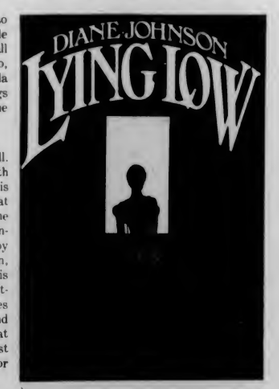
By CHRISTINE MARINI
Collegian Staff

Diane Johnson is a writer who really knows what scares us. Her compassionate yet unsentimental examinations of modern life contain no vampires or werewolves — indeed, none of the standard devices of horror stories. Nonetheless, in her novels Johnson somehow displaces the precarious distance between imagination and reality, between paranoia and "reasonable fears", with a finess that is all the more disquieting for its apparent banality.

Lying Low pulls the reader into the murky world of political criminals and fugitives living and hiding in post-60's California. Marybeth (alias Lynn) is being hunted for her involvement in a bombing incident that she can barely remember. She works at night and spends her days hiding out in a rented room, wondering how long it will be until her cover is blown and she is taken away. Marybeth is constantly trying to squelch feelings of trust and security, but years of exhausting, unceasing alertness have taken their toll. She tries to justify her perpetual paranoia as much to herself as to anyone else.

Marybeth's landlords are unaware of her past. They are Anton and Theo, an elderly photographer and his ex-ballerina sister, who are living together out of convenience. Their boarders are almost like family to them, in many ways closer to the old couple than they are to each other. But despite all of their differences, Anton and Theo, Marybeth, and even the sort-of-maid Ouida all share a premonition of evil happenings that for each of them will prove to be true in a very personal way.

Johnson knows these people very well. We can understand and sympathize with Anton's fear of growing old and losing his masculinity, and with Theo's realization at the age of 60 that she has never really done anything with her life. But these individuals problems are superceeded by "real" issues — missing children, policeman at the door. Which indeed is worse — inward torture or genuine outward threat? Typically, Johnson leaves that question for each character (and reader) to answer for himself. Marybeth at last realizes that there is "terror that must wake everyone in the world" — that terror is a given, no matter what its source.



THIS WEEKS SPECIAL

YOUR CHOICE 1.82 reg. 2.75
REVLON FLEX 16 oz
Shampoo
Normal-X-body-Oily-Dry
Conditioner
Regular-Dry-X-body-Oily

Tropical Blend
YOUR CHOICE 3.41
TROPICAL BLEND Dark Tanning LOTION
TROPICAL LEND Tanning OIL
Oil or Lotion

Noxzema 4 oz
Noxzema. SKIN CREAM
$1.13 reg. $1.63

$1.62
Stayfree mini pads 30
Stayfree 30's Mini Pads

79¢ Reg. $1.27
10¢ off Colgate Winter-fresh Gel Great Regular Flavor
Colgate regular 3 oz
Colgate Gel 2.7 oz

All sale items also available in the Mini Store
Open M-F 9-5
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Hypercurricula...

LEGAL STUDIES STUDENT ASSOCIATION MEETING — There will be a general meeting of the Legal Studies Student Association. Those attending will plan a lecture series for the fall semester. If you wish to attend, but cannot, contact Scott 549-0048 or leave your name, address and telephone # at the Legal Studies Dept. 3 p.m., 219 Hampshire House.

PEOPLE'S GAY ALLIANCE MEETING — People's Gay Alliance meeting. Everyone welcome. 6 p.m., PGA office, 413 Student Union.

STUDENT MEETING — UPC general meeting. New members welcome. 6:30 p.m., 174 Campus Center.

BDIC INFORMATIONAL MEETING — Explanation of the Bachelor's Degree with Individual Concentration (BDIC) Program, a degree granting program which allows a student the opportunity to design their own major. 7 p.m., Crabtree.

NODAR DJIN, SOVIET FILMMAKER, WILL PRESENT HIS WORK — Nodar, Djin, Soviet Jew, journalist, and filmmaker will present his work. "A Perspective on Documentary Photography in the USSR — A Case of Soviet Jews." Part of Anthro 206, and is open to all. 7 p.m., Thompson 102.

IF YOU LOVE THIS PLANET — An academy award winning 27 minute documentary on nuclear war featuring a speech by Helen Caldicot with film clips from Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Discussion afterward. 7 p.m., Butterfield House Lounge.

STUDENT CHAPTER OF WILDLIFE SOCIETY — Meeting to discuss future of the chapter. Mandatory for all wildlife undergrads — concerned others very welcome. Please come and help keep this RSO from extinction! 7:30 p.m., Room 312 Holdsworth.

UMASS BICYCLE CLUB MEETING — Planning for April: bike race on the 30th, CCA film on the 28th. Planning for May: day trips and weekend trips. New members welcome. 7:30 p.m., Campus Center 811-815.

PSYCHOLOGY DEPARTMENT ALUMNI CAREER NIGHT — Several psychology department alumni/ae will share their career experiences and answer questions about careers and graduate school. All interested persons are invited to attend. 8 p.m., Campus Center Room 163.

SINGING AND LAUGHING IN THE NUCLEAR AGE — Feminist singer, Betsy Rose, appearing with nuclear comedians, Fran and Charlie. A celebration of our ability to care for each other and the world in these absurd and troubled times. 8 p.m., Campus Center Auditorium.

AFS STUDENT RETURNEES MEETING — All AFS'ers of any type are invited to an introductory meeting; to meet each other and see if there is interest in forming a club. For more info call Meredith Farnham at 546-5257 or Greg Grande at 546-3289. 8 p.m., 801 Campus Center.

MASS PIB WOMEN'S BIBLE STUDY — All women are invited to come and study with us in an informal setting the life and teachings of Jesus Christ as described in the Bible. 8 p.m., Campus Center Room 801.

OHAG CANDIDATES' NIGHT — Orchard Hill Area Government will sponsor a question and answer period for official candidates. Everyone is welcome. Bring your questions and concerns to the candidates. 8:30 p.m., Dickinson Main Lounge.

SONY

MICRO CASSETTE-CORDER WHICH PROVES THAT SMALL IS BEAUTIFUL

Sony proves that small is as handy as it is beautiful. The M-9 micro cassette-corder is tiny enough to take along to school, the office, or any meeting. But it has large, easy-to-use buttons and one-touch recording, so the student and executive alike will find it a cinch to operate. Two speeds allow up to 2 hours of recording. And when you're finished, pop it into your pocket. The economical M-9. A great little Sony for those very big assignments.

Sale $49.95 list 64.95
Save $15.00 off of list price
model number M-9
quantities limited

UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

GRADUATION NOTICE:

Student Speaker Information

Seniors interested in being considered for the student speaker at Commencement '83 should submit their names with a draft of a proposed speech to:

Bryan Harvey Office of Vice Chancellor/Student Affairs

545-2334 319 Whitmore

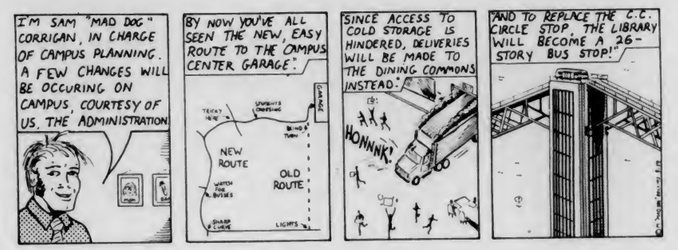
Topics: general interest subjects

Length: 5 minutes (3 double-spaced pages)

Deadline: April 22, 1983

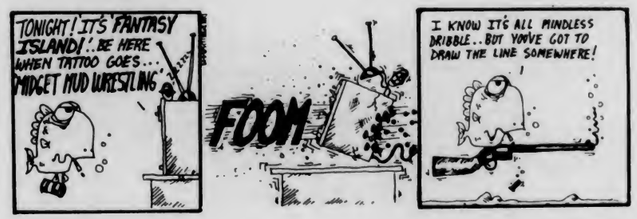
Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins



Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis



After the Fall By R. Miller

CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

©1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Express disapproval
4 Language peculiarity
9 Sign of spring
13 Grizzly
14 —— mouthed
15 Prefix with sphere
16 Formerly
17 Storefront features
18 Eastern land
19 Captivate
21 State
23 —— City, Pennsylvania
24 Nitric and sulphuric
25 Drudges
29 See 24 Across
33 Nimbi
34 Dash
36 —— Annie in Oklahoma
37 High point
38 Register
39 Father of Thor
40 Autograph: Abbr
41 —— Hay, Huxley novel
42 Descendant
43 Followed
45 Baked treats
47 Novels, e.g.
49 —— de sac
50 Fix up
53 Like the Capitol
57 Member of the chorus
58 Assagai
60 Main Street feature
61 Like snails
62 High flyer
63 Tidy
64 Actress Goldie
65 Plums
66 Bath, England

DOWN
1 City SW of Zurich
2 Hops dryer
3 Religiously conservative
4 Stick
5 Shore town in New Jersey
6 Hunter or Keith
7 Derived from oil
8 Supernatural
9 Craving
10 Olympus name
11 Amo, amas, ——
12 Riesling, e.g.
13 Buzzer
20 —— himself of 22 Revise
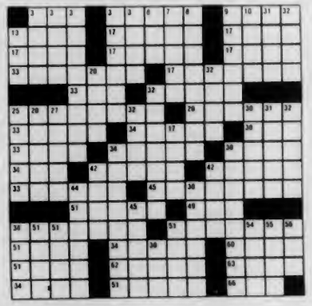
24 Attribute
25 Aspect
26 Rabbit fur
27 Namesakes of a Cassini
28 Overhead figure
30 Rays
31 —— board, TV prompter
32 Helmsmen
35 Sites
38 Expresses approval
39 Ophthalmologists
41 Prefix in space words
42 Surface on stag nant water
44 Part of the city
46 Groups of twenty
48 Flower calyx part
50 Lacking prudence
51 Ending with citron
52 Arrange: com pactly
53 Country place
54 Cavil
55 Inter ——
56 Sue's —— Twyla Tharp ballet
59 Seil



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

W	I	S	P		S	P	A	R		S	C	O
A	R	O	A	R		E	L	I	S		T	H
D	A	N	C	E	S	T	E	P	S		A	J
A	P		C	I	A	N	A		G	A	R	Y
		P	I	A			D	R	A	W	L
D	E	F	E	S	T	S		U	N	E	E	N
A	R	U	B	A		G	U	S	S		S	T
M	A	R	T		D	I	T	C	H		S	O
A	S	A		A	R	I	E	N		R	I	D
N		B	O	L	E			R	I	N	S	E
		A	T	A	V	A		S	N	O	B
A	R	T	W	O	R	K		S	A	N	D	S
F	U	N		Q	U	A	D	R	U	P	L	E
A	R	I	A		E	M	M	A		S	O	P
R	E	L	I	E	S		O	N	I	O	N	S

WEATHER

Scattered snow showers likely today with highs around 40. Extra blankets tonight with lows in the 20's. Fair tomorrow with highs around 45.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Hamburg on roll
Liver and Onions

BASICS LUNCH
Oatburgers
Garden Medley Casserole

DINNER
Turkey club sandwich
Fried Clams/Tartar Sauce
Cocktail Sauce
Coponota Spaghetti

BASICS DINNER
Fried Clams/Tartar Sauce
Cocktail Sauce
Coponota Spaghetti

Collegian Staff

Have a say in what happens with your newspaper next year. Collegian elections for next year's editors will be held all day Thursday in the office.

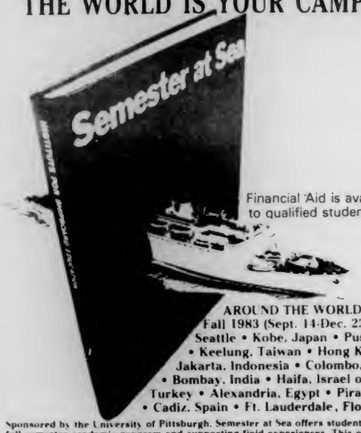
Come get to know the candidates

Candidates night, where all those running for Collegian editor positions will speak and answer questions, will be held tonight.
7:30 p.m., Machmer E-37
For more information call Kevin Bowe at 545-3500.

BLUE WALL AND Governors Present
TUESDAY
Season's Finale...
"KILLER COMEDY NIGHT"
We Saved the Best For Last!
The Long Awaited Return of JACK GALLAGHER
... And Back, with Jack— DON GAVIN
Boston's Hottest Funny Woman ANDREA MICHAELS
& The tantalizing JIMMY TINGLE
Only... 99¢
Don't miss this one!

Apply Now!
Collegian
Needs
Finance Manager
for next Fall!
It's a vital role in the business management of your newspaper

THE WORLD IS YOUR CAMPUS



Financial Aid is available to qualified students

AROUND THE WORLD:
Fall 1983 (Sept. 14-Dec. 23)
Seattle • Kobe, Japan • Pusan, Korea • Keelung, Taiwan • Hong Kong • Jakarta, Indonesia • Colombo, Sri Lanka • Bombay, India • Haifa, Israel or Istanbul, Turkey • Alexandria, Egypt • Piraeus, Greece • Cadiz, Spain • Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh. Semester at Sea offers students a superior full semester academic program and supporting field experiences. This one semester experience is available to qualified students from all accredited colleges and universities.
More than 60 voyage related university courses. Faculty drawn from the University of Pittsburgh and other leading universities, augmented by visiting area experts.
Optional tours, including special tours into the People's Republic of China, available.
Semester at Sea admits students without regard to color, race or creed. The S.S. Universe is fully air-conditioned, 18,000 tons, registered in Liberia and built in America.
For a free color brochure, write: Semester at Sea, UCIS, University of Pittsburgh, Forbes Quadrangle, Pittsburgh, PA 15260, or call toll free (800) 854-0195 (in California call (714) 771-6590).

EARN OVER
$1000 A MONTH
RIGHT THROUGH YOUR SENIOR YEAR.

If you're a junior or senior majoring in engineering, math, physics or chemistry the Navy has a program you should know about.

It's called the Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate-Collegiate Program and if you qualify, you can earn $1000 a month right through your senior year. Then after 16 weeks of Officer Candidate School, you'll get an additional year of advanced technical education. This would cost thousands in a civilian school, but in the Navy, we pay you.

It isn't easy. There are fewer than 400 openings and only one of every six applicants will be selected. But if you make it, you'll have unequaled hands-on responsibility, a salary of more than $40,000 in four years, and gilt-edged qualifications for jobs both in the Navy and out.

Talk to the Navy representative on campus April 20, or call the nuclear program manager at (203) 528-9988 The Navy Nuclear Program. Not only can it help you complete college. It can be the start of an exciting career.

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast

Baseball team sweeps Northeastern Huskies

By TONY BETROS
Collegian Staff

Good pitching, timely hitting and stellar defense.

The University of Massachusetts men's baseball team scored a perfect 10 on all three yesterday, as they swept the Northeastern Huskies 10-0 and 8-0 in a doubleheader at Lorden Field.

Although the weather was quite cold, the UMass bats and gloves were sizzling.

Chris Waszczuk was the hitting star for the Minutemen, going three for four in the first game, with a home run and he also hit a solo shot in the second game. The two home runs give him 10 on the year, breaking the school record of 8 set by Bob Hansen in 1968 and Warren McReddie in 1981.

UMass pitched lefty Tony Presnal against freshman Dave McLean in game one, and the first year player from Northeastern was rattled early. Dean Bennett led off the bottom of the first with a walk and stole second. After a walk and a force out put runners on first and third, Bennett scored on a double steal to put UMass on top 1-0. Waszczuk hit a gapper to right center field, scoring Todd Comeau from second. Freshman Jeff Cimini singled to right, putting runners on first and third.

That brought up catcher Butch LeBlanc, who hit a shot back to the mound that was gloved by McLean. Waszczuk was caught in a run down between third and home. But as McLean went to tag Waszczuk, he dropped the ball and Waszczuk scored.

There's more to come, folks. In the home second, Angie Salustri and Comeau reached base. Waszczuk entered the batters box, not realizing he would soon enter in the UMass record books. On an 0-2 pitch, Waszczuk slammed a three-run homer deep in the left center field to give UMass a 7-0 lead.

Presnal, meanwhile, was pitching a fine game, allowing only two hits through four innings. In the bottom half of the fourth inning, Waszczuk home run fever caught on. First, Salustri hit a solo homer to left field, and, after Waszczuk singled, Cimini belted a two run shot to left to put UMass in double figures at 10-0.

Presnal went five strong innings for UMass before being lifted for Scott Foster, who shut the door on the Huskies, allowing only one hit the rest of the way.

The Minutemen started the second game strong also, chasing pitcher Mark Risio early. UMass scored three runs in the third, on a Bennett triple, which scored two runs, and a Salustri double, which scored Bennett.

Northeastern couldn't do anything against Bob Kostro, managing only two singles. Maybe they should learn from Waszczuk, who hit home run number 10 in the third, the fifth consecutive game he's hit a home run.

Presnal raised his record to 4-1 and Kostro is now 1-3 as UMass improved to 7-12. The Minutemen travel to Boston College to take on the Eagles Friday.

Softball team takes two from Providence

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

PROVIDENCE — "This is the hard way to do it," said UMass softball coach Elaine Sortino as freshman Lynn Stockley retired the side to preserve the Minutewomen's 1-0 lead and sweep yesterday's doubleheader with Providence College.

Stockley threw a one hitter in the second game and Jackie Gaw's shot to third baseman Kelly Callahan and Callahan's error enabled Allyson Rioux, who had singled to left two batters earlier to score.

With the sweep, coupled with a 4-0, 7-1 sweep of Vermont last Friday, have the Minutewomen riding a nine game winning streak. UMass owns a 20-4 record.

UMass pounded out seven hits in the opener and cruised to the 4-0 win behind the two hit pitching of Cathy Reed, but in the second game Providence's Mary Arndt kept Massachusetts at bay as she scattered six hits through the first six innings.

"In the first game," said Sortino, "we came out swinging. We made things happen and we got on top right away. We were never really threatened."

In the second, UMass just couldn't get anything going and their best opportunities came and went in the second and sixth innings.

But, to their credit in the top of the seventh, UMass finally got the run across.

Mary Ann Lombardi went 2 for 2 in the second game, Sally Maher went 2 for 4 and Gaw smacked a double.

In the first game, UMass didn't wait until the top of the seventh to score and they took all the suspense out of the game in the first inning.

After Missy Oman singled to left and moved to second on a Gaw sacrifice, Maher doubled to left to drive in Oman. Beth Talbott reached base on an error and Maher scored.

In the fifth, Tina Coffin singled and was followed by two consecutive sacrifice bunts by Lombardi and Ann Ringrose. Rioux RBI single made the score, 3-0.

UMass added the fourth run in the sixth as a Lombardi single hit in Talbott.

"That was a tough game," said Sortino afterwards.

Against Vermont last Friday, UMass took two not-so-tough games from the Catamounts, 4-0 and 7-1. Cathy Reed had a no-hitter going into the seventh but lost it on two hits punched out by UVM.

Stockley prevailed in the second game, only giving up four hits and holding Vermont to one run, which they got in the seventh inning.

UMass faces the Springfield Chiefs as they look for wins number 21 and 22. The Minutewomen will be hosting the Chiefs at NOPE this afternoon at 2:30 p.m. No rest for the weary.

UMass beats Amherst

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Twas not a weekend of "Singing in the Rain," for the University of Massachusetts men's tennis team. Instead, the last three days have been a constant chorus of Supertramp's "It's Raining Again" and the classic "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head".

Although the netmen managed to squeeze in an unofficial scrimmage match against Amherst College yesterday, the weather certainly did justice to Rainbow's hit song "Stone Cold."

Because of the wet weather, UMass had three matches cancelled this weekend. A doubleheader against Bowdoin and Central Connecticut on Saturday and a match Sunday versus Clark were the unwilling victims of the weather. Overall, the Minutemen have had five matches rained out this spring and have played only three (Boston College, Holy Cross, and M.I.T.).

Despite the chilly conditions, UMass squared off against the Lord Jeffs Monday afternoon on the Boyden Courts in an unofficial match (Amherst refuses to play UMass in an official match).

Of the 11 singles matches played, UMass won five, including the top three. Neal Mackertick, at his usual number one slot, destroyed Spencer Gray 6-1, 6-2. Steve Jordan cruised past Milt Williams 6-3, 6-3, and Stuart Goodman struggled with, but finally defeated, Matt Cochran 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

UMass suffered defeats at four, five and six singles. Amherst's Roger Holt beat Rich Lindgren 6-2, 6-2, Jesse Herman got by UMass' Mike Duseau 6-3, 7-6, and Tom Wyas sailed over Mark Gelinas, 6-2, 6-4.

Of the five remaining singles, UMass captured two. Victories were recorded by Earl Small (6-4, 6-1) and Chris Allaire (6-2, 6-2). Losses were suffered by Dave Singer (3-6, 6-3, 7-5), Dave Salem (2-6, 6-2, 7-6), and John Lynch (7-6, 6-3).

In the doubles, it was all UMass as the Minutemen swept all four matches. The winning teams were Small-Gelinas (6-3, 6-0), Mackertick-Duseau (2-6, 6-4, 4-3), Jordan-Lindgren (7-5, 6-3), and Lynch-Singer (6-4, 6-3).

This afternoon, weather permitting, the Minutemen will travel to Springfield College to take on the Chiefs. Thursday night, the netmen leave for Pittsburgh, Pa. to engage in the Atlantic 10 Championships on Friday and Saturday (April 22-23).

As of now, no makeup dates have been announced for the cancelled matches. Although the culmination for the season is scheduled to be the New England Championships (April 29-30), it is highly probable that will not be the case.

AP Laserphoto
Jim Knaub of Long Beach, California, exults as he finishes the 1983 Marathon in 1:47.10 to win the wheelchair division.

The 1982 Index is in 103 C.C.
Mon-Fri 2:30 - 4:00
The cost is only $5.
We also have 1980 & 1981

Book Now for Low Summer Charter Flights to Europe!
CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
We also do:
Eurailpasses
Youth Hostel Cards
Car Rentals in Europe
Train Tickets
Tours
Campus Center 2nd Floor, UMass, Amherst 01003
545-0500

Open 24 Hours–7 am Mon. thru Sat. Midnite – Sunday 12 Noon to 6 pm in Hadley-Amherst and Pittsfield stores.

STOP & SHOP

MORE WAYS TO SAVE!

DOUBLE COUPON SAVINGS On Manufacturers' Coupons
Manufacturers' Coupons are more valuable at Stop & Shop because we double your savings. Details in store.

EVERYDAY LOW PRICES!
You'll find them all over the store. Plus hundreds of Warehouse Values.

HUNDREDS OF SPECIALS IN OUR CIRCULAR!
Including valuable Stop & Shop Coupons. Check out every page of this circular. It can save you dollars more. Pick one up in the store.

STOP & SHOP HAS A MARVELOUS BUY ON MARVAL U.S. GRADE A FRESH TURKEY

10-13 Pounds 59¢ lb

Turkey Wings Fresh lb .59 — Great for Making Stock
Turkey Cutlets lb 2.29 — Fresh, Breaded and Fry
Cooked Turkey Ham lb 1.49 — Marval 2-2½ Pounds
Fresh Turkey Roast lb 1.49 — US Grade A Marval White & Dark Meat Boneless
Turkey Drumstick lb .49 — Fresh, Moist, Tasty Dark Meat. 4-6 Pounds Fresh Turkey Breast lb 1.29

STOP & SHOP MEAT COUPON A-4 — SAVE 50¢ Marval Boneless Turkey Roast 3-4 lb — With this coupon. Good Sun., Apr 17 Sat., Apr 23. Limit one per customer. 113 STOP & SHOP

STOP & SHOP MEAT COUPON A-5 — SAVE 50¢ Marval Cooked Turkey Ham 2-2½ Pounds — With this coupon. Good Sun., Apr 17 Sat., Apr 23. Limit one per customer. 114 STOP & SHOP

SAVE ON 2 QUALITY NAMES IN FRESH MEATY CHICKEN!

White Gem 5-6 lb Pkg
CHICKEN LEG QUARTERS 39¢ lb

Chicken Breasts lb 1.09 — Whole Lean, Split W. Back 5-6 lb Pkg
Chicken Legs lb .69 — Whole Lean 5-6 lb Pkg
Roasting Chickens lb .59 — White Gem 5-7 Grade A 5-6 lb Pkg
Whole Chicken Breasts lb 1.19 — White Gem 5-6 lb Pkg
Perdue Chicken Legs .79 — 5 lb Package
Perdue Chicken Wings lb .69 — 5 lb Package

Assorted Pork Chops lb 1.49
½ Rib, ½ Center Cut, ½ Loin End, Pork Loin
Countrystyle Ribs lb 1.39 — Pork Loin
Center Cut Pork Chops lb 1.79 — Pork Loin (Thin Sliced lb 1.89)
Sirloin Pork Cutlets lb 2.49 — Boneless Pork Loin

STOP & SHOP BEEF. THE SATISFYING CHOICE.

USDA CHOICE

Top Round Roast lb 1.99 — USDA Choice Beef Round
Round Tip Roast lb 2.09 — USDA Choice Beef Round
7-Bone Chuck Roast lb 1.39 — USDA Choice Beef Chuck
Underblade Roast Bone-In lb 1.69 — USDA Choice Beef Chuck
Round Tip Steak lb 2.69 — USDA Choice Beef Round
Top Round Steak lb 2.69 — USDA Choice Beef Round
7-Bone Chuck Steak lb 1.49 — USDA Choice Beef Chuck
Underblade Steak Bone-In lb 1.79 — USDA Choice Beef Chuck
Lean Stewing Beef lb 1.99 — USDA Choice Beef Chuck

THE BEST DELI FOODS IN TOWN — CORNER DELI
Available in stores with service delis
Roast Beef Save over $1.50 a pound lb 2.99
Cheese & Pepperoni Loaf Hormel lb 2.99

IT'S TIME TO CUT YOUR GROCERY BILL! SAVE ON ITEMS YOU USE EVERY DAY!

Natural Vegetables 2 for .89 — Libby's 15 Oz Can. Whole Kernel Corn, Cut or French Cut Style Green Beans or Sweet Peas
Niblets Corn .39 — Green Giant 12 Oz Can
Mott's Apple Sauce 2 for $1 — 15 Oz Jar
Krinkle Cut Chips .79 — Stop & Shop 9 Oz bag. Stop & Shop
Star-Kist Tuna .79 — 6½ Oz Can Chunk Light in Oil or Water
Mac & Cheddar 3 for $1 — Golden Grain 7¼ Oz Pkg
White Rock Cola .78 — 2 Liter Reg. or Diet Plus Deposit
Chock full o' Nuts 1.99 — 1 lb Can All Method Grind Coffee
Progresso Soups .59 — 20 Oz Can. Minestrone, Lentil, Tomato, Mac & Bean or Split Pea
Progresso Beans .59 — 20 Oz Can Chick Peas, Red Kidney or Cannellini
Vanity Fair Towels .59 — 100'2 Ply Package Print Towels
Tide 1.99 — 49 Oz. Package Laundry Detergent
Colgate Toothpaste 1.49 — Tube 9 Oz Regular or 8.2 Oz Gel

SAVE ON FINE FROZEN FOODS:
Waffles 4 for $1 — Stop & Shop 5 Oz Package Frozen
Morton Pot Pies 2 for .79 — 8 Oz Pkg. Chicken, Turkey or Beef Frozen
Green Giant 10 Oz Pkg .89 — Vegetables in Butter Sauce, Asst'd Varieties Frozen
Ice Cream 1.39 — Sun Glory Half Gal. Carton Asst'd Flavors

SAVE ON FRESH BAKED GOODS:
Big Daisy Bread 2 for .99 — Stop & Shop 20 Oz Loaf Sliced White
English Muffins 3 for $1 — Stop & Shop 12 Oz Pkg. of 6 Reg. or Spin

SAVE ON FRESH DAIRY FOODS:
Orange Juice 1.19 — Stop & Shop ½ Gal. Carton From Concentrate Parkay Margarine .59 — Kraft 1 lb Pkg. Quarters
Cottage Cheese 1.09 — Light 'n' Lively or Sealtest Small Curd 16 Oz Cup
Dannon Yogurt 2 for .89 — 8 Oz. Cup. Lowfat Asst'd. Flavors

PICK OUR FRESHEST BUYS FOR A TERRIFIC TASTING SALAD!

Red Ripe TOMATOES 39¢ lb

Fresh Spinach .79 — 10 ounce package
Fresh Mushrooms 1.19 — 12 ounce package
Cucumbers 4 for $1 — Firm and crunchy
Fresh Scallions 4 for $1 — Bunch
Belgian Endive lb 1.99 — A Gourmet's Choice

CRISP BIG RED APPLES ON SALE.

Large Sizes Extra Fancy
Red Delicious, Rome, McIntosh, Idared or Empire
2 lbs $1

FRESH CRISP CARROTS
Great for salads and cole slaw, too.
3 1 lb bags 89¢

STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON C — FREE Star-Kist Tuna — Chunk Light in water or oil, 6½ ounce can — 416
STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON C — FREE Mac. & Cheddar — Golden Grain, 7¼ ounce package — 417
STOP & SHOP DAIRY COUPON C — FREE Raga Muffins — 7 oz pkg Blueberry, Apple-Cinn., Fudge Chip & Strawberry — 418
STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON C — FREE Pillsbury Biscuits — Country Style or Buttermilk or Butter 7¼ oz pkg — 419
With this coupon. $ x 7.99 purchase. Good Sun., Apr 17 Sat., Apr 23. Limit 1 per customer. STOP & SHOP

STOP & SHOP

IT'S TIME TO STOP & SHOP.

Prices effective Sun. Apr 17 Sat. April 23 in fairness to our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to three packages of any items offered for sale. Not available in case lots or to other dealers or wholesalers. Copyright 1983 by Stop & Shop Supermarkets. Not responsible for typographical errors.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

68 VW Bug great condition, excellent gas mileage. Dependable, asking $400. firm. Call 25-5560 ask for Steve

Valiant-wagon slant six runs good $200 - Tom 586-3401

1980 Chevy Monza, 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 256-6612

ENTERTAINMENT

Rockadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Disciockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Semis, Greeks. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4406

FEMALES STOP SMOKING!

Female, smokers. Short term therapy to promote cessation of smoking in comfortable, productive way. Sliding fee scale Pyschological Services center, UMass 545-0041

FOR RENT

1 bedrm Puffton apt. for rent; avail. June 1. Call Jesse: 546-2707, 549-5915

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse available May 31st Mayflower Apts 175/mo plus utilities on bus route. 256-0561

2 bedroom apt. summer sublet w/fall option Colonial Vlg 295 + 253-5142

One bedroom Brandywine summer sublet with fall option. Call Doug/Peter 549-6660

Clean 2 bedroom Southwood apt. summer sublet w/fall option. 256-8657

Houses - June - Aug plus fall option, 4 bedrooms $485-500 in Northampton. 5 bed in Hadley $800 plus, for summer only. Call after 3:30 pm. Skibiski Realtors Northampton 584-3428

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info.

Four 21st row seats for Alabama 4/22 Hartford best offer 6-4459

Grateful Dead: April 22 New Haven; ticket and bus $28.00 545-0500

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

★ 10-speed women's Schwinn 22" frame $95 or trade for bike w/larger frame
★ 1970 Ford Falcon heavy duty alternator, needs engine work $200 or BO
call 253-2942 Donna

Turntable Philips 212 good cond $50 or BO call 253-3688 we will deal!!

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

FOUND

Pair of glasses at FAC bus stop on 4/12. (Tuesday) 546-8519

Womens eyeglasses outside Morrill call Gary 256-8655

Down Vest in Herter 231 on Fri April 8 at 3:30 pm call 253-2146 to identify after 5 keep trying

HELP WANTED

Earn $600 or more each school year. Flexible hours. Monthly payment for placing poster on campus. Bonus based on results. Prizes awarded as well. 800-526-0883

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

Sales/Marketing Campus Rep. position for student. Working on promotion & sales of BEER Products. Part time. Flexible hours. Benefits. Lori 1-800-232-1904

Counselors private co-ed camp in Berkshires has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Arts & Crafts, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, dramatics, music director/piano accompanist, video/filmmaking, photography, model rocketry, radio station (AM), computers, waterfront (WSI), and sailing. Also needed: general bunk counselors (male openings only) and unit leaders. Good salaries - friendly atmosphere. Contact: Dr. Paul Krouner -Camp Schodack 268 Mason Terrace, Brookline, Massachusetts 02146 277-7600 day 9-4

Interested in obtaining employment in the Natural Resources Field (Forestry/Wildlife)? For comprehensive employment guide, send $6.00 to: Natural Resource Employment, PO Box 67, Tomah, WI 54660

Importing Firm seeks versatile employee experienced in computer data entry general accnt and bookkeeping with typing skills position also involves diverse duties such as order processing inventory control, supervising part-time employees. Send resume to Box 648 Easthampton MA 01027

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

The Collegian Day Graphica Dept has openings for 3 pasteup people for next fall. Applications will be accepted April 19 and 20 from 9:30 am to noon ONLY in Rm 105 CC.

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate pyschology student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 PM

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Fall 1983 semester. Up to 15 credits may be received from academic departments. Aid atorneys at LSO with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Maintain continuing caseload under attorney supervision. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. Applications due Friday, April 22, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required. Further information, LSO, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

Gold Omega watch red/beige wristband left in 1st floor women bathroom GTWR 4/12 reward call 546-9906

Five kaya on Budweiser key chain lost Friday while thumbing to Worcester 4/8 549-2873

PERSONALS

All University Women are invited to Chi Omega for dinner Tues Apr 19 and Thurs 21 at 5:30 and for a Dynasty Party Wed 20 at 9:30 for more info or RSVP call Felice 546-0162 check us out

To the plaid shirt, denim jacket, and curly hair in front of me on Monday's N.Y.C. bus - call 6-9256

Bonnie - I didn't forget. Lots of love Happy Birthday. . .Sherri

KLD Happy 14 months you owe me dinner tonight. Love MJC

Scott Katarivas Happy 20th sorry it's late! Love always Lisa

Mitchel - my heavan in a manly encasement - I love you - Jsime

To Cindy C. Happy Birthday big sister from your little brother. Just one more year and your on your own

Kathy C. Happy Birthday one day late Sorry, but they didn't publish yesterday. Love your favorite Sportswriter

Free trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counseling, referral MTuThF 4-8 pm 433SU 545-2645

Here's your damn personal Maureen!

RUN FOR RITTER April 23rd info at Newman Center

Congratulations Maureen, Elise, Andree, Laura, Connie, Lisa, Minda, Kathy, Alicyn. TBE forever love Karen and Cheryl

To: The guy with the one-strapped overalls and red/white baseball hat who was at College Pizza on 4/9 at 1:30 am - I'd like to get to know you. How about another game of Centipede? RSVP

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA
Open Rush
All UMass Women Invited
Tues April 19 9:00 - 10:00
Wed April 20 9:30 - 11:00
Tri-Sigma 382 N. Pleasant St.
Questions: call 545-0046/0075

Sigma Delta Tau
invites all Univ women to Open Rush
Tues 4/19 Dinner
Wed 4/20 Dynasty
Thur 4/21 Dinner
Call Donna for info 546-0527
409 N Pleasant St
SWAG ELECTIONS!!!
Pick up Nomination Papers in SWAG Office
Due 4/22 for info call 546-0961

Hey U.M.M.B., The pledges of KKPsi sponsor pie in the face day Fri, May 6, 5-7

If you have $180 and a way to New York you can be in Europe by the day after tomorrow. For details, call Airhitch R, toll-free (800) 372-7234

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PSYCHOLOGY STUDY

College students who have grown up with a chronically ill sibling are needed to participate in study. Experimental credit available. Call 545-1569, 4-6 PM, April 19-22

ROOMMATES WANTED

Male wanted for summer sublet @ Rolling Green 80.00 per month 256-8121 after 10:00 PM

Responsible female wanted to share sunny Southwood Apt summer/fall 253-5109

1 or 2 roommates for 3 bdrm townhouse apt for fall semester M or F 1 rm available call 549-1833

Two females for one bedroom in sunny Southwood townhouse call evenings 256-0659

Wanted: 2 or 3 females for 2 bedrm Brandywine Apt Jun 1st - Dec 31st spring option 549-2726

Roommate(s) wanted for 1 bdrm in 2 bdrm apt fall option - low rent 665-2961

3 housemates wanted; quiet considerate and non-smoker Contact Amy 546-7444

SERVICES

EUROPEBOUND? "Backpacking Made Easy" offers tips from experts that save money, time, frustrations. Handy guide makes backpacking fun and prevents hassles that'll ruin a trip. $3, SASE, to Solomon, 300 Palisade Ave, Yonkers, N.Y. 10703.

SUMMER SUBLET

Female wanted to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

1 bedroom Puffton Apt completely furnished pool/tennis $125/person 549-5207

Spend summer at Townehouse Apts 3 bedroom, air conditioned, furnished apt. 1 mile from campus, directly on bus route call 549-0307 ask for Liz or leave a message

Three bedroom Townehouse Apt 6/1 -9/1 rent negotiable call 549-1833

Large four bedroom apartment adjacent to campus. $460/mo negotiable call Debbie 549-0546

Two bedroom Brittany Manor Apt fall option reasonable call 253-9678

3 Bedroom townehouse Southwood apt fully furnished pool tennis courts rent neg. call 256-0840

Summer Sublet w fall option 2 bdrms partly furnished on bus route Squire Village 665-3849.

1 or 2 furnished bedrooms in a 2 bedroom Southwood townahouse pool/AC June 1 - Aug 31 $130 for single, 100 each for double rent negotiable call 253-2541 after 6 p.m. keep trying!

1 bedroom apartment fully furnished Swiss Village, fall option. 256-8683.

Summer at Puffers room June - Aug fall op wash/dryer 110 + each Carries 549-5586

1 cozy furnished room in Puffton 3 br avail summer only. $110 mo resp female 549-5184

Cheap 2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt air conditioning call 546-8001 546-8005

3 bedroom Townehouse Apt furnished price negotiable please call 549-5187 or 546-9397

Amherst Ctr apt 4 bdrm furnished $150 + elect ea call 253-5298

Townehouse two bedroom furnished A/C $225 per/mo Randy 549-6469

Puffton Village 1 bedroom rent negotiable 549-6816

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Two bedroom Colonial Village Apt room for three, on bus route, laundry and pool facilities, $100 per month each Call 253-7158

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $580/month two floors two baths 584-8126

2 bdrm Brittant apartment best offer fall option one person 256-0506

Two bedrom apartment with fall option Cliffside $350 utilities included 665-4580

Two bedroom summer sublet fall option bus route pool call 256-0223

Brittany Manor apartment summer sublet with fall option 2 bedrooms 253-2214

Sublet 2 bedrooms furnished Cliffside apartments $340 everything call 665-4210 evenings (June 1)

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

Excellent cond. new carpets & floors 2 bedroom apt summer sub. fall opt. 665-2081 Randi

One bedroom left beautiful Amherst home one minute from campus $176/month 256-0170

Two, one-bedroom apts Cliffside fall option 275.00 incl pool pets OK bus 665-2512 leave message

2 bdrms Cliffside $380/mo utilities inc fall option call eves 665-4953

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Two bedoom Southwood apt for summer/fall option call Suzanne 253-5215

Greet Apt - Brandywine 6/1 to 9/1 2 mo option, 1 bedrm, A/C, pool, cable, rent negotiable, 6-8110 or 6-8732

1 bedroom townhouse Southwood with fall option available July 1 or negotiable on bus route call 253-9862

Summer sublet sunny 3 br apt in Amherst Center reasonably priced 549-4437

Summer sublet 3 bedroom Puffton apt. rent is negotiable 549-5715

1 bedroom apt Colonial Vlg June 1 with fall option $245 incl hot water pool on bus 253-7739 after 10:00 pm

Puffton 3 bdrm for summer furnished Chas 549-4711

Two bedroom apt summer sublet w/fall option pool, frequent buses, near 7-11 $315/m negotiable 665-7972 keep trying

One or two bdrm apt on bus route summer w/fall option 665-2253

Cheap sublet 2 bedrooms available $250 June - Aug call 549-4049 5-6 pm

2 bedroom Presidential Apt summer sublet w/fall option 10 min walk to campus 549-6154

Three bedroom Puffton sublet June thry August $375 mo 549-3722

3 bedroom apt in Sunderland fall option only 330/mo pool on bus call 665-7038

One room in house with fall option $116 + Tim 549-6138

Summer sublet w/fall option 2 bdrm Colonial Village apt on bus route, pool, laundry facilities $295 a month call 256-0408

Col Vlg 2 bdr apt on bus rt $295/mos summer sublet fal option 253-9580

3 bedroom apt in Puffton $290 month summer sublet call 546-8464 or 546-8460

2 females wanted for 2 bdrm Brandywine apt summer sublet fall option rent negtbl 549-1405 after 10 pm

Leverett on 63 lg room in house, garden, waterfall, bus JUne 1 $100/mo 549-4700 Linde

One room in 2 bedroom Colonial Village apt available June 1 fall option call 253-7178

1 bedroom apt in Southwood to summer sublet w/fall option 253-9005

WANTED

Cash for your records, tapes 545-2836 (ask for Jaromir/leave message)

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

The Collegian Day Graphics Dept is now accepting applications for 3 pasteup positions for next fall. Applications available ONLY Tuesday April 19 and Wednesday April 20 between 9:30 am and noon in room 105 Campus Center.

Wanted 1 bedrm apt in Puffton for summer sublet and fall option. Call Laurie 665-7756 keep trying.

Beatles music (notes - words) for guitar please call Marie 546-4680

Tutor needed for ECE 222. Will pay. Call Jane 6-5841

WANTED TO RENT

$25 reward if you help us to find a 3 bedroom Puffton Apt beg June or Sept call Amy 6-5816 or Andrea 6-5498

Wanted 2 or 3 bdrm apt in Puffton for June w/fall option 549-0787

Sports

More Sports on page 13

Gorillas split over wet weekend

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by John Doucette

The ball didn't bounce the right way yesterday. Gorilla Dave Annino watches the UNH goalie turn away another shot in the 13-11 loss.

It just didn't feel like a lacrosse weekend. Lacrosse weekends are supposed to be sunny and warm but, it rained Saturday as the Gorillas drowned Boston College 18-6 and it was raw and cold yesterday when University of New Hampshire slipped away with a 13-11 win.

If you were one of the 400 or so lacrosse faithful who showed up for the first half of the BC game but were five minutes late, then you most certainly gave the scoreboard a doubletake.

The Gorillas, led by two early Greg Fisk goals, exploded for five goals in the first five minutes of play and tallied once more later in the period to lead 6-0 at the first buzzer.

The torrential rain turned the usual Hill hoedown into a Tobin umbrella party as only the most aquatic Gorilla fans allowed Mother Nature to wash their clothes for free.

The 250 other fans gathered by Tobin Hall, where the major consolation to the rain was that the team was finally blowing someone out. And heckling, which is usually drowned out by the perrenial throngs that gather for THE spring sport at UMass, could be heard over pounding raindrops.

The Gorillas scored two more goals in the second period and BC, in an effort to make things interesting, tallied three times to make the halftime score 8-3.

The second half turned into a blowout as UMass pulled out to a 14 goal lead at 18-4 before two too late BC goals created the 18-6 final.

The chief pluckers of the Eagle's feathers for the Gorillas were Fisk, Mike Fiorini and Tim Cutler. Fiorini finished with five goals and an assist. Fisk had three goals and six assists (four assists on Fiorini goals). Cutler chipped in four goals and two assists.

Then came UNH and a cold day for the Gorillas and their fans. To be sure, the Gorillas outplayed UNH, the second ranked team in New England, throughout the contest but the end result is who scored more times.

That team was UNH, as the Wildcats clawed their way to a 13-11 victory in front of 2000 blanketed fans.

The Wildcat jumped out early behind a handful of "I can't believe they scored on that shot" goals and appeared to be headed to the lockerroom for hot chocolate at halftime with a 6-2 lead.

Wrong. In what amounted to their biggest offensive explosion of the year, the Gorillas scored three times in 28 seconds to end the half in a flurry and get things close at 6-5.

First, it was Karl Hatton, who scored on a pass from Fisk, with a scant thirty seconds left in the half.

Then, bang, Fisk took a pass from Fiorini following the faceoff and fired another goal home. The elapsed time between goals was ten seconds and a subdued crowd became an excited one.

Not to be outdone, Paul Fogarty used up all of eighteen seconds before he scored the final goal of the half with just two seconds to go and suddenly a confident Wildcat squad was shivering.

In the second half Gorilla goalkeeper Tom Curran was replaced by Gerry Moreau, who helped to anchor the further adventures of UMass comeback, as the team fell further behind but eventually took the lead 10-9 on a Fisk from Chris Schmitz goal with 15 seconds left in the third period.

Things were not to be however, as the Wildcats scored four goals down the stretch, one where Moreau intercepted a pass but deflected the ball into his own goal to offset the lone UMass tally and produce the final outcome.

Despite the loss, which dropped the Gorillas record to 2-4, head coach Dick Garber still feels this is a good lacrosse team that just doesn't get any breaks.

"I believe we should be 5-1 and I can't say after this game we played that badly," said Garber.

The Gorillas travel to Hofstra to take on the 12th ranked team in the nation at 7:30 Wednesday night.

Gazelles win two games over weekend

Over top ranked Harvard and Boston University

By ELLEN RICHARD
Collegian Staff

It was win well earned for as the eighth ranked University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team played an intense, aggressive game against top ranked Harvard Crimson Tide to capture a 7-6 victory over the previously unbeaton Crimson, Sunday at NOPE field.

On Monday, the emotionally drained Gazelles (5-1) traveled to Boston University for a make-up game and came home exhausted, but 10-4 victors.

The Harvard-UMass match-up always is an exciting one and with UMass goaltender Rita Hubner making 26 saves and the team hitting seven of 15 shots, UMass never lost the way to victory.

"It was a fantastic contest," coach Pam Hixon said. "Harvard had many opportunities to score but Rita was outstanding. Rita was definitely the deciding factor. Harvard was a superior offense. I was really pleased that we held them to six goals."

Harvard threw 32 shots at Hubner but could not capitalize on most. The Gazelles kept their heads to insure that every shot counted. The main goal was to concentrate on taking good shots and keeping Harvard's attack to a minimum.

Massachusetts started off with a quick lead in the first half and never fell behind. At the end of the half UMass had a slim 3-29 lead.

Between periods, Hixon told her team to play aggressive, but smart, on attack.

"With a 3-2 score in lacrosse it's anyone's game. Our main objective was to take the good shots. We didn't need to rush and take bad shots because we had the lead. We went up right away to 5-2. We wanted to run as much off the clock as we could after that."

After three quarters the Gazelles were up 6-3. Harvard came back with two goals to close the gap to 6-5. UMass scored an insurance goal but the Crimson crept within one again. It was to no avail, however, as the fighting Gazelles held on for the win.

Pam Moryl led the attack with four goals and Linda Haytayan contributed two. Sue Kosloski added one more to the victory.

"This was the best game we've had all season long," Hixon said. "We took advantage of the good scoring opportunities we had. We took quality shots on attack and that allowed us to stay ahead. We scored when we had the chance."

After an intensity-packed game like the Harvard encounter it would have been difficult for any team to settle down and play the next morning. But the Gazelles traveled to Boston for an 11:30 a.m. game with BU and hung in for the win.

Moryl and Haytayan lead the scoring with three goals each and Kosloski added another two. Bunny Forbes also chipped in two goals.

"It was a game very difficult to play," Hixon commented. "It took a lot of energy. We were definitely fatigued and it showed. We were just happy to come home with a victory."

"Debbie DeJesus was in goal and did a super job. She was definitely tested."

The Gazelles have started into the heavy part of their schedule with two important games approaching. On Thursday the women will face Dartmouth at NOPE field with a 3:00 p.m. start. Then next Saturday the team will travel to take on the University of New Hampshire.

AP Laserphoto

Greg Meger of Wellesley, breaks the tape at 2:09.00 to win the 1983 Boston Marathon yesterday.

NUMMO NEWS

Tuesday, April 19, 1983 VOLUME 11 ISSUE 80

NUMMO News' ONLY connection with the Massachusetts Daily Collegian is for the purpose of distribution.

Grenadian Ambassador Wants Peace

By Tracey Bryant

Thursday, April 14, 1983 was Caribbean Awareness Day and also Pan-American Day. The guest of honor was the Grenadian Ambassador to the Organization of American States (OAS), Dessima Williams. In an 8 p.m. lecture in S.B.A. 116, Ambassador Williams attempted to clarify and dispel many of the current political myths surrounding the island and its relations with the U.S., the Soviet Union and Cuba. Throughout her speech she stressed a desire and need for peace and self-determination.

The guest speaker stated, "We don't want to make open charges (against the United States), but I will use historical background" to make the point. She said that "the unjust and unequal relations are the major source of antagonism and confrontations" between the U.S. and other "countries of the Americas."

The Grenadian Ambassador said that there is a U.S. program of "destabilization, intimidation and unfriendliness against the governments of the Americas seeking to transform an independent path from the traditional lines of the United States government."

She cited old and new examples of U.S. intervention and covert actions in the Caribbean and South America. She began by stating that the United States ruling interests became the base of imperialism in the region when it replaced United Kingdom prescence and imperialism.

In 1898, said the Ambassador, the U.S. government attacked its own vessels creating a pretext for the takeover of spanish colonies.

In Guatemala, she continued, "there was the brutal overthrow of the popular government of Arbenz in 1954, when President Arbenz refused to create a multi-national bank." In the 1930's the U.S. brought in and maintained Samosa in Nicaragua, Williams stated.

She then cited the role of the U.S. government in "frustrating" the processes of El Salvador and U.S. intervention in Chile. She also mentioned that there was a massive program of propaganda against Michael Manley in the seventies, who lost the Jamaican election. The Ambassador then listed seven points of U.S. intervention n her own country.

She reminded the audience of the program against Cuba: an economic embargo, political hostility and isolation; a program that ranged "from poison cigars to the Bay of Pigs."

She then asked the audience why these measures were taken. She answered by saying, "because Cuba espoused a different (political) philosophy." She called the program against Cuba a "disrespect of Cuban national will and the right to self-determination."

The justification for U.S. aggression and intervention in our hemisphere has often been "to keep America safe," said the Grenadian representative. She explained that the first tool used for this supposed purpose was the idea of Manifest Destiny. "It was used for the extermination of the Indians and slavery in America," stated the guest speaker.

Williams said that the Monroe Doctrine was next and stated that "this hemispere (the Caribbean, North and South America) shall remain under the influence of the United States." She added, "We in Grenada reject this thesis."

Bringing her explanation into the present, the Ambassador said that during the days of transition between Carter and Reagan, the Committee of Sante Fe was formed with the intention that: "this hemisphere will be the background of the U.S. regaining of military and economic strength."

"There is a sense of urgency about this hemisphere", said the lecturer. The U.S. wants to regain what is considered (in our view inaccurate) the loss of U.S. esteem, she explained. The speaker continued, "There are more CIA operations and more big business, more training" with the intention of "regaining a sense of big power on the backs of the people of the Americas," she stated. "Grenada has been a victim of this policy."

"We have the right to have relations with anyone we want," she said. "The U.S. makes continous attempts to dictate policy (to other countries)."

Detailing her point, she said, "Cyrus Vance sent written instructions to Grenada warning us that we will be influenced and dictated to by Cuba." "We have relations with many countries that Cuba doesn't have relations with," said the Ambassador to refute the claim of Cuban dictatorship.

The Grenadian representative assured the audience that Grenada is not building a Soviet-Cuban military airstrip, and she called Reagan's suggestion that Grenada was training bandits to takeover the Caribbean "hilarious."

Pertaining to U.S. intervention and policy for the region, the Grenadian representative said, "All this has to change." We are optimistic that it will, she continued. "We know that the American public wants different relations with its neighbors."

"What is needed is a policy that would be in your own national interests and that of the Americas," she told the audience.

Continued on page 3

Dessima Williams

Black Musicians Conference '83 Provides A Sound Education

By Angela Brown

In overview, this year's Black Musicians Conference was a well rounded celebration of Black America's continuing musical development. Although the big concert of the weeklong conference was cancelled at the last minute, and Woody Shaw's group filled in for Dextor Gordon for a too small (but delighted) audience due to the confusion, the whole conference provided an important educational experience on the traditions and directions of Black culture. It did all this through a variety of artistic media, including a panel discussion, an art exhibit and the special sounds of the Billy Taylor Trio and the Springfield Symphony, Marion Brown, and others.

The Billy Taylor concert opened the conference last Sunday and was co-sponsored by the American Music Festival.

When this writer attended his concert with the Symphony she was surprised by the excitement and relevance of this orchestral performance. The blending of Afro-American Jazz traditions with the symphonic form resulted in a highly unique kind of music.

In fact, the impression given by the performance was something like a "deluxe" big band sound, with a full orchestra instead of simply a horn section, interacting with the Trio.

This was especially true in a piece written by Taylor entitiled "Impromptu for Trio and Orchestra." It began with a call and response interaction, in which Taylor played melodious lines on the piano and the orchestra resonded. Sometimes the strings alone accompanied Taylor's longer strands of melodies, and did so with a great effect. Touches of the blues were indeed present, as is always true of Jazz music. Victor Gaskin's bass riffs and Keith Copeland's bebopping drum rhythms anchored the sections when the Symphony played as a whole.

As the Symphony worked up to a high energy level in this piece, it was clear that all the performers were having a great time. Many faces broke out into smiles, and some violinists stood up from their seats to peer over their colleagues' sholders to get a better view of the action. After Copeland's strong drum solo, the entire crew broke out in sound, putting an energetic punch into the climax. A few lines from Taylor's grand piano brought the piece to a close, bringing the audience to its feet in a standing ovation.

Taylor and the Symphony also provided a important rendition of the "Concert for Piano and Symphony Orchestra" written by our own Dr. Fred Tillis, who is presently Director of the Fine Arts Center, and a professor in the Music Department. The piece was written in its final version only last year, making this its world premiere.

The week continued monday with Marion Brown's excellent solo performance, which was broadcast live on WMUA. And Woody Shaw more than adequately filled the absence of Dextor Gordon on Thursday. For the many who missed this sensational performance, be appeased since it was perhaps less painful than catching only the last set of Shaw's talents on the trumpet and flugelhorn, as this writer unfortunately did, missing most of an excellent show.

The Black Musicians Conference gets better every year, all should be hopeful and grateful as it becomes a well established institution at UMass.

Unity for Growth

Editorial by Segun Eubanks

In recent weeks there has been a lot of conflict and dissension within our community. Although these conflicts have had different circumstances and may not be related, depending on which chain of gossip you listen to, it is important for us as a community within this University, to take a long hard look at this growing problem.

First of all, we as a community do not constitute a very large percentage of the University population. We are very spread out and many of us are a long way from home. We are here in this "Fantasy Island" in the middle of nowhere to obtain an education that we all deserve and all have the potential to gain.

However, it is very important to remember that we are only here because we had to struggle to be here. And we will remain here only if we continue to struggle, so why jeopardize our very existence at this University because of petty conflicts?

As many of you know, especially upperclassmen, racism exists in all aspects of our University environment. All one has to do is to look at our recent history to prove this.

How many of us remember Seta Rampersand, a Black UMass students who was found dead in a motel room and police or coroners could not determine cause of death in spite of much evidence that she had been drugged and beaten?

Or Jose Pontes who was found dead sitting in a chair in his dorm room, with cause of death being determined as suicide by hanging? Or the three sisters who were beaten by police in Russell's liquor store?

As a matter of fact how many of us know about the brothers on campus who, this semester, have been harrassed by police and University officials behind incidents stemming from racism in our dormitories?

Oh, but I bet you know who was fighting who at the Horseshoe and who Erica killed on "All My Children" last week. Excuse the sarcasm but sometimes it turns my stomach to see where we have been placing our priorities.

Brothers and Sisters it is time, no it is way past time for us to get our act together. Some of our freshmen will not be returning next year because they are flunking the same classes that most upperclassmen have already passed.

Why? Where are the study groups and support groups to help keep our Brothers and Sisters here? Sure there are CCEBMS and BCP and they deserve all our praise and respect. But administrators are not going to be the ones getting us through this place. We must help each other. It must be a student-to-student effort. If we act as a community and not as a group of cliques we will excel not only in academics, but in all aspects that this University has to offer.

There are many organizations that need our support and membership. As the year comes to an end these groups will be electing officers and recruiting members for next year. Through membership in these organizations and positive participation in community events, communication networks can develop and we can begin to rebuild and strengthen our community.

So why not attend a Malcolm X Center, or Nummo or Afrik-Am meeting — to name just a few. Who knows you might learn something that's really relevant to your college education. You might just meet a close friend. And most importantly, you might be able to make an important contribution to your community and have a good time too. You never know until you try.

Essentially, I believe we are fighting on the wrong battlefield. We must stop struggling amongst ourselves and start struggling together for the common goal of achieving our educational, social and community objectives.

Peace and Love, Segun C. Eubanks

Nummo Staff

Angela Brown	Editor
Tracey Bryant	Production Manager
Bayne Clarke	Lay-Out Editor
Donna Davis	Business Manager
Keith Johnson	Researcher
Mitra Samini	Graphics Editor
John Wright	Photo Editor
Lauri Neely and Laura Shanahan	Typesetters
Bernadine Brown	Administrative Assistant

CONTRIBUTORS

Ed Cohen	Photographer
Segun Eubanks	Correspondent
Chris Hardin	Photographer
Russell Jordan	Correspondent
Brenda Ling	Correspondent
Baron Roland	Photographer
Ray Sandelin	Photographer
Robert Teixeira	Correspondent
Rick Thorpe	Correspondent

Corea's connection to South Africa

In response to readers' reactions, and as an acknowledgement of our own oversight, Nummo News wants to comment on our printing a review of Chick Corea's latest release (April 11).

The album Again and Again was recorded at the South African Broadcasting Company in Johannesburg, South Africa, within the borders of strict apartheid. In this country, with a ratio of five Blacks to every White, the White minority has total political control. This minority maintains its power through racist tactics such as imposing curfews on Blacks, killing Black school children, and torturing political prisoners who fight for Black majority rule.

By committing these atrocities, the South African government has drawn the attention of the United Nations. The UN holds sanctions against the country in an attempt to isolate it for rejecting all peoples' right to self-determination. These sanctions include military aid and oil embargoes as well as sports, academic, and general cultural boycotts.

The United States is one of few countries to have voted consistently against the UN resolutions that condemn South Africa. In addition to being one of only two countries woldwide to host the South African rugby team in the Fall of 1981, the United States continues to develop South Africa's nuclear energy and arms technology. Thus, in recognizing South Africa as a legitimate state, the United States supports apartheid.

UMass students should be familiar with at least one of the UN sanctions: last week's SGA ballot included a referendum concerning the funding and sponsorship of academic research in South Africa. The campus vote tallied 1454 to 819 in favor of regulating UMass contacts. Those who support this academic boycott should also understand the need to support a cultural boycott.

Chick Corea's appearance in South Africa clearly violates the UN resolution, and, in effect, tries to suggest the validity of this unjust, racist regime. Buying Corea's new album not only serves his goals of personal profit, but supports the apartheid government as well, however indirectly. With this understanding, Nummo News encourages all to adhere to the UN sanctions; upholding the international boycott is an expression of solidarity with the oppressed peoples of South Africa in their struggle to liberate their homeland.

We at Nummo News also want to point out our internal mis-communication as a warning: none of us supports the repression in South Africa, but not one of us spoke out about the implications of our having printed the article, did we realize the seriousness of that mistake. We hope that from this error we and others learn to challenge contradictions as they arise and not to remain silent.

For more information on sanctions against South Africa, see the March 1982 issue of the UN Monthly Chronicle.

Nummo wishes to extend its deepest apologies to Richard Thorpe for the production problems that obliterated the meaning of his last music review. We hope no embarrassment was caused for him.

Photo by Segun Eubanks

Members of the Pan-Asian Repertory perform in "Yellow Fever," which brings the 1983 Third World Theater Series to a close.

Photo by John Wright

Brynne Clarke and Keith Johnson, both CCEBMS seniors, are caught enjoying a break in the New Africa House.

Health

Editor's Note: This is the fifth of Masherrill Fant's six-part series, provided by Nummo in the interest of public health. Watch for next week's entry on alcoholism.

Part II: Some important facts about STD's

By Masherrill Fant

The last part of this series on Sexually Transmitted Diseases will discuss genital herpes and answer some important questions. Herpes simplex virus type II causes gential herpes, the fastest growing STD in the U.S. today. One reason for this rampant growth of genital herpes is that there is no cure.

The symptoms are small blister near or on the site where contact was made with an infected person. The blisters burst leaving highly contagious sores which spread. These sores may last up to six weeks and they may be accompanied by fever, muscle aches, and swelling of pelvic lymph glands. Genital herpes can be treated to relieve pain or discomfort, but there is no cure.

The following are some common questions asked about STD's:

Q: Can STD's be prevented?

A: Yes, STD's can be prevented by use of a prophylactic, also known as condoms or rubbers. The prophylactic may also be used as a contraceptive and it is the only contraceptive that can prevent STD's.

Q: Is intimate or sexual contact the only way to transmit STD's?

A: It is safe to say Yes to this question, including kissing an infected person with mouth sores. The chances of becoming infected from toilet seats, door knobs, or other inanimate objects are negligible because the organisms which cause these diseases die almost immediately when exposed to light and air away from warm moist areas of the body.

Q: Can a person be infected with more than one STD at the same time?

A: Yes.

Q: Can a person become immune to STD's?

A: No. A person can be re-infected again and again and again. . .

If you have any other questions plase contact the University Health Services or the VD Hotline at the toll free number: 1-800-227-8922.

Source

Health Education Department, University Health Services, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA.

Photo by Chris Hardin

Donald Byrd and moderator, Fred Tillis at the Panel Discussion, "Perspectives on Black Music" Tuesday as part of the Black Musicians Conference.

Black Musician's Panel: Society and Music

By Brenda Ling

As part of last week's 12th Annual Black Musicians Conference, a panel discussion on "Perspectives in Black Music" focused on the intricate ties between economics, politics, mass culture, and Black music.

Archie Shepp, saxophonist and UMass music professor; Donald Byrd, ethnomusicologist and chair of the Pulaski Endowment for the Arts; Warrick Carter, president of the National Association of Jazz Educators and chair of the Division of Fine and Performing Arts at Governor's State University; and Jeff Anthony, jazz program specialist at the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) spoke to an audience at the Cape Cod Lounge about the history, present situation, and future hopes that Black musicians share.

Influenced by a natural "insistence on percussion" and a "tonal basis" often foreign to the European tradition, "jazz is Black music," a panelist said. Black musicians, "by virtue of the skin in which they live," will produce art that differs fundamentally from others', as it communicates a message particular to Blacks' social experience.

In describing Blacks' rich musical history, Shepp mentioned Buddy Bolden as the "father of jazz" who has greatly affected artists such as Charlie Parker, Lester Young, and Miles Davis. Shepp referred to these men's bass, piano, and rhythm drums as reflecting Bolden's contribution of "metaphoric proportions."

Carter pointed to T.J. Anderson and Louis Gottschalk as two composers who also realized the importance of musicians' use of native elements and experience. In this sense, although many artists, including Howard Swanson, Robert Harris, and Leslie Adams, were educated at the same institutions as their white contemporaries, the music they produce is quite distinct.

Presently, the music industry is governed by performers' ability to satisfy producers' question of "how much is it worth?" Byrd's stark description of the recording industry's motto, "you play the music, and we'll take care of the money" emphasized the reality that today's music is often devalued from an art form to a means of making "some fast money right now."

Unfortunately, the recording industry's political and economic power structure does not consider Black jazz to be a profitable venture. This is reflected in public funding of, for instance, the NEA's jazz program. Anthony stated that, of the total NEA budget, which equals only 80 percent of the monies available to U.S. military bands, 10 percent is allotted for jazz programs, as opposed to 80 percent for European orchestral music. This clearly outlines the non-precedence of Black music in the minds of administrators who control public dollars.

Anthony also pointed out that European music has "withstood the test of time" only through the help of non-profit organizations' monies. He concluded by saying that, today, European 'classical' music is beyond its immediate context. Inferencially, since music as an art is a description of reality, it is society's duty to acknowledge the contemporary expression of Black people by offering public monetary support for more jazz programs.

With an ear for the future, Byrd stressed that "it's about time that we make a more concerted effort" to define what Black music is. After a de-emphasis on dollars and profit, Black music may return to the people as an expression of life experiences, reflecting all social, economic, historical, and political elements. Shepp suggested that, ultimately, Black musicians will gain a sense of owning their own culture and will be able to "tie the business of music to the survival of our community."

As a final note, Shepp responded to a question by criticizing musicians for not opening political dialogue sooner, especially with South Africa in mind. If only they had formed political ideas earlier, musicians may not have been faced with the cultural-political crisis that exists today.

(See Editorial, page 2)

Photo by Mel Rosenthal

A photo from Mel Rosenthal's collection depicts a New York City demonstration protesting the eviction of over 200 families from Villa Sin Miedo (Town Without Fear), Puerto Rico. The town will be the subject of a documentary exhibit as part Latin American Week.

Latin American Week Documentary Exhibit

A documentary exhibit with photographs and text, Villa Sin Miedo, Puerto Rico (The Town Without Fear), will be held at the University of Massachusetts Student Union Art Gallery April 17-30.

The exhibit will include photographs by Mel Rosenthal who directs photographic programs at Empire State, and text by Professor John Brentlinger of the UMass Philosophy Department.

Student participation in the event will be highlighted by a panel discussion of political art Friday, April 22, 3-5 p.m., in the Student Union Commonwealth Room. Luis Melendez, a Puerto Rican student studying agriculture at UMass, and Roxanna Bell, former editor of Nummo News, will join the artists in the discussion. Rosenthal will present a lecture and slide program representative of his photographs taken in Cuba, Haiti and South Bronx.

Brentlinger, who is currently collaborating with the photographer on a book presenting the Puerto Rican immigrants' struggles, will lead the discussion. According to Brentlinger, there is a tradition in Puerto Rico of poor, landless people being rescatadores de terreno — land rescuers (they don't call themselves "squatters").

Villa Sin Miedo was founded in November 1980, by a group of landless poor people on a 65 acre parcel of government land about 20 miles east of San Juan. Years before, the government has designated the land for agricultural use, and had promised to divide it into small plots for distribution to the poor, but this was never done.

So the land was "rescued" and the village was founded by 200 families who were self-organized and worked together to build a partially independent economy. Their developing values became a challenge to the colonial regime which ultimately destroyed the town by force.

"We urge people to attend the exhibit. It is a very powerful statement of what life is like for the poor of Puerto Rico who seek to organize themselves into a political force," said Peter Brown, acting Commuter program coordinator.

The exhibit is sponsored by the UMass Arts Council and coordinated by AHORA, The Office of Third World Affairs and the Commuter Area Government.

A reception for the artists will be held April 23 in the Student Union Art Gallery from 3-6 p.m.

Photo by Chris Hardin

Steve Turre, trombone; Bobby Hutcherson, vibes; Woody Shaw, trumpet; and guest Archie Shepp, tenor saxophone at the Fine Arts Center last Thursday night.

Continued from page 1

The U.S. needs to make a commitment to the ideal of self-determination and mutual respect for its neighbors. These are reasonable and workable pillars of a new policy, she said.

She asked would a policy of self-determination break the crisis in Central America?" She answered, "We will never suggest that the system will change overnight, but we believe that it will change. A policy of self-determination will bring an end to intervention in places like Nicaragua and El Salvador." She continued, "We believe there is a start there."

The Ambassador reminded the audience that a policy of self-determination and mutual respect would keep U.S. dollars at home.

"It's in your constitution. People have the right to change their government — to have a revolution by any means possible. We have the right to exercise our sovereignty," she said.

"The policies of today are so dangerous, we feel it is our duty to call for peace. This is why we venture to speak, not to tell the U.S. what to do," she said.

The government of Grenada from every platform available has stated its desire to have the Caribbean a place of peace, independence, and duel government.

"We believe within this lies a plan workable for peace in the Caribbean," she said.

Announcements * Announcements

★★★

World and National News

AP Laserphoto

Former Solidarity leader Lech Walesea talks with western newsmen yesterday in Gdansk, Poland following his release from questioning at Gdansk police headquarters.

Cuban diplomats expelled from U.S. for espionage acts

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States ordered two Cuban U.N. diplomats expelled Tuesday for what the government called "hostile" and "blatant" espionage activities.

Neither the State Department nor the U.S. Mission to the United Nations elaborated on the allegations, but their statements indicated the Cubans were caught in acts the government deemed a serious threat to U.S. security.

Under a 1947 U.N. headquarters agreement between the world body and Washington, the United States has the right to take action against diplomats it believes are abusing their privileges.

The Cuban U.N. Mission, responding in a note to the allegations, said it "firmly rejects" the U.S. government's contention that the two diplomats had abused their privileges.

Cuban Ambassador Raul Roa declined comment.

The two Cubans, identified as Rolando Salup Canto, a third secretary at the mission, and Joaquin Rodobaldo Penton Cejas, an attache, were given 48 hours to leave the country. Their departure would bring to five the number of Cuban U.N. diplomats expelled in the last nine months.

In Washington, Alan Romberg, deputy State Department spokesman, said Salup and Penton "have engaged in hostile intelligence activities aimed at the United States in blatant violation" of the 1947 headquarters agreement.

Joel Blocker, spokesman for the U.S. Mission at U.N. headquarters, said the U.S. government "takes the illegal activities of the Cubans quite seriously. We regard what they have done ... as blatant and directed against this country."

He noted that the Cuban Mission, with 43 diplomats assigned, is the fourth largest behind those of the Soviet Union, the United States and China.

The Cubans, he said, "have a record of continuing abuse of their diplomatic privileges."

Last July, two other members of the Cuban U.N. staff, Mario Monzon Barata and Jose Rodriguez Rodriguez, were ordered expelled for "deliberate violation of the trading with the enemy act" prohibiting American citizens or companies from trading with agents of countries placed on a prohibited list. No further details were given.

Searchers clean up embassy; number of casualties uncertain

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Searchers pulled six mangled bodies from the bomb-shattered U.S. Embassy Tuesday and said they expected to find more victims in the rubble. The toll stood at 24 confirmed dead, including a top CIA analyst and seven other Americans, and 23 presumed dead.

Embassy spokesman Robert Reid said eight Americans were confirmed dead and eight others were missing in the wreckage. Among the confirmed dead was Robert Clayton Ames, the CIA's Near East and South Asian analyst, officials said in Washington in a rare case of naming a CIA agent who worked abroad.

But authorities still don't know the precise extent of the carnage in the worst attack yet on a U.S. facility in Lebanon. There also was no clear picture of how it was accomplished, although most accounts said a terrorist drove an explosives laden vehicle into the compound and died in the blast.

Ten Lebanese embassy employees, visa applicants and visitors were confirmed dead, while 20 others were missing, said Reid. The 47th victim listed was an embassy visitor of unknown nationality, he said.

After Reid's announcement, workers recovered six more badly mutilated bodies and parts of bodies from the destroyed embassy cafeteria, but it was not clear how that affected the casualty count.

Police said 120 people were wounded in the explosion, including 22 Americans.

The bodies were hauled from beneath chunks of masonry and concrete left in huge piles by the bomb, which exploded at lunchtime Monday. It blasted off the center facade, collapsed all seven floors inthe central section and caused heavy damage to the two wings.

Reagan pushes MX plan; Congress may approve basing

WASHINGTON — President Reagan embraced a plan Tuesday to build 100 MX missiles and put them in existing launch silos, promising it "will mean a safer, more secure America" and put pressure on Moscow to negotiate nuclear arms cuts.

Even congressional critics conceded the proposal has a far [illegible] chance of winning approval than Reagan's first two attempts to deploy the MX.

"Preserving the peace requires more than wishful thinking and vague good intentions," Reagan said. "Concrete, positive action is required to free the world from the spectre of nuclear conflict."

The plan, drafted by the President's Commission on Strategic Forces, calls for putting the MX, armed with 10 nuclear warheads, in Minuteman missile silos near Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming, and beginning work on a new, single-warhead missile to be ready for deployment in the early 1990s.

Deploying the MX missile and developing the smaller, single-warhead weapon, sometimes dubbed "Midgetman" would cost $19.9 billion over the next five years, according to commission estimates. That would be in addition to $4 billion already spent on MX research.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Convicts release two hostages to end six-day prison siege

PITTSBURGH — Two armed convicts freed two hostages and surrendered Tuesday, ending a six-day siege in a windowless prison basement room that started during a botched escape attempt.

"It's over," prison spokesman Ken Robinson announced at midafternoon, after both prisoners had given their guns to negotiators and both hostages were out of danger.

The first break in the grueling standoff had come at 10:38 a.m, when the prisoners freed hostage Kostas "Gus" Mastros, 51, from the room where he and fellow hostage Danny Kohut, 39, had been barricaded since Thursday.

News of Mastros' safe release prompted cheers from many of the 1,300 inmates at the State Correctional Institution who had been kept locked in their cells during the drama.

Kohut was given a hug and kiss by his 3-year-old daughter, Mandy, who said "I'm real proud of you daddy," according to the guard's former wife, Cathy Kohut.

"We didn't promise the inmates anything," said Warden George Petsock. "We gave them nothing. We signed no agreement."

He said the inmates were moved to avoid reprisals.

"If you caused inmates to be locked up for six days and two staff members to be abused mentally, then you're going to face a lot of animosity," said Petsock.

Seven die in Worcester blaze, victims former mental patients

WORCESTER, — Seven people died and another man was injured Tuesday when an early morning fire swept through a rooming house used by former state hospital patients, trapping screaming residents on the building's top floors.

Firefighters said tenants were screaming out windows of the third floor of the wooden frame building when they arrived.

"There was just too much fire and smoke," said Jose Ocasio, a resident in a nearby building who police say helped save a number of residents.

"I tried, oh I tried. I could hear the people screaming," he said.

Four of the dead were trapped on the third floor and two on the second, where investigators believed the fire ignited, Fire Chief James Nally said. The cause has not been determined.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Bill Wall
Copy Editor — Ed Birk
Layout Technician — Jim Finkle
Photo Technician — Drew Ogier
Composition — Donna Maurice, Lauri Neely
Jenny Winslow, Sue Koczela, Mat Atkins, Stuart Sajdak
Will Hopkins, Lesley Clark, Laura Shanahan
Gail Tanzer, Joy McCarthy, Terri Cooper

Subscription Rates

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Celebrate Israel's 35th Birthday

with
THE PARVARIM
הפרברים
Israel's Outstanding
Folk Duo
Saturday
April 23
8:00 PM
CCA

Dancing
Dancing

Tickets: $2. students
$3. general
sponsored by: Hillel & the UMass Arts Council

Two UMass professors honored with Guggenheim awards

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

Guggenheim Award winner Prof. George Cuomo at his office yesterday.

The 1983 John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation fellowship awards were handed out yesterday and two University of Massachusetts at Amherst professors were among the recipients. Of the 3,571 applicants, 292 awards were given.

English Professor George Cuomo, whose seventh novel will be published in July, won the fiction writing award, while Dr. Virginia P. Scott, associate theatre professor, playwright and University theatre research specialist, was awarded a fellowship to research a book in Paris. It will concern 17th and 18th century Italian theater in that city.

The fellowships are awarded on the basis of past achievement and future promise, according to a Foundation press release. They total $5.5 million in grants for 1983.

"It's very nice (to have won the award)," said Cuomo, who has taught creative writing at the University at both the undergraduate and graduate level since 1973.

He plans to take a year off from teaching to work further on his eighth novel, one "new and very different" from his last soon-to-be published work, Family Honor. The 600-page fiction work, a tale of an immigrant's son growing up in the Bronx, was his qualifying piece for the fellowship.

"It (the grant) comes at a very good time," Cuomo said, estimating his current novel will take two more years to complete. "It'll make a significant difference in getting another novel finished."

Professor Scott is anticipating her departure to Paris next January, where she will spend eight months examining court records of Louis XIV, composing a chronology and trying to "straighten out contradictions" surrounding a comic theatre group popular in that city from 1650-1780.

"I'm ecstatic," she said of winning the award. "I've wanted to spend a substantial amount of time in Paris for so long. It's super to actually be able to do it."

Scott teaches playwriting, and theater history and criticism at UMass. She also works on theater department productions, and last year translated a Moliete play from French to English.

Scott and Cuomo are not new to winning awards. Scott won the Harbor Festival Award in Boston for Letter to Corinth, a play she authored, while Cuomo won a National Endowment for the Arts award several years ago for his 1975 novel Pieces from a Small Bomb.

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

Theater professor Virginia Scott was recently honored with a Guggenheim Award.

Amherst Clean-Up Day in the bag for its fifth consecutive year on April 23

By VIRGINIA WARFIELD
Collegian Correspondent

For the fifth year in a row, the Amherst Board of Selectmen have proclaimed Saturday, April 23 official Amherst Clean-Up Day, according to Dean Allen of the Amherst Conservation Commission.

In a town-wide effort to beautify Amherst streets and lawns, the Conservation Commission is sponsoring Clean-Up Day, and urges local organizations and individuals to help out.

"Everyone is encouraged to join in. They can pick up bags and route assignments at the Hitchcock Center Saturday morning from 8:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.," Allen said.

Julie Clifford, coordinator of the project, said groups such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Rotary Club and some church groups will play a large role in the clean-up.

"But, we always have a lot of people who just show up with their own bags, and that's really nice," she said.

Both Clifford and Allen said they hope the University will show some interest helping clean the town.

"It would be really great if various University groups would help out," Allen said. "Even if the fraternities and sororities could pick up around the school it would be a big help."

In past years some students have participated, and this year she would like to see many more, Clifford said.

"It's their town, too," she added.

Individuals and organizations interested in taking part in the clean-up are encouraged to stop by the Hitchcock Center and sign up for particular streets or areas, Allen said.

"It's easier if we can coordinate assigned routes so we can direct people where help is needed, and so places won't get covered twice."

The Department of Public Works will be sending around trucks to pick up garbage bags left conspicuously by the sides of the roads, Clifford said.

She said the Conservation Commission is hoping there will be fewer bottles and cans around this year because of the recent institution of the Bottle Bill.

"But there's always a lot of plastic and paper trash, and fast-food containers," Allen added.

For recycling purposes, Clifford pointed out that it would be helpful if people could try to keep different types of trash separated.

The Commission expects somewhere between 600 and 800 garbage bags to be filled Saturday, she said.

In terms of the effectiveness of the clean-up, Allen feels Amherst will benefit a great deal.

"The town really looks much better afterward," he said.

Persons interested in more information on the clean-up and how to help should contact the Hitchcock Center or the Conservation Services.

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

A workman makes roof repairs to the Gazette Printing Company building in Northampton yesterday.

NBC correspondent relates experiences as female reporter

By RICHARD NANGLE
Collegian Staff

Myths perpetrated by white male television executives prevented women from entering broadcast journalism until the mid 1970s, said NBC News Correspondent Jessica Savitch last night during a speech to 500 people at Smith College's Sage Hall.

Savitch's speech, in conjunction with the 30th anniversary celebration of the Smith newspaper "The Sophian," focused on the topic of "Women, Media and Politics."

"In the beginning, I was told women's voices were not authoritative — so I could not have the job," Savitch said. "I was told women didn't want to watch other women on television, particularly at 11 o'clock.

"There was not one shred of evidence to back that up," she said.

Savitch is the principal reporter and writer for NBC's Nightly News Saturday edition and anchors the weekday NBC News Updates in addition to her work as a commentator for the NBC Radio Network. She is also the anchor of the weekly current affairs documentary program, "Frontline," which originates at WGBH-TV, Boston. She has been with NBC since 1977.

She said she became the third woman in the country to hold an anchor position when she worked weekends at KHOU-TV in Houston in 1970. She said she had to accept the title of "anchor one" because she was told the title "anchorwoman" was too sexist.

Defending the high salaries of anchorpeople in America, Savitch said advertisers pay big money to appear on the local and network news making the anchors a commodity.

"Television news is the largest moneymaker a station has," she said adding that "happy news" is a result of perceptions on what the viewer wants to see.

"You are more apt to retain that which you find entertaining," she said. But she also implied that coverage of fires and other purely visual stories may be on the decline since there is a belief that the television viewer is becoming more sophisticated.

She said these viewers must be made aware of the reasons behind the decision-making process in the newsroom.

"There is no 'the media,' there are only individual reporters. Sometimes I do well and sometimes I do not, but the mistakes are not by design or default," she said.

Savitch also addressed prospective reporters in the crowd.

"Fairness is possible and should be expected. Objectivity is not. No two of you here will come away with the same story," she said.

Objectivity must continue to be strived for a political candidates become more adept at using the media to present their images, she said.

In a question and answer session following the speech, Savitch said media people have become celebrities because the public should have a right to know the backgrounds and thoughts of people who have control over public information.

And in a pre-speech press conference she said people can not get by on television news alone.

"Anyone in this country who relies solely on network news for information will not get all the information he needs. Apparently (people) are not reading (newspapers) as much as they should," Savitch said.

Springfield man, 25, arrested; man, 32, evicted from dorm

By TAMI BORTON
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police arrested a 25-year-old Springfield man at 1:45 a.m. yesterday and charged him with operating a motor vehicle without a license and violation of a trespass notice, police said.

The suspect was stopped on Massachusetts Avenue by a UMass officer for driving without headlights. The car he was driving was not his police said. When asked for identification, the suspect gave a false name.

When later identified, a trespass notice was issued. UMass police then learned the man was in violation of a trespass notice issued previously, under another incorrect name, police said.

In other UMass police action:

● Officers evicted a 32-year-old man, address unknown, from Crampton Dormitory and confiscated boxes containing his personal belongings at 4:15 a.m. yesterday.

The man, who was found sleeping under a couch, had apparently been living between Prince Dormitory and Crampton, according to police reports.

He was last seen with no shoes or coat and was allegedly going to stay with a friend, police said. A trespass notice will be issued when he comes to claim his belongings, he said.

● A 1976 gold Honda Accord which was stolen from lot 49 sometime after 8:30 p.m. last Friday was recovered in Hadley yesterday by UMass police.

● A pocketbook, containing items valued at $40 was stolen from the music room in the Fine Arts Center at 2:35 p.m. Monday. The owner of the stolen property had left the notebook unattended in the empty room for five minutes. She said she had noticed some suspicious characters in the hall adjacent to that room, according to police reports.

Schinness to speak

Dr. Roger Schinness, vice chancellor for academic and student affairs for the Massachusetts Board of Regents of Higher Education is scheduled to speak before the Undergraduate Student Senate on the Regents' proposed admissions policy.

Dr. Schinness is most noted as the developer of the original admissions proposal, which was based primarily on Scholastic Aptitutd Test (SAT) scores and high school class rank.

Schinness is expected to speak in support of the creation of a minimum admissions standard for the University, but will not defend any specific plan, according to members of the senate Public Policy Committee, who invited Schinness to speak as part of their Distinguished Visitor Series.

He will speak at 7 p.m. in Campus Center Room 163.

— JOHN O'CONNELL

David Wyman to speak

History professor David Wyman, acting chair of the Judaic Studies department, will speak on U.S. inaction during World War II to help the Jewish people of Europe at 8 tonight at the Jewish Community of Amherst, 742 Main Street. The talk is free and open to the public.

Chris Clamp to speak

The Five College Project on Work and Democracy will sponsor a seminar and discussion by Chris Clamp, faculty administrator at New Hampshire College School of Human Services. The talk, "Dispelling Some of the Myths of the Mondragon Cooperatives," will be presented at 4 p.m. today in Room 803 of the Campus Center.

The event is free and open to the public.

Chancellor's Lecture Series

Alice S. Rossi

"The Gender Gap in Mainstream Politics"

Thursday, April 21, 8 p.m.
Campus Center Auditorium
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

CCC PRODUCTIONS

It's a "SHAME"....
that you don't have your tickets for Evelyn King
with special guest
Soulsonic Force
April 21
Fine Arts Center
8:00 P.M.

TIX:
UMass Students: 6.50, 7.50
Gen. Pub. 7.50, 8.50
Available at Fine Arts Center
URU, For the Record (Amherst)
and all Ticketron outlets

TOMORROW NIGHT
Tickets Still Available

Grad. Senate passes motion opposing Solomon Amendment

By SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Graduate Student Senate joined the Undergraduate Student Senate and The Faculty Senate in passing a resolution which expressed its opposition to the Solomon Amendment, a law which denies financial aid to men who have not registered for the draft.

The Senate was addressed by Nancy Bejtlich of the Students Against Militarism (SAM), who passed out literature and gave the Senate a brief history of the amendment and a summary of what facets of the law she objected to.

The resolution, which passed 27 to 0 with two abstentions, read: "Be it resolved that the Graduate Student Senate supports the repeal of the Solomon Amendment legislation because of the issues raised by the questions of unconstitutionality, classism, and violation of the University's mission and supports the Ad-Hoc Solomon Committee in doing so."

Bejtlich reported that, since the amendment has been declared unconstitutional by the Minnesota State Supreme Court, the amendment has been inactive.

Bejtlich reported also that the Department of Education has told the Department of Education to cease any implementation of the amendment, but the latter apparently has not notified any university or college of this.

SAM is conducting its campaign against the Solomon Amendment in conjuction with the Student Government Association.

Besides the objections in the motion, SAM is concerned with the additional paperwork policing the law would bring to the University, concerns which, according to Bejtlich are shared by Chancellor Joseph Duffey and Director of Financial Aid Arthur Jackson.

Selectmen examine articles for annual town meeting

By TAMI BORTON
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Selectmen endorsed all but three of the first 36 Town Meeting articles at their meeting last night.

Selectmen are reviewing the 72-article Town Warrant, to be acted on during the annual spring Town Meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m., May 2.

In article 10, a $6,917,950 town operating budget for fiscal year 1984 was endorsed for approval, with the addition of an amendment to appropriate funds for a position of town leisure service coordinator, as recommended by Town Manager Barry Del Castilho. If approved, this amendment will allow Amherst to hire someone for the full-time position beginning Jan. 1, 1984.

This amendment differs from the article recommended for the warrant by the town Finance Committee in that these funds be approved during spring Town Meeting instead of the one beginning in October, Edith Wilkinson, chair of the Board, said.

A $3,000 appropriation, which is included in the operating budget, for fireworks was tabled until next week, when further information on why these funds were recommended can be researched.

"I can't see spending $3,000 for blowing things into the air," Selectman Fredrick Steinbeck said.

Wilkinson also expressed doubt. "I can't remember when the Finance Committee initiated expenditures in this manner for any budget item," Wilkinson said.

In article 32, $32,000 to fund the Speed and Alcohol Patrol (SAP) was endorsed by the Board.

"This endorsement means that if we don't get state funding for this program, it will be raised and appropriated by the town," Wilkinson said. "We are reaffirming the stand the town took last year in expressing that they do want this program."

Insurance credit for bus riders

By MARY ANNE BEEN
Collegian Correspondent

University of Massachusetts students who own automobiles and keep them on campus may realize a savings of 15 percent on their collision and comprehensive insurance coverage rates, because of a little-known law adopted in 1980 and recently resurrected.

"The theory behind this provision is that if a student is off the road, using public transportation, the student is not running the risk of collision, said Arthur English, consultant to the Boston chapter of the Massachusetts Division of Insurance.

Charles Hopkins, UMass student and publicizer of the provision said he believes that the Pioneer Valley Transit Authority (PVTA) should be run the same way other mass transit systems are run, allowing its riders to realize an insurance credit.

"If a person lives in a large city, he or she is able to buy a commuter pass which serves as proof of the use of mass transit. Why shouldn't UMass students who ride the bus be able to do the same? If a student pays his or her Student Activity fee, the University should issue passes," Hopkins said.

Bob Jenal, of the UMass Student Activities Office, said that "students pay $96 a year for the Student Activities fee, $22 of that fee goes toward the PVTA system.

With an approved student activity fee receipt, a UMass student can apply for the 15 percent rebate on automobile insurance rates through their insurance company, Hopkins said.

According to Hopkins, there are public notaries in the Student Activities Office. A student can have his or her fee officially verified, and can then bring this documentation to their insurance agency, thereby becoming eligible for this discount.

"I want to let people know about this possible insurance credit," Hopkins said. "This provision encourages mass transit. I want to get this issue straightened out once and for all."

New dollars for academic merit

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

Two merit scholarships which will not interfere with the funding of need-based awards have been introduced at Smith and Mount Holyoke colleges, according to spokeswomen at their public information offices.

The $300 Sophia Smith Achievement Award has been offered to 36 "top applicants" for the class of 1987, Marjorie Gove, Smith College assistant for news said.

The $400 Mount Holyoke scholarship was awarded to 30 incoming freshmen to "acknowledge academic promise," Mount Holyoke public relations director Irma Rabbino said.

Financial aid programs in the late 1950's began to move toward need-based awards, Rabbino said.

"This program is apart from that. These scholarships were awarded in recognition of merit and scholarship," she said.

Figures at Smith indicate 37 percent of enrolled students receive need-based grants, while 65 percent receive some type of financial aid, including campus employment and loans, Gove said. Awards given the class of 1986 range from $200 to $7,750 to aid in the $10,850 cost of tuition, room and board at the school, she said.

The 1983-84 cost of attending Mount Holyoke has been projected at $12,790, including tuition, room, board, supplies and personal expenses, Rabbino said. Currently, 60 percent of students at the college receive some form of financial assistance, including a total of $4 million in grants, $2.5 million in loans, and $750,000 in student employment, she said.

Scholarships based on academic merit are also obtainable at the University of Massachusetts, both through the University and private grants. All aid amounts are determined through the filing of a Financial Aid Form (FAF) which should be postmarked by March 1 for consideration.

The state also offers full-tuition merit scholarships based on SAT scores to high school seniors.

YOU GIVE SIX MONTHS TO ONE YEAR ISRAEL GIVES YOU PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE
EXPLORE THE UNIQUE OPPORTUNITIES OF SHERUT LA'AM
Sciences • Community Relations • Teaching
Social Work • Health • Environmental Protection
There's something for you in Israel. Contact
AMERICAN ZIONIST YOUTH FOUNDATION
515 Park Ave. NY, NY 10022 (212) 751-6070 Ext. 247/245
Call Debora Propper
302 Student Union
545-2526 for more info
Name
Address
City State Zip
School Year Major
CLIP AND MAIL

UNIVERSITY OF
Charter Day
MASSACHUSETTS
APRIL 29, 1983

Dinner for Two Enjoy
any two entrees
with salad bar and a complimentary n/a beverage
12.95
Every Friday

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center • UMass

Legal Assistant Interns Wanted

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for the Fall 1983 semester. Up to fifteen credits may be received from academic departments. Legal assistants aid attorneys of the Legal Services Office with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, and attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts of Hampshire, Hampden, and Franklin Counties, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Legal assistants maintain continuing caseload under supervision of attorneys. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact the Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. For further information about the internship, contact Legal Services Office, 922 Campus Center. Applications due Friday, April 22, 1983, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required.

Mortar Board

Mortar Board is a national honor society of college seniors. The society recognizes the qualities of superior scholastic ability, outstanding and continued leadership and dedicated service to the college, university or community.

Founded by The Ohio State University, Swathmore College, The University of Michigan, and Cornell University in 1918, the Mortar Board now has 183 active chapters across the country.

The Isogon Chapter of the Mortar Board was installed at the University of Massachusetts in 1955. Those students who have shown qualities of academic excellence, leadership, and service are honored with membership. This year the selection committee reviewed approximately 250 information sheets from those students who merited eligibility.

The Mortar Board is pleased to announce the newly tapped members for 1983-1984:

Elizabeth Benton
Jane A. Butler
Scott D. Burke
Robin Coyne
Linda DuGuay
Judith Elleen
Jefferey Flug
Gail Greenstein
Steven Hollander
Christ Kacoyannakis
Sharon Kiel
Dana Lacey
Sandra LeBlanc
Rosemarie Licciardello
Elana Lictenthal
Carolyn McKenna
Pamela Mignault
Mary L. Nolan
Nancy Peitavino
James Pisini
Julie Procopio
Karen A. Smith
Maria Zetes

We thank all who expressed interest in the Mortar Board Honor Society. This year, a great number of qualified Juniors made the competition most keen, and the decision quite difficult. To each applicant; you have every reason to be proud of your accomplishments during your college career. Certainly you are a credit to yourself and to the University. We know you will continue to strive for excellence. The Mortar Board extends its best wishes for a sucessful future.

Any questions: please contact:

James Lonergan — President — 545-2685
or
Annemarie Maley — Selections Chairperson — 545-2152

If you're down
Then brighten up on your heels and wash your wheels
- Open 24 Hours -
AMHERST SUNSHINE CAR WASH
381 College Street
(across from Spirit Haus)

Annual Rope Pull
across campus pond
Postponed until MAY 13th
12:00 noon - 5 pm
sign up
Campus Center Concourse Table
Tues April 19 Thru Thurs April 21
Hours 10 - 4

ENGINEERING STUDENTS
AIM HIGH
If you're a senior or second semester junior and have a 2.5 GPA in electrical engineering, you might qualify for the Air Force College Senior Engineering program (CSEP). CSEP members are paid nearly $1,000 per month during their senior year! Your commitment is 4 years as a commissioned officer on the Air Force Aerospace Engineering Team after graduation and completion of the three month Officer Training School. If you want to be part of the leading edge of technology. . CHECK US OUT!
Call TSgt Art Courtemanche
(413) 786-0362
AIR FORCE

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
PRYOR FESTIVAL!
FREE!
RICHARD PRYOR
Filmed LIVE IN CONCERT
He drove 'em wild!
GREASED LIGHTNING
UNCENSORED
BOTH FILMS WED. & THURS.
SHOWN AT 8 & 10 PM

EDITORIAL/OPINION

An identity for the eighties

Never has a decade been so lacking in originality than our own American 1980's. There was a time when nostalgia was fun — an interruption of the hectic realities of life, an escape into the romanticized ideal of the past. However, like so many social trends, nostalgia has gone out of control, taking the majority of America's youth with it. We rely upon our past to define our present. We copy rather than create, duplicate rather than devise, immitate rather than innovate leaving true creativity to flounder in the tides of nostalgia. What was once a gentle tide has become tidal wave. Nostalgia is no longer merely a whimsical escape but rather is a sacrament of the 1980's. This trend has become indoctrinated and has evolved to the point that our creative faculty for today and tomorrow is seriously jeopardized. We witness the lack of interpretive genius and creative intellect daily in such simple things as the clothes we wear, the way that we speak and the art that we appreciate.

Look around you sometime; watch the way people dress. For that matter, watch the way you dress. Women in the highest fashion circles recently adopted the broad shouldered Joan Crawford look of the decidedly fashionable 1940's. More recently however, fashion has done its part in keeping up with the times, now dictating a return to the miniskirted 60's look. The important thing to recognize is that neither of these two popular fashion "looks" is in any way original. They are copies, duplications of fashions gone by. Men are far from immune, typically sporting wing collars, baggy trousers, and suspenders in a hybrid cross of 20's and 40's fashion.

Along with dress comes mannerism and speech patterns which are certainly no exception. How sad it is that the children of the 80's don't have a speech pattern of their own but rather rely upon the remnants of the past to enrich conversation. Archaic terms like "far out", "cool", and even "keen" are slipping back into our vocabulary. Perhaps the best example however is the recent reintroduction of "groovy" as the universal adjective applicable to virtually any noun in our somewhat piecemeal rendering of the English language. It was a ridiculous word when David Cassidy used it and its even worse now. To immitate social trend is reprehensible enough. To mimmick a bubble gum inspired vocabulary is unforgiveable.

Finally, our appreciation of the arts can indeed be called diverse but certainly not original. In film, music and literature we worship the demigods of the past to the point of rendering our own artists impotent. The 40's and 50's were and still are hailed as "The Golden Age of Filmmaking," as any film buff will quickly attest to. Granted, our decade has produced a fair amount of non-sensical, often insulting celluloid. However, we also have our own golden examples of film excellence.

For music we turn to the 60's. However, the British Invasion is far from over, continuing to sprout new talent with original ideas. But, in our zeal to worship the Liverpool genre of the original 1960's invasion, we lose our perception of what is happening now. In terms of music we may even be progressing backward. The music of our parent's generation has become the music of our generation. Why?

Why has our generation become so dependent upon the past for an identity? Have the preceeding decades simply exhausted the elements of design, interpretation and style? Hardly. The answer is quite simple really. We've become creatively lazy. The 80's are a conglomeration of old ideas and old styles that ultimately result in a creatively stifled society. Those that do attempt some measure of creative growth are labeled "freaks" or "weirdos" by our hopelessly conforming social hierarchy.

What then can we do to rid ourselves of the menace of a past that refuses to die? It would be simple to say "change! create! innovate! But life doesn't work that way, at least not life in the patchwork 80's. For now lets just be satisfied to recognize the problem. Consciousness is the key to the cure. Perhaps being just a little more reflective about the simple tasks of day to day social existence could stimulate originality and creativity, enableing us to leave the mark of a proud generation upon history rather than the scattered fragments of the past which we now so desperately and tenaciously cling to.

Stephen T. Jordan is a UMass student and disillusioned child of the 80s

Stephen Jordan

A very sick punchline

Question: What did the UMie do when he won a gold medal?
— He had it bronzed.

When my roommate, Pam, and I first heard that joke, we gasped frantically for oxygen and laughed until our stomachs hurt. Here's another one:

Question: Why do ghosts go to bars?
— For the boos!

We thought that one was pretty droll, too. Granted, these riddles could probably be understood and enjoyed by the average second graders, but Pam and I were never terribly discriminating when it came to humor. We'll chuckle over any comedian/comedienne, from Joan Rivers to Monty Python. We just love to laugh.

Being so appreciative of comedy, I've been wondering why a certain "joke" went over my head at a recent frat party. It was around 11:15, and I'd been talking with a friend of mine, a brother at this particular house, when I suddenly needed to reach a bathroom — fast.

All of a sudden, I'd become nauseous, irrational, and uncoordinated, but I wasn't drunk. Like most college students, I've admittedly been acquainted with that condition, and this wasn't it. I'd only had 2½ glasses of wine, and my stomach never gave me its "warning gurgle", which accompanies one drink too many. Drunkenness doesn't usually completely overcome someone within thirty seconds, and if they sit down for awhile, it becomes slightly milder, enabling them to get home, and into bed in one piece.

But my "inebriation" continued for several hours. At quarter of two, I was still being helped into the bathroom, and lying semi-conscious in my friend's easy chair, unable to keep track of time, or what was going on around me. People would inexplicably appear, then disappear. I'd look at the clock, then look back, and twenty minutes would have passed between glances. At two a.m., not really well enough to be moved, I was finally taken home, still stumbling and sick to my stomach. And I was still not lucid enough to realize what someone at that party had already known: something — probably a quaalude — had been slipped into my drink.

The physical fallout was an interminable, muddled nightmare. The next morning wasn't much better; aside from nursing the classic hangover symptoms of nausea and a headache, I dealt with dizziness and uncharacteristic crying jags. And although that Saturday wasn't one of my finer days, the drug seemed to be out of my system by nine o'clock, that night.

I've had plenty of time, since then, to think about the incident, and what I still can't understand is why it was supposed to be so funny. I certainly didn't do too much laughing while being violently ill over an urine-stained toilet in a frat house, and I doubt it would be presumptuous to say that most women would have shared my feelings.

It couldn't have been that fun for the frat men, either. The friend who took care of me missed most of the party, on my account. I've discounted the argument that someone may have pulled this stunt in the interest of romance. How many men are honestly attracted to women with fresh vomit in their mouths? How intimate can you become with someone who's locked in a bathroom stall for fifteen minute long stretches?

The worst part of the episode has been its aftermath. Maybe I was foolish to think I could safely put down, and then pick up my wine and drink it. Not anymore; I'll go the BYOB route, and watch my glass like a hawk. And, although it isn't pleasant to admit it, I've become more wary of people; fraternity men, in particular. Maybe it's a stereotype, but the experience did a fine job of reinforcing it.

Question: Why did someone violate my body by putting chemicals in my bloodstream, without my knowledge or consent?

I really haven't figured it out yet. Sorry, guys, but I guess I missed the punchline.

Elizabeth Luciano is a Collegian columnist

Elizabeth Luciano

Correction

Yesterday on the Opinion/Editorial page, it was erroneously reported that the campus-wide smoke-out was taking place on Tuesday, May 19th. In reality the smoke-out is occuring today, with a table on the Campus Center Concourse. We regret any inconvenience this may have caused the organizers of the event.

Letters

Women's advocate requests support

To the Editor:

I wish to address two issues raised in the Collegian's April 15, 1983 article concerning the University's attempt to dismiss me from my job at Everywoman's Center.

Jim Coopee, associate personnel director, is quoted as saying that according to University policy, only "full-time permanent employees must be given six months' notice" and, further on, that "02s do not fall into that category." Coopee also maintains that the orange booklet entitled Professional Non-Academic Employment at the University specifically states that the six months' notice "does not apply to 02 employees."

Would Coopee please clarify this policy so that the hundreds of UMass non-unionized employees in this category are clear as to what the policy is? And would he be kind enough to point out where the orange booklet "specifically states" that six months' notice "does not apply to 02 employees?"

The second important point in the article concerned the Chancellor's letter that has gone out to several hundred people to continue the advocacy work around survival issues that is vital to both campus and community women.

The Chancellor stresses that the University feels that the commitment to "economically disadvantaged" women can best be met through admissions work, that poor women, through support groups formed at Everywoman's Center, can themselves "successfully negotiate the bureaucracy of the various social service agencies," and that the Coordinator will "assist the support groups in their efforts to advocate for social, political and economic change in our society."

The Chancellor, probably unknowingly, has brought the crux of the present conflict to center stage. At issue here is not whether I am really doing my job but whether the University administration, in its infinite classist, racist and sexist wisdom, can mandate how a whole class of people, mainly women, ought to cope with their opression. Not only is the University unwilling to commit more than token resources to the needs of poor women but it wants to decide how those resources will be used.

The University, as an institution, is no less guilty than the rest of us in the perpetuation of this system. For example, while it is taking a stand against young men being required to register for the draft as a pre-requisite for financial aid, the silence is deafening over the issue of workfare which has forced AFDC women to drop out of school and go to work. This silence makes the expressed commitment of the Chancellor to the welfare of poor women seem a little shallow.

Perhaps AFDC women do not see EWC-sponsored support groups as the most desirable vehicle for advocacy and change. A number of them have chosen other avenues. Moreover, members of the Poor Women's Task Force have consistently stated, in a variety of forums, that once admitted to school, having a welfare advocate available to them is essential to their staying here.

The solution to this conflict requires the following actions: (1) the funding of another position with the focus on educational outreach and access, (2) my reappointment and update of my job description with the focus on advocacy and (3) the creation of a Community Advisory Board to assist the Center in setting responsible policy.

Mary L. Wentworth
Coordinator
Poor Women's Task Force

Jonathan Edwards
Bev Rohler Band
& Blues with
Paul Risheil
Wed. May 4th
at Hangar One
benefit for Paralysis
Cure Research
advance tix $6.
Wed-Fri on concourse
for more info call
549-5984

Baseballs &
Baseball Gloves
at
A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

NOW
INTERVIEWING
ON CAMPUS

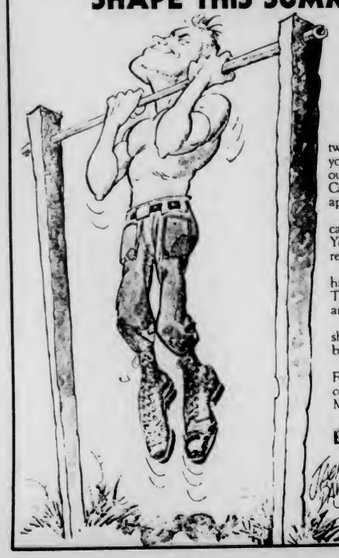
We are now accepting applications for management positions in:
- ELECTRONICS
- ENGINEERING
- INVENTORY CONTROL
- PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION
- SYSTEMS ANALYSIS

Applicants should be no older than 34 years old, have a BS/BA degree (summer graduates may inquire), be able to pass aptitude and physical examinations and qualify for security clearance. U.S. citizenship required.

To make an appointment, call the Naval Management Programs Office at:
(203) 528-9988
Or sign up at the Career Placement Office prior to: April 20, 1983

WE'LL PAY YOU TO GET INTO SHAPE THIS SUMMER.



If you have at least two years of college left, you can spend six weeks at our Army ROTC Basic Camp this summer and earn approximately $600.
And if you qualify, you can enter the ROTC 2-Year Program this fall and receive up to $1,000 a year.
But the big payoff happens on graduation day. That's when you receive an officer's commission.
So get your body in shape (not to mention your bank account).
Enroll in Army ROTC. For more information, contact your Professor of Military Science.
ARMY ROTC.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
Contact:
James C. Mahoney
546-2321/2322

La Cucina di
PINOCCHIO
1177 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass.
549-3669
OPEN WEEKDAYS 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
SUNDAYS 4 p.m.-2 a.m.

PIZZAS	SMALL	LARGE
Cheese	$3.75	$ 5.75
Onion	4.25	6.25
Sausage	4.50	6.75
Fresh Cut Peppers	4.50	6.75
Hamburg	4.50	6.75
Canadian Bacon	4.50	6.75
Anchovies	4.50	6.75
Pepperoni	4.50	6.75
Ham	4.50	6.75
Fresh Sliced Mushrooms	4.50	6.75
Salami	4.50	6.75
2 Combo	5.25	7.75
3 Combo	6.00	8.75
4 Combo	6.75	9.75
Pinocchio's Special	9.00	15.00

SUBS	SMALL	LARGE
Italian	$2.25	$3.50
Steak & Cheese	2.50	3.75
Pepper Steak	2.50	3.75
Mushroom & Steak	2.50	3.75
Onion & Steak	2.50	3.75
Roast Beef	2.50	3.75
Turkey	2.30	3.55
Tuna	2.50	3.75
Eggplant	2.50	3.75
Pastrami	2.25	3.50
Pepperoni	2.25	3.50
Sausage	2.25	3.50
Meatball	2.25	3.50
Salami & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Ham & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Cheese	2.00	3.00

POCKET SANDWICHES
Italian	$3.00
Steak & Cheese	3.25
Pepper Steak	3.25
Mushroom & Steak	3.25
Onion & Steak	3.25
Roast Beef	3.25
Turkey	3.05
Tuna	3.25
Eggplant	3.25
Pastrami	3.00
Pepperoni	3.00
Meatball	3.00
Salami & Cheese	3.00
Ham & Cheese	3.00
Cheese	2.50

SALADS
Tossed	$1.95
Chef's	$2.50

BEVERAGES
Cider	$ .60
Espresso	.75
Cappuccino	1.00
Hot Chocolate	.60
Milk	.50
Chocolate Milk	.50
Beer (12 oz. cup)	.65
(pitcher)
Soda	.55

FAST FREE DELIVERY
549-3669
Limited delivery area. $3.50 minimum of delivery orders. Thank you.
Plus 5% Mass. Meal Tax

Black Affairs

Ron Karenga addressed Chicago election at Smith

By TRACY ROBBINS
Collegian Staff

Dr. Maulana Karenga, creator of the Nguzo Saba and Kwanza, a nationally celebrated holiday, spoke Sunday night at Smith College.

Dr. Karenga is currently the Executive Director of the Institute of Pan-African Studies, Los Angeles and has taught Black Studies and social change in various colleges and universities across the country.

The speech outlined by Dr. Karenga's were thoughts on the recent mayoral race in Chicago and his thoughts about the upcoming presidential campaigns.

Black's have found new power in voting strength, they finally realized that they could vote," he said.

"Politics and power are dialectically linked, poor people don't make laws, they have no economic capacity."

"Economic capacity buys politicians, and even if you can't buy them, you can rent them for as long as you like," he said.

"You can organize the community into structured activity, and possession of critical knowledge will in fact rule the world."

Karenga spoke of the coercive capacity of the ruling class as manipulating the law into the right and will of that class.

"With the power of the gun you can make people see your point," he said. "The ruling class gives you an offer you can't refuse."

"The ruling ideas of any time are the ideas of the ruling class," he said, "when people say they are taking care of business, they are imitating the paradigm of the bourgeoise society, the businessmen."

These views were all in relation to the political impact of Harold Washington's mayoral campaign on the political outlook of majority thought. Washington's success has been analyzed and debated because of the racial implications involved Karenga said.

"Because race was so important, Washington had to deal with it. He dealt not only with Epton, but with American society," Karenga said.

With the historical significance of Washington's success, Karenga said that black's had run a race conscious campaign and won even with the possible opposition of the white vote.

"The media said not to make this election a racial issue, yet everytime you turn around race had surfaced, race is what they hammered in," he said.

"Harold Washington's criminal background was questioned, making 'black crime' an insurmountable issue. Studies tried to indicate that crime is a genetic among Blacks. There is no such thing as black crime, that is a political term, indicative of social thought," he said.

"Why does Harold Washington have to prove himself, Nixon was pardoned before he was indicated."

"Not only do Blacks have the right to exist and be free, but they have the responsibility to exist and be free," he said.

Dr. Karenga, political activist and originator of Kwanza spoke last Sunday night at Smith College.

Communication is the key word

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Even though the weather was not at all favorable we met to voice the concerns and issues that have arisen and are affecting our relationship with one another.

Throughout the time I spent listening to the different views, opinions and issues that were mentioned, one question never left my mind: Why do we insist on making each other's lives difficult when in fact we are constantly attacked by others? Why don't we come together as "Brothers" and "Sisters" and try to improve our self-image?

One thing I hope people remembered is that of reaching one another. Walking around campus one might see many members of our community and neglect to open ourselves with at least lines of salutation. Communication is the key to our unification.

We are brothers! We need one another to expand our worlds. We hang around together because we feel at ease with each other. It is foolish not to think of one another as brothers when we don't have anybody else that will support us.

We are each other's brother's and sisters!When a group of Third World people meet we become family. Families try to see their offspring follow a good path, and the administrators and faculty struggle to see its "children" do the same.

Among other things, also discussed was the lack of respect we have for our brothers and sisters. When we lose respect for our brothers, we lose respect for ourselves.

Announcements

The voice of Faith of Mount Holyoke College and Mark Elliot Productions will present a "Gong Show" this Friday evening, April 22, at 8:00 p.m. in Chapin Auditorium.

The show will feature a variety of acts and will be judged by faculty members of the five-college community. Following the gong show there will be music provided by the Joe Sallins group, a funk-jazz act from Springfield.

After the band there will be a party at the Betty Shabazz House and the donation for the entire evening will be $3.00. The final audition for the gong show will be held tonight (Wed. Apr. 20) at 7:00 p.m. until 11:00 p.m. at the Betty Shabazz House.

The Third World Caucus of the Student Government Association will hold its weekly meeting on Wednesday, April 20 at 6 p.m. in Room 162 of the Campus Center. Featured guest will be Ernest Allen, Chair of the W.E.B. DuBois Dept. of Afro-American Studies. Guests are welcome and it all begins at 6:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in forming a University of Massachusetts Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, there will be an organizational meeting on April 27 at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of Crampton House. For information call Renee Payne or Joyce Sumpter at 546-9885.

African Bambaatan and Soulsonic Force will be playing before Evelyn King this week at the Fine Arts Center. With their top-ten hit "Planet Rock" from last summer, Soulsonic Force should be an exciting warm-up act.

Notes from the editor's desk

By GUS MARTINS
Collegian Staff

We met last night and aired some dirty laundry. We also came to some agreements on what our problems are, and we even made some suggestions on how to solve them.

One main point that we arrived at, is the lack of respect we show toward one another. Also we mentioned how we fail to communicate with one another concerning very trivial matters. Someone even mentioned that we restrict ourselves in so many ways that even the usual obstacles are blames.

We may differ in so many ways; we speak different languages, eat different foods, come from different locations, and share some differing values, yet our similarities are absolute.

No matter how different and individualistic we think we are, we are the same. Our existence in the societies of the West have been marked by amazing similarities.

We've been divided and despised to the point of where we find it easy to do it to ourselves. What we must ask ourselves is will we allow it to continue? If we do then those forces in opposition to our very being, will not think twice about what they are doing.

Many of us come from communities where violence is a way of life. While we don't condone this type of behavior, we generally feel helpless in doing anything about it.

Without knowing the full cause of the problem, we know that something is intrinsically wrong. We are not ready to accept that things are like they are because of some inherent problems in our race, for which there are no answers. We are much smarter than that and that is precisely why we are here.

One gentleman said that we don't know how fortunate we are. We are among, if not the most educated Third World people in this world. We come here rather selectively, if not handpicked from our communities. That says something in itself.

We all have something to offer one another. Someday we may all have something to offer to our communities, and possibly the world. This world is in serious need of solutions, we may hold the cards in that respect.

If we can start by solving our internal problems, we'll be better suited to deal with the external ones. Things take time, nothing moves so swiftly, and we'd be deceiving ourselves if we thought they did.

We are in the position to do so many things. Why limit ourselves. Let us get away from the negatives that will invariably set limitations.

We are here because we belong, and we'll only achieve, with the strength and support from one another. Without that support that road to success will seem impossible.

Maya Angelou said last January at Mount Holyoke College that we have endured because we all share the "power of the legacy." Let's keep that legacy intact, and make it something we can be proud of.

Latin American Week
April 19 - 30
Dedicated to the Latin American Women

Explore Careers in Performing Arts

Wednesday, April 20, 1983
Campus Center, Rm 169 from 7-9:30 pm
with
Judith Allen, Director of Programming
University of Massachusetts
Fine Arts Center, Amherst
Jeffrey Struckman,
Set Designer and Costume Designer
Stage West, West Springfield
David Sporney,
Jazz Musician and Professor of Music
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
and
Barbara Schaeffer Bacon,
Arts Resource Coordinator, AES

TOPICS: A general overview of each career, including setting, skills needed, kinds of positions, and resources for job information.

Next Workshops: Careers in the Literary Arts and Careers in the Visual Arts.

TO REGISTER, CALL AES 545-2360.

Sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council.

SUPERIOR PIZZERIA

Have the pizza or grinder your way
Have them in our place or have them delivered

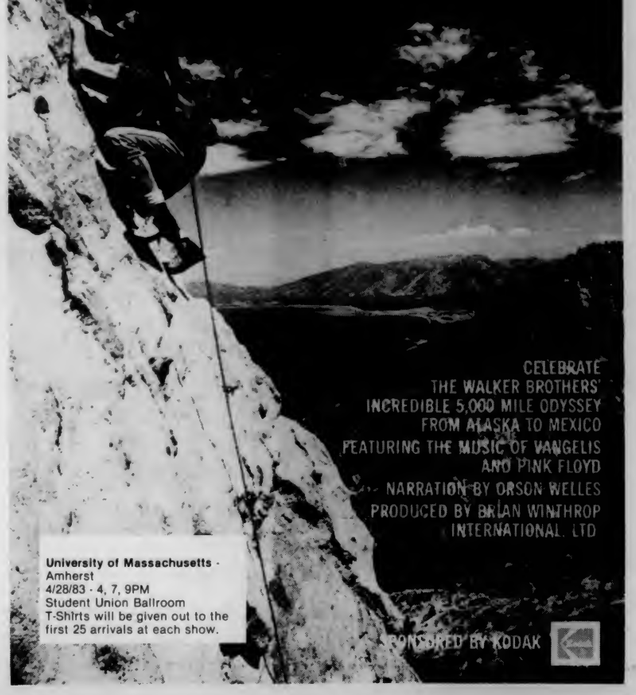
FAST FREE DELIVERY

* we feature a large variety of grinders, steak grinders, dinners & salads *

17 Montague Rd
next to the N Amherst Post Office
549-0626

Open
11 A.M.-?
Delivery 5 P.M.-?

EARTHWALK
A Breathtaking Multimedia Event



University of Massachusetts - Amherst
4/28/83 - 4, 7, 9PM
Student Union Ballroom
T-Shirts will be given out to the first 25 arrivals at each show.

CREATIVE T-SHIRTS
NOW OPENING
HAMPSHIRE MALL
Custom Printing and Lettering
Shirts for all sporting events
Fashion Tops, Baseball Hats
Quantity Discounts
586-9205

WANTED
Student Organization to Rent Refrigerators On Campus
Big money making opportunity
Call Mrs. Masters
Person to Person; Collect
(212) 371-3500

WEDNESDAY
PUB MUG NIGHT
Music By
AL STONER
DISCO-ROCK
35¢ PUB MUGS
9 pm - 1 am no cover
THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

Arts

The bluegrass blooms

WMUA COUNTRY, BLUES & BLUEGRASS FESTIVAL
Sunday, April 17
Hangar One

By JAKE GARRELS
Collegian Correspondent

Celebrating its fifth anniversary, the annual WMUA Country, Blues and Bluegrass Benefit, held this year on Sunday, April 17, at the Hangar One, was once again an unqualified success. Representing the entire spectrum of American music styles as well as music from outside the U.S., this year's festival kicked off shortly after one p.m. and didn't let up until nearly two a.m. the next morning.

The first and longest segment of the extravaganza focused upon the more traditional artists, ranging from the vaudevillian entertainment of the opening act, J.D. Smith, to the lively jigs and melodies of Ireland's own Irish Tradition. Especially well received were local country singer Nick Plakias and ragtime guitarist Bill Busteed, both exuding droll anecdotal humor and technical virtuosity. The rest of the traditional performers, Boston's fine Latin American quintet, Huellas, Washington's gifted Double Decker String Band and Massachusetts' hot bluegrass quartet, Company Creek, were of comparable quality.

The evening then shifted to a more progressive emphasis, introducing a number of highly talented national acts to valley audiences. Commencing this genre was a surprising performance by the unknown String Fling, whose unique brand of innovative country music primed the crowd for the superb Wild Turkey Jazz Band (which should more accurately have been included among the traditional performances) and local favorites, Borderline, a sadly overlooked but capable area band.

Undoubtedly, however, the top of this class and clear audience favorite was Cowboy Jazz. Formed in 1979, the Maryland based sextet specializes in 1930's and 40's Swing Era standards, to which they have added exciting contemporary arrangements. Featuring the precise vocal harmonies of guitarist Kate Bennet, violinist Denise Carlson, and pianist Deanna Bogart, they soon packed the dance floor with their contagious fun spirit. Their exit, after a high paced fifty minute set, produced loud and repeated demands for an encore.

Yet perhaps no one could have been prepared for the next act, one which at this writing still annihilates all my attempts at classification. Indeed, Nevard and the Barrelhouse Boys, conceived of an evil concoction of blues, R&B, rockabilly, mambo, cajun, (add a healthy dose of Dr. Demento), created an utterly new musical idiom: junk rock. Led by Nevard Tellalian, the "First of the White Hot Mamas," this no-holds-barred combo worked the audience into a hedonistic frenzy with the frontwoman's screeching Joplin-esque vocals and lowdown saxaphone of Mark Dark — a dead ringer for U.S. Secretary of the Interior, James Watt.

Somewhat drained by the frenetic hour long set of the Barrelhouse Boys, the audience seemed content to settle into the final portion of the festival, a full three hours of blues which spanned Amherst bluesman Vast Ed Vadas to guitar hero Maestro Saunders and his Kings of Rhythm (alias Evening ProBlusica), to the undisputed master of the show: the incomparable Jimmy Johnson. Apparently determined to silence critics apt to dismiss blues as "predictable," the veteran guitarist-singer takes his music one step further, refusing to rely on cliches, rigid twelve bar structures and time honored rhythms. Remarkably, this frequent experimentation does nothing to diminish the raw passion and feeling which epitomizes the blues.

Collegian photo by Drew [illegible]

Guitarist Jimmy Jonson epitomized the raw passion of the blues Sunday night at the 5th annual WMUA Country, Blues & Bluegrass Festival.

The shirt off my back

FRANCIS J. HUDSON
MFA EXHIBIT
April 17-22
Herter Gallery, Herter Hall

By FRED STEINWAY
Collegian Correspondent

If you like Hawaiian shirts you'll love this show.

Francis J. Hudson's MFA exhibit opened at the Herter Gallery Sunday. Hudson, who is a teaching associate in Fine Arts at UMass, is on a two-year scholarship from the Exeter College of Art and Design in England.

Hudson's work shows a concern for rhythm and momentum that is almost musical. The paintings on display at Herter display an interest in color, emblem, and form composition.

"Alison's Dress" does for fashion what Picasso did for faces. This work is on several canvas strips glued together. The star pattern refracts off a necktie in an almost cubist manner. At the top of the composition, a series of ridges like the awnings on a vegetable stand edges into twilight blue.

Hudson's work is about layering and seriality. The serial repetition of purple dolphins in "Boston Aquarium" may share a vocabulary used by Warhol, but Hudson's work speaks with a voice of its own. In a similar way, the emblems of scallop and seastar along the top of this painting may share something with the work of Robert Indiana and Marsden Hartley. Hudson's compositional eye shines in the harlequin pattern border and deep indigo edge above, and gold and tan waveform below the sea emblem lintel. Purple bubbles flow along the sides of the work.

The arrow, the star and the lattice are some of Hudson's more outstanding motifs. "Arrow #2" looks like a picket fence onthe 4th of July. This construction, painted on formica, suggests the best thing about America is its flag. Stars and a checkerboard pattern are stamped on the arrow. The arrow is mounted on a lattice. The exhibition's "arrow's" communicate energy and vector.

At first glance, Hudson appears stronger in the simpler compositions, such as "Shirt Sign." This work, with its balance of shape and color and freedom of stroke, radiates a bold and joyous spontaneity. A red-lined directional arrow appears at the bottom and serial stars rush across the top. In the center a blue and white striped shirt rests soothingly on a light blue background. This shirt is reflected in another shirt image above and behind it in darker green, layered by rows of purple stars.

But the strongest work in this showing is the more active, layered "Disney World II." This painting stands up well to prolonged and close scrutiny as more and more cross-rhythms emerge. In the upper left corner, "Disney World's" white towers are X-ed out. Centrally, a tropical scene with banana leaves and a palm tree outline are layered-over with a red script. Blue flamingoes march across the view. With its layered construction, humor and artistic reflection of American culture Hudson's work would exhibit well accompanied to the music of Charles Ives.

Hudson's constructions "Florida Shirt" and "New England Shirt" have also at a recent Hampden Gallery show. "New England Shirt" may give some fashion designer a hot concept: replace tiki and flamingo prints with an apple and the maple-leaf design and you have the Northeast's answer to the hawaiian shirt!

Beyond the tie-dyed 'T': artist Francis Hudson copies a pattern onto a shirt.

The 1982 Index is in 103 C.C.
Mon-Fri 2:30 - 4:00
The cost is only $5.
We also have 1980 & 1981

Northeast Area Government ELECTIONS
President, Vice President,
Treasurer, Secretary
Nomination Papers Available from 109 Mary Lyon
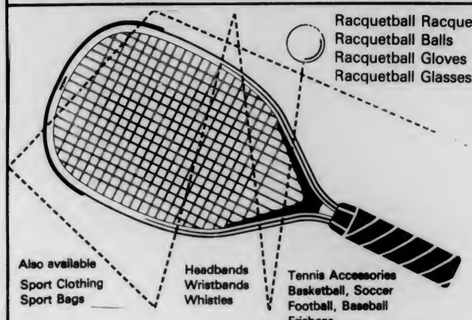
DUE APRIL 25
Elections May 4th and 5th
Questions: call Doris 6-4808

SPORT EQUIPMENT



Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

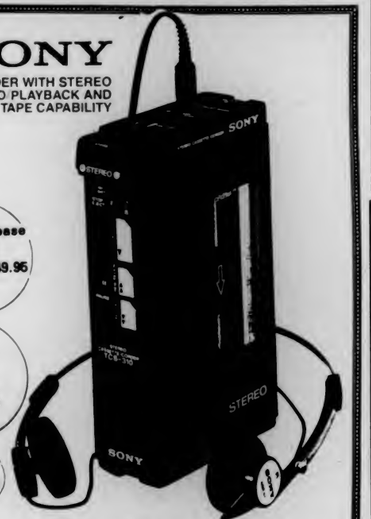
Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees,
Swimming Accessories

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

SONY
CASSETTE-CORDER WITH STEREO RECORD PLAYBACK AND METAL TAPE CAPABILITY



Price Decrease
93.95
list price 149.95

SAVE
$56.00
off of list

model
TCS310

quantities limited

With truly portable stereo recording and playback capabilities, the lightweight, pocket-size TCS-310 creates a new standard in portable cassette entertainment. Thanks to featherweight, micro-size stereo headphones you get sensational stereo playback. And a built-in speaker also provides crystal-clear mono listening. Also featured are large, easy-to-use control buttons and metal tape playback capability. This smooth, precise and very compact cassette-corder offers truly amazing performance.

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Hypercurricula...

BDIC INFORMATIONAL MEETING — Explanation of the Bachelor's Degree with Individual Concentration (BDIC) Program, a degree granting program which allows a student the opportunity to design their own major, 7 p.m., Moore House.

CAREERS IN THE PERFORMING ARTS — Topics include: General overview, kinds of positions, settings skills needed, and job resources. Workshop sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council. To register: call AES, 545-2360. 7-9:30 p.m., Room 169, Campus Center.

IF YOU LOVE THIS PLANET — Academy Award winning film which depicts the effects of nuclear war and the capabilities of the U.S. and U.S.S.R. Co-sponsored by UMass Peacemakers and Students Against Militarism. Everyone welcome. Discussion follows, 7:30 p.m., CC 165.

WHEELER GALLERY OPENING RECEPTION — "Expressions" — a women's art exhibit, 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m., Wheeler B7.

MURRAY BOOKCHIN — (Lecture Discussion) — Murray Bookchin will speak on the issue of growing totalitarianism along with an explanation for the meaning of ecology. Murray is an anarchist and a pioneer of the social ecology movement, 7:30 p.m., Cape Cod Lounge.

PARTY FOR A FUNDRAISER — J.A. & Coolidge dormitories are sponsoring a party at Hangar One. Two for one drinks from 8:00-10:30. Proceeds from Coolidge will go to Tri-County Youth and Foster Child, 8 p.m., Hangar One.

SPANISH CLUB MEETING — Refreshments will be served. New members welcome, 8 p.m., Herter 3rd floor lounge.

"JEWISH MOTIFS IN 19th CENTURY POLISH PAINTING" — Slide lecture — open to all, 8 p.m., Herter 231.

AL-ANON — "The UMass Al-Anon meeting has been moved from the Campus Center to the Baptist Church across from the Newman Center, 8 to 9:30 p.m., Baptist Church, parking lot entrance.

AN EVENING DEVOTED TO NIKOS KAZANTZAKIS will be presented by the Hellenic Student Association. The event will include a music, literary and slide presentation. Refreshments will be served, 8-10 p.m., CC 904-8.

"RELIGIONLESS CHRISTIANITY — BONHOEFFER" is today's topic for theological discussion at Brown Bag Theology, facilitated by Rev. Phil Ward. All are welcome, 12:15-1:15 p.m., 428 Student Union.

25 PLUS CLUB DISCUSSION — Meet other older students in the relaxing atmosphere of the Faculty Club, located behind Morrill Hall. Discussion "The special needs of the non-traditional student," 4 p.m., Faculty Club.

"ARE DEVELOPMENT GROUPS REALLY AIDING?" is the UMass Hunger Task Force topic for discussion facilitated by Mary Kate Small. All are welcome. 4 p.m., 428 Student Union.

UMASS AMATEUR RADIO ASSOCIATION MEETING — Anyone interested in ham radio is welcome. Upcoming contests will be discussed. Check Campus Center schedule for room number, 4:30 p.m. Campus Center.

FREE MOVIE — The Graduate, starring Dustin Hoffman, will be shown on the hill behind Field. This event is in conjunction with Bowl Week. Rain location: Webster. At dusk, behind Field Dorm.

STUDENTS AGAINST MILITARISM/PEACEMAKERS MEETING — Please join us in disarmament and peace work. Meeting will be followed by a showing of "If You Love This Planet," 6 p.m., CC 165.

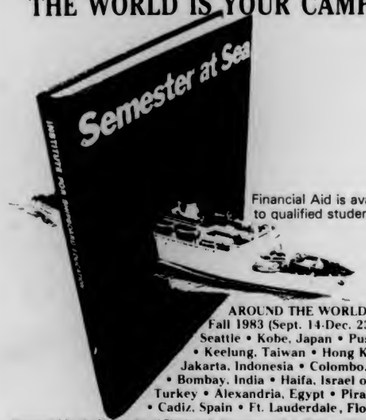
CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST — "Does God Exist?" Come to a free lecture, bring yourself and a friend. Open to everyone, come and share in the discussion afterwards, 6:30 p.m., SBA 109.

INVESTMENT CLUB MEETING — There will be a general meeting to discuss the club's portfolio and the current proposals. New members are welcome, 7 p.m., SBA 107.

MINORITIES IN TODAY'S LABOR MOVEMENT — Jose LaLuz, organizer for the Connecticut State Federation of Teachers, President of the Hispanic Workers Alliance, will speak on 'Minorities in the Labor Movement Today', 7 p.m. Campus Center 803.

CHESS CLUB MEETING — General meeting. Games will follow. All are welcome, 7 p.m., CC Room 917.

THE WORLD IS YOUR CAMPUS

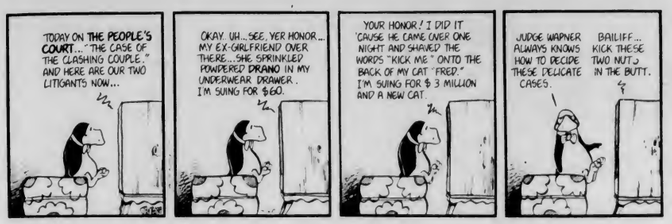


Financial Aid is available to qualified students

AROUND THE WORLD:
Fall 1983 (Sept. 14-Dec. 23)
Seattle • Kobe, Japan • Pusan, Korea • Keelung, Taiwan • Hong Kong • Jakarta, Indonesia • Colombo, Sri Lanka • Bombay, India • Haifa, Israel or Istanbul, Turkey • Alexandria, Egypt • Piraeus, Greece • Cadiz, Spain • Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh. Semester at Sea offers students a superior full semester academic program and supporting field experiences. This one semester experience is available to qualified students from all accredited colleges and universities.
More than 60 voyage related university courses. Faculty drawn from the University of Pittsburgh and other leading universities, augmented by visiting area experts.
Optional tours, including special tours into the People's Republic of China, available.
Semester at Sea admits students without regard to color, race or creed. The S.S. Universe is fully air-conditioned, 18,000 tons, registered in Liberia and built in America.
For a free color brochure, write: Semester at Sea, UCIS, University of Pittsburgh, Forbes Quadrangle, Pittsburgh, PA 15260, or call toll free (800) 854-0195 (in California call (714) 771-6590).

Bloom County — By Berke Breathed



The UMass Zone — By Mark Rollins

Katfood — By ARK

Scrod — By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall — By R. Miller

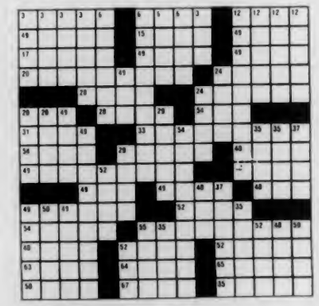
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

©1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 — Major, Dog Star location
6 Small structure
10 Measure for a chel
14 Unaided
15 North or South
16 Ancient Germanic ruler
17 Violinist Isaac
18 Heavenly bodies
19 Manner of movement
20 Duffer's dream
22 Street, aide to Perry Mason
23 Sound of discomfort
24 Norman Vincent and family
25 Spring runner
28 Grid figures
30 Table scrap
31 Lab material
33 Opposites of favorites
38 Farm building
39 Weather word
40 Mixture
41 Expletive evoking The Bible
43 Coagulates
44 — Bravo
45 Chink
48 — Paulo
49 To a certain degree
52 Role of wire
54 Toddies for a tar
55 Gilt wrap, Oriental style
60 — show
61 Bye, bye, in Britain
62 Threefold
63 River boundary between Germany and Poland
64 "I don't mind ——"
65 Having a rounded form
66 Temperance opponents
67 Sun or moon follower
68 Comforted

DOWN
1 Partner of carry
2 Choir member
3 Word at Christmastide
4 Against a thing, in law
5 High ranking person
6 Cooking measures
7 Cape ——
8 River into the North Sea
9 —— Moines
10 Law of the jungle
11 To any degree
12 Step in a waltz
13 —— a poker
21 Word of refusal
22 Earl —— Biggers
24 Puccini's Rodolfo, for one
25 Decorative garment
26 Exchange premium
27 Become insipid
29 Sign of scorn
32 Cowboy of fame
34 Dry out
35 Corrida sounds
36 Large lizard
37 Just passable
39 Fire residue
42 Junior ——
46 "Leads against the ——"
47 Walk stealthily
49 Shining
50 Common Market function
51 Musical number
53 Insect stage
55 Famous physicist
56 —— a far, far
57 Lindstrom of the news, et al
58 Grafted, in heraldry
59 Wind instrument
61 Sailor



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

B	L	O	B		A	D	I	O	M		U	H	A	W
B	R	A	K	E		R	E	A	L	M		E	W	E
S	E	M	I	T	E		A	R	E	A		T	E	A
		P	O	I	N	T		S	T	R	I	K	E	S
P	I	C	O		R	A	T		C	H	I	L	I
H	A	L	O		E	L	A	N		A	D	O
A	P	E		E	N	A	C	T		O	D	I	N
S	T	O	P		O	N	T	I	C		S	O	U	S
E	N	S	U	E	D		S	C	U	M
		P	A	I	S	L	E		C	O	O	L
A	N	T	I	P	O	D	E		M	U	S	I	C	A
S	L	O	W		E	A	G	L	E		S	I	R	E
H	A	W	N		B	L	U	E	S		S	P	A	S

WEATHER

Today partly cloudy with chance of rain possibly heavy at times. Highs in the upper 30s with light winds.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Deli Beef Sandwich
Eggs Lamancha

BASICS LUNCH
Green Bean Strata
Swiss and Sprout Sandwich

DINNER
Baked Ham/Orange Glaze
Meatball Grinder
Antipasto Cold Plate with saltines

BASICS DINNER
Baked Cod with lemon slice
Eggplant Parmigiana
Grinder Roll
Vegetable Antipasto with crackers

Five-College Students

The Collegian wants to hear what's happening at your school. We need writers to cover news and human interest stories at Amherst College, Hampshire, Smith and Mount Holyoke Colleges. No pay but great experience and the chance to write for one of the finest college newspapers.

If interested, please contact Tami Borton or John DiPalazzo at the Collegian, 545-3500, weekday afternoons.

Wacko.

If you're a senior and have the promise of a $10,000 career-oriented job, American Express would like to offer you the American Express® Card.

What are we?

Crazy?

No, confident. Confident of your future. But even more than that. We're confident of your now. And we're proving it.

A $10,000 job promise. That's it. No strings. No gimmicks. And this offer is even good for 12 months after you graduate.

But why should you get the American Express Card now?

Well, if you're planning a trip across country or around the world, the American Express Card is a real help. Use plane tickets with it. Then use it for hotels and restaurants all over the world. And, if you should need any help while you're on tour, just go to any American Express Travel Service Office® wherever you are—and they'll help out.

Of course, the Card also helps you establish your credit history. And it's great for restaurants and shopping right at home.

So fill in the coupon below, and American Express will send you a Special Student Application right away, along with a free handbook that has everything you need to know about credit. Or just look for an application at your college bookstore or on campus bulletin boards.

The American Express Card. Don't leave school without it.℠

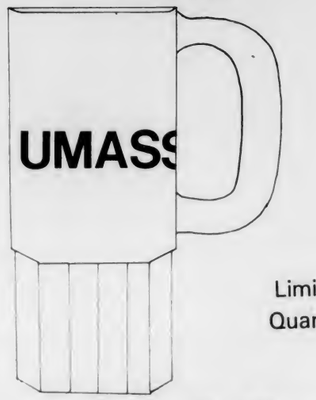
Please send me a Special Student Application for the American Express® Card and the free Credit Handbook.
Mail this coupon to:
American Express Travel Related Services Co., Inc.
P.O. Box 222, Church Street Station
New York, New York 10046

Name
Home Address
City State Zip
College or University

© American Express Company, 1982

SPECIAL VALUE

$1.50



Limited Quantity

UMass Plastic 12 oz. Tankard

Blue - Red - Green

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

$7.98 List $19.95

The Baseball Catalog

$5.98

Black Beauty

$9.98

Blue and the Grey

$12.98

Maxfield Parish

$7.98

War and Peace

$12.98

Family Cookbook

$5.98 List $11.95

Barns

$3.98 List $16.50

The Hotel New Hampshire

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

Valiant-wagon sient six runs good $200 -Tom 586-3401

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7822

EMERGENCY MEDICAL TECHNICIANS

Continuing education seminar: "The EMT's Role in Critcal Care Transfers." Speaker: Robert Carl, REMT-Paramedic. Thursday, April 21 6:30 PM sharp. Cooley Dickenson Hospital Northampton (McCallum Bldg) submitted to OEMS for 3 CEU's. Sponsored by the Five College Chapter of MAEMT.

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Disciockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Semis, Greeks. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FEMALES STOP SMOKING!

Female, smokers. Short term therapy to promote cessation of smoking in comfortable, productive way. Sliding fee scale Pyschological Services center, UMass 545-0041

FOR RENT

1 bedrm Puffton apt. for rent; avail. June 1. Call Jesse: 546-2707, 549-5915

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse available May 31st Mayflower Apts 175/mo plus utilities on bus route. 256-0561

Clean 2 bedroom Southwood apt. summer sublet w/fall option. 256-8657

Houses - June - Aug plus fall option, 4 bedrooms $485-500 in Northempton. 5 bed in Hadley $600 plus, for summer only. Call after 3:30 pm. Skibiski Realtors Northempton 584-3428

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

Four 21st row seats for Alabama 4/22 Hartford best offer 6-4459

Grateful Dead: April 22 New Haven; ticket and bus $28.00 545-0500

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Meny hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

FOUND

Down Vest in Herter 231 on Fri April 8 at 3:30 pm call 253-2146 to identify after 5 keep trying Found silver ring by Morrill on 4/14. Call 546-6939. Give description and it's yours.

HELP WANTED

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

Sales/Marketing Campus Rep. position for student. Working on promotion & sales of BEER Products. Part time. Flexible hours. Benefits. Lori 1-800-232-1904

Counselors private co-ed camp in Berkshires has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Arts & Crafts, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, dramatics, music director/piano accompanist, video/filmmaking, photography, model rocketry, radio station (AM), computers, waterfront (WSI), and sailing. Also needed: general bunk counselors (male openings only) and unit leaders. Good salaries - friendly atmosphere. Contact: Dr. Paul Krouner -Camp Schodack 268 Mason Terrace, Brookline, Massachusetts 02146 277-7600 day 9-4

Interested in obtaining employment in the Natural Resources Field (Forestry/Wildlife)? For comprehensive employment guide, send $6.00 to: Natural Resource Employment, PO Box 67, Tomah, WI 54660

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

The Collegian Day Graphics Dept has openings for 3 pasteup people for next fall. Applications will be accepted April 19 and 20 from 9:30 am to noon ONLY in Rm 105 CC.

Responsible person who enjoys children wanted to assist with childcare and housekeeping in return for room and board must have own car references required 253-2465 after 6:00 p.m.

Experienced people for part & full time help inquire at Superior Pizzeria drivers also needed must own car.

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Fall 1983 semester. Up to 15 credits may be received from academic departments. Aid storneys at LSO with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrels, preparation of court forms, attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Maintain continuing caseload under attorney supervision. For advice on arranging an Internship and credit, contact Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. Applications due Friday, April 22, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required. Further information, LSO, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

Gold Omega watch red/beige wristband left in 1st floor women bathroom GTWR 4/12 reward call 546-9906

Five keys on Budweiser key chain lost Friday while thumbing to Worcester 4/8 549-2873

Lost gold link bracelet on April 12 or 13 reward please return call 6-1471

MAKE PEACE WITH EARTH

Join us around the pond on Earth Day Friday April 22 from dawn meditations to dusk musicians. Free the cow ceremony 10:30 am. Future studies speaker Phyllis Rodin 11 am. Local wildlife 11:30. Noon music, Native American, Winona Laduke 1 pm, Molly Scott 1:30. Agent Orange, the draft, nuclear destruction, ecology now and more. Make peace with earth, make survival your business.

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 125 mint condition, great fun. Only 4K mi. 90 mpg. must sell $350.00 or BO contact Chris 659-3707 nights, 5-0929 weekdays

Honda Hawk 400 1978 good cond. $650 call 546-5879 Phil

PERSONALS

All University Women are invited to Chi Omega for dinner Tues Apr 19 and Thurs 21 at 5:30 and for a Dynasty Party Wed 20 at 9:30 for more info or RSVP call Felice 545-0162 check us out

To Cindy C. Happy Birthday big sister from your little brother. Just one more year and your on your own

Free trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counseling, referral MTuThF 4-8 pm 433SU 545-2646

Hoser! Happy Birthday Susanne, we luv ya, Luv the 14th

Happy Birthday Israel Celebrate Israel's 35th Birthday with the Perverim Saturday April 23, 8 pm CCA tickets $3/$2 students

Career Placement Assistance for graduates. Gain an edge through Mass Marketing. Operations Research International P.O. Box 5470, Avon, Colorado, 81620 call toll free 1-800-421-3217

Sandy a day late but it's the thought that counts - you're the one that makes our job worthwhile love C and C

Lee I'm happier than I've ever been and I owe it all to you thenks Pauoola

RAWWii Rappy Rirthday Rimbol Rou're so rute, ri just ruv ys. Ruv, Raurie

RUN FOR RITTER April 23rd info at Newman Center

Sigma Delta Tau
invites all Univ women to Open Rush
Tues 4/19 Dinner
Wed 4/20 Dynasty
Thur 4/21 Dinner
Call Donna for info 545-0527
409 N Pleasant St

SWAG ELECTIONS!!!
Pick up Nominstion Papers
in SWAG Office
Due 4/22 for info call 545-0961

If you have $180 and a way to New York you can be in Europe by the day after tomorrow. For details, call Airhitch R, toll-free (800) 372-7234

CAPTAIN NEMO is looking for crew sign up now in JA lower

Boarding House had it with dorm life and DC food? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plan friendly atmosphere. Next to Newman Center. Call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

Congratulations to the Tri-Captains; J. Corbet, W. Stevens, and L. Wingert

Good Luck! J. McGonegle, J. Macurdy, and B. Goulart from the Management

Cosmic Wimpout Tournament - Set April 23 Rusty Nail - 1st round starts at noon-- Max Creek at night - $500 1st prize

Hello again Angel Face - Have a super 20th - (no need to be nervous again) Lids

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PSYCHOLOGY STUDY

College students who have grown up with a chronically ill sibling are needed to participate in study. Experimental credit available. Call 545-1559, 4-6 PM, April 19-22

PUFFTON SUMMER SUBLET

3 bedroom furnished Puffton Village apt, Summer sublet only. $115 per room negotiable. Cable TV, tennis courts and pool. Near bus stop, close to campus. Call Lori 549-0516

ROOMMATES WANTED

Male wanted for summer sublet @ Rolling Green 80.00 per month 256-8121 after 10:00 PM

Responsible female wanted to share sunny Southwood Apt summer/fall 253-5109

1 or 2 roommates for 3 bdrm townhouse apt for fall semester M or F 1 rm available call 549-1833

Two females for one bedroom in sunny Southwood townhouse call evenings 256-0859

3 housemates wanted; quiet considerate and non-smoker Contact Amy 546-7444

Cape Apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-6052 or 256-6809 leave message.

Rolling Green 2 bedroom apartment for summer need 2 roommates call Dave 6-6517 or 6-5185

SUMMER SUBLET

1 bedroom Puffton Apt completely furnished pool/tennis $125/person 549-5207

Three bedroom Townehouse Apt 6/1 -9/1 rent negotiable call 549-1833

Large four bedroom apartment adjacent to campus. $480/mo negotiable call Debbie 549-0546

Two bedroom Brittany Manor Apt fall option reasonable call 253-9678

3 Bedroom townehouse Southwood apt fully furnished pool tennis courts rent neg. call 256-0840

1 or 2 furnished bedrooms in a 2 badroom Southwood townshouse pool/AC June 1 - Aug 31 $130 for single, 100 each for double rent negotiable call 253-2541 after 6 p.m. keep trying!

1 bedroom apartment fully furnished Swiss Village, fall option. 256-8683.

Summer at Puffers room June - Aug fall op wash/dryer 110 + each Carries 549-5586

1 cozy furnished room in Puffton 3 br avail summer only. $110 mo resp female 549-5184

Cheap 2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt air conditioning call 546-6001 546-6005

3 bedroom Townehouse Apt furnished price negotiable please call 549-5187 or 546-9397

Amherst Ctr apt 4 bdrm furnished $150+ elect ea call 253-5298

Townehouse two bedroom furnished A/C $225 per/mo Randy 549-6409

Puffton Village 1 bedroom rent negotiable 549-6616

Sunny 3 bedroom house $470 mo. in Amherst Center excellent loc start June 1 til Sept 1 call Mark 253-2168

Northampton beautiful 4 bedrm house, furnished, possible fall option. Start 6/1 584-2905

1 bedroom Brandywine w/pool, AC - real cheap! 6-8206

Amherst Center bedrooms available, spacious house, covered veranda, lush lawns 549-0888

W/Fall option, 2 bedroom townhouse, pool, bus route, 665-3020

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Brittany Manor apartment summer sublet with fall option 2 bedrooms 253-2214

Sublet 2 bedrooms furnished Cliffside apartments $340 everything call 665-4210 evenings (June 1)

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

Excellent cond. new carpets & floors 2 bedroom apt summer sub. fall opt. 665-2081 Randi

One bedroom left beautiful Amherst home one minute from campus $176/month 256-0170

Two, one-bedroom apts Cliffside fall option 275.00 incl pool pets OK bus 665-2512 leave message

2 bdrms Cliffside $360/mo utilities inc fall option call eves 665-4953

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Great Apt - Brandywine 6/1 to 9/1 2 mo option, 1 bedrm, A/C, pool, cable, rent negotiable, 6-8110 or 6-8732

1 bedroom townhouse Southwood with fall option available July 1 or negotiable on bus route call 253-9862

Summer sublet sunny 3 br apt in Amherst Center reasonably priced 549-4437

Summer sublet 3 bedroom Puffton apt. rent is negotiable 549-5715

Puffton 3 bdrm for summer furnished Chas 549-4711

Two bedroom apt summer sublet w/fall option pool, frequent buses, near 7-11 $315/m negotiable 665-7972 keep trying

One or two bdrm apt on bus route summer w/fall option 665-2253

Cheap sublet 2 bedrooms available $250 June - Aug call 549-4049 5-6 pm

2 bedroom Presidential Apt summer sublet w/fall option 10 min walk to campus 549-6154

3 bedroom apt in Sunderland fall option only 330/mo pool on bus call 665-7028

Summer sublet w/fall option 2 bdrm Colonial Village apt on bus route, pool, laundry facilities $295 a month call 256-0408

Col Vlg 2 bdr apt on bus rt $295/mos summer sublet fal option 253-9660

3 bedroom apt in Puffton $290 month summer sublet call 546-8464 or 546-8460

2 females wanted for 2 bdrm Brandywine apt summer sublet fall option rent negtbl 549-1406 after 10 pm

One room in 2 bedroom Colonial Village apt available June 1 fall option call 253-7178

1 bedroom apt in Southwood to summer sublet w/fall option 253-9005

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom Squire Village apartments summer sublet w/fall option rent for summer negotiable 665-4504.

Amherst Center 5 bedrms summer sublet fall option $640/month 253-2878

One bedroom apt half mile from campus $675 for summer 256-6948

Central Northampton Attractive, furnished 2-3 br apt June 1, fall option 450 incl heat 586-5467

One bedroom in Southwood Townhouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

Wanted to sublet Brandywine? partly furnished, pool, airconditioning rent negotiable June - Sept 1 call Cathy 546-7494.

WANTED

Cash for your records, tapes 545-2836 (ask for Jeromir/leave message)

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

Wanted 1 bedrm apt in Puffton for summer sublet and fall option. Call Laurie 665-7758 keep trying.

Tutor needed for ECE 222. Will pay. Call Jane 6-5841

Wanted Records -- cash or trade -- call Dynamite Records 584-1580.

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

WANTED TO RENT

Wanted 2 or 3 bdrm apt in Puffton for June w/fall option 549-0787

Couple seeks 1 br apt in Amherst Area for fall (Grad stud) Jon or Jo 203-456-0114 (call collect)

Reward $30 for 2 or 3 bedroom apt anywhere within 3 mile radius of UMASS (preferably in Puffton or Southwood) call 549-4925.

3-4 Bedrooms furnished house on bus route September - June Call Marie 546-4680.

Sports

Gorillas hope to revive the season at Hofstra

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

"What's wrong with the lacrosse team?"

The question has become a popular one around the University of Massachusetts campus these days, and when one looks at the UMass lacrosse team's 2-4 slate, which includes three losses at home, the question appears justified.

That is not to say that the current edition of Garber's Gorillas hasn't provided exciting lacrosse so far this year. The problem is the good play has not translated into wins.

"I know the general public says the bottom line is winning and losing," says Gorilla head coach Dick Garber. "But what I tell the guys is what you do collectively is important, not the scoreboard."

Preseason goals have been washed away in the first six games. The New England championship, the main goal the Gorillas set at the beginning of the year, is now an impossibility with early season losses to New England rivals Brown and New Hampshire.

A national playoff berth, which goes to the top eight teams in the country, is still attainable, but would require the Gorillas to win all nine remaining games.

The Gorillas backup plan calls for taking games one at a time, starting tonight at 7:30 when they face off against 12th ranked Hofstra University.

Hofstra will be the first opponent on a four game road trip for the Gorillas, which includes a visit with the sixth ranked Cadets of Army. Garber feels half the battle will be mental.

"It's not how many times you get knocked down that counts," Garber told his team at yesterday's strategy session, "it's how many times you get back up that matters."

The Gorillas will be looking to start producing the "W's" tonight, and hopefully they will find a positive groove as they approach the most difficult part of their schedule.

"A lot of it (success) is between the ears," said Garber. "We have to control the ball to beat these guys. We have to control the tempo, just like we did against Hobart (an 11-6 Gorilla win.)"

As Garber pointed out, the Gorillas haven't played their type of ball control game since the season opener against Hobart College, and against a physically strong and quick Hofstra squad, good execution will be a necessity if the Gorillas are to come home victorious.

National rankings, heavily watched by Gorilla players earlier in the year, are not so much a concern anymore. Enjoying playing lacrosse the remainder of the season and providing exciting action for Gorilla fans has become the team's objective.

NBA playoff match-ups

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

For the handful of true pro basketball fans amongst us on this planet, paradise has finally arrived: The National Basketball Association Playoffs.

Six weeks from now a champion will be crowned. But, as they say, first things first. At the moment, the opening round, the best two-out-of three mini-series is underway with two of the four series commencing last night. The other two will get started tonight.

Here are the outlooks for each of the mini-series:

Boston vs. Atlanta: The Celtics are blessed. Rid of the frightful thought of having to play the Washington Bullets, the Celts can concentrate on the Hawks, who lost five of six games to the local boys.

The Hawks (43-39) are lead by Danny Roundfield (18.7 pts., 11.5 reb. a game), skywalking rookie Dominique Wilkins, shot-blocking specialist Tree Rollins, and guard Johnny Davis.

The series began last night and will continue Friday night at the Omni. A third game, if necessary, will be Sunday at the Garden. The winner gets Milwaukee.

New York vs. New Jersey: With this series, plus Islanders-Rangers, living in the Big Apple will definitely be enjoyable for the next five days.

The Knicks (44-38), in last place in the Atlantic Division and seemingly out of the playoff race in January, won 21 of 25 in one stretch and went 29-12 over the second half to gain a berth.

Bernard King (22.1 pts.) has been immense, along with Bill Cartwright, who had his best season since his rookie year. The Knicks, the best defensive team in the NBA (97.7 pts. a game), took off when they put Paul Westphal at point guard, acquired speedy guard Rory Sparrow, and replaced Eddie Sherod with Trent Tucker.

The Nets (49-33) are in disarray after the sudden departure of coach Larry Brown two weeks ago.

The series begins tonight at the Byrne Meadowlands Arena in East Rutherford, N.J. and continues Thursday at Madison Square Garden. The third game, if necessary, will be in New Jersey on Sunday. The winner draws Philadelphia.

Phoenix vs. Denver: This will be a rematch of last year's classic mini-series, which Phoenix won in three games.

The run-and-gun Nuggets (45-37) possess the most explosive offense (123.0 pts/game) in the NBA. The league's leading scorer, Alex English (28.4 pts/game).

The Suns (53-29) are led by Maurice Lucas (16.5 pts. and 10.4 reb.), a pleasant surprise after being acquired from the Knicks, Walter Davis (19.2 pts/game), and budding superstar Larry Nance (16.2 pts., 188 blocked shots).

The winner of the series, which began last night in Phoenix, faces San Antonio.

Seattle vs. Portland: This is for the bragging rights of the Pacific Northwest.

The Supersonics (48-34) won their first 12 games of the season, but played only .500 ball thereafter. The big three are Jack Sikma (the Sonics lost eight straight after he was injured in February), Gus Williams, and David Thompson. James Donaldson and Downtown Freddie Brown are the key reserves.

Dr. Jack Ramsay's Trailblazers (46-36) are led by Jim Paxson (22.0 pts/game), the best mover without the ball in the NBA.

The series begins tonight at the Kingdome. The second game is Friday at Portland. The victor plays the injury-riddled Los Angeles Lakers.

AP Laserphoto

The Knicks hope to battle the 76'ers but must first beat the Nets.

UMass Relays meet swamped by weather

By LAURIE FISHER
Collegian Staff

Despite conditions that could best be described as miserable (cold, windy and very wet for those of you fortunate enough to have spent the weekend elsewhere) over 90 percent of the expected competitors representing over 50 colleges and clubs showed up for the UMass relays on Saturday.

The weather is traditioanlly dreadful for this event — in 1976 it was a sweltering 97 degrees and last year 14 inches of snow put a damper on things — which affected most events, slowing down the running and making the throwing slippery.

Minutewoman sophomore, Leah Loftis with a time of 57.6 seconds won the 400 meter event, breaking the school record and qualifying her for the New Englands. Leah has and could have run faster had the weather been better, women's track coach Kalekeni Banda said.

UMass freshman Cindy Krupa and Liz Patterson placed in the throwing events and qualified for the New Englands. Krupa took a second in the javelin with a distance of 133'3". Patterson placed third in the discus at 121'2" and broke the school shot put record with a distance of 40'3", giving her fifth.

The mile relay and the 410-yard relay were won by UMass teams. The mile team, Susan Bird, Loftis, Maureen O'Reilly and Debbie Smith won with a time of 4.04 minutes and the 410 was won by Cindy Coronato, Martha Rubble, Lisa Small and Pam Proto in 54.7 seconds.

UMass' John Wright, who won the high hurdle event the last two years placed second on Saturday. "John didn't have a good time he was taking it easy because of the weather," assistant coach Greg Roy said.

Discus thrower, Ronald Farber, placed second with 148'11". Farber was a good example of how the conditions affected the competition — last weekend at Boston College Farber threw 149' and did not place.

Freshman Kyler Foster was sixth in the javelin (176'11"), Steve Hyder was sixth in the shotput (52'3") and rodney LaFlammer took a sixth in the steeple chase event, an event that proved quite comical.

"Steeple chasing is a spectator sport for the wrong reasons", mens tracks coach Ken O'Brien explained. The reasons are that the course includes three wooden barriers approximately three feet high and a water jump designed for the good athletes to leave one leg in the water. Many competitiors landed with two feet in the water or face first, leaving already wet men soaked.

The Invitational Mile was won by Geoff Smith from Providence College in a time of 4:10 minutes. Smith, an English Olympian, has run the mile in 3.55 minutes.

Not all performances were adversely affected by the rain.

Trevor Garric from Boston College won the 200 (21.7 seconds) and 400 (47.7 seconds) meter events.

Thrower Art McDermott also from BC won the discus (185') and the shot put (60'3") and Bill Thierfelder, the BU coach, won the high jump at 7 feet even.

"These performances were outstanding and more so because of the weather," Roy said.

Soccer becoming a winner

By PAUL HEALY
Collegian Staff

"Winners."

That's the word being heard more and more often in the locker room of the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team, and with good reason. With one tournament championship, two second-place trophies and a third-place finish in its indoor season, the squad may be on its way to a long-awaited return to winning ways.

Taking a squad that was 7-8-2 outdoors in the fall and molding it into such a strong and successful indoor team took a good deal of sacrifice, including 6:30 practices twice a week.

"One of the biggest reasons for our success is intensity," according to first-year head coach Jeff Gettler. "We're going out and winning the games we should win, even when we play poorly," he said. "That's often the sign of a better team."

Gettler is not completely satisfied with his squad's play, however, citing the need for a "finisher," a player who can put the ball in the net consistantly.

"At one tournament we only scored five times in seven games, and we came in second," he said, praising the Minuteman defense as well as wishing for more goal production. Up to the Hartwick College tournament, the team's last before moving outside, the UMass "D" had earned 16 shutouts in 23 games.

Both Gettler and assistant coach Rick Bryant cited goalkeeper Don Donahue as a major factor in the team's success.

"Donnie was our third keeper in the fall," said Bryant, "but he's really done the job indoors." Done the job is a slight case of understatement. In five tourneys, the junior netminder was named to two all-tournament teams, earning the M.V.P. honor at the North Adams State College tournament.

The Minutemen were undefeated at North Adams blowing out the hosts 9-0 in the final. They followed that victory with second-place finishes at Boston College and the University of Connecticut, and most recently third place at the Hartwick tourney.

At UConn, the UMass booters defeated the University of Hartford, tough Plymouth State College, defending champion Bridgeport University and 1981 Division 1 national champ UConn, en route to a 1-0 loss to St. Francis College of New York City in the final.

Donahue and junior fullback Lenny Margolis were picked as members of the all-tournament team, but Gettler gave credit for the high finish to the squad as a whole.

"The team has really melded into a unit, with the sum of the parts greater than the individual parts," he noted, stressing the leadership role junior midfielder Kevin Flynn has played as captain.

Flynn is one of the veterans who have struggled through three straight losing seasons outdoors, but if this winter is any indication, those years may be fading into little more than a bad memory.

Celtic comeback nips Hawks

BOSTON AP — Larry Bird scored eight of his game-high 26 points in the final 3 1/2 minutes last night, rallying the Boston Celtics to a 103-95 victory over the Atlanta Hawks in their National Basketball Association playoff opener.

Bird, given a brief rest period early in the fourth period, came back to rally the Celtics after the Hawks had charged from an eight-point deficit to a four-point lead.

With the score tied for the sixth time in the final period, Bird put Boston in front 89-87 with a pair of free throws.

Quinn Buckner, who had tied the score at 87 with his first two points of the game, hit an open shot to put Boston ahead 91-87.

The Celtics held off the desperate Hawks for the opening victory in the best-of-three playoff.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 118 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Thursday, April 21, 1983

Environmental issues central to Earth Day

By DAVID SUMMERSBY
Collegian Staff

Earth Day, the annual nationwide celebration of the environment, will be held locally tomorrow at the University of Massachusetts near the campus pond.

Hosted by the Coalition for Environmental Quality (CEQ), UMass Earth Day '83 will present speakers, musicians, plays, and a variety of activities all with the theme of making peace with the earth and heightening environmental awareness.

"Earth Day is a chance for people who care to get together to have a good time and talk about intelligent things," said Louise Gogel, an organizer for Earth Day '83. "It is a day to look at the environment and think about what we are doing," she said.

Everyone taking part in the celebration will have a chance to participate in ongoing activities throughout the day, such as nature walks, meditation, barrel painting, and the painting of a mural which will be exhibited in the Campus Center upon completion.

Performers from many different places will highlight the day, either entertaining or making speeches about current environmental and survival issues.

"It is a day to get motivated and talk to people who have ideas for the future and for change," Gogel said. "People are making statements but how we interpret them is up to us."

At noon the Jelly Belly Blues Band will perform, and at 1 p.m., the native American activist Winona LaDuke will speak about the "Sacred Earth Mother".

At 2:30, Helena Norberg-Hodge will speak on "Making the World A Shangrila," which, according to Gogel, is the ideal society isolated from the rest of the world where people are in harmony with themselves and their surroundings.

Controversial topics will also be introduced by Teresita Ferrara and draft register Ed Hasbrook, who will articulate on "An Ecological Objection to the Draft."

"It is a day to get motivated and talk to people who have ideas for the future and for change," Gogel said. "People are making statements but how we interpret them is up to us."

Other performers will include Judy Schekal, speaking on "A No Nuclear Earth," and Haim Gunner, a UMass Professor who did research on the use of Agent Orange in Vietnam and will discuss "Chemical Warfare and Environment."

A number of local poets, musicians, and face painters will perform between speeches.

Other events on the agenda are a Free the Cow Ceremony, Guerilla Theatre, a Folksinger, and a Bluegrass concert to top off the day at 4 p.m.

The Earth Day tradition began in 1970 in Washington D.C. as a culmination of the enviromental movement. It was part of a time when people could get together to talk about environmental issues and bounce ideas off each other. UMass has held an Earth Day every year since with the exception of last year.

Traditionally, Gogel said, during Earth Day a tree has been planted and this year a rose bush will be planted as the symbol of life and to "acknowledge that we are the caretakers of the earth."

Gogel, who along with eight other persons has worked on organizing Earth Day since November, said many individuals and groups have contributed valuable time and money to sponsor the acts and ensure a strong schedule of events.

"We had lots of support and it is my dream that Earth Day will become something the University works on and has on their schedule," she said.

Area elementary schools have been invited to the festivities and Gogel said she is encouraging all professors to bring their classes.

Revised admission standards defended at Senate meeting

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by Katie Watters

Dr. Roger Schinness addresses the Undergraduate Student Senate last night in the Campus Center.

Vice Chancellor for Academic and Student Affairs for the Board of Regents last night defended the revised, sliding scale admissions standards before the Undergraduate Student Senate against accusations that the proposal will discriminate against minority students.

Dr. Roger Schinness said minorities attending urban high schools where there is a disproportionately large number of minorities in relation to the population of minorities in that city will be classified as "educationally disadvantaged," one of three categories exempt from the proposed admission standards.

Traditional students applying under the revised proposed admission standards will be required to have taken four units of English, three of mathematics, and electives and two each of social science, physical science, and foreign language. A sliding scale policy concerning low Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores, which can be offset by high class rank and vice versa, will also be implemented under the proposal to be released in several days.

Students attending rural high schools with limited educational opportunities and students whose native language is not English may also be termed "educationally disadvantaged" under the proposal, he said. Using all of these criteria, the number of minority applicants exempt from the admissions policy will be lower than the number of white applicants, though their percentage will be greater, he said.

Schinness also emphasized that the admissions policy will affect only applicants to the state's three universities and nine four-year colleges.

"No student will be denied access to post-secondary education," he said, referring to Massachusetts' open access laws under which any high school graduate can attend one of the state's 15 community colleges.

"These schools are geared to enable students to overcome academic deficiencies they may have," he said.

"This proposal is based on the expectation that we will increase minority enrollment in this system," he said. "Institutions will be required to give us a detailed plan on how they plan to increase minority enrollment and we will hold them to it."

Schinness also noted the correlation between low SAT scores and low socio-economic status, which several senate members said is largely possessed by minorities, "is not absolute."

"One third of the students in the highest percentile (in a 1974 comparison of test results) came from the lowest category of income," he said.

Preregistration time again underway

By JIM FINKLE
Collegian Staff

For University of Massachusetts students, it is now time to open new course catalogs, choose courses, fill in the dots and turn in OSCAR forms.

The spring counselling period officially began Tuesday and will continue through Saturday, according to Marion C. Markwell, administrative assistant to the registrar.

Students should obtain their OSCAR preregistration forms from their individual departments, except for minority and non-classified students, Markwell said.

Bilingual students may obtain their forms from the Bilingual Collegiate Program (BCP) office in Wilder Hall. The Collegiate Committee for the Education of Black and other Minority Students (CCEBMS) will distribute the OSCAR forms to its students from its office in New Africa House, while minority engineering students should obtain their forms from the Minority Engineering Program office in Marston Hall.

After choosing courses and completing the OSCAR "bubble form," students should submit their forms to the Registrar's Office, located in Room 213 of the Whitmore Administration Building, Markwell said.

"Don't wait until the last minute to turn them in," Markwell warned. "We are jammed here the last couple of days."

Markwell said students who may be unsure of their plans for the fall should preregister now to avoid complications with financial aid and getting into crowded courses.

"It's better to sign up for something than not to be preregistered at all," Markwell said. "If students are applying for loans and haven't preregistered, then the banks are leery to give them the loans."

Markwell advised students to sign-up for between 12 and 18 credits to maintain full-time status, while not attempting to carry an overload.

Slogan contest aims to get town known

By TAMI BORTON
Collegian Staff

Anyone who has looked longingly into Lodestone's windows or dreamed of riding a new bicycle away from Peloton Sports will be interested in entering the Heritage Bank's "Create a $1,000 Slogan for Amherst" contest.

The contest, which began the end of March, was created with the "intention of finding a more applicable slogan than the current 'Center of Distinction' slogan which now exists," said Adrian Wilkins, Chamber of Commerce Member and owner of the Mercantile store in town.

"This slogan is not discriptive and indicative enough of the ways Amherst differs from other communities," he said.

Heritage Bank marketing director Sharon Ross said she feels that with the opening of the new Hyper Marche mall in Hadley, concern has been created on the part of town businessmen that more unity is needed. The Downtown Council and the Chamber of Commerce, both of which Heritage Bank belongs to, began the slogan campaign "because we (Amherst) are not known for anything," she said.

"By generating this slogan search, we've generated inquiries as to what the town has to offer, and this has had a positive effect," Ross said. "The second half of the campaign, which will be bumper stickers displaying the new slogan, should continue this, she said.

"A tremendous misconception about Amherst is that it costs more to shop downtown than at the malls," Wilkins said. "This is not true. In fact, the malls tend to mark-up more than Amherst businesses."

Wilkins said he does not feel Amherst businesses have been hurt by the malls.

Amherst has specialty stores while the malls have national chains which attract family shoppers," he said. "Surveys have shown students actually enjoy walking around town more than shopping at the malls."

In addition to the general advertising concept which will display the real impression of Amherst, the slogan should serve to increase tourism, Wilkins said.

Entry forms for the contest, which closes May 15, are available at any of the Heritage Bank offices and a number of stores in town.

World and National News

Reagan budget yields ground

WASHINGTON (AP) President Reagan, yielding to rebellious Senate Republicans, offered a 1984 budget compromise yesterday that provides more money for domestic programs and slightly less for defense than he originally wanted. The proposal keeps intact Reagan's three-year program of tax cuts.

Reagan dispatched three top aides to the Senate to explain the proposal to key Republicans, and Senate GOP Leader Howard Baker said he hoped agreement on a tax and spending plan was within reach.

Several participants in the meeting, speaking on condition they not be identified, said the biggest stumbling block to an agreement was opposition by conservatives to any tax increases over the next three years.

"The hang-up is taxes," said one senator, adding that the moderate Republicans at the session were prepared to "swallow hard" and agree to Reagan's new proposals for spending.

Presidential aides at the session included Chief of Staff James Baker, Counsellor Edwin Meese and Budget Director David Stockman. Their visit to the Capital marked the administration's first serious attempt to compromise with Senate Republicans who, after rejecting Reagan's original budget, have been arguing for weeks about how to revise it.

Defense spending for 1984 would increase 7.5 percent after inflation, midway between Reagan's original 10 percent proposal and the 5 percent the committee voted for.

AP Laserphoto

A doctor and a nurse attend to two sets of identical twins born to Myoko Hane, 32, Tuesday in Iwamizawa, Hokkaido Island, Japan. The four babies, all boys, weighed between 3.5 and 5.6 pounds and are reported doing well.

Walesa plans for May Day

GDANSK, Poland (AP) - Lech Walesa declared yesterday that the working class has a right to observe May Day any way it wants, despite a government warning that Solidarity's call for protests on the holiday may jeopardize the pope's upcoming visit.

"I am a worker. I will celebrate May Day in a working man's way, but I cannot tell you exactly how," Walesa said at a news conference at his Gdansk apartment.

"The working class has a right to celebrate its own holiday the way it wants," Walesa said.

The leader of the outlawed Solidarity labor union also said he hoped to meet with Polish-born Pope John Paul II during his scheduled June 16-22 visit.

States given nuke choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major setback to the nuclear power industry, the Supreme Court ruled yesterday that states can ban construction of new plants until the federal government devises a safe way to dispose of radioactive waste.

The Reagan administration had argued that allowing states to prohibit new plants could seriously jeopardize the growth of nuclear power as a source of electricity.

But after the 9-0 decision, upholding a 1976 California moratorium on new atomic power plants, industry spokesmen tried to play down its impact.

"It's not the death knell for nuclear power," said Linda Hodge, counsel for the Atomic Industrial Forum.

Robert Dobkin, a spokesman for the same trade group, said there is not likely to be any immediate impact on the 57 nuclear plants already under construction nationwide.

In other decisions yesterday, the court:

-Declared unconstitutional a federal law that banned demonstrators from the public sidewalks surrounding the court's own building on Capitol Hill. The justices said it violates free speech to ban pickets from the sidewalks.

-Said government officials who are sued successfully may be forced to pay "punitive" damages to prevent future wrongdoing. The court upheld a $30,000 jury award against a Missouri prison guard who was sued by an inmate who had been raped.

Legislature approves Prop. 2½ override bill

BOSTON — The House and Senate both agreed yesterday to a $157.8 million package of new aid for the cities and towns that also makes it easier for 11 municipalities to override Proposition 2½.

Both chambers approved a resolution expressing "intent"to go along with the aid plan announced last week by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis and the Democratic legislative leadership.

The Senate also passed a bill that would make the override provision law.

Citizens for Limited Taxation, the prime mover behind the 1980 property tax limiting initiative approved by voters, said the developments spelled "war" against Dukakis and the leadership.

The House, under intense lobbying pressure, reversed an earlier vote against the override before resolution 113-32 late Wednesday. The actual override bill, approved on a voice vote in the Senate, still requires action in the House.

Digest

By the Associated Press

FDA recalls shampoo due to contamination

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration said yesterday that 234,000 bottles of baby shampoo, sold widely under a variety of brand names, will be recalled because of bacterial contamination that can infect scratched or cut skin and eyes.

The shampoo was packaged by Pennex Producta Company Inc. of Verona, Pa., and is sold under more than two dozen house brands. Pennex began the recall after FDA tests showed the bacteria in one isolated lot. But further tests by the company and by FDA showed the problem to be more widespread and led to the broad recall.

The company has stopped using equipment which it believes is the source of the contamination.

Pennex distributed the product nationally as Soothex and Mara Lynne brands or with a generic label saying simply "Baby Shampoo."

The product also is sold as the Treasury brand baby shampoo by the Treasury Drug Division of J.C. Penney Co., New York and as the Army and Air Force Exchange Service's AAFES Baby Shampoo.

Student behavior better in state public schools

BOSTON — The "back to basics" approach in Massachusetts public schools has produced an unexpected side benefit — a decrease in disciplinary problems, the state's schools chief told a legislative committee yesterday.

Education Commissioner John Lawson said there is now a "big gap" in the public perception of what occurs inside classrooms across the commonwealth.

"In general discipline is vastly superior to what it was a year or two years ago. There is no doubt there's been some tightening up," Lawson said during a hearing on his budget request for the 1984 fiscal year.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Paul A. Basken
Copy Editor — Paul Belval
Layout Technician — Steve Anderson
Photo Technician — Katie Watters
Composition — Sue Hawkins, Matt Sajdak, Stuart Sajdak, Jamie Katz, Tracy Lang, Joanne Gaudette, Tim Riviere, Marianne Walsh

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Looking for a meaningful

SUMMER JOB

Massachusetts Fair Share

The country's largest statewide citizen action organization

Has full time and summer openings for fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building to shape hazardous waste, energy, and other policies in this state. Hours 1:30 - 9:30 pm, pay: $175 - $225 average per week and benefits. Will train.

Call: 586-8713,

9 AM - 1:30 PM

Mon - Fri for Western Mass.

For work in Boston Area call:

1-800-952-7478

Spirit Haus

WINES & LIQUORS

338 College Street

Becks lt and dk.....$3.95/6 pk
Budweiser 12 oz loose cans.....$10.95/cs
Tuborg lt and dk.....$2.70/6 pk
Labatts Beer & Ale.....$3.45/6 pk

(deposits not included)

Stolichnaya 80° Vodka.....$6.49/500 ml
Windsor Canadian Whiskey.....$12.99/1.75 l

Many specials on imported & domestic wines
DON'T FORGET YOUR EMPTY BOTTLES & CANS!

not responsible for typographical errors

Student radio stations prefer punk to politics

By RICHARD NANGLE
Collegian Staff

Where's the only place on the FM radio dial you can hear the likes of Black Flag, Dead Kennedys, the Sex Pistols and various local and not-so-local hardcore bands?

At the University of Massachusetts, the answers are 97.7 and 107.7, for those are the positions occupied by student-run stations WSYL and WZZZ respectively.

Located on the basement of Cashin Dormitory in the Sylvan Residential Area is one of the favorite hangouts for fans of new music, WSYL. It seems everyone on this campus who is interested in punk music is a DJ at either WSYL, WZZZ or WMUA.

As Station Manager Mike Malone and Publicity Director Joanne Mei put forth their opinions on WSYL, the Dead Kennedys' "Saturday Night Holocaust" blasted from the speakers. It's safe to say that not a single radio station in the entire world can make the same claim unless they are also run by college students who are more interested in content than appeasing advertisers.

"We try to program music that is generally ignored by both commercial stations," Malone said. "We don't try to reach a large audience, but rather we try to expose music that isn't heard here."

The sentiment at a station like WSYL is that the new music people are being exposed to today is no better than the old music.

"We have a more guitar, hardcore oriented sound than for instance WMUA, which plays the new type of British syntho beautiful muzak," Malone said.

"We have some of the most interesting radio personnel around," bragged Mei, and for good reason.

One would be hard pressed to listen to the station for more than an hour and not hear an outrageous newpaper article read by a DJ, or an insult directed at anyone from President Reagan to the UMass police. WSYL DJs are non-conformists.

WSYL encourages participation from the UMass community and promotes local acts.

"We're open to all University students, but Sylvan area residents are given precedence," Malone said.

"If local bands have tapes and want us to play them they should bring them in," added Mei.

"Nobody gets paid down here," Malone pointed out. "It's all volunteer run. We're free to play whatever we want because we don't have to succumb to outside political pressure. Other stations have a tendency to stay away from political stuff. They're afraid of alienating a segment of the audience. You can't be hurt by what you don't play.

"A band like the Dead Kennedys I doubt could get any commercial airplay because of their name."

Of course the big question that everyone must be asking is how can anybody afford to spend some of their time here at UMass spinning records?

Although Mei's time is limited due to her chemistry major, she has motivation for the job.

"I was so sick of hearing garbage on other stations with old songs by old groups played over and over again," she said.

Mei said she despises the existence of "Schlock rock" stations like Springfield's WAQY, Hartford's WCCC, and Boston's WCOZ.

"They exploit rock to make money," she said.

Unfortunately, in this age of sterilized radio entertainment, WSYL stands nearly alone.

Student snackbar coops offer tasty alternatives to D.C.s

By MICHAEL SCHONZEIT
Collegian Correspondent

It's dinner time, but after a hard day's work, the dining commons looks a million miles away. Take the advice of Peter Martin of the Central Filling Station and "blow off the D.C. and pick up a sub for two bucks."

The Central Filling Station, located in the basement of Greenough Dormitory, is one of four snackbar coops on the University of Massachusetts campus. All are non-profit establishments run strictly by students under the supervision of the Economic Development Office and the Student Activities Office.

"Whatever we make goes right back into the business," said Sue Kaitz, a senior education major who has worked for three years at the snack bar, usually referred to as simply "Greenough."

The majority of student managers and workers are earning either money or credit for their services. A select few, however, are losing money.

"We put in $150 of our own money just to open," said Russ Friedman, who along with co-manager Norman Coopee III, were instrumental in reviving the debt-ridden Snack Attack in Field Dormitory in the Orchard Hill Residential College.

At Snack Attack, formerly known as Hilltop, efficient management is an integral part of the operation.

"We do everything," Friedman said. "We take on a lot of responsibility."

At Greenough, there are five managers.

"Our managers are awesome," boasted Peter Martin. "It's a very close group here, but they're not so friendly that they'll be taken advantage of."

Martin, regarded as a veteran with three years of service under his belt, is a "slicer", a privileged position at Greenough. He loves the work. "You'd have to after three years," he said.

Along with their dedication to the job, the workers maintain a strong sense of pride in the quality of the food and service they provide.

"We try to serve what the people want to eat, not what we want to serve," Friedman said.

Lisa DeSisto, a sophomore communication studies major who frequents Greenough, is convinced their service is unparalleled.

"Extra pickles are no problem here. They make the food the way you want it," she said.

Each snackbar has gimmicks and specials designed to attract more customers. Greenough will give students a free ice cream cone on their birthdays. Greenough also sports an eye-catching menu which features such dishes as "Snake and Cheese," "Roast Beast," and "Toikey."

The Subway located in McNamara Dormitory offers specials Monday through Thursday to complement a menu consisting of 15 brands of soda and up to 20 varieties of ice cream at one time.

As a fledgling operation, Snack Attack has fewer flavors of ice cream and does not serve subs.

"We didn't have enough money for hot food," said Friedman. "We only had $600 to work with."

Friedman does, however, plan to expand the menu in the future to include subs and perhaps fresh hamburger.

"It may be more expensive, but they'll be willing to pay for it," he said.

Although their prices are no lower than those of such on-campus competition as the Hatch and the Campus Center Coffee Shop, some students swear by the snackbars.

"At the Coffee Shop, the buns are soggy, the burgers are rare, and there's always debris on the tables," DeSisto said. Of Greenough, she said, "It's immaculate."

As for competition among themselves, snackbar operators insist there isn't any, because the bulk of their customers come from the surrounding dormitories.

Bill Child, a senior electrical engineering major and manager of the Subway, said, "Most of our customers come from the Sylvan area. When we first started, there was delivery service to Northeast, but it was unprofitable."

According to Friedman, Snack Attack concentrates its efforts strictly on the Orchard Hill area.

"We're not in competition with Greenough," he said. "We just want to give the people something to be proud of."

Senate votes in chaos for SSAM representative

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

"Disorder" reigned last night during the Undergraduate Student Senate's election of a University of Massachusetts representative to the State Student Association of Massachusetts (SSAM).

The senate elected senator and Public Policy Committee member Fran Pheeny as UMass chapter representative to SSAM. The position was open to any full-time student at the University, but Pheeny's only competition was fellow Public policy Committee member John Flynn.

"There was quite a bit of disorder in the senate," Pheeny said after the election. "I really don't know what it reflects, though."

State Student Coordinator Michael Ferrigno said, "There was a lot happening before this election took place. If the controversy that took place tonight isn't resolved, it most definitely will hurt the UMass chapter (of SSAM)."

Ferrigno said he would "rather address the senate...to clear the air about the controversy that took place tonight" before he would elaborate on the naturé of that controversy.

Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan observed that "difficult decisions never encourage rationality." Sullivan said he felt both candidates were well qualified for the position.

Pheeny emphasized in her nomination speech that "SSAM is not going to be a committee of the senate. SSAM will be independent from the senate."

"I just hope we are able to work on getting SSAM off the ground," Pheeny said after the election. "We have a meeting (of SSAM coordinating committee) this Saturday at Worcester State College. We have to set up bylaws and we have to set up committees."

Rents and Fees Chairman Mitch Gaslin said in debate that he saw SSAM controlled by "male political types," and he supported Pheeny "for a different viewpoint."

Earlier in the evening, the senate tabled a motion that would amend the Student Government Association constitution to prevent "any increase or addition tax" on students without "binding campus referendum."

Any proposed amendment to the SGA constitution must be tabled to the senate Governmental Affairs Committee to be checked for conflict with the constitution before it can be taken up by the senate.

Anarchist, social ecologist depicts a brave new world

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

A future overrun by "robotics, biotechnics and space wars."

A world colonized by "market places, electronics and Pentagon, Inc."

A society that teaches Americans how to "queue up... for lines to extermination and gas chambers."

Such were some of the bleak portraits of the future portrayed by anarchist and social ecologist Murray Bookchin last night in an address given in the Cape Cod Lounge of the Student Union Building.

Bookchin, director emeritus of the Institute of Social Ecology and author of several books on ecology, anarchy and the anti-nuclear movement, said he is not a futurist.

"I don't like futurism. It's treacherous, he said, because it uses computers and electronic equipment.

The future, he said, presents humans "not only with genocide, but with biocide--destruction of the biosphere itself.

"The question is: can this society, as it is composed right now, with the mentality of the bronze age warrior...this patriarchal society, with the Pentagon as the great planner of American life, can this society afford to have means of production turn into means of destruction?"

Bookchin said he was concerned with the mentality of a society that says "If the Himalayas are there, let's see if we can move them...Wipe out humanity? Gee whiz. Let's see if we can do it... If you can't dominate it, kill it."

Bookchin said ideologies such as a republic or a democracy do not fit into the world of robotics and bioengineering.

Bookchin suggested "a new possibility. We have the opportunity to go back to the American roots - the Libertarian ones.

"A new classless class," he said, "is appearing -- the emergence of the people that our ancestors spoke about" when they wrote "We the people . . . " 200 years ago.

Bookchin suggested "drawing out the richness and Utopian side of the American dream not the materialistic and opportunistic side of the American dream."

Selectmen defer rent control

By MITCH ZEMEL
Collegian Staff

Rent control and condominium conversion issues topped the agenda Tuesday night at the Amherst selectmen's meeting, as selectmen endorsed half of the last 36 Town Meeting articles considered.

The 72-article Town Warrant is being reviewed by the selectmen before it is acted upon at the annual spring Town Meeting on May 2.

Article 64, addressing rent control, was deferred. This article asked that the town petition the Massachusetts general Court to allow Amherst to regulate rents, evictions and the removal of apartments from rent control.

Robert Chisholm, an employee of the Amherst Fire Department, asked that the Selectmen have the Assessor supply information about the possible effects of rent control on the evaluation of property. Chisholm said this would be a heated article at the Town Meeting and that the "Selectmen should referee this Article."

The Selectmen unanimously passed a motion to have the Town Manager investigate the cost of rent control in other Massachusetts' communities.

The Selectmen also deferred action on Articles 62 and 63, both of which deal with condominium and co-op conversions.

The Selectmen unanimously approved Article 49, which will establish a revolving fund for adult and continuing education classes. Along with this, the Selectmen approved Article 50, which would have the Town Manager administer the program, instead of the School Committee.

Appropriations of $33,000 for a new sewer flusher and $20,000 to reconstruct the sewer mains on North Pleasant Street, Summer Street, and Lincoln Street were unanimously approved by the Selectmen.

Article 47, which would raise the number of signatures for the nomination of a candidate for town office from 10 to 50, was deferred, as was Article 48, which would petition the General Court to allow the town to conduct runoff elections within two weeks of the annual town election, when the number of votes fails to reach a certain minimum plurality.

Article 51, which would establish a Tuition Revolving account, was deferred.

Articles 44 and 45, addressing tax exemptions for the blind and elderly, were both approved.

Article 46, which called for an exemption from the motor vehicle excise tax for former prisoners of war, was deferred by selectmen who said they did not know why prisoners of war should receive treatment different from that of all war veterans.

The Distinguished Visitors Program

Outside Proposal Meeting for Fall Programming

Wednesday May 4

7:30 p.m.

(room to be announced)

Proposal forms available in 415B Student Union. These MUST be returned by Monday, May 2. Proposals considered for Fall 1983 ONLY and this will be the ONLY time proposals for Fall will be considered.

COSMIC WIMPOUT

COSMIC WIMPOUT and the RUSTY NAIL present the

"HEY HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO BE THE WORLD CHAMPION!!!"

8th Annual Global Tournament

April 23, 1983

at the RUSTY NAIL (Rt. 47) Sunderland, MA

FIRST ROUND BEGINS SOLAR NOON - 2 p.m.

FIRST PRIZE $500.00

admission (all day) $4.00

music by: Max Creek

Dufeng & Cohen and Special Guests

Basic Game available at University Store $1.99

TIMEX sinclair 1000

Computer

Rebate expires April 30, 1983! $44.95

AFTER $15 FACTORY REBATE

• Black And White Graphics

59.95	REGULAR PRICE
$15.00	FACTORY REBATE
44.95	YOUR FINAL COST

Other accessories available

TIMEX 16 RAM EXPANSION 44.95
Provides instant memory expansion from 2K to 16K.
TS1016WTW

Fully programmable 2K personal computer with expandable memory. Unique single-key entry of commands—LIST, RUN, PRINT, etc. Graph drawing and animated display. Connects easily to any TV set. Expandable. Portable. Clearly written manual makes it easy to learn and use.
TS1000-WTW

UNIVERSITY STORE

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

They want your

COFFEE SHOP,

Do You?

The Administration is not listening to us students! Come express your support of our Coffee Shop Thursday, April 21st at 6:00 pm in Room 904 of the CC.

Private and government grants improve financial situation for research at Smith

By VIRGINIA WARFIELD
Collegian Correspondent

NORTHAMPTON — Over the past few months, Smith College has received several private and governmental grants supporting its faculty and programs, including a grant to a research team comprised of two University of Massachusetts professors and one from Smith College.

A $14,046 grant from the Mattel Foundation was awarded to Bruce Hawkins, associate professor of physics at Smith College, who has been working for nearly three years on a project with UMass Computer and Information Science professors Edward Riesman and Stan Kulikowski.

According to Hawkins, the project, known as the Speakeasy Communications System, involves a device designed to help vocally impaired persons, whether physically handicapped or completely paralyzed, to communicate.

Hawkins said many of these disabled people have multiple sclerosis or cerebral palsy, or have been in accidents, yet do have control of their heads and can benefit from this computer system.

He said the device, an Apple II computer with unique software, enables the handicapped person to communicate by selecting words on a computer screen and isolating them by closing a switch with the head.

"The only restriction," he added, "is that the person does have an understanding of language."

Asked why Smith College received the grant instead of UMass, Hawkins replied that most private institutions will only award money to a private college.

He said many foundations will not support a state school because they think that responsibility belongs to the state.

Jeanne Powell, professor of biological sciences at Smith College, has also received large grants for her research in a skeletal muscle disorder found in mice.

According to Powell, this inherited muscle mutation known as muscle dysgenesis is similar to multiple sclerosis, and her studies have warranted two grants this year.

The first, a renewed grant from the Muscular Dystrophy Association of $26,244, is for her own research, while the second, a $96,445 grant from the National Institute of Health, supports the combined work on the project of Powell and two other Smith College scientists, Stan Scordilis and Richard Briggs.

Also involved in the actual research are four undergraduates and two graduate students at Smith.

Rothman said he received a $20,000 grant from the Earhart Foundation, and another from the Alcoa foundation of $5,000.

The project, which he said he has been working on for several years, involves close study of various elite groups in the United States. He said he hires firms to give out questionnaires to aid his work.

"I've been working on the subject for the past ten years," she said. "These two groups have been supporting me on and off for about 12 years."

Two more recent grants went to a professor of government, Stanley Rothman, for his large-scale study on "Social Leadership and Social Change."

"It's very expensive," he said. "It requires huge amounts of money to process the questionnaires."

Gove said other grants for Smith College include a discretionary grant of $25,000 from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, a gift of $4,000 to the Museum of Art from the National Endowment for the Arts, and an unrestricted grant of $1,800 from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

WMUA hosts discussion of Reagan

Tonight at 6, WMUA (University of Massachusetts radio, 91.1 FM) will air an interview with Gregory Speeter, co-author of a report citing effects of the Reagan administration's economic policies on Massachusetts' First Congressional District.

The interview is being broadcast as a special feature of "Focus," WMUA's weekly public affairs series produced by Vickie Bates and hosted by Kenneth Mosakowski.

The research document, "In Defense of the First District," which was released last week, includes federal budget impacts in such areas as jobs, housing, education, health care, energy, taxes, and nutrition. The report was prepared as part of the National Priorities Project of the Citizen Involvement Training Project at UMass.

DES effects start showing up again

By ABIGAIL BULKLEY
Collegian Correspondent

The effects of the synthetic hormone DES, administered to pregnant women in the past, are becoming apparent in their offspring who are now in their childbearing years, according to a member of DES Action National.

Of the 12 million women administered DES (diethylstilbestrol) during their pregnancies between 1941 and 1961, a large percentage will develop breast and other cancers and perhaps 4 to 6 million of their exposed children face possibilities of cancer, infertility and chronic miscarriages, said Patricia Sipes, professor of mathematics at Smith College, during a lecture last night entitled "DES: The Wonder Drug You Should Wonder About."

Two out of ten DES sons develop cysts, low sperm counts and testicular cancer, she said. "One third of the men may not be able to father children," said Sipes, who is a DES offspring now in her thirties.

"Our mothers thought it was the best thing. Doctors thought it would develop stronger, healthier babies and make normal pregnancies more normal," Sipes said. "DES was banned in 1971 by the Food and Drug Administration, but it is still used to reduce lactation and to treat breast cancers and more extreme cases of prostate cancer," she said.

"It is still believed that DES offers no real risks," Sipes said. "We have to watch and study, but the public health implication is that it is not yet a concern," she said.

DES was considered a "wonder drug" in 1948 when it was used as a cheaply produced estrogen replacement.

"At that time, the FDA said a drug need only have no side effects. It didn't have to work," Sipes said.

"Every DES daughter has her own story," Sipes said. One woman in the audience said she was taking 18 pills per day, while some women she knew were taking 500 milligrams each day.

"We believe there are 14 to 28 thousand people exposed in metropolitan Springfield alone. Find out if you're exposed and how to get the care you need. There will be a clinic opening in Springfield," she said.

Terry Ward, another DES daughter and DES Action member, said, "We would like to find DES people. If you don't know, go to a doctor and say you'd like to be treated as one until you know."

DES is still used in beef production to stimulate growth. In the 1950's it was used in chicken production, but was banned in 1959.

nylon wallets, canvas tote bags, SPRING SALE straw hats, india prin
voile sashes, folding umbrellas, chintz hats, stagelight cosmetics, musc
SPRING SALE mugs, tea kettles, coffee makers, espresso ma
sashes, bandanas, wok sets, wok tools, straw rugs, door m
baskets, bamboo window shades, SPRING SALE st
glassware sets, wine glasses, beer mugs, beverage
glasses, hats, SPRING SALE wine racks, mu
muscle t-shirts, roll bags, fashion umbrellas,
mugs, SPRING SALE madras sashes, b
bags, paper, pens, crayons, prints, c
desks, lamps, lanterns, bandanas
cosmetics, SPRING SALE
cards, games, toys, glasse
chintz hats, stagelig
SPRING SALE
umbrellas, m crayons, p muscle
toy

and that's just the half of it

Spring Sale

APRIL 21 - 30

FACES
A Store-full of Ideas

Downtown Amherst / Open Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5

Chancellor's Lecture Series

Alice S. Rossi

"The Gender Gap in Mainstream Politics"

Thursday, April 21, 8 p.m.
Campus Center Auditorium
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

WANTED
Student Organization to Rent Refrigerators On Campus
Big money making opportunity
Call Mrs. Masters
Person to Person; Collect
(212) 371-3500

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

STYLES BY DEBORAH • STYLES BY DEBORAH • STYLES BY DEBORAH •

NEW WAVE & DESIGN HAIRCUTS
$8.00 with this coupon
10.50 with shampoo & Blow Dry
11.50 long hair shampoo & Blow Dry
Free Consultations
please call for an appointment
STYLES BY DEBORAH
65 University Drive, Amherst
549-5610
C

CCC PRODUCTIONS

It's a "SHAME"....
that you don't have your tickets for Evelyn King
with special guest
Soulsonic Force
April 21
Fine Arts Center
8:00 P.M.
TIX:
UMass Students: 6.50, 7.50
Gen. Pub. 7.50, 8.50
Available at Fine Arts Center
URU, For the Record (Amherst)
and all Ticketron outlets
TONIGHT
Tickets Still Available

Churches play big role in dormitories, lifestyles at universities in Australia

This is the third in a series of articles written by Richard Martin, a University of Massachusetts student on exchange this semester in Australia.

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

BRISBANE, Australia — Various churches administer the dormitory life of Australian college students at the University of Queensland. This is possible because there is no separation of church and state in either the Australian or Queensland (state) constitutions. Also, because the on-campus population is only about 2,000 (despite the fact that there are 18,000 students studying at the University) it is easier for organizations like the Catholic and Methodist churches to manage student life.

The campus living facilities and the churches' roles in them are completely different from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. What is called a "residential area" at UMass (like Southwest or Central), the Australians call a "college." The university has nine colleges with about 200 people apiece in them, so each college is about the size of an average dormitory at UMass.

These colleges are managed by various churches and church officials.

The co-ordinator for each college is a leading church official, such as a deacon, minister, priest or nun. Australian students have considerably less freedom than American students because the churches are strict and play a dominant role in student life.

For instance, alcohol is banned on college property (don't even ask about drugs), chapel or mass is supposed to be attended three times a week, dinner is a bit more formal than a UMass dining commons, and "quiet" hours are much more extensive.

Australia's national past-time is beer-drinking, however, so there are more than enough local bars and pubs to compensate for the alcohol policy.

Each college provides tutors for their students, and each student in turn should contribute about an hour's worth of volunteer time per week towards things like running the snack bar, cleaning the recreation area, or maintaining the outdoor pool.

The colleges are not exclusive. In other words, a person of any denomination may live in any of the colleges. On the average, about 50 percent of the students are of the college's faith, and the other half is a mixture of different denominations. Attendance at church services is not mandatory if you are not of the college's particular faith.

Also, it is common for a person to move from one college to another, in the way that a UMass student would live one semester at Central and then move to Southwest. This is true primarily because of the rivalries between the colleges, especially in intramural athletics.

Although personal freedom is considerably less than what American college students are accustomed to, there are benefits. The food is excellent, your laundry is taken care of, everybody has a single room, the tutoring and academic services are good, and there is no aggravating security waiting at the front door to prevent you from entering the building. Students get to know everybody in the college on a first-name basis. Therefore, they are more or less able to police the hallways themselves.

However the system does tend to stunt the maturing process because students don't have to cope with "real world" problems, and most decisions are made for them. The church college acts as a cocoon which shelters students from worries that are not related to their direct academic education.

The importance of religion in Australian state universities is likely to decline in the future. The newest, largest colleges are non-denominational and are also the most popular. In addition, the University of Queensland is faced with a serious campus housing shortage that the University administration is trying to cure. Because the present churches have neither the desire nor the money to expand, the new colleges are likely to be non-denominational, thus decreasing the influence of churches on campus.

Thursday
OLDIES
with
Gregg Adams
TWO FOR ONE
9 til 11
all liquor drinks
no cover
THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

GOING SOMEWHERE IN A GROUP?
For your next trip—any size group—call or visit us for a price quotation. No obligation—it will be our pleasure to quote you our economical rates.

CHARTER SERVICE
To All Points In The U.S.A. And Canada.
• Mini-buses • School buses • Hotel, Meal & Sightseeing Arrangements • Luxurious Highway Coaches Restroom Equipped and Air-Conditioned • Express Bus Service to Bradley Airport. For Information, Call: 781-3320
Travel Time Bus Lines Inc
99 Arnold Street, Springfield, MA
General Office & Charter Service: 783-0211
Toll Free in MA 1-800-322-0297

CREATIVE T-SHIRTS
NOW OPENING
HAMPSHIRE MALL
Custom Printing and Lettering
Shirts for all sporting events
Fashion Tops, Baseball Hats
Quantity Discounts
586-9205

MBA at UNION
Schenectady, New York

Students serious about their long-term career know they need to impress their next employer. They also value an education that allows them to grow into top levels of management. The MBA Program at Union College offers a balance between valuable entry level skills and a broad perspective of the managerial process.

At Union students are encouraged to acquire some depth in an area of interest to them. Within the Private Sector MBA they choose from concentrations in Management Planning and Control, Production Management, International Management, and Computer Information Systems.

The core in Health Systems Management, one of a handful of accredited programs in New York State, prepares students for an exciting career in the expanding field of managing the nation's health services.

Consider the MBA at Union. You may qualify for a partial tuition waiver or for a graduate assistantship with a full tuition waiver and a stipend. GMAT scores, a good undergraduate GPA and three recommendations are required for admission. We want to make it possible for good students to attend a small, high quality program without regard to their financial means.

For information write or call (518) 370-6235
J. Schmee, Director
Institute of Administration and Management
Union College, Schenectady, New York 12308
Last round for the award of stipends is May 31, 1983.

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
HAPPY HOUR
MATINEE SPECIAL!
"CADDYSHACK"
BILL MURRAY • CHEVY & RODNEY
FREE!
4PM
TODAY

Get your career off to a flying start while you're still in college.

This is a great opportunity for men who want to be leaders and have the drive to earn the respect and self-confidence of a Marine Corps Officer.

You can get started on a great career with us while you're still in college and earn up to $100 a month in the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class (PLC). In PLC aviation we can guarantee flight school and civilian flying lessons during your senior year. And in PLC law we can guarantee summer employment in the legal field while you're gaining your advanced degree in law.

There are no interruptions of classes, no on-campus drills or uniforms during the school year. Initial training can be done in one of two ways. Freshmen and sophomores train in two six-week summer sessions and juniors have one ten-week session.

If you're entering college or are already on your way to a degree, check out the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class. Make an appointment with your Marine Corps Officer Selection Officer through your college placement center.

Marines

Maybe you can be one of us. The few. The proud. The Marines.

Annual Rope Pull
across campus pond
Postponed until MAY 13th
12:00 noon - 5 pm
sign up
Campus Center Concourse Table
Tues April 19 Thru Thurs April 21
Hours 10 - 4

Ross University
Schools of Medicine and Veterinary Medicine
Now accepting applications for study leading to degree in both Medicine and Veterinary Medicine. Courses taught in English. Programs under guidance of American Dean utilizing American curriculum. Transfer students accepted. Semesters begin July and November 1983. We are an accredited school and listed in W.H.O. and affiliated with U.S. hospitals for clinical rotation. Direct inquires to:
Ross University
Portsmouth, Dominica, W.I. Attention: Mr. Butler or Caribbean Admissions, Inc.
16 West 32 Street, New York, N.Y. 10001

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
256-8597
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small 2 item pizza
Only $4.00

Amherst Chinese Foods
Best Mandarin Food
62-64 Main St.
Amherst
Closed Wednesdays
WE DO NOT USE MSG OR ARTIFICIAL COLOR
We use FRESH Vegetables from Our Own Farm
BEER & WINE LICENSE
SUNDAY BRUNCH
ALL YOU CAN EAT
$5.95
253-7835

Cops catch thief with exam; equipment stolen from WMUA

By TAMI BORTON
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police apprehended a 20-year-old man who was allegedly attempting to steal a statistics exam, at 2:50 p.m. Tuesday.

The man was apparently offered $10 to take a STATS 121-3, Elementary Statistics exam from Goessman Laboratory, Room 253, according to the police report.

The suspect tried to take the exam and run with it, according to police logs reported by someone within the department.

A trespassing notice was issued to the man, who was not a student, and a criminal complaint is being sought by UMass police on charges of larceny.

A strobe light, fogger, a 500-watt three channel chaser and three adapters, valued at more than $1,000 were stolen from a storage area in the Student Union Ballroom sometime between 5 a.m. Sunday and 3:30 p.m. Monday, according to the report.

However, the larceny was not reported by campus radio station WMUA, which owned the equipment, until Tuesday, police said. There were no signs of forced entry, police said.

A man who stole a $500 IBM typewriter from Clark Hall, Room 104 was apprehended Monday, police said.

A Chevrolet Nova parked outside Dickinson Hall was vandalized sometime between 11 p.m. and 12 midnight Monday, police said. Police said damages to the side and roof totaled $175.

Art and culture workshop topic

"How Teachers of Young Children Use the Arts to Introduce Cultural Diversity" is the title of a workshop to be presented by Mercedes del Valle at 9:30 this morning in Room 20 of Skinner Hall. Del Valle will discuss the use of poetry, music, and art to enhance children's cultural awareness. This event is sponsored by the Departments of Early Childhood Education and Special Education.

Fenton's Anniversary Sale
April 21st - 30th
10%-30% Off Everything
Truck Sale - Saturday April 23rd
In Our Parking Lot
"Closeout Footwear"
Starts 9:00 A.M.
Fenton's Athletic Supply
377 Main Street, Amherst
253-3973

PIZZARAMA
FREE DELIVERY call 253-3808 or 256-0115
Open 7 days 5 - 1:30 for FREE DELIVERY
Small pizza 2 or more items
1 FREE can of soda
Medium or Large pizza 2 or more items
2 FREE cans of soda
when requesting for free sodas you must inform us that you have this coupon.
Offer expires May 15th
355 College St.
(next to Spirit Haus)

Birthday Sale-
The Shoe Bin is 12 Years Old and we're celebratin with a
BALLOON POPPIN' PARTY
Here's How It Works
20%-60% OFF
•Make your purchase
•Pick a balloon
•Pop it - Out comes your Lucky Number
•Numbers range from 20% to 60%
•Deduct that number from your purchase price and pay only the balance.
•You get to pop a balloon for each item you purchase
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
April 22, 23 & 24 Only
40% 20% 30% 60% 50%
the SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st., amherst, ma.

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
PRYOR FESTIVAL!
FREE!
RICHARD PRYOR
Filmed LIVE IN CONCERT
UNCENSORED
He drove 'em wild!
GREASED LIGHTNING
BOTH FILMS WED. & THURS.
SHOWN AT 8 & 10 PM

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Armenia is justly theirs

Another year goes by, and the Armenian people are still denied their national rights. For 68 years the Genocide continues for the Armenians who, living in exile, are threatened by assimilation. In these 68 years the Armenian people have made peaceful attempts in getting the just resolution of their cause but still remain ignored and unanswered.

Turkey still denies the fact of the genocide of 1.5 million Armenians by the Turkish governments between 1915 and 1922. After that time there remained fewer than 100,000 declared Armenians residing in Turkey. Armenian citizens of Russia were also subject to massacre during the Turkish invasions of 1918 and 1920. The Genocide is commemorated annually on April 24th by Armenians throughout the world.

Carol Boloian

About 80 percent of the Armenian homeland is occupied by Turkey and the remaining 20 is part of the Soviet Union. Most of the Turkish occupied Armenian lands are desolate and barren. Turkish governments have destroyed and will continue to destroy all the historical monuments that prove the land once belonged to the Armenians.

Today about 55 percent of the Armenian people are forced to live outside of their homelands, where they are condemned to lose their national identity. Presently the same Turkish government that refuses the recognition of the Armenian rights is persecuting and torturing Turkish political dissidents and ethnic minorities, such as the Kurds, in Turkey.

Presently the United States is supplying the Turkish government with arms and munitions. The United States is also trying to raise the amount of supplies in the future. In order to "legitimize" these shipments, the United States is covering up the tarnished image of Turkey with "good marks" in its yearly report on human rights.

Armenian citizens of Turkey are severely discriminated against and are threatened with cultural genocide. Armenian religious, educational, and cultural institutions are subjected to restrictive laws which cripple their ability to function.

Recently, the Department of State issued the following unprecedented "Note" at the conclusion of an article entitled: "Armenian Terrorism: A Profile" in the August, 1982, Department of State Bulletin:

"Because the historical record of the 1915 events in Asia Minor is ambiguous, the Department of State does not endorse allegations that the Turkish government committed a genocide against the Armenian people."

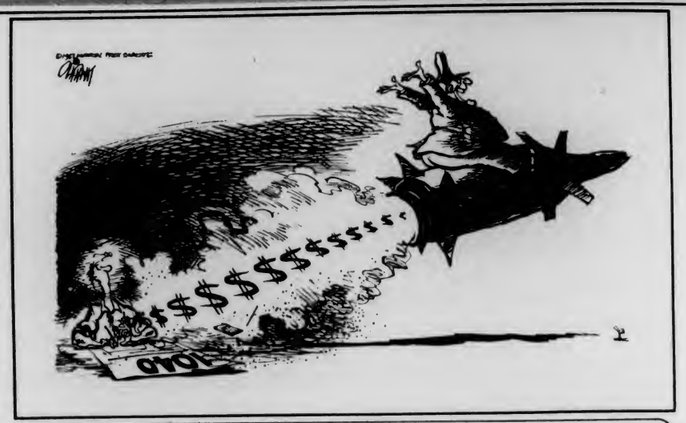
This inexplicable distortion will, and has been objected to by every Armenian-American organization. A disclaimer has been issued in the Department of State Bulletin to this statement because of the concern by the Republic of Turkey. It states:

"The article, "Armenian Terrorism: A Profile," which appeared in the feature on terrorism in the August, 1982, issue of the Bulletin, does not necessarily reflect an official position of the Department of State, and the interpretive comments in the article are solely those of the author."

Regardless of the immediate political interests, the Department of State must affirm the facts of the Armenian genocide and in so doing defend the principle of the inviolability of history. To do otherwise would set a precedent for future client states who seek to expunge their historical records.

The Turkish government must accept responsibility for the 1915 genocide of the Armenian people. The 60 years of silent frustration of the Armenian people is the result of the terrorist attacks against Turkish government representatives. Our patience has worn thin, we demand that our homeland occupied by Turkey be given back to the legitimate owners, The Armenian People.

Carol Boloian is a UMass student



Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

We need columnists!
Drop by with a piece, CC 113

Letters

SWAG budget is no picnic

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the article in a recent Collegian entitled "Full funding for Third World picnic denied by SWAG". The article seemed to imply that the reason the Southwest Area Government did not allocate the full $1200 the Malcom X center had requested was because of racial prejudice. I, for one, am greatly offended by this less than subtle accusation insinuated in the three selectively chosen quotes.

Nowhere was it mentioned that the finance committee recommending the complete amount was controlled by a majority of Malcolm X members, with nearly every Malcolm X representative also a finance committee member. There was also no mention of the fact that the Malcom X center had made no effort to fundraise for the event, even though this was suggested to them last year. The Malcolm X representatives constantly stated and restated that the picnic/concert was "open to everyone." This of course was the major flaw in their proposal as many families of students and other individuals who will attend the event have paid no money into the Student Activities Trust Fund. SWAG has a responsibility to students who pay the SATF fee not to allocate monies for the benefit of non-students. The article also did not reveal that the $880 amount allocated was actually a 10 percent increase over last year's amount. Considering this increase occurs even while SWAG has been level funded or reduced in funding for the past seven years, the $880 figure was a very generous amount. The story also neglected to mention that SWAG funds the Malcolm X center some $2800 a year in addition to the $880.

I suppose I could have expected such a column from the writer after he exclaimed during the meeting, "It's not fair. It just doesn't seen fair." His three quotations hardly depicted the two sided "fiery debate" he refers to in his first sentence.

The statement made by former Malcolm X director Neil Grant that the picnic is "the only thing black people and third world people can come to" is simply not true. It goes without saying that the third world community is welcome to attend all university functions. The same day's Nummo News publication had a full page of activities and events specifically geared to the Third World community. Included on the page are many that are directly and indirectly funded by SWAG.

In closing, I would like to make two points. First of all, to depict SWAG as "totally discriminatory" on the basis of not allocating the full amount requested for a Third World event is grossly unfair. Secondly, the record will show that the Southwest Area Government has long been a leader in supporting Third World events and fighting oppression and will continue to do so in the future.

Bill Collins
Southwest

Friday Greek melee childish

To the Editor:

Two items in last week's news that demand more exposure than they've received — a bouquet and a brickbat.

First the bouquet: why have the local newspapers ignored the fact that UMass/Amherst won an Oscar at the recent Academy Awards, courtesy of Buffy Sainte-Marie, '65? Buffy, a University alumna, won with her husband/collaborator, Jack Nitzsche (former keyboardist in Neil Young's band, Crazy Horse) for "Best Song" — the theme "Up Where We Belong" from An Officer and a Gentleman. Buffy also becomes, from all evidences, the first full-blooded Native American to win an Academy Award.

The University should be a little more generous about publicly honoring such a distinguished achievement on the part of its own!

And, alas, the brickbat — awarded this week to two UMass fraternities for a full-scale rumble which brought University, town and even State Police to the North Pleasant/Fearing Street area early Friday morning (April 15th) to separate the gangs.

Students and administration alike wince when the University is referred to in the media as "Zoo-Mass." But when we see senseless, pointless, unpardonable, unconscionable and publicly-embarrassing conduct like this taking place in full view of town residents, (the scene to passing motorists on North Pleasant looked like something out of The Warriors, who can deny that these all-too-typical UMies are acting in a way which would not even be tolerated in a zoo?

I'd like to know what the hell is going through their alleged minds — with all the problems in the world which could be bettered by the application of even one-tenth of this want only destructive energy, can't the Greeks find something positive to do, to help improve their community, instead of bashing each other's brains with no evident point or purpose?

It was an absolutely disgusting display, and all involved ought to be ashamed of themselves. I believe all involved owe an apology to the residents of Amherst as well — who are forced to spend their tax dollars fronting SWAT teams to separate the belligerent UMies.

Come on, you guys — grow up.

Dave Beauvais
Amherst

Greeks confront bad image

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Elizabeth Luciano's editorial in the 4/20 Collegian. Her article dealt with the unfortunate experience of being "slipped a mickey" at a fraternity party last weekend.

I feel for her because I would not want anyone tampering with my drink at a social gathering. Aren't parties for everyone to enjoy themselves without worrying about being drugged?

The reason for this letter is to ask Ms. Luciano why she failed to realize this episode could have happened at any party? It could have just as easily happened at a dorm or Brittany Manor party. Would you have blamed the RA, or the apartment manager? I doubt it.

Aren't you stereotyping the fraternities? Did you know that the party you were at had many non-fraternity members in attendance?

Was it not a brother, your friend who helped you through the ordeal? I think you are confusing the issues. The issue at hand is that someone violated your bodily right to have a good time at a party. The issue is not the distrust of fraternity members.

Fraternities and sororities are involved on campus — it's not just the parties they're after. Many members are involved in campus leadership such as: SGA, the Treasurer's Office, Mortar Board (national honor society), ARCON (university tour guide service) and the Newman Club.

Do you recognize the charitable activities in which these groups are involved? With Greek Week just around the corner it should be mentioned that there will be a charity softball tournament on May 4th (all proceeds go to the March of Dimes).

One unfortunate incident at a fraternity party should not negate all the good the Greek Area has done in the past and will continue to do. I do not condone what happened to you Ms. Luciano, and yes you should be more wary of people in general. As a journalist you should not condem an entire system on the perverted actions of one individual who may not even be a member of that system.

Jenny Winslow
Chi Omega

TABLOIDS: A new world

The words caught me immediately:

"In her suburban hometown, she was known as Cheri Benton, a former beauty queen, an assistant to the principal of a Sacramento high school.

"In a San Francisco newspaper ad, she was 'Ms. Brandi,' a sensual sadist offering sexual services to a 'few select supplicant slaves.'"

I continued reading.

Her husband, the paper said, was "the protector in the sado-masochistic brothel where his wife...worked with chains, leather straps, whips, and other implements of torture."

For a moment I looked up from the article "SEX SLAVE SCANDAL IN CALIFORNIA" as someone dropped the New York Times in front of me. Headlines said China had shelled Cambodia and was threatening Vietnam with war. Vermont was crippled by a freak snowstorm. The Pentagon had warned the Soviets about sending arms to Latin America, and Polish police harassed a pro-Solidarity crowd in Warsaw and arrested its leader.

I returned to my tabloid. Cheri Benton and her husband

Mary Cresse

Bill, a high school football coach, pleaded no contest to the misdemeanor charge of operating a front for the world's most popular profession, and she even admitted to being "skimpily clad woman who posed with naked men in photographs found there." What's more, Liz Taylor ate three small pecan pies after finishing a chunk of pate and a slice of mushroom quiche at a "posh Beantown eaterie" after her performance in her latest play at the Shubert Theatre.

I like reading the Boston Herald American. Sometimes I pick up the New York Post. I'm always razzed for it — "crap", my friends say — but city tabloids give me news I can't find in any other newspaper, not the ones I read daily, anyway. Tabloids are fun because they give you regular news mixed in with the weird, the stomach-turning, and the unexpected. They're honest, too, in a way; they make no bones about their ethical differences from more erudite, more respected newspapers like the Boston Globe or the New York Times.

"LEPER RAPE VICTIM BEARS MONSTER BABY." This tabloid front page headline, for instance, unabashedly tasteless but nevertheless authentic, told you everything you needed to know in one neat sentence. It's an account of a poor women's struggle with this incident and her ability to aid the police in capturing the suspect. Just because she caught leprosy. Information like that could be helpful for criminologists seeking new ways of tracking people.

They have unusual human interest stories, too, I found out in the Herald the other day about "How a Tupperware Party Inspired the Artificial Heart." Now this could be seen as a medical breakthrough. Someone who designed the artificial heart went to a Tupperware party and among the hermetically-sealed "burping" food containers thought of the plastic part of the heart connecting artificial arteries to real ones. Just by looking at a plastic bowl. But did the Globe have anything on it? No.

And did you know "Using Liquid to Swill Food Will Fatten You Up"? Dr. Audrey Eyton is a nutritionist who treats fat people and she says they are more likely to gain weight when they drink heavily during a meal because, she says, it has become a habit in our society to reach for food after having a beverage whether or not we are actually hungry. I never knew that. Hell, sometimes I do it myself.

A journalism student could learn from these papers. Take the fascinating way they are laid out. I'd like to have a drink with the person who placed an ad for roadside inns and motels beside the sex scandal story and adjacent to the announcement of the appearance of Veronica Lueken, the Long Island housewife who supposedly transmits messages from God and the saints through her body. (Lueken, by the way, predicts there will be a "great Warning" from God who will make the sky "roll back like a scroll" and emit a "fiery Ball of Redemption" causing famine, plague, and riots.) Now, someone had to sit down and think of that.

Anyway, that's my news for the day. As far as I know, Liz hasn't gained any more weight, but things look dismal for Burt and Loni. For the "real news", rifle through the Wall Street Journal. But the next time you pass a newsstand, grab me a tab. I want the only news that matters.

Mary Cresse is an associate news editor for the Collegian

Sound off with your letters to the editor!!

The painful decision of abortion

You know those signs in the buses that say "Pregnant? Need help? Call..." that we all look at and wonder which of the women on the bus is actually answering the ominous question affirmatively and making a mental note of the number? Well, I am one of those women. I really never thought I would be, but then again Lady Luck hasn't always been on my side.

Like many women, I always thought if I ever got pregnant in school, I'd just get an abortion and it would be all over with — no cravings, no bitchiness, no labor pains. Most of all, I wouldn't have to face my family over a stomach three times it's normal size. (That is my worst fear. What would it be like? "Hi Mom, Hi Dad, guess who's coming to dinner?" Or, 'Dear parents, I know how much you wanted another grandchild, so...?")

But still I am faced with the decision of what to do. Do I abort, not to go through all the physical but suffer emotional pain; or do I wait out the pregnancy, give my baby up and deal with all the emotions generated from that?

Abortion always seemed so easy. No one would ever have to know except my baby, my child's father and me. With an abortion, I could just continue with school and be the same student I've always been. It would just be a chapter of my life I could end, never to reread. Or could I?

Now that I am pregnant, having an abortion doesn't seem so right anymore. Now I have a life growing inside of me every minute. My baby wants to grow up and live a happy life too. But I guess if I have an abortion, I can just tell my baby, "No, you can't grow up. It interferes with my life, so I'm just going to end your life before you even have a chance to begin one." Or I can explain to this child inside of me that being pregnant will mean that I'll have to quit school if I don't have an abortion. "You see," I can say, "I really wanted the activity to conceive you, but I don't want the responsibility."

So with these excuses in mind, I can go to the clinic and have them suck my baby out of me with their little vacuum. And as they do that, I can tell this baby, "I'm sorry I'm doing this, but you came at the wrong time. You see, I'm in school...there's a really bad population problem anyway...it's so much easier this way. You'll see."

Who knows what my baby might be? And I may not even give it a chance. But on the other hand, I may be losing many chances myself by having the baby, and is that worth it? Can I justify continuing the pregnancy, and giving up my child to some stranger, never to see this part of me ever again?

My baby's father thinks I should have an abortion. I always thought I would too. But now I wonder exactly how feasible it is when I think about myself. I have never hurt anyone intentionally in my whole life, but now I have that option open to me. And it's an option so tempting and so easy that it really scares the hell out of me. No matter what I do, my baby and I (and to a lesser extent, the baby's father) will be affected for a lifetime. (That is, if I decide to let my baby live.)

So now I am faced with a decision that's harder than anything I've ever faced before. It's harder than picking a grad school or deciding which job offer I'll accept when I graduate. This decision is so difficult because I have a decision to make about another life. I can't decide whose life is more important...mine or my child's. Granted, my child doesn't even really look human yet, but do I have the right to deny it to aspire to human qualities because that's what most fits in with my schedule?

I can just get this whole business of pregnancy over with right now by aborting like I always thought I would before I got pregnant; or I can go on with the pregnancy and deal with all the social stigmas attached to being a pregnant, single college student in a society that claims that all pregnancies before marriage are "illegitimate." Now that all of this is happening, I'm not sure the decisions I made before I was pregnant are right. Should I be practical for me or for my child?

The author of this piece wishes to remain anonymous

Nuclear reduction replaces destruction

People prescribing to any of the tenants of conservative philosophy are generally characterized as being content with the status quo. Be they constituents of the Old Guard or the New Right constructionist Democrats, populists, or some may go as far to simply say "realists," all are taken to possess an abhorence of change. "Any change is a change for the worse." The actions of the current administration, however, have given little credence to this misconception. Conversely, it seems those on "the other side of the aisle" have become the standard bearers against change. Constructive change.

Timmi Rudolph

The examples speak for themselves.

In the face of an ever-escalating arms race, the Nixon administration went about seeking and concluding an arms limitation treaty. Carter, in a similar vein, went about to do the same. The result — SALT II, and though embraced by the Soviet Union it was not well received by the US Senate after the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, although in dedication to the issue we follow its example today. Along comes President Reagan, and he realized what the American people actually want, and knew what the continued survival of the human race actually needs, as a result, he changed the call from nuclear arms production limitations to true nuclear arms reductions. The Strategic Arms Reductions Talks and the Geneva talks continue. His Zero Option plan for nuclear arms on the European continent would virtually eliminate an entire category of nuclear weapons from the face of the earth. Such a sweeping step would render unnecessary the deployment of a number, if not all, of NATO theater nuclear missiles later this year. Soviet resolve against zero-zero has been tremendous, although an intermediate negotiations compromise has been offered.

In any discussion dealing with the defense of this nation, the virtues of the "freeze movement," and the lack thereof, are bound to come up. The Soviet Union is a clear proponent of the nuclear freeze, to the point where they have dedicated resources to such a cause in Europe and here. According to a recently declassified March 1983 FBI report, "during the past two years, the Soviet Union has increased its efforts in the United States to exploit popular causes such as peace and disarmament...to penetrate, influence and mobilize the US peace movement and to discredit American defense in arms control and disarmament policies." I don't blame the Soviet Union for promoting the nuclear freeze. I really don't, although I think it would be appropriate if they limited such activities to their own shores.

A nuclear freeze would freeze the Soviet Union into a position of superiority in a number of armament categories, not rough parity. The key is, even if rough parity could be reached, does the American public want a freeze, which would undermine the efforts towards reductions at the negotiating table, or does the American public want real reductions.

The efforts of well-financed PAC committees are trying to push a freeze resolution through the US House of Representatives. A compromise which would have amended the statement to read "freeze and/or reductions," sponsored by Representative Mark Siljander, was narrowly defeated by a vote of 215-209. Such a solution even liberal Boston Globe columnist Mary McGrory agreed "offered a way out" for the administration to pursue its policy initiatives. It gives one pause to think that in the fever of "freezing," certain politicians are disregarding and weakening the goal of "reducing." In the interests of national as well as world security, I believe I am safe in the assumption that the American public would prefer the latter rather than a perpetuation of a problem gone arwy.

In the evolution of a real defense for this nation's citizenry, the President recently announced a policy initiative to change our posture on nuclear weaponry from an offensive role of deterrence through possible use to defense and the development of a nuclear weapons shield. The attributes of advanced technology and of American perserverance, this administration vowed a shift. A shift from the possibility of world destruction to protection from a nuclear holocaust. A fundamental shift from offense in nuclear weapons to defense and a commitment to world peace. The old maxim undergoes a needed metamorphasis — The best defense is a real defense.

Admittedly, a program of such proportions and such ramifications for preservation will take time to implement, into the next decade at least by recent estimates. But it is achievable. The terror of mass destruction by these weapons has too long hung over the peoples of the world. As to the question of stability in the nuclear age, the administration has gone as far as to offer to make available the technology to the Soviet Union for their own system. The only destabilization is the destabilization of an establishment philosophy which has for a long time promoted the continual building of destructive and offensive weapons systems and peace only through fear. The answer to the nuclear question is not a doomsday device mindset, it is to render these weapons ineffectual.

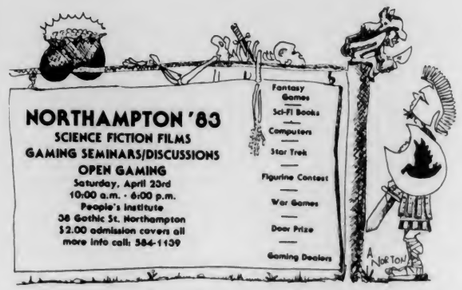
Nuclear reductions coupled with real defense can replace forever the policies of mutual assured destruction. Bluntly, M.A.D. is mad. Faced with the possibilities and confronted with the consequences, we are offered a truly great hope. A hope for this nation's citizenry and for all humanity.

Timmi Rudolph is a UMass student

Northampton
a shopping event!

THE GLOBE BOOKSHOP
Fine New & Used Books
Bought & Sold
Open 9 am til 9 pm Monday - Saturday
Open 10 am - til 5 pm Sunday
38 Pleasant St., Northampton
584-0374

DYNAMITE RECORDS
Regular Spring Tape Prices
TDK-SA 90 - $2.50
MAXELL-UDXL II - $3.00
$30/case of 12
Theres a marketplace plus!
5 floors.
40 + Unique Shops & Restaurants



NOW OPEN
at The GRANARY
102 Main St.
Northampton
584-0691
TOWN FARM
RESTAURANT & SALAD EXPRESS
Watch for our Fresh Fruit & Salad Cart
at the bus stop in Amherst Ctr.
International & Vegetarian Specialties

When you hit the road, does the road hit back?
The New Balance 460 keeps your feet from taking a beating. The Revcel midsole is light and springy for comfort. And the durable Superflex outersole provides exceptional shock absorption. So you can hit your stride. Without getting hit back.
new balance 460

$49.75
Runner Shop
114 Main St.
Northampton
Mon - Sat 9:30 - 5
586-1971

Your Ad Here Could Reach 25,000

Spring Alive with Fantastic Sound
SANYO
Mini Stereo Cassette Player with lightweight headphones
SALE $29.88
Reg. $34.95 MG8

SANYO

Mini Stereo Cassette Player with lightweight headphones
• Dolby Noise Reduction
• Anti-Rolling Mechanism
• Metal capable
SALE $58.88
Reg. $79.95
The Electronics Center
32 Pleasant St., Northampton, MA 01060
586-2270

CHONA
Henry Grethel
Williwear Men
Daniel Hechter
Ruffini
British Khaki

CONTEMPORARY FASHION FOR MEN
NOW OPEN SUNDAY 12-5
MEN
2nd FLOOR
THORNES MARKET
150 MAIN STREET, NORTHAMPTON

EAST HEAVEN TUB CO
Our Roof Tub Is Open To The Stars!
Private Hot Tub Rooms
West St. Northampton
For Reservations: 11am-1am 586-6843

Arts

Live Wire
by Dave Chevan

A great opportunity for music fans arrives on campus tonight. Evelyn (formerly "Champagne") King will be at the Fine Arts Center. Remember her classic, "Shame, Shame, Shame"? Well, for those of you who haven't listened to the radio in the past four years, Evelyn has grown up, and has become a very classy performer. A friend of mine who did sound on Evelyn's road show a few years ago has informed me that her live act is one of the hottest on the soul circuit. She's a dynamic performer with a strong back up band. Opening the show tonight will be those planet rockers, Soulsonic Force.

Tomorrow night's big event is hard to determine. There's a choice, four different sounds, depending upon your preference. Lou Miami and the Kozmetix will spread the new wave sound through the resounding chambers of the Blue Wall. Meanwhile, country-rock is revived at the Rusty Nail by Jerry Jeff Walker. The classiest act of the night will perform at the Hangar One. Kate and Anna McGarrigle have written some of the best material Linda Ronstadt performs. This is a rare opportunity to hear some of the prettiest music the rock world has to offer. For those who like to skank, Loose Caboose, the hot local reggae band will be at the Wok. I know most people think that Men at Work invented reggae music, but, hard as it is to believe, this sound has been around for nearly twenty years. Even Loose Caboose is, in a sense, an imitation of the real thing. But they do it quite well.

Tomorrow night every kid from New Jersey will feel at home checking out the Massachusetts Springsteen clones, The Stompers. They do what they do well, so if you're into it, they'll be at the Hangar.

Due to enormous pressure from higher authorities, I am forced, much as I hate to do it, to announce the arrival of a new music trivia contest, the great ALBUM GIVEAWAY. Submit your answers by next Wednesday, to Arts Desk, 113 Campus Center. GOOD LUCK!

1. Name two of the Beatles managers.
2. What famous Motown group did Diana Ross discover?
3. What band did Thomas Dolby play for before he wrote "Blinded by Science?"

Sal Baglio of the Stompers will take some time off from cruising the streets of Eastie to perform at the Hanger Saturday night.

After The Snow: melting sound

AFTER THE SNOW
Modern English (Sire)

By ELAINE SENAY
Collegian Staff

The release of After The Snow by Modern English presents us with an unusual dilemma. The album is beautifully produced by Hugh Jones who has done work for Echo & The Bunnymen. And Modern English's performance here is nothing to turn up your nose at. The songs are accessible even to those who are not familiar with them. But this is where the confusion starts.

Modern English doesn't seem to have an identity on this record. The single "I Melt With You" is the only indication that the quintet has its own sound. Modern English seems to want to please everyone and they forgot about themselves. Unlike other bands who are in this situation, this bunch still comes across with a good, listenable record.

"Someone's Calling" displays the band's competence instrumentally. On the majority of these songs, you can tell some care was taken with the arrangements. "Someone's Calling" possesses a solid beat thanks to bassist Michael Conroy and drummer Richard Brown. As guitar and synthesizer fill in the sound, Robbie Grey's vocals unify a song that never becomes heavy-handed.

"Face of Wood" is a definite relief from the previous track "Life In The Gladhouse." While the latter is obscure, the former is open and enjoyable. Modern English makes use of drums to fan out the sound. The song is warmed by the bass lines as guitar and keyboards follow suit. "Face of Wood" is overproduced but you only sense this during the guitar solo, the keyboards sounding like something out of Depeche Mode. The slick, smooth production keeps the song from standing on its own.

"Dawn Chorus" ends side one and it's the strongest song on the entire record. Modern English scores high with this subtle tune, as the pace slows and the rhythm takes its time. The atmosphere is streamlined by drums and keyboards, and the song has a soaring quality that shows Modern English can deliver.

"I Melt With You" starts out side two and is an enduring club favorite. "After the Snow", however, is the weakest song on the album; Robbie Grey's vocals can't survive over the disappointing playing. Shame on you guys.

"Carry Me Down" sounded very Men At Work-esque especially the flute. The song reminds me of their latest single from Cargo. But it's a good song in itself. The slow, romantic mood also reminded me of Split Enz on Time And Tide. It seems Modern English has a bit of an identity crisis here.

On "Tables Turning Turning," the crisis continues with Modern English serving up some Flock of Seagulls. The keyboards are thick and abstract, and the vocals are inaudible because Robbie Grey forgot to project his voice beyond a mumble.

After The Snow seems to indicate two possible avenues that Modern English could travel. Either they get a shrink and create their own sound or they become more commercial to ensure record-sales security. In the meantime, their first album is accessible and that is worth something.

In celebration of Israel's 35th anniversary of independence, the University of Massachusetts B'nai B'rith Hillel, the Five College Hillel and the UMass Arts Council will bring The Parvarim, Israel's dynamic folk duo, to perform at 8:00 p.m. Saturday April 23 in the Campus Center Auditorium. The Parvarim, Yossi Hori and Ori Harpaz, are from Iraq and Yemen, respectively, and will perform a repetoire of traditional and contemporary Israeli songs, as well as selections in Yiddish, Ladino, Greek, Spanish and English.

The performance is part of a valley-wide evening of festivities, including dancing and Middle Eastern food, presented in cooperation with the Jewish Community of Amherst, Congregation B'nai Israel of Northampton, Temple Israel of Greenfield, and Congregation Sons of Zion of Holyoke.

Tickets are $3.00 for the general public, and $2.00 for students. For further information call 545-2526.

The Fine Arts Center has internships available in
* Arts Management
* Concert Hall and Facilities Management
* Facilities Management; Backstage Management
* Publicity and Promotion
-- Summer Session and Fall Semester --
Inquire at the Office of Internships
16 Curry Hicks 545-0727
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Student artwork tense

JUDITH MALONEY
April 4-15
Student Union Gallery

By NELLIE SCIUTTO
Collegian Correspondent

Tension. If only one word was to be used to describe the mood of Judith Maloney's thesis exhibit, it would be "tension". The only color blended into this black and white collection is blood red. Although there is a depressing heaviness to her sculptures and drawings, there is, nevertheless, something that draws the viewer to investigate, to look further into Ms. Maloney's work.

The walls of the gallery display charcoal drawings, most of which have more than one dimension. The drawings seem to be in a progression that eventually leads to the evolution of four sculptures hanging in the center of the room. The fact that they are suspended from the ground exemplifies the completion of the progression.

At first glance, I feel that many viewers would be disturbed. Not turned off, or disappointed, but surprised. The artist herself explains that her previous works have included many bright, water-color paintings. This leaves one questioning what drew Ms. Maloney to create this exhibit. It is clear that this does not represent a carefree, unburdened part of her life.

These recent works are not depressing, but distressing. They seem to demand your sympathy. The first drawings are rounded and especially full at the bottom, therefore creating a feeling of heaviness. The drawings protrude. At the tops are openings that often reveal deep red. The later drawings have centers that are pulled tautly in the direction of each of the four corners. Nearly every drawing has something holding it together - a zipper or wiring. It is this "mending" of each drawing that brings some sort of hope to these works. Even in hard-core reality, there should always be a small amount of hope.

Judith Maloney is completing her B.F.A. degree this year, and spent the past school year at Exeter College of Art Design in England. Her thesis works were on display from April 4 to April 15 at the Student Union Gallery. On Sunday, April 10, there was the opening from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

The artist's drawings and sculptures are powerfully symmetrical and they leave a strong impression on the viewer.

SONY

HAND-HELD CASSETTE-CORDER WITH GREAT SOUND, INSTANT-EDIT

At last, there's a hand-held cassette-corder with great features, big, clear sound, and a very affordable price tag. Perfect for students and adults alike, it offers superior playback quality in a compact, lightweight size. Its features include cue and review, instant-edit, and automatic shut-off to protect your cassette and minimize wear. And its convenient portability makes it perfect for use in the home or outdoors. The TCM-131. For great sound right in the palm of your hand.

Sale priced at $32.95 List $49.95

Save $15.00

Limited quantities

Model Number TCM 131

OPEN M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Newman Center
North Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01003

Run For Ritter

Sponsored by Saucony

WHERE:
Amherst
WHEN:
April 23, 1983
Saturday - 10:00 am
WHY:
To benefit the Covenant House of Boston

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT:

The Newman Center 549-0300

Pick-up race forms and sponsor sheets at the Newman Center

STOP

There's no need to hurry!
Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

Candy	Film	Newspapers
Tobacco	Film Processing	Tote Bags
Cards	Clocks	School Supplies
Calendars	Batteries	Typewriter Ribbons
Cassette Tapes	Electrical Supplies	Glassware
Books	Lamps	Cups
Backpacks	Magazines	Decals
Clothing	Memo Board	Pennants
Gifts	Pens and Pencils	Chips
Cosmetics	Binders	Cookies
Health and Beauty Aids	Notebooks	Popcorn
	Paper	Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528

Located in the Student Union

Convenient Hours
M-F 7:30 am to 10:00 pm
Saturday and Sunday
8:30 am to 10:00 pm

the Mini Store

Budweiser.
KING OF BEERS.

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

Badminton Finals Tues 21 April 6 pm
Bicycle Race entries due 26 April Race 30 April 0900
Novice Race: 5 miles (no entry fee)
Expert: 25 miles ($2. entry fee) Awards

Basketball forfeit fees are in and may be picked up M-F 8:30-9:30 - ID card 215 Boyden

Softball Playoff Drawing 2 May 6 pm Boyden 223
Soccer Playoff Drawing 5 May 6 pm Boyden 223
ID cards (no substitutes) must be presented for each and every playoff game - no excuses accepted

Track Meet entries due 21 April, starting date 26 April 3:30

Squash Finale 20 April Tad Reutter vs Howard Gadlin

For information concerning postponed Softball/Soccer games call 545-2693 or 545-0022

The IM Office is closed from 5 pm Fridays until Monday am open play schedules may be obtained by calling tips 545-1540 ask for tape 2459 pools, 2453 gymnasium, squash/racquetball courts 2471, weight rm 2476

GENUINE GENUINE

this Bud's for you!

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed only on the day they are taking place. Announcements must be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, and returned to the office by 3 p.m. the Friday before the event. All submissions should be written in a similar style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Friday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

PRE-VET CLUB MEETING - Come and see what it's all about. Everybody is welcome. 7 p.m., Paige 202.

ANTI-RACISM TEAM MTG. - The team will discuss the anti-Klan rallies in Meridan & Boston. We will also discuss future plans. All are welcome. 4 p.m., Dukes Room.

WINE & CHEESE CONVERSATION HOURS - Come speak French and Italian in a relaxed atmosphere with native speakers. An excellent opportunity to meet new people and practice your speaking ability. All are welcome. 12 to 2 p.m., Herter 3rd Floor Lounge.

ACCOUNTING ASSOC. & BAP - Laventhol & Horwath proudly present "Advantages & disadvantages of working in an international non-big eight public accounting firm." 12:30 p.m., SBA Faculty Lounge.

GRADUATE STUDENT EMPLOYEES COMMITTEE - There will be a meeting for anyone interested in discussing wages and working conditions of assistants. Unionization will be one of the topics discussed. 3 p.m., C.C. 163.

WINE & CHEESE CONVERSATION HOURS - Come speak French and Italian in a relaxed atmosphere with native speakers. An excellent opportunity to meet new people and practice your speaking abiity. All are welcome. 12 to 2 p.m., Herter 3rd Floor Lounge.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS MEETING - Is anyone concerned about our coffee shop or our student fee? Something about the C.C. or S.U. must bother you? We want to know. 6 p.m., Rm. 805 C.C.

COMMUNICATIONS CLUB - Meeting. Club officer nominations will be taken. 4 p.m., Machmer E-37.

AMERICAN INDIAN ISSUES - In the spirit of Crazy Horse - speakers: Mark Banks, Winona LaDuke, Lew Gurwitz & Slow Turtle. Films: "Big Mountain," "Leonard Crow Dog," & Leonard Peltier. 6 to 10 p.m., C.C. 101.

ANTI-KLAN MEETING - There will be a meeting concerning the Klan rallies. Everyone welcome. 4 p.m., C.C. check schedule.

WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP PROJECT - We will be discussing women's issues and upcoming relevant events. All women are invited. 6:30 p.m., 415 Student Union.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL TECHNICIAN CONTINUING EDUCATION - Robert Carll (REMT-P) will speak on "The EMT's Role in Critical Care Transfers." Submitted to OEMS for 3 CEU hours. 6:30 p.m., Cooley Dickenson Hospital, Northampton.

PRE-MED CLUB MEETING - Very important meeting. Sign-ups for Cooley Dickenson Hospital tour April 27th and more fundraiser plans to be discussed. Call Karen (546-4111) for more info. 7 p.m., Suffolk Room, SUB.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE COLLEGE ORGANIZATION - Meets every Thursday. Everyone is welcome to come, listen and ask questions. 7 p.m., Campus Center.

BIOCHEMISTRY AND MICROBIOLOGY MAJORS - Career forum for undergraduate majors. 7:30 p.m., 1634 GRC Tower C.

CONCERT: FIVE COLLEGE CHAMBER SOLOISTS - Directed by Ronald Steele, the Chamber Soloists will perform works by C.P.E. Bach and J.S. Bach. Also on the program, Aaron Copland's Piano Quartet performed by a faculty ensemble. The twelve musicians in the Chamber Soloists are drawn from the student body, faculty, and community at large. Free. 8 p.m., Bezanson Recital Hall.

LECTURE: CURRENT CRISIS IN MEXICO - Dan Labotz to speak on: The Current Crisis in Mexico and its Effect on Popular Movements. 8 p.m., C.C 162-175.

COFFEE HOUSE - Come to a coffee house. Free entertainment. Munchies. This is a bowl week event. 8 p.m., Webster Main Lounge.

25-PLUS CLUB ROLLER SKATING - Meet at the Campus Center for car pool to Interskate 91. Replaces regular meeting. For info Tel. 545-2145. 8:30 p.m. C.C. Info Desk.

Good friends will be there come hell or high water.

Your friends didn't know a scrum from a dropkick. And they obviously didn't know enough to get out of the rain. But they did know how much this rugby game meant to you. So they hung in there–downpour and all.

Now that the game's over, make your best move of the day. Löwenbräu for everybody.

Löwenbräu. Here's to good friends.

© 1983 Beer Brewed in U.S.A. by Miller Brewing Co. Milwaukee WI

Student Housing, Chi Rho welcomes applications from single grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores. Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

Wholewheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
256-8587
Thursday Special
Large Mushroom Pizza only $5.50

Recycle this Collegian

HANGAR ONE
Thurs April 21 A night of total rock 'n roll!
FOX
Fri. April 22 2 for 1 bar drinks til 10:30
Direct from Carnegie Hall sellout in NYC
Kate & Anna McGarrigle
all tickets $7.50
Boardwalk recording artists
Sat. April 23
the Stompers

guests R-Complex $3.50
Coming The Lines 4/28, Berlin Airlift 4/29, Rubber Rodeo 4/30, Loose Caboose 5/2, November Group 5/6, James Montgomery 5/7.
Coming May 4 Jonathan Edwards
Available for private parties
18 and older w/ID 253-2280

YOU GIVE SIX MONTHS TO ONE YEAR ISRAEL GIVES YOU PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE
EXPLORE THE UNIQUE OPPORTUNITIES OF SHERUT LA'AM
Sciences • Community Relations • Teaching
Social Work • Health • Environmental Protection
There's something for you in Israel. Contact:
AMERICAN ZIONIST YOUTH FOUNDATION
515 Park Ave., NY, NY 10022 (212) 751-6070 Ext. 247/248
Celebrate Israel Independence Day with The Parvarim
Sat. April 23 at 8 pm CCA
For more info on programs in Israel, contact: Debora Propper, 302 Student Union, 545-2526
Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
School _____ Year _____ Major _____

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
FRIDAY
LOU MIAMI
Fabulous... Foolish... Funky & Fun
AND GUESTS: PRIME MOVERS $3.00

KOZMETIX

YOUR LAST 2 YEARS OF COLLEGE COULD BE YOUR FIRST 2 YEARS OF MANAGEMENT.

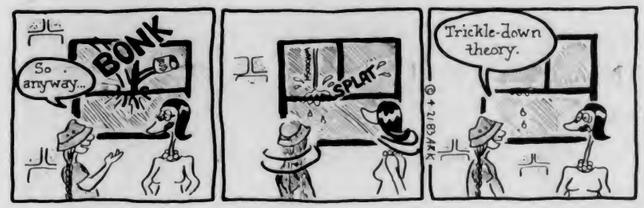
The Army ROTC 2-year program trains you to become an officer for a modern organization—today's Army—which also includes the Army Reserve and Army National Guard.
An officer who is not only a leader of men, but a manager of money and materials as well.
That's why one of the things you'll learn in our 2-year program is management training skills.
Your training will start, the summer after your sophomore year, at a six-week Army ROTC Basic Camp.
You'll earn over $400 for attending Basic Camp. And up to $1,000 for each of your last 2 years of Army ROTC.
But the biggest reward comes on graduation day. That's when you receive both a degree in your chosen major and a commission. And join the Army management team.
For more information, write.
ARMY ROTC. LEARN WHAT IT TAKES TO LEAD.
Contact James C. Mahoney 545-2321/2322

ENGINEERING STUDENTS
AIM HIGH
If you're a senior or second semester junior and have a 2.5 GPA in electrical engineering, you might qualify for the Air Force College Senior Engineering program (CSEP). CSEP members are paid nearly $1,000 per month during their senior year! Your commitment is 4 years as a commissioned officer on the Air Force Aerospace Engineering Team after graduation and completion of the three month Officer Training School. If you want to be part of the leading edge of technology. . CHECK US OUT!
Call TSgt Art Courtemanche (413) 786-0352
AIR FORCE
A great way of life

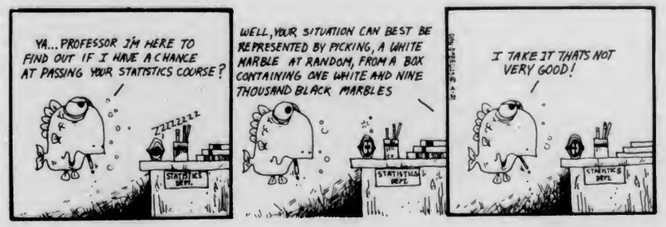
Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK



Scrod By Dan DeBellis



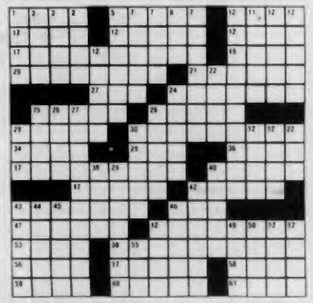
After the Fall By R. Miller

CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe
©1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Collars
5 Monks' leader
10 Search, as the horizon
14 ——-fisted
15 Faith
16 Napoleon's weapon
17 Sweets
19 —— about
20 Stimulated
21 Needed
23 Filer or piper Abbr.
24 Kitchen implements
25 "The Ruler of the Queen's ——"
28 Kind of ray
29 Caesar, for one
30 Small oranges
34 Boy detective of fiction
35 Solution: Abbr.
36 Bird of 32 Down
37 Type of lace
40 Old-womanish
41 Type of water wheel
42 Leather
43 Of the stomach
46 Crystal-lined rock cavity
47 Sea between Greece and Sicily
48 Unperturbed
53 Muffin favorite
54 Sweetie
56 French infinitive
57 Notched, as a leaf
58 Hollywood name
59 Ticket-order enclosures: Abbr.
60 Married again
61 Lioness of book and movie

DOWN
1 Unless: Lat.
2 Make —— for it
3 Quagmires
4 Fastener
5 Build up
6 Scottish hillsides
7 Give in
8 —— Fellow
9 Place for babes, in song
10 Sweetener
11 Cousin of the rail
12 Construction tool, Cockney style
13 Requires
18 Coated with hoar frost
22 Movie dog
24 House for a cleric
25 One of the Bikini islands
26 What George didn't tell
27 Sweet notes, of a kind
28 Miraculous food
29 Et —— (and the following): Lat.
30 Frenzied
31 Familiar footnote
32 Aswan's site
33 From Mich. to Fla.
38 Mistress of 22 Down
39 Toss —— (score at horseshoes)
40 Drill
42 Rode the waves
43 Scoffs
44 Artery
45 Noose
46 Dance, at Versailles
48 Boast
49 Put away
50 Camino ——
51 —— of the earth
52 Collection of Norse mythology
55 Dudgeon



WEATHER

Partly sunny today with a chance for leftover showers, highs in the 50s. Mostly sunny tomorrow with highs near 60.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Spinach and Mushroom Quiche
Reuben Sandwich

BASICS LUNCH
Tuna Melts
Spinach and Mushroom Quiche

DINNER
FAR EAST NIGHT
Beef strips with Mange-Tout
Sweet and Sour Chicken fingers
Shrimp chow mein
Chow Mein noodles

BASICS DINNER
FAR EAST NIGHT
Tofu Shen
Sweet and Sour Chicken fingers
Shrimp chow mein
Soy sauce
Chow Mein noodles

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★
★ Collegian ★
★ Election ★
★ Today ★
★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

All staff members can vote today from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. in the Collegian office.

HAIR

THE MOVIE
Thurs. April 21
4:00, 6:30, 8:45, 11:00
Student Union Ballroom
4:00 show $1, rest $1.50
Sponsored by the Hang Gliding Club

Valuable Coupons

BREAKFAST SPECIAL — With This Coupon

2 EGGS
2 PANCAKES
2 STRIPS BACON
2 LINKS SAUSAGE

Reg. $2.55

2 For $3.99

Please present coupon when ordering. SERVED ALL DAY ANYTIME

Coupon expires April 28, 1983.

SWEET & SOUR CHICKEN DINNER — WITH THIS COUPON C

One dinner portion (3 pieces) of sweet & sour chicken in delicious tempura batter served with french fries, coleslaw, rolls & butter.

2 for $6.95

Please present coupon when ordering. Coupon expires April 28, 1983.

SERVED 11 A.M.-10 P.M.

Sun.-Thurs. 7 a.m.-3 a.m.
Fri. & Sat. 24 Hours
CAMPUS SHOPPING PLAZA

James H. McManus eating place

RTE. 9, HADLEY, 256-6889

SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNTS
DISCOUNTS 2-5 P.M. 20%
ALL OTHER TIMES 10%

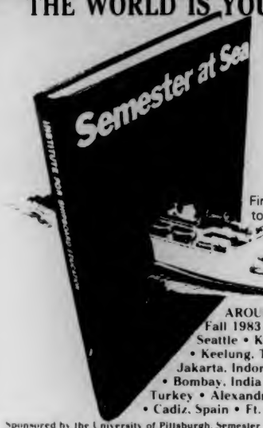
Happy Hour

3-7 PM THURSDAY
HAPPY HOUR
15¢ OFF ALL DRAFT BEER
...DINING FACILITIES OPEN BOTH DAYS!
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
8 PM-CLOSE FRIDAY
"TRAPDOOR" PLAYS FUSION

the hatch

GROUND FLOOR/STUDENT UNION

THE WORLD IS YOUR CAMPUS



Financial Aid is available to qualified students

AROUND THE WORLD:
Fall 1983 (Sept. 14-Dec. 23)
Seattle • Kobe, Japan • Pusan, Korea • Keelung, Taiwan • Hong Kong • Jakarta, Indonesia • Colombo, Sri Lanka • Bombay, India • Haifa, Israel or Istanbul, Turkey • Alexandria, Egypt • Piraeus, Greece • Cadiz, Spain • Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh, Semester at Sea offers students a superior full semester academic program and supporting field experiences. This one semester experience is available to qualified students from all accredited colleges and universities.
More than 60 voyage related university courses. Faculty drawn from the University of Pittsburgh and other leading universities, augmented by visiting area experts.
Optional tours, including special tours into the People's Republic of China, available. Semester at Sea admits students without regard to color, race or creed. The SS Universe is fully air-conditioned. 18,000 tons, registered in Liberia and built in America.
For a free color brochure, write: Semester at Sea, UCIS, University of Pittsburgh, Forbes Quadrangle, Pittsburgh, PA 15260, or call toll free (800) 854-0195 (in California call (714) 771-6590).

SUMMER SUBLET

Three bedroom Townehouse Apt 6/1 -9/1 rent negotiable call 549-1833

Two bedroom Brittany Manor Apt fall option reasonable call 253-9678

1 bedroom apartment fully furnished Swiss Village, fall option. 256-8683.

Summer at Puffers room June - Aug fall op wash/dryer 110 + each Carries 549-5686

1 cozy furnished room in Puffton 3 br avail summer only. $110 mo resp female 549-5184

Cheap 2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt air conditioning call 546-6001 546-6005

3 bedroom Townehouse Apt furnished price negotiable please call 549-5187 or 546-9397

Amherst Ctr apt 4 bdrm furnished $150 + elect ea call 253-5298

Townehouse two bedroom furnished A/C $225 per/mo Randy 549-6469

Sunny 3 bedroom house $470 mo. in Amherst Center excellent loc start June 1 til Sept 1 call Mark 253-2169

Northampton beautiful 4 bedrm house, furnished, possible fall option. Start 6/1 584-2906

1 bedroom Brandywine w/pool, AC - real cheap! 6-8206

W/Fall option. 2 bedroom townhouse, pool, bus route, 665-3020

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all til inc summer only 256-8389

Northampton four bedrooms June - August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

One bedroom left beautiful Amherst home one minute from campus $176/month 256-0170

Two, one-bedroom apts Cliffside fall option 275.00 incl pool pets OK bus 665-2512 leave message

2 bdrms Cliffside $360/mo utilities inc fall option call eves 665-4953

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Great Apt - Brandywine 6/1 to 9/1 2 mo option, 1 bedrm, A/C, pool, cable, rent negotiable, 6-8110 or 6-8732

1 bedroom townhouse Southwood with fall option available July 1 or negotiable on bus route call 253-9862

Summer sublet 3 bedroom Puffton apt. rent is negotiable 549-5715

Two bedroom apt summer sublet w/fall option pool, frequent buses, near 7-11 $315/m negotiable 665-7972 keep trying

One or two bdrm apt on bus route summer w/fall option 666-2253

Cheap sublet 2 bedrooms available $250 June - Aug call 549-4049 5-6 pm

2 bedroom Presidential Apt summer sublet w/fall option 10 min walk to campus 549-6154

3 bedroom apt in Sunderland fall option only 330/mo pool on bus call 665-7028

Col Vlg 2 bdr apt on bus rt $295/mos summer sublet fal option 253-9560

3 bedroom apt in Puffton $290 month summer sublet call 546-8464 or 546-8460

1 bedroom apt in Southwood to summer sublet w/fall option 253-9005

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom Squire Village apartments summer sublet w/fall option rent for summer negotiable 666-4504.

Amherst Center 5 bedrms summer sublet fall option $640/month 253-2878

Central Northampton Attractive, furnished 2-3 br apt June 1, fall option 450 incl heat 586-5457

One bedroom in Southwood Townhouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

Wanted to sublet Brandywine? partly furnished, pool, airconditioning rant negotiable June - Sept 1 call Cathy 545-7494.

For summer w/fall option available one bedroom apt in So. Amherst. Quiet, on-bus line, utilities incld. $200/mo or best offer Mike 256-0895 after 6 PM

1 or 2 furnished bedrooms in Swiss Village apartment. Rent $115/month June - August 31st Tel: 253-2828

Three bedroom Puffton sublet June thru August $375 mo 549-3722

Squire Village with fall option two bedroom townhouse 200 per month 665-7794

One bedroom in two bedroom Puffton fall option 549-3962

Colonial Village Apt 2 br 295 mo. pool, basketball ct, bus stop, summer sublet w/fall option call Jack or Paul 253-3980

Rolling Green 2 bedroom townhouse summer sublet cheap call 253-9431

Cliffside 1 bdrm avail 6/1 w/fall opt pool tennis & laundry facilities on bus rte call Barbara 665-4761 or Jen or Laura 549-0081 290. mo everything!

1 rm in Puffton 6/1 w/fall option pool, tennis, on bus rte 110/mo + electric call Mike 549-0861

2 bedroom split-level apartment - Sunderland, JUne 1st - August 31st, $250 per month, call 665-7126

Summer sublet Puffton two bedroom two bathroom furnished apt RENT NEGI contact Pat or Dru 549-4426

2 bedroom $300 month including utilities pool tennis 665-4644 (summer only)

Rooms in a 3 bedrm Townehouse Apt or total apt available 1 mile from campus on bus route fully furnished call Liz at 549-0307 for summer only

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

WANTED

Cash for your records, tapes 546-2836 (ask for Jaromir/leave message)

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 546-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

WANTED TO RENT

Wanted 2 or 3 bdrm apt in Puffton for June w/fall option 549-0787

Couple seeks 1 br apt in Amherst Area for fall (Grad stud) Jon or Jo 203-456-0114 (call collect)

3-4 Bedrooms furnished house on bus route September - June Call Marie 546-4680.

$31 reward for 3 or 4 bedroom apt anywhere call 549-1643

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

APARTMENT NEEDED

2 or 3 bedroom Brendywine, Puffton or Townhouse apartment for fall. We will sublet. Call Pete or Jim 546-5119

AUDIO

Stereo Sale: MCS 2-way ported speakers $50. component stand - 3-tier with casters $50. ask for Mark at 256-0895 after 6 PM

AUTO FOR SALE

1980 Chevy Monza, 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 256-6612

1974 Toyota Corona good engin except some rust $650 549-3781

74 Dodge Dart many new parts. Must sell. $1100 or BO call 546-5353

71 VW Bug - $500 or BO call 256-8639

BARGAIN

One bedroom 140/month
fall option near Puffers Pond
549-0157 546-5009

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereze, 253-7822

EMERGENCY MEDICAL TECHNICIANS

Continuing education seminer: "The EMT's Role in Critcal Care Transfers." Speaker: Robert Carll, REMT-Paramedic. Thursday, April 21 6:30 PM sharp. Cooley Dickenson Hospital Northampton (McCallum Bldg) submitted to OEMS for 3 CEU's. Sponsored by the Five College Chapter of MAEMT.

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadiac Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Semis, Greeks. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FEMALES STOP SMOKING!

Female, smokers. Short term therapy to promote cessation of smoking in comfortable, productive way. Sliding fee scale Pyschological Services center, UMass 545-0041

FOR RENT

One bedroom in two bedroom townhouse available May 31st Mayflower Apts 175/mo plus utilities on bus route. 256-0561

Clean 2 bedroom Southwood apt. summer sublet w/fall option. 256-8657

Houses - June - Aug plus fall option, 4 bedrooms $485-500 in Northampton. 5 bed in Hadley $600 plus, for summer only. Call after 3:30 pm. Skibiski Realtors Northampton 584-3428

Furnished rooms for summer sublet, fall option in house five minutes from UMass. 549-1797

Cape Cod 2 bedroom cottages available in W. Harwich. Sleeps 4. 548-5851

Cape Cod housemates needed for summer in W. Harwich 6 bedrooms 2 baths 6-5851

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

Greteful Dead: April 22 New Haven; ticket and bus $28.00 545-0500

King size Weterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

Turntable Philips 212 good cond $50 or BO call 253-3588 we will deal!!

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

HiFi Components Rotel Rx-400 receiver 25 w/ch Toshiba metal tape deck 5 band equalizer pr Celestien 3-way speakers 300 or BO must be heard 546-5885

Pioneer AM/FM Car Stereo Cassette 100 watt booster, equalizer, 3 way speakers brand new $225 or BO call Ed 549-1698

For sale pr of Realistic Minimus II 50 watt speakers never used for info call 256-8775 $100

FOUND

Found silver ring by Morrill on 4/14. Call 546-6939. Give description and it's yours.

HAIR

Wanted - stage hands & security workers for outdoor production of "Hair". Meeting Thurs. April 21st Cmwith Rm. SUB at 6:30 pm

HELP WANTED

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

Counselors private co-ed camp in Berkshires has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Arts & Crafts, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, dramatics, music director/piano accompanist, video/filmmaking, photography, model rocketry, radio station (AM), computers, waterfront (WSI), and sailing. Also needed: general bunk counselors (male openings only) and unit leaders. Good salaries - friendly atmosphere. Contact: Dr. Paul Krouner -Camp Schodack 268 Mason Terrace, Brookline, Massachusetts 02146 277-7600 day 9-4

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

Experienced people for part & full time help inquire at Superior Pizzeria drivers also needed must own car.

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate Psychology Student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 PM.

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Fall 1983 semester. Up to 15 credits may be received from academic departments. Aid attorneys at LSO with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Maintain continuing caseload under attorney supervision. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. Applications due Friday, April 22, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required. Further information, LSO, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

Lost gold link bracelet on April 12 or 13 reward please return call 6-1471

A bronze-rimed eyeglasses. Initialed 'C' on the right lens. If found, please contact Dave 546-6424

Lost 4/14 gold name necklace "Ilene" very sentimental reward!! Call 6-5774 after 9 PM

MAKE PEACE WITH EARTH

Join us around the pond on Earth Day Friday April 22 from dawn meditations to dusk musicians. Free the cow ceremony 10:30 am. Future studies speaker Phyllis Rodin 11 am. Local wildlife 11:30. Noon music. Native American, Winona Laduke 1 pm. Molly Scott 1:30. Agent Orange, the draft, nuclear destruction, ecology now and more. Make peace with earth, make survival your business.

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 125 mint condition, great fun. Only 4K mi. 90 mpg. must sell $350.00 or BO contact Chris 659-3707 nights, 5-0929 weekdays

Honda Hawk 400 1978 good cond. $650 call 546-5879 Phil

PERSONALS

All University Women are invited to Chi Omega for dinner Tues Apr 19 and Thurs 21 at 5:30 and for a Dynasty Party Wed 20 at 9:30 for more info or RSVP call Felice 545-0162 check us out

To Cindy C. Happy Birthday big sister from your little brother. Just one more year and your on your own

Free trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counseling, referral MTuThF 4-8 pm 433SU 545-2645

Happy Birthday Israel Celebrate Israel's 35th Birthday with the Parvarim Saturday April 23, 8 pm CCA tickets $3/$2 students

Career Placement Assistance for graduates. Gain an edge through Mass Marketing. Operations Research International P.O. Box 5470, Avon, Colorado, 81620 call toll free 1-800-421-3217

Pete Robi Congrats on winning the bet. Sorry we had to leave early. I'll get you next time - double or nothing. Love Janet Steph Lizzotte Happy eighteenth Birthday Buddy love the infamous Moi!

Matt: After tomorrow night you won't be a virgin anymore. Enjoy it preppy! Luv, Linda

RUN FOR RITTER April 23rd info at Newman Center

SWAG ELECTIONS!!!
Pick up Nomination Papers
in SWAG Office
Due 4/22 for info call 545-0961

Boarding House had it with dorm life and DC food? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plan friendly atmosphere. Next to Newman Center. Call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

Cosmic Wimpout Tournament - Sat April 23 Rusty Nail - 1st round starts at noon-- Max Creek at night - $500 1st prize

My B-day present - I couldn't have wished for anything that could make me any happier!! Love, Sue SLJ (lo life, scum) - N.O.W. who's laughing??? We are. . .all the way to the bank.

Arlf to a cute MC with british accent: I don't want only the shell but the peanut too. I'm waiting. Remember sumemr.

Harry "Bill" Prichett: We've told you once, we've reminded you twice, so cook us dinner or we won't be nice! guess who!

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertetions, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PSYCHOLOGY STUDY

College students who have grown up with a chronically ill sibling are needed to participate in study. Experimental credit available. Call 545-1559, 4-6 PM, April 19-22

PUFFTON SUMMER SUBLET

3 bedroom furnished Puffton Village apt, Summer sublet only. $115 per room negotiable. Cable TV, tennis courts and pool. Near bus stop, close to campus. Call Lori 549-0516

ROOM WANTED

Cape apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-6052 or 256-6609 leave message

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 or 2 roommates for 3 bdrm townhouse apt for fall semester M or F 1 rm available call 549-1833

Two females for one bedroom in sunny Southwood townhouse call evenings 256-0659

Rolling Green 2 bedroom apartment for summer need 2 roommates call Dave 6-6517 or 6-5185

Roommates wanted for summer in Hyannis Denise 6-5102 or Karen 6-8200

Wanted: one female for house in Harwichport - Cape Cod 546-4947 or 546-6699

3 females house on Falmouth Cape Cod waterfront call 545-0075 Dianne

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

Furnished Townehouse apt, A/C, rent negotiable, call Scott or Rich 549-0516

1 bdrm Cliffside on bus rt pool and tennis courts 285 + 665-4386

Amherst Center bedrooms available spacious house, covered veranda, lush lawns 549-0888

Amherst Center apt available for summer $250/mo - everything included furnished, great location call 256-6642

2 bdrm apt June 1 - Aug 31 downtown Amherst 285.00 mo 256-8539

Looking for 3 roommates to share 2 bedroom Brittany Apt for summer and next year. Apt is in great condition w/new carpet and nice furniture. Can take 3 males or 2 females and 1 male call Kevin 253-3786

THE HUNGRY-U

Your Weekly Calendar — Take A Closer Look

55 UNIVERSITY OF Amherst Mass.

TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY
"LADIES NITE" Strawberry daiquiri's $1.25	QUARTER NITE 25¢ beer THE HUNGRY-U	"HAPPY HOUR" FREE PIZZA ★99¢ bar drinks ★50¢ drafts	AFTERNOON ONCE AGAIN Happy Hour FREE PIZZA 60 oz Pitchers Happy Hour priced at ..... $2.75 drafts ..... 50¢ Your choice of bar drink ..... 99¢
99¢ bar drinks	BEST BUY AROUND TOWN
9:00-CLOSE	9:00-MIDNIGHT	9:00-CLOSE	2:00-5:30

Police Community Service Officer

Amherst, Massachusetts

The Town of Amherst, Massachusetts is establishing an eligibility list to fill existing and future vacancies for Community Service Officer on the Amherst Police Department. The eligibility list will be effective for approximately two years.

Candidates must be 18 years of age on or before June 4, 1983.

Send for approved application form and complete announcement (including required qualifications and selection procedure) to Amherst Police Department, P.O. Box 711, Amherst, Mass. 01004. All applications must be received in the Amherst Police Department by 12 midnight, May 21, 1983.

Amherst is an equal opportunity employer with an affirmative action policy and encourages all qualified applicants to apply regardless of age, race, creed, color, sex or national origin.

Sports

Candidates for Summer and Fall lifeguard jobs, must attend testing on Thursday April 28 at 6 p.m. or Sat. April 30 at 9:30 p.m. at Boyden. You must have your 3 current certificates. Questions? Call the Aquatics director at 545-0093.

Gorillas furious 4th quarter rally falls short

Hofstra enlightens UM

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

HEMPSTEAD N.Y. - The frustrating season continues for the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team.

Coach Dick Garber's Gorillas, now 2-5 on the year, took on 12th ranked Hofstra University and dropped a 10-8 decision under the lights, last night.

The Gorillas spotted Hofstra five goals in the first period as Gorilla starting goalie Tom Curran was hit with an early barrage of shots and the senior netminder never had a chance to get into the flow of the game.

Without senior midfielder Tim Cutler, who made the trip but did not play because of stomach problems, the Gorilla's appeared disorganized both offensively and defensively in the first half.

Chris Benedetto replaced Curran in goal to start the second quarter and Hofstra jumped on Benedetto for two goals to make it 7-0 before Rich Messina bounced in a goal with 8:12 remaining in the half.

James Goodhart followed with a goal and UMass was down 8-2 at the half.

It was a totally different second half as the Gorilla "Strict D" tightened up and the Gorilla attack started to apply offensive pressure.

Sean Dolan opened the third quarter with a goal and Tim Lukacovic followed suit and the Gorillas were within 8-4 after three quarters.

Paul Fogarty took charge for UMass in the fourth quarter. After Hofstra pushed the lead to 9-4, Fogarty nailed a cannon shot to the corner. But, UMass had trouble clearing the ball soon afterwards and Hofstra picked up the loose ball and scored to make it 10-5.

Greg Fisk hit from in front to make it 10-6 with 8:29 left. Then Fogarty took a pass from Mike Fiorini to score. Fogarty took on a Hofstra midfielder one on one to the cage and scored with 5:48 left to make the score 10-8.

Hofstra played stall ball for the last four minutes and the Gorillas could only watch as their rally fell short.

UMass, ranked 15th in the nation, will try to pick up the pieces against the Fighting Eli's from Yale University on Saturday as the Gorilla road trip continues.

UMASS	(2-5)	0	2	2	4 - 8
HOFSTRA	(7-3)	5	3	0	2 - 10

Collegian photo by Kevin Furbetti

Ken Freeman moves out in an earlier game this year against Hobart. UMass faced Hofstra under the lights last night.

Yes Virginia, the tennis team whipped Central

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Yes Virginia, there is a Rain God, and he doesn't like the University of Massachusetts men's tennis team too much. Why? Well, Virginia, that's hard to say. Even the tennis lads themselves can't seem to figure it out. All I can tell you is that it always seems to rain when the netmen have a match. And yesterday was no exception, Virginia.

Oh sure, UMass won, they even shutout Central Connecticut 6-0. But the doubles were cancelled. Besides that's not the point. You see, Virginia, this weekend is the Atlantic 10 Championships in Pittsburgh, PA. And because UMass has had five matches rained out this spring, they might not be in top form for the tournament.

That would be too bad, Virginia, because UMass has a very good tennis team. Hey, their coach is even predicting UMass is going to win the Atlantic 10.

OK, OK I'll stop. Just releasing a little energy. Sorry if I bored you Virginia. Well, let me talk about yesterday's match.

Have you ever seen a mismatch, Virginia? You know, one of those contests where one team totally annihilates the other. You have? Good. Well, yesterday, I saw one too.

First, UMass has this really good player whose name is Neal Mackertich. He beat Paul Arciero 6-0, 6-4 at number one singles. The rest of the singles were the same way, Virginia. Steve Jordan, at number two, ran over Trek Ghalwash (Do you like that name Virginia?) 6-4, 6-2. Stuart Goodman, at number three (and he's only a freshman Virginia!), walloped Bob Velardi 6-1, 6-1.

Rich Lindgren, the number four player, had his way with Tom Conner 6-1, 6-4. The number five and six singles were even worse, Virginia. Mike Duseau crushed Mark Wagner 6-1, 6-0 at five and Mark Gelinas, that's right he is the one with the funny looking orange hat, well, he destroyed Joe Gresko 6-2, 6-1.

Because of all the rainouts, Virginia, UMass has a rugged schedule next week. After the Atlantic 10 Championships this weekend, the Minutemen play Clark on Monday at home, at Springfield on Tuesday, Tufts at home on Wednesday, and University of Vermont at home on Thursday. Then on Friday, Virginia, UMass travels to Yale University in New Haven, CT for the New England Championships.

You have all that Virginia? Good. There is a quiz tomorrow.

Gazelles look to make Dartmouth 7th victim

By ELLEN RICHARD
Collegian Staff

With a 6-1 record and a season which is well on its way to being a successful one, the University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team will look for its seventh win of the season at NOPE field today at 3:00 against Dartmouth.

The contest between the two teams was won last year by the Gazelles and this year assistant coach Donna Partin said the team should be victorious again with the way the UMass team has been playing lately.

"We should come out on top," Partin said. "If we play up to our ability we should beat them. It won't be quite like Harvard (7-6 win on Sunday) but it will be better than the BU game (10-4 victory on Monday)."

The Gazelles have won their last five games losing only to James Madison in their second game of the season, a close 6-5 decision.

Massachusetts has displayed its talent, however, because the team was only playing together a few weeks before the season started. Head coach Pam Hixon attributed the only loss to the inexperience of playing together.

Injuries also haunted the Gazelles early in the season. Tish Stevens, last years third leading goal scorer, was out for a few games with a knee injury. Linda Bevelander was also out with an ankle injury. Bevelander was last year's fourth leading scorer.

Against Dartmouth, the Gazelles will use their same strategy of only taking good shots on net.

With Stevens and Bevelander back and healthy, and Pam Moryl, last years leading goal scorer, the attack is a strong one.

The strategy has proved well, as the record shows, as UMass controls every game with its easy approach, and should do the same this afternoon as the team seeks to take the game from Dartmouth.

Top ranked Minutewomen host UConn for two

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

It will be the clash of the titans. Granted, one is higher ranked in New England than the other, but out on the field previous records and standings mean nothing. Everything is equal when the University of Massachusetts softball team butts head with the University of Connecticut.

UMass, 20-4 and a unanimous number one in the latest New England polls, faces their arch-rivals, Connecticut, ranked second in New England at 9-4, in a doubleheader at NOPE today at 2:30.

"There is no love lost between these schools," said head coach Elaine Sortino. "It will be two intense games."

Last year, the Huskies swept two from the Minutewomen in Storrs. This year, UMass is ready to throw in everything they have, including their six Connecticut players, five of whom start.

Starters Allyson Rioux (SS), Chris Coughlin (3b), Beth Talbott (C), Missy Oman (dh&2b) and Sally Maher, (1b) the team's RBI leader with 25, would like nothing better than wins over their home state university and the same goes for their Massachusetts teammates.

"They will be tough," emphasized Sortino. Fortunately for UMass, the injury bug is letting up. Beth Talbott, who had hurt her knee, is set to go behind the plate and Jackie Gaw, the team's leading hitter (.450), will be in the outfield. Gaw's arm is getting better.

Missy Oman still wears a wrist brace but she has split the last two doubleheaders at second with Debbie Pickett and hit in the last six games. Oman "is on the road to recovery."

UConn split a doubleheader with Springfield College winning 1-0 and losing 2-0 in the second game. Their pitching is completely different than last year, according to Sortino. And UMass is different in that they didn't have Rioux, Oman, Maher, Talbott, Lynn Stockley, and Cathy Reed last year.

Stockley and Reed, both freshmen, are something new for UConn. Reed, who will pitch the opener, is 12-2 with a 0.37 ERA while Stockley is 8-2 with a 1.37 ERA and 53 strikeouts.

The stage is set (hopefully it won't be too muddy), the teams are ready and UConn and UMass ought to have one whale of a doubleheader this afternoon at 2:30.

Collegian photo by Chris Jungmann

Cathy Reed, 12-2, will throw in the first game of the doubleheader with UConn today.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 119 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Friday, April 22, 1983

Grad students discuss union formation plans

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

Citing the lack of a grievance procedure to deal with low stipends and inconsistent policies between departments concerning hiring and firing criteria, graduate assistants from 10 departments met yesterday to consider options such as unionizing to obtain protection under labor laws.

Greg Graham, a Graduate Student Senate officer, proposed a meeting with deans and Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey to discuss these issues. Graham said Duffey met with four Senate officers last October and was agreeable to such a meeting.

"There's no one telling faculty or deans that T.A.s (teaching assistants) don't like the way things are," Graham said. "We should see how they respond, what they can tell us. We can get a better idea (what will happen) if we start making demands rather than requests," he said.

According to Graduate Student Employees Committee statistics, Teaching Assistant and Research Assistant stipends have risen 29 percent, from $3400 to $4400, since 1973, while the cost of living rose 129 percent in that time.

"Some might be comfortable with their situations," said one graduate student, who would not give his name fearing possible termination of employment since he is not protected under Massachusetts labor laws. He noted the number of classes taught and hours worked for the same stipend varies by department. "(Unionizing) could cause animosity between (graduate) students," he said.

"People have a myriad of beliefs," said another graduate student wishing to remain anonymous. "We should subsume them so we're not shooting into the wind.

"The truth is that most of what happens in an early contract is recognition and (the formation of) a grievance procedure. There may be slight modifications on money or working conditions, but until we have a viable organization we are not in the position to go after all these things," he said.

The group will meet again next Wednesday in the Campus Center to further discuss plans and formulate an agenda.

Collegian photo by Tom Kudla

The University library tower looms in the background over a gravel pile located in the northwest area of campus as Eric Cohen, a junior pre-med major jogs alongside the pile.

Coffee Shop to remain open BOG announces

By SAMUEL CHALFEN
Collegian Staff

The Campus Center Board of Governors (BOG) last night announced that students and the university community will still be able to sip Campus Center Coffee Shop coffee next year.

BOG Chairman Ron Keefe said of the Campus Center administration, "basically they just backed off."

The Campus Center administration had been studying a proposal made by two University Store managers to close down the Coffee Shop and expand clothing and furniture goods in the Coffee Shop area. The University Store had wanted the extra space that such a move would bring to introduce low-cost student computers.

"The University Store is still going to push to bring in computers," Keefe said, "but it certainly is not going to be done in the Coffee Shop."

The BOG had found through a questionnaire that Coffee Shop customers opposed the planned expansion by a margin of five to one. The Board last week postponed a vote stating its opposition to the plan but this week voted to "vehemently oppose" the expansion plan. The Undergraduate Student Senate last week unanimously opposed the expansion plan.

"The University Store is still going to push to bring in computers but it certainly is not going to be done in the Coffee Shop."
— BOG Chairman Ron Keefe

Thanking the administration for its acknowledgement of student wishes, the Board also began discussion of a motion to demand the administration keep the Coffee Shop open for customers until 10 p.m. The administration last semester began closing the Coffee Shop at 3 p.m.

The Board also announced a plan to keep Campus Center fees at the current level by lobbying the University of Massachusetts Building Authority and the Board of Trustees.

By changing the present status of the Campus Center complex, the Board hopes to eliminate the Campus Center's responsibility to pay a Building Authority fee which this year amounts to $33,000, Keefe said.

The approximately $200,000 the Board expects the Campus Center to earn this year will not be enough to pay for present and possible future repair costs. Repairs in the roof of the Blue Wall and the Student Union and other areas in the Campus Center are necessary, Keefe said. The expected Campus Center revenues will not cover repair expenses, Keefe said, without either raising the Campus Center fee charged to students or changing the present Trust Fund Management policy.

Keefe said the recently set $84 Campus Center fee already is higher than students ought to pay and the Board should work to keep the fee at its present level over the next few years. Should the lobbying effort work, he said, the Building Authority could use its discretionary funds to pay for Campus Center repairs.

The Campus Center Complex has only recently begun operating without a deficit, Keefe said. Now that it has begun to show a profit, it is possible that Building Authority and Board of Trustee members will assume its financial condition is acceptable. Keefe argued that due to a lack of a reserve fund for building repairs, the financial condition of the complex is not acceptable.

The Board also announced plans to set up a Food Service Review Committee in order to gather greater information about the management of the Hatch, the Top of the Campus Restaurant, the 10th floor Quickie Lunch, the Coffee Shop and other Food Service departments. Keefe said the Committee should work with Food Services managers in order to be more effective. He also said the Committee should help to keep the Board out of the type of problem it ran into with the proposal to close the Coffee Shop and could help Food Services to run its departments more efficiently.

The jukebox in the Hatch will now be operational an hour earlier than last week due to another item of Board business. Complaints that the jukebox — which currently is not operational until 1:30 p.m. — could not be heard at peak lunch hour, had been heard by the Board last week. Board member Gregory Frick, protesting the range of music available on the jukebox, volunteered to prepare a report for next Thursday's meeting.

Gap between the sexes is lessening

By PAUL DESMOND
Collegian Staff

Alice S. Rossi, the latest recipient of the Chancellor's Medal and a professor of sociology at the University of Massachusetts/Amherst, predicted significant change in coming decades in the relation between gender and political power.

Collegian photo by Tom Kudla

Dr. Alice S. Rossi, UMass sociology professor and author of "The Feminist Papers," spoke last night on "The Gender Gap in Mainstream Politics." The speech was the last night in the 1982-83 Chancellor's Lecture Series.

Her speech "The Gender Gap in Mainstream Politics" given last night was part of the 1982-83 Chancellor's Lecture Series.

"An infusion of more women into what has been the spheres of men, and more men into what has been the spheres of women, has positive effects for both the individual and for society," Rossi said.

Rossi argued that current trends in voting patterns among women are only an early sign of the change to come in the next decade.

"Women have not been thought to have any great significance in politics," Rossi said. But, she noted, the results of last fall's election proved this was changing.

She said the increase from 5 to 13 percent of the number of women holding legislative seats at the state level after last fall's election, was "the beginning of a trend." Rossi noted that seven states now have legislatures consisting of 20 percent women or more.

Rosi also noted a trend of women marrying later in life than two decades ago, having fewer pregnancies, more frequently experiencing divorce rather than the death of their husband and living into their seventies. This phenomenon creates a "family-free" decade early in womens' lives that leaves them room for experimentation in politics as well as business, she said.

"We've never lived in a society with such implications for social change," Rossi said.

There is now an expanded pool of unattached, family-free women to attend public office which has resulted in more women holding office, Rossi said.

"It changes the psychology of group policies, when you are not the only woman in a group but are joined by many," Rossi said.

"There is an increase in qualities women can bring when they represent a significant amount rather than a minority," she said.

For her participation in the series, Rossi received the Chancellor's Medal, highest award bestowed upon individuals who have rendered exemplary and extraordinary service to UMass.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Klansmen and Nazis indicted for actions at anti-klan demonstration

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.— Six present and former Ku Klux Klansmen and three American Nazi Party members were indicted yesterday for conspiring to disrupt a 1979 anti-Klan demonstration in Greensboro, N.C., where five Communist Workers Party members were killed.

Another former Klansman was charged on March 24 with participating in the conspiracy. He pleaded guilty that day before U.S. District Judge Hiram Ward.

In Washington, William Bradford Reynolds, head of the civil rights division of the Justice Department, said the nine new defendants were named in a 14-count federal grand jury indictment.

Four were charged with interfering with federally protected rights, resulting in death, which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

All the defendants were charged with conspiring to interfere with federally protected rights of the Communist Workers Party demonstrators to participate in a parade authorized by the city of Greensboro on Nov. 3, 1979. Gunfire erupted when a nine-car Klan-Nazi caravan passed the marchers, and five people were killed and six marchers and a television cameraman were injured.

AP Laserphoto

John Louis Evans 3rd, scheduled for execution.

Supreme Court refuses to block execution plans

ATMORE, Ala. — Convicted murderer John Louis Evans III, hours away from an execution set for just after midnight today, was described as being without hope yesterday as a justice of the Supreme Court refused to block his death.

Justice Lewis F. Powell turned down an emergency request aimed at keeping Evans alive until the full Supreme Court could consider his formal appeal.

Dorothy Norwood said U.S. Supreme Court clerk Al Stevas informed the Alabama court that the justices declined the stay on a 7-2 vote.

Powell's action appears to clear the way for Evans to become only the seventh U.S. prison inmate to be executed since 1967. Four of the six men executed in the past seven years have chosen not to carry out all the appeals available to them.

Evans, 33, awaited a 12:01 a.m. CST today execution for the robbery-murder of a Mobile pawnbroker.

Senator warns against Trojan Horse' aid bill

BOSTON — The local aid bill now pending on Beacon Hill is a Trojan Horse, state Sen. David H. Locke said yesterday warning the cities and towns that "what you see is not what you get."

The Wellesley Republican criticized the measure as the latest measure example of a "dangerous new packaging trend in lawmaking." He protested the "unrelated provision" in the local aid bill allowing 11 municipalities to override Proposition 2½ spending restrictions without a referendum.

In an interview, he said, "This is the first chink in the armor of Prop 2½, and it would never have a chance if it were not tied to the local aid commitment."

The pending local aid package promises cities and towns and extra $157 million next year beyond current levels.

Israelis concerned as fighting increases

JERUSALEM — Israel signaled concern yesterday that Syria might be preparing for war, and the military command reported two Israelis and four Arabs killed in the latest clash along the Syrian-Israeli front line in Lebanon.

The command said Israeli troops intercepted four guerrillas trying to infiltrate Israeli lines south of Sofar near the Beirut-Damascus highway late Wednesday. It did not say if the guerrillas were Syrians or Palestinians.

An Israeli army spokesman reported that a third Israeli soldier was killed yesterday in southern Lebanon in an ambush about 11 miles north of the Israeli border.

The incidents coincided with news reports of increasing Syrian activity in Lebanon, an extensive Soviet rearmament of Syria and recent Syrian war games — cited as evidence of a possible Syrian offensive.

The reports, carried by most major newspapers and radio networks, originated from a background briefing to Israeli military correspondents by Defense Minister Moshe Arens.

The reports said it was not clear whether the Syrians were preparing a spring campaign or were adopting a defensive posture because they feared an Israeli attack.

But in a clear signal to Damascus, the reports said Israel had no intention of launching an attack, and was deliberately avoiding measures that could be read by Syria as a provocation.

Proposed bill would allow early parole for Mass. prisoners

BOSTON — Most prison inmates in Massachusetts could become eligible for parole or discharge 90 days early if the state's jails remain overcrowded, through a bill endorsed yesterday by a legislative committee.

The joint Human Services Committee gave a favorable report to the bill, which would authorize the Commissioner of Correction Facilities to move up release dates for as many prisoners as desired.

The Bay State's prison population currently exceeds its rated capacity of 4,500 by 1,200, according to corrections department statistics.

Legislators admitted that passage of the bill could force the Dukakis administraton to move quickly to increase the number of prison beds in the state.

Glenn makes it official announces candidacy

NEW CONCORD, Ohio — In a high school that bears his name, Democratic Sen. John H. Glenn declared his presidential candidacy yesterday and vowed to push for an immediate freeze of nuclear weapons, repeal of future tax cuts and a return to "the simple values we learned in this small town."

Glenn became the sixth Democrat to formally announce a bid for the White House. Polls within the party rank him second behind former Vice President Walter F. Mondale in the race for the nomination in San Francisco next year.

Some national surveys have indicated both Mondale and Glenn could beat President Reagan if the election were imminent.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Ray Beauchemin
Copy Editor — Rita Murphy
Layout Technician — Will Hopkins
Photo Technician — Tom Kudla
Composition — Gail Tanzer, Laurie Frank, Adrienne Dufour, Brian Fitz Maurice, Joy McCarthy, Sheryl Silver, Margie Hochman, Andrea Repass, Julie Marcinek, Alice Klingener, Sue Hawkins, Peter Soderberg, Will Hopkins, Sue Koczela, Laura Shanahan, James Shanahan, Mat Atkins, Stuart Sajdak, Mat Sajdak

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Birthday Sale-
40%
20% 30%
60% 50%
The Shoe Bin is 12 Years Old and we're celebratin with a
BALLOON POPPIN' PARTY
Here's How It Works
20%-60% OFF
•Make your purchase
•Pick a balloon
•Pop it - Out comes your Lucky Number
•Numbers range from 20% to 60%
•Deduct that number from your purchase price and pay only the balance.
•You get to pop a balloon for each item you purchase
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
April 22, 23 & 24 Only
the SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st., amherst, ma.

家滿園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant
"The Best Chinese Food"
BUFFET
Mon - Thurs
5 pm - 8 pm
Sunday Brunch
11:30 am - 3 pm
ALL YOU CAN EAT
$5.25 per person
MENU
Hot & Sour Soup
Beef with green pepper
Chicken Pan Fried Noodels
Sweet & Spur Chicken
Chinese Style BBQ Pork
Pan Fried Ravioli
Chicken Fingers
Luncheon Special & Take-Out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun - Thurs 11:30 am - 10 pm
Fri & Sat 11:30 am - 11 pm
10 Belchertown Road
at Rte 9, Amherst
256-6252

Still the Best Happy Hour in town.
Buffet including Hot & Cold dishes.
All you can carry & eat only $1.00
also 65 oz Pitchers of Rolling Rock Beer $2.95
3:00 - 7:00
Bottles of Rolling Rock $1.45
MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Collegian photo by Dave Denber

Ray Callahan, a Fine Arts Center stage crew member, makes last minute adjustments to the overhead lighting system in preparation for last night's Evelyn King concert.

Students lose evaluation fight on simple grammatical point

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

A mere semi-colon in the Massachusetts Freedom of Information Act delivered a major setback to University of Massachusetts students wishing to see and publish departmental course and teacher evaluations forms.

In a decision handed sown on April 14, the Massachusetts Appeals Court ruled against the attempt of the Academic Affairs Committee of the Undergraduate Student Senate to have the evaluations which are passed out at the end of each semester by instructors for students to fill out, declared public records.

In a five page decision, Justice Rudolph Kass wrote,"Much of what the plantiffs (Academic Affairs Committee) have argued in this case has since been disposed of, adversely to them, in Globe Newspaper Co. v. Boston Retirement Board."

In that case, the Boston Globe had sought medical records from the City of Boston Retirement Board.

"The Key," said Mark Eckstein, the staff attorney in the Students' Legal Service Office who argued the case on behalf of the students, "is a semi-colon in a clause which exempts personnel and medical files and information from being public records."

The clause reads: "personnel and medical files or information; also any other materials or data relating to a specifically named individual, the disclosure of which may constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy."

Eckstein said, "Because that semi-colon was there, everything after it was an independent clause, which required the Justices to do a balancing act—to weigh the public right to know against the right of the individual's privacy."

Under the Federal Freedom of Information act, Eckstein said, there is no independent clause and he said that if these were federal documents, they would be public records.

In balancing the public right to know versus the right to privacy, Justice Kass wrote,"It is equally likely that the returns might induce profound depression or euphoria on the part of the subjects (instructors) depending on the degree of scorn or praise served up by the student critics."

Eckstein said that he has not talked with CATE project members and no decision has been reached on appealing to the State Supreme Judicial Court but that he will be meeting with them as soon as possible because an appeal would have to be filed no later than May 4.

Public works agrees to install warning signs on Route 116

By DAVE LINTON
Collegian Staff

Following an increase in traffic accidents, the state Department of Public Works has agreed to post warning signs on all sides of the intersection of Route 116 and Meadow street, Amherst Town Manager Barry Del Castilho said yesterday.

The traffic signs were one of three suggestions made by the Amherst Board of Selectmen to the state in response to the increasing number of accidents, most of which involved traffic law violations, at the intersection, Del Castilho said.

Del Castilho said he also recommended the state install a strobe device in the red signal, but said the device is not yet available in Massachusetts.

Amherst officials also asked the state to "delay" the red signal to provide for an interval during which the lights would be red in all four directions.

"The strobe is a better attention getter. I've seen them in North Carolina, but none are in operation in Massachusetts. The state has also agreed to look into the delayed red signal (proposal), but a decision has not been made," he said.

Del Castilho said the state does all the repairs on Rte. 116 because it is a state road.

The intersection has attracted the concern of Amherst officials because of the increase in the number of personal injuries caused by the accidents as opposed to the number of "fender benders," in the past four years, Del Castilho said.

"The percentage of personal injuries as a percentage of all accidents was high, maybe 40 to 50 percent. Usually statistics of personal injuries are about 20 percent," Del Castilho said.

Selectman Richard Minear said he did not know the reason for the increase in the number of accidents because he thought the visibility was excellent.

"It may be that they're (motorists) coming off the long stretch of highway and a light is something else. Maybe a strobe will make people pay attention," Minear said.

Del Castilho said he did not know when the state would install the warning signs.

Faculty backs off on S. Africa

By MARY ANNE BEEN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Faculty Senate yesterday refused to consider a motion calling for the University to cease funding for South African academic endeavors.

According to the resolution presented by the Faculty Senate, the University by no division, department, council or other affiliated unit whose authority derives from the University shall provide or administer funds, regardless of source for South African academic endeavor.

"I just want to say that I find it disgraceful that this body would vote down this question," said Chester Davis, associate professor of Afro-American Studies.

The resolution also states that UMass shall not provide sponsorship for any form of academic or professional contact with South Africa, including teaching, research or conference attendance. Further, the University will not provide funds for any scholar visiting from South Africa for the purposes of teaching, research, conferences or other forms of academic activity at the University.

"The decision by the Faculty Senate to decline to suspend the rules in order to consider the issue of academic contact between UMass and South Africa is not only spineless but conspiratory," said Gary Lee, director of the Office of Third World Affairs.

According to Lee, the Faculty Senate refused to even allow discussion on this particular subject, thereby proving that many faculty members consider themselves beyond reproach.

"I am hoping that we will come to our senses regarding this question. I can only hope that the Faculty Senate will face the issue and deal with the real world," David said.

"One has to wonder if Faculty Senate members even consider the issue of academic contacts with the morally corrupt South African regime to be important?" Lee questioned. "Do they know that more than 2,000 undergrads thought enough to vote on the issue (one way or the other) two short weeks ago?"

Student challenges referendum

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Former MacKimmie Dormitory senator Dave McCarthy said last night he has filed a complaint with the University Judiciary concerning the wording of a question on the reorganization of the Undergraduate Student Senate, which appeared on last week's referenda elections.

McCarthy made the announcement at last night's Southwest Area Government (SWAG) meeting, as a way of explaining why he never spent $25 awarded to him by SWAG to advocate the question which was eventually defeated.

McCarthy said he filed the complaint because "the wording that was on the ballot was not in the letter or the spirit of the referendum we filed."

"If the Judiciary proves me right, I want it (a new referendum) this semester," McCarthy said.

The original question, which McCarthy said was signed by 6,000 students, proposed that senators be elected from each residential area and from the Third World population. This would replace the present system whereby senators are elected from each dorm on campus, as well as from the Third World population and the Greek and Commuter areas. The original proposal would effectively cut the number of senators by one-third.

The question on the ballot April 11 and 12 asked if students would prefer to elect senators "at large." McCarthy said that wording is "open to three interpretations. First, that elections would be university-wide — similar to everyone being a commuter senator; second, that there would be multiple dorms per seat; and third, that senators would be elected by area," which is the plan he supports.

McCarthy said that the idea of his plan was "to strengthen the area government system. SWAG endorsed the referendum as we wanted it," then granted him the $25.

"With the outcome of the case, if there is a new referendum on our proposition which 6,000 students signed, I will spend the $25 to publicize it," McCarthy said. "If it fails, I'll return it."

Thanks to 8 mil. little chicks UMass gets $10K from grad.

By KAREN FRIEDLANDER
Collegian Correspondent

David A. Cole is one good egg.

A two-time graduate of UMass and a poultry farmer, Cole owes much of his success to the educational training he received through the Division of Continuing Education at the University of Massachusetts, and recently showed his appreciation by donating $10,000 for student scholarships.

Cole graduated from the UMass School of Architecture in 1953. He then went to work with his father helping to create the largest poultry production operation in the state, now capable of hatching as many as 8 million chicks each year.

In 1976, he decided he wanted to try something new and sold his Westhampton farms. Too young to retire, he decided to go back to school.

He returned to UMass after 23 years with the desire to learn new and different business techniques that he could use to further shape his career objectives.

He studied for three years, taking courses in real estate, finance and investments through Continuing Education.

He attributes much of his success as a real estate developer and poultry farmer to his special training there. He now leases the tarms he sold in 1976.

As an older student, he said he was eager to learn and was better able to absorb the material.

His particular courses offered him a chance to learn from accomplished businessmen who taught from first-hand experience, he said. Instead of getting a theoretical viewpoint, he benefitted from the practical learning techniques that textbooks don't provide.

He graduated in 1978 and today is one of the most successful poultry farmers in New England, aside from a flourishing real estate business and other private endeavors, he said.

"Many people make a change because they have to," Cole said. Thus, the David Cole Scholarship Fund for Continuing Education was established giving aid to Continuing Education students who are preparing for a new career through a non-credit certificate program and who have the financial need.

Cole was honored for his contribution at a Friends of the Division of Continuing Education presentation last week. He was recognized for establishing the first scholarship fund for Continuing Education and given citations in recognition of his generosity from the State Senate and from Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

He said he was thrilled to receive the awards and is pleased his donation was appreciated with such esteem. He praises UMass highly.

"I feel it is growing into an outstanding institution," he said.

Police have a troubled day

Amherst Police were kept busy Wednesday, with two reported burglaries, an arrest for operating a car while under the influence of alcohol, a report of indecent exposure and a minor larceny.

A University of Massachusetts student was arrested at 1:30 a.m. Thursday on North Pleasant Street and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol. Police said they observed a 19-year-old student from Everett driving erratically.

A Colonial Village resident reported the forced entry of her apartment and the theft of her wallet containing $105, police said. The incident occurred on Monday between 1 and 4 p.m., police said.

The home of a UMass student on North Pleasant Street was reported broken into Wednesday and a Realistic music system was stolen valued at $200. Police said the front door was pried open with a tool between 12 and 3 p.m.

A woman reported an incident of indecent exposure Wednesday night, police said. While waiting for a bus at 6:30 p.m. on Main Street opposite the University Park apartments, a light colored car pulled up and a man began committing indecent acts, police said.

— LAURIE FISHER

Literature conference brings variety of speakers

The 11th annual New England Children's Literature Conference will be held Saturday and Sunday at the University of Massachusetts. Authors, illustrators and editors will join teachers, librarians, educators, would-be artists and writers for a day of lectures, panels, slide presentations, demonstrations and writers' workshops concerning children's literature and media.

Among the speakers will be Bette Greene, (author of Summer of My German Soldier and Them That Glitter and Them That Don't), author/illustrator, Ed Emberly (Ed Emberly's ABC), Professor Rudine Sims (Shadow and Substance), and Jane Yolen (The Gift of Sarah Barker).

Topics include: Censorship, The Afro-American Perspective in Children's Literature, Research in Story Comprehension, Survival Techniques for Writers and Storytelling.

Further information can be obtained from: Connie Bunker or Kathy Gagne, BDIC — 15 Bartlett Hall.

There is a fee.

Hillel to show "Ticket to Heaven" next week

The Five-College Hillel will present the popular 1981 film, TICKET TO HEAVEN, the real-life story of a young man's seduction into a California religious cult.

Screening times are as follows:

Sunday — Gamble Auditorium, Mt. Holyoke College

Tuesday, April 26 — Merrill II, Amherst College

Wednesday, April 27 — Wright Hall, Smith College

Thursday, April 28 — Thompson Auditorium, UMass

All showings begin at 7:30 p.m. There is no charge for admission and the public is most welcome to attend.

Women's group to dance against violence

Dancing the Undoing, a women's theater and dance group, will present "Herstory in Motion" a piece about violence against women, at 8 p.m., tomorrow in the Hampshire College Dance Studio.

Run for Ritter road race entries still available

Hopefuls in tomorrow's fourth annual "Run for Ritter" road race will still be able to enter the race before 8 a.m. tomorrow at Alumni Stadium.

The 6.2 mile race, which raises money for the Covenant House in Boston, will begin at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

New for Spring
V-Neck and Boat Neck
pastel sweat shirts

10.95
your choice

Assorted Spring Colors

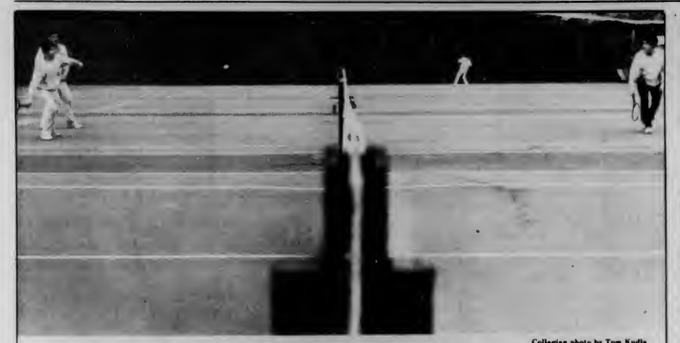
Many other New Spring Styles available

UNIVERSITY STORE

STADIUM
U. Mass. Amherst
10 a.m.
til 11 p.m.
253-5595
LIQUORS
Kegs • Beer • Wine • Ice
University Drive, Amherst, Mass.
Just past UMass Stadium, from SW dorms
not responsible for typographical errors

Hamm's 12 oz cans	$9.00	+ $1.20
Natural Light loose cans	$9.50	$1.20
Bud loose cans	$10.95	+ $1.20
Rolling Rock 12 pk cans	$5.00	+ $.60
Busch 12 oz bot	$9.00	+ $1.50
Moosehead	$13.95	$1.20
Tuborg bot	$9.25	+ $1.20
Duke 12 oz bot	$6.95	+ $1.20

Almaden 3 L	$6.95
Almaden 1.5	$4.50
Carlo Rossi 3 L	$5.29
Vodka 1.75	$8.20
Gin 1.75	$8.20
Rum 1.75	$9.95



Collegian photo by Tom Kudla

Despite yesterday's gray and clouded skies, several members of the UMass tennis team volleyed on the Boyden tennis courts. Look for more tennis and outdoor enthusiasts today and tomorrow as forecasters predict a sunny, warm weekend.

Collegian staffers elect next years Board of Editors

By E. L. BIRK
Collegian Staff

Collegian Business Manager Joel Meyerson garnered 47 of 119 votes cast last night to win the editor-in-chief's position in the annual Collegian editorial board elections. Meyerson captured the post by a slim, six-vote margin.

Meyerson, a 21-year-old Beverly resident and double major in accounting and economics, said he will work toward modernizing the Collegian newsroom with a computer system and seek to have the three major Collegian departments — news, business and production — work more closely together.

The managing editor's seat, the next highest office in the hierarchy of editors, went to current Associate Managing Editor Raymond Beauchemin, 20, of Chicopee. As managing editor — a position that carries responsibility for the day-to-day operation of and news coverage in a newspaper — Beauchemin said he will work to extend news coverage further into the Five College area and to improve the paper's visual image.

James Shanahan, 23, from Lexington, won the production manager's job with 95 votes after running unopposed. The mechanical engineering major said he will "try to get the paper out earlier without sacrificing quality."

The executive editor's spot went to 21-year-old, Framingham resident Joshua Meyer. The returning senior journalism major said he will try to increase dialogue with the community.

Eighteen-year-old journalism major James Finkle took the news editor's seat and vowed to create a "team atmosphere in the newsroom and work toward making the Collegian the best college newspaper in the country."

Copy editor Rita Murphy won the women's editor seat with 74 votes. The 19-year-old Weymouth resident and journalism major said her first action as women's editor will be to change the title of her department to "Women's news department" to emphasize that the department can be made up of both men and women reporting news relevant to women.

Gerry DeSimas, 19-year-old journalism major and resident of Collinsville, Conn., took the sports editor's position uncontested.

The photo editor's post went to staff photographer Drew Ogier, a 20-year-old communications studies major. The arts desk went to Lisa Mosley and Douglas Muise, the only team candidacy in this year's election.

The black affairs editor and business manager's positions are appointed posts and will be decided later in the semester.

Womens symposium explores violence

By CATHERINE COLLINS
Collegian Correspondent

Sexual harassment, battered Women and self-defense will be among the issues discussed in a symposium exploring violence against women to be held Sunday at the University of Massachusetts.

The series, entitled "We Will Not Be Beaten" will focus on ways to improve the situation of violence against women on this campus, said Eva Marie Pendergast, coordinator of the symposium.

The main purpose of the series is to make people aware of violence against women.

"We're trying to encourage as many people to come, not only women but men, people who are curious and who don't understand the problem," she said.

The symposium will start with a self-defense demonstration to be held at the Orchard Hill/Central Women's Center in Wheeler dorm from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. This will be followed by a workshop on battering from 1 to 2 p.m. in the lounge at Mary Lyon Dorm in the Northeast area.

From 3 to 4 p.m. in Cashin Main Lounge in the Sylvan area, a workshop on how various cultures view violence against women will take place.

"A Male Perspective" will be conducted by Men against Violence Against Women in the Northeast/Sylvan Women's Center from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The final event of the series will be held in the Worcester Dining Commons from 7 to 9 p.m. and will address the future of violence against women.

The symposium is sponsored by the Orchard Hill/Central Women's Center, the Northeast/Sylvan Women's Center and Residential Education.

DRINKING BEER IS LIKE PUTTING TOGETHER A BASKETBALL TEAM. START OFF WITH A COUPLE OF TALL ONES.
Red Auerbach

EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED IN A BEER. AND LESS.

FREE SODAS
Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
FREE SODAS
363 Main St., Amherst
256-8587
WEEKEND SPECIAL
Large 2 - Item Pizza
only $6.50

amc THEATRES
$2.00 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW
amc HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550
Best Actor Ben Kingsley winner of 8 Academy Awards GANDHI PG Today - Sun 11:00 & 3:15 @ $2 | 7, 9:15
Flashdance It's as far as you can go. R Today-Sun 12:15 & 5 @ $2 | 7:30, 9:45
CHUCK NORRIS DAVID CARRADINE LONE WOLF McQUADE PG Today-Sun (2 & 4:45 @ $2 | 7:15, 9:45
CURTAINS ...the ultimate nightmare. R Today Sun (4:45 @ $2 | 7, 10:15
The Black Stallion Returns PG Today Sun 11:00 @ $2.00
MIDNIGHT MOVIE MADNESS Fri & Sat at 12:15 a.m.
amc HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550
ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW R
amc MOUNTAIN FARMS 4 584-9153
My Tutor Fri (3 & 5:30 @ $2 | 7:45, 9:55 Sat & Sun (2:30 & 5:30 @ $2 | 7:45, 9:55 R
MONTY PYTHON'S THE MEANING OF LIFE Fri(2:30 & 5:15 @ $2 | 7:30, 9:45 Sat & Sun(2 & 5 @ $2 | 7:15, 9:45 R
WALT DISNEY'S THE SWORD IN THE STONE Fri(2:15 & 5 @ $2 | 7:15, 9:30 Sat & Sun(1, 3:15 & 5:30 @ $2 | 7:45, 9:45 G
They were looking to belong. The Outsiders Fri(3 & 5:15 @ $2 | 7:45, 9:55 Sat & Sun(1:15, 3:15 & 5:15 @ $2 | 7:45, 9:55 PG
Pink Floyd The Wall R
DAWN OF THE DEAD R

Annual Rope Pull
across campus pond
Postponed until MAY 13th
12:00 noon - 5 pm
sign up
Campus Center Concourse Table
Tues April 19 Thru Thurs April 21
Hours 10 - 4

WHOLE WHEAT PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

NORTHAMPTON '83
SCIENCE FICTION FILMS
GAMING SEMINARS/DISCUSSIONS
OPEN GAMING
Saturday, April 23rd
10:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m.
People's Institute
36 Gothic St. Northampton
$2.00 admission covers all more info call: 584-1139
Fantasy Games
Sci-Fi Books
Computers
Star Trek
Figurine Contest
War Games
Door Prize
Gaming Dealers

Celebrate Israel's 35th Birthday
with
THE PARVARIM
הפרווים
Israel's Outstanding Folk Duo
Dancing
Saturday
April 23
8:00 PM
CCA
Dancing
sponsored by: Hillel & the UMass Arts Council
Tickets: $2. students $3. general

Student Housing, Chi Rho welcomes applications from single grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores.
Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

You Au To
Wash Your Car
where you can soap,
BUBBLEBRUSH rinse, wax, engine degrease and whitewall clean.
Amherst Sunshine Car Wash
381 College St.
(across from Spirit Haus)
- Open 24 hours of every day -

FASHION
UNIVERSITY STORE
100% Nylon
50% Poly 50% Cotton
Lavender Pink Blue
UMASS
UMASS
Navy Scarlet Maroon
RUNNING
4.95 7.95 5.50 13.95
SPORTS
UMASS
100% Cotton
Grey
65% Poly 35% Cotton
White
UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5
TENNIS

DELANO'S
APRIL
HAPPY HOUR
SPECIAL
Kronenbourg Bottles
2 for 1
plus our original
twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a must
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Fighting an unseen problem

Somewhere in Kennedy Tower, a freshman sits alone in her room. It's Friday night, and as stereos blare out in the hall, she stays in her room watching television, hoping someone will come in and just say "Hi."

She can't believe she's been in school for almost two semesters and still knows so few people. While her floor would assemble each evening to go to the D.C. for dinner, they would never ask her to go along. It wasn't that they didn't like her; it was just that they never really noticed her. She was always alone, and they thought she preferred it that way.

Paul Belval

Actually, she had wanted to go with them, but she could never muster the courage to ask if she could tag along. All through high school, she had been painfully shy, but she had hoped a new life away from home would help all that. It hasn't and just as in high school, she is constantly by herself.

But tonight is different. The woman who lives next door comes in and asks if she wold like to go to a party in Brittany Manor with a bunch of people from the floor. Finally, the freshman thinks, I'll have a chance to meet people. She accepts, and the group sets out for the party.

At Brittany Manor, things are worse, not better. Once the group gets to the party, they split up and leave the freshman by herself, standing in a corner, too frightened to speak to anyone.

At least at the dorm, she was alone and didn't have to worry about what others were thinking. Here, it seems everyone is staring at her, wondering why she is shunted off in a corner, why she has no friends.

Finally, after an interminable period of time, her floormates decide to leave and head back to the dorm. When they return, the group tells the freshman they are going to order a couple of pizzas and want to know if she is interested. She replies no thank-you, she is tired and just wants to go to sleep. They say good-night and the freshman walks into her room and closes the door behind her.

While her floormates eat and talk in the hall, the freshman lays on her bed and cries.

The most urgent problem at the University of Massachusetts is not alcohol and drug abuse; its not prejudice; it's not even apathy. No, the most urgent problem at UMass is loneliness.

There are many, far too many, people at this school who are victims of its size. These people are stuck in lectures that are far too large for even a hope of getting to know another student. They are taught by professors who can't be bothered with students who aren't juniors or seniors. They are housed by a system that assigns students to floor and assumes they will get to know those living around them.

They are just another face in the crowd.

It's a problem the university administration seems unable or unwilling to deal with. They have workshops dealing with alcoholism, drug abuse and vandalism and social awareness, but they don't seem to be able to put together a simple workshop on getting to know people.

In the past two years, the administration has put a great emphasis on "civility." To them, the concept of civility means battling racism, sexism, anti-semitism and other forms of prejudice. This isn't civility. It's civilization.

Civility is something more. It's being willing to reach out to anyone, regardless of race, sex, religion or sexual preference, and give him a helping hand. It's being willing to make friends with someone who seems lonely.

And there are plenty of things the university can do to alleviate loneliness. The administrators can begin reducing the size of classes. They can start forcing professors to get to know their students. They can begin offering programs in the dorms to help the residents get to know each other.

There is much that can be done, if only the administration is willing to do it.

And there are an awful lot of people who hope it gets done soon.

Paul Belval is a Collegian staff member

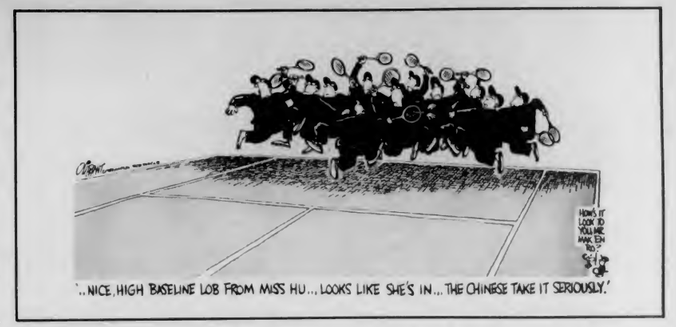
Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.



Arise ye and rejoice! Celebrate!

Arise ye! Arise to greet the new day the Lord has made. Quickly! Quickly! Don your rubber-soled footgear and drape yourself with voluminous folds of cotton material. Arise ye! Stretch those sore and aching muslces. Contort them in every imaginable way as you prepare to once again destroy your arches on the asphalt roads that will lead you hither and thither on the road to physical fitness.

Mary Beth Hebert

One-two! One-two! The beat of the hoofbeats resounds across America's roads. The steadfast, the meek, the young and the old, each and every last one of them is trotting to the tune of a slightly different drummer. One treads to the beat of top forties clomp, clomp, clomp; while another will prefer a more melodic thirties shuffle. All kinds of cadences can be heard on the roadside.

Perhaps you are tone-deaf and cannot hear these sirens of fitness craze. Then open your eyes and look at them for they can be found wallowing in the dirt and gravel of the most rural of roads to the superest of highways. Judge them not by their plumage or by their pace but by the price tag on their sneakers. Woe befalls the feet that belong to K-Mart instead of Nike or Adidas. Individuality determines the rest of the costume. While some will don designer-created feathers, others flit about in mismatched colors and clothes sizes.

You can find these denizens of the streets at nearly every hour of the day. From the first crack of dawn to the wee early morning hours, these jogging junkies obstruct our motorized vehicles at near every turn. Not even the harshest of elements can keep fitness affectionatos from carrying out their appointed rounds. Though the scorching heat of summer may cause them to leave a trail of rubber droppings behind them, they stay the course. Though the chilling cold of winter will cause them to develop frostbite on their eyelids, they stay the course.

Cantering about the roadside hasn't changed much in the past twenty years. Of course, before that, no one would dare be seen running about in public. Anyway, what has changed are the words used when describing this sport. One does not wear sneakers or "tennis" anymore, one wears running shoes. Wave goodbye as the all-purpose sneaker goes the way of the Edsel. And calling someone a jogger is almost as bad as saying nasty things about their mother. No one jogs (well, maybe a few housewives in Minnesota), but nearly everyone runs. Runners also read about running. Believe it or not, there have been best-sellers about running. Good, old-fashioned, plain and simple running. Good God, there are even magazines about running.

Arise ye! Arise and behold where runners congregate. They are called marathons. Marathons where runners punish themselves to the limits of their endurance so they can wear a crown of leaves on their head if they are fortunate enough to win. Behold the crowds that actually stop and watch the competitors run by them. If the activity of running wasn't yet silly enough, how silly are the spectators spectating?

Arise ye and celebrate! Rejoice! Rejoice! Rejoice! Raise your shades and cast your eyes upon the red-faced, huffing and puffing masses that stream by your window. Rejoice that you do not share in their blisters, corns, bunions, shin splints and knee problems. Rejoice that you aren't all hot and sweaty!

Arise ye and celebrate! Celebrate that you can go back to bed. Rejoice that your car is running and you're not. Rejoice!

Mary Beth Hebert is a Collegian columnist

Letters

Bad bass box distracts all

To the Editor:

Among the controversies surrounding the use of the Campus Center and Student Union is one about when the jukebox should be used. The problem with the jukebox is not the time of day it's played. It's presently a painful disturbance at any time of the day. The primary reason is simply that the system is way overbalanced toward the bass. It's also too loud, but at any volume level the bass not only pummels the neurons but the rest of the music as well. (By the way, the disturbing quality of an exaggerated bass even at moderate volume levels is a lesson that people should take back to their rooms and apartments.) Of course if the music I hear reflects the selection on the box, that could be improved or varied. But right now I wouldn't want to hear any song I like played on that system. There's no need to limit the hours of its use. Just turn down the bass and volume.

A comment on another Campus Center controversy:

The Campus Center concourse is an attractively designed space. One of the most appealing spaces in it is the Coffee Shop. Look around: heavy wooden tables, slate floor, skylights, food line out of view of the eating area, a large picture window with a patio beyond (unfortunately stupidly cut off by an inconvenient fire door). It is a beautiful public gathering area in the center of everything. In the evening especially, a space for conversation or sipping coffee over a book is needed, especially now that somebody has decided that we need the back of the Hatch for a third bar and lounge. The Campus Center is desolate in the evening with the Coffee Shop closed. It should never be allowed to be used for completely unnecessary retail space and should be reopened in the evening as soon as possible, and used for the purpose for which it was very well designed.

By virtue of being incorporated into the Student Union and subsidized with student fees, the primary function of the Campus Center concourse is as a part of the Student Union of the University. A student union is a place where students can gather outside of classrooms, libraries and dorms. The discourse that takes place there is hopefully an important part of the learning experience. With 20,000 students we need lots of space in which to do that. We've got that space. Let's not lose it to a mini-mall.

Michael Hart
Amherst

ROTC in a liberal institution?

To the Editor:

I was disappointed and somewhat perplexed by an article in your April 15th edition titled: Number of Women in ROTC Rising, Recruiters Say.

Though the factual content of the article was basically sound, its intentions, it seems to me, were dubious. Despite ROTC claims to the contrary, for example, the United States Armed Forces have in the past and continue in the present to discriminate on the basis of both gender and sexual identity. As your article obliquely tells us, women continue to be excluded from combat duty; a reality which like it or not is a form of discrimination. At Yale, on-campus recruitment by the Armed Forces is banned for the very reason that they actively discriminate against women and gay people.

What was most disturbing about the article, however, was the way in which it tried to paint a picture of ROTC as a forward thinking 'liberal' institution. ROTC is not a daycamp for the outdoors minded; it is an officers training program attached to the U.S Armed Forces. If the Collegian must write articles with this political slant, one would give equal time to those of us who see the ROTC as the arm of a military organization on campus which is trying its very hardest to blow us all up.

Michael B. Schwarz
Amherst

THE GLASS OF '83.

This semester discover a better way to study European history. Kronenbourg. The beer that's been brewed since 1664 is now brewing up a lot of excitement around campus. It has the great body you'd expect from a fine European beer without all the bitterness. So graduate to Europe's #1 bottled of beer. Kronenbourg. And drink better. Not bitter.

Kronenbourg®

BETTER. NOT BITTER.

Black Affairs

Original Black Affairs editor raps

By YADIRA BETANCES
Collegian Staff

He sat comfortably in his office. After staring at the ceiling for a moment Rudy Jones, the original editor of Black Affairs started to reminisce about the founding of Black Affairs.

According to Jones, a tension built up when the Collegian ran several racist characterization about Third World People on campus.

When ex-chancellor Randolph Bromery was depicted as "one of those crueling negroes who couldn't chew gum and fight at the same time" the community knew that action was necessary.

"The media is the message" Jones said, "most people look at the media as a reflection of what society is. If the media projects a negative image of nonwhite people, consequently society's perception will mirror what is being reported."

Rebelling against racist actions seemed to have worked in the past. Taking this as a model, a group of approximately 5h students revolted against this tarnished image taking over the Collegian newsroom and demanding improvement of the coverage of news pertaining to the Third World community.

After several struggles, a section of the Collegian was obtained and named Black Affairs. Its purpose was and has remained to properly cover the news of the Third World community.

"Media is one of the most critical avenues through which non-white persons can remedy past image defects," Jones said. Jones also mentioned how vital minority input in the media is. Exploring career options in the media will help erase the past image defects the American society have imposed about Third World people. Third World people's involvement in the media will also efface the bias the media has been known for.

Jones is proud of having held the editor's position at Black Affairs. Moreover, Jones is proud of the fact that with joint efforts from the Third World community, Nummo News was formed.

Jones presently is an admission advisor at the University and works very closely with the CCEBMS program.

Announcements

On Monday, April 25, 1983 there will be a field trip to the University of Connecticut School of Dentistry. The itinerary will be as follows:

We will leave UMass at 10:45 a.m. Arrive UConn at noon.

There will be a tour of facilities, presentation about Dental School Admissions Procedures and curriculum, informal discussion with dental school students, and dinner with Dr. Ralph Katz, faculty member.

Return to campus approximately 8:30 p.m.

For more information and sign up please call Theresa Mascarehnas at 545-1968 and 545-1987 and John Lopes at 545-0031.

There will be a 12 student limit.

On Tuesday April 26 at 4:00 in the New Africa House Library there will be an informational session for all CCEBMS pre-science and science majors. Seniors and juniors will be present to advise. This information will help you make informed decisions as to courses during pre-registration.

Caribbean Theater Production is sponsoring a Caribbean Film Festival on Friday, April 29, 1983 at 8 p.m.

This will be the New England premier of "Land of Look Behind," plus a special short feature "Carnival Time!"

"Land of Look Behind" is a Jamaican film masterpiece that gives you a look at Jamaica from the lush forest of Look Behind in Trelawney to the big city excitement of Kingston. Shown in the film is the national funeral of Nasta Bob Marley. See live performances of reggae superstar, Gregory Isaacs, plus Lui Lepki and Matabaruka!

The second film, "Carnival Time," is thirty minutes of the excitement, color and music of Carnival in Trinidad.

The Caribbean Film Festival will be held at the American Legion Post 430, 605 Liberty Street, (behind the A&P Supermarket) on the Armory Street rotary in Springfield.

Admission is $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for ages 15 and under.

Aurra Performs

By GUS MARTINS
Collegian Staff

Kurt Jones and Starlena Young are the lead vocalists of Aurra.

In celebration of their annual Cabaret, and in conjunction with the pre-freshmen weekend, the Black Student Union of Amherst College will feature the exciting musical group Aurra, tonight, Friday April 22, at 9 p.m. in Valentine Hall.

Aurra, whose principal members left the popular soul band "Slave", have fashioned their own danceable sound into a top-ten band who are able to make even the most awkward among us want to dance.

Their first recorded hit "Are You Single", stayed on the pop charts for many weeks, but aside from being a dance hit, the song's musical substance still allows one to enjoy it when heard now, two years after its release, something not usually characteristic of the music found in the dance trend today.

Other hits from Aurra include "Make Up Your Mind", "Checking You Out", and their latest release "Such a Feeling".

Aurra was formed by Slave's former bassist Steve Washington. Aside from playing bass, Washington also plays guitar, trumpet, drums and percussion.

Starlena Young and Kurt Jones share the lead vocals for the band in addition to joining in on percussion. Tom Lockett plays keyboards and sax.

Tickets for Aurra will be $5.00 in advance, and $6.00 at the door, and will be available at the Creswell Gallery at 15 N. Pleasant St. from 11 p.m.-2 p.m.at 4 p.m.-6 p.m.

Sister Yvonne will selling food and drink at the event. No alcohol will be served!

Scheduled on Saturday in the Mead Art Museum will be an art exhibition on the IWA Yoruba Art Exhibition. This will begin at 3:15 and will be led by a tour guide.

$30 REWARD
for a 3 bedroom apt. in Puffton beg. June or Sept.
Sheryl 6-9680
Shari 6-9623
Sue 6-9593

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
256-8597
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small 2 item pizza
Only $4.00

Department of Mathematics & Statistics
NEW COURSE FALL 1983
M 197A Mathematics Appreciation. A popular survey course for nonscience majors to convey some of the history and main ideas of mathematics and the place of mathematics in human culture. Course grade will be based on three exams and a final, all machine-graded, and class attendance. Prerequisite: Three years of high school mathematics. 3 cr.

Jonathan Edwards
Bev Rohler Band
& Blues with
Paul Rishell
Wed. May 4th
at Hangar One
benefit for Paralysis
Cure Research
advance tix $6
Wed-Fri on concourse
for more info call
549-5984

AMHERST CINEMA
$2.50 Double Feature
Wednesday - Saturday
Some Like it Hot 7:00
La Cage Aux Folles 9:05
Sunday - Tuesday
Keeper Heuser 7:00
Fitz Caraldo 9:00
Downtown Amherst
253-5428

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Budweiser 12 oz cans	$11.00/cse + dep
Busch 12 oz long necks	$9.85/cse + dep
Rolling Rock 12 oz long necks	$10.00/cse + dep
Schaefer 12 oz long necks	$8.50/cse + dep
Paul Masson Wines	$6.99/3 liters
Chablis, Burgundy, Rose	$3.99/1.5 liters $2.49/750 ml
Barbelle Soave	~~$5.29~~ NOW $3.99/1.5 liters
Gin or Vodka 80°	$5.45/1 liter

All Beer & Wine Specials are ICE COLD!!

Free Popcorn
TIME OUT
Two TV's
A Good Place to Start a Conversation
Happy Hour 4 - 7 pm
Sunday Nite Special
Gin & Tonic or Cape Codder $1.00
AMHERST'S BIGGEST LITTLE BAR
37 N. Pleasant St.

La Cucina di PINOCCHIO

1177 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass.
549-3669
OPEN WEEKDAYS 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
SUNDAYS 4 p.m.-2 a.m.

PIZZAS	SMALL	LARGE
Cheese	$3.75	$ 5.75
Onion	4.25	6.25
Sausage	4.50	6.75
Fresh Cut Peppers	4.50	6.75
Hamburg	4.50	6.75
Canadian Bacon	4.50	6.75
Anchovies	4.50	6.75
Pepperoni	4.50	6.75
Ham	4.50	6.75
Fresh Sliced Mushrooms	4.50	6.75
Salami	4.50	6.75
2 Combo	5.25	7.75
3 Combo	6.00	8.75
4 Combo	6.75	9.75
Pinocchio's Special	9.00	15.00

SUBS	SMALL	LARGE
Italian	$2.25	$3.50
Steak & Cheese	2.50	3.75
Pepper Steak	2.50	3.75
Mushroom & Steak	2.50	3.75
Onion & Steak	2.50	3.75
Roast Beef	2.50	3.75
Turkey	2.30	3.55
Tuna	2.50	3.75
Eggplant	2.50	3.75
Pastrami	2.25	3.50
Pepperoni	2.25	3.50
Sausage	2.25	3.50
Meatball	2.25	3.50
Salami & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Ham & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Cheese	2.00	3.00

POCKET SANDWICHES
Italian	$3.00
Steak & Cheese	3.25
Pepper Steak	3.25
Mushroom & Steak	3.25
Onion & Steak	3.25
Roast Beef	3.25
Turkey	3.05
Tuna	3.25
Eggplant	3.25
Pastrami	3.00
Pepperoni	3.00
Meatball	3.00
Salami & Cheese	3.00
Ham & Cheese	3.00
Cheese	2.50

SALADS
Tossed	$1.95
Chef's	$2.50

BEVERAGES
Cider	$ .60
Espresso	.75
Cappuccino	1.00
Hot Chocolate	.60
Milk	.50
Chocolate Milk	.50
Beer (12 oz. cup)	.65
(pitcher)
Soda	.55

FAST FREE DELIVERY
549-3669
Limited delivery area. $3.50 minimum of delivery orders. Thank you.
Plus 5% Mass. Meal Tax

FOUR SEASONS

Bud & Bud Light	12 oz cans	$10.95 cs
Busch	12 oz btls	$8.99 cs
Tuborg Lite & Dark	12 oz btls	$8.25 cs
Carling Black Label	12 oz bts	$6.95 cs
Strogoff Vodka	1.75 L	$7.99
Wellington Gin	1.75 L	$7.99
Wolfschmidt Vodka	1.75 L	$10.99
McGregor Scotch	750 ml	$5.59
Piccala Coffee Liquor	1 L	$7.49
Sebastiani Table Wines	3 L	$6.99
Gold Peak	chablis or burgundy	$6.99
Los Hermanos	chablis or burgundy 1.5 L	$3.99
Andre Champagne	750 ml	$2.99

Kegs Delivery
Bring your empties to us.

Wines/Liquors
rte.9, hadley, ma./584-8174

Arts

"John, I'm only dancing"

LET'S DANCE
David Bowie

The Amherst College department of Dramatic Arts will present Slawomir Mropek's Vatslav on April 29, 30 and May 1-7. All performances will be held in Kirby Theater and will begin at 8:00 p.m. The play is a black comedy about a twentieth century Everyman who seeks fame, fortune and glory. Tickets are $2.50 for the general public, and $1 for senior citizens. For further information, call 542-2277.

The title of David Bowie's new album is a command one can't help following, as the master of cool pop offers a tight, uniform, solid package from beginning to end.

Surrounded by the slick and soulful musicianship Bowie fans have come to expect, Bowie's voice is as strong and clear as ever, and even though it's only April, this record should be the dance album of 1983.

Opening Side One is "Modern Love", an uptempo, fun song that sets the pace and concept for the entire album. The song includes a baritone sax solo by Steve Elson that is played with conviction and meaning.

"China Girl" was written by Bowie and Iggy Pop, and contains visions of televisions, swasticas and Marlon Brando. Throughout the song the China girl is threatened by psychotic desires, to which she answers ("Baby just you shut your mouth").

If the title track, "Let's Dance," doesn't force you to move, then you had better check your pulse. The song contains some great horn work, as well as an excellent guitar solo by Stevie Ray Vaughn. A flight of the bumble bee-esque horn jam rounds out this non-tiring eight minute song that has just one message — dance.

This song, in fact the entire album, is a refreshing and much needed change from the unhuman supposed dance albums by any of the currently popular pseudo musicians, (take your pick).

On Side Two, more quality dance music is presented. The pace slows down a bit, but the lyrics increase in intensity with lines like ("March of flowers, march of dimes/These are the prisons, these are the crimes/Sound of thunder, sound of gold/Sound of the devil breaking parole").

The song is highlighted by more great horn work that was written and arranged by Bowie and Nile Roders, who also plays guitar on the album.

The highlight of the album is without a doubt, (you've probably heard it on the radio), "Cat People (Putting Out Fire)," (remember the movie?). Recently, the syndicated radio information service, The Source, quoted Bowie as saying this album's version of the song he co-wrote with Giorgio Moroder, is the way the song was meant to be performed.

This slick treatment of "Cat People" is much rockier and delightfully stripped down (no strings or choral background vocals) than the movie soundtrack recording. Bowie's haunting voice starts out low and hesitant, and gradually works into a higher forceful wailing.

Outstanding on "Cat People" is an incredibly ballsy guitar solo by Vaughn. To hear great guitar work on such a great song is a rare treat these days when so much meaningless techno-drivel is being pumped out.

Let's Dance closes out with another single-minded peppy dance number, "Shake It," in which Bowie proposes ("I could take you to heaven/I could spin you to hell/But I'll take you to New York/It's the place that I know well").

The album creates no new characters, Ziggy, Aladdin, and Major Tom just want you to dance, party and have a good time. Bowie is not setting a trend here either, he is just blowing the existing one (the new dance music) away.

So go out, get Let's Dance, have a party, and follow David Bowie's advice and dance and sway "under the moonlight, some serious moonlight."

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
FRIDAY
LOU MIAMI
Fabulous... Foolish... Funky & Fun with Special Opening Guest
THE PRIME MOVERS
KOZMETIX

Dinner for Two Enjoy
any two entrees
with salad bar and a complimentary n/a beverage
12.95
Every Friday

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center • UMass

SRING FASHIONS

Lavender
Long Sleeve
Hooded Tee Shirt
12.95

White Fashion Jacket
Trim
Lavender
Turqoise
Grey
23.95

White Fashion Pants
18.95

Save $10.00 Off of regular prices
When you Buy
all 3 pieces

Open M-F 9—5

UNIVERSITY STORE

Hypercurricula

Today

BROWN BAG LUNCH 'N LISTEN — Enjoy live musical entertainment. The Performing Arts Division at UMass is sponsoring a brown lunch 'n listen. 12:15 p.m., Old Chapel Seminar Rm.

ARTS AND CRAFTS FESTIVAL — Come see martial arts, gymnastics, fencing exhibits, art and crafts exhibits, photo contest and exhibit. Orchard Hill Residential Area. A bowl week event. 3-6 p.m. Orchard Hill Bowl Area.

VILLA SIN MIEDO PROGRAM — Discussion, lecture and slide program of Mel Rosenthal photographs taken in Cuba, Haiti and South Bronx. Discussion led by John Brentlinger, student panelists. 3-5 p.m., S.U. Commonwealth Room.

KABBALAT SHABBAT — A reception for the Shabbat, this intimate, creative, and spiritual experience is held every Friday at 5:00 p.m. Call Amy at 253-2878 for more info. 5 p.m., 290 N. Pleasant St., Amherst.

SHABBAT SERVICE AND DINNER — Shabbat is a chance to receive and give lots of good energy. Tonight's service will be a creative songsharing evening lead by Beth Mascott and Melanie Sanders, two NFTY songleaders. A vegie dinner, prepared by Earthfoods, will follow. Please sign-up by 10 a.m. in Hillel for the dinner. 6:30 p.m., Dukes Room, Student Union.

RUN FOR RITTER — Come and See: Victims of a Victimless Crime. Benefit Concert: Living Waters. Speaker: Steve Yeary of Covenant House, N.Y. 8 p.m., Newman Center Social Hall.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL CONCERT OF MUSIC FOR PERCUSSION INSTRUMENTS — A free concert featuring the University Percussion Ensemble and UMass Marimbas, directed by Peter Tanner; the "Minuteman" Marching Percussion Ensemble, directed by Thom Hannum; Marching Band Director George Parks, tuba; and Kristine Landini, soprano. Special guests will be five national-championship marching percussion players from around the country. 8 p.m., Bowker Auditorium in Stockbridge Hall.

Saturday

UMASS OUTING CLUB SPRING BLAST — A weekend of camping, hiking, canoeing, caving barbecue and more with the UMass Outing Club and other outing clubs. See outing club board for info. 10 a.m., Blandford State Park (Berkshires).

BOWL DAY — Free outdoor concert: Arabus with Reprise. Refreshments available. Everyone welcome. No kegs or bottles please. 12-5 p.m. Bowl Area in Orchard Hill.

25 PLUS CLUB SOFTBALL — It's the 25 plus Club vs. the Commuters. Park at Boyden. Bring equipment and energy. All welcome. 1 p.m., Field number 4.

VILLA SIN MIEDO EXHIBIT — Opening reception — documentary photography exhibit: The Puerto Rican "Town Without Fear" which was destroyed by the government. Observance of Latin American Week. Exhibit closes April 30. 3-5 p.m., S.U. Art Gallery.

AMHERST AREA NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH — Come join us for our weekly meeting of worship, praise and teaching from the Bible. 3:30 p.m., Campus Center.

JEWISH GRAD GROUP PRE-PARVARIM GATHERING — Jewish Grads, Older Undergrads and Working folk will be meeting at the Hatch Cafeteria before the Parvarim concert. Join us. 6:45 p.m., Hatch cafeteria.

THE PARVARIM IN CONCERT TONIGHT — The Fabulous Parvarim, Israel Famed Folk duo, will be performing in conert tonight. Tickets are $2 for students, general admission is $3. Not to be missed! In Celebration of Israel Independence Day. 8 p.m., Campus Center Auditorium.

Sunday

NEED A RIDE TO CHURCH? — The CHURCH BUS leaves at 9:30 from Prince House and stops at Hills North, Greenough, Grayson, Fraternity-Sorority Park, Cashin, and NOPE enroute to the Amherst churches. Call UCF, 545-2661, for more information.

SPRING CONCERT: THE UNIVERSITY CONCERT BAND — Directed by George Parks, the 100-member Concert Band will perform music by Holst, and Persichetti. Guest soloist is UMass faculty member David Sporny, trombone. Admission is free. 3 p.m., Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

TRIATHLON

YOU'LL NEVER KNOW HOW GOOD YOU ARE UNTIL YOU "TRI"
SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1983 9:00 AM
The competition consists of swimming ¼ mile, cycling 15 miles and running 10 miles. $10 entry fee to be donated to the United States Olympic Training Center
T-shirts and hats will be given to all entrants.
Prizes will be awarded to the top 10 finishers.
Registration forms may be obtained at the Intramural Office at BKO
For further information contact:
Craig B. Keenan BKO 549-4066
Director of College and Youth Marketing

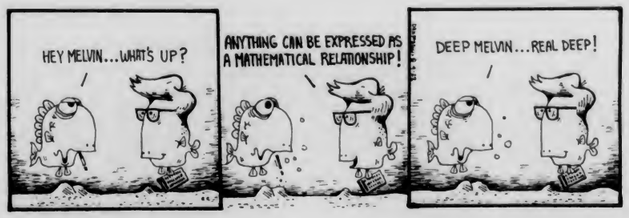
1982 Miller Brewing Company Milwaukee Wisconsin

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis



After the Fall By R. Miller

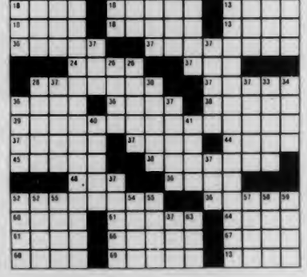
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Taciturn one
5 Belief
10 Coarsely ground corn
14 Hialeah activity
15 Animated
16 River into the Caspian
17 Kitchen feature
18 Isle of —, Cuba
19 City on the Arno
20 Squander
22 Appeal
24 In addition
27 "Dear —"
28 Actor Peter
31 Sinus cavities
35 Baseball hit
36 Bill of fare selection
38 Gypsy's card
39 From ghost to bodily form
42 Author Zola
43 Editor's mark
44 Until
45 Partner of dined
46 Mellows
48 Tablet
50 Juan's home
51 Suitable time
56 Type style
60 Mattress support
61 Of birds
64 "Sacred cow"
65 Pane container
66 Mother-of-pearl
67 Clumsy oaf, slangily
68 Pitch-black
69 On guard
70 Chatty starling

DOWN
1 Gloat
2 Flow from Mt. St. Helens
3 Super sports
4 Meeting of the minds?
5 Keg necessity
6 Hebrew priest
7 Broadway musical
8 Tied
9 Tryouts
10 Other worldliness
11 Solo for Sutherland
12 Spar
13 Fun and games
21 Building adjunct
23 Lariat
25 Tractor-trailer
26 Mountain nymph
28 Guru's cousin
29 Dine at home
30 Town in "Days of Our Lives"
32 Nonsense!
33 Cheers
34 — — time (never)
35 Merganser
37 Spring bloom
40 — — a beet
41 Between epsilon and eta
47 Employ
49 Popular name in Wales
51 Bone: Comb. form
52 Family group
53 Hogshead
54 Elliptical
55 — Nelly (prude)
57 Vanity
58 East Indian tree
59 Island near Corsica
62 Airline abbr.
63 Court need



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

M	A	R	S		A	D	O	T		S	C	A	I	N
I	N	O	H		C	R	E	D	O		A	R	M	E
S	U	G	A	R	C	A	N	E		T	A	M	E
S	P	U	R			M	A	C	A	O
			M	U		N	A	S	H
M	A	Y	F	L		M	A	N	T	A
P	A	L	A	I	S		M	A	N	D	A	R	I	S
P	E	R	I	L		A	N	I	S	E		B	R	I
I	N	E	A	R	N		A	N	T	I	T	H	E	S
E			C	O	I	L		V	O	I	D
L	I	O	N	P	A	W		C	H	A	R	P	O	N
I	D	E	A	S		S	U	I	N	G		O	D	O
S	H	I	R	E		R	E	N	E	W	E	D		E	L	S	I	A

WEATHER

Sunny today with highs in the 50s. Tonight clear with lows in the 30s. Tomorrow partly sunny skies with high temperatures in the 50s.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Torpedo Grinder
Fish in batter
Tartar sauce

BASICS LUNCH
Summer Salad
with Syrian bread
Fish in batter
Tartar sauce

DINNER
Italian shell casserole
Baked cod with crumb sauce
Fruit plate with saltines

BASICS DINNER
Potpourri
Baked cod with crumb sauce
Fruit plate with saltines

Have something to say?
Have something to sell?
Give the Collegian Classifieds a try.
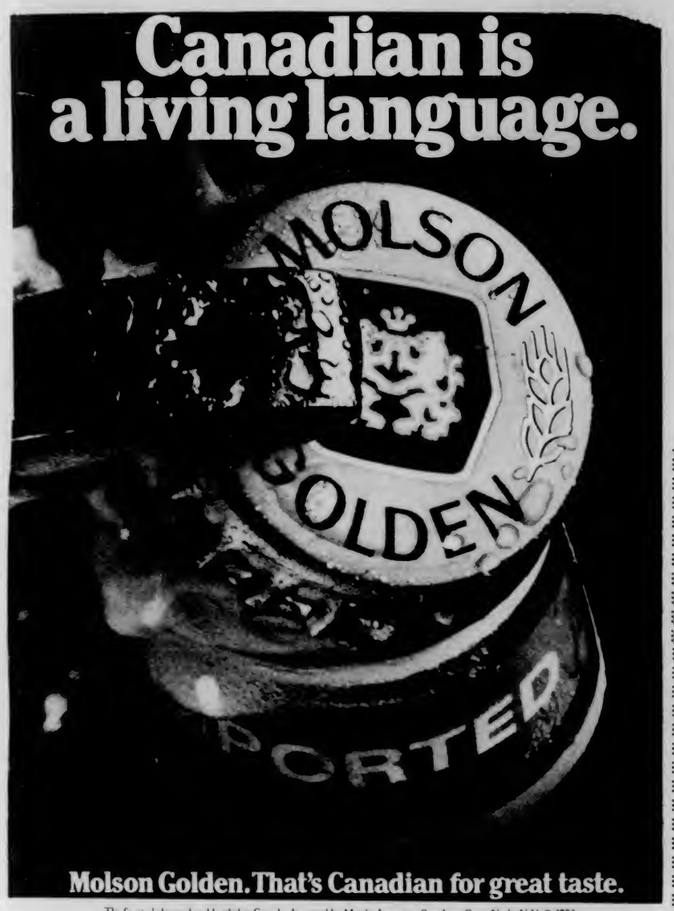
They work!
You can now place your classified quickly and easily from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Campus Center Concourse. Look for our table there or stop by our office, 113 Campus Center.



The finest ale brewed and bottled in Canada. Imported by Martlet Importing Co., Inc., Great Neck, N.Y. © 1983.

Free poster/Guide to Beer Tasting Parties.
Send self-addressed stamped #10 envelope to: Molson Golden Guide, 888 Seventh Avenue, Box M, New York, NY 10106.

ENGINEERING STUDENTS
AIM HIGH

If you're a senior or second semester junior and have a 2.5 GPA in electrical engineering, you might qualify for the Air Force College Senior Engineering program (CSEP). CSEP members are paid nearly $1,000 per month during their senior year! Your commitment is 4 years as a commissioned officer on the Air Force Aerospace Engineering Team after graduation and completion of the three month Officer Training School. If you want to be part of the leading edge of technology. CHECK US OUT!

Call TSgt Art Courtemanche
(413) 785-0352

AIR FORCE
A great way of life

DON'T MISS THE FILM OF THE YEAR

"It'll lift you up where you belong."

AN OFFICER AND A GENTLEMAN

Place: S.U.B.
Date: Saturday, April 23
Times: 4, 7, 9, 11
4 o'clock show $1.50
all others $2.00

Cheap sublet 2 bedrooms available $250 June - Aug call 549-4049 5-6 pm

3 bedroom apt in Sunderland fall option only 330/mo pool on bus call 665-7028

Col Vlg 2 bdr apt on bus rt $295/mos summer sublet fal option 253-9560

3 bedroom apt in Puffton $290 month summer sublet call 546-8464 or 546-8460

1 bedroom apt in Southwood to summer sublet w/fall option 253-9005

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom Squire Village apartments summer sublet w/fall option rent for summer negotiable 665-4504.

Amherst Center 5 bedrms summer sublet fall option $640/month 253-2878

Central Northampton Attractive, furnished 2-3 br apt June 1, fall option 460 incl heat 586-5457

One bedroom in Southwood Townhouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

For summer w/fall option available one bedroom apt in So. Amherst. Quiet, on-bus line, utilities incld. $200/mo or best offer Mike 256-0895 after 6 PM

1 or 2 furnished bedrooms in Swiss Village apartment. Rent $115/month June - August 31st Tel: 253-2828

Squire Village with fall option two bedroom townhouse 200 per month 665-7794

One bedroom in two bedroom Puffton fall option 549-3862

Colonial Village Apt 2 br 295 mo. pool, basketball ct, bus stop, summer sublet w/fall option call Jack or Paul 253-3980

Rolling Green 2 bedroom townhouse summer sublet cheap call 253-9431

2 bedroom split-level apartment -Sunderland, JUne 1st - August 31st, $250 per month, call 665-7126

Summer sublet Puffton two bedroom two bathroom furnished apt RENT NEG! contact Pat or Dru 549-4426

2 bedroom $300 month including utilities pool tennis 665-4644 (summer only)

Rooms in a 3 bedrm Townehouse Apt or total apt available 1 mile from campus on bus route fully furnished call Liz at 549-0307 for summer only

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Summer with fall option Oufffton 1 bedroom $290 549-4430 evenings

Squire Village 2 bdrm summer sublet w/fall option 665-3914

Beautiful Amherst Center apartment summer sublet fall option spacious two bedroom $120/mo 256-8453

Furnished two bedroom Townehouse Apt. June thru Sept rent negotiable call 549-1724

Rolling Green two bedrooms large, cheap, lucky. Call 253-9418 Malcolm 250/mo negotiable

1 bedroom Puffton Apt sumemr sublet with fall option available June 1st call 549-6721

Squire Village townhouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380 + 665-4866

Cliffside furnished 2 bedroom pool, tennis w/fall option $325 everything call 665-3943

1 bdrm in 3 bdrm Puffton apt furnished price neg 549-5543

Swiss Village Apt. $130/mth. fully furnished, on bus route. 4 rooms available. 253 - 3154 Ask for Stuart.

UMASS RUGBY T-SHIRTS

UMass Rugby T-Shirts sizes S-M-L $4.00 call Lou at 6-6383 or Bob 549-3681

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Physics tutor for 141. Will pay. Call 549-5487

WANTED TO RENT

Wanted 2 or 3 bdrm apt in Puffton for June w/fall option 549-0787

Couple seeks 1 br apt in Amherst Area for fall (Grad stud) Jon or Jo 203-456-0114 (call collect)

$31 reward for 3 or 4 bedroom apt anywhere call 549-1643

WANTED TO RENT: NANTUCKET

Looking for housing on Nantucket Island for this summer. I would be happy to join your rent. Please call Julie at 546-6426

WE WILL NOT BE BEATEN

Symposium on Violence Against Women Sunday April 24 events to take place in NE/Sylvan and OH/Central areas watch for calendar of events

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

APARTMENT NEEDED

2 or 3 bedroom Brandywine, Puffton or Townhouse apartment for fall. We will sublet. Call Pete or Jim 546-5119

AUTO FOR SALE

1974 Toyota Corone good engin except some rust $650 549-3781

74 Dodge Dart many new parts. Must sell. $1100 or BO call 546-5353

'71 VW Bug - $500 or BO call 256-8539

For Sale 69 Volkswagen Super Beatle, must sell, $450 or BO, new battery, tune up, starter 545-2150

1966 VW Bug great condition, excellent gas mileage. $800 phone: 323-6585

BARGAIN

One bedroom 140/month
fall option near Puffers Pond
549-0157 546-5009

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7822

ENTERTAINMENT

Rockadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Disciockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

FEMALES STOP SMOKING!

Female, smokers. Short term therapy to promote cessation of smoking in comfortable, productive way. Sliding fee scale Pyschological Services center, UMass 545-0041

FOR RENT

Clean 2 bedroom Southwood apt. summer sublet w/fall option. 256-8657

Houses - June - Aug plus fall option, 4 bedrooms $485-500 in Northampton. 5 bed in Hadley $600 plus, for summer only. Call after 3:30 pm. Skibiski Realtors Northampton 584-3428

Furnished rooms for summer sublet, fall option in house five minutes from UMass. 549-1797

Cape Cod 2 bedroom cottages available in W. Harwich. Sleeps 4. 546-5851

Cape Cod housemates needed for summer in W. Harwich 6 bedrooms 2 baths 6-5851

Boarding House, had it with dorm life and DC food?? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plan friendly atmosphere. Next to Newman Center. call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9619 for info

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

Turntable Philips 212 good cond $50 or BO call 253-3588 we will deal!!

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

HiFi Components Rotel Rx-400 receiver 25 w/ch Toshiba metal tape deck 5 band equalizer pr Celestien 3-way speakers 300 or BO must be heard 546-5885

Pioneer AM/FM Car Stereo Cassette 100 watt booster, equalizer, 3 way speakers brand new $225 or BO call Ed 549-1698

For sale pr of Realistic Minimus II 50 watt speakers never used for info call 256-8775 $100

Hand made fishermen sweaters only $25 and $30 call 549-0381

73 Plymouth Fury 100K mi excellent running condition $500 or BO cathy 549-3806

FOUND

Key found at PVTA bus stop in center of Hadley on Mon 4/18, in a medal case. Stop by Collegian to claim.

FREE, FREE, FREE

5-month old half Labrodor, half Golden Retriever puppy, male. Jet-black, housebroken, has been known to be called adorable, cute and loveable. He can't get the care he deserves right now, he deserves better. You don't need to pay money for him, just give him a good home. If interested call 256-6802 any time and keep trying. Good dogs are hard to find.

HELP WANTED

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

Counselors private co-ed camp in Berkshires has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Arts & Crafts, basketball, gymnastics, tennis, dramatics, music director/piano accompanist, video/filmmaking, photography, model rocketry. radio station (AM), computers, waterfront (WSI), and sailing. Also needed: general bunk counselors (male openings only) and unit leaders. Good salaries - friendly atmosphere. Contact: Dr. Paul Krouner -Camp Schodack 268 Mason Terrace, Brookline, Massachusetts 02146 277-7600 day 9-4

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

Experienced people for part & full time help inquire at Superior Pizzeria drivers also needed must own car.

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

CRUISE SHIP JOBS! Great income potential, all occupations. For information call: 602-837-3401 ext 833

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TIM

Tim,
Happy B-day! Legal at last!
Love,
'Cookies'

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Fall 1983 semester. Up to 15 credits may be received from academic departments. Aid attorneys at LSO with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Maintain continuing caseload under attorney supervision. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. Applications due Friday, April 22, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required. Further information, LSO, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

A bronze-rimed eyeglasses. Initialed 'C' on the right lens. If found, please contact Dave 546-6424

Lost 4/14 gold name necklace "Ilene" very sentimental reward!! Call 6-5774 after 9 PM

Astronomy 100 notebook in Hasbrouck 134 need desperately call 546-7817 * Reward

MAKE PEACE WITH EARTH

Join us around the pond on Earth Day Friday April 22 from dawn meditations to dusk musicians. Free the cow ceremony 10:30 am. Future studies speaker Phyllis Rodin 11 am. Local wildlife 11:30. Noon music. Native American, Winona Laduke 1 pm. Molly Scott 1:30. Agent Orange, the draft, nuclear destruction, ecology now and more. Make peace with earth, make survival your business.

MARGIE TUCKER

The bestest roommete at UMass. Have the happiest birthday! Thanks for being the greatest friend and making my first year here the best. Looking forward to making more great memories. I love ya Robin Lori

MOTORCYCLES

Honda Hawk 400 1978 good cond. $650 call 546-5879 Phil

Hinda 1980 750K 7000 miles garage kept new Dunlop tires complete tune-up xtras $1800 or BO 253-9376

PERSONALS

To Cindy C. Happy Birthday big sister from your little brother. Just one more year and your on your own

Happy Birthday Israel Celebrate Israel's 35th Birthday with the Pervarim Saturday April 23, 8 pm CCA tickets $3/$2 students

Career Placement Assistance for graduates. Gain an edge through Mass Marketing. Operations Research International P.O. Box 5470, Avon, Colorado, 81620 call toll free 1-800-421-3217

Mikie - You have incredibly sexy shoulders! Happy 20th love your late night buddies

Mary, Happy 20th Birthday, hope its filled with fun. Now you're legal. We must go out more often. Happy Birthday I love you Billy

Margie Tucker - special in so many ways, we've loved these days. Happy Birthday we love you very much! Ilene and Suzy Jennifer Bird Happy 21st see I did not forget!

Jim and Charlie - Beware! I will retaliate! Most sincerely, Deb. PS - Happy Birthay Jim

Amy, Happy 20th! I hope your birthday is as terrific as you! Lets spend many more together! Love always, Adam

Little-Bigfoot Mikie Happy 2-year Anniversary love always & forever Big-Littlefoot Audray

To the Ladies in 129 the marathon was simply devine If it weren't for the coffee and water We all would have gotten much hotter. And, everything could have out so fine So we'll try it another time Just don't be as Caddy - See you at the Delano Open!

Hello Rickee - Eventhough I love your hot Cuban bongos I've run away with the boys in the band. They let me be in the show Happy Birthday love Lucy

William Clayton Henry Happy Legal Birthday tomorrow! Love you, BLH

Welcome back to UMass Lynne and Carol! Love ya Brian

C'mon Eileen, well kiddo, you hit 19! Hope it's not "rotten", you rug rat! Happy Birthday. Wa love ya lots. Your roomies, Lin and Cyn

RUN FOR RITTER April 23rd info at Newman Center

SWAG ELECTIONS!!!
Pick up Nomination Papers
in SWAG Office
Due 4/22 for info call 545-0961

Cosmic Wimpout Tournament - Sat April _! Rusty Nail - 1st round starts at noon-- Max Creek at night - $500 1st prize

Arif to a cute MC with british accent: I don't want only the shell but the peanut too. I'm waiting. Remember sumemr.

A personal for DK, the alcoholic and woman beater; JW, the prep and optimum geek; PP, the camera freak and child molester; JL, the playboy of Asian parties; and the rest of suite 706: you are a motley group and have made this semeste quite interesting. Thanks! Sincerely, JL the "-ITCH"

Heather Happy Birthday I know he will have a more than wonderful weeke I love you David

Bobby D. Happy 1st I love you B. Been

Tami S Throck misses you. B

Mel, Happy Birthday! I'll drink to that, Love ya, Judy

Kel - Congratulations on your induction into ALD. "We are proud to be in your company!" Love Leesie & AH

Peggy Thank you for sharing with me your deepest thoughts and allowing me to do the same. Love, Paula Happy Birthday Leslie Silverstein food, sex, and more sex go for the heat!

Sweepie, Happy Day! I love you - Ilisa

Richard Honey, This has been a wonderful 1st be forever like the rose and always remember "The Ribbon in the Sky" love always Merry

Marie C. C just for you ILLE

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PSYCHOLOGY STUDY

College students who have grown up with a chronically ill sibling are needed to participate in study. Experimental credit available. Call 545-1569, 4-6 PM, April 19-22

PUFFTON SUMMER SUBLET

3 bedroom furnished Puffton Village apt, Summer sublet only. $115 per room negotiable. Cable TV, tennis courts and pool. Near bus stop, close to campus. Call Lori 549-0516

ROOM WANTED

Cape apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-6052 or 256-6809 leave message

Female looking to share off campus apartment pref: Puffton Rita 6-8211 eves

ROOMMATES WANTED

Roommates wanted for summer in Hyannis Denise 6-5102 or Karen 6-8200

Wanted: one female for house in Harwichport - Cape Cod 546-4947 or 546-6699

3 femeles house on Falmouth Cape Cod waterfront call 545-0075 Dianne

Female wanted to share summer rental in Hyannis call Beth 6-6479 or Lisa 6-6649

Hyannis 2 females needed for summar near water, 2 min walk to center Amy 549-4169 Kit 256-0384

1 room in 3 br Puffton apt grad student preferred Kyle 549-6322 or stop by room 15-C-EBE evenings

RUCKA

Have a wonderful B day you're a special person and we hope it is a special day thanks for all you do wa love you John and Tracy

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

The Commuter Area Government is now hiring for the summer. Positions are for 30 hours/week. Must be available through the fall. Applications available at 404 Student Union 9:00 - 5:00, Monday through Friday. We are an affirmative action equal opportunity employer. Third World, women, and non-traditional students encouraged to apply. Deadline for applications is April 29.

SUMMER SUBLET

Cheap 2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt air conditioning call 546-6001 546-6005

Amherst Ctr apt 4 bdrm furnished $150 + elect ea call 253-5298

Townehouse two bedroom furnished A/C $225 per/mo Randy 549-6469

Sunny 3 bedroom house $470 mo. in Amherst Center excellent loc start June 1 til Sept 1 call Mark 253-2169

Northampton beautiful 4 bedrm house, furnished, possible fall option. Start 6/1 584-2906

1 bedroom Brandywine w/pool, AC - real cheap! 6-8206

W/Fall option, 2 bedroom townhouse, pool, bus route, 665-3020

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

1 bdrm Cliffside on bus rt pool and tennis courts 285 + 665-4386

Amherst Center apt available for summer $250/mo - everything included furnished, great location call 256-8642

Looking for 3 roommates to share 2 bedroom Brittany Apt for summer and next year. Apt is in great condition w/new carpet and nice furniture. Can take 3 males or 2 females and 1 male call Kevin 253-3766

Brittany Manor, two bedroom, large first summer session or summer 546-9060 546-5011

With fall option Two bedroom apt in house in Belchertown. On bus. 323-5854

2 bedroom apt Brittany 1 or both bedrooms to sublet w/fall option 256-6818

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished $350 month available June 1 - Sept 1 549-6912

w/fall option Townehouse apts 2 bedrooms 549-6646

TOGA PARTY

Hangar 1 Tuesday, April 26 2 for 1's sponsored by Washington Tower

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

One bedroom left beautiful Amherst home one minute from campus $176/month 256-0170

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Summer sublet 3 bedroom Puffton apt. rent is negotiable 549-5715

Two bedroom apt summer sublet w/fall option pool, frequent buses, near 7-11 $315/m negotiable 665-7972 keep trying

One or two bdrm apt on bus route summer w/fall option 665-2253

Sports

Correction: Lifeguard testing will be on Thursday, April 28 at 6 p.m. or Saturday, April 30 at 9:30 a.m. at Boyden. You must bring your three current certificates. Questions? Call the Aquatics director at 545-0093.

Gazelles overtake the Big Green

Comeback fuels 12-8 win

By ELLEN RICHARD
Collegian Staff

Dartmouth played "dodge and shoot", as their coach JoAnn Harper put it, and got through the University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team's defense but the Gazelles offense made sure to even the score and then some as the team came from a 6-6 tie at halftime to ourpower Dartmouth, 12-8, yesterday at NOPE.

While bringing up their record to 7-1, the Gazelles had problems with the offense and defense working together which resulted in the high amount of goals scored for Dartmouth. In the seven previous games, UMass gave up an average of three goals a game.

"We have to play better defense," coach Pam Hixon said. "I didn't think we'd give up as many goals. I think we had a lot more opportunity than Dartmouth did. I don't think we combined together as well; we didn't mesh together today."

UMass pulled out to a 5-1 lead before giving way to three more Dartmouth goals. Pam Moryl, who wound up with three goals and one assist on the day, started the Gazelles off four minutes into the game.

Linda Haytayan, who scored five goals and had one assist, got her hat trick in four minutes as she scored the next three goals for UMass, sandwiched around one goal by Dartmouth.

Tish Stevens netted her first of three goals at 11:43 and then came the barrage of Dartmouth scores.

After a goal by Sue Kosloski at 1:37, two Dartmouth players scored 10 seconds apart at :56 and :46 to tie the score at halftime at six.

"We played very well the first few minutes of the game, we were leading 5-1," Hixon said. "We had a mental letdown. We mentally weren't concentrating. We had to start focusing in on what we were doing. We let them back in the game."

The Gazelles went ahead by one at the beginning of the second half with a goal scored by Haytayan in a scramble in front of the net at 22:40. Less than a minute later Dartmouth netted a score on UM goalie Rita Hubner.

At 20:02, UMass pulled away with four goals. Moryl, Bunny Forbes, Stevens and Moryl again scored for the attack.

With 6:55 left, Hubner came too far out of the net for a shot and the Dartmouth attacker lifted the ball over her shoulder.

Haytayah iced the victory with one final goal at 5:48.

With seven games under their belts, the Gazelles will travel to New Hampshire tomorrow for a 1:00 game. Hixon hopes to have the defense working.

"We'll definitely have to improve and connect the defense with the offense by the New Hampshire game. I haven't seen them play, just heard, and I don't want to get caught in a running match. If we can contain New Hampshire and allow them to slow the game into our hands I think it will help."

Collegian photo by Chris Jungmann

Tish Stevens cradles the ball out of the grasp of a Dartmouth defender in the Gazelles 12-8 win yesterday.

Gorillas ready to face off with Elis

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

Tom Curran has his own description of the 1983 season thus far for the University of Massachusetts lacrosse team.

"We're snakebitten," he said, as he watched another Gorilla shot hit the pipe and carom away in the Gorillas 10-8 loss to Hofstra University Wednesday night. "We're snakebitten."

Curran is probably right, but the fact is the Gorillas did a Dr. Jekyll, Mr. Hyde routine against Hofstra and still almost won with a second half rally.

"We were out to lunch in the first half," said head coach Dick Garber, not referring to the luxury bag lunches provided for the bus ride, but rather to the fact the Gorillas spotted Hofstra a 5-0 first quarter lead and a 8-2 halftime lead. "But in the second half we played super."

Interestingly, Curran's comment didn't come in the first half when the Gorillas were playing poorly, but during the second half comeback when crucial shots by the Gorillas bounced off the carpet turf and missed the cage.

Now, sporting a 2-5 record, the Gorillas travel to Yale to take on the Fightin' Elis Saturday at 2 p.m., hoping to cure the snakebite and get back to the business of winning lacrosse games.

The cure, of course, would be a rout of Yale, one of the weaker teams on the Gorilla schedule. Yale won't be a pushover by any means, but they're not the caliber of Army, Syracuse or Maryland, teams where a Gorilla win could make the season.

But the Gorillas' frustration could continue because Yale has not been involved in high scoring affairs.

They dropped games to Harvard 6-3 and Cornell 8-2 recently and an offensive explosion by the Gorillas could be difficult.

"I don't know why their scores are so low," said Garber. "I haven't seen them play. It might be they play good defense or else they hold the ball."

There is no better time for the Gorillas to break loose and build momentum as they approach the most difficult part of their schedule. The Gorillas have away dates with Harvard and Army before returning home for the big lacrosse weekend May 3, when Dartmouth, Maryland and top ranked Syracuse come to UMass in a five day span.

Senior Chris Benedetto, who played well against Hofstra will probably start in goal for the Gorillas.

Softball, track, rugby on tap

The doubleheader between the UMass (20-4) softball team and the UConn (9-4) didn't materialize yesterday due to the poor field conditions at NOPE.

The play will be just as intense just a day late because the game has been rescheduled for today at 1:00 p.m. at the same NOPE field.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

The men's and women's track teams will be on the road this weekend as they travel to the Boston College Relays tomorrow.

Women's coach Kalekeni Banda's team is 2-4 features the speedy Leah Loftis, who won the 400m at the UMass Relays. The men's team is led by hurdler John Wright and shot putter Steve Hyder.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

The UMass Rugby team will host a tournament starting tomorrow at noon.

Waszczuk boosting UM swinging for the fences

By KEVIN DELUCA
Collegian Staff

"To become successful in whatever I do," is how University of Massachusetts senior Chris Waszczuk describes his goal in life. As the Minuteman baseball team prepares to host Vermont on Lorden Field this Saturday at 1 p.m. (after traveling to Boston College for a game at 3 p.m. today), the slugging right fielder known as Waz must be considered a success in college both as a baseball player and as a student.

Setting the record was the sure sign that Waz has blossomed into a pro prospect. His .343 average is another indication of his progress since last season, when he hit .308 with four home runs.

This past Monday Waz connected for two home runs during a doubleheader against Northeastern to catapult himself into the UMass record book as the season home run king with 10, breaking the record of eight held by Bob Hansen and Warren McReddie.

Waz credits the improvement to weight lifting and a few adjustments at the plate.

"I am a lot stronger because I worked out over the summer with free weights. I've shortened my swing and I'm seeing the ball better. Also, I'm swinging at better pitches," explained Waz.

Due to his great season (Waz's 10 homers leaves him only four away from the New England record with 14 games left to play), the idea of playing professional baseball has become more of a reality for Waz.

"I haven't thought about it too much. My main goal was a career in engineering until I started doing so well this year. I've been scouted but I haven't been contacted. I'd love to play in the majors; it's my dream," said Waz.

If a career in baseball does not work out, Waz is well prepared. As a Civil Engineering major Waz has accumulated a 3.56 grade point average, an achievement which helped him to be nominated for Academic All-American last year. It is an honor that he seems likely to garner this season.

"Chris is a confident hitter who handles breaking balls well, which is the mark of a good hitter. I don't think I've seen a player hotter. Chris is also a great student, which is what it's all about. He is a true scholar-athlete. It's been fun for me watching Chris mature and develop as a player and person. He's a joy to have on tne team," said UMass coach Dick Bergquist.

While excelling individually, Waz remains a team player whose goal is to have the Minutemen (7-12) make the playoffs.

"I'm proud of my hitting but I am also very proud of my fielding. I want to make the good defensive play to help the team as well as helping with my bat. We're (the team) just starting to reach our potential and I feel confident that we will be in the playoffs," stated Waz optimistically.

Teammate and co-captain Dean Bennett has this to say about Waszczuk: "Wazzy has taken everything great so far. He has destroyed the record but he has taken it in stride."

"I am just going to hit for average and I know the homers will come," explained the new UMass home run king, a champion on and off the field.

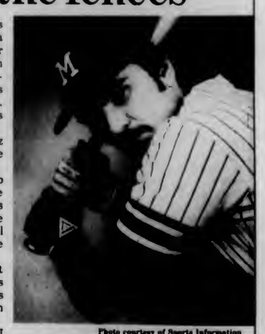

Photo courtesy of Sports Information

Chris Waszczuk is the new holder of the single season home run record with 10 HR.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 120 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Monday, April 25, 1983

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

A multitude of music and good weather enthusiasts gather between the high rise Orchard Hill dorms for the annual Bowl Day concerts.

A time for change-clockwise

By JIM FINKLE
Collegian Staff

The idea of setting clocks ahead by one hour to increase the amount of daylight during waking hours was originally criticized as being ridiculous, according to a University of Massachusetts professor.

Students should have set their clocks and watches ahead by one hour as daylight savings time officially took effect at 2 a.m. on Sunday morning.

Daylight savings time was originally proposed by William Willet of Kent in 1907, according to UMass astrophysicist David Van Blerkom.

"He (Willet) pointed out the obvious fact that the sun shines for several hours while people are asleep and sets about when they reach home after work," Van Blerkom said.

"This (proposal) was rejected with a certain amount of ridicule during his lifetime, perhaps because of a kind of inertia of people's minds about changing things like that," Van Blerkom added.

Nevertheless, in 1917 Britain and her allies, as well as her enemies, adopted daylight savings time as an energy-saving measure. Willet then said Britain would save about $10 million a year, according to Van Blerkom.

However, Britain's original reluctance to initiate daylight savings time may have been based on the suspicion that it would cause confusion each time clocks would have to be set forward or backward.

"I was an hour late for work," confessed political science major Meg Cusack. The 21-year-old Arlington resident said her boss was "very understanding."

"It throws me off for a day," Cusack said. "Then I get used to it."

"I like it in the summer," she added.

"They should put signs on clocks," zoology and music double-major Kim Willman said. "Nobody knows about it," she lamented.

Newton resident Larry Rubin, 20, said he is looking forward to extra hours of daylight during the evening.

"I didn't know about it until two o'clock Saturday night," Rubin said. "But I slept until two o'clock (yesterday afternoon) anyway."

"It is better exercise-wise," 21-year-old nutrition major Nini Nordyke said yesterday. "You can stay out later. Run later."

Nordyke, a resident of Hawaii, said she was confused yesterday morning because the time and weather channel on her cable television system did not move its clock ahead.

"I had to call the operator."

Earth Day a symposium of art, music, drama and nuclear activism

By DAVID SUMMERSBY
Collegian Staff

Students, teachers, local citizens, children and a host of environmental and peace activists gathered together Friday to make peace with the earth and celebrate spring at the University of Massachusetts version of Earth Day 83.

Aided by brilliant sunny weather, the day was a flourish of activity involving blues and folk music, speeches, spontaneous plays, poetry and dancing.

Parachuters fell from the sky, the campus pond was filled with canoes, clowns entertained small children and earth foods were served outside the whole day.

"Earth day is a lot of fun and a wonderful manifestation of people's feelings for the earth," Chris Arroll, a first-year student in Butterfield dormitory, said.

Behind every action throughout the celebration a straightforward message was presented: "We must stop the growing trends in the world towards nuclear war and destruction of the environment if we are going to survive and preserve our beautiful earth for the future," Master of Ceremonies Charles Carroll said.

While people relaxed in the sun or participated in a variety of activities such as trash art and barrel painting, a set of speakers articulated on a variety of current environmental and survival issues.

Winona LaDuke, the native American activist of the Chippiwau Indian Nation, spoke about the current battle between Indian nations and the United States government over the strip mining and uranium mines that occur mostly on Indian reservations.

"The United States continues to produce poisons and consume resources and every day we are fighting them. In the past we could evacuate but now there are no more frontiers," LaDuke said.

"We must liberate the land and mother earth; our resistance is all we have left. I am asking you all to become natives in order to survive. We have to decide about the future: a society based on death or a society based on survival are the only options we have," she said.

Anarchist author Murray Bookchin added a similar message.

"We must work out strategies to stop the government from destroying the earth. The disintegration of the planet is already occuring due to acid rain and the melting of the polar ice caps caused by pollution," Bookchin said.

A side attraction to the main speakers were several performances of Guerilla Theatre. Students and members of the community staged plays depicting the struggles of Nicaraguan workers, (pledging "Viva Nicaragua") against the CIA supported freedom fighters who are trying to liberate Nicaragua from communist infiltration.

Toward the end of the day many of the speeches forcused on objections to a military draft.

"Draft registration has failed and scare tactics will not salvage it," convicted draft resister Edward Hasbrouk said in his speech.

"Since my sentencing there is no sign that they are continuing the prosecutions and I would be surprised if they even try to get more prison sentences," he said.

Hasbrouk said the most recent figures reveal that more than half a million people have not registered for the draft and a million other young men who did register did not give their social security numbers, making it diffieult for the government to track them down.

Teresita Ferrara, another activist against the draft, said in her speech, "It is the responsibility for all of us to support and educate non-registrants and come to a clear understanding of why they are not registering."

Defendants of anti-nuke crimes appeal to Amherst crowd

By TRICIA A. YACOVONE
Collegian Staff

It happened more than two and a half years ago, yet the trial continues for the Ploughshares Eight, a motley group of individuals who are charged with thirteen crimes relating to their entry into General Electric plant #9 in King of Prussia, Pennsylvania where they beat nuclear warheads with hammers to the tune of their singing and chanting of hymns.

At 2 p.m. yesterday, a capacity crowd gathered at the Amherst Cinema to view the showing of the film In The King Of Prussia, presented by 17 area groups, which documented the trial of the eight defendants and the controversy surrounding their action of September 9, 1980.

Following the film, two of the defendants, Elmer Maas and Sister Anne Montgomery led a discussion and answered questions about their participation in the King Of Prussia incident and their reasons for nuclear disarmament.

"We entered the General Electric plant where the nuclear warhead was stored to do a direct, nonviolent act of disarmament as a way of saying that these weapons must not exist and that the survival of civilization is incompatible with these weapons," Maas said.

Sister Montgomery called theirs a symbolic action.

"We chose that plant because it represented that corporate connection to the military establishment. We committed civil obedience," she said.

One of the questions that was repeatedly asked related to the effectiveness of the actions which resulted in the prosecution of the eight individuals.

While Maas was adamant in his position that there was no other alternative, Montgomery stressed the more spiritual side of involvement in disarmament activities.

"We have no alternative but to keep saying no to these weapons," Maas said.

Montgomery said, "We have to do the right thing whether or not it's effective. We're more fully alive when we're doing something and where there's life, there's effectiveness."

The Ploughshares Eight derive their name from a Biblical quote, "And they shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore" which appears under a statue in front of the United Nations building in New York, said Court Dorsey, a local musician who performed before the film.

The other members of the Ploughshare Eight are Father Carl Kabat, Daniel and Philip Berrigan, Molly Rush, Dean Hammer and John Schuchandt. They are all facing criminal sentences varying from 1½ to 5 years in a penitentiary with five years probation to 3 to 10 years in a penitentiary with 10 years probation.

Currently, all of the Ploughshares Eight are out of jail, awaiting a decision on the second argument of their appeal which will occur May 10. Their last appeal attempt last May never received a decision.

Collegian photo by Dave Heather

Margaret Holt, coordinator of the Amherst Disarmament Coalition, hands out flyers at a nuclear disarmament rally in Amherst Center during yesterday's downpour.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Army recruit raped by rockers in bus

AYER, Mass. — The bass player of the rock band "Grand Slamm" was free on bail but three members of his crew stayed in custody before arraignment Monday in the kidnapping and rape of an Ayer woman, police said.

The woman, 18, was raped while others held her down in the band's bus Friday night, said Ayer Patrolman Dennis MacDonald, one of the officers investigating the case.

Police were seeking two other suspects Sunday, according to MacDonald.

He said the woman is in the army, stationed at Fort Devens. Her name was not released.

After attending a "Grand Slamm" show at Franklin's Club in Shirley, the woman lost contact with the person she expected to drive her home, so she accepted a ride back to Fort Devens on the band bus, according to MacDonald.

He said she was raped repeatedly as the bus traveled on Route 2A from Shirley to Ayer, and was dumped off in a clearing when she became ill. She walked to a nearby motel and called police, he said.

Thousands demonstrate to end animal cruelty

BOSTON — While a woman paced in a cage and demonstrator's carried signs and monkey dolls, a crowd of about 5,000 people was told yesterday that protests will increase until no animals are harmed in scientific experiments.

"Up to now we have been patient," Dr. Richard Morgan, the national coordinator of Mobilization for Animals, told the banner-waving crowd, which was forced off Boston Common into a dry ballroom at the Park Plaza during a rain storm. The rally was part of a worldwide demonstration.

"We no longer will be patient. There is no time for patience while animals are dying. We must demand the cruelty will end," he said.

Demonstrators, some munching "veggie hot dogs" that sold for $1.50 and others carrying stuffed monkey dolls and signs reading "Animal Liberation" and "Research Labs are Unhealthy for Primates," jumped and cheered. Marion Bienes of Zaandam, Holland, paced a yellow metal cage in which she had imprisoned herself to protest the use of laboratory animals.

AP Laserphoto

Springfield firefighter Alan Smith attempts to revive 7-year-old Shelley Woods after she was taken from her burning apartment Saturday night. She died shortly afterward. Also killed were her brother Donaldson, 7, and their babysitter Kim Hubbard, 15. Preliminary investigations point to careless disposal of smoking materials as the cause.

Patrons hang by their heels for a haircut

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some customers have flipped over a hair stylist's "Aero Cut," which is turning the personal grooming market upside down.

"It's a good thing I didn't eat any breakfast," Nancy Higa said recently as she was suspended by her ankles for her haircut.

Hairdressing by inversion, a new heels-over-head twist in the quest for beauty, is a fashion idea claimed by stylist Darryl Curby. The Illinois native turns customers upside down on a 9-foot rack at his shop in San Marino, an exclusive community north of Los Angeles.

Ex-prof and drug guru draws a full house at Harvard after 20 years

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — For the first time since being fired 20 years ago from Harvard for experimenting with mind-bending drugs, 1960s drug guru Timothy Leary returned Sunday to praise the university as the "big league of chemical psychedelic experimentation."

"Since the day we were canned, I never have felt any rancor against Harvard," Leary, 62, who advised a generation to "drop out and turn on," told a laughing, applauding full-house during a lecture at Harvard's Memorial Hall.

"Harvard is the mainline of American trancendental thinking."

Joseph A. Kasof, a first-year Harvard graduate student in sociology, said he promoted the lecture because of his interest in psychedelic drugs. He hired the hall and security force and advertising for the occassion for a total cost of about $2,300, he said.

Tickets were $3 each, and crowds of students stood outside in the rain before the start of the lecture asking for extra tickets.

Appearing also was Richard Alpert, 49, an assistant clinical psychology professor fired along with Leary, who was a lecturer.

Today's Staff

Night Editor	Rich Nangle
Copy Editor	Anne McCrory
Layout Technician	Jim Floyd
Photo Technician	Dave Deuber
Composition	Lauri Neely, Donna Maurice
Adrianne Dufour, Stuart Sajdak, Alyssa Rusiecki
Mat Atkins, Jim Finkle, Sue Koczela, Joyce Haglund

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address change to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
256-8597
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small
2 item pizza
Only $4.00

AMHERST CINEMA
$2.50 Double Feature
Sunday - Tuesday
Kaper Hauser 7:00
Fitzcaraldo 9:00
Wednesday - Saturday
Annie Hall 7:15
Manhattan 9:00
Downtown Amherst
253-5426

Tennis Balls
Softball & Baseballs
at
A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

IMPROVE STUDY HABITS
IMPROVE SPORTS ABILITY
HYPNOSIS CAN HELP YOU MAKE IT PERMANENT
Many of our clients are doctor referrals.
OVERCOME ANXIETIES, FEARS & PHOBIAS
Lose Weight • Stop Smoking • Insomnia • Nail Biting
Self Confidence • Sexual Problems •
HAMPSHIRE ETHICAL HYPNOSIS CENTER
Milton H. Askinoss, Member A.A.E.H.
Available Lecture Demonstrations
Call or Write for Free Brochure
The Farrick Building, Rte. 9, Hadley, Ma.
3/10 mile Hampshire Mall (next to Rocky's Hardware)
584-1919 by Appt. Only

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
Division of Continuing Education
Quality Education at Affordable Prices
For only $35.00 per credit hour you can get a headstart on next semester, or catch up on this semester. Mass Bay Community College offers 3 credit courses and non-credit workshops in your area of interest, day or evening this summer. Classes begin May 31 (Session 1) and July 12 (Session 2).
50 Oakland Street, Wellesley Hills, MA 02181
tel. (617) 237-1100 ext. 132

Looking for a meaningful
SUMMER JOB
Massachusetts Fair Share
The country's largest statewide citizen action organization
Has full time and summer openings for fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building to shape hazardous waste, energy, and other policies in this state.
Hours 1:30 - 9:30 pm, pay: $175 - $225 average per week and benefits. Will train.
Call: 586-8713,
9 AM - 1:30 PM
Mon - Fri for Western Mass.
For work in Boston Area call:
1-800-952-7478

GRADUATING SOON?
You're Needed All Over the World.
Ask Peace Corps volunteers why their ingenuity and flexibility are as vital as their degrees. They'll tell you they are helping the world's poorest peoples attain self sufficiency in the areas of food production, energy conservation, education, economic development and health services. And they'll tell you about the rewards of hands on career experience overseas. They'll tell you it's the toughest job you'll ever love.
PEACE CORPS
See Mary-Jo Langston, 12 Draper Hall, UMASS, 545-2105
Tuesdays 12:00 - 3:30
Wednesdays 9:00 - 12:00
Thursdays 12:00 - 5:00

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

Jim Maverick of Sunderland uses body english to get the winning rolls in Saturday's Cosmic Wimpout tournament on the grounds of The Rusty Nail Inn of his home town.

Dice determine wimp champ

By MICHAEL HOTALING
Collegian Correspondent

SUNDERLAND — As the sun blazed down around the Rusty Nail Inn on Saturday, the players began to congregate for the eighth annual Cosmic Wimpout Global Tournament.

Each year hordes of Cosmic Wimpout devotees make the pilgrimage to the Pioneer Valley to do battle for the prestige of clinching the title of World Champion and the accompanying $500 prize.

Cosmic Wimpout is a risk-oriented cube game, the object of which is to accumulate points by rolls of the specially marked dice without "wimping out," or throwing pointless combinations.

The president of Cosmic Wimpout, Inc., known as "Maverick," explained that the tournament originated when "a bunch of people getting together to play said 'Hey, let's set an official day,' " and the rest is history. Originally the tournaments were held in the Blue Wall in the University of Massachusetts Campus Center, but have since been played at various sites in the valley, Maverick said.

The tournament was loosely structured with the players taking advantage of prime weather conditions by playing sprawled on the grass outside the Nail. Some competitors, in attempts to intimidate opponents, chose to turn out in full battle regalia.

Among these colorful characters were those dressed as a clown, an Indian chief, a cone-head, and a World War I flying ace. Despite these tactics, the flying ace, known as "Captain Spark-O-Matic," was soundly thrashed by his opponent in the first round. The Indian, "Chief Buru," used a good-luck dance and war whoop on important rolls. Apparently the gods were not with him as he was eliminated in the second round.

As the day wound down and eliminated players began to migrate indoors to enjoy music provided by Max Creek, the competition moved toward the final round. Although players had come from across the country, it was Pete Dulong of Granby who came from behind to clinch the prize. Dulong attributed his success and interest in the game to "my brother playing."

Captain Spark-O-Matic, a three tournament veteran, summed up the sentiments of many when he said, "I wouldn't miss it again."

Conference ties women, blacks

By MARY BALDWIN
and CHRIS SCHUSTER
Collegian Staff

Academic intelligence and soul searching were combined this weekend to challenge accepted assumptions regarding issues faced by both women and blacks at a two-day conference attended by more than 200 people at the University of Massachusetts.

The conference, "Black Studies/Women's Studies: An Overdue Partnership" was organized to initiate a greater dialogue between black studies and women's studies departments, said Johnnella Butler, an organizer of the event and chairperson of the Afro-American Studies department at Smith College.

"We have scanned the two fields in relation to each other," Butler said. A cohesion of interests has come about because of the emotional issues faced by each group, she said.

Bernice Reagon, director of the Program of Black American Culture at the Smithsonian Institute said in her keynote address, "This project does not come about because some people have good hearts. It really comes out of personal self-interest. The partnership comes out of an emergency. If you feel the crisis, it is because it is present."

"We have created a world where people move against other people to deal with their anxieties. There is no place that it happens more than universities," she said.

"Black people represent a powerful example in this country of moving towards humanism when we choose to embrace that legacy," she said. If you take a look at black history, our history shows promise of turning things around."

Workshops held Friday and Saturday were conducted by professors from the five-college area. The series dealt with women's literature, history, sociology and philosophy. Workshops about political science, communication and feminist theory were also held.

Anger and authority towards professors and students in women's studies and black studies classrooms were also addressed at the conference.

Professor Margo Culley, of the English department at UMass said negative feelings are prominent in those types of classrooms.

"If you are a woman or black or both, you come to the classroom with your authority in question," she said. "Authority for the teacher who is female is vexed."

Butler said ignorance of racism and sexism and the fear of being thought of as racist or sexist is also very common.

"The classroom is characterized by emotional self-protection, the fear of being sexist or racist or being politically incorrect," she said. "We must bite the bullet and not be afraid of being afraid."

Chisholm relates issues

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

Although the partnership between Black Studies and Women's Studies is possible, their goals as more than "superficial" academic disciplines can only be reached by a collective effort, said the first black woman elected to Congress Saturday at the University of Massachusetts.

Shirley Chisholm, a former presidential candidate, was the closing speaker at the two-day conference entitled Black Studies/Women's Studies: An Overdue Partnership.

"I may anger some black women, some black men, some white women, and some white men, for what I have to say. I believe in my soul," she said.

Women's Studies has been more successful in maintaining its students, but it is a "class-biased" discipline, concerned more with "pension reform" and "comparable worth," than the plight of "domestic work and migrant women," she said. However, Black Studies departments have ignored the problems of sex encountered by black women, she said.

"The integration of these two disciplines is essential to their continuence and the furtherance of their aims," she said.

Chisholm said these disciplines deal in interdisciplinary scholarship. "Traditional education rejects this scholarship because it is seen as a lowering of academic standards," she said.

Economics in the black community and the feminization of poverty were two examples she used.

Because of this rejection of interdisciplinary scholarship by traditional educational institutions, "these disciplines are destined to remain merely marginal units," she said.

Black Studies and Women's Studies have to "appear as the more active participant," she said. "You have a challenge to create ways to break the circle of marginality."

"Let's call a spade, a spade," she said. Black Studies is attacked as offering "mick" courses with few students willing to have them on their transcripts. "Skin color is not an excuse for incompetence," she said.

"This is a challenge, but blacks and other minorities always had to exhibit superior qualities to excel, to compete effectively and not to be cowed by this challenge," she said.

The ultimate goal of the Black Studies and Women's Studies departments is to conceive a more "fully integrated curriculum," she said. When the departments are combined they offer a basis for a "greater exploration of this problem," she said.

Search committee to begin interviews for new provost

By DAN STOCKFORD
Collegian Correspondent

Representatives of a search committee plan to begin interviews within the next month to find a replacement for outgoing Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Provost Loren Baritz.

"Of course we want the best of everything," search committee chairman Richard S. Stein said yesterday of the qualities the search committee is looking for in a new provost.

"We want a good administrator as well as someone that has made a reputation in their field and who will be well respected in the University," Stein, a professor in the UMass chemistry department, said.

"We are also looking for someone who could work well with the chancellor, the academic deans and the faculty and interact well with students and the general public," Stein said.

Stein said one of the incoming provost's biggest challenges will be to deal with the large loss of UMass faculty due to attrition.

"During the next 10 years there will be an appreciable turnover at the University," Stein said. "This will be due principally to retirements.

"The new provost will play an important role in aiding in the search to find the proper people to fill these positions."

Stein said the first round of interviews will be conducted within the next two to four weeks. The search committee is currently reviewing the applications they have received.

"The initial interviews may or may not be held on campus," Stein said. "We may hold them in different regions of the country, just as the interviews for the new chancellor were done."

Stein said the final interviews will almost certainly be held on campus and the search committee will have the final candidates meet with different constituencies at the University.

Over 200 applications were received by the search committee for the position that will officially be left vacant on June 1 when Baritz officially resigns. Political science professor Dean Alfange, Jr. is serving as acting provost until the new provost takes office.

According to Stein, the nine-member search committee is composed of faculty, administrators, union representatives and students.

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

A youngster shows he appreciates the musical abilities of Amherst's Craig Eastman (violin) and Jim Henry III (guitar) on North Pleasant Street, Amherst.

UMass to help local schools

By MARY-SHEILA LOUGHLIN
Collegian Staff

The School of Education at the University of Massachusetts is participating in a program with the Amherst-Pelham Public Schools in an effort to keep the Amherst Area Teaching Center (AATC) in operation.

As stated in the agreement, Professor Richard Konicek from the School of Education will work on the planning of full-scale implementation of the project. He is assigned to work on this on a half-time basis. A half-time graduate assistant to be chosen later, will also be working on this project.

"The program will be beneficial to all involved," said Dean Mario D. Fantini of the School of Education. It is designed to deal with such issues as teacher training, curriculum development, and testing educational theories.

The idea behind the program is for the School of Education and the AATC to work together by linking their resources and needs, Fantini said. The program will explore funding opportunities as well as offer workshops, seminars, courses and classroom support services.

The planning, beginning this spring, will continue for the 1983-1984 school year, Fantini said.

The UMass School of Education was prompted to enter into this agreement when the AATC, which had previously been funded by federal grants, became the subject of economic cutbacks, Fantini said.

The agreement was signed in January of this year by Fantini for the School of Education, Donald Frizzle for the Amherst-Pelham Schools and an AATC representative.

Honorary degree nominations being accepted

The advisory committee on honorary degrees is now accepting nominations for recipients of honorary degrees for the 1984 commencement. Nominees should be people who have made contributions to the University and the state. Nominations should be forwarded to Jean Weber in Room 365 of the Whitmore Administration Building before May 2.

Parking pre-registration for fall begins today

Parking pre-registration for the fall 1983 semester begins today. Anyone who does not receive renewal registration forms by May 6 should come to the Parking Office, 137 Hasbrouck. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The renewal deadline is May 13.

Holocaust survivor to lecture on "A Jew Today"

Noted writer and survivor of Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps Elie Weisel will speak at 7:30 p.m. today in the Johnson Chapel at Amherst College. The topic of the speech is "A Jew Today: The Jewish and Human Conditions."

French diplomat speaks today at Amherst

French Diplomat Charles Crettien will deliver a lecture entitled, "Franco-American Relations: Areas of Accord and of Contention" at 7:30 p.m. today in the Converse Assembly Room at Amherst College. Crettien is the director of the press and information section of the French Consulate in New York.

Resume seminar tonight at New Africa House

The Collegiate Committee for the Education of Blacks and other Minority Students and University Placement Services will present a workshop entitled "Resumes that Work" at 5 p.m. tonight at the New Africa House library. The workshop is free and open to the public.

THIS WEEKS SPECIAL

$2.41 4 oz
Coppertone Lotion or Oil

$2.71 cream
Bain de Soleil

$3.41 Bain de Soleil Oil 8 oz

$2.51 each
shampoo or conditioner Reg or X-Body

$1.51 reg $2.49
Edge 7 oz

$1.89 reg $2.92
Stri-Dex pads 75's

Crest
$1.56 Crest Bonus Pack 7.7 oz

97¢ reg $1.50
Reach soft & med

$2.18 B & L Saline for sensitive eyes

All sale items also available in the Mini Store
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

nylon wallets, canvas tote bags, SPRING SALE straw hats, india prin
voile sashes, folding umbrellas, chintz hats, stagelight cosmetics, musc
SPRING SALE mugs, tea kettles, coffee makers, espresso ma
sashes, bandanas, wok sets, wok tools, straw rugs, door m
baskets, bamboo window shades, SPRING SALE st
glassware sets, wine glasses, beer mugs, beverage
glasses, hats, SPRING SALE wine racks, mu
muscle t-shirts, roll bags, fashion umbrellas,
mugs, SPRING SALE madras sashes, b
bags, paper, pens, crayons, prints, c
desks, lamps, lanterns, bandanas
cosmetics, SPRING SALE
cards, games, toys, glasse
chintz hats, stagelig
SPRING SALE
umbrellas, m
crayons, p
muscle
toy

and that's just the half of it

Spring Sale
APRIL 21 - 30

FACES
A Store-full of Ideas
Downtown Amherst / Open Daily 10-6, Sun. 12-5

Artists, celebrants commemorate Earth Day

Collegian photo by Ed Levine

Collegian photo by Nick Mourdios

Earth day attracted many people concerned with the environment to UMass Friday. At the top left is a wide angle shot taken from in front of the Tower library. At the bottom left, Jean Zimmerman and Tony Dreyfus attempt to beautify a barrel. Above, students paint a poster outside the Student Union Building.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY Collegian
Telephone (413) 545-3500
Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003

BUSINESS POSITIONS FOR FALL 1983
Applications now being accepted for:
Co-Finance Managers
Assistant
Business Manager
Assistant
Advertising Managers
Advertising
Representatives
Application Deadline:
Thursday 4/28
Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center
The Collegian is an Equal Opportunity Employer

SONY
MICRO CASSETTE-CORDER WHICH PROVES THAT SMALL IS BEAUTIFUL

Sony proves that small is as handy as it is beautiful. The M-9 micro cassette-corder is tiny enough to take along to school, the office, or any meeting. But it has large easy-to-use buttons and one-touch recording, so the student and executive alike will find it a cinch to operate. Two speeds allow up to 2 hours of recording. And when you're finished, pop it into your pocket. The economical M-9. A great little Sony for those very big assignments.

Sale $49.95 list 64.95
Save $15.00 off of list price
model number M-9
quantities limited

UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

Woman's week

MONDAY

The Women's Issues Team will hold a meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Campus Center in room 805.

A Wine and Cheese Party will be given by the Northeast/Sylvan Women's Center at 7 p.m. in the basement of Knowlton Dormitory.

"Sexism and Racism: Organizing Against Violence" will be given by Suzanne Pharr, director of Arkansas Women's Project, at 7:30 p.m. in the Andreola Room in the Willits-Hallowell Center, Mount Holyoke College.

"Killing Us Softly" the film by Jean Kilborne will be shown at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center in room 805. Discussion of the media's portrayal of women will follow the movie.

TUESDAY

Workshop on Job Stress in the Office offered by the Working Women's Task Force wil be held at noon in the Campus Center in room 811B.

The International Women's Event Evaluation meeting will be held at 1 p.m. in the Women's Issues Team Office in the Student Union.

The Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom (CERRF) will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Dukes Room in the Student Union.

"Have We Got A Theory For You: Feminist Theory, Ethnocentrism and the Demand for the Woman's View" will be given by Vicki Spelman and Maria Lugones at 7:30 p.m. in Wright Hall at Smith College.

WEDNESDAY

Workshop on Children's Sexual Assault and Prevention sponsored by the Educator/Advocate Program of Everywoman's Center and the Men Against Violence Against Women will be held at 7 p.m. in the Campus Center in room 168.

THURSDAY

The Anti-Racism Team will meet at 4 p.m. in the Dukes Room in the Student Union.

"Men and Women: Is There Really a Difference?" will be given by Professor Rose Olver at 7:30 p.m. in the Pratt Library at Amherst College.

FRIDAY

"Women in Struggle", a panel discussion will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Campus Center in room 162. Representatives from the Democratic Revolutionary Front — El Salvador, Casa Nicaragua, Circulo De Cultura Cubana — Cuba and Women for Guatemala will speak on the changing roles of women in their countries and give an update on the present situation in Central America.

STAR TREK LIVES!
Club Meeting
April 27
Time 7-11 pm
Room 801
Campus Center
Films, Info
for S.T. & S.F. fans
All Welcome!

Student Housing. Chi Rho welcomes applications from single grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores. Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

Wholewheat PIZZA FACTORY
383 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

$30 REWARD
for a 3 bedroom apt. in Puffton beg. June or Sept.
Sheryl 6-9680
Shari 6-9623
Sue 6-9593

High Notes
Singing Telegrams
Balloon Deliveries &
Professional Bellydancers
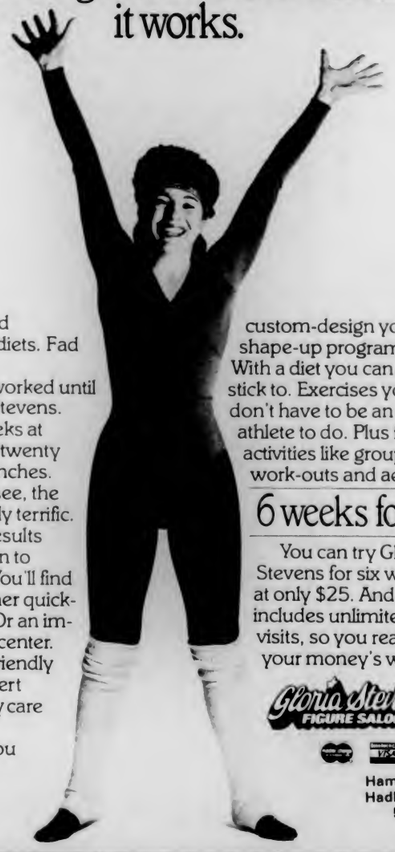
for ALL occasions
Call 665-7664

Losing 20 pounds says something about Gloria Stevens: it works.



Pat Cotter tried everything. Fad diets. Fad exercises.
But nothing worked until she tried Gloria Stevens.
In just six weeks at Gloria's, she lost twenty pounds and 20 inches. And as you can see, the results were really terrific.
If you'd like results like Pat's, come in to Gloria Stevens. You'll find it's not just another quick-loss diet center. Or an impersonal fitness center.
It's a warm, friendly place where expert technicians really care about you.
They'll help you custom-design your own shape-up program. With a diet you can actually stick to. Exercises you don't have to be an athlete to do. Plus fun activities like group work-outs and aerobics.
6 weeks for $25.
You can try Gloria Stevens for six weeks at only $25. And that includes unlimited visits, so you really get your money's worth.
Gloria Stevens FIGURE SALONS
Hampshire Mall
Hadley, Route 9
584-0105

Memo to UMass Faculty
We would appreciate your Course Book order for the summer or fall semester. It will be given our prompt efficient and loving attention.

Jeffery Amherst Bookshop
55 S. Pleasant St
Amherst
253-3381

Explore Careers in the Literary Arts
Tuesday,
April 26, 1983
Campus center, Rm 169, 7-9:30 pm
with
Deborah Robson
Small Press Manager, Editor
Writer and Poet, Amherst
Steve Berman
Author and Screen Writer
Northampton
and
Barbara Schaffer Bacon,
Arts Resource Coordinator, AES
TOPICS: A general overview of each career, including setting, skills needed, kinds of positions and resources for job information.
TO REGISTER CALL:
the Arts Extension Service at 545-2360
Sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council.
Next Workshop: Careers in the Visual Arts

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Does our President cry wolf much?

As a child my father told me the story of The Boy Who Cried Wolf. It was a story that explained the consequences of telling lies for effect and then when help is needed, no one will listen. This is the one story that seems to come to mind when I read, hear, and see news of President Reagan's idealogy of nuclear war.

In the tale, the boy cried "wolf" chiefly for effect, and it worked. People were stirred up and they reacted by coming out of their homes to help. Our President, and it seems a majority of our politicians, have used "wolf" too, only this time it is not the animal but a country, Russia. With the increasing emphasis by the Reagan Administration on proliferating nuclear weapons and defense budget buildups, this balance of terror is drawn up for political aims rather than for any real goal of world peace. The ongoing debate about the MX missile is one example; our increasing dependence on modern technology such as the killer satellites is another. The result is an increased level of insecurity that plays upon our fears with an even greater fear — the threat of a limited nuclear war with Russia.

Yes, the wolf is at our door, or so we are led to think. In January the President established a bipartisan Commission on Strategic Forces which recently recommended that the President promote an evolution in nuclear policy by which "each side is encouraged to see the survivability of its own forces in a way that does not threaten the other." The commission then went on to suggest a modernization program which would save $1.5 billion in 1984 through the design of a single warhead missile to replace the 100 ton MX.

To listen to this only serves to feed our fears. Is this really any different in principle from crying wolf?

Any way you look at it, nuclear weapons are a strong deterrent. Yes, a loaded gun can be a definite threat especially if it were held to my head, in which case, I would not have a difficult time doing what I was told. But what if I had a gun? This would, unfortunately result in a gunfighter stand off, reminiscent of Gary Cooper in High Noon, and in nuclear warfare, being faster on the draw does not determine the winner. In the boy's time, nuclear weapons were not the problem, the wolf did indeed threaten the boy's village, but this is not the same as our position in respect to Russia. Isn't our President, that man with the kindly face, the silky voice, and the flawless delivery, also crying wolf?

The hardest thing to reconcile is our tolerance for this proliferation of a new cold war attitude. With the fiasco of the B-1 Bomber lingering in my mind, it is hard to believe our Secretary of Defense when he says that not a nickel is wasted in defense appropriations, and that even more money should be allocated to defense. Such statements stretch the limits of credibility. It took the townspeople three cries to reach this limit. I hope it does not take as much from our President.

In our effort to maintain our pre-eminent position in arms manufacture, we have glossed over such problems as a $200 billion government deficit, a continual balance of trade deficit, and an economy that has been in recession. Add to this the condition of urban blight in all our major cities, and unemployment and it seems a classic case of economic strangulation. In the boy's time the world was a bit simpler and they did not have to make such sacrifices, but it seems that we must.

Crying wolf taught me about telling lies, and it has taught me a lesson in morality. Although the townspeople turned a deaf ear to the boy, they did save him in the end. But who is going to save us, in the end from ourselves?

Chris Ferretti

Chris Ferretti is a Collegian columnist

Legal system has the power

At the conclusion of my Legal Studies class last week I began to read a current issue of Time magazine, wherein my attention was caught by an advertisment for the American Bar Association proclaiming "LAW DAY USA MAY 1." The headline boldly reads, "You Have a Share in Justice. Don't sell it Short." That "You", being we, as students preparing to enter the "real world" of lawful American society, it is important that we define our perceptions of the lofty ideal of justice so that we will know what to expect and how to act. Since each of us lives in this country and supports the legal system with paid taxes, we must assume some responsibility for it.

Steven Geiger

The advertisement begins, "We all have a share in justice. We all have a voice in preserving it, in molding its future. But too many of us sell our share short. Too many of us believe that one shareholder cannot make a difference." Law, like any societal structure, is not something that exists naturally with trees and rocks, but must be continually sustained by people. And, however large a society may be, a society is always a group of single people. All laws, no matter how powerful, are manifestations of ideas, and all ideas originate in single minds. If we can communicate our ideas, each of us has the potential to have a tremendous impact on the legal system. But if we seek change, we must remember the people behind the laws: no people like to be the target of hateful criticism.

Now there is an irony in these noble and inspiring words. The ABA portrays the law as a structure molded by all of us, equally, for the benefit of each: American justice is an ideal "joint venture." But to exemplify the correct spirit of a truly American "shareholder" of justice, the ABA chooses a rather surprising historical figure: "In 1955, a black woman named Rosa Parks caught a bus after a long day at work. It was a segregated bus. Too tired to move, she refused to give up her seat to a white. With that refusal, she "voted" her share of American justice. Her "no" generated the spark that ignited the American civil rights movement of the 60's." Isn't Rosa Parks the last person the ABA would want to call attention to? Indeed, she was a courageous individual who had a tremendous impact on the legal system, but the only way she could attain any justice was by stepping outside of the judicial system; she "voted her share of American justice" by flatly repudiating it.

Unintentionally, the ABA has made an important point. Justice is not necessarily achieved from within the system. Individuals do not always have equal access to the law. The exploited or enslaved Native Americans, Africans, and Japanese Americans of recent American history had no recourse to justice within a legal system designed to exclude them. If we are not to be hypocrites, we must assure that the legal system at present does offer equal access, in the spirit of the Constitution, Declaration of Independence and Bill of Rights, and that it is not merely the tool of a specific group.

Like the Catholic church, because the legal system has existed for many years, has such great power of enforcement, and is so vast, it is easy to believe that it is infallible and founded in granite. In reality, it is founded in people like you and I, and people are often biased and rarely consistent. Law is not by definition justice or rightfulness. Law is a system of rules and procedures that in order to be just or rightful must be rooted in just minds.

A just legal system is vital as we enter full-speed into the 21st century world of computers and advanced technologies. The potential of technology is limitless in its role as a tool for man and womankind, to offer a comfortable, stimulating existence for an ever-greater number of people. With modern technoiogies in the realms of air and space travel, communications, energy, medicine, agriculture, etc., we now have the means, as never before in history, to unite the world as a human community with a common respect for all individuals. We also have the means, as never before in history, to destroy that world. With technology and a just legal system we can achieve a prosperous America and a peaceful world.

We must realize that no system of justice will be just if people have not learned self-respect and, from this, respect for others. The large system of justice in society is a reflection of how individual members treat each other. We must demand of ourselves the qualities that we demand of others and the law. We must follow the example of individuals like Rosa Parks, who will not accept the authority of the law over that of her own conscience, and we must keep her as a reminder that justice must not be exclusive. As citizens and taxpayers, we have the responsibility to work toward a justice system that is accessible to all people in America, so that within the law, as the ABA proclaims, "A single citizen, a single share , can make a difference."

Steven Geiger is a UMass student

Letters

Column an injustice to Greeks

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Elizabeth Liciano's editorial in the 4/20 Collegian in which she claimed that someone must have slipped her a mickey of some kind in her glass of wine.

She went on to insinuate that the perpetrator of this incident was most probably a frat man. (It's a fraternity, not a frat, first of all.)

In response to that article, a member of a sorority pointed out that maybe Ms. Luciano had been doped by a non-fraternity member so, in that case, jumping to the conclusion that one of the fraternity members had committed the infraction was an injustice to the Greek system.

This point makes sense but misses what, in my opinion, is the pivotal question of the column.

Elizabeth, how do you know that you were drugged at all?

I will bore you for a moment with a brief reconstruction of my weekend past.

Sunday morning I awoke feeling quite good, even better than on some Sunday mornings which I remember. At 11:15 that morning, I felt fine until, all of a sudden, I became nauseous. I wasn't drunk. I was sick.

I had trouble navigating my way to the bathroom because I was dizzy but I wasn't too afraid, being sick does that to people.

I know, and I'm sure a check at the University Health Services will verify my claim, that quite a few students have contracted the same type of illness which I had and I would like to suggest that since Ms. Luciano had no physical proof that she was drugged (being sick is only proof that you're sick) that she too caught the same bug which I did.

Granted, fraternity men are not perfect but, let's not jump to unsubstantiated conclusions, and leave a scar where scars are not warranted. Please don't turn the community against fraternities (any more than already) without any proof.

Jim Floyd
Phi Mu Delta
Amherst

Hatch food names are sexist

To the Editor:

We are troubled by several of the names of food items at the Hatch. The "Saucy Chick" and the "Sensual Sausage" are prime offenders. The "Saucy Chick" uses an extremely sexist stereo-type and perpetuates a condescending, objectifying image of young, single women. The "Sensual Sausage", while less overtly abusive, is also unnecessarily sexual. While these names may be a neat marketing technique, managers ought to be tuned in to the social implications of their efforts, especially in a university community which fancies itself an enlightened, sensitive haven. We are quite sure that students and faculty in the Marketing Department would be willing to be of assistance in developing effective marketing titles which are non-exploitive.

We request a change in the names of these foods at the Hatch.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Laura Gallant
Mitch Gaslin
Campus Center Fee Payers
Amherst

WE THANK YOU

FROM THE STAFF of UNION RECORDS UNLIMITED, WE THANK all who have supported our student run organization.

YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT keeps us open and allows special sales to happen for you, the public.

YOUR TRULY,
URU, STAFF

ON SALE!

By making us happy
we want to make you happy
with our super savings.

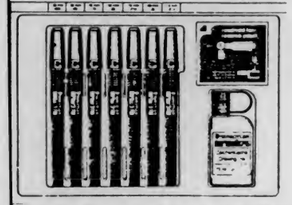
TDK SA-90
Maxell UDXLII-90
E Albums
Master Recordings
- are all on sale.

Union Records Unlimited

Technical Pen Day Monday April 25

FREE Pen Cleaning and Demonstration on the use and care of Technical Pens

Trade in any old or broken technical pen or point get a new Staedtler Mars Pen for a price of a point



Register to win Staedtler Mars 7-pen set

no purchase necessary

Drawing April 25. 1983

Name _____ Deposit at Art Counter:
Address _____ one coupon per customer
Phone #_____ ext.____ Drawing Coupon

OPEN M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Campus Center, Univ of Mass

UNIVERSITY OF Charter Day MASSACHUSETTS

JOIN US! for a
Charter Day
celebration of the 120th anniversary
of the Founding of the
University of Massachusetts

ROPEPULL
BOOTHS
BALLOONS
BANNER CONTEST
BIRTHDAY CAKES

on Friday, April 29, 1983 at 12:30 p.m., Campus Pond
(rain site: Student Union Ballroom)

PLUS Charter Day Convocation, Saturday, April 30 at 10:30 a.m. in Bowker Auditorium, featuring installation of Chancellor Joseph Duffey

Arts

In search of reality

LANDSCAPE OF THE BODY
By John Guara
Directed by Iris Valanti
April 19-23
Curtain Theater, FAC

By MERIDETH FARNHAM
Collegian Correspondent

Congratulations to Iris Valanti, the cast and the entire crew of Landscape Of The Body. They put together an outstanding theater experience that was both entertaining and thought provoking. And the solid round of applause that the company received from the sell-out audience on Saturday night was well deserved.

Landscape Of The Body, set on a Nantucket ferry and later in New York City, is the story of Betty (Lisa Kornetsky), a confused, middle-aged woman in search of herself. The play begins on the ferry with a tense confrontation between Betty and Captain Marvin Holahan (Michael S. Miller). This scene is deliberately mysterious, allowing the audience to be gradually enlightened as they see the truth in flashbacks from Betty's life.

Betty, along with her 14 year old son, Bert (Michael Hale), comes to New York from Maine in search of her sister, Rosalie (Jean E. Johnson): a porn artist and "travel agent" at Raulito's (Wilby Lewis) Honeymoon Holidays. As the story evolves, Rosalie — who is killed by a "yellow ten speed bike" — is replaced by Betty. We see the almost unbelievable transformation of Betty from a timid country woman to an experienced "woman of the town." But Betty's life isn't meant to be a happy one. Everyone that is important to her is killed, Rosalie, Raulito, and even Bert. To top it all off, she is interrogated for the murder of her son by, "none other than Captain Marvin Holahan."

All the members of the cast were excellent in their roles, most of them managing to portray their characters competently. Kornetsky did well as the rebellious middle aged Betty, although she sometimes seemed to lose the intensity of Betty and her life in her performance. But the audience, I think, could still feel for Betty and her heart-wrenched life.

In my opinion, more credit should be given to Michael Hale. His portrayal of Bert was superb and he should have taken his bow along with Kornetsky. Hale was Bert. He showed us the truly raw and confusing emotions of an adolescent who is frightened of being deserted, yet tries to be adult about it. Hale was entertaining with his ironic humor, turning the sad realities of his life into something we could laugh at.

Johnson and Miller did well in their roles, as well. There is no question as to the excellence of their acting abilities, but I just did not get anything special from their characters. Although they had their moments, they too seemed to lose the intensity of their roles as the play progressed.

Wilby Lewis, Lisa Disraeli (Joanne), and Bill Ryan (Durwood Peach) deserve an extra round of applause for their energetic performances. When any one of them was on the stage, not only did the audience visibly perk-up, but the stage seemed to glisten with the increased dramatic energy they effected. I urge you to keep an eye out for Disraeli and Ryan in the future. Their exceptional acting talents are sure to bring good things to them, as well as the audiences fortunate to witness their abilities.

Overall, an enjoyable evening of theater was had by all.

(Photo courtesy of University Ensemble Theater)
Captain Holahan (Michael Miller) confronts Betty (Lisa Kornetsky) in the University Ensemble's production of Landscape of the Body.

Keepers of the flame

GRATEFUL DEAD: THE OFFICIAL BOOK OF THE DEADHEADS
Edited by Paul Grushkin
Quill, 209pp., $3.50

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

Yes, once again it's April and most everyone knows someone who is going to see the Grateful Dead sometime before spring is over. And why not? It's part of living, like eating at Burger King. Really, everyone should experience the Dead live once before they die.

But I'm not here to talk about how I feel about the Grateful Dead. This is a fine book full of great pictures of the band (why don't the Dead shows I go to look like this?), great letters from fans, assorted Dead trivia, and lots of photos of old posters which one never sees anymore.

This book is very accurate. It portrays the feelings of a Greatful Dead concert: the people, the band, and all the other things that surround them. It's really funny. I guess it's a good thing to have around if you want a visual scrapbook to go along with the tapes you've collected from the shows.

The book is divided up much like a Dead performance into a First Set, intermission, and a Second Set. For a good part of both sets, there is a semi-tripping running commentary that goes along with a Dead show. Words and lyrics are interspersed. But don't let that scare you, the rest of the book more than offsets this parade of narcissistic blabbering.

Of course, like any other Dead show the book carries on in the usual, oppressive way towards women. This has always bugged me. Women who go to Grateful Dead concerts are portrayed in the book as objects of visual attention for men with the face paint and all. But of course, that is just of reflection of Jerry and the Boy's attitudes, anyway.

There is a picture of the Warfield Theatre atop which is written "They're not the best at what they do, They're the only ones who do what they do." Reading this book is like going to one of these Grateful Dead affairs. It's a nice scrapbook for Deadheads and others to have around the house. And besides it has a pretty complete listing of all the Dead and pre-dead shows since 1961. I suppose that has some value.

Photo by San Francisco Chronicle
Golden Gate Park, 1973: remember Flower Power?

Collegian photo by Dave Dreher
Boy Detective, Lou Miami, orchestrates a symphony of slamming at the Blue Wall Friday night.

The guy just stood out

LOU MIAMI AND THE KOSMETIX
Friday, April 22
Blue Wall

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

The guy stood out in the crowd of partiers the moment he entered the room.

The crowd parted in front of him as he swaggered up to the keg to pour himself a beer.

Yep, there he was in the flesh. Lou Miami and the Kosmetix had just finished playing their special brand of rock and roll in a too brightly lit and too sparsely filled Blue Wall in their first area appearance since the release of their six-song EP. Lou and the band decided to grab a couple of beers before loading up and heading back to Boston.

"People do seem to notice us more since the record came out," said Jack Rootoo, the Kosmetix lead guitarist as he watched Lou get watched by everyone.

Saturday night at the Blue Wall was a mixture of the old and new Lou. The Kosmetix took the stage before the red headed crooner and rambled into the theme from Hawaii Five-O as they usually do.

Then came Lou. Lou Miami was a show unto himself as he gyrated, bopped and convulsed his body while delivering some of the new stuff (like "A Vehicle for Love") and some of the old (most notably "Secret Agent Man," "Ya Gotta Fight Fire with Fire," and "Boy Detective") to the delight of the few fans who came to boogie with their favorite spasmatic.

Both sets were well received but after the group unwrapped another Lou classic, "Black List," to close out the second set, they were ready to just put their equipment away and go grab a beer. These guys are, after all, used to playing in front of full crowds back in Boston.

"Is it always like this?" Rootoo asked once his guitar was stuffed in its case. "It's okay but I guess there aren't many people here."

Wasn't too bad though. The drive out was nice, according to Rootoo, who piloted the band to Amherst. And, the beer was free too.

"Thanks for the beer," said Lou as he grabbed one for the road and headed off for either stardom or obscurity (one can't really be sure which with this type of act). "We'll see you later."

You certainly will Lou. You certainly will.

This is one of the most valuable credit cards a student could have

A Sears Credit Card can be extremely helpful to you, especially if you're a junior, senior or graduate student.

Because, aside from its immediate usefulness, a Sears Credit Card will help establish the credit background you will need after you graduate.

It's smart to establish credit now

It's easier to get a Sears Credit Card than you might think. You don't need a big bank account or a regular job or even a diploma. If you are a responsible person with the ability to pay your bills, Sears believes you deserve credit and will handle it with care.

And it's wise to get a Sears Credit Card now, while you're still in school. It will be useful to you right away, letting you get what you need when you need it. In addition, a Sears Charge Account could be your first step in building a credit history. A credit history that will help you get the credit you'll want when you leave school.

No annual fee with a Sears Credit Card

Unlike some credit cards, there's no annual fee for a Sears Credit Card. And there are no hidden credit charges: either finance charges are always fully disclosed on your Sears statement.

Nationwide credit

There are over 3,400 Sears Stores all across the country, and your Sears Credit Card is good at every one of them. This means wherever you live, travel or work—and wherever you may move—you have available credit at a nearby Sears.

Over 100,000 fine products and services

With a Sears Credit Card you can choose from an enormous range of products and services, and just say "Charge it!" Everything from clothes and cameras, electronic games and calculators, to tires and a tune-up for your car. And whatever you buy is backed by Sears famous promise, "Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back."

Buy what you need when you're short on cash

Your Sears Credit Card lets you buy what you need when you need it, even though you may not have the cash on hand at that particular moment. You can take advantage of Sears special sales as well as everyday good values.

And you can stretch your payments over many months if you wish.

Shop from Sears catalogs when you're short on time

When you don't have time to get to a Sears Store, use your Sears Credit Card to order by phone from Sears famous catalogs. Just say "Charge it!" You can arrange for delivery right to your door.

Apply for a Sears Credit Card right on campus

You can count on Sears

© Sears, Roebuck and Co. 1982

RECORD SALE

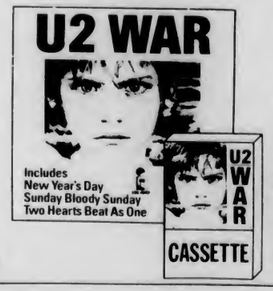
W.E.A. Records

$4.99

$5.99

$3.99

Pete Townshend
"Scoop"
$7.99



Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Sale Ends 4/30/83

La Cucina di PINOCCHIO

1177 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass.
549-3669
OPEN WEEKDAYS 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
SUNDAYS 4 p.m.-2 a.m.

PIZZAS	SMALL	LARGE
Cheese	$3.75	$ 5.75
Onion	4.25	6.25
Sausage	4.50	6.75
Fresh Cut Peppers	4.50	6.75
Hamburg	4.50	6.75
Canadian Bacon	4.50	6.75
Anchovies	4.50	6.75
Pepperoni	4.50	6.75
Ham	4.50	6.75
Fresh Sliced Mushrooms	4.50	6.75
Salami	4.50	6.75
2 Combo	5.25	7.75
3 Combo	6.00	8.75
4 Combo	6.75	9.75
Pinocchio's Special	9.00	15.00

SUBS	SMALL	LARGE
Italian	$2.25	$3.50
Steak & Cheese	2.50	3.75
Pepper Steak	2.50	3.75
Mushroom & Steak	2.50	3.75
Onion & Steak	2.50	3.75
Roast Beef	2.50	3.75
Turkey	2.30	3.55
Tuna	2.50	3.75
Eggplant	2.50	3.75
Pastrami	2.25	3.50
Pepperoni	2.25	3.50
Sausage	2.25	3.50
Meatball	2.25	3.50
Salami & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Ham & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Cheese	2.00	3.00

POCKET SANDWICHES
Italian	$3.00
Steak & Cheese	3.25
Pepper Steak	3.25
Mushroom & Steak	3.25
Onion & Steak	3.25
Roast Beef	3.25
Turkey	3.05
Tuna	3.25
Eggplant	3.25
Pastrami	3.00
Pepperoni	3.00
Meatball	3.00
Salami & Cheese	3.00
Ham & Cheese	3.00
Cheese	2.50

SALADS
Tossed	$1.95
Chef's	$2.50

BEVERAGES
Cider	$ .60
Espresso	.75
Cappuccino	1.00
Hot Chocolate	.60
Milk	.50
Chocolate Milk	.50
Beer (12 oz. cup)	.65
(pitcher)
Soda	.55

FAST FREE DELIVERY
549-3669
Limited delivery area. $3.50 minimum of delivery orders. Thank you.
Plus 5% Mass. Meal Tax

Hypercurricula...

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed only on the day they are taking place. Announcements must be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, and returned to the office by 3 p.m. the Friday before the event. All submissions should be written in a similar style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Friday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

WOMEN'S CENTER WINE AND CHEESE — The Northeast/Sylvan Women's Center will host a wine and cheese party this evening. Everyone is welcome! 7 p.m., Northeast/Sylvan Women's Center located in the basement of Knowlton.

MEDITATION CLASS — A beginners experience in meditation including relaxation, exercises, mantra meditation and philosophy. All are welcome: Free! 6 p.m., Campus Center 905.

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION MEETING — Do you care about animals? Join us to help them! Everyone is welcome! For more information, call 6-4789 or 6-3260. 6 p.m., Room 811 Campus Center.

ARMENIAN STUDENTS ORGANIZATION MEETING — Meeting on end of semester events. New members welcome! 7 p.m., Brett Dorm B34.

UMASS HUNGER TASK FORCE MEETING — All are welcome to join in group discussions and self-education process. 4 p.m., 428 Student Union.

ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENT MEETING — Fall leadership opportunity available in graduate student organizational development network; how to make organizations work better! Open meeting, 3 to 4 p.m., 151 Hills South.

WESTERN MASS. LATIN AMERICAN SOLIDARITY COMMITTEE — Help organize a movement! Meeting will include organizing around Pittsfield Rally, and planning for upcoming speakers. 6 p.m., 404 Student Union.

WOMEN'S IMAGE IN THE MEDIA — Film festival (including Kilbourne's "Killing Us Softly") with a discussion about the affects these images have on women. Please attend. 8 p.m., 805 Campus Center.

Archer Kent
Prices effective *thru May 1st

191 No Pleasant St.
Amherst
253-3534
24 HOUR-Overnight
MasterColor
Film Developing

MasterColor Film Developing

Faberge Organics Shampoo
8 oz
77¢
reg $1.19

Cover Girl
Moisturized Eye Shadow COLLECTION
$1.77
reg. $3.25

NEW Bic Erasable Ink Pen
2/89¢
reg. 89¢ each

Regular Strength
Anacin - 3
100% aspirin free
24 tablets
98¢
reg. $1.45

Hallmark Cards
for Mother's Day

GIFTS for MOM
ON HER DAY
Sunday may 8th

Jontue OR Charlie concentrated perfume
$5.49

Whitman Sampler
1 pound

Scoundrel concentrated cologne spray
2 oz
$7.49
reg. $10.00

$3.99
reg. $4.95

Open 24 Hours–7 am Mon. thru Sat. Midnite – Sunday 12 Noon to 6 pm
in Hadley-Amherst and Pittsfield stores.

STOP & SHOP

MORE WAYS TO SAVE!

DOUBLE COUPON SAVINGS On Manufacturers' Coupons
Manufacturers' Coupons are more valuable at Stop & Shop because we double your savings. Details in store.

EVERYDAY LOW PRICES!
You'll find them all over the store. Plus hundreds of Warehouse Values.

HUNDREDS OF SPECIALS IN OUR CIRCULAR!
Including valuable Stop & Shop Coupons. Check out every page of the circular. It can save you dollars more. Pick one up in the store.

STOP & SHOP'S LOWEST PRICE OF THE YEAR! 3 POUND CANNED CUDAHY HAM
3 LB CAN 4.99

Smoked Shoulders Colonial Pork Water Added	lb .99
Smoked Pork Butts Colonial Boneless Water Added	lb 1.99
Master Carve Ham Colonial Boneless Cooked Water Added	lb 2.49
Colonial Cooked Ham Semi-eds. Shankless 12-14 lbs Whole or Either Half. Water Added	lb 1.49
Colonial Bacon 1 Pound Package Sliced	1.59
Sliced Bacon 1 lb package Sun Glory	1.59
Nepco Bacon 1 lb package	1.69
Extra Mild Franks Stop & Shop 1 lb package	.99

PLENTY MEATY! GRADE A FRESH WHITE GEM
5-7 Pounds ROASTING CHICKEN 59¢ lb

White Gem Legs 5-6 lb Pkg. Chicken	lb .69
Chicken Breast, Split With Back 5-6 lb Pkg. White Gem	lb 1.09
Chicken Thighs White Gem 5-6 lb Pkg.	lb .79
Chicken Breasts White Gem Skinless and Boneless	lb 2.39
Chicken Drumsticks White Gem 5-6 lb Pkg.	lb .89
Perdue Chicken Legs 5-6 lb Pkg.	lb .79
Perdue Chicken Wings 5-6 lb Pkg.	lb .69
Perdue Whole Breasts 5-6 lb Pkg. Chicken	lb 1.29

SAVE MONEY ON A TENDER JUICY STOP & SHOP STEAK.
USDA CHOICE

Boneless Shoulder Steak for London Broil USDA Choice Beef Chuck	lb 1.99
Round Tip Roast USDA Choice Beef Round	lb 2.19
Rump Roast USDA Choice Beef Round	lb 2.09
Round Tip Steak USDA Choice Beef Round	lb 2.89
Chuck Steak USDA Choice Beef Chuck Boneless	lb 1.99
Top Round Steak USDA Choice Beef Round	lb 2.89
Top Blade Steak USDA Choice Beef Chuck Boneless	lb 2.39
Lean Cubed Steak USDA Choice Beef Chuck	lb 2.49
Stewing Beef USDA Choice Beef Chuck	lb 1.99

THE BEST DELI FOODS IN TOWN
CORNER DELI
Available in stores with service delis

Corned Beef Round Stop & Shop	lb 2.79
Potato or Macaroni Salad or Cole Slaw Stop & Shop	lb .69

SHOPPING WITH US IS WORTH MORE TO YOU SAVE ON THESE FAMOUS BRANDS!

C & C Cola 2 Liter Regular or Diet Plus Deposit Where Applicable	.89
Bumble Bee Tuna Chunk Light 6½ Oz Can in Oil or Water	.79
Savarin Coffee 1 Pound Can Auto Drip	1.99
DelMonte Beans Cut Green or French Style 16 Oz Can	2 for .79
Fruit Cocktail Del Monte 17 Oz Can	.69
Betty Crocker 16½ oz pkg. Asst'd Var. Super Moist Cake Mix	2 for $1
100% Corn Oil Mrs. Filbert's 24 Oz Bottle	1.49
Hawaiian Punch 46 Oz Can Asst'd Fruit Flavors	.69
Cottonelle 4-Pack 400 Ct Ply Pkg. Bath Tissue White or Colors	1.09
Huggies Diapers Kleenex Pkg. of 14 Overnight 18 Daytime, 12 Toddler or 24 Newborn	2.99
Viva Towels Big Roll 97/2 Ply Pkg. Asst'd Colors	.79
Palmolive Liquid For Dishes 22 Oz Bottle	1.19
Listerine 32 Oz Bottle Mouthwash	2.49

SAVE ON FINE FROZEN FOODS:

Orange Juice Sun Glory 12 Oz Can Frozen	.79
Cheese Pizza 16 Oz Pkg. Stop & Shop	1.39
Cook-In-Pouch Freezer Queen 5 Oz Pkg. Assorted Varieties Frozen	2 for .79
Natural Ice Cream Stop & Shop 100% Natural ½ Gallon Carton Assorted Flavors	1.99

SAVE ON FRESH BAKED GOODS:

Thomas' Muffins 24 oz pkg of 12 English	1.89
Chocolate Eclairs Stop & Shop 12 Oz Pkg. of 4	.99

SAVE ON FRESH DAIRY FOODS:

Tropicana Orange Juice, Half Gallon Premium Pack	1.49
Yoplait Yogurt 6 Oz Cup Original or Custard, Style Assorted Flavors	2 for .89
Soft Cream Cheese Stop & Shop 8 Oz Cup	.99
Blue Bonnet 1 lb Pkg. Quarters Margarine	.59

REALLY FRESH FISH!
Free recipes in our stores.
Fresh Scrod Cod Fillets Delicious baked, broiled or fried lb 1.99

A TASTE OF SUMMER FRESHNESS! FLORIDA SWEET CORN
Fresh tender ears 5 for $1

SAVE ON TENDER GREEN FRESH BROCCOLI
LARGE BUNCH 79¢
Serve buttered broccoli with your ham. And fresh corn on the cob. It's on sale, too.

TOSS NUTRITIOUS SALADS WITH OUR FRESH MAKINGS.

Fresh Cherry Tomatoes Pick Any Number You Like	lb .89
Fresh Jumbo Mushrooms Pick Your Own. For Stuffing	lb 1.99
English Cucumbers The Long, Burpless Variety	ea .89

NATURAL SNACK. 'MAC' APPLES 3 LB BAG
U.S. Fancy, Crisp, Juicy 99¢

'Jet Fresh' Pineapple Hawaiian	1.79
Jumbo Lemons Size 75. Pick Your Own	5 for $1
Florida Limes Size 54. Pick Your Own	5 for $1

STOP & SHOP DAIRY COUPON — FREE Blue Bonnet Margarine One Pound Pkg. Quarters — C
STOP & SHOP BAKERY COUPON — FREE Stop & Shop English Muffins 12 Ounce Pkg. of 6 Regular or Split — C
STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON — FREE Oodles of Noodles Oriental Noodle Soup 3 Ounce Package Assorted Varieties — C
STOP & SHOP FROZEN COUPON — FREE Stop & Shop French Fries 9 Ounce Package Regular or Crinkle Cut — C

STOP & SHOP

IT'S TIME TO STOP & SHOP.

Prices effective Sun., April 24 Sat., April 30, in fairness to our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to three packages of any items offered for sale. Not available in case lots or to other dealers or wholesalers. Copyright 1983 by Stop & Shop Supermarkets. Not responsible for typographical errors.

Bloom County — By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone — By Mark Rollins

Katfood — By ARK

Scrod — By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall — By R. Miller

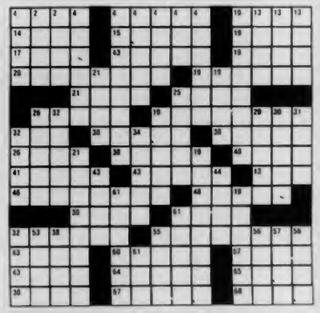
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

©1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Fair exchange
5 Dangerous African snake
10 Indian corn mush
14 Narrative
15 Nautical direction
16 Musical group
17 Verdi work
18 Trail of footprints
19 Hazard
20 Object of superstition
22 Think
24 Make well
25 Actor's needs
26 —— cake
28 Roughs it
32 Type of speech: Abbr.
33 Pig ——
35 All keyed up
36 "I'm all ——"
38 Squelch
40 Proofreading mark
41 Be of use
43 Memorable name in Prague
45 "How —— you?"
46 Brings back
48 Complains
50 Dismissal of a sort
51 Winter equipment: Var.
52 Countrified
55 Places for derbies
59 Opposed
60 Varnish resin
62 Fat
63 Stringed instrument
64 Fracas
65 Heraldic word
66 Cousin of etc.
67 Misdeeds
68 Dozes off

DOWN
1 Wild guess
2 Sound of sorrow
3 One of the Alans
4 Just dandy
5 Cosmetic supplies
6 Overcome with horror
7 Open to discussion
8 Relative, briefly
9 Courtyard
10 Emphasizes
11 Opera offering
12 Fog
13 Dawdle along
21 Stabilizing ship part
23 City agcy.
25 Rule or law
26 Recruit's desire
27 Wall hanging
28 Summons officially
29 Ready for use
30 Consumers
31 Head: Fr.
32 Char.
34 Home, to a Lhasa apso
37 Rest quietly
39 Cravats
42 Places
44 Early Irish tenant
47 Flower inflorescence
49 "The Age of ——"
51 Soft and crumbly, as bricks
52 Good review
53 Single thing
54 Greek portico
55 Prefix with copter or port
56 Spanish priest
57 Seaweed
58 French holy ones Abbr.
61 Bulgarian copper coin



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

WEATHER

Today: rain followed by clearing in the afternoon, highs in the 50's.
Tomorrow: a nice day, highs in the 60's.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH:
Turkey Club Sandwich
Fiesta Rice and Cheese

BASICS LUNCH:
Falafel Sandwich
Fiesta Rice and Cheese

DINNER:
Veal Parmigiana
Hamsteak and pineapple

BASICS DINNER:
Baked Cod w/Lemon Slice
Eggplant Parmigiana

Have something to say?
Have something to sell?
Give the Collegian Classifieds a try.
They work!
You can now place your classified quickly and easily from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Campus Center Concourse. Look for our table there or stop by our office, 113 Campus Center.

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Charter Day

APRIL 29, 1983

MARJON HAIR DESIGN
Hair Styling for Men & Women

Hyper-Marche Mall
Rt. 9 Hadley, MA
586-4551

62 E. Main St.
Easthampton, MA
527-2411

Marjon Hair Design introduces the opening of a new salon at the Hyper-Marche Mall (formerly the Mountain Farms Mall).

Offering waxing, perming, coloring, frosting, styling, facial, sculptured nails.

WE ARE A CUT ABOVE THE REST

We use and prescribe REDKEN
Weekly hours: Mon-Fri 9-5; Thurs 9-9; Sat 9-4

SPEND AN UNFORGETTABLE SUMMER IN BOSTON.

And earn college credits, too.

Tufts University Summer School gives you a choice of 242 courses that can hasten your progress toward a degree accelerate your career enliven your spare time enrich your life

Pre-med Sessions Computer Applications 20th Century Poetry Elementary Spanish Summer Theatre Galaxies and Cosmology

After class? Our tree-shaded hilltop campus is just a breeze from Boston And we have on-campus housing available

Principles of Accounting Classical Humanities Linear Algebra and much more

To receive our catalog and application return the coupon or call (617) 628-5000 Ext 3562 Tufts University Summer School It's an experience you'll never forget

TUFTS UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL
Medford, MA 02155
Name
Address
City State Zip

TUFTS UNIVERSITY
SUMMER SCHOOL

Rolling Green two bedrooms large, cheap, lucky. Call 253-9418 Malcolm 250/mo negotiable

1 bedroom Puffton Apt sumemr sublet with fall option available June 1st call 549-6721

Squire Village townhouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380 + 665-4896

Cliffside furnished 2 bedroom pool, tennis w/fall option $325 everything call 665-3943

1 bdrm in 3 bdrm Puffton apt furnished price neg 549-5543

Three bedroom townhouse apt in Squire Village June 1 w/fall option $400/mo or BO 665-4896

Need one roommate - two bedroom, two floor Southwood Apt. - includes kitchen, living room, two bathrooms - $140/month call 253-3656

3-story river fromt apartment bus route, AC. pool, cheap 549-4405

Three bedroom Puffton sublet June thru August $375 mo 549-3722

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt Colonial Village 147.50/month June-August fall option 253-3220

2 bedroom Southwood townehouse busroute, pool, tennis, rent negotiable 546-6705

Summer sublet Townehouse Apts. furnished 3 bedroom rent negotiable call 549-6709 or 546-9589

Summer sublet: 3 bedroom Puffton Apt. furnished 546-7393

2 bedroom apt in Squire Village $345/mo summer rent negotiable 665-2719

Sublet 2 bedroom avail June 1 fall option on bus rt 275/mo 665-3239

Brandywine Apts two bedroom sumemr fall option $360/month David 546-8730

UMASS RUGBY T-SHIRTS

UMass Rugby T-Shirts
sizes S-M-L $4.00
call Lou at 6-5393
or Bob 549-3591

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

WANTED TO RENT

Reward $25 for 1 or 2 bdrm apt in Puffton for Jun or Sept 1 253-8818

House or epertment in house within walking distance of campus at least two bedrooms will summer sublet 549-5606 Mark

WANTED TO RENT: NANTUCKET

Looking for housing on Nantucket Island for this summer. I would be happy to join your rent. Please call Julie at 546-8426

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

71 VW Bug - $500 or BO call 256-8539

1986 Chevrolet Impala 283ci; new battery with five year warranty $375 546-5934

1966 VW Bug great condition, excellent gas mileage. $400 Phone: 323-6637

1978 Lincoln Versailles: loaded, a classic car in excellent condition $7500 firm. Phone: 609-858-4435

1974 Pinto 4 cyl. st. trans. 24 mpg good eng. Chuck 549-4711

1969 VW Squareback - 73000 mi. 34 mpg, no mechanical troubles. $800.00 549-4911 (Frank)

BACKGAMMON PLAYERS

Tournement Tonight at the Pub, Amherst, 9 PM big cash prizes. Info Rich 665-7574

BARGAIN

One bedroom 140/month
fell option near Puffers Pond
549-0157 546-6008

BRUINS

Jesus Saves; Middleton tips in the rebound! The Fans

ENTERTAINMENT

Rockadiac Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FOR FREE

Five edorable puppies are looking for good homes - call 549-6339

FOR RENT

Houses - June - Aug plus fall option, 4 bedrooms $485-500 in Northampton. 5 bed in Hadley $600 plus, for summer only. Call after 3:30 pm. Skibiski Realtors Northampton 584-3428

Furnished rooms for summer sublet, fall option in house five minutes from UMass. 549-1797

Boarding House, had it with dorm life and DC food?? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plan friendly atmosphere. Next to Newman Center. call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

CAPE COD Housemates needed for summer in Dennis. Must be able to pay in advance. 6-6330/6328

Amherst Center summer sublet fall option 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apartment 137/month call Dan 253-2071

Come to Cape Cod this summer. Reasonable rates: Seamist Lodge, 174 Main St. Box 342, Hyannis, MA 02601, 1-617-771-8423

3 bedroom townhouse with full cellar on bus route for 4 or 5. Less than a mile from campus. Negotiable call Jon 546-6462 keep trying

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

King size Weterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

Turntable Philips 212 good cond $50 or BO call 253-3588 we will deal!!

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Pioneer AM/FM Car Stereo Cassette 100 watt booster, equalizer, 3 way speakers brand new $225 or BO call Ed 549-1698

Hand made fishermen sweaters only $25 and $30 call 549-0381

73 Plymouth Fury 100K mi excellent running condition $500 or BO cathy 549-3806

Walkman II brand new 60$ call Mike 546-5002

TIRES ★ 4 ★ 185/8pr13 all season radials will mount-spin balence-new valves 30,000 mile/36 month ★ guarantee ★ 586-2544

Electric typewriter good condition - new ribbon $80 call 253-7847

FOUND

Key found at PVTA bus stop in center of Hadley on Mon 4/18, in a medal case. Stop by Collegian to claim.

HELP WANTED

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

Experienced people for part & full time help inquire at Superior Pizzeria drivers also needed must own car.

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

Collegian Business Positions available for Fall '83: Finance Managers, Assistent Business Manager, Assistant Advertising Managers, and Advertising Representatives. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. Deadline is Thursday 4/28. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Tomorrow's Jobs. Know what is and will be available through this indispensable booklet of current government studies covering all industries and states inc. Alaska and Hawaii. $8.75 Lyntel Research Dept TA2114 PO Box 99405 Clev., Ohio 44199 satisfaction guaranteed

Summer Jobs promoting ecology safe energy and consume rights. MASSPIRG, the stare's largest public interest organization has summer and permanent staff positions avaible for public education and fundraising, will train. $150-$250/week. Interviews 4/28, contact Bernice Stratton student employment office 545-1951

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate Psychology student doing thesis research on coping with genitel herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TIM

Tim,
Happy B-day! Legal at last!
Love,
'Cookies'

INSTRUCTION

48 people interested in weight loss weight maintenance and body energy program call 586-2790 meeting Wednesday at 7:30 MacKimmie Main Lounge

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

The Legal Services Office has eight positions available for full-time legal assistant interns for Fall 1983 semester. Up to 15 credits may be received from academic departments. Aid attorneys at LSO with client interviewing, investigations, legal research, negotiations, giving advice and referrals, preparation of court forms, attendance at hearings in District and Superior Courts, and participation in administrative hearings and federal litigation. Maintain continuing caseload under attorney supervision. For advice on arranging an internship and credit, contact Office of Internships, Curry Hicks Building. Applications due Friday, April 22, at Office of Internships. Writing sample required. Further information, LSO, 922 Campus Center.

LOST

A bronze-rimed eyeglasses. Initialed 'C' on the right lens. If found, please contact Dave 546-6424

Lost 4/14 gold name necklace "Ilene" very sentimental reward!! Call 6-5774 after 9 PM

Notes on a paper on witchcraft Last seen Wed 4/20 in Thompson 419. Call Barbara 584-6540 leave message

Plum suit jacket, possibly near Goodell, Wed April 13 call Paula 5-0150

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 1980 750K 7000 miles garage kept new Dunlop tires complete tune-up xtras $1800 or BO 253-9376

PERSONALS

To Cindy C. Happy Birthday big sister from your little brother. Just one more year and your on your own

POSITION WANTED: Chef seeks fraternity cook position beginning 83-84 school year. Resume and references on request PO Box 126 Rockport Maine 04856

Rick Middleton is God

Free trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counseling, referral MTuThF 4-8 pm 433SU 545-2645

Netelle Heppy Birthday sorry its late love always Grace

Spring is here! Show someone you care with a flower. CC Concourse Monday through Friday. Deliveries will be made on Saturday morning.

Career Placement Assistance for graduates. Gain and edge through Mass Marketing, Operations Research International PO Box 5470, Avon, Colorado, 81620 call toll free 1-800-421-3217

RUN FOR RITTER April 23rd info at Newman Center

SWAG ELECTIONS!!!
Pick up Nomination Papers
in SWAG Office
Due 4/22 for info call 545-0961

To the Little Woosie who wants to be tied to the Boat and harmlessly whipped to submission! I love you. your "Pet Bratte"

Attention Tennis Players: How 'bout meetin' fo a lil southern hospitality? Sue Ellen and MaryBeth

SKI CLUB EXCLUSIVE APRIL 30

all those who workd 10 hours or more at the Great Ski Snatch Nov 18-21 contact the Ski Club 546-3437

Get Physical Sporting Goods Co-op
Ocean Pacific Shorts & Shirts
sneakers, frisbees, raquets, & balls
your sporting goods connection
322 Student Union (next to post office)

If you have $160 and a way to New York you can be in Europe by the day after tomorrow. For details, call AIRHITCH toll-free (800) 372 1234 THIS IS THE NUMBER!

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

ROOM WANTED

Cape apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-8062 leave message

Female looking to share off campus apartment pref: Puffton Rita 6-8211 eves

ROOMMATES WANTED

3 females house on Falmouth Cape Cod waterfront call 545-0075 Dienne

Female wanted to share summer rental in Hyannis call Beth 6-6479 or Lisa 6-6649

Hyannis 2 females needed for summer near water, 2 min walk to center Amy 549-4169 Kit 256-0394

1 room in 3 br Puffton apt grad student preferred Kyle 549-6322 or stop by room 15-C-EBE evenings

1 roommate for 3 bedroom Townhouse apt female only - 549-5998

Presidential summer rental one or two people. Rent negotiable Bee 256-6887

Responsible roommates wanted for fall. One space available for summer 253-5109

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

The Commuter Area Government is now hiring for the summer. Positions are for 30 hours/week. Must be available through the fall. Applications available at 404 Student Union 9:00 - 5:00, Monday through Friday. We are an affirmative action equal opportunity employer. Third World, women, and non-traditional students encouraged to apply. Deadline for applications is April 29.

SUMMER SUBLET

Cheap 2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt air conditioning call 546-6001 546-6005

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

1 bdrm Cliffside on bus rt pool and tennis courts 285 + 665-4386

Looking for 3 roommates to share 2 bedroom Brittany Apt for summer and next year. Apt is in great condition w/new carpet and nice furniture. Can take 3 males or 2 females and 1 male call Kevin 253-3766

Brittany Manor, two bedroom, large first summer session or summer 546-9050 546-5011

With fell option Two bedroom apt in house in Belchertown. On bus. 323-5854

2 bedroom apt Britteny 1 or both bedrooms to sublet w/fall option 256-6818

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished $350 month available June 1 - Sept 1 549-6912

w/fell option Townehouse apts 2 bedrooms 549-6646

Rolling Green Apt - sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms beautiful apt, furnished, on bus route. Call Joel 256-0435

Female wanted for own room in 2 bedroom Puffton fall option call Toby 549-0137

Brandywine 2 bedroom fully equipped and furnished, cable, AC, pool, rent negotiable 549-6465

One bedroom in a two bedroom apt in Brandywine, pool, cable, rent/best offer call 546-8500 or 546-8487

1 bedroom in apertment Cliffside fall option $165/mo 665-7560 545-0097 Ruth

Four bedroom apt summer sublet only $400/mo heat & util included w/fall option call 549-6745

Pool, AC, bus rte, 1 lg bdr in a 4 bdr apt avail; Roll Green. sum sublet $70/mth female preferred 253-2722

Beautifully furnished 3 bedroom Townhouse apt available June to Aug price negotiable 549-5998

Furnished Townehouse Apt AC, rent negotiable call Scott or Rich 549-0516

3 bedrooms available in 3 bedroom Puffton apartment partly furnished air cond pool rent negotiable call Johanna 549-4827

June sublet Amherst Center bedrooms available, spacious house, lush lawns 549-0688

2 bedroom Puffton apt for 2 or 3 people 549-4855

Two speces in Brandywne Apt 1 male, 1 female pool AC 3rd floor 549-6289

5 bedrm house with fall option Main St Amherst 256-6352

TOGA PARTY

Hangar 1 Tuesday, April 26 2 for 1's sponsored by Washington Tower

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Mary Poppins would approval Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

One bedroom left beautiful Amherst home one minute from campus $176/month 256-0170

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Col Vlg 2 bdr apt on bus rt $295/mos summer sublet fal option 253-9560

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom Squire Village apartments summer sublet w/fall option rent for summer negotiable 665-4504.

One bedroom in Southwood Townhouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

Squire Village with fall option two bedroom townhouse $200 per month 665-7794

One bedroom in two bedroom Puffton fall option 549-3862

Rolling Green 2 bedroom townhouse summer sublet cheap call 253-9431

2 bedroom split-level apartment -Sunderland, JUne 1st - August 31st, $250 per month, call 665-7126

Summer sublet Puffton two bedroom two bathroom furnished apt RENT NEGI contact Pat or Dru 549-4426

Rooms in a 3 bedrm Townehouse Apt or total apt available 1 mile from campus on bus route fully furnished call Liz at 549-0307 for summer only

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Summer with fall option Ouffton 1 bedroom $290 549-4430 evenings

Squire Village 2 bdrm summer sublet w/fall option 665-3914

Beautiful Amherst Center apartment summer sublet fall option spacious two bedroom $120/mo 256-8453

Furnished two bedroom Townehouse Apt. June thru Sept rent negotiable call 549-1724

Sports—

Undergraduate students must turn in their gym clothes, towels and locks signed out this semester to the equipment rooms (Boyden or NOPE) from where they were issued no later than 5:00 p.m., Thursday May 26, 1983. Students will be billed for items not returned through the Bursar's office.

Oh yeah! The Boston Bruins beat the Buffalo Sabres 3-2 on a Brad Park goal with 1:52 gone in overtime to win the quarter final series 4-3 last night. Boston now faces the 3-time defending Stanley Cup Champions, the New York Islanders.

UMass takes one from Vermont, BC

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Nine was the number, the bats slumber, and no one lived happily ever after.

Overcoming disappointing hitting and mediocre pitching, the University of Massachusetts baseball team, now 5-4 in ECAC play, won two of three games this weekend. Victories were a 5-4 triumph over Boston College last Friday and a 6-3 win over Vermont in the first game of a Saturday doubleheader. The Catamounts won the second 6-3.

"The way we were rolling (the Minutemen had won five straight before the loss to Vermont) I hoped we would do better and I thought we could have won the second game. I thought we would hit more. I thought we had come along as a hitting team, but now I'm concerned," said coach Dick Bergquist. "I thought we would rap some hits around the field today (Saturday), but we didn't do it."

First, the good news. In the first inning of the first game against the Catamounts, UMass utilized three hits, three walks, and an error to explode for five runs against hurler Mike Williams.

Vermont struck back quickly, utilizing four singles and two walks to score three runs in the second against Minutemen pitcher Bob Kostro.

UMass scored their final run in the fifth on a suicide squeeze by Andy Conncrs scoring Cimini, who reached base on a two-base error by left fielder Silva, who dropped a fly ball.

At Chestnut Hill on Friday, UMass, down 2-1, scored four runs in the seventh on only one hit as the Eagle defense fell apart, committing three errors.

Waszczuk (no homers in the three games) was hit by a pitch to open the inning. He was sacrificed to second by Cimini and went to third as LeBlanc flied out to deep right field. Then the circus came to town.

The first break-and-a-half for UMass came when the first baseman, Rick Murphy, mishandled a perfect throw from third baseman Mike Scott on a grounder by Connors. "Waz" scored on the play, tying the score.

After Connors stole second, second baseman Steve Simoes dropped Bruce Kingman's popup in short right field, allowing Connors to score.

Steve Messina blasted a triple to right center, scoring Kingman, giving UMass a 4-2 lead.

Kingman hit a rocket over the left field fence for UMass' initial run in the third, while Rocky Daley smashed a two-run shot for BC in the seventh off reliever Scott Foster, who replaced starter Tony Presnal.

Now the bad news. In the second game Saturday vs. Vermont, Ken Trehub crushed a hanging slider from UMass' Dave Valdenbrini over the 370 sign in right field for the game-winning three-run homer. Previous to Trehub's blast, which came with two outs, Valdenbrini walked two straight batters.

UMass scored all of their runs in the fourth. Salustri singled then trotted home on a homer by Comeau (his fourth).

Collegian photo by Kevin Paoletti

Bob Kostro hurls for UMass in the Minutemen's 6-3 win over Vermont Saturday.

Not only Yale lost

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

NEW HAVEN, CT — Yale is a complicated place to go and see a lacrosse game. While University of Massachusetts students need only wander over to Boyden Field to watch their team play, Yale people need to use their Jaguars and Mercedes to head out to the game site.

This situation made it impossible for senior Andy Corrigan to see Garber's Gorillas defeat the Elies 13-8 this past Saturday.

Corrigan and two of his buddies decided to road trip down to New Haven in order to cheer on the Gorillas, who have had their share of bad luck this year, posting a 2-5 record prior to the Yale game. But, after finally finding Yale University just blocks away from the low rent district of New Haven, Corrigan and company were sent on a wild gorilla chase through the back streets of the city.

While Corrigan calmly sipped on a beer in the backseat of a borrowed LTD station-wagon, blindly believing that he would soon be at the game, Yale was jumping ahead of the Gorillas just 12 seconds into the contest.

As he finished that beer and reached for another (a road trip does, after all, require that the participants party a little), Yale scored again to go ahead, 2-0.

When Corrigan started to wonder if the lacrosse game would really be played so close to the railroad stockyard and hey, there's no grass around here anyway, the first quarter came to a close and, though UMass had managed a goal, Yale had gotten another and the score was 3-1.

The driver pulled over to the side of the road to ask directions but, Corrigan could not find anyone who spoke English to give him assistance. While Corrigan was looking for a translator, the Gorillas were rallying and going ahead of Yale. They upped the score to 6-3 by halftime and the station-wagon headed in another direction.

Corrigan was just starting to get very frustrated when the Gorillas took the field in the second half and frustrated Yale by scoring twice in the first five minutes of play to up the score to 8-3.

Yale frustrated UMass by coming back with four unanswered goals, three in the third quarter to make the score 8-6 at the end of the period, and one to start the final stanza and make things tight at 8-7.

The Gorillas dug down deep and came up with four unanswered goals of their own to put the game out of reach at 12-7. A goal for each side rounded out the scoring at 13-8 as Corrigan dug down deep in his pocket, came up with some cash to buy food for the gas guzzling monster which he had spent the afternoon in and another six-pack .

The Gorillas got themselves a win. Corrigan got himself a hangover.

Gazelles overcome NH

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

DURHAM, N.H. — The ability to comeback is one that every team with national aspirations must have. It is one that the University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team proved that they have after rallying to defeat the University of New Hampshire on Saturday, 8-7.

The sixth ranked Minutewomen fell behind quickly as UNH scored to take the 1-0 lead with five seconds gone in the first half.

"It was the quickest goal I've ever seen," said UMass assistant coach Donna Partin. UNH went up 2-0 and took the 3-2 lead going into the half after UMass began to turn things around.

In the second half, UMass took control of the game led by standout Pam Moryl and highlighted by a great goal by Ro Tudryn. The senior defensewoman took the ball the length of the field, went one on one with a defender and scored to give UMass their first lead of the day, 6-5.

UMass built up their lead to 8-5, but UNH made things more interesting by scoring two more goals to make it close down the stretch to give UMass the 8-7 winning margin.

"We expected them (New Hampshire) to be tough, especially on their home field," said Partin. Last year, the Wildcats did not give the Minutewomen such a hard time.

"The defense played well and once they got set up into their zone, they (UNH) couldn't score. If anybody is going to beat us, it's going to be on the fast break.

"We showed a lot of poise (coming back) in that it was a come from behind win for the first time this season," explained Partin. UMass had fell behind to James Madison in their season opener and stayed that way in picking up their only blemish on their 8-1 slate this year.

Massachusetts, who got three goals from Linda Belvander, faces two tough games this week on the road at Boston College and on Friday against AIAW champion Temple, currently ranked number one in the country.

The BC game will be tomorrow at Chestnut Hill and that will be a tough factor in itself. UMass will have to be on their toes.

And then on Friday, will be the showdown that many people have wanted to see. Ever since the NCAA started holding women's championships people have asked which champion is better, AIAW or NCAA.

That argument will be decided as NCAA champion Massachusetts will host the Lady Owlettes in what should be a tough match for both schools.

It will be UMass' second game this year with top notch national competition (Harvard being the first). And after fine performance at UNH, UMass feels and is ready.

It all didn't fall UMass' way as softball splits with UConn

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

In the first game of Friday's softball doubleheader between the University of Massachusetts and University of Connecticut, UMass pounded the ball in all the wrong places at the wrong time while UConn was the grateful recipient of all the breaks.

For example, with the bases loaded in the second inning with two outs and UMass already down 2-1, leadoff hitter Allyson Rioux sent a screamer up the middle. UConn pitcher Cheri Anderson put up her glove in self-defense and the ball just carommed off the end of her glove and right into the waiting hands of third baseman Beth Conrad, who fired the ball to first to end the inning.

Nothing fell for UMass in the first game, a 2-1 loss, but everything fell into place in the second game as the Minutewomen salvaged a split with a 7-0 victory, thanks to a Lynn Stockley one hitter.

As expected, the doubleheader between the two top ranked teams in New England was intense.

In the opener, UConn hit Cathy Red immediately for two runs in the first inning. The Huskies pounded out a double and three consecutive singles before Reed settled down and limited UConn to two hits the rest of the way. UMass, on the other hand, had no trouble hitting the ball. They were hitting it hard; very hard. The only thing was that most of the hits were directly at the Huskies.

The Minutewomen had ten hits and left a whopping ten runners on base. They left the bases loaded once, and left two runners on three times.

"We hit the ball well," said senior Jackie Gaw. "The ball just wasn't dropping."

Tina Coffin went two for three and Gaw went two for four but the UConn defense was stellar in the opening game.

The second game was totally different. UMass jumped all over Huskie righthander Maureen Bransfield. They only got seven hits, but combined with walks and errors, UMass led 3-0 after two innings and rolled to a 7-0 win.

What coach Elaine Sortino would have done to have just one run from the second game in the first or one hit at the right time.

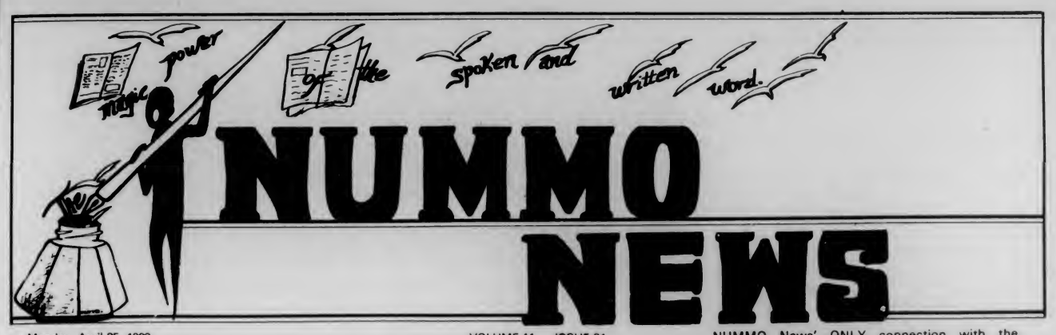
Gaw, who was behind the plate in the second game (she played outfield in game one), went three for four with a triple, two singles and a RBI. Rioux, Sally Maher, Beth Talbott and Chris Coughlin each had a hit and a RBI.

Coupled with the pitching job Lynn Stockley was doing, UMass didn't need to score after the first (when they led 1-0).

Stockley fanned 12 batters and notched a one-hitter. UConn's only hit was a Denise Stanneck fly that just fell short of right-fielder Talbott's diving glove, with one out in the seventh inning.

UMass, now 21-5, faces more Nutmeg competition tomorrow when they travel to Central Connecticut for another doubleheader. That will be a tuneup for this weekend's Atlantic 10 championships which will say a lot about UMass's NCAA playoff aspirations.

It's going to be a tough week any way you look at it.



NUMMO NEWS

Monday, April 25, 1983 VOLUME 11 ISSUE 81

NUMMO News' ONLY connection with the Massachusetts Daily Collegian is for the purpose of distribution.

Overdue Partnership Realized

By BRENDA LING

During the keynote address Friday night Bernice Reagon said to an audience of 400 people, "sometimes when you form a partnership, your definitions have to go right out the window." Reagon introduced the "Overdue Partnership of Black Studies and Women's Studies" that met at UMass last weekend. The conference stressed educators' and students' need to recognize and to create what she called the "third entity that must have all of the qualities (of being Black and being a woman) and that has to look like me."

The weekend's conference was one of the last phases of the two-year Black Studies/Women's Studies Faculty Development Project in the Five College area. With a grant from the Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education (FIPSE), the Project began in 1982 as a faculty seminar to help professors start to address the connections of Black Studies and Women's Studies in their courses. In the first year, each of the faculty taught a course that incorporated material from both these areas, and the group met several times per semester to discuss issues, methods, progress, and problems in teaching this combination of topics.

The thirty faculty members bring together a wide range of disciplines, including, naturally, Afro-American Studies and Women's Studies, Political Science and Sociology, but Religion, Folklore, and Music as well. The professors in the Project will ultimately publish a conclusion to their research on broadening course focus, but the conference began to open eyes and to feed already enlightened minds with the deep-running connections that Black Studies and Women's Studies programs need to uncover further.

Friday night Reagon proclaimed the conference as "an important occasion," since history only occurs when it is told and since Black Women's history is virtually untold. With frank honesty she admitted that "we actually hold the things that keep us apart, we have digested it well, and we manifest vigorously all the things that make sure we will never get together." Nevertheless, on the thought of liberation, she stated that we need only "to choose it — it is there."

On the conference's focus of Black Studies and Women's Studies, Reagon said the emergency of the need for the partnership is so that "when we turn the next century, they're gonnna have to deal with who you are," as opposed to their defining who you are. To assure the survival of us and our ideals through this and to the next generation, "it becomes very important what we can do here (because) if a woman hasn't done it, it hasn't been done."

By reminding all that "we are not promised " these departments, Reagon ended her address on a high, and pointed to the continual need for our active involvement to insure that the Overdue Partnership not be broken.

Saturday morning's panel discussion on "Challenges in Research, Issues in Methodology" featured three women as professors and academians. Eleanor Leacock, professor of Anthropology at the City University of New York; Bettye Collier-Thomas, Director of the Mary McLeod Bethune Memorial Museum and the National Archives for Black Women's History in Washington, D.C.; and June Jordan, writer and English professor at SUNY/Stony jbrook spoke about their thoughts on and experiences with the intricate connections of Black Studies and Women's Studies.

Leacock defined "the issue, then, in working towards shifting our paradigms and methods, (as involving) cutting through this divisiveness" that is characteristic of the American classroom. We all should "make it more clear that there is a common interest of people around the world (by) contradicting and combatting these stereotypes."

Collier-Thomas spoke spiritedly about developing cultural and historical connections. Politics and poetry together, for example comprise Black womens' total life experience. Recognizing this historians need to develop anthologies, bibliographies, documentary collections, biographies, articles, journals, theses, and dissertations on the history of Black women. Only then will "we see what the broad patterns are."

Jordan read an essay about her vacation, entitled, "Report from the Bahamas." She mused over her consciousnesses of race, class, and gender identity" where class divided her from her Black sisters in the touristland. She charged that the life of the issue is transitory and not fixed, so that "the issue of race, gender, and class collapse when you try to use them" as predetermined or assumed connections. "The ultimate connection is the need we find between us, not the enemy of both of us."

In her luncheon address, Johnetta Cole, Associate Provost at UMASS, spoke in the "long, vibrant tradition of sister as preacher" to discuss where the Blackness in Women's Studies is and where the Womanness in Black Studies is. Both disciplines began the day that the first Black and the first women asked, "why ain't I free*" However, both fields have yet to cover adequately the specific focus of Black and other Third World women. In encouraging all to challenge existing curricula, Cole proposed a reorganization that accepts the facts that "not all women are white and not all Black people are men." Her suggestion of "let's make some more exceptions" by involving ourselves in a genuine partnership "with a lot of sisterhood in Black Studies and a lot of Blackness in Women's Studies" may help us "get on with freeing us all."

Photo by Ed Cohen

Shirley Chisholm, one of many who attended the Black and Women's Studies conference over the weekend.

Shirley Chisholm speaks

by Brenda Ling

Faculty teams led afternoon workshops on Curriculum Development and Pedagogy to discuss their efforts in the past year to teach courses addressing issues of race, gender, and culture (students may remember posters listing such Five College courses). At worshops, professors began to discuss their plans to build a lasting interdisciplinary relationship between Black Studies and Women's Studies in the classroom.

With this framework in mind, Shirley Chisholm closed the conference by supporting professors' and students' attempts "to transform and redefine the academic mainstream." The responsibility is ours, as members of the academii community, to build a foundation for this transformation, as "nothing develops in a vacuum." With a firm belief that we all can cast aside our "negative internal battles" and instead stand together on the common ground of Black Studies and Women's Studies, Chisholm affirmed that this Overdue Partnership's "props are in place, and we have memorized the dialogue correctly -- no one will save us but us."

Also, Shirley Chisholm called on our senses of academic responsibility to challenge the present "tension between non-traditional programs and the traditional atmosphere." If programs such as Black Studies and Women's Studies continue to be "plagued by the suspicion that they lower academic standards and pollute the atmosphere," then they will be "destined to remain marginal units, off in the periphery," surviving simply to appease the activists.

To explore fully the "multi-disciplinary nature of both these areas," Black Studies must not ignore the sexism that Black women face, and Women's Studies must express Non-Whites' experience.

Furthermore, "if scholarship is not demanded of students,then we have little hope" of continuing down through generations with any sense of consciousness. At the same time, though, Black Studies and Women's Studies programs must continue to develop "creative ways to break the cycle of marginality" in the two disciplines. Such improvements include active student participation, accepting journals as course assignments, relatinr on a first-name basis in the classroom, and anything that validates every student's experience.

Fundamental, and not superficial, change "won't come about overnight," Chisholm warned. It will take not only hard work, but also belief in that change "in one's heart of hearts." As a grand kick-off to realizing this long Overdue Partnership, she urged all "to use this weekend's exchange as a catalyst to forge through the struggles ahead."

Sweet Honey in the Rock

By BRENDA LING

Bernice Reagon, Musical Director of the a capella group, Sweet Honey in the Rock, and Director of the Black American Cultur Program at the Smithsonian Institute, delivered the conference's keynote address. As Reagon has long considered oral history and traditions a source of historical and cultural information, she told the audience early on in the evening that she would "leave it loose" during her presentation. In this sense, much of her personal dynamism is lost on the printed page (the following phrase does not transcribe well: "I wish to announce that the partnership has occurred, and I'm it -- anything you don't see on this stage you don't need to bring and you can flush down the toilet"), but her message still rings clear.

In describing the tasks awaiting Black Studies and Women's Studies scholars, Reagon said that connections between the two do exist, but that we must take on "the responsibility of knowing what our legacy is," that "we must always be fighting to maintain that space," and that "we must push ourselves beyond our meagre existence to the next century."

The delay in forming this Overdue Partnership points to "the fact that people can keep you down without thinking about it because you keep yourself down." She mentioned the need to reclaim a lost history; as an example she cited witch trials and said, "I need to hear you talking about what it means to be burned at the stake by the church because you're a genius..."

Not identifying with that legacy has produced "the wonders of not being seen so that nobody notices you're there." Black people represent a powerful example of people moving toward liberation, of people "moving through death to live," and Reagon still wants to see women "embracing and personalizing what being oppressed is all about."

What everyone needs to do is to sidestep the thought that "who you are and the position you hold is the highest you could ever hold." The only way to keep our identity is "to expand it and to move past it." With Blacks' and women's total liberation as a goal, "you do not have to give up fighting, but you do have to have the door open, and it will not look like your home."

Although we may always try to distance ourselves in fear of fundamental change, we must accept that the struggle is here and that "partnership means just a piece of it; you don't get to run it all -- you have to give up." Reagon said that through "(looking) at what happens when we listen to others we don't agree with" Black Studies and Women's Studies will begin to review again and again what to negotiate and what to keep. Professors and students may then be able not to alienate ourselves from the larger community, but instead to incorporate ourselves into the world.

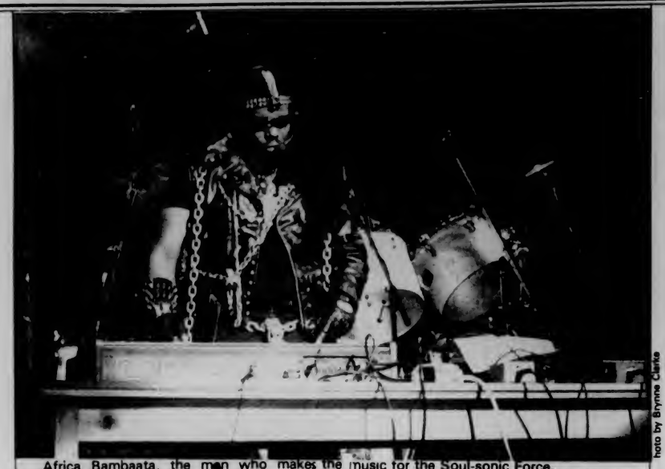


Photo by Brynne Clarke

Africa Bambaata, the man who makes the music for the Soul-sonic Force.

Black woman novelist wins Pulitzer prize

By ANGELA BROWN

Noted writer Alice Walker won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction on April 18 for her highly creative novel "The Color Purple", which tells the story of two Black sisters and their ties which spanned the Atlantic ocean with one sister in the rural South and the other serving in a mission in Africa. Alice Walker's third novel was described as a "Political and spiritual story" by the New York Times (April 19). The Times also noted that she was a political activist during the Civil Rights Movement.

The prize-winning novel highlights the story of the sister engaged in a personal struggle to escape degradation and oppression, particularly from the men around her. It is told as a series of letters between the two sisters. Also, the Southern sister's experiences as a teenage bride are related in the novel published by Harcourt Brace Jovanovich.

Walker's other works include short stories, poetry and two other novels. Titles include "Good Night Willie Lee, I'll see you in the Morning," a volume of poetry; and the novel "Meridian". She also edited a collection of Zora Neale Hurston's writings entitled "I Love myself when I am Laughing...And then Again when I am Looking Mean and Impressive."

Walker was born in Georgia in 1944, the daughter of a tenant farmer. She received her formal education from Sara Lawrence College, graduating in 1965, and now resides in San Francisco.

Aurra illuminates

By BRYNNE CLARKE

Photo by Brynne Clarke

Starleana Young of Aurra sings "Make Up Your Mind" last Friday at Amherst College.

Aurra, the feautured group of Amherst College's Black Pre-freshmen Weekend carried off a show that was more than electric. Aurra which grew out of the group Slave has made a place for themselves in the music world and are planning to stay. Starleana Young, lead singer; Tom Lockett, saxophone; and Curt Jones, lead singer; started with Slave and now keep Aurra going. They have been together as "Aurra" for four years and most of the work is done from within the group. The entire group writes music. They inspire each other and use their individual uniqueness to get their sound.

The show began with "Checkin' You Out" and they went straight through to "Are You Single" with the force and power of a well-polished group. Aurra has a new album out, "Live & Let Live". They did "I'm on my Way" from that album which has possibilities to be hot.

The group is young, creative and still looking to establish themselves as a consistent group. That status can only work to their advantage. Their creativity was shown most when Aurra finished both sets, and everybody improvised drums, bass, lead guitar and keyboard. The final beat came but all of the notes did not stop. The lead guitarist, Steve Washington could or would not stop. The crowd was with him the whole way. As the crowd put out more he did. Steve did an extra 10 minutes on guitar alone. His aura was working on Friday night.

When asked if there was anything that they wanted people to know, Starleana Young replied, "Everyone has an aura, a glow. If its right it will work, think positive." Aurra was one positive experience.

The Du Bois Corner:

Ida B. Wells

by Keith Johnson,

During the turn of the century there was an extreme amount of lynchings of Black people all over the country. It would be a young Black woman named Ida B. Wells who would come to the forefront and take a stand against those atrocities.

At age 14 she had to raise her younger brothers and sisters. She did so and at the same time put herself through college. At the age of 19 she decided to take up a stand against lynchings, starting first in Tennessee.

After later moving to Memphis, Ms. Wells would write of accounts of lynchings and help to publish the Free Speech newspaper. The local white community became upset with her articles and a mob destroyed her press, driving her from Memphis.

Ms. Wells went to the north to continue to write and speak out against lynching. In 1898 she took her crusade to the White House when she led a delegation of women and congressmen to see President McKinley. Although the delegation made a strong argument, there was no action to come out of the President's office against lynching.

In 1909 Ms. Wells became one of the founding members of the Negro Association fore the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). After leading her own campaign against lynching for years, she would prove to be a strong force in the NAACP until her death in 1931. Ms. Ida B. Wells was one of the great Black women in history and will be remembered for her staunch fight against the lynching of Black people.

Announcements policy: All announcements must be submitted in writing by the Friday before date of issue.

Nummo Staff

Angela Brown	Editor
Tracey Bryant	Production Manager
Brynne Clarke	Lay-Out Editor
Donna Davis	Business Manager
Keith Johnson	Researcher
Mitra Samimi	Graphics Editor
John Wright	Photo Editor
Lauri Neely and Laura Shanahan	Typesetters
Bernadine Brown	Administrative Assistant

CONTRIBUTORS

Ed Cohen	Photographer
Segun Eubanks	Correspondent
Chris Hardin	Photographer
Russell Jordan	Correspondent
Brenda Ling	Correspondent
Baron Roland	Photographer
Ray Sanderlin	Photographer
Robert Teixeira	Correspondent
Rich Thorpe	Correspondent

Central American update

Guatemala

Nebaj: a concentration camp

Nebaj, a small, war-torn town in El Quiche, Guatemala today has a population of scarcely 2,000 people. Innumerable massacres and constant army siege have decreased the population. Many people have died, some have fled to the mountains, while others have sought refuge along Mexico's border.

Nebaj's central area, the heart of the town, has been enclosed with barbed wire and mines have been placed around the outside. The fence encloses 700 square meters, including the town school, church and community center.

Nebaj is occupied by about 1,000 Kaibiles, special counter-insurgency forces. This represents an average of one heavily armed soldier for every two inhabitants.

From Nebaj, the Kaibiles carry out their operations against other towns and against the insurgent forces. They know the revolutionary organizations will not attack them in Nebaj because the Kaibiles protect themselves with the children that are kept inside the fence...

—Guatemalan Patriotic Unity Committee (CGUP)

Trial by the permanent tribunal of the people

The Guatemalan government, headed by General Efrain Rios Montt, was to be summoned to trial January 27-31 in Madrid by the Permanent Tribunal of the People. The tribunal, made up of writers Gabriel Garcia Marquez and Eduardo Galeano, among others, had invited the Guatemalan government to present a defense of its lack of respect for human rights. According to the Council fo Hemispheric Affairs, 15,000 people were killed by Guatemalan Security forces in 1982.

Review: King Sunny Ade JuJu Music

By Richard Thorpe

King Sunny Ade's impact on music is phenomenal. When one glances at Nigerian music charts this statement is readily evidenced. The king of juju music has sold no less than 200,000 copies per release and, in the past ten years, has released an amazing 40 albums. Depsite the remarkable success of Sunny Ade and his band, the African Beats, in Africa and Nigeria, juju music is relatively unknown in this country.

Juju music has been in existence since the 20's but it became more popular in the fifties with the introduction of Western instruments. It is a music rooted in a complex call and response between the talking drums and the singers and although it is now a modern dance music, the traditions of Nigeria's largest tribe, the Yoruba, haven't been forgotten.

To my ears juju music recalls elements of traditional African music combined with Calypso and reggae dub effects. Sunny Ade's JuJu Music is the first juju record that I have listened to and it is well worth listening (and even dancing) to. Since the lyrics are Nigerian, the meaning of the words is lost but you can still feel the emotion of the words and the music.

On this record, Sunny Ade, who plays keyboards, guitar and who also sings, leads his 21-member band through 7 of his established favorites. Although all of the songs are good, the best by far are: "Ja Funmi", "Sunny Ti De Ariya', "The Message" and "Samba". "Ja Funmi's" distinction is its synthesizer fills, and rhythm guitar over an infectious driving beat. "Sunny Ti De Ariya" is reminiscent of a funk party chorus complete with synthesizer sounds over percussion and drums; "The Message" is an instrumental with no holds barred. Synthesizers are used freely; Hawaiian guitar is evident and dubs are used also. "Samba" is a typical call and response between singers and drummers.

JuJu Music is well worth the buy. It is also a way to get the best of African culture, Calypso and some studio effects all wrapped up in one.

Photo by John Wright

Joyce Sumpter and Phil Jennings stop for a smile on the steps of the New Africa House.

Carlos Muniz Varela 1952-1979

Te enterramos en San Juan el primero de mayo por la tarde. Al final cantamos tus dos himnos: la Borinquena y el de los Bayameses de mas de cien anos de lucha. No fue nada facil despedirte, Carlos, por tus ojos profundos, por tu intensa alegria, por tus inquebrantables convicciones. Fue duro y dificil. De los caidos siempre se dicen muchas cosas que no vamos a decir de ti: si lo hicieramos y nos oyeras, nos mandarias a callar. Pero si tenemos que decir qu eras valiente. Lo hubieras sido en la guerra y lo fuiste en la vida. Eras critico y nunca dejaste de decir: "Entiendo el analisis, pero no estoy de acuerdo." Companeros como tu nunca se acomodan. companeros como tu nunca se quedan callados ante las injusticias. A lo largo de mas de cien anos, hombres y mujeres como tu han forjado la dignidad nacional del pueblo cubano. Juntos estabamos fraguando esa dignidad en este medio nuestro, tantas veces ingrato, tantas, veces oscuro y hostil.

Seguiremos adelante, Carlos, ahora mas que nunca, en la defensa de este proceso que busca unir a todos los cubanos.

A ti, tus companeros de la Brigada Antonio Maceo, te decimos: Con amor y lucha siempre!

Photo by Ed Cohen

Evelyn King "got loose" at the Fine Arts Center last Thursday night.

King at the FAC —

A night to remember

By ANGELA BROWN

Multiple smash hit vocalist Evelyn "Champagne" King displayed a range of talent rarely seen in the Pioneer Valley in a concert for a capacity FAC audience Thursday night. King never stopped making the music, moving quickly through a fast paced set of her best known hits, "I'm in Love", "Shame" and "Get Loose" — before slowing down the pace to give Amherst "a little love talk," as she said when beginning the ballad "Don't Hide on Love."

King and her band filled the FAC with positive energy, responding to the especially receptive crowd. The group displayed a spirit of artistic teamwork as they seemed to be having a good time onstage. In their rendition of "Shame" King stepped to the side a moment to take over on the congas, demonstrating that she has done her musical homework. The crowd strongly approved of her percussive talents.

However, it was when King moved into a soulful rendition of "Don't Hide on Love" that she drove at least a few members of the audience wild, reaching out and grasping some young man's hand as she hit a particularly long note. Of course, the young man's reactions indicated that he was having a hard time handling it at all. King and her group, especially her two back-up singers, had a very smooth stage routine, and certainly most eyeballs were glued to the stage.

Soulsonic Force played warm up prior to King's show, and proved quite capable of heating up the audience until it was so hot it almost did "tear the roof off" as the group insisted the audience had better be ready to do. As they performed their well known rapping hits, "Planet Rock" and "Perfect Beat", the group was successful in getting the entire audience to join in in a call and response, with screams and yells along with parts of the rap.

After the show, Evelyn King related her well known "Cinderella Story" to the press. King got her start at the age of 16 when she was discovered while employed as a cleaning lady for Philly International records. She was overheard singing while vacuuming one day by one of the company's managers.

Since then she has become well known throughout the world, with her tune "Shame" becoming a classic of the disco era in the late 70's. But, at present "disco is dead" according to King, and she has therefore adapted her music to today's audience, much of which is oriented to more of a rock (or "punk", as she said) beat. Her new style of music has won international acclaim as well, as she has just recently returned from a tour of Europe, performing material from her latest LP, "Get Loose."

Thursday was certainly a night to remember since this was the first major concert of Black popular music since GQ was here three years ago. It was a great success.

Spotlight: Duke Ellington Committee

By Rahim Imani

The Duke Ellington Committee of Union Program Council (UPC) is responsible for the produc n of major Third World musical concerts here at the University. The committee has access to 25 percent of the overall UPC budget. Although the committee has done productions on it's own, some of the concerts have been produced as a joint project with the parent organization, UPC.

The committee was first formed in 1980 after Black students had complained of the lack of Third World music being produced by UPC. After long negotiations between administrators, UPC, and a committee of Third World students, an agreement was reached to give Third World students greater input into the decision making process of UPC.

The major hurdle was first to get more input into the selection of talent. Later the goals of the committee expanded to increasing the membership of Third World students in UPC and having these students involved in all aspects of concert production. The committee has certain people who are responsible for such areas as promotions, stage crew, hospitality and security.

The Duke Ellington Committee has come a long way from it's inception. It's first concert was in the Fine Arts Center and featured the groups GQ and Breakwater. Although it was a fine performance, only about 300 out of a possible 2,000 people attended. Since then the committee has produced Ray Barreto, Jimmy Cliff, George Duke and Stanley Clarke, and many others.

The committee has gone through it's growing pains and has taken a great amount of criticism. But this year the committee produced a long list of diversified concerts such as Jimmy Cliff and Peter Tosh, Clyde Criner and Clouds, The New York Hot Trumpets, and the recent smash hit show, Evelyn King and the Soulsonic Force. Included were the Solo's and Duo's Series and the Blues in the Bluewall series.

With the lack of Third World programming coming out of the Springfield Civic Center and the surrounding areas, the Duke Ellington Committee has the ability to become a major concert producer in this area. It has already been shown that there is a following in many of the programs that they have had and can produce.

But for the committee to continue to be effective they need help. For many the experience may prove vital in future careers, such as, marketing majors could assist in advertising, HRTA majors could assist in hospitality, finance majors could go into budgets, and this is just the organization for music and theater majors. But for others the idea of working to put concerts together is just fun. For more information contact UPC/Duke Ellington committee at 406 Student Union Building or call 545-2892.

Announcements * Announcements

The Seta Rampersad Scholarship Fund

The Seta Rampersad Scholarship Fund was formed in 1982 as a memorial to Seta Rampersad, a 20-year-old Third World woman who was an undergraduate at the University of Massachusetts. Seta, a political science major and senior was found dead in Motel 6 in South Deerfield on September 13, 1978.

Seta was the daughter of immigrant parents who came from Trinidad. Seta, if she had lived, would have received her degree in May, 1979. Her career goals included being a legal advocate for Hispanic and Black youths who had been convicted in Springfield.

Recipients of the Seta Rampersad Scholarship must be Third World women undergraduates who have shown a history of commitment to social change in their communities, especially in the areas of health, women's issues, legal reform, Third World organizations, anti-nuke and international solidarity struggles.

Scholarships will be awarded to 2 Third World women undergraduates who have demonstrated good academic work (2.5 cum) and who have shown a sincere devotion to social progress. The award will be $300 and applications are due June 1, 1983 for the fall semester.

For more information and applications call Malika Jones at Everywoman's Center, 545-0883.

Housing needs

Are you looking for: Housing? Housemates? Moving information? Information about your rights as a tenant?

The Resource room at Everywoman's Center has a Housing Book to help you find contacts and information about housing needs. Stop in to look at this and other survival information, including a Childcare Book and a Job Bank Book. Everywoman's Center is located in Wilder Hall at the University of Massachusetts and is open to all Community and University women. Everywoman's Center is open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 12:00noon to 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday.

Everywoman's Center Service Calendar

April 28 — Resume Writing

May 5 — Finding Job Opportunities, Campus Center, rooms 911 and 903, for more information contact EWC at 545-0883.

Women and Office Automation in the 80's

April 26 — Job Stress in the Office, Campus Center, room 811B, 12-1 p.m., sponsored by The Working Women's Task Force of EWC, Labor Relations Center, University Staff Association

April 27 — 7 p.m., Campus Center, room 168: Teach-In for adults about children's assault and prevention. Led by Geraldine Crisici, Franklin/Hampshire Mental Health Center and project director of the personal safety curriculum of the Naitonal Center on child abuse and neglect. (If childcare is needed call in advance).

April 30 — Campus Center, room 101, "What Should I Do?" Puppet Production for Children, 1 p.m. – Children 5-6-year-olds, 2 p.m. – Children 7-10-year-olds. Free and open tothe public. Pre-registration suggested for puppet production. Presented by the Elfin Puppet Theatre and sponsored by the Education/Advocates Program of Everywoman's Center and Men Against Violence Against Women (MAVAW). For more info contact Education Advocates at 545-0883.

May Poetry Series

Professor Archie Shepp and Linda Gregg will read poetry, kicking off a May Poetry Series at the Jones Library in Amherst.

The reading will begin at 8:00 p.m., Tuesday, May 3rd. There is no admission.

Archie Shepp is most known for his music and artistry on the saxophone as well as his accomplishments in the theatre. He is also known for his poems, "The Wedding," and "Mama Rose" and will present these as well as others during the reading.

"Step Out with the Class of '83"

Saturday April 30th at Memorial Hall.

Fashion Show, Slide Show & Buffet dinner catered by Yvonne. Music by Marc Eliot, 7 p.m.-1 p.m. (No jeans or sneakers). A donation will be requested.

Sponsored by: NUMMO News, Afrik-Am and the Malcolm X Center. EVERYONE is invited!

Caribbean Film Festival

Caribbean Theater Production is sponsoring a Caribbean Film Festival on Friday, April 29, 1983 at 8 p.m.

This will be the New England premier of "Land of Look Behind", plus a special short feature "Carnival Time!"

"Land of Look Behind" is a Jamaican film masterpiece that gives you a look at Jamaica from the lush forest of Look Behind in Trelawney to the big city excitement of Kingston. Shown in the film is the national funeral of Rasta Bob Marley. See live performances of reggae superstar Gregrory Isaacs plus Lui Lepki and Matabaruka!

The second film "Carnival Time", is thirty minutes of the excitement, color and music of Carnival in Trinidad.

The Caribbean Film Festival will be held at the American Legion Post 430 (behing the A&P supermarket on the Armory Street rotary in Springfiled.

Admission is $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for ages 15 and under.

Lunchtime Workshops

A series of lunchtime workshops will be offered on "Women and Office Automation in the 80s" on Tuesdays 12:00 to 1:00 p.m. in room 811B of the Campus Center at the UMass. The workshop schedule is as follows.

April 26, 1983: Job Stress in the Office — Myra Hindus and Betsy Hamilton

All community and University members are welcome to attend these workshops. The workshops are sponsored by the Working Women's Task Force of the Everywoman's Center. They are co-sponsored by the Labor Relations Center and the University Staff Association (USA/MTA). All workshops are free. For more information contact Myra Hindus at 545-0883.

Career Information

A series of four lunchtime workshops on Career Information will be offered on Thursdays from 12-1:00 p.m. in the Campus Center, UMass. The workshop schedule is as follows:

April 28, 1983: Resume Writing — Alice Smith -room 911 CC.

May 5, 1983: Finding Job Opportunities — Alice Smith - room 911 CC.

All community and University members are welcome.The workshops are sponsored by the Working Women's Task Force of the Everywoman's Center. All workshops are free of charge. For more information contact Myra Hindus at 545-0883.

Summer Employment

The Commuter Area government is now hiring for the summer. We are a progressive organization with dynamic programming which has included The Progressive Film Series and the John Lee Hooker Concert. We now have openings for Office Manager and advocacy positions. This is your chance to acquire skills that will be useful to you in the future. Positions are for 30 hours/week. Must be available for Fall semester as well. Applications available at 404 Student Union 9:00-5:00 Monday through Friday. We are an Affirmative Action Equal Opportunity Employer. Third World, women, and non-traditional students encouraged to apply. Deadline for applications is April 29.

May Reading Series

May 3 — Linda Gregg, Too Bright to See, Graywolf Press
Archie Shepp, in Black Drama Anthology, Signet books "Mama Rose" (poem), Live in Concert with Jasper Van't Hof, Steeple Chase records; "Attica Blues Big Band" Live at the Palais de Glaces, Blue Marge

10 — Frannie Lindsay, The Aerial Tide Coming In, Swamp Press
George Murphy, No Other Life, Amper-sand Press; Editor, Tendril

17 — Chase Twichell, Northern Spy, University of Pittsburgh Press
Carole Oles, The Lonliness Factor, Texas Tech Press Quarry, The University of Utah Press

24 — Gary Metras, The Night Watches, Adastra Press; The Yearnings Samisdat Press; publisher, Adastra Press
Elizabeth McKim, Burning Through, Family Salt, Wampeter Press Body India, Yellow Moon Press

31 — Andrew Salkey, In the Hills Where Her Dreams Live, The Black Scholar Press; Land, Away, Allison & Busby
Kathryn Marshall, Desert Places, Harper and Row; My Sister Gone, Harper and Row

Course Proposals Sought

The Malcolm X Center (located in the Southwest Residential Area) is accepting class proposals for the Fall 1983-84 semester. Anyone interested call 545-2819 or come down to the Center Monday through Friday 12:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m., or Saturday 12:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Black Mass Communications

1983 Spring Schedule

Sunday	Les Correia, Soft n Easy, 2-6:00 a.m. Rev. Pearson, Glory Road to Gospel, 6-10:00 a.m. The General, Positive Vibrations, 10-2 a.m.
Monday	Victor Yepaz, Concepto Latino, 2-6 a.m. Mahoghany, Free as the Wind, 12:15-3 p.m. Merrit Anthony, Phase III, 3-5:30 p.m. *People's Perspective with Merritt Crawford, 6-7:00 p.m. Concepto Latino, 7-10:00 p.m.
Tuesday	Puma, Urban Contemporary, 12:15-3 p.m. Eliot Andrew, Urban Contemporary, 10-2:00 a.m.
Wednesday	Terry Parker, Urban Contemporary, 6-9:00 a.m.
Thursday	Rev. Pearson, Glory Road to Gospel, 2-6:00 a.m. Concepto Latino, 6-9:00 a.m. D.R., Urban Contemporary, 3-5:30 p.m. Kari Njiiri, Pan Afrique, 10-2:00 a.m.
Friday	BMCP, 2-6:00 a.m. Concepto Latino, 9-12:00 noon Carl Lowman, Rhythm Section, 12:15-3 p.m.
Saturday	Concepto Latino, 1-3:30 p.m. George McKenzie, Reggae, 3:30-6:00 p.m. Reports in Color with Bettina Henry, 6-7:00 p.m. Wilhemina Samuels, Ladies Touch, 7-10:00 p.m. Frank Oglesby, Franki O's Odyssey, 10-2:00 a.m.

* Public Affairs
 Rev. Pearson included; not a part of BMCP
 News

Keep on listening to BMCP on WMUA, 91.1 FM and help us keep BLACK MUSIC alive!

Students help protest animal dissections at rally

By LAURA SHANAHAN
Collegian Staff

As part of a world-wide demonstration protesting primate research,a group of six students from the recently organized UMass Animal Rights Coalition attended a rally Sunday at the Park Plaza Hotel in Boston, part of a world-wide demonstration protesting against primate research.

"People don't consider that animals have rights at all," said Jane Lidsky, co-secretary of the UMass group and an animal science major. "People don't regard animals as living creatures."

Lidsky and Lisa Borders, co-secretary with Lidsky, expressed concern with vivisection, the act of dissecting live animals for scientific purposes, and the use of LD50, a test which involves injecting animals with lethal doses of drugs to measure the toxicity of the injected substances and to see how much of the substance will kill off half a group of animals. They also had problems surrounding some academic courses at the Universityparticularly dissection, and insensisitivity towards animals in labs as living creatures.

They also objected to academic courses at the University, with course requirements of animal dissection and what Lidsky and Borders termed "insensitivity toward animals in labs and classes as living creatures."

The further along in courses you are, "the more they (the professors) try to desensitize you," Borders said.

Borders said she does not like to dissect animals if there is no apparent need. Alternative methods including tissue cultures, using eggs to culture viruses and sophisticated computers might be used, she said.

Lobbying against vivisection was a main concern of the rally. Actor Earl Holliman, president of Actors and Others for Animals, expressed "moral outrage" against vivisectionists.

He expressed optimism towards the animal rights movement. "We're not just passing through, we're gonna be here for a long time," he said.

Actress Angie Dickinson was criticized for her support of the use of animals for experiments, although she does desire more humane ways of doing so.

Richard Morgan, author and president of Mobilizaiton for Animals, compared primate centers in the United States to World War II German concentration camps used to exterminate millions of Jews.

Borders was enthusiastic about the turn-out of between 3,000 and 4,000 at the rally.

"It's encouraging to see that many people speak out on animal rights," she said.

The 150 member UMass group hopes to begin a campaign against the LD50 test and promote bills introduced into Congress against the "needless cruelty against animals in laboratory research," Borders and Lidsky said.

"We all have different levels of committment," Borders said. "We want to let them know there's a problem."

"However we feel about it, we're all impassioned about animal rights." she said.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 121 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Tuesday, April 26, 1983

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber
The chairlift seats at Berkshire East will remain dormant for a long time now. Winter is over and the last remnants of the snow it wrought to Massachusetts are slowly melting away.

Culture important to Jews, holocaust survivor lectures

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

There is something in the condition of Jews that compels them not to listen to other people's logic, the Chairperson of the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council said last night at Amherst College.

Elie Wiesel, the author of Night and Somewhere A Master spoke to a filled audience at Johnson Chapel on "A Jew Today: The Jewish and Human Conditions."

One must maintain a passionate commitment to literature, and a commitment to memory. What happens today must be linked to the beginning. The beginning of the Jewish people is important because "we, today, are a part of that beauty," Wiesel said.

To write literature, is to build a living monument, an account that creates a possibility that links what happens today to the legends of Jerusalem, he said.

Wiesel was a teen-age survivor of Auschwitz and Buchenwald and today is a renowned spokesperson on the holocaust.

"No one will ever know what happened, you and I are partners in a bizarre and cruel story," he said.

I was the one to first use the word, holocaust. I used it because I wanted something mystical, not only religious, a word that everyone could identify with, but this word is trivialized today. There is no word to describe all that, Wiesel said.

"There is something that makes us different. There is a passage in Ulysses by James Joyce that describes this quality in the episode where the prince of Egypt says to Moses 'Don't be silly, you belong to an ancient people, a people with gods so beautiful,'" he said.

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber
Holocaust survivor Elie Wiesel.

"The Jews are people with a strange god, a god that is not visible, stay with me I promise you a great career." As you can see, the greatest event in history, is the event of not listening," Wiesel said.

"We can be illogical, an illustration of this: A man in a restaurant calls the waiter over and asks the waiter to turn the air conditioner on because he is hot. A little later he calls the waiter over and tells him that he is cold. The man then tells the waiter that he is too hot. Another man watching all this asks the waiter if the man is driving him crazy. The waiter replies "Drives me crazy? No. There is no air conditioner."

"My position is to be sensitive to what happens to my people. Insensitivity is the enemy. The meaning of love, of friendship, is to know what hurts you," he said.

Film reveals how ads are sexist and degrading to women

By ABBY BULKLEY
Collegian Correspondent

Advertising influences our concepts of sexuality, identity and acceptance of violence towards women, said Jean Kilbourne in the film "Killing Us Softly" presented last night at the University of Massachusetts by the Women's Issues Team and the Women's Leadership Project.

"Ads sell popularity and sexuality, shape attitudes and therefore behavior," Kilbourne said. "If you see it for a second, you'll remember it, nothing in advertising is unintentional," she said.

The ideal femininity has no personality, is flawless and is an impossible image presented by the advertiser, then recreated through the use of their products, Kilbourne said.

Lovability and desireability depend upon people's ability to achieve this ideal, she said.

"We think we are sophisticated, we don't take advertising seriously," Kilbourne said. "Women spend one-half million dollars per hour on cosmetics," she said.

The body becomes an object, the face becomes a mask. Minority women are even further exploited to sell "exotic" products, she said.

"We learn to objectify ourselves, whatever you've got won't do. Our bodies are dismembered, the ad tone is that you're not trying hard enough," Kilbourne said.

Advertisements work by taking away what women have and selling it back to them, said Kilbourne, using "natural bra" and "natural look" advertisements as examples.

The message is degrading and makes women ashamed and thereby buying the product will make them feel better, she said.

"Advertising creates competition between women, we learn we will lose the love of women for men. Then as women age they go from being sex objects to demented housewives," said Kilbourne.

"Male sexuality is also affected, masculinity is brutal, sex and violence are linked," Kilbourne said.

"You learn a lot just from the poses, the overwhelming message is keep 'her' where she belongs. We are not allowed the full range of human qualities in each of us," Kilbourne said.

The labels "masculine and feminine" are always used and "feminine is constantly devalued," she said.

Mary Palazzo of the Women's Issues Team and Leadership Project spoke before the movie on Anorexia Nervosa and Bulemia, two eating disorders which involve obsessions with thinness and distorted body images, and both diseases are prevalent among American women.

"The media is mostly responsible. Both damage the health and pride and ability to exert oneself as a person," said Palazzo.

Messages of the women's movement are trivialized by advertisements, and there is an emphasis on guilt and inadequacy," said Kilbourne.

Slides and comments from the group Women Against Violence Against Women were shown and read after the film, depicting the contrast between glamourized violence and the results of real violence against real women.

Other slides showed the similarity between these types of ads and pornography.

World and National News

The value of Judy McCabe's house in South Kingstown, R.I. has decreased considerably. The Matunuck Beach rental which she, her husband and child inhabited gave way to ten-foot waves Sunday.

Experts skeptical of Hitler diaries

HAMBURG, West Germany AP — Stern magazine held a news conference Monday to bolster a claim that its "Hitler diaries" are authentic, but two expert witnesses said the documents would have to be studied further.

British historian Hugh Trevor-Roper, who gave the documents his unqualified endorsement last week, backtracked and said at the news conference, "A final judgment cannot be given until the whole text of the documents can be examined."

"There are further tests that are necessary," said another authority on Hitler, Professor Gerhard L. Weinberg of the University of North Carolina.

Malaria still a serious health threat experts say

GENEVA, Switzerland AP — Since 1955, the World Health Organization (WHO) has struggled against malaria, and for a time many experts believed the debilitating, and sometimes fatal disease, would become a forgotten danger.

But today, experts at WHO headquarters believe that 40 percent of mankind is still threatened by the disease — and that old solutions no longer work against new strains of mosquitos and malarial parasites.

"While past programs have not been a failure, we are still a long way from reaching our goal," sai Ned Willard, a WHO spokesman. "Malaria is a problem most governments wish would just disappear, but instead it is worsening."

Many countries, which a few years ago were on the point of announcing the eradication of malaria, are struggling with an onslaught of pesticide-resistant mosquitos and drug-resistant parasites, the WHO says.

"Rumors that the disease has been eradicated in India are false," said Willard. "Nor are rumors that a new vaccine will soon solve the malaria problem entirely true."

WHO estimates new malaria cases at about 7.5 million per year, double the rate of 10 years ago, with most cases found in Southeast Asia, South America, Central America and the equatorial region of Africa. There is no accurate count of malaria deaths.

U.S. wishes for Soviet missile reductions unlikely

WASHINGTON AP — The Reagan administration's attempts to spur major reductions in Soviet land-based missiles have "virtually no chance" at the bargaining table, a Carnegie panel said Monday.

The bipartisan group also expressed reservations about a nuclear freeze, saying that could prove a "two-edged sword" by precluding the development of weapons which actually could enhance strategic balance.

The Kremlin's rigid bureaucracy, wedded to long-term military planning, is highly unlikely to agree to radically reduce the heavy intercontinental ballistic missiles which account for about 75 percent of Soviet nuclear strength, said the report.

But while implicitly criticizing the administration's proposals for a strategic arms reduction treaty and its stress on air-tight verification procedures, the panel said the Soviets may be willing to accept more limited restrictions on nuclear weapons.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Husband, wife free hostages after police return two dogs

NORWICH, N.Y. AP — A heavily armed couple freed the last of 14 hostages Monday after police returned two of the 43 dogs that had been taken from them two years ago.

The couple surrendered later in the afternoon, said Chenango County Sheriff Moe Eccleston.

Lawrence B. and Christine Gladstone of nearby Preston, N.Y., entered the Chenango County Office Building at about 9:20 a.m. and took 14 people hostage, demanding the return of their 43 dogs taken from them two years ago by animal control officials, police said.

Five children still hospitalized as fire investigation continues

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. AP — Five children remained hospitalized Monday following a weekend house fire that killed a teenage babysitter and two other children.

Arson investigator Alan Goodreau said it appeared that the Saturday night fire was caused by careless disposal of a cigarette, but an investigation was continuing.

"We could see the flames as we were coming out of the station," said Acting District Fire Chief Stanley Skarzynski. The 2½-story home was two blocks from the Winchester Square firehouse, but Skarzynski said it appeared that the blaze had been smoldering for 15 or 20 minutes before firemen were called.

Escape attempt leaves one inmate dead and one stranded

TRENTON, N.J. AP — One inmate was killed trying to escape from the Trenton State Prison on Monday and a second inmate was trapped in razor-sharp strands of metal surrounding the roof, officials said.

"One prisoner is dead," said James Stabile, a Department of Corrections spokesman. "He is on the roof of the front of the old administration building. The cause of death was not immediately known."

Stabile said the two were spotted on the roof by guards in a tower who were armed with pistols, rifles and shotguns.

A resident of nearby Federal Street said he heard what sounded like firecrackers shortly before 1 p.m., went outside and saw a man caught in the sharp coils of metal.

First lady an anti-drug hero

WASHINGTON AP — "Skreee! Blam! Foom!" The White House presents a special issue of "The New Teen Titans," a comic book about super-heroes who vanquish drug abuse.

The comic book, produced by DC Comics of New York and underwritten by the Keebler Co., was unveiled Monday as a new tool to help prevent use among fourth graders. In a cover letter, Nancy Reagan tells the youngsters:

"Don't let anyone tell you that you can't be a hero...Declare that you will stay drug-free. At any cost...And you'll be a hero to your mother and father, family and friends, but most of all, to yourself."

Lay to rest all those rumors of Brooke Shields coming to Smith College! The Princeton University student newspaper says she has been admitted there.

I read the Collegian

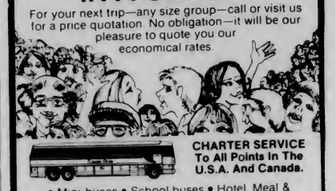
Today's Staff

Night Editor — Richard Nangle
Copy Editor — David Summersby
Layout Technician — Sue Bankert
Photo Technician — Dave Deuber
Composition — Donna Maurice, Jackie Femino, Ken Kalinowski, Donna Estabrooks, Stuart Sajdak, Marianne Walsh, Don Narey, Laurie Frank, Adrianne Dufour, Gail Tanzer, Terri Cooper, Maria Cahillane, Margie Hochman, Sheryl Silver

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address change to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

GOING SOMEWHERE IN A GROUP?

For your next trip—any size group—call or visit us for a price quotation. No obligation—it will be our pleasure to quote you our economical rates.



CHARTER SERVICE To All Points In The U.S.A. And Canada.

• Mini-buses • School buses • Hotel, Meal & Sightseeing Arrangements • Luxurious Highway Coaches Restroom Equipped and Air-Conditioned • Express Bus Service to Bradley Airport. For Information, Call: 781-3320

Travel Time Bus Lines, Inc.
99 Arnold Street, Springfield, MA
General Office & Charter Service: 783-0211
Toll Free in MA 1-800-322-0297

Explore Careers in Visual Arts

Wednesday, April 27, 1983
Campus Center, Rm 174, 7-9:30 PM

with
Gary Berger
Director of the Berkshire Museum
Pittsfield
Alvin Page
Resident Artist and Director
of the Garret Gallery, American
International College, Springfield
Tom Leamon
Commercial Artist and Illustrator
Amherst
and
Barbara Schaffer Bacon
Arts Resource Coordinator, AES

TOPICS: A general overview of each career, including setting, skills needed, kinds of positions, and resources for job information.

TO REGISTER CALL: The Arts Extension Service 545-2360

Sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council

Explore Careers in the Literary Arts

Tuesday, April 26, 1983
Campus center, Rm 169, 7-9:30 pm
with
Deborah Robson
Small Press Manager, Editor
Writer and Poet, Amherst
Steve Berman
Author and Screen Writer
Northampton
and
Barbara Schaffer Bacon,
Arts Resource Coordinator, AES

TOPICS: A general overview of each career, including setting, skills needed, kinds of positions and resources for job information.

TO REGISTER CALL:
the Arts Extension Service at 545-2360
Sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council.
Next Workshop: Careers in the Visual Arts

Town meeting may not have say over Hampshire College

By DAVID STERN
Five College Correspondent

Hampshire College's first Town Meeting was rescheduled in response to threats of forcing the cancellation of the orginally scheduled April 12th meeting.

The Town Meeting was proposed by students at the beginning of the school year to be an open meeting for Hampshire students, faculty, staff, and administrators to discuss, recommend, and make policy on campus issues.

Whether or not the Town Meeting will have power to make binding decisions for the college is unclear.

"It certainly can't start with the presumption that it has governing force," Jim Matlack, executive assistant at Hampshire, said.

The first meeting had been cancelled on Friday, April 8th, according to Andy Scott, director of program for first year students and member of the first meeting's Steering Committee, because students whose articles were excluded from the warrant threatened to disrupt the meeting.

This will not be a problem in the new Community Meeting because, according to Tim Joukowsky, student member of the Steering Committee, student's decided that the Steering Committee will no longer have the power to exclude what are now called items from the agenda.

The decision to reword, withdraw, or consolidate an item will be the author's, he explained.

Joukowsky said that the articles had orginally been excluded because they were not specific enough, and, more importantly, because they would have destroyed the communication between members of the Hampshire Community that a Town Meeting was supposed to foster.

He said that people would shy from the meeting if the controversial articles had been on the warrant, with some people possibly taking the attitude that "It's a meeting for a bunch of radicals."

But Warren Goldstein, one of the students who submitted the articles, claimed they were canned because they were threatening to President Adele Simmons and other members of the administration.

"They were too relevant, and that's why they were censored," he said. "They hit the nail on the head and a lot of people can't handle that."

Both Scott and Joukowsky insisted that they received no pressure from Simmons or her office to exclude the articles.

The articles excluded from the warrant read as follows:

The Town Meeting shall...

Call for a vote of no confidence concerning the Board of Trustees as a voting body.

Call for a vote of no confidence concerning Adele Simmons as President of Hampshire College.

Proclaim a right to veto all decisions made by the Administrative Committee (ADCOM) and the Board of Trustees.

Empower itself to make decisions that are binding on the Trustees and the administration.

Goldstein said that after learning of the exclusion of the articles, he had told the Steering Committee he would publish an all-campus bulletin and call a motion from the floor, which is against Town Meeting rules.

Scott added, however, that "Warren said, 'We're going to take it over.'"

This threat was confirmed by other members of the Steering Committee.

In further revamping the meeting, it was decided that three moderators will be chosen by the Steering Committee for the May 9th meeting, according to Gittemore Segal, a student member of the Steering Committee.

Segal added that another meeting is planned for May 16th to discuss any items not covered on May 9th.

Women must unite to stop violence

By ROBERTA RUBIN
Collegian Correspondent

Women must put an end to "acts of terrorism" against themselves by forming bonds and by fighting together as one group, said Suzanne Pharr last night in a lecture at Mount Holyoke College.

Pharr, who said she has been active in the women's movement since 1969 and has been active in the anti-violence against women movement for three years said that she was very concerned with violence, because in her active involvement in women's issues, she has mostly heard about violence which includes: incest, rape, marital rape, teenagers becoming pregnant by considerably older men, and the attacking of lesbians.

Pharr said that violence is a systematic design to control all women.

"It is a repeated pattern," she said.

Pharr said she found the number of assaulted young women alarming.

One in four girls will be assaulted before they are 16 years old, one in twelve boys will be assaulted in the same manner, and fifty percent of women are battered, she said.

"However," Pharr said, "I feel that it's closer to 100 percent of women who are assaulted by the time they are adults."

Unfortunately, Pharr said, we adapt to this "War Zone" kind of mentality where we live with the constant fear of being assaulted if we haven't been already. Women lock their doors because they are afraid that if they step out of line by being strong in their positions, they will be severely penalized by society.

The only way that an end can be put to these acts of violence is through acts of resistance, Pharr said.

"Collectively, we must say, NO, no matter where, when or what. This is difficult because it's easier to come up with something political on other people's behalf than on your own behalf because we are afraid that we will be punished by society," she said.

There are three approaches which can be used to help put an end to these acts of violence Pharr said: One approach is to help people adapt to what is happening in society by increasing the number of organizations such as women's shelters for battered women, she said.

Another approach is to try to change institutions by working on some new legislations to make laws on women easier, she said.

The most effective approach to use, however, is to put a group such as battered women together so that they will recognize a commonality between each other and therefore, could support each other in fighting back against violence, she said.

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

Saturday was a fine day for fishing as Jim Volpi, 13, of Adams casts thy rod upon thy water of the Deerfield River in Florida, Mass.

Veteran's group seeks social support

By DAN STOCKFORD
Collegian Correspondent

After more than two years of inactivity, the Veteran's Service Organization (VSO) at the University of Massachusetts is being resurrected by a group of concerned veterans.

The VSO offers a variety of social, educational, and political functions to all veterans in the UMass community, according to Diane Fandel, president and co-organizer of the group.

"When people get out of the military and come to college, the socialization process is often difficult," Fandel said. "We hope to, by providing social functions, help new students assimilate into the college community."

Fandel cited a VSO picnic scheduled for May 8 as well as a hayride and bonfire planned for the fall semester as examples of social functions that the group intends to sponsor.

According to Fandel, veterans are often not completely aware of all the benefits they are entitled to.

"We want to make veterans and dependents of veterans aware of educational benefits such as the GI Bill, the Massachusetts tuition waiver (program) and the Veterans Educational Assistance Program.

"The VSO wants to go into the community and hold workshops which will provide people with information about these programs," said the 26-year-old veteran of the Coast Guard.

Politically, the VSO wants to keep an eye on legislation which might affect veterans, mobilizing support or opposition on important issues, Fandel said.

She said the VSO would eventually like to establish a network between veterans groups at the 27 public higher education institutions in Massachusetts.

The VSO has recently applied for office space, and they hope to have a permanent home in the fall, Fandel said. The Veteran's Assistance and Counseling Services is currently providing the group with temporary office space.

Franco - American relationship in need of better social ties

By DAVE LINTON
Collegian Staff

The differences between the United States and France could be solved by changing the image of France in this country and expanding cultural ties, a French diplomat told an audience of 60 people at Amherst College last night.

In a lecture entitled, "Franco-American Relations: Areas of Accord and Contention," Charles Crettien, the Director of the Press and Information Section of the French Consulate in New York said the differences between the United States and Western Europe could be solved by improving communications.

"It is a problem of communication. We don't know each other enough," Crettien said. "The Western Alliance is not only a problem of missiles, but a problem of trade and a problem of culture," he said.

The French diplomat said the alliance of the free world should be based on culture. He said culture between France and the United States could be expanded by improving the teaching of English in France and the teaching of French in the U.S.

Although France may differ with the United States in military, trade, and third world matters, Crettien said, the differences are only in the approach to the problems. Although there was an "East-West" balance between the superpowers, Crettien said there is also a need for a "North-South" dialogue between rich and poor nations.

Crettien said many problems in the third world could be solved by improving education. He said there was a need to invest in education and "business won't invest in education in the third world."

"The new philosophy of the French government is a philosophy of man. It is a humanistic philosophy," Crettien said.

Although many differences still exist between the United States and its allies in Western Europe, cooperation is getting better and better, Crettien said.

"We are a true and cooperative ally. We support Pershings in Western Europe and we support Reagan's plan to limit nuclear missiles in Europe," he said.

In matters of trade, Crettien said France cannot afford trade protectionism.

"We want fair trade to secure free trade in the world," he said.

"The problems between France and the Soviet Union will not be solved as long as the Soviets are in Afghanistan. At the same time we will try to talk. Peace is of paramount importance. We don't want war," Crettien said.

Crettien said France supported the Camp David agreements between Egypt and Israel and supports Reagan's plan to try to get Jordan in the negotiation process in the Middle East.

"A Palestinian state has to exist today but we are not going to say where," he said.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY Telephone (413) 545-3500
Collegian
Campus Center University of Massachusetts Amherst, Mass. 01003

BUSINESS POSITIONS FOR FALL 1983
Applications now being accepted for:
Co-Finance Managers
Assistant Business Manager
Assistant Advertising Managers
Advertising Representatives
Application Deadline: Thursday 4/28
Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center
The Collegian is an Equal Opportunity Employer

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
Charter Day
APRIL 29, 1983

TUESDAY
TWO FOR ONE
all liquor drinks
9 till 11
with music by
RACK-A-DISC
9 til 1 NO COVER
THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

THE HUNGRY-U
55 UNIVERSITY Dr Amherst Mass.
Your Weekly Calendar — Take A Closer Look
TUESDAY
"LADIES NITE"
Strawberry daiquiri's
$1.25
99¢ bar drinks
9:00-CLOSE
WEDNESDAY
QUARTER NITE
25¢ beer
THE HUNGRY-U
BEST BUY AROUND TOWN
9:00-MIDNIGHT
THURSDAY
"HAPPY HOUR"
FREE PIZZA
★99¢ bar drinks
★50¢ drafts
9:00-CLOSE
FRIDAY
AFTERNOON
ONCE AGAIN
Happy Hour
FREE PIZZA
80 oz Pitchers Happy Hour priced at $2.75
drafts ..... 50¢
Your choice of bar drink..... 99¢
2:00-5:30

SUPER SALE
on HP-34C and HP-38C
only $69.95
(this is not a misprint)
Save almost 50% off our regular low price of $134.95
Save $80.00 of list price $150.00
HP-38C
The HP-38C is an ideal tool for real estate agents, financial analysts, accountants, bankers, managers and business students.
• Advanced financial functions including discounted cash flow analysis
• Amortization schedules
• 99 program lines for handling repetitive calculations
• Continuous Memory saves programs and data
The HP-34C offers computer-strength "solve" and "integrate" in a handheld calculator. Designed for scientific students and professionals who need the flexibility and power of advanced programming.
• "Solve" key finds real roots of equations
• "Integrate" key finds definite integrals
• 210 program lines
• Continuous Memory saves programs and data
HP-34C
HP-33C Advanced Programmable Scientific
Limited quantities available no rainchecks
Located in the Campus Center
OPEN M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Department of Sport Studies Lecture Series

Kathrine Switzer
Director of Sports Program
Avon Products
"Sport Promotion and Development on a World-Wide Basis"
Thursday, April 28, 1983
8 p.m.
Public Health Auditorium
Morrill Science Building
Katherine Switzer
– First Woman to Compete Officially in the Boston Marathon, 1967
– Organizer of the First Women's Olympic Marathon, Los Angeles, 1984
– Television Commentator for the New York and Boston Marathons
– Trustee of the Women's Sports Foundation
– Coordinator of the Avon International Marathon
Students, Faculty, Coaches, and Other Interested Persons Welcome!

$4,000 of instruments stolen from FAC and DWI among crimes reported by police

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

Eleven sets of cymbals were among the $4,000 worth of percussion instruments reported stolen from the Fine Arts Center Thursday night, University of Massachusetts police said yesterday.

Also reported stolen from the FAC rehearsal room were rototoms, a snare drum, high hat cymbals, several tom-toms and a timboni head, police said.

According to Lou Lourraine, stage production manager for the center, there were no visible signs of forced entry.

The incident occurred between midnight and 8 a.m. Thursday.

In other police action:

● A homemade explosive devise was detonated in the fifth floor stairwell of John Adams dormitory in the Southwest Residential College yesterday morning, police said.

No damage was reported in the incident that was called in at 12:41 a.m. yesterday but police detected odors of gun powder and sulfur in the air and paper fragments on the ground.

John Adams head of residence Catherine Moscatelli declined comment.

● A 22-year-old East Hampton, New York woman was arrested Saturday night and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, driving while under the influence of a narcotic substance, (LSD), operating to endanger, possessing no registration, and operating without a valid Mass. license, police said.

The woman was observed at the corner of Fearing Street and Lincoln Ave. with a 29-year-old Northampton man on the roof rack of her car. The man was placed in protective custody after being found to be intoxicated, police said.

● Police responded to an in-progress assault with a dangerous weapon Friday night in John Quincy Adams dormitory. Police said that shortly before 11 p.m. Friday a 19-year-old Northport, NY man, was pointing a .177 caliber BB pistol at his 22nd floor roommate when they arrived.

The man was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon (a firearm), possession of a firearm on a college campus, possession of a firearm without a firearm identification card, possession of a dangerous weapon while committing a breach of the peace, discharge of a fire arm within 500 feet of a dwelling, breaking glass in a building (a window of a firedoor), and malicious damage to real property.

Police said the gun was taken away and the man placed under arrest after police found three bulletholes in the firedoor window and several pellets on the floor beside it.

● An attempted larceny and arson in MacKimmie dormitory Friday night left a 19-inch television set and a carpet burned, police said.

Police said burned paper and hockey stick were found underneath the television cabinet. The carpet was burned through to the floor and several screws had been removed from the television. Police said apparently someone had tried removing the set then ignited it after failing. Damage was estimated at $500.

● More than $700 worth of jewelry was reported stolen from a John Quincy Adams dormitory room police, said. The incident, which occurred between sometime Wednesday and 4:30 p.m. Sunday, left a woman without two gold chains (valued at $150 and $200), seven gold charms ($30 apiece) and a $150 watch.

● Two 19-year-old Newton men were arrested and charged with being disorderly persons in connection with an incident near the flagpoles on the Haigis Mall Saturday night.

Police said they observed a group of four men standing around the flag poles while flames shot 10 feet into the air from buring signs attached to the flag poles.

Police said the men ran across Mass. Ave., creating a traffic disturbance when they observed police approaching. Two of the men were caught near Lot 32.

● An 18-year-old man was placed in protective custody shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday in the Haigis Mall. Police said the man was found draped over a parking meter vomiting.

Voting for Orchard Hill ends today

Voting for Orchard Hill Area Government offices concludes today in the main lobbies of Dickinson, Webster, Field and Grayson Houses from 4 to 6:30 p.m.

Running unopposed for the office of co-presidents are Mike Altneu of 604 Dickinson and Cara Milks of 713 Grayson.

Candidates for vice-president include Phil Vettraino of 520 Field, Maura McHugh of 704 Grayson, Judy Day of 706 Grayson and Kim Milinazzo of 716 Field.

Candidates for secretary include Lynda Harbold of 713 Grayson and Johnnie Lyn Evans of 714 Field.

Donna Dooley of 414 Field is running unopposed for the office of treasurer.

High schoolers vie for free tuition

Two-hundred seventy-five top Massachusetts high school juniors and their parents were on the University of Massachusetts campus yesterday observing college life, UMass-style.

The juniors, all in the top fifth of their class, were nominated to compete for 26 Chancellor's Talent Awards (CTA) for academic excellence which carry a full four year tuition waiver.

CTA Coordinator, Sarah J. Hamilton, said the students took English and mathematics tests determining the winners of the merit scholarships would be.

The group was welcomed to the University by Chancellor Joseph Duffey and heard a panel discussion by faculty on unique educational opportunities at UMass.

After lunch the students were taken on guided tours of the campus.

Hamilton said the program, begun by former UMass Chancellor, Henry Koffler, is a success not only for the large number of quality students who are attracted to UMass but for the fact that, "we keep track of students who are accepted into this program and we have found during the three years that we have had students in the program (at UMass) they have maintained high academic standards."

Man and car forced off road

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Police Department responded to 138 incidents over the three day weekend, including three motor vehicle accidents involving personal injuries.

At 12:15 A.M. on April 23, Amherst Police said a 20-year-old Newton man reported that the vehicle he was driving north on Sunderland Road was forced off the road by another vehicle coming at him in his lane. In avoiding the oncoming vehicle, the driver swerved, striking a traffic control sign and flipped over several times while airborne, police said. The driver and a passenger were transported to the Cooley Dickenson Hospital with head and back injuries.

A 15-year-old Amherst resident ran into a vehicle while riding his bicycle on Pine Street on Saturday, police said.

Police said the youth was riding parallel to a truck that obstructed his view of a car making a turn onto Pine Street, causing the youth to "run into the car." The cyclist complained of leg injuries, and was transported to Cooley Dickenson Hospital.

The third personal injury accident reported by Amherst Police also happened on Saturday when a vehicle exiting the Town House Apartments struck another car traveling East on Meadow Lane. A 58-year-old passenger in the struck vehicle said she would seek her own medical attention. The driver of the car exiting the apartment complex was cited for failure to use care in starting.

In other incidents reported to Amherst Police a 16-year-old Amherst resident reported that she was bitten by a stray cat and sustained puncture wounds to a leg. The stray was captured and taken to a local veterinarian and held for observation, police said.

A 37-year-old Amherst resident was arrested and charged with disturbing the peace, assault with a dangerous weapon (a knife) and possessing a dangerous weapon. Police said he threatened an Amherst Police Officer, who was responding to a disturbance call, with the knife. The man was released on bail pending an appearance in Hampshire District Court, Northampton on Monday.

In other police business: on April 23, Amherst Police say a Pine Street grocery store was broken into and three cases of Budweiser beer and two cartons of cigarettes at the value of $50 were taken; April 23, a resident of Brittany Manor reported her front door forced open; and on April 25, a TV and stereo equipment worth over $500 was taken from an apartment in Chadwick Court.

whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

$30 REWARD
for a 3 bedroom apt. in Puffton beg. June or Sept.
Sheryl 6-9680
Shari 6-9623
Sue 6-9593

whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small
2 item pizza
Only $4.00

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00
(with this coupon only)
$10.00 with Shampoo & Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
expires 5/30/83 C
Free Consultations
Please call for an appointment
Styles by Deborah
65 University Drive Amherst, MA 549-5610

CAMPUS CENTER FOOD SERVICES PRODUCTIONS PRESENTS
THE GREAT DINNER MOVIE DEAL!
ONLY 6.95
CHOOSE from our starring entrees:
* CHICKEN KIEV
* TURKEY PARMESAN
* COUNTRY STYLE BAR-B-Q RIBS
* FRESH CATCH OF THE DAY served with our SALAD BAR and your choice of beverage, and RECEIVE a FREE MOVIE PASS
8 Theaters... Your choice for entertainment
amc THEATRES
584-7550 HAMPSHIRE MALL
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
DINNER SPECIAL is available TUESDAY-THURSDAY nights
MOVIE PASS is valid SUNDAY-THURSDAY
TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
fine dining ...a meal with a view

the world will be different!
KC 83
Info Meeting
Wed. April 27th 6:30 pm SBA 109

PLEASE Recycle this Collegian

Wholly Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
368 Main St.
Amherst
Large Pepperoni for only $6.25

Student Housing. Chi Rho welcomes applications from sihgle grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores.
Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

BEST OF
"KILLER COMEDY NIGHT"
ON VIDEO
MELVIN GEORGE
JACK GALLAGHER
D.J. HARNARD
CHANCE LANGSTON
DON GAVIN
Governor's Program Council
the hatch
TONIGHT
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

TONIGHT
Old Milwaukee Night with FREE
Hats & T-Shirts
PITCHERS $2.00
DRAFTS 3 for $1.00
only at:
POOR RICHARDS

National Secretaries Week
April 25-29
Take your secretary to Lunch or dinner this week
Mon.-Fri.
11:30-2:00
TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center • UMass

COMING SOON . . . .
ALUMNI CAREER NIGHT
THE DIVISION OF PUBLIC HEALTH

WHO WILL SPEAK?
Our own graduates in the field will tell you where their jobs are and what it's like!

WHEN?
Wednesday Evening, April 27, 1983. from 8:00-9:15 p.m.

WHERE?
Campus Center, Room 163

WHO IS INVITED?
Interested students, faculty & others.

SPONSORS:
The Alumni Office,
The University Placement Office,
The Division of Public Health

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Advanced technology will change us

Computer technology has not yet reached its peak, and growth in computers or computer power will continue for some time to come." These words from the author Christopher Evans might have come from a politician, a scientist, or anyone for that matter. Technological innovation has already transformed our lifestyles, from our work and educational environments to our social attitudes and political beliefs.

Paul Hetznecker

In the last few decades we have seen a structural change in our society as the primacy of the productive forces has shifted from industrial to technocratic capital. This change has provided the universities with a new status and power, as the need for scientists and specialized technicians increases with the quest for more advanced knowledge and information. Here at UMass we have already seen the shift in priorities toward high-tech related fields. So Evans seems to be describing the forces of contemporary change, forces that are not as clearly understood as people like Evans would like us to believe. In this age of the microchip and cybernetic dream, the worship of technological change, spurred on by our progressivist, materialist culture and corporate propaganda has blinded us to the ultimate dangers that exist in this post-industrial world. There is an unquestioned rationale, an integral part of our ideology which holds that technological innovation means progress, material wealth and benefits for all. People like Evans perpetuate this myth by focusing on the technological changes themselves and the class of beneficiaries, and not on the social inequities which remain unchanged.

As advanced technology has progressed it has changed the way we do things and how we do them, but it has not reduced the vast disparities of wealth and power in this country; in fact just the opposite is occurring. Technological innovation cannot be separated from the evolution of capital. (This is true in the Soviet Union as well as in the U.S., Japan, and western Europe.) Advances in technology have almost exclusively been created and controlled by the powerful elites for their own benefit, motivated by profit, and not the public good. In fact from 1945 to the mid 70's over sixty percent of the major technological innovations were made in order to save on labor costs in production, (the other forty percent were in material and capital saving methods).

Unemployment can only increase as more advanced methods of production through automation, computerization and robotics are introduced seeking to replace a costly human work force thus rendering many highly skilled jobs obsolete. Efforts to retrain this permanently unemployed class will succeed in reaching a small percentage of workers. Alienation, the sense of uprootedness, the result of the complete loss of control over our own resources has made each one of us slaves to the technological forces of capital. The integration of humans and machines in production and consumption is creating a social order uniformly mass produced and machine-like. Computerization has necessitated the centralization of management and information, accelerating the concentration of economic and political power. For those who naively believe that computers will eventually decentralize this control by putting one in every home, they fail to realize that like the T.V., the process of how and what information will be available will remain the crucial factor controlled by a powerful few.

But the most profound loss of freedom in this post-industrial society is reflected in our inability to collectively, democratically control the technological forces that continue to transform our lives. In the age old human quest to dominate nature through technology, we have reached the ultimate contradiction between meeting the needs of the world's population and total nuclear destruction. Despite the myth that seems to console the beneficiaries of advanced technology, the disparities between those who have and those who do not are getting greater and greater. Increasingly the university will serve the interests of technocratic capital, educating a highly specialized elite work force, the breeding ground for the new class of managers and technicians. Traditionally an institution dedicated to the free and open exchange of ideas, the university must turn on itself, students, educators and administrators alike, and begin to question the emerging social order we are catapulting into.

Paul Hetznecker is a UMass student

Letters

Abortion is a decision of love

To the Editor:

This is in answer to the woman who wrote to the Collegian regarding her conflict over whether or not to have an abortion. My heart goes out to this woman or any other who finds herself faced with this decision, because I had to make the same decision in September. So first let me say that I wish this woman and any other all the love and support she will need, no matter what her decision.

It upset me terribly that she made abortion seem like such a cruel and selfish thing to do, so please allow me to present my view. Because abortion can be, and was for me, a decision made out of love. Love for myself, the father, my family, and most of all love for the life that was being created within me. Abortion was not something that was done to that developing life within me, it was done to me. It was not "easier this way." It was, and is, a painful decision for me, but I made that decision because I did not want anyone else to suffer with me. My baby would have been born yesterday. I would not have been able to care for it even though I loved it from the moment that I knew I had conceived; part of me joined with part of someone I loved.

My baby's father did not think I should have an abortion, neither did he want to share the responsibility of caring for a baby. My decision was practical for the people around me, me, and the life inside me. When I do bring a life into this world, it will be with the same love with which it began. And I will have more than just love to give to it.

"This whole business of pregnancy" is not over. I am still dealing with the social stigmas attached to my situation and decision. I cried last night when I realized that my baby would probably have been born then, but today, I am smiling because my decision was not, is not easy. It was not selfish — it was a decision made out of love. I offer this advice to the woman who wrote that letter: make your decision practical, make your decision out of love.

Editor's Note: Because of the personal nature of the subject, the author of this letter has been granted anonymity. As a matter of policy, names must be included in all letters and columns.

Sincerely,
Name withheld by request
Sunderland

Does freedom really exist?

Ever wonder just who is responsible for divulging information on non-registrants for selective service? And have you wondered why those who have been brought to court have all been vocal opponents of selective service?

The answers to both questions are so simple that they are easily overlooked. The government chooses to prosecute only those who have been vocal opponents of the draft because they want to set an example. They want to shut people up — you and me.

One must be careful about who they tell their most important secrets to. Your next door neighbor is just as likely as anyone to turn you in if you have not registered for the draft.

Constantly we are told that we live in a free country. We are told that if we don't like what happens here we should leave.

Rich Nangle

And yet amazingly enough, the very people who claim to support the Democratic system are the ones who try to suppress it.

Democracy is primarily to protect the rights of a minority — not just the majority! We are not living in a dictatorship. At least that's what our Constitution says. But when you consider some of the things that have been said by prominent leaders in this country, you wonder.

While on the campaign trail for President in 1980, Ronald Reagan said it was time for the no-nukers to put down their signs of protest and accept what has become a major energy source in the U.S.

Furthermore, the National Guard has fought with demonstrators more than once at the Seabrook nuclear plant in New Hampshire. The demonstrators were destroying public property by attempting to tear down the chain link fences surrounding the plant. But was that any worse than the potential destruction a nuclear accident would cause?

Do we really live in a free country when although most of the public supports a nuclear freeze, we don't have one?

And how can we dare to call ourselves a free country when our imperialistic nature forces us to contribute money and weapons to oppressive regimes like the Salvadoran ruling junta?

Do we really live in a free country when 10 percent of our inhabitants own more than two-thirds of the wealth? Can we actually call ourselves free when some of our citizens can't afford to get a college education?

I, for one, do not believe that the United States is a truly free country. There are far too many inequities like hunger, lack of housing and police brutality to overlook. When the FBI or CIA can tap your phone for being a "subversive" you're not living in a free country.

What exactly do those who say "America, love it or leave it" love? Is it through some shopworn rendition of the American dream that those people live their lives? Do we really have economic opportunity just because we can win big money playing Boston Herald Wingo?

The very President who exploits the virtues of our "free country" is the one who has imposed tax cuts that favor the wealthy and do little for the poor.

Freedom is much more than the national anthem and the Pledge of Allegiance. Freedom was articulated far more eloquently by Martin Luther King Jr. than by President Reagan.

We will only be a truly free country when homosexuals and other oppressed minorities have the right to live as they wish and find work without repression.

We will only be a truly free country when women are guaranteed the same opportunities for employment as men.

And we will only be a truly free country when we do not suppress the voice of any minority.

And as long as there are banned books, there will be no freedom.

The United States is the greatest country in the world. But that is no reason to be complacent. We are only great because we live in a world full of mediocre countries. If we do not continue to strive for improvement and a higher greatness, we will surely falter.

One of the saddest facts about America is that there really is a little bit of Archie Bunker in all of us.

Rich Nangle is a Collegian columnist

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

Hampshire Mall Spring Savings Spree

Casual Male
Furnari Jewelers
Hampshire Photo Emporium
Creative T-Shirts
Gloria Stevens
Kay Jewelers
Four Seasons Package Store
People's Savings Bank
Moondance Comics
Steigers
Pewter Pot
Jonathan Reid
Big "Y" Foods
My Store For Levis

THINK CASUAL

Levi's Colored Denim Jeans $9.99
Western straight leg, 5 pocket style. In tan, toast, grey and blue. Save $1to

Hawaiian Elastic Waist Slacks $14.99
Casual slacks in poly cotton twill fabric. Zippered rear pocket. Assorted Colors. Save $13

Levi's Active Rugby Shorts $9.00
Tapered vents and pockets. Swim liner. In assorted colors. Save $6

WORLD FAMOUS "REPTILE" Sport Socks $1.99
The casual look and the famous "Cushion Float" feel. White. Save $2.50

VERY FAMOUS BRAND Collared Knit Shirts $9.99
Short sleeve with logo. Solids and stripes available. Save $8

HAMPSHIRE MALL: Hadley
on Rte 9 between Amherst & Northampton just around the corner from U. Mass.

Store Hours: 10 - 9:30 Monday thru Saturday
12 - 5 Sundays

The CASUAL MALE.

Coming Attractions at

Kay Jewelers
THE DIAMOND PEOPLE
Hampshire Mall
Hadley, MA 01035
(413) 586-3857

A Selection of 10k and 14k White or Yellow Gold Mothers Day Rings from $65. to $500. over 30 styles to choose from.
Don't forget Mom on May 8th
Also First Time In Our History
ART CARVED Class Rings will be available starting May 30th, 1983 many styles to choose from Open Your Charge Accounts Today!

Now Open on Sundays noon till 5 pm

d'amour's BIG

Furnari Jewelers

20% OFF

all Graduation watches,
all gold chains, bracelets, etc
Stop by, check out the sale
you've been waiting for!

$2.00* - OFF - with this ad

$2.00* - OFF - with this ad

HAMPSHIRE
Photographic Emporium

DRESS UP IN...
- Turn Of The Century
- Frontier
- Civil War Era
- Southern Belle
- City Slicker - Plus Many More

★ ANTIQUE PORTRAITS
★ CHOOSE FROM DOZENS OF STYLES

★ $2.00 off any group portrait (2 or more please)

Hampshire Mall
Rt. 9 Hadley
584-1273

CREATIVE T-SHIRTS
GRAND OPENING
at the Hampshire Mall
Friday, April 19 through Sunday April 30
Custom Printing and Lettering
Shirts for all sporting events
Fashion Tops, Baseball Hats
Quantity Discounts
TRADE IN AN OLD T-SHIRT
GET $1. OFF ANY SHIRT IN STORE
586-9205

Moondance Comics

Western Mass largest selection of Marvel & DC comics
Undergrounds, Posters, Prints
"Dungeon & Dragon" Supplies
Paperbacks & Fantasy Materials
20% OFF BACK ISSUES
with this coupon offer good until 5-15-83
Hampshire Mall, Hadley, MA
(413) 586-8775
© 1983 Marvel Comics Group A Divsion of Cadence Ind. Corp. All Rights Reserved

---

Jonathan Reid

Tuxedo Rentals
If You're Going Formal
Why Not Go First Class!
With Tuxedos From Us!
15% Discount for College Formals
Hampshire Mall Hadley, MA (413) 586-5302

Pewter Pot
Located above Cafe Square 584-6937

PEWTER POT
— Presents —

DINNER and MOVIE $5.50
- Available Anytime -
Choose from the following entrees aand get a Free Pass to the Hampshire 4 or Mt. Farms 4 Theatres
(Pass Valid Anytime Sunday Thru Thursday)
- BAKED COD FILLET -
Served with Potato or Vegetable, Salad, Rool and Butter
- VEAL PARMAGIANA -
Served with Spaghetti, Salad, Roll and Butter
- TURKEY DINNER -
Served with Gravy, Potato, Cranberry Sauce, Salad, Roll and Butter
- CHOPPED SIRLOIN -
Served with Potato or Vegatable, Salad, Roll and Butter
- CHEESE OMELETTE -
Served with Salad, Potato, Toast or Muffin
Selection Includes Beverage and Tax. Tip Not Included.

FOUR SEASONS
The Full Service Wine and Liquor Store Just A "HOP, SKIP & A JUMP" from the Hampshire Mall Bus Stop
Check the Collegian every Friday for our many specials.
Wines/Liquors
rte.9, hadley, ma. 584-8074

Steiger's

87th Anniversary Sale Now at the Hampshire Mall Open Sundays

Hampshire Mall Spring Savings Spree

Collegian photo by Kevin Farbotti

Illuminating lights beautify the corporate splendor of the Hampshire Mall.

In need of gear? The mall is here

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

Spring is here
But have no fear
To shop for apparel
Hampshire Mall is near.

For the classy, the rich
And those who are scrounging
The Mall is a place
For more than just lounging.

The action, the pace,
The atmosphere;
The difference, the culture
Make them flock here.

From jewelry and rings
The newlyweds wear
To new kinds of makeup
And styles of hair
The Mall has the contents
To give spring a flair.

For sundresses, bikinis,
Sandals and flip flops
Inside the Mall
The selection is tops.

There's video and skating
For the nonshopping sort,
Also movies and dancing
And equipment for sport.

There are toys for the kiddies,
Tunes for the teens,
Discounts for all
And books for the Deans.

For those who are hungry
After this long excursion
There is pizza and ice cream
To provide a diversion.

And lastly, amongst
These boutiques galore,
Is a money machine
To let you buy more.

A trip to the Mall can produce it all

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

I used to live near a mall with a McDonalds, a K-Mart and a Thom McAnn as the prime features.

It was boring, but functional.

At my old mall you didn't have roller skating rinks, you didn't have a Disneyesque cafe area looking like the old West. You had a Friendly's and two benches near the exit.

As malls go, the Hampshire mall is not the biggest. I've been in malls around the country in which Hampshire Mall — parking lot and all — could easily be lost. But, I have never been in a mall that has quite the same mixture of shops and services offered in such a relaxed atmosphere.

My first stop upon arrival to the mall is always the same. I go to my bank's automatic 24-hour teller and withdraw the funds that I will use during the rest of my visit.

Having packed my wallet, I am ready to begin my afternoon at the mall. As I head toward my favorite clothing store, I notice a group of people watching soap operas on a large TV screen in the center of the mall.

Later, I enter one of the mall's record stores to see which records are on the top 40. From the record store I continue through the mall, stopping in each of my "favorite" stores along the way.

According to my watch it is almost five o'clock. I quickly head toward the restaurant where I will meet a friend to share pizza and beer before going to the opening of a new movie.

After having fortified ourselves, we head toward the movie theatre to buy our tickets. Although movie prices have increased substantially over the past years, that increase is reduced when we present our student discount cards.

After the movie, we gather the filled shopping bags and head home. It has been a productive day.

We'd like to string you up between two trees.

What better way to swing into summer than in your own hammock? We'd like to give you a chance to win this one, or other great summer prizes. Just fill out the entry blank below and bring it into our Hampshire Mall office by Saturday, April 30th. The drawing will be held on Monday, May 2nd.

The hammock is oversized, and handwoven of weatherproof rope from the Skera Contemporary Crafts Gallery in Hadley. Valued at $91, this hammock is a relaxing place to hang out in the warmer weather. Second prize is a pair of Nike running shoes from the runnerShop in Northampton. Valued at $50, they're a nice way to treat your feet as you run into summer. Third prize is a $25 gift certificate to Bart's in Amherst. Luscious ice creams, sweet treats and cooling drinks are a satisfying surprise on a spring evening.

So get ready for summer. Come on in by April 30th and maybe you'll win something with strings attached.

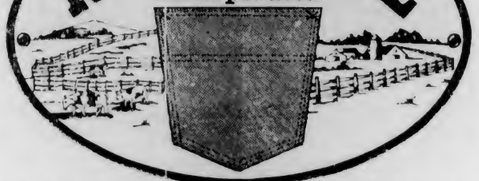
Name
Address
Phone Number

PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK
Since 1885 – it's People that keep you coming back.

HAMPSHIRE MALL OFFICE (next to JC Penney) 586-0400

Now In Stock
LEVI'S
Style 501's
shrink to fit, button fly jeans
100% cotton
available at the
HAMPSHIRE MALL ONLY!

MY STORE
Incorporated



Losing 20 pounds says something about Gloria Stevens: it works.

Pat Cotter tried everything. Fad diets. Fad exercises.

But nothing worked until she tried Gloria Stevens.

In just six weeks at Gloria's, she lost twenty pounds and 20 inches. And as you can see, the results were really terrific.

If you'd like results like Pat's, come in to Gloria Stevens. You'll find it's not just another quick-loss diet center. Or an impersonal fitness center.

It's a warm, friendly place where expert technicians really care about you.

They'll help you custom-design your own shape-up program. With a diet you can actually stick to. Exercises you don't have to be an athlete to do. Plus fun activities like group work-outs and aerobics.

6 weeks for $25.

You can try Gloria Stevens for six weeks at only $25. And that includes unlimited visits, so you really get your money's worth.

Gloria Stevens FIGURE SALONS

Hampshire Mall
Hadley, Route 9
584-0105

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed only on the day they are taking place. Announcements must be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, and returned to the office by 3 p.m. the Friday before the event. All submissions should be written in a similar style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Friday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

CUSP MEETING — Important Meeting — Vote counting for distinguished professor and T.A., elections for new officers, planning for rest of semester. New members welcome. 4 p.m., Tobin 204.

STUDENT HEALTH ADVISORY BOARD — Guest lecturer at this meeting: Prof. Pastides to speak on contraception study. All students welcome. Come! Get involved, get experience with the Health Services. 5 p.m., Room 304 UHS.

HILLEL COUNCIL MEETING — The Hillel Council is our major decision making body. The meeting is open to all interested individuals. 6 p.m., Dukes Room.

OPEN MEETING AGAINST THE KLAN — John Brown — Anti-Klan Committee will sponsor an open meeting to mobilize for anti-Klan demonstrations in Meriden, Ct. April 30 and Boston, Mass. May 1. 6:30 p.m., CC Rm 917.

STUDENT MEETING — UPC General Meetings. New members welcome. 6:30 p.m., Room 174 CC.

ASIAN AMERICAN STUDENTS ASSOC. MEETING — Officer Election — All members should attend. Check Campus Center daily schedule for room number. 6:30 p.m., Campus Center.

ALPHA ZETA MEETING — There will be a mandatory meeting for all members today. Spring party will be discussed. Munchies will be served. 6:30 p.m., Stockbridge - 311.

CERRF MEETING — Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom (CERRF) meeting Tuesday at 6:30 in the Dukes Room. We'll be discussing the skit and recent legislation. 6:30 p.m., Dukes Room.

JOURNALISM CLUB MEETING — We finally got money! Important meeting tonight for all members old and new. 7 p.m., Bartlett 107.

DYSLEXIC STUDENT ORGANIZATION — General meeting. New members welcome. 7 p.m., 68 Bartlett.

"ISSUES FACING ISRAEL" CLASS — TENTATIVE topic: "Women in Israel". A lecture/discussion on the women's movement in Israel. Open to all. (Please note TENTATIVE topic status; class meets for discussion regardless.) 7 p.m., Herter 114.

CAREERS IN THE LITERARY ARTS — WORKSHOP TOPICS INCLUDE: General overview, kinds of positions, settings, skills needed, and job resources. Workshop sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council. To register for this free workshop, call: 545-2360. 7-9:30 p.m., Room 169 Campus Center.

UMASS BICYCLE CLUB MEETING — General Meeting — All members should attend to help with plans for the movie April 28th and the race April 30th. New members always welcome! 7:30 p.m., CC Rm. 911-15.

CONCERT: FACULTY BRASS QUINTET — A free concert of brass works ranging from the Renaissance to the 20th century — With Quintet members Walter Chesnut, Jeffrey Holmes, Laura Klock, David Sporny, and George Parks, plus guest artists Dexter Morrill, Tom Scavone, Paul Appleby, John Roseneau, Tod Campbell, and Nadine Shank. 8 p.m., Bezanson Recital Hall in the Fine Arts Center.

UMASS VOCAL JAZZ ENSEMBLE — Directed by Horace Boyer. All are welcome. 8 p.m., Webster Main Lounge.

MASS PIB WOMEN'S BIBLE STUDY — All women are invited to come and study with us in an informal setting the life and teachings of Jesus Christ as described in the Bible. 8 p.m., Campus Center Room 801.

SPRING BLOOD DRIVE — Give blood and feel great this Spring. Campus Center Room 165. "Give the gift of blood." 11:00 a.m. - 5 p.m., 165 Campus Center.

SLIDE SHOW — The slide show IN THEIR OWN WORDS: SALVADOREAN REFUGEES IN HONDURAS (contains live interviews with refugees) will be shown along with the film, CONTROLLING INTEREST: The World of the Multinational Corporation. Sponsored by: Racial Awareness Program — Residential Education/East, 545-0290. B6 Dwight, 7:00 p.m.; Webster Lounge, 9:15 p.m.

Arts

Collegian photo by Dave Dreher

Evelyn King's "love comes down" at the FAC Thursday night.

The King is usurped

EVELYN KING
Thursday, April 21
Fine Arts Center

By CRIS SCHUSTER
Collegian Staff

Evelyn King promised her audience she would give them what they wanted and Thursday night at the FAC, she did just that. If there was a theme for her performance, it would have had to be: "get loose."

Besides singing the song "Get Loose" twice (the second time as an encore) just about all her songs were geared to getting the audience to let their feelings go and bounce in their seats.

However, if one was looking for real depth in King's performance it would have been hard to find.

King is an actress who knows how to dance and how to move on stage. She has rhythm. Although her voice is not exceptional, it was certainly entertaining watching her move, acting and reacting with the members of her band.

Despite that, her performance was superficial with not too much response from the audience. They were bouncing but it seemed to be a half-hearted response.

It wasn't as though the audience did not want to respond, because they were shaking and dancing with the opening act, Soulsonic Force. That band managed to get the audience quickly to their feet, but their music was awful. They made no sense and their finale was getting the audience to scream "To the roof, mother fucker, to the roof." My biggest reaction when they finished their act was first relief and then wonder as to whether they had any talent at all. But to their credit, they did seem to get a bigger reaction from the audience than King did. Which does not say much for King's act. But at least she can sing.

King's best songs were her hits "Shame" and "Love Come Down." Her band was fun to watch just as she was. There was a hint of a good voice when she sang "Love Come Down" but unfortunately she did not show that anywhere else in the concert. And, as a result, she left the audience a little disappointed.

Baglio's a happy man

THE STOMPERS
Hangar One
Saturday, April 23

By RICHARD NANGLE
Collegian Staff

Sal Baglio appeared to be a happy man Saturday night. The lead singer for the Boston-based Stompers has been infamous for his tirades toward crowds he doesn't like. A year ago it had gotten to the point where one had to wonder whether or not his temper was overshadowing the efforts of the band.

But things have changed for Sal.

A record contract with Boardwalk (Joan Jett and the Blackheart's label) to produce the band's first LP has Sal and the boys dreaming of stardom. And well it should if Saturday's show in front of a huge crowd at Hangar One was any indication of where the Stompers are heading.

I stopped going to Stompers' shows last spring after Sal had his umpteenth tirade on the stage. Temper tantrums and sets that were nearly identical from week to week were starting to grate on this once avid fan.

"What did you say bitch? What did you say?," screamed Baglio that night to a woman in front of the stage at Uncle Sam's on Nantasket Beach. The woman was insulting the singer for crooning a ballad instead of one of the more well-known numbers.

Baglio continued, "get this ------ whore off the stage or the Stompers ain't gonna play no more!"

With that the woman was dragged away by the ruthless bouncers.

"I'm here to play for my fans," Baglio said before resuming the show.

The most pathetic aspect of his tantrum was the fact that the Stompers were backing-up the Jim Carroll Band that night. Perhaps headlining acts can take liberties with the crowd, but back-ups definitely should not.

But Saturday night, my opinion of the Stompers underwent a radical change. Here was a positive Sal Baglio. And the band was tighter than ever. Born-again Stompers!

They opened with one of the strongest covers they've ever done in "Almost Saturday Night." This version would blow Dave Edmunds away on his best day.

"I'm on fire up here," Baglio said to the rock and roll-crazed crowd. "First Kiss" and "You're The One" with more enthusiasm than rock bands have ever been known to have. Other high points included "Summer Girls," Wipe Out," and "Coast to Coast."

There were low-points, however. Shadow of heavy metal self-indulgence still abound when "Shady" Dave Freedman goes into a piano solo, or Mark Cuccinello goes wild on the drums. These are things I hate to see in a concert. The same goes for Sal's occasional guitar wailing. And the ballads can be boring at times.

But the fast songs include that almost violent guitar-work that makes me thing that Sal could easily have been a punk.

The Stompers have done an amazing thing. They have combined the finest aspects of 50's, 60's and early 70's rock to produce a sound that is appealing even to a person who is not a fan of any of those genres.

Rumor has it that the Stompers may be the back-up for a name band this summer. But the band that tours with the Stompers will have to be constantly looking over their shoulders to make sure they are not outplayed. If the Stompers tour with Joan Jett it will certainly ruin her bad reputation. They'll blow her away.

Will the album sell? The Stompers don't seem to capture their energy laden sound too well on the vinyl.

Nevertheless, I love that dirty water.

Real singers eat quiche

FERRON AND GAL
Monday, April 18
Ironhorse Coffeehouse

By HEATHER LEVI
Collegian Correspondent

Ferron's performance at the Ironhouse Monday night was a thoroughly enjoyable one. It is difficult to describe the Canadian-born feminist singer/songwriter without making reference to Bob Dylan or Bruce Springsteen. She shares with them a characteristic nasal drawl, and her lyrics seem to reflect a common drive to squeeze as many syllables into a line as possible without getting ridiculous. Nevertheless, her songs take on a life of their own. Her themes are limited to love and spiritual journeying, but both are well-developed.

"Bellybowl," for example, the first song of the set, snarled in a minor key as one of the most imagistic love songs I've heard in a while. Ferron moved through roughly a dozen of such songs, including the mandatory love-is-so-difficult-and-complicated-when-you're-on-the-road-touring-all-the-time ballad, "Our Purpose Here," as well as the spiritual sing-along, "Testimony" (the title song on her new album).

There was a distinctly warm rapport between Ferron and the audience throughout her performance, though she seemed to move through the set rather quickly-- as if she were merely following an agenda. For an encore, she climbed up onstage and asked what song she had excluded from her set. Answer: "Misty Mountain." Ferron finished by singing a hasty rendition of the song to close a performance that can be described as nothing short of amiable and interesting.

According to wild and unfounded rumor, Ferron will release a new album within the year and will be performing back in the Valley next winter.

Gal, the opening act, was also wonderful. Accompanying herself on a blistering bass, Gal half mimed, half signed her way through such tender ballads as "I Love You, But You Gave Me the Shaft." Her style can only be described as grandslam cabaret. She was, in fact, so hysterically funny that at one point during her performance, the woman next to me nearly choked on her quiche. Now that's entertainment!

Can you drink Riunite with finesse?

Read Chris Ferretti's guide to wine tasting in Thursday's Arts Page and find out!

I read The Arts Page

The Amherst Masquers Present

V A T S L A V

by Slawomir Mrozek
Directed by Richard Hamman
Kirby Theater
April 29, 30 & May 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7
8:00 P.M.
Admission $2.50
Senior Citizens $1.50
Amherst College students free with I.D.
For reservations call 542-2277
Box office hours: 10-5 weekdays

Vatslav, by the contemporary Polish master of the Theatre of the Grotesque Joke, is a dark, political farce written in 1970 with amazing prescience about the tragedy happening now in Poland . . . and elsewhere . . . and before.

STILL WANT NURSING?

Come to our OPEN HOUSE
Saturday, April 30, 1983, 9 a.m. to 12 noon

- Learn how an LPN can become an RN
- Talk with students and admissions representatives
- Meet with the Director of Financial Aid at 10:30 a.m.
- Tour our school facilities
- See our slides and exhibits
- Learn about our advanced placement programs

If you have questions, or would like directions to the School, please call Joy Erb, recruitment coordinator, at (617) 732-8359.

New England Deaconess Hospital

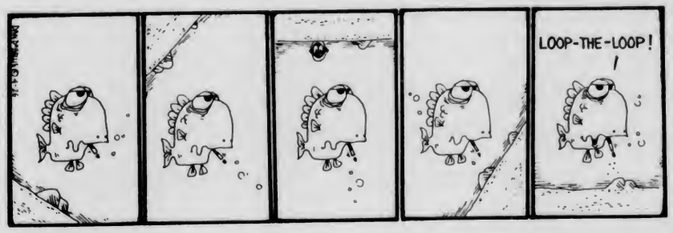
School of Nursing
1 Autumn Street
Boston, Massachusetts
02215

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis



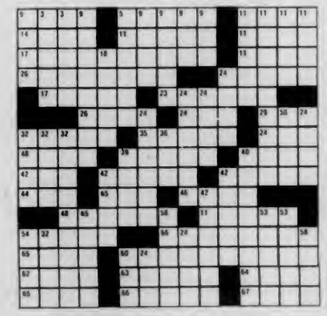
After the Fall By R. Miller

CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe
© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Booted
5 Entertainer Chevy
10 Keen enjoyment
14 River into the Rhine
15 Blackbird: Var
16 At a distance
17 Near-neighbor of Boston
19 Territory in SW Morocco
20 An enzyme
21 Placido Domingo specialities
22 Wading bird
23 Cause dismay
26 "—— each file..."
28 Number on a clock
29 Neon, e.g.
32 Ancient Egyptians
35 Sluggish
37 Miss partner
38 Cuts
39 Shine intermittently
40 Diversify
41 Asian holiday
42 "Let us then be up and ——" Longfellow
43 Watches the clock
44 "—— of these days
45 Eastern Cape
46 Of a time
48 Devastate
51 Wings: Fr.
54 Like some cellars
56 Sodiums used as fertilizer
59 Kind of chamber
60 City near Sherwood Forest
62 Dessert dish
63 City on the Allegheny
64 Part of a shield
65 Lacking excitement
66 TV's Uncle Miltie
67 Pete of baseball

DOWN
1 Money holder
2 Severe
3 Speak pompously
4 Bad marks
5 American chemist and educator
6 Holds fast
7 —— of roses
8 Kind of horse or dog
9 Shade giver
10 Kinshasa is its capital
11 Town near Savannah
12 Capital of Yemen
13 Speaker
18 Actor Jeremy
21 Entrance to a mine
24 Get even
25 Bogarde of the screen
27 Applying grease
30 Yorkshire river
31 Farm steps, of old
32 Stoic philosopher of Rome
33 Beasts of burden
34 Town near Worcester, Mass.
36 Author Anais
39 —— fide
40 Townsperson
42 A very famous Jones
43 Mountain stream, Scottish style
47 Loose-textured fabric
49 Reconciled
50 Penetrate
52 People: Prefix
53 Section of a plane
54 Skillful
55 W. Coast campus
57 Neapolitan: Abbr.
58 "Peter Pan" role
60 —— Hill
61 Sound in a corrida



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	W	A	P		M	A	M	B	A		S	A	M	P
T	A	L	E		A	D	O	P	T		R	I	T	O
A	D	D	A		S	P	O	O	R		R	I	S	K
B	L	A	C	K	C	A	T		I	D	E	A
			M	E	A	N		C	U	E	S
		D	E	F	A	C	A	M	P	S		D	O	U
S	E	R		M	A	T	I	N		E	N	I	S	C
F		R	O	S	T		I	O	N		S	I	T	E
A	T	T	L	E		R	E	N	E		B	A	R	K
		S	T	O	R	I	E	S		C	A	P	S
P			S	C	A	T			S	K	E	E
R	I	V	E	T		C	H	A	N	T		A	G	K	S
A	N	T	I		G	I	L	E		M	I	S	U	E
V	I	O	L			M	E	I	E		O	R	L	I
E	T	A	R			E	V	I	L	S		N	A	P

WEATHER

Today, cloudy in the morning with sun in the afternoon, highs in the mid 50s. Tomorrow, sunny side up, highs in the mid 60s.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Fruit and sherbert
Special
Corn fritters and
Sausage patties
Tacos

BASICS LUNCH
Fruit and sherbert
Special
Corn fritters
Vegetable tacos

DINNER
Barbecued chicken
Chopped beefsteak special

BASICS DINNER
Barbecued chicken
Mixed bean casserole

Have something to say?
Have something to sell?
Give the Collegian Classifieds a try.
They work!
You can now place your classified quickly and easily from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Campus Center Concourse. Look for our table there or stop by our office, 113 Campus Center.

Having "Major" Problems?

B.D.I.C.

Some Examples:

Urban Affairs
Public Relations
Pre Expressive Art Therapy
Political Behavioralism
Computer Application in Design
Neuroscience

BUDGET AIR FARES

EUROPE FROM BOSTON — ROUND TRIP FROM
AMSTERDAM $418
FROM NYC — ROUND TRIP FROM PARIS $479
ATHENS $499
TEL AVIV $599

ASIA & SOUTH PACIFIC
FROM WEST COAST — ROUND TRIP FROM SYDNEY $880
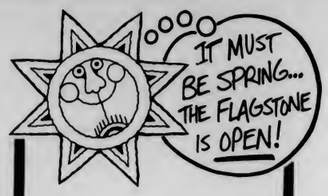
AUCKLAND $1060
MELBOURNE $880
BANGKOK $885
HONG KONG $655

ALSO . . .
Eurail, Britrail, International Student I.D., Youth Hostel Card, Youth and Student Tours All Over The World. Domestic Air Fares.

Please Call
617-497-1497
for a Free Catalog
We Are
COUNCIL TRAVEL CIEE
1278 Mass. Ave. #21
Harvard Square, Cambridge, MA 02138



Flagstone
CAMPUS CENTER Cafe
Located Outdoors on the 3rd Floor Terrace
Lunch: 11 am-2 pm/ Monday-Friday
Weather Permitting

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
Charter Day

JOIN US! for a
Charter Day
celebration of the 120th anniversary
of the Founding of the
University of Massachusetts

ROPEPULL
BOOTHS
BALLOONS
BANNER CONTEST
BIRTHDAY CAKES

on Friday, April 29, 1983 at 12:30 p.m., Campus Pond
(rain site: Student Union Ballroom)

PLUS Charter Day Convocation, Saturday, April 30 at 10:30 a.m. in Bowker Auditorium, featuring installation of Chancellor Joseph Duffey

Summer sublet furnished one bdr Brandywine apt $330/month, you pay $280, I pay $50 call Duncan 549-1305

Three bedroom townhouse apt in Squire Village, June 1 w/fall option $400/mo or BO 665-4896

Need one roommate - two bedroom, two floor Southwood Apt. - includes kitchen, living room, two bathrooms - $140/month call 253-3566

3-story rivar fromt apartment bus route, AC. pool, cheap 549-4405

2 bedroom Southwood townshouse busroute, pool, tennis, rent negotiable 546-6705

Summer sublet Townehouse Apts. furnished 3 bedroom rent negotiable call 549-6709 or 546-9589

Summer sublet: 3 bedroom Puffton Apt. furnished 546-7383

2 bedroom apt in Squire Village $345/mo summer rant negotiable 665-2719

Sublet 2 bedroom avail June 1 fall option on bus rt 275/mo 665-3239

Summer sublet - 2 rooms, fall option on 3 bedroom townhouse, N. Amherst, 2 bus routes $150 + neg 549-4849

Squire Village townhouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380+ 665-4886

25+ 2 rooms in house on campus 549-4080

One bedroom apt Presidential Apts furnished air conditioned June - Sept 549-0127

Roommate to sublet semi-coop on bus route 130+ 256-0575

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Wented Records - Cash or trade call Dynamite Records 584-1580

UMASS RUGBY T-SHIRTS

UMass Rugby T-Shirts sizes S-M-L $4.00 call Lou at 6-5393 or Bob 549-3691

WANTED TO RENT

Reward $25 for 1 or 2 bdrm apt in Puffton for Jun or Sept 1 253-8818

House or apartment in house within walking distance of campus at least two bedrooms will summer sublet 549-5505 Mark

No. or So. Amherst 3 bdrm house for fall 253-2878

WANTED TO RENT: NANTUCKET

Looking for housing on Nantucket Island for this summer. I would be happy to join your rent. Please call Julie at 546-6426

YUMMYWALD

Late, but Happy Birthday! Love, Guess Who?

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advence • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

71 VW Bug - $500 or BO call 256-8539

1966 Chevrolet Impala 283ci; new battery with five year warranty $375 546-5934

1978 Lincoln Varseilles: loaded, a classic car in excellent condition $7500 firm. Phone: 609-858-4435

1974 Pinto 4 cyl. st. trans. 24 mpg good eng. Chuck 549-4711

1969 VW Squareback - 73000 mi. 34 mpg, no mechanical troubles. $600.00 549-4911 (Frank)

1980 Chavy Monze, 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 256-6612

75 B210 Datsun 2 new tires cassette player $1000 call 665-4213 evenings

72 VW Van runs great! Must see $1100.00 549-5631

BARGAIN

One bedroom 140/month fall option near Puffers Pond 549-0157 546-5009

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professionel ballydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7822

BRUINS

Jesus Saves; Middleton tips in the rebound! The Fans

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FILM

Come see "The Last Grave at Dimbeza", an engaging film that depicts the plight of the South African people. Film will be shown in the Main Lounge of Crampton House 4/28 7:00 PM Free all are welcome!

FOR FREE

Five adorable puppies are looking for good homes - call 549-6339

FOR RENT

Houses - June - Aug plus fall option, 4 bedrooms $485-500 in Northampton. 5 bed in Hadley $600 plus, for summer only. Call after 3:30 pm. Skibiski Realtors Northampton 584-3428

Furnished rooms for summer sublet, fall option in house five minutes from UMass. 549-1797

Boarding House, had it with dorm life and DC food?? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plan friendly atmosphere. Next to Newman Center. call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

Amherst Center summer sublet fall option 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apartment 137/month call Dan 253-2071

3 bedroom townhouse with full cellar on bus route for 4 or 5. Less than a mile from campus. Negotiable call Jon 546-6462 keep trying

June sublet with fall option 2 bedroom Brittany Manor heat included 253-3032

Parent(s) with child(ran) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

To sublet for summer w/fall option 4 bdrm apt on bus rt. Apt will be semi-furnished and is in good location rant negot. Call 253-2605 ask for Pete

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

Turntable Philips 212 good cond $50 or BO call 253-3588 we will deal!!

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Pioneer AM/FM Car Stereo Cessatte 100 watt booster, equalizer, 3 way speakers brand new $225 or BO call Ed 549-1698

Hend made fisherman sweaters only $25 and $30 call 549-0381

73 Plymouth Fury 100K mi excellent running condition $500 or BO cathy 549-3806

Walkmen II brand new 60$ call Mike 546-5002

Bedroom and living room furniture reasonably priced call 256-0571

One yr old full bed newer bureau w/mirror $200 firm 549-6923

HELP WANTED

Workstudy positions recycling project. Experienced people to handle cash. Apply SUB 306 1-4 pm 545-0618

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

Collegian Business Positions available for Fall '83: Finance Managers, Assistant Business Manager, Assistant Advertising Managers, and Advertising Representatives. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. Deadline is Thursday 4/28. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Summer Jobs promoting ecology safe energy and consume rights. MASSPIRG, the state's largest public interest organization has summer and permanent staff positions available for public education and fundraising, will train. $150-$250/week. Interviews 4/28, contact Barnice Stratton student employment office 545-1951

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

Solar Energy canvass locally must be neat personable hard-working earn $10/hour plus bonuses 586-5723 9-5

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate Psychology student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm.

INSTRUCTION

48 people interested in weight loss weight maintenance and body energy program call 586-2790 meeting Wednesday at 7:30 MacKimmie Main Lounge

MEMORIAL

For Christine O'Malley at the Newman Center, 4/30 at 4:30 all welcome!

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 1980 750K 7000 miles garage kept new Dunlop tires complete tune-up xtres $1800 or BO 253-9376

PERSONALS

To Cindy C. Happy Birthday big sister from your little brother. Just one more year and your on your own

Spring is here! Show someone you care with a flower. CC Concourse Monday through Friday. Deliveries will be made on Saturday morning.

To the New Brothers of Kappa Kappa Psi congratulations!!! Sue

Mr Kendal, you 14kt lush - love you, Susan

Susan Martin Thanks everyone for the world's best 20th XOXOXO

Michael L. - Happy Birthday - from all the women whom you shower with flowers

Get Psyched for Southwest Week
"Rock the Pyramids"
Tues: Visitorz Mass Transit
Wed: Cruisers Performers
Thurs: Midnight Sun
Fri: BMCP on Pyramids
10:00 pm WMUA Basketball Block Party
Sat: 8:00 movies 3 Stooges Horsefeathers
Sun Concert
David Johansen
Carlton Bryan & Crossroads
Abby Strauss
Urban Renewal
Heroes in Trouble
Hot Air Balloon Rides
sponored by:
The Pub, The Sub
Domino's, Bart's Ice Cream

Collegian T-Shirts are coming!
Don't miss out
Watch for signs!

SKI CLUB EXCLUSIVE APRIL 30

all those who workd 10 hours or more at the Great Ski Snatch Nov 18-21 contact the Ski Club 545-3437

Gat Physical Sporting Goods Co-op
Ocean Pacific Shorts & Shirts
sneakers, frisbees, raquets, & balls
your sporting goods connaction
322 Student Union (next to post office)

If you have $160 and a way to New York you can be in Europe by the day after tomorrow. For details, call AIRHITCH toll-free (800) 372 1234 THIS IS THE NUMBER!

Bow Wow Wowski Happy B-day BBOC love Brett & Matt

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PUFFTON SUBLET

3 bedroom Puffton pool A/C spotlight 320$/mo negotiable June - August Kathy 549-4035

ROOM WANTED

Cape apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-6052 leave message

Female looking to shere off campus apartment pref: Puffton Rita 6-8211 eves

2 looking for housing in Falmouth/Woods Hole area. Mike 549-0223

ROOMMATES WANTED

3 females house on Falmouth Cape Cod waterfront call 545-0075 Dianne

1 roommate for 3 bedroom Townhouse apt female only - 549-5998

Presidential summer rental one or two people. Rent negotiable Bee 256-6887

Responsible roommates wanted for fall. One space available for summer 253-5109

Townehouse Apt. summer sublet fall option for 2 people 549-6313

SENIOR DAY

Anyone interested in working on Senior Day: beer pourers, publicity, band hospitality - meting Thuraday at 7:00 - Suffolk Room SUB

SERVICES

Acid Rain Are you concerned? For info on how you can take action visit the table on the CC Concourse, Tues, April 26

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

The Commuter Area Government is now hiring for the summer. Positions are for 30 hours/week. Must be available through the fall. Applications available at 404 Student Union 9:00 - 5:00, Monday through Friday. We are an affirmative action equal opportunity employer. Third World, women, and non-traditional students encouraged to apply. Deadline for applications is April 29.

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

1 bdrm Cliffside on bus rt pool and tennis courts 285$ 665-4386

Looking for 3 roommates to share 2 bedroom Brittany Apt for summer and next year. Apt is in great condition w/new carpet and nice furniture. Can take 3 males or 2 females and 1 male call Kevin 253-3766

Brittony Manor, two bedroom, large first summer session or summer 546-9050 546-5011

With fall option Two bedroom apt in house in Belchertown. On bus. 323-5854

2 bedroom apt Brittany 1 or both bedrooms to sublet w/fall option 256-6818

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished $350 month available June 1 - Sept 1 549-6912

w/fall option Townahouse apts 2 bedrooms 549-6646

Rolling Green Apt - sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms beautiful apt, furnished, on bus route. Call Joel 256-0435

Female wanted for own room in 2 bedroom Puffton fall option call Toby 549-0137

Brandywine 2 bedroom fully equipped and furnished, cable, AC, pool, rent negotiable 549-6465

One bedroom in a two bedroom apt in Brandywine, pool, cable, rent/best offer call 546-8500 or 546-8487

1 bedroom in apartment Cliffside fall option $165/mo 665-7560 545-0097 Ruth

Townhouse Apts fully furnished, AC, 10 min walk to campus rent negotiable 549-5804

Four badroom apt summar sublet only $400/mo heat & util included w/fall option call 549-6745

Beautifully furnished 3 bedroom Townhouse apt available June to Aug price negotiable 549-5998

Furnished Townehouse Apt AC, rent negotiable call Scott or Rich 549-0516

3 badrooms available in 3 badroom Puffton epartment partly furnished air cond pool rent negotiable call Johanna 549-4827

2 badroom Puffton apt for 2 or 3 people 549-4855

Two spaces in Brandywne Apt 1 male, 1 female pool AC 3rd floor 549-6289

5 badrm house with fall option Main St Amherst 256-6352

CHEAP! 4 bedroom Rolling Green Apt - includes pool, AC, all utilities - $100 per person Call 253-3978

Townehouse Apt - 3 bedroom - summer sublet fully furnished - AC - cable call anytime 549-3843

1 bdrm apt Squire Village summer sublet w/fall option $310/mo & utilities Aug rent free call eve 665-4737

Famele wanted to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

Southwood, two bedroom summer sublet need 2 roommates $125 mo or neg 546-5310

Brndywine furnished 2 bedroom 65 per month and negotiable call 549-5956

2 bedroom apt June 1 - August 31 Downtown Amherst $285.00/mo 256-8539

Rent $85 1, 2, or 3 people 5 mins to campus Presidential apts call 549-4483

****

Swiss Village,$140 mth/person, 1 to 4 rooms available. Summer sub. w/ fall option. Call Stuart 253 - 3154

****

Summer sublet fall opt 1 bdr at Puffers Pond free B & W TV included 275+ call 549-1649

TOGA PARTY

Hangar 1 Tuesday, April 26 2 for 1's sponsored by Washington Tower

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom Squire Village apartments summer sublet w/fall option rent for summer negotiable 665-4504.

One bedroom in Southwood Townhouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

Squire Village with fall option two bedroom townhouse 200 per month 665-7794

One bedroom in two bedroom Puffton fall option 549-3862

Rolling Green 2 bedroom townhouse summer sublet cheap call 253-9431

2 bedroom split-leval apartment -Sunderland, JUne 1st - August 31st, $250 per month, call 665-7126

Summer sublet Puffton two bedroom two bathroom furnished apt RENT NEGI contact Pat or Dru 549-4426

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Summer with fall option Ouffton 1 bedroom $290 549-4430 evenings

Squire Village 2 bdrm summer sublet w/fall option 665-3914

Furnished two bedroom Townehouse Apt. June thru Sept rent negotiable call 549-1724

Rolling Green two bedrooms large, cheap, lucky. Call 253-9418 Maicolm 250/mo negotiable

1 bedroom Puffton Apt sumemr sublet with fall option available June 1st call 549-6721

Cliffside furnished 2 bedroom pool, tennis w/fall option $325 everything call 665-3943

1 bdrm in 3 bdrm Puffton apt furnished price neg 549-5643

Sports

The baseball game against AIC was cancelled yesterdy due to wet grounds. UMass travels to URI tomorrow for two. The softball team travels to Central Ct. for two games this afternoon.

Men's tennis takes 5th in Atlantic 10 tourney

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Pittsburgh: Where Steel's the thing and football is king.

This past weekend this western Pennsylvania city of 425,000 and extreme double-digit unemployment played host to the Atlantic 10 tennis championships, which saw the University of Massachusetts men's team finish fifth out of the nine (St. Joseph's did not attend) competing member institutions.

West Virginia emerged victorious from the two-day affair, followed by Penn State, George Washington, Rhode Island, and UMass. Ony two points separated the Minutemen from third place. The squads put on an impressive show of intercollegiate tennis.

"The tennis was much better than last year," said Szlosek. "With Penn State, a great club, and Temple, a good one, playing this year, the overall play was excellent. Our kids had fun and learned a lot. It was very productive."

The continued excellent play of the doubles tandem of Steve Jordan-Rich Lindgren was the major highlight for UMass in the Steel City. The duo, who have lost only once since last fall, reached the finals of the number two doubles bracket before bowing 6-1, 6-4 to West Virginia's John Prokity-Pete Perrotta.

Neal Mackertich, playing number one singles as usual, finished third in his bracket. Mackertich defeated Troy Marguglio (GW) 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 in first-round action, but lost to eventual champion Jeff Factor (PSU) 6-3, 7-5 in the second round. Mackertich rebounded to crush George Policous (Temple) in the consolation round.

Jordan, at number two, lost in the first round to Dave Wright (URI) 6-3, 6-1. He then dropped a tough 7-8, 6-7, 7-6 decision to Javier Holt (GW) in the consolation.

Stuard Goodman lost in the first round to Howard Beckman (PSU) 4-6, 7-5, 6-4 at number three singles. Goodman was ahead 5-2 in the second set before losing five straight games. Goodman cruised over Tom Pierson (St. Bonaventure) in his first consolation 6-0, 6-2, but dropped his second to Bill Birnie (Rutgers) 6-1, 2-6, 6-4.

Rich Lindgren and Mike Duseau, at four and five singles respectively, won first round matches but fell in the second round. Lindgren got by Mike Quirk (St. Bona) 7-5, 6-2 and Duseau survived Steve Ostroll (TEM) 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Mark Gelinas, at number six, lost two matches in a row.

The number one doubles team, Mackertich-Goodman, made it to the second round, but were dumped 6-3, 6-2 by eventual champions Factor-Christensan (PSU).

"Had we played tougher matches we would have been ready. The bad weather killed us. You can't stimulate match conditions in practice," said Szlosek.

Netwomen to take on PC

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's tennis team primed up for their match with Rhode Island rival Providence College this afternoon at 4:00 p.m. at NOPE by walking all over the University of Rhode Island, 8-1 on Saturday.

The Minutewomen, whose record is 3-2, faced little opposition from URI at Kingston as a majority of the singles players have little or no problem in their matches. Top seed Ariel Fowler topped Beth Shetzley 6-1, 6-2 and second seeded Elizabeth Sullivan defeated Ruth Coran 6-4, 6-2. Massachusetts, who didn't lose a set in the singles, had Nancy Bolger (3) annihilating Lynn Sampson (no, she's not Ralph's sister) 6-0, 6-0, Chris Frazier (4) was a 6-2, 6-2 winner over Mary Byrne, Patricia Sullivan (5) struggled to topple Cathy Lynch in a nailbiter 7-6, 7-6, and sixth seed Karen Orlowski completed the sweep with a 6-3, 6-3 win over Erica Walderman.

But, an easy day for the singles does not necessarily mean an easy day for the doubles, especially on the wind swept Rhode Island campus.

Maureen Hanlon and Wendy Scheer, the top doubles seed, dropped a heartbreaker to Kim Edwards and Margo 6-1, 5-7, 7-5. Laura Kaufman and Jillian Mesgoes (2) bounced right back with a 6-1, 2-6, 6-1 win over Bonnie Powers and Maggie McGonagle.

Beth Goldberg and Ann Marie Mackertich (3) toppled Janne Mueller and Sue Martini (that's what URI needed after this rout) 6-2, 6-1.

Now the Minutewomen are ready to do battle with the Lady Friars, who UMass beat last spring. The netwomen hope that history will repeat itself again.

Bruins, thanks to Park, set to take on Islanders

By GEORGE MARTINS
Collegian Staff

Brad Park, the aging veteran with the creaky knees, led the Boston Bruins into the semi-finals by scoring the tying and winning goals as the Bruins eliminated the Buffalo Sabres 4 games to 3 with a sudden death 3-2 victory, Sunday night.

Park slapped home his own rebound at 1:52 of the overtime period sending the Bruins into the Wales Conference Championship (or semi-finals for you non-hockey fanatics) against the three time defending champion New York Islanders. Game 1 of the series is Tuesday night at Boston Garden.

The Bruins-Islanders series promises to be a beauty. The teams are evenly matched although the Bruins are hurting with injuries to key players such as Mike Milbury and Randy Hillier, their two best defensemen, and Terry O'Reilly, the spark plug right winger.

In the playoffs, goaltending is the major factor and these two teams are fortunate to have hockeys best.

For Boston, Pete Peeters takes a back seat to no one. Peeters led the NHL in wins, shutouts, and Goals Against Average. He is arguably hockeys best.

For the Islanders, Billy Smith and Roland Melanson combined to give up fewer goals than any other team in the league this season.

On defense, the Islanders have All-Stars in Denis Potvin and Dave Langevin plus lanky Olympian Ken Morrow and Stefan Perrson.

The Bruins have an All-Star in Raymond Bourque. Rookie Gord Kluzak has come into his own at just the right time. Mike O'Connell, Bostons iron man, played in all 80 regular season games.

On offense the Islanders rely on stars such as Mike Bossy, Bryan Trottier, Bobby Bourne, and Butch Goring to supply the scoring in much the same way that the Bruins rely on Barry Pederson, Rick (Nifty) Middleton, Mike (The Reach) Krushelnyski, Keith (Corn Chowder) Crowder, and Peter McNab. On paper, neither team is stronger than the other offensively. Both can be explosive.

If the Bruins are to win they must imply their dogged style of forechecking. They must be intense to avoid making mental mistakes. In other words, they must play in the way that led them to the best record in the NHL.

Also, it wouldn't hurt to say a few prayers for Brad Park's knees.

Collegian photo by Chris Jungmann

Pam Moryl digs for the ball in UMass' victory over Dartmouth last week. The Gazelles travel to Boston College for a 7:00 game tonight.

Rugby romps over Worcester

By LAURIE FISHER
Collegian Staff

After winning the first round of the Eastern Collegiate Rugby Tournament last weekend in Albany (N.Y.), the University of Massachusetts Rugby team trampled over the Worcester Rugby Football club Saturday at Boyden lower field to an unusually large and enthusiastic crowd of 200.

The A side's score of 26-0 was as easy a victory as it sounds. The team jumped out to a 13-0 lead by half time and cruised the rest of the way on stand out performances by team captain Michael Dacampo, and English exchange students Greg Short and Michael Holmes.

Short opened the scoring with a move not often seen in American rugby by using a pop kick to avoid on coming tacklers, catching his own kick and running into the end zone 10-0 with another adept first half with a three point penalty kick.

Only the names changed in the second half, as UMass continued going strong. Marin Bluck hit from 30 yards out on a penalty kick. Minutes later Chris Todd and Holmes raced 30 yards respectively for the games final scores.

The game was good preparation for this weekend's championship rounds of the Eastern Collegiate tournament to be held in Philadelphia at Villanova University.

Although the national rankings do not indicate it, (UMass is 4th and Navy is 9th) the opening round against Navy Midshipmen is expected to be the most challenging of the tournament. Last year Navy slaughtered UMass 26-3, but this year team advisor Robert (Doc) Laurence is optimistic because of the team's depth and physical condition.

"The team likes to run so when other teams are dropping UMass just isn't used up," Doc explained after the game last Saturday.

The lower sides also faired well with the B side trouncing Massachusetts Maritime Academy 29-6, the C side dropping a close match to Worcester's B side and the D side defeating Mass Maritime's B's 8-0.

Sean Kineen and Bunce scored eight and 13 points respectively for the B side. George Economou also looked impressive in his first game back from a serious injury.

Editor's Note: Frank Nagle also contributed to this article.

Five UMass riders qualify

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Equestrian Team qualified five riders for the national championships in Buena Vista, Virginia at the regional finals hosted by UMass last Saturday.

Judith Willison did an excellent job on UMass owned Calliope, a small horse that goes faster than all the big horses.

"After two rounds of brilliant riding in the hotly contested novice division, Willison won the class of 15 and a ticket to Nationals," coach Laura Beetle said.

The UMass riders were especially outstanding in the novice on the flat class. Six riders had qualified for regionals in that class, and UMass lined up Tracy Simpson, Andrea Seymour and Tracy Quinton in the first three places.

Both Simpson and Seymour qualified for Nationals, but Seymour declined to travel to Virginia because of a conflict with another show.

Quinton will be travelling to Buena Vista in her place.

Bill Landesman, a sophomore animal science major was second in his class and the fifth UMass rider to qualify for Nationals.

Anne Young was the UMass contender in the open division. Beetle said she deserved to do well though she is a freshman in the most competitive division.

"Young is a good rider who has been able to figure out many different types of horses. Saturday was a clear example of her ability to judge distance on a variety of horses," Beetle said.

Beetle said her team is going to be working hard to prepare for the nationals.

"We are going to be practicing every night until we drive down on Thursday morning, doing alot of jumping and flatwork on all the UMass horses," she said.

The UMass intercollegiate team finished fifth in area III.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

Volume CXII, Issue 122 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Wednesday, April 27, 1983

Board backs standards for admissions

By TRUDY TYNAN
Associated Press

NORTHAMPTON — The state Board of Education unanimously endorsed a revised plan yesterday setting minimum admission standards for the state's public universities and colleges.

But Commissioner of Education John Lawton warned that some school districts may need more money to provide the high school courses the colleges would require.

The state Board of Regents, which governs the state's college and university system, is expected on vote on the standards at its May 10 meeting.

"We have to get started somewhere," Chancellor John Duff told members of the board, which oversees the state's elementary and high schools. "And we hope the introduction of these standards will provide the political catalyst for improving education throughout the state."

The standards, to be phased in beginning in 1986, would require students to pass four years of English, three years of math, two years of science, and two years of a foreign language in high school and either rank high in their graduating class or do well on the Scholastic Aptitude Tests.

The Regents had inititally proposed that students have a combined score of at least 800 out of a possible 1600 on the SATs plus rank at least in the top 40 percent of their high school class.

But after University of Massachusetts President David Knapp and others objected to the combined criteria, the Regents decided on a sliding scale that would allow those students scoring higher than 800 on the combined SATs to rank lower in their class and those with high class rankings to do poorer on the SATs and still be eligible for admission, Duff said.

Requirements for the state's 14 four-year colleges would be less with anyone ranking in the top 24 percent of their high school class eligible for admission on their class rank alone and anyone scoring more than 1,100 on the SATs eligible even if they were at the bottom of their class. All high school graduates would continue to be eligible for the state's community colleges.

Duff warned that "the standards are just minimums" and with applications to the state's public colleges and universities increasing it "would not be likely" that students with minimum qualifications would be accepted.

"This year we had 18,400 applications for 4,500 places at the University of Massachusetts and 9,000 applications for 2,400 places at the University of Lowell," he said.

Collegian photo by David Deuber

The campus pond's island provides a solitary haven to study for political science major Jim Andrew yesterday.

Student sues police officers for $250,000

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

A $250,000 law suit was filed against four University of Massachusetts police officers by Student Legal Services Office (LSO) in United States District Court, Springfield yesterday in the name of a UMass student.

James P. Shanahan, 23, a mechanical engineering major from Lexington, has charged UMass police officer, William F. Murphy and three unidentified officers with intentional infliction of emotional duress, unlawful arrest and detainment, conspiracy, use of excessive force, arrest without probable cause, filing a falsified police report and falsifying court testimony, assault and battery and destruction of personal property.

Shanahan is seeking $50,000 in punitive damages from Murphy, $10,000 each from the unidentified officers and $170,000 in compensatory damages in connection with an incident that occured Oct. 16 and 17, 1982 in Greenough dormitory where Shanahan is a resident.

According to the complaint, Shanahan had been falsely arrested and charged with being a disorderly person by Murphy.

Enroute to the police cruiser, the suit said, Shanahan was grabbed in the neck by Murphy who slammed Shanahan's head against the police car by Murphy.

Murphy, the suit said, searched Shanahan and told him that a rectal search was possible.

Murphy slammed Shanahan's head against a door in the public safety building a short while later, the complaint said.

Murphy then instructed Shanahan to remove a chain from his neck, Shanahan refused to do so after which Murphy ripped it from around Shanahan's neck.

Shanahan was later transported to the Amherst police station where he paid a clerk a fee and was told he was free to go.

Murphy, the suit said, told him 'Oh no you're not, you're coming with me' and had Shanahan take a breathalyzer test.

Shanahan was released from custody at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 17. He was arraigned on the charge of disorderly conduct and found not guilty Feb. 8, the suit stated.

Murphy yesterday refused to accept the civil rights complaint from representatives of LSO.

Public Safety Director Gerald T. O'Neil who wished to speak as department spokesman, said "I do not want to subject Officer Murphy and would rather not to make any statement."

Shanahan will be represented by attorneys Charles J. DiMare and Mark Eckstein, both of LSO.

Officer Murphy and the officers in the UMass public safety department have been defendants in two previous civil rights suits.

A suit filed Feb. 28, 1980 against Murphy, UMass Police Chief Robert G. Joyce, Amherst Police Chief Donald Maia and the UMass Department of Public Safety sought punitive damages and compensatory damages for two plaintiffs, former students David Leger and David Regan, in a case concerning possible abuse of the state's protective custody law.

The second suit, a multi-million dollar suit, filed in late September, 1981 against the department, Murphy and several other officers, stems from an incident that occured March 9, 1980 near the Blue Wall. Plaintiffs in the case, which is still in deliberation according to DiMare, are Douglas Locke and Joseph McDonagh.

King biography nets award for professor

By PAULA HOYT
Collegian Staff

A University of Massachusetts history professor will receive the Robert F. Kennedy Book Award for writing what some describe as the first major biography of Martin Luther King, Jr. ever published.

Professor Stephen B. Oates has already received a 1983 Christopher Award for the biography Let the Trumpet Sound: The Life of Martin Luther King, Jr.

Oates will receive the third annual Robert F. Kennedy Award for the book which "most faithfully and forcefully reflects Robert Kennedy's purpose."

Oates said the award will be presented at a May 2 luncheon at Hickory Hill, the Kennedy family estate outside Washington, D.C.

Oates, who teaches courses on the American west, the technique of biography and the Civil War era, received the Christopher Award in February. Christopher Awards are given annually for books, motion pictures and television shows which "affirm the highest values of human spirit, demonstrate artistic and technical proficiency and command a significant degree of public acceptance."

The movie "Gandhi" and Jonathan Schell's book "The Fate of the Earth" also won Christopher Awards this year.

The King biography is the final volume in what Oates refers to as his "civil war quartet" of books about famous Americans affected by racial oppression. Also in the series are biographies on John Brown, Nat Turner, and Abraham Lincoln.

Oates spent a total of 16 years completing all four books. The book on King took five years, involved more than 100 interviews, and researching more than one million documents, Oates said.

"You've got to be a fanatic about discipline. Biography is an art form and requires skills beyond history writing. You have to bring the person to life on the pages," Oates said.

Since last August, Oates has been called for radio and television talk shows and interviews across the country. Oates has also been a distinguished visiting lecturer at several universities.

"The public clamor surrounding this has been incessant," Oates said. He said he enjoyed the attention at first, but after a while the national touring got to be an "incredible grind."

Oates said the great publicity is probably due to the fact the book is the first major work done on the life of King.

"I think he's the most significant American of this century. King's impact on America was almost as great as Gandhi's was on India," Oates said.

He said "Trumpet" is receiving attention also because of the intense public debate about King's birthday. According to Oates, both King's and Lincoln's birthdays should be celebrated as national holidays.

"I think it's a national disgrace that they're not," Oates said.

Oates said he has been thinking about subjects for his next biography, but after writing about King and Lincoln, finding someone else as significant will be difficult.

"I've been trying to find somebody of enough stature to measure up to them," Oates said.

He is under contract now with Harper & Row Publishers for an interpretive book on Abraham Lincoln and the differences between myth and the real man.

"I hope to demolish the misconceptions about his assassination," Oates said.

He said the book is an interpretive essay and will compare Lincoln with King. Oates much prefers doing biographies, but said he hopes people will find the book to be encouraging and provocative.

"I've won a lot of prizes and awards over the years," Oates said, "but the one that means the most to me is the distinguished teaching award I got here at the University in 1961," he said.

Oates has taught in the UMass history department for the past fifteen years.

Chelsea police officers testify they filed false melee reports

CAMBRIDGE — Two Chelsea police officers testified yesterday they filed false reports about what they saw in a motel where a melee left seven men injured, one fatally.

Police Sgt. Anthony Iantosca and patrolman John Quinn Jr. both said they decided to file changed reports after a conference of officers seven days later in a Chelsea fast food restaurant.

"I wrote a second report which I believe to be a truthful and accurate report based on my recollection," Quinn told a jury in Middlesex Superior Court.

"We had made arrangements with our chief of police to go over to the district attorney's office and present our second report to him."

Quinn and Iantosca testified at the trial of four Everett patrolmen on murder charges and one Chelsea patrolman on assault charges.

The five are accused in the brawl at King Arthur's Motel and Lounge on July 23, 1982. A civilian, Vincent J. Bordonaro, 54, of Everett, died of head injuries a week after the incident.

Digest

By the Associated Press

El Salvador aid cut in half after second, tie-breaking vote

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's request for $60 million in military aid to El Salvador was cut in half by a House panel yesterday as he readied a special plea to Congress and the nation to rally behind his Central America policy.

The 7-5 decision by the Appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations to slash the Salvador aid to $30 million followed a tie vote, 6-6, that would have barred any decision at all for 90 days. The compromise was engineered by Chairman Clarence D. Long, D-Md., who just returned from El Salvador.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee already had settled on an identical cut.

Meanwhile yesterday, the full Senate talked behind closed doors about whether the administration is waging a covert campaign against Nicaragua.

And Reagan promised to name a special envoy for Central America, whose duties will include assisting "the Salvadorans in their efforts to find a basis for dialogue with their opponents."

Speculation centered on former Democratic Sen. Richard Stone of Florida as the choice for that post.

Long said he supported the the scaled-down aid package after assurances that the new ambassador "will be charged with advancing the peace process" in El Salvador.

The Maryland Democrat also said he was satisfied with promised steps toward opening of Salvadoran prisons to inspection by the International Red Cross, freeing political prisoners and undertaking a review of evidence in the 1980 killings of four U.S. churchwomen in El Salvador.

Former Smith College president replaces Kirkpatrick as speaker

NORTHAMPTON — The last male president of Smith College will be its commencement speaker May 22, replacing Jeane Kirkpatrick, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

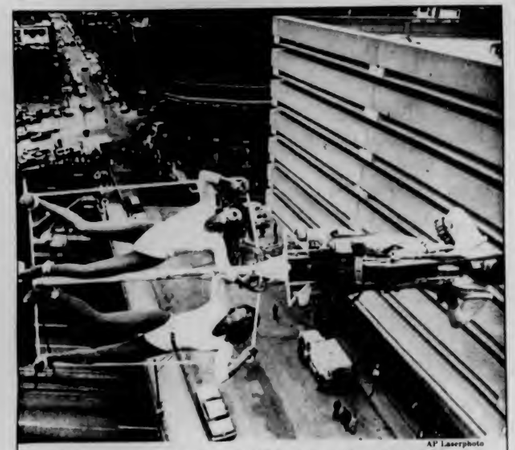
Thomas C. Mendenhall, who retired as president in 1975, was named commencement speaker yesterday, Smith spokeswoman Marjorie Gove said.

An aide to Ms. Kirkpatrick said she canceled her appearance earlier this year because Smith officials conceded they could not prevent hecklers from disrupting the graduation, which traditionally is held outside in a campus quadrangle.

Protesters at Smith, and colleges where Ms. Kirkpatrick has spoken, oppose her support of the El Salvador government.

Smith trustees this spring confirmed their award of an honorary doctorate to Ms. Kirkpatrick. She will receive the degree at a private ceremony to be scheduled, Smith spokeswoman Marjorie Gove said. Smith officials and aides to Ms. Kirkpatrick also have been trying to schedule a speaking engagement for the ambassador at Smith, Ms. Gove said.

Mendenhall, a history professor at Yale University before becoming the sixth president of Smith in 1959, was succeeded by Jill Conway, the college's first female president, who is still serving.



AP Laserphoto

John Lemoine guides a skycycle 150-feet above the pavement horizontally with Renee and Michelle Lemoine suspended on a trapeze yesterday in Boston.

I read the Collegian

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Bill Wall
Copy Editor — Ed Birk
Layout Technician — Jim Floyd
Photo Technician — Drew Ogier
Composition — Donna Maurice, Liz Ward, Jenny Winslow, Andrea Repass, Mat Atkins, Stuart Sajdak, Will Hopkins, Lesley Clark, Laura Shanahan, Gail Tanzer, Joy McCarthy, Doug Chapman, Terri Cooper, Laurie Frank

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address change to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Student Housing, Chi Rho welcomes applications from single grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores. Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

FREE SODAS — whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY — FREE SODAS
363 Main St. Amherst
Large Pepperoni Pizza for only $6.25
(2 free sodas upon request)
call 256-8587

THE COMPUTER ARTS
call 253-5673
Microcomputer & Peripheral Rentals featuring AppleII/ Franklin/Commodore weekly, monthly rentals or lease option available

Flagstone CAMPUS CENTER Cafe
Located Outdoors on the 3rd Floor Terrace
Lunch: 11 am-2 pm/ Monday-Friday
Weather Permitting

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
TONIGHT
FREE
MEL BROOKS'
BLAZING SADDLES
Show times:
8 pm & 10 pm

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert
by

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
Victor BORGE
Conducting playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

Mountain Farms Mall maintenance worker Ken Fulton and his associate Wendy Lang work in tandem to keep the parking lot clean.

Job stress: a health issue for women

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

Job-related stress can have serious health implications for working women, said the coordinator of the Working Women's Task Force yesterday at the University of Massachusetts Everywomen's Center.

"Long-term exposure to stress over a period of years can lead to serious problems," said Myra Hindus, during a workshop on job stress in the office.

"There is still no way to measure stress. There is very little known about stress in scientific terms," she said.

Stress is much more serious than people think. It is more than simply a nervous tension, she said.

What is known about stress is that it can be caused and aggravated by working conditions, she said.

"More and more people are realizing clerical work and office work are very stressful," she said.

Because very few employers understand stress, they have difficulty noticing when their employees are suffering the effects of stress, she said.

Some employers have come up with programs aimed at helping workers cope with stress. They are known as stress-management workshops, she said.

"If I had my choice, I'd rather not have stress to manage," she said.

Some of the more common causes of stress in the workplace are excessive noise, poor ventilation, working overtime, poor organization of the workplace, lack of decision making by employees, low wages, and feelings of isolation, she said.

"There is a myth that stress is brought into the workplace from the home. Recent studies have shown it's the other way around, work problems are brought into the home adding to the stress," she said.

As a result of these studies, people are starting to look more closely at the work place when trying to find the causes of stress, she said.

Betsy Hamilton, a graduate student in labor relations and research, said office automation in recent years has added to stressful working conditions for women.

"A lot of the skills we had before automation are no longer important. The need no longer exists for them," she said.

As a result, a lot of women have had their jobs "devalued" and de-emphasized, she said.

It is important for women to have control over their job to decrease stress in the workplace, she said.

"It's not technology itself that is bad, the problem is people who use equipment don't have control on how it is used and how it gets implemented," she said.

Recycling Project may redeem cans

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

A bottle and can redemption center on campus could become a reality if the Undergraduate Student Senate approves a loan for the Recycling Project at tonight's meeting.

Jim Crosby, administrator of the Recycling Project at the University of Massachusetts, said he doesn't "expect any problems," getting the Senate to approve the $2,500 loan, "the bulk of which will be used for our initial cash bank."

"We will pay a nickel for each container," returned by students, Crosby said, "so we're going to need enough money to pay for the containers.

"When we get enough containers, we'll contact a redeemer," who will "verify the amount, then send us a check, Crosby said.

"At least once a week we'll be sending them out," Crosby said. But, depending on the company with which the Project deals, it will be "anywhere from 15 to 40 days before we get any revenue back," he said.

Crosby said the Recycling Project will set up a "roving redemption" process.

Student Government Association co-President Tom Ahern said redemption "will be done on a different day in every (residential) area, and Southwest (Residential Area) will be done twice because of the volume (to be collected) there."

"In some areas, it is going to go in the dorms," Ahern said. "For example, in Orchard Hill, it's going to go in Webster, behind the security counter." He added that redemption would take place "before security hours."

Hampden Commons will be the redemption center for the Southwest Residential Area, Ahern said.

Crosby said that the Project should collect an average of 8,400 containers per week.

"The month of May will be a trial run," Ahern said. "That way over the summer we can reevaluate it so that we can better implement it in the fall."

Crosby said the Recycling Project will get seven cents per container from the redeemer, and that they are "projecting $250 per month net income" from redemptions.

This number is based on the prediction that the Project will redeem eight percent of all soft drinks sold on campus, and that is a low estimate, Crosby said.

SGA takes interest in new buying plan

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate tonight will consider a new purchasing system which would allow student controlled businesses (SCBs) to count half their inventory as cash when making purchase orders.

Student Government Association Treasurer Eric Nitzsche, who will seek Senate approval of the Asset Funded Purchase Order system for SCBs, said the system will "allow SCBs greater flexibility," in ordering within the University accounting system.

A purchase order is the way Recognized Student Organizations (RSO) spend money, since there is no cash in the system, Nitzsche said.

"A purchase order is like a check, but it names a specific vendor as recipient, and names a specific amount and purpose, he said.

"The Asset Funded Purchase Order System will allow SCBs to write purchase orders for every 50 cents on the dollar," Nitzsche said. In the present system, he said, SCBs "can only write purchase orders on the balance of their account.

The Senate will also elect an alternate representative for the University to the State Student Association of Massachusetts (SSAM), and consider approval of the Northeast Area Government constitution and the constitution of the Distinguished Visitor's Program.

The Senate elected the SSAM representataive for UMass at last week's meeting. Speaker of the Senate Chris Sullivan said the alternate was supposed to be elected then also, but "people decided to move (the election) to this week because it was late in the meeting," and elections are time consuming.

Campus Center coffers crest profit mark

By MITCH ZEMEL
Collegian Staff

For the first time in 12 years, the Murray D. Lincoln Campus Center has turned a profit.

Mainly due to increased sales at the University Store and money services (vending machines, video games), the Campus Center has turned a $200,000 profit, according to Ron Keefe, chair of the Campus Center Board of Governors.

Keefe also said that approximately $1.5 million is collected yearly from students through the Campus Center fee.

Because of operational problems, Keefe said that "the bottom line coming in was negative." When the Campus Center was planned, they did not set aside money each year for replacement of parts.

The Campus Center is in need of many costly repairs, he said.

"There are cracks and leaks everywhere," Keefe said. "The patio above the Blue Wall is in need of an estimated $2 million in repairs. Also, the Student Union roof is leaking and needs an estimated $100,000 in repairs."

Keefe said because the Campus Center complex has "grown and developed," it has turned a profit. The University Store made a "great profit," and the center is "starting to look good operationally," he said.

But Keefe is "afraid people will assume that the Campus Center can take care of its own needs because it is starting to show a surplus. Its needs are tremendously more expensive than the money we have," he said.

Because of the University's new full costing policy, the Campus Center will have to set aside $336,000 of its budget and possibly increase its fee next year. Keefe said they need a waiver from the policy, or perhaps appeal to the trustees for money, to help the Campus Center remain functional.

If nothing else happens, they will have to raise student fees, "which are already too high," Keefe said.

There are other problems in the Campus Center according to Keefe.

"Eighty thousand dollars was lost in the Blue Wall last year by liquor going out without being paid for," he said. "Free drinks and that type of thing."

Now that the Campus Center is making a profit, it should be able to meet the "needs of the building, which are really starting to come out," Keefe said.

Administration officials were unavailable for comment.

Women must break color barriers for feminism to succeed

By ANN CARRNS
Collegian Staff

White women must join in friendship with women of color if they are to develop feminist theory that is meaningful to all women.

That conclusion was presented last night at Smith College's Wright Hall, during the reading of a paper entitled, "Have We Got A Theory For You: Feminist Theory, Ethnocentrism and the Demand for the Women's View." More than 150 people attended the reading given by the paper's co-authors, Smith College Professor Vicki Spelman and Maria Lugones, a visiting lecturer from Carlton College's philosophy department.

Lugones came to the U.S. from Argentina in 1967, and said as a Hispanic woman, she feels "like an exile." Hispanic women and white, Anglo-Saxon women do not speak the same language, she said. To emphasize this, Lugones opened the presentation by reading in Spanish.

Historically, women have not had a voice, Spelman said, but some women are now more likely to be heard than others. They are white, Anglo-Saxon, middle-class women, she said. Feminist theory rose out of this small minority, and it is not always relevant to non-white, non-Christian women, she said. However, when non-white women present feminist theory, it is labeled as "black feminist" or "Hispanic feminist," rather than feminist. Spelman described this as an example of "the tail wagging the dog."

Lugones said Hispanic women and other women of color often feel excluded in their relationships with white women. This is because white women try to "remake Hispanic women in their own image." In order for women of color and white women to make relevant feminist theory together, white women must come to understand women of color in their own communities, she said.

However, Lugones said, in order for this to happen, white women will have to allow themselves to be alienated, and listen to their culture criticized. By observing women of color in their own environment, white women will be the outsiders, seen as objects of distrust. They will have to "go through hell," she said. The only possible motivation for white women to do this is friendship, the paper's author's concluded. Hispanic women with white friends can articluate their feelings of displacement to their white friends, and thus initiate this process.

"The task will be difficult, but not impossible," Lugones, said. She added that compared to the task of eliminating racism, the task of bringing women together so they can form helpful and meaningful feminist theories does not seem as hard.

Greek Week activities to bring together brothers and sisters

By SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

This Thursday kicks off this year's "Greek Week," a week of social and sporting events designed to promote unity among fraternities and sororities in the Greek system.

"Greek Week gives the Greek area a better image and lets us all get together and have a good time," said Scott Cooper of Kappa Sigma who is coordinating the week's events with Beth Powers of Sigma Kappa.

The Greek Awards Banquet will be held Thursday on the tenth floor of the Campus Center. Among the awards given will be the Greek Man and Woman of the Year awards.

The banquet will be followed by a Greek area party at 9:30 p.m. at the Blue Wall.

On Friday, the Greek area will help the University celebrate Charter Day from 12:30 to 2 p.m. at the campus pond. Among Friday's events are a charity dunk, balloons, food, birthday cake and a "UMass, This is Your Life" program.

Members of the Greek area will also attend Chancellor Duffey's inauguration at 10:30 Saturday morning in Bowker Auditorium.

On Sunday, Alpha Chi Omega will host the Greek area barbecue at 1 p.m. The Greek Olymics will be run Saturday also, featuring team and individual competition between the Greeks.

The Greek Area Scavenger Hunt will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday. Participants will receive lists of objects to look for at Tri Sigma and have two hours to locate as many of them as possible. As is the traditional object of the game, the people who locate the most win.

The Greek Sing will be held at 7:00 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium next Tuesday. The sing will be followed by Greek Pub Night at the Pub in Amherst.

The Greek area will hold a Charity Softball Tournament from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, May 4 at Boyden playing fields. Championship trophies will be given at a party at Phi Sigma Kappa after the tournament. Proceeds will go to the March of Dimes.

The Greek Week activities will wind up with Guinness World Record Day next Thursday during which Greeks will attempt to set a new record for the largest ice cream sundae ever made.

"I believe Smith College set the record for the largest one a few years ago, but we should easily be able to surpass that with all the people we have involved," Cooper said. "We also get to eat it, which should be a lot of fun."

"The whole week is designed just to let us get together as a whole area and show we can be productive when we work together," Cooper said. "Events like these also help us to break down the walls between some of us and have some real fun at the same time," he added.

COPIES
4¢ high quality-while you wait
3½¢ high quality-overnight
3¢ regular quality-while you wait
2½¢ regular quality overnight
WORKER OWNED 1983
COLLECTIVE 256-6425
Copies 25 N. Pleasant St. Amherst
HOURS: M-F 8am-MIDNIGHT SAT. 9-5, SUN 11-5
THESIS QUALITY ACID-FREE PAPER
REDUCTIONS
BINDING $1.25

Looking for a meaningful
SUMMER JOB
MASSACHUSETTS FAIR SHARE
The country's largest statewide citizen action organization
Has full time and summer openings for fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building to shape hazardous waste, energy, and other policies in this state.
Hours 1:30 - 9:30 pm, pay: $175 - $225 average per week and benefits. Will train.
Call: 586-8713,
9 AM - 1:30 PM
Mon - Fri for Western Mass.
For work in Boston Area call:
1-800-952-7478

It's M time
The UMass Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils present
GREEK WEEK
Sponsored by Miller High Life & 7 Up

April 28
Awards Banquet at TOC 6:30-9 pm
Blue Wall Party 9-1 AM

April 29
Greek Area Charity Dunk for the UMass
120 year Charter Day 9-4

May 1
Greek Area BBQ & Olympics at Alpha Chi

May 2
Scavenger Hunt, all day event around the campus

May 3
Greek Sing CCA,
Pub Night 7-1 PM

May 4
Charity Softball Games 6-10 PM
Phi Sig Party

May 5
Guiness World Record Day, Greeks build worlds largest ice cream sundae
Kappa Sig Closing Party

Whole Wheat Pizza Factory
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur 11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat 11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

Jonathan Edwards
Bev Rohler Band & Blues with Paul Rishell
Wed. May 4th at Hangar One benefit for Paralysis Cure Research
advance tix $6.
Wed-Fri on concourse
for more info call 549-5984

Typing Paper, Thesis Paper & Report Covers
at
A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

Having "Major" Problems?
B.D.I.C.
may be the solution
Shape Your Own Future by designing an interdisciplinary MAJOR suited to your goals
Some Examples:
Urban Affairs
Public Relations
Pre Expressive Art Therapy
Political Behavioralism
Computer Application in Design
Neuroscience
Bachelor Degree
with Individual Concentration
15 Bartlett 545-2504

Job prospects mixed for graduates

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

There is "some good news and some bad news" for spring graduates at the University of Massachusetts, the director of placement services said yesterday.

The good news is that placement services is holding its own in the employment area for its graduates, but the recession has reduced recruitment by 23 percent in comparison to last year, said Arthur Hilson.

In a positive way, Hilson said the University is now a "target school". This means it is now the center for recruitment for several major companies in New England, he said.

For this area of New England this is the base for companies such as Gallo Wineries, Lord and Taylor, and Jordan Marsh.

"The M.B.A. is no longer a golden ticket," Hilson said, "it doesn't have the weight that it used to. I encourage not only them but everyone to apply their skills.

"By skills I mean that they must be a product, they must package their skills," he said.

A report drafted by Hilson stated that the employment picture for college graduates has not improved with the recent economic rebound.

According to data just released by the College Placement Council, and cited in Hilson's report, the hiring rebound is not yet evident on college campuses nationwide.

A mixed picture is revealed due to a tight job market, students are accepting offers almost as soon as they get them. As a result, employers have to make significantly fewer offers.

The most significant effect of this reaction affects starting salaries. In several disciplines the latest salary averages were below those for students graduating last year. The only exception occured in engineering which increased slightly from 1 to 3.9 percent.

On the business end, beginning salary increases ranged from 1 to 2.3 percent, in comparison to last year's which averaged from 8 to 9 percent. The highest starting average salary offer went to accounting majors, which averaged $18,744.

Computer science followed a similar pattern, its average salary was $23,172, and measured a 1.2 percent increase as compared to a 9 percent increase reported last year.

The liberal arts market remains very competitive. Students majoring in the humanities reported an annual average salary offer of $14,256.

Hilson said it is a tough market. The best advise that he said he could give is to make your decision and "define" your skills, which means the "skills should compliment the direction you take."

"If you wish to specialize in chicken plucking, then make sure that you can do it," he said.

Newslines...

Symbionics specialist scheduled

McGill University futurist and educator Glenn F. Cartwright will speak about the field of symbionics from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. today in Campus Center Room 803.

Symbionics is the electronic extension of human intelligence that is being carried out at a computer-based instructional research lab in the center for teaching and learning services of which Cartwright is director.

PIRG sponsors energy fair

The Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (Mass PIRG) will sponsor an energy fair on May 12 at the University of Massachusetts Amherst to raise funds to establish a Consumer Utility Board (CUB) in Massachusetts.

The CUB would be a non-profit, statewide corporation voluntarily funded and democratically controlled by residential utility rate payers. According to Mass PIRG, the CUB would work for fair rates and fair treatment for consumers of gas, electric, and phone service.

Local merchants and non-profit groups involved with promoting energy conservation and alternative energy sources are invited to set up solar, wind, and biomas energy displays and demonstrations at the fair and to distribute literature. The event will also include various speakers as well as musical entertainment.

The bill currently under consideration in the state Legislature which would establish a CUB in Mass. has 86 co-sponsors.

Campus Center compressors commandeered

Two portable air compressors were reported stolen from the storage control room near the Campus Center garage loading dock, University of Massachusetts police said yesterday.

The compressors, assigned a total value of $1,800, were stolen between 4 p.m. Friday and 8:30 a.m. Monday. The door to the storage room was pryed open and the compressors were wheeled out, police said.

Tour de France
BICYCLE RAFFLE!
STARTS TOMORROW
BLUE WALL

National Secretaries Week
April 25-29
Take your secretary to Lunch or dinner this week
Mon.-Fri.
11:30-2:00
TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center • UMass

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY Telephone (413) 545-3500
Collegian
Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass. 01003

BUSINESS POSITIONS FOR FALL 1983

Applications now being accepted for:
Co-Finance Managers
Assistant Business Manager
Assistant Advertising Managers
Advertising Representatives
Application Deadline: Thursday 4/28
Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center
The Collegian is an Equal Opportunity Employer

Ski Club Exclusive
April 30
all those who worked 10 hours or more
at the Great Ski Snatch
Nov 18 - 21
contact the Ski Club 545-3437

PRE-REGISTRATION FORMS

Pre-registration forms are due
THURSDAY, APRIL 28 at the Registrar's Office, 213 Whitmore.

IDB TIPS
a service of the Dean of Students Office

GET "C" FOR FREE

SONY TC-FX44 CASSETTE DECK WITH DOLBY "C"
Now $169

- Dolby "C" noise reduction for music against a background of silence.
- Music search
- Automatic tape select
- Soft-touch controls
- Now priced the same as SONY deck with Dolby "B" only.

Sound & Music Good Advice Honest Price.
90-92 King Street (Rte. 5), Northampton, 584-9547
Mon.-Wed. 10-6, Thurs., Fri. 10-9, Sat. 10-5

Wacko.

If you're a senior and have the promise of a $10,000 career-oriented job, American Express would like to offer you the American Express Card.

What are we?

Crazy?

No, confident. Confident of your future. But even more than that. We're confident of you now. And we're proving it.

A $10,000 job promise. That's it. No strings. No gimmicks. And this offer is even good for 12 months after you graduate.

But why should you get the American Express Card now?

Well, if you're planning a trip across country or around the world, the American Express Card is a real help. Get plane tickets with it. Then use it for hotels and restaurants all over the world. And, if you should need any help while you're away, just go to any American Express Travel Service Office* wherever you are—and they'll help you.

Of course, the Card also helps you establish your credit history. And it's great for restaurants and shopping right at home.

So fill in the coupon below and American Express will send you a Special Student Application right away, along with a free handbook that has everything you need to know about credit. Or just look for an application at your college bookstore or on campus bulletin boards.

The American Express Card. Don't leave school without it.SM

Please send me a Special Student Application for the American Express® Card and the free Credit Handbook.
Mail this coupon to:
American Express Travel Related Services Co., Inc.
P.O. Box 222, Church Street Station
New York, New York 10046
Name
Home Address
City State Zip
College or University

*Travel Service Offices of American Express Company or Subsidiaries and Representatives.
© American Express Company 1982

Tonight
Free Champagne
For the Ladies
From 8:00 - 10:30

Poor Richard's
All Well Liquor Drinks 75¢
25¢ Off on all Liquor and Drinks

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Where have all the years gone?

Where has the time gone?

Twenty years have shot by as swift and sudden as a lightning bolt. It seems incredible that I've been alive for that amount of time. But what is time anyway? At the very least it is mysterious and uncontrollable, much like the involuntary twitch of an eyelid. Do you realize that during that split second twitch, our vision is cut in half? And we don't even realize it! It passes by, unnoticed unless we happen to think about it, just like the last twenty years of my life.

Jason Rubin

I imagine it would be very difficult for me to write an autobiography, for at best I can only recall bits and pieces out of the last fifteen years or so. And as time goes on, I'm likely to forget more. It's strange how I can remember a particular day in kindergarten when I got a lollipop for being the quietest child during nap time, and yet I have trouble recalling exactly what I had for dinner last night. Memories are very curious things. Some occur to you when you least expect them, while others require close internal scrutiny in order to surface. Still others remained locked inside a vast vault inside our mind. It would be nice to be able to save certain bits of time that we have experienced in a vault so we can return to them every now and then and remember fully how things were. Unfortunately, there is no such way to keep track of time. Which is why I'm sitting here now, asking "Where has the time gone?"

You see, I'm starting to grow up. I'm not really a kid anymore. Soon I have to make a decision as to what I want to do with my life. Up until now, I didn't have to do anything with my life, except let it go on. I didn't have any major decisions to make. Aren't decisions the most annoying things on earth? The odds will never be very good as to whether you'll make a good decision or not, only about 50 -50. I wish we had two lives to lead, then we could use the second life to decide in favor of the things we refused in the first life and vice versa. That way we could compare them and see which turned out best, and then maybe we could have a third life to use all the best decisions in and make perfect.

But, alas, I have only one life. So what do I do with it? Maybe I should put it in a brown bag and trade it with someone else like I did with my lunches in elementary school. But that never did work out too well. I usually discovered that the other kid's mother didn't use fresh bread or the brand of mayonaisse that I like, or even worse, she didn't use mayonaisse! So I guess its agreed — I'm keeping my life. And, come to think of it, why not? It hasn't been so bad. As a matter of fact its been pretty damn good, and my family, friends, and girlfriend are helping to make it better all the time! Who cares where the time has gone? The question is, "Where is it going?" If I have some heavy decisions to make about my future, then at least it shows that I have a future to look forward to. Hey, I feel a lot better now. Thanks for listening to me babble.

You know, the tensest part of the school year is coming up so if you're having the same worries, don't let them get to you. It only wastes time. You want to know what to do with your life? Enjoy it!

Jason Rubin is a UMass student

Letters

A rational dialogue on the freeze, McCarthy, and Reagan

To the Editor:

Although I would like to commend Timmi Rudolph for confronting such a timely and difficult issue as the nuclear freeze in her article, "Nuclear reduction replaces destruction" (April 21), there are several issues I would like to raise. May they be taken in a spirit of rational dialogue and as a vehicle to stimulate discussion in these vital areas.

One of President Reagan's chief criticisms of the freeze movement was that it would supposedly undermine the Geneva talks. Yet, one of the U.S.'s chief negotiators, Paul Nitze, recently told a Senate Foreign Relations panel that there is no progress in those arms talks. There is a stalemate.

Further, when Ms. Rudolph states that this president is one who has changed "the call from nulcear arms production limitations to true nuclear arms reductions," I cannot help but wonder if she is not too readily accepting the rhetoric flowing from the Capitol. For, in an international climate first characterized by Pope John XXIII ("Pacem in Terris") as one of 'radical distrust,' I feel dismayed that this obviously intelligent writer has been swayed by the McCarthy-like arguments that the freeze movement is Soviet-inspired. For when you make statements like "I don't blame the Soviet Union for promoting the nuclear freeze," I fear you are unconsciously encouraging the stereotyping of an entire movement. That a grassroot's call from the people for the secure peace they deserve should be so readily dismissed is unfortunate indeed.

Finally Timmi, I sense that perhaps what you seek, as do many other well-meaning Americans, is the confidence in knowing that our president is truly serving our country and is above using propaganda. Yet, regarding his statements that we are militarily inferior to the Soviets, which you too have accepted, please consider this statement from the U.S Department of Defense Annual Report (Fiscal Year, 1982): ". . . while the era of U.S. superiority is long past, parity — not U.S. inferiority — has replaced it, and the United States and the Soviet Union are roughly equal in strategic power." I am disturbed that our leader is manipulating the truth to gain popular support for his dangerous urge to gaining nuclear superiority through new, destabilizing weapons procurements.

As citizens, we must become increasingly empowered to reverse policies like "deterrence" which is rather a treacherous "balance of terror." Trusting our intuition, our legitimate cravings for peace and justice, a responsible citizen cannot help but remain skeptical when spokesmen for the military-industrial complex discuss these matters. In a very real sense, aren't these matters too important to be left to politicians? In this precious moment in world history, the choice is between life or the pseudo-security of an arms race. The time left in which one may be able to think and take a courageous stand against the momentum of Armageddon may be terrifyingly brief.

R. Jay Allain
Easthampton

Sound off with your letters to the editor!!

"Iron Curtain" wants peace

They march for peace in Bonn, New York, Madrid, Athens, and Hiroshima. . .In Britain women pacifists continually occupy the Greenham Common missile base, future home of the Cruise Missile. The media overfloweth with news of disarmament, except on the Eastern Front.

But quietly, and at immense risk, something has been happening in East Germany. A peace movement is developing there. That's right, the German Democratic Republic (GDR), a land where supposedly all are the same. Here, in the most tightly controlled Warsaw Pact Country, a collection of people has moved to bring peace activism home. They include religious leaders, daughters and sons of party officials, university students, and many others who are sinking axes into the forest of our perceptions about what transpires behind the "Iron Curtain."

Brooke States

One hears little of this struggle from western media and governments. Part of the reason for this is that "our side" has a vested interest in making the populace of the "other side" look as if they are unwilling or unable to challenge the government. To admit the universality of the desire for peace, and the willingness to struggle for it, is to expose the simplistic rhetoric and the emptiness that both sides use when conducting foreign policy. It is to admit stronger urges and desires, that speak to a deeper politics, then that shown by the hand-me-down socialism of the GDR, of the destructive capitalism of the west.

Every February there is an official Community Party-sponsored event in the city of Dresden. It marks the wholesale destruction by firebombing of the city by the Allies in World War II. February of 1982 was different. Unsigned leaflets had appeared earlier in the year urging people to come, to look towards the future instead of the past. Estimates printed by Mother Jones magazine were 4,000 - 6,000 people at the alternative rally that occured. Given the problems of organizing against the GDR, the size of this demonstration was impressive. The Communist Party threatened arrests and the church agreed to give sanctuary to all who participated. At 10:45 p.m. of the same day when the first bombs fell on Dresden, thousands of the crowd marched into the streets from a church. Many carried candles and wore headbands saying "make peace without weapons."

Besides this incident, there are numerous other examples. There is the Berlin Appeal, a petition calling for the removal of Soviet and United States troops from German soil. Several thousand people have signed the Appeal, according to information given to the progressive magazine. Penalties for signing a petition of this type include the loss of ones job, and other forms of harassment. The draft, and the increasing militarism of GDR society is also being protested.

The church has played an important role in protecting the pacifists, and becoming involved in the struggle. It is the only large institutuion not dominated by the party or state. The church is also allowed considerable autonomy as long as it does not criticize the government too heavily. The symbol of the peace movement is a cloth patch depicting a man beating a sword into a plowshare. The figure is the same as the design of a statue that the Soviet Union presented the United Nations with. Twenty thousand of the patches were distributed by the church before the government banned them. The church responded with "He who attacks the swords into plowshares symbol, attacks the church."

The response of the GDR has been much the same as Reagan's response to the United States peace movement, from the opposite pole. While Reagan red-baits the peace movement as "Communist Front," the GDR seeks it's pacifists as stooges for imperialism."

Just as in George Orwells 1984, both sides subscribe to the theory that war is peace. But unlike Orwells book the majority of people on both sides will not sit by and watch as there leaders plan nuclear Armageddon. Missiles "neither east nor west" is the position that is becoming dominant in the fight against nuclear weapons. The activists in East Germany are testimony to the willingness of people to struggle for what is right, even under conditions of danger and political oppression. They deserve our support.

Brooke States is a Collegian columnist

Second set of prints, ½ price!

Bring in a roll of color print film (110, disc, 35mm, or 126) for developing and ask for the special coupon. We'll print two sets of lustre luxe prints and you'll save 10¢ on each print in the second set!

Hurry, coupon offer expires April 23rd

PHOTOPATIO

We use Kodak PAPER for a Good Look

Get the "Better 35mm Pictures" pocket guide FREE when you have a roll of 35mm film processed. Ask for your coupon

UNIVERSITY STORE

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

COMING SOON . . . .

ALUMNI CAREER NIGHT THE DIVISION OF PUBLIC HEALTH

WHO WILL SPEAK?

Our own graduates in the field will tell you where their jobs are and what it's like!

WHEN?

Wednesday Evening, April 27, 1983 from 8:00-9:15 p.m.

WHERE?

Campus Center, Room 163

WHO IS INVITED?

Interested students, faculty & others.

SPONSORS:

The Alumni Office,
The University Placement Office,
The Division of Public Health

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
Charter Day

JOIN US! for a
Charter Day
celebration of the 120th anniversary
of the Founding of the
University of Massachusetts

ROPEPULL
BOOTHS
BALLOONS
BANNER CONTEST
BIRTHDAY CAKES

on Friday, April 29, 1983 at 12:30 p.m., Campus Pond (rain site: Student Union Ballroom)

PLUS Charter Day Convocation, Saturday, April 30 at 10:30 a.m. in Bowker Auditorium, featuring installation of Chancellor Joseph Duffey

Black Affairs

BCP still striving for excellence

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

The progress of any society is in the hands of individuals who defy obstacles and are quick to make changes. For the hispanic community in Massachusetts, Benjamin Rodriguez is one of these progressives.

A native of Puerto Rico, Rodriguez has served as director for the Billingual Collegiate Program (BCP) since its inception in 1974. BCP is an educational and resource center, with recruiting hispanics as its main priority.

According to Rodriguez, recruiting has not been a hard task. For a while, it seemed that hispanics were interested in improving their self image in the American society. Today, Rodriguez is confronted with a new problem.

According to Rodriguez, 77 percent of hispanic students drop out of school before reaching the high school level.

As one of his duties for BCP, and out of concern for the future of hispanics, Rodriguez recently initiated the Community Education Project, (CEP).

The CEP is a program which involves community centers in helping BCP attract youngsters to attend the university. The centers provide the BCP staff with an audience of parents and youngsters, where they learn about the programs and opportunities offered at the University of Massachusetts.

"It depresses me to think of the future of hispanics as street sweepers and dishwashers," Rodriguez said.

Because of this large percentage of dropouts, Rodriguez said that it was necessary for both parents and youngsters to become aware of the importance of education. The BCP helps them develop a positive attitude toward school, Rodriguez said.

"We get an average turnout of fifteen parents; though a minimum figure, its something we are able to work with. Even two percent satisfies me, what I want to see is interest," Rodriguez said.

An old but most common method of recruiting still employed by the BCP is visiting high schools with a heavy hispanic enrollment.

In this procedure Rodriguez, a University of Massachusetts student and the financial aid counselor of (BCP) take approximately three hours to mention important aspects of the university in a question answer basis. According to Rodriguez, the student accompanying the staff serves as a perfect role model and the program yields excellent results.

BCP was founded by AHORA in the summer of 1974, starting under the name of Project '75. This name came from the fact that 75 students had to be enrolled for the 1974-75 academic year in order for the program to survive.

Like many other programs with progressive ideals, BCP has had its years of struggle to obtain its present position.

When the program started on August 10, 1974, it had no equipment or office, according to Rodriguez. "We have achieved a lot since then, but there is still a lot to be accomplished," Rodriguez said.

BCP is an educational and resource center where hispanics come together seeking tutorial help, academic advising, a friendly atmosphere and most of all, a chance to share a piece of their culture.

Photo by Barron Roland

This view from the Fine Arts Center of the Campus Center was beautifully captured by photographer Barron Roland.

Announcements

The Seta Rampersad Scholarship Fund Award was formed in 1982 as a memorial to Seta Rampersad, a 20 year old Third World woman who was an undergraduate at the University of Massachusetts. Seta, a political science major and senior was found dead in Motel 6 in South Deerfield on September 13, 1978.

Seta was the daughter of immigrant parents who came from Trinidad. Seta, if she had lived, would have received her degree in May, 1979. Her career goals included being a legal advocate for Hispanic and Black youths who had been convicted in Springfield.

Recipients of the Seta Rampersad Scholarship Award must be Third World woman undergraduates who have shown a history of commitment to social change in their communities, especially in the areas of health, women's issues, legal reform, Third World organizations, anti-nuke and international solidarity struggles.

Scholarships will be awarded to two Third World woman undergraduates who have demonstrated good academic work (2.5 cum) and who have shown a sincere devotion to social progress. The award will be $300 and applications are due on June 1, 1983 for fall semester.

For more information and applications call Malika Jones at the Everywoman's Center at 545-0883.

AP Photo

This protestor is caught gesturing angrily at a lecture given by Jerry Fallwell, creator of the Moral Majority Monday night at Harvard University.

Life/Career Planning: Black Women "Moving On" promises to be an enlightening two day seminar, May 6-7, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., for Black women who are entering or re-entering professional positions. This seminar will consist of presentations by women in the public and private sectors of employment, e.g., school systems and other educational institutions, business and employment agencies. Presentations will be 1½ hours long and will include panelist/presenters: Dr. Phyllis Walker, Pres., Phyllis Walker Associates, Human Resource Development and Management consultants, Hartford; Dr. Thelma Griffith-Johnson, Director, Affirmative Action, UMass; Marie M. Reid, Associate Vice-Chancellor, Administration and Finance, UMass; Dr. Alice Smith, Assistant Director, University Placement,; Paula Queenan, doctoral candidate, UMass; and Jean Moss, Program Developer, Community Development Center, UMass.

Participants will have the chance to gather information on resume writing and personal/values clarification in relation to job pursuits. Presenters at this seminar will offer pointers on contract negotiations and survival in the work force. The seminar will be held both Friday and Saturday in room 165 in the Campus Center, located at the University of Massachusetts. Immediately following the first day's seminar there will be a social hour for women to get to know each other and to share experiences.

This seminar is sponsored by Everywoman's Center, The Placement Office and CCEBMS. For more infomation call EWC 545-0883.

Two lunchtime workshops on Career Information will be offered on Thursdays from 12:00 to 1:00 p.m. at the Campus Center at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.
April 28, 1983: Resume Writing — Alice Smith — room 911 Campus Center
May 5, 1983: Finding Job Opportunities — Alice Smith — room 911 Campus Center

Ana Maria Garcia, along with her award winning film "La Operacion", will appear at UMass Saturday, April 30, Campus Center Rm. 101, to talk about sterilization abuse.

In her film and talks, Ms. Garcia describes and analyzes the conditions that have led to the sterilization of more than one-third of Puerto Rican women. These conditions include the U.S. financial involvement in Puerto Rico's industrialization and in sterilization program, the class background and economic interests of doctors, and the material conditions of women's lives, which motivate them to submit to an irreversible method of "birth control" at an early age.

As a Cuban, who grew up in Puerto Rico and now lives and works in New York City, Ms. Garcia offers a unique perspective on these issues. As a filmmaker, Ms. Garcia has much to say about the cinemagraphic process.

Ms. Garcia with her film will also appear at Seelye Hall, Smith College, Sunday May 1 at 7:00 p.m. and at Franklin-Paterson Hall, in the Main Lecture Hall, Hampshire College, Monday May 2.

Other scheduled programs include a panel-discussion entitled "Women in Struggle" on Friday, April 29, 7:30 p.m. in Campus Center Rm. 162. Representatives from the Democratic Revolutionary Front — El Salvador, Ms. Guadalupe Gonzalez; Casa Nicaragua — Ms. Maria Menenses; Circulo de Cultura Cubana — Ms. Sonia Rivera; and Women for Guatemala will be part of the panel.

SONY

HAND-HELD CASSETTE-CORDER WITH GREAT SOUND, INSTANT-EDIT

At last, there's a hand-held cassette-corder with great features, big, clear sound, and a very affordable price tag. Perfect for students and adults alike, it offers superior playback quality in a compact, lightweight style. Its features include cue and review, instant-edit, and automatic shut-off to protect your cassette and minimize wear. And its convenient portability makes it perfect for use in the home or outdoors. The TCM-131. For great sound right in the palm of your hand.

Sale priced at $32.95 List $49.95

Save $15.00

Limited quantities

Model Number TCM 131

OPEN M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Free Popcorn

TIME OUT

Two TV's

A Good Place to Start a Conversation

Happy Hour 4 - 7 pm

Sunday Nite Special

Gin & Tonic or Cape Codder $1.00

AMHERST'S BIGGEST LITTLE BAR

37 N. Pleasant St.

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Charter Day

APRIL 29, 1983

MILLER HIGH LIFE PRESENTS AN OLYMPIC SHOWCASE EVENT

TRIATHLON

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1983 9:00 AM

The competition consists of swimming ¼ mile, cycling 15 miles and running 10 miles.

$10 entry fee to be donated to the United States Olympic Training Center

T-shirts and hats will be given to all entrants.

Prizes will be awarded to the top 10 finishers.

Registration forms may be obtained at the Intramural Office at BKO

For further information contact:
Craig B. Keenan BKO 549-4066
Director of College and Youth Marketing

LET'S WIN THE GAMES AGAIN

Arts

The Butler did it

PSYCHEDELIC FURS
Divinyls
Friday, April 22
Agora Ballroom, West Hartford

By DOUGLAS MUISE
Collegian Correspondent

Richard Butler doesn't have much of a voice when you stop and think about it. I mean really, there's nothing there surpassing a raspy, gravelled bellow. But somehow, that's never seemed to matter, on vinyl or on stage. Like Lou Reed and even Bob Dylan (major influences, by the way), Butler can effect subtle shades of emotion without the need of octave-hopping. And the guy can perform. Granted, Richard is not the prettiest rocker I've ever seen, as he slinked about the stage of the Agora Ballroom last Friday night it was rather obvious that the show's female patrons were not going to protest all that loudly if he were so inclined to run his fingers through their hair.

Given the steamy fog which oozed onto the stage preceeding the Furs' entrance, I suspected that perhaps an error in booking had been made, and the boobs from the Speedwagon were about to bumble out from behind the amps. Usually, I lump dry ice into the same category as fire bombs, lasers, and goat's blood: very passe and unforgiveably tacky. But with the Furs, it worked! There was a genuine feeling of eventfulness in the air. Slightly melodramatic, yes, but it got the adrenaline flowing nonetheless. Then suddenly, the two big spotlights on either side of the drum kit were jostled a bit, and began to sweep across the stage like search-lights at an A&P opening. And then they were just there. A crash was eminent now. The congestion before the release, and then — POW! — the roaring locomotion of "Into You Like A Train" proceeded to box-car our consciousnesses. And there he was. Richard Butler, in all his glory!

The guy's got real personality, ya know what I'm tawkin' about? His hair is a little longer now, kind of mussed into an overgrown shag cut. But he looked good! Exceptional, in fact, all scrunchy and supple in his new leather duds. Richard is clearly the focal point of the band now, the rest pretty much hiding silently in the mist. And he is such a tease, is he not? Between slugs from a bottle of Bailey's Irish Cream (a gift from a fan), he pranced about the stage effusing a charismatic cross between the elegant melodrama of Bowie, and the pouty androgyny of Jagger. He was all over the place!

But there's more to the Furs than Richard Butler (for most people, anyway). As a unit they definitely put out. Given their first LP and their first few shows, for the longest time I placed them in the Bauhaus, Cure, Joy Division doom-gloom crew of the new wave. But the Furs are involved in a gradual cross-over of sorts. Their latest album, with songs such as "Love My Way," "Sleep Comes Down," and "Forever Now," is very poppy and as such their audience has widened a bit. That's not to say that the Furs are about to disintegrate in a two-man synth unit. They've always been wary of trends.

Following the quake of "Into You Like A Train," the Furs slowed things down a bit with a meditative rendition of "President Gas," as well as a quick run through of the tragic "Pretty in Pink" (a personal fave-rave) — as a good balance between old favorites and new stuff was established.

I guess I never realized just how anthemic the song "Forever Now" really is until I heard it performed live. God, what a great song to finish the set with! "Let it stay forever nooow!" — Butler rumbled in defiance towards a mutable universe. One of those rare moments of rock and roll transcendence!

Roger Morris, Vince Ely, and Duncan Kilburn have been replaced, and celloist Ann Sheidon has been added (but you, of course, know that already) to make-up the new Psych Fur line-up. Although Sheidon does seem to add an element of sophistication to the Furs' furious "wall of sound," she stills strikes me as an extraneous member. I mean, it's kind of disheartening to see Richard sleazing it-up with some member of the audience, and then to look over and see this classically-trained celloist trying to make her instrument sing with a sense of dignity. This is rock and roll, right?

Well, at least the Agora crowd was relatively receptive (read: tolerant). The OK Corral, neo-Western decor is bad enough, but when you have to rub elbows with "dudes" in flannel shirts and gook boots all night, things do tend to get a bit "oppressive." Friday night proved an exception, however, and this reviewer was certainly thankful.

The Psychedelic Furs — leather and love beads and a lot of melodrama.

Hanoi Rocks— boys who play with dolls

SELF DESTRUCTION BLUES
(Johana)
Hanoi Rocks

By YANETT PENA
Collegian Staff

Hanoi Rocks is sort of difficult to describe.

This five-man band has released three albums but they've only been available in the U.S. as Scandinavian imports. Some critics have slapped on a new wave label to their music, while others claim MC-5 and other early sloppy rockers as their origin. They're probably a mixture of both, although in England they've been playing second bill to some heavy metal outfits, which is an odd combination.

Mike Monroe, the "impossibly beautiful" and androgynous singer, et al., dress in strange garb ranging from psychedelic to more classic rock 'n' roll styles. They also wear a lot of make-up, jewelry, and sport messy long hairdos. King of like the New York Dolls, but without the mini-dresses and stacked heels.

The band's recent releases, "Self Destruction Blues," is a better effort than the past two albums; the production has improved and the instruments don't sound as bland or empty as before, especially Andy McCoy's lead guitar breaks. McCoy not only emerges from the background to show off his manual dexterity, but also his songwriting which deminates the album.

"Love's An Injection" opens up the first side and would make a great single for the band, with its catchy chorus and simple tune. The next cut, "I Want You," includes a Chuck Berry opening riff and saxophones which are more subtle here than on their horrible last record.

"Cafe Avenue" would be a boring new wave/reggae tune if it weren't for the lyrics describing McCoy's early male prostitute days. No graphic details are included though.

The title track closes side one, and proves to be an odd little blues tune consisiting of a loud slide guitar, harmonica, and black vocals a la B.B. King or even Koko Taylor — Mike Monroe it sure isn't. The song doesn't sound like it should belong on the record, but it's entertaining.

Whereas McCoy has talent with his high-pitched guitar style, Monroe does not. His singing is always more than slightly off-key, nasally and snotty at times. Ironically it blends in well because of the band's overall young, raw, and raunchy attitude. However, he does a good vocal job on side two with "Beer and a Cigarette," another strong cut.

"Whispers in the Dark" includes a bit of synthesizer and is another good song. "Taxi Driver" starts off with Monroe's howling and screeching, promising he'll "take you anywhere you want to."

"Dead by X-Mass" may never surpass the old Bing Crosby classic, but at least it fades out with an angelic christmas choir repeating the title. Hey, nobody ever said anything about good taste.

Although some songs on "Self Destruction Blues" are more memorable than others, there's something appealing in each one, whether it's a guitar riff, chorus, melody, etc. . .And if you don't mind a bunch of Scandinavian youths in black eyeliner and Dep Gel, Hanoi Rocks might be a worthwhile experience.

Three members of the group Hanoi Rocks.

Ya gotta read arts!

Our Anniversary Sale continues thru April 30th

with 10% - 30%

off everything

at

Fenton's Athletic Supply

377 Main St., Amherst

253-3973

WEDNESDAY

PUB MUG NIGHT

Music By

AL STONER

DISCO-ROCK

35¢ PUB MUGS

9 pm - 1 am no cover

THE PUB

15 East Pleasant St.

AMHERST

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY

363 Main St.
Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small
2 item pizza
Only $4.00

KNOW YOUR ENEMY!

Explore Careers in Visual Arts

Wednesday, April 27, 1983
Campus Center, Rm 174, 7-9:30 PM

with
Gary Berger
Director of the Berkshire Museum
Pittsfield
Alvin Page
Resident Artist and Director
of the Garret Gallery, American
International College, Springfield
Tom Leamon
Commercial Artist and Illustrator
Amherst
and
Barbara Schaffer Bacon
Arts Resource Coordinator, AES

TOPICS: A general overview of each career, including setting, skills needed, kinds of positions, and resources for job information.

TO REGISTER CALL The Arts Extension Service
545 2360

Sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed only on the day they are taking place. Announcements must be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, and returned to the office by 3 p.m. the Friday before the event. All submissions should be written in a similar style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Friday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

NO BROWN BAG THEOLOGY TODAY! — Lunchtime discussions will resume next Wednesday. Usually 12:15 p.m., 428 Student Union.

SPANISH CLUB TERTULIA — Whether you are a native speaker or a first year spanish student or somewhere in between then come and speak Spanish with us. 2:30-4:00 p.m., 4th Floor Lobby Herter.

SGA RENTS AND FEES COMMITTEE — Weekly committee meeting. Work on issues like tuition increases, student fees, Coffee Shop renovations, etc. Open to all. 3:30 p.m., CC 178.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST — Out of the body experiences? What does the Bible have to say about them? Brooke Rollins is speaking, come and find out/ Also KC '83 information film shown. 6:30 p.m., SBA 109.

INVESTMENT CLUB MEETING — Larry Dwight, stockbroker from H.M. Payson will speak on "Analyzing Market Trends." New members are welcome! 6:30 p.m., S.O.M. rm 107.

CAREERS IN THE VISUAL ARTS — Topics include: General overview, kinds of positions, settings, skills needed, and job resources. Workshop sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education with the support of the University Arts Council. To register for this free workshop call: AES 545-2360. 7-9:30 p.m., Campus Center, Room 174.

"CONTROLLING INTEREST" — Film sponsored by UMass Peacemeakers and Students Against Militarism. All are welcome to attend and stay for discussion afterward. 7:30 p.m., CC.

WILDLIFE SOCIETY MEETING — Martin Lowney, Narest senior, will give a slide presentation on his Yellowstone internship.Elections for next year's officers will be held. All interested newcomers welcome! 7:30 p.m., Rm. 312 Holdsworth.

ISRAELI FOLK DANCING — Come dance to the beautiful rhythms! Israeli folk dancing is open to all, with instruction available at all levels. 7:30 beginners, 8:30 all others. Commonwealth Room, S.U.

HISTORY CLUB MEETING — Who killed JFK? Mr. Mark Gersten will describe the JFK assassination — with slides and film All are welcome. Refreshments served! 7:30 p.m., rm 804-08 Campus Center.

STAGE COMBAT WORKSHOP — Taught by Iris Valenti. Free. All are welcome. 8 p.m., Van Meter Basement.

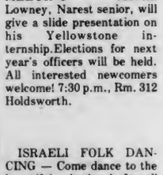
HETEROSEXISM WORKSHOP — What is Heterosexism and how does it affect us all. The movie Pink Triangles will be shown and two guest speakers will present. 7 p.m., Dwight Main Lounge.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE COLLEGE ORGANIZATION — Meets every Thurs. Everyone is welcome to come, listen and ask questions. 7 p.m., check Info Desk in CC for room.

CHESS CLUB MEETING — Chess game after a general meeting. All are welcome. 7 p.m., CC 165-9.

STAR TREK LIVES! — Club meeting, Room 801 Campus Center, time: 7-11 p.m. Films, info., for S.T. and S.F. fans. All welcome.

Start every day refreshed!
The Collegian

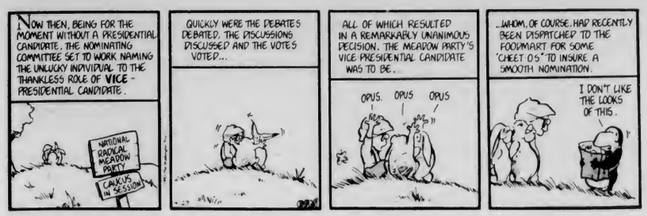


It's not what you see.

It's how you see it.

Kodak

Bloom County By Berke Breathed



The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall By R. Miller

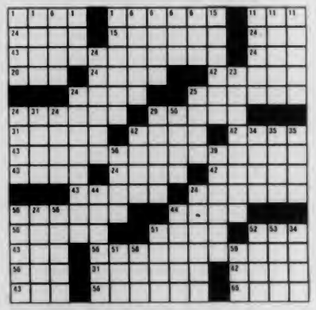
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Place for a boat
5 Scalawags
11 Triumphant sound
14 Word of refusal
15 Mohammedan ruler
16 Magic spell
17 Magician's word
19 Champ of boxing fame
20 Right-turn signal
21 Copies
22 —— Park, N.J.
24 Harte
25 Haphazard
26 William Lyon ——, noted educator
29 Mont ——
31 Scene of eruption, 1902
32 Curtain material?
33 Hearty's partner
37 Stage magician
40 Uncle and others
41 Pro —— publico
42 Words meaning "familiar with"
43 In a cold manner
45 Turn
46 Greek island in the N Aegean
49 Oom- —— (tuba sounds)
50 Lay —— (flop)
51 Tenor, baritone and bass
52 Crackpot
55 Private's org.
56 Bewitching one
60 Horse color
61 Nullify
62 He spent "Two Years Before the Mast"
63 Coffee or tea
64 Tried
65 "First —— I've seen ..."

DOWN
1 Synonym for 35 Down
2 Spot for a jewel
3 Anent
4 Sch. org.
5 Words with land or sea
6 West Pointer
7 Sound of sorrow
8 Marble
9 Kind of participle: Abbr.
10 Supernatural curer
11 Lend ——
12 Salutation
13 Truism
18 Prince Houssain's magic transport
23 Works magic
24 Protection from devilry
25 Indian princess
26 Abbrs. in music
27 Queen of the gods
28 Basic, for short
29 Like the sea
30 Trademark
32 Golden calf, for one
34 —— girl!
35 Boodle
36 Gaelic
38 Sacred bird of Egypt
39 —— for comfort
44 Convincing
45 Stormed
46 Extols
47 Follow
48 Had in mind
49 Talk idly
51 One of those
52 Undiluted
53 Place for Middies: Abbr.
54 Erstwhile ruler
57 Society page word
58 Army VIPs
59 Map abbrs.



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	H	O	D	O		C	H	A	I	S		Z	E	I	S	T
A	A	R	E			Q	U	I	S	L		A	I	R
P	R	A	M			C	R	A	M			I	F	N	I
E	S	T	E	R	A	S				A	R	I	A	S
M	E	R	O	N		E	S	A	D	E	N
		D	N	I	O		A	V	I	T	E		G	A	S
G	O	D	D	A	R	D		E	N	E	M		H	I	D
A	X	L	E	S		E	N	T	I	N	A		V	A	N	Y
T	I	E	R			D	O	U	B	T	S		E	R	O	S
O	N	E				A	N	N		G	E	A	T
		G	R	A	V	I	T	A	T	E		A	N	D	I	R	O	N
D	U	B	I	O	U	S		M	E	T	E	O	R	I	T	E
E	S	S	O			R	I	O	T			I	N	T	I	A	M
P	L	A	N			O	N	E	A	N		E	N	T	E	R
Y	A	M	E			B	E	R	L	I	N		R	O	S	E

WEATHER

Today sunny, highs in the 70's, westerly wind, 10 - 15 mph. Tonight partly cloudy, lows 45 to 50.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Diplomat sandwich
Quiche Lorraine

DINNER
Beef Pot Roast
Jardinere Sauce
Mushroom-Pepperoni Pizza

BASICS LUNCH
The salad sandwich
Quiche Lorraine

BASICS DINNER
Tofu vegetable casserole
Mushroom pizza

Have something to say?
Have something to sell?
Give the Collegian Classifieds a try.
They work!
You can now place your classified quickly and easily from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Campus Center Concourse. Look for our table there or stop by our office, 113 Campus Center.

the world will be different!

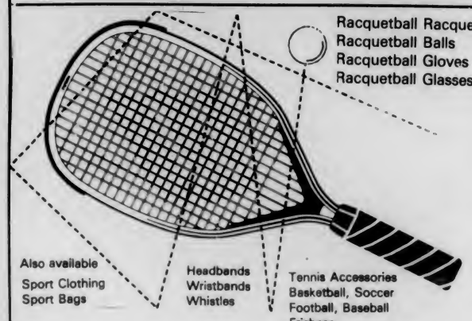
KC 83

Info Meeting
Wed. April 27th 6:30 pm SBA 109

$30 REWARD

for a 3 bedroom apt. in Puffton beg. June or Sept.
Sheryl 6-9680
Shari 6-9623
Sue 6-9593

SPORT EQUIPMENT



Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees,
Swimming Accessories

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Beautiful 3 bdrm Townehouse for summer sublet. Please call 549-1215

Presidential 1 bdrm in 2 bdrm apt $130/month 549-1354 keep trying

Rolling Green 2 bdrm AC, pool, quiet, finished call after 6 pm 253-5986

Cooperative household. North Amherst on busline. Also storage space available. 549-8852

2 bdrm apt Amherst Center $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

3 bdrm house in Downtown Amherst $ negotiable call now 549-5850

Sunny summer sublet Amherst Center! 2 bedrooms 549-0306, 253-2071

Cheap cheap rent for a 3 bdrm townehouse apt fully furnished call 549-1833/549-3853

House in N Amh (6/1-9/1) on belus rte 4 BIG bdrms. 260/mo. or 65/bdrm./mo. call 549-5893

Amherst Center apartment sublet with fall option, 1-3 bedrooms available call 549-6378

3 bedroom Puffton Apt furnished, pool, tennis courts, cheap 549-4711

3 bedroom fully furnished luxurious apt in Townehouse for the summer. Ideal location at low price. Call 549-5968 or 256-8382

3 bedroom apt very close to campus & town rent negotiable furnished free cable for summer call 256-6150

Townehouse 3 bedroom; furnished, fall option for 1 bedroom; Alix 549-5103

2 bedroom Cliffside Apt summer sublet w/fall option $350/mo utilities inc call 665-3963 late nites

SUNGLASSES

Raybans, Vuarnets, Serengeti at low prices all Bruce or Andy 549-1177 look for us at the CC Concourse this afternoon

TO SUBLET

Cheap furnished 3 bedroom apt air cond all util incl summer only 256-8389

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

One bedroom in Southwood Townhouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

One bedroom in two bedroom Puffton fall option 549-3862

Rolling Green 2 bedroom townhouse summer sublet cheap call 253-9431

2 bedroom split-level apartment -Sunderland, JUne 1st - August 31st, $250 per month, call 665-7126

Summer sublet Puffton two bedroom two bathroom furnished apt RENT NEGI contact Pat or Dru 549-4426

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reesonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Summer with fall option Ouffton 1 bedroom $290 549-4430 evenings

Squire Village 2 bdrm summer sublet w/fall option 665-3914

Furnished two bedroom Townehouse Apt. June thru Sept rent negotiable call 549-1724

Rolling Green two bedrooms large, cheap, lucky. Call 253-9418 Malcolm 250/mo negotiable

1 bdrm in 3 bdrm Puffton apt furnished price neg 549-5543

Three bedroom townhouse apt in Squire Village, June 1 w/fall option $400/mo or BO 665-4896

Need one roommate - two bedroom, two floor Southwood Apt. - includes kitchen, living room, two bathrooms - $140/month call 253-3566

3-story river fromt apartment bus route, AC. pool, cheap 549-4405

2 bedroom Southwood townehouse busroute, pool, tennis, rent negotiable 546-6705

Summer sublet Townehouse Apts. furnished 3 bedroom rent negotiable call 549-6709 or 546-9589

Summer sublet: 3 bedroom Puffton Apt. furnished 546-7393

Summer sublet - 2 rooms, fall option on 3 bedroom townhouse, N. Amherst, 2 bus routes $150 + neg 549-4849

Squire Village townehouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380 + 665-4886

25+ 2 rooms in house on campus 549-4080

One bedroom apt Presidential Apts furnished air conditioned June - Sept 549-0127

Roommate to sublet semi-coop on bus route 130 + 256-0575

3 bedroom Townhouse with full cellar on bus route/ for 4 or 5 less than a mile from campus negotiable call Jon 546-6467 - keep trying.

Sumemr sublet/fall option, sumemr rent negotiable; 2 bdrm on bus route call after 6 will pay subl;ease fee 665-8787

3 bdrm apt available 115 neg utilities incl fall opt 253-9753

1 bdrm Puffton VII for 1 or 2 people good rate call 549-5920

Summer sublet Brandywine one bedroom apt 549-3873 rent negotiable

With fall option 2 people wanted to share room. 10 minute walk to campus. $105/mo. Presidential Apts 549-5613

Brandywine one bedroom summer with fall option females only Linda 549-2646

One bedroom apt summer sublet fall opt bus pool Cliffside rent negotiable 665-3960 or 549-6499

Sublet 2 bedroom apt available June 1 fall option on bus route 275/mo 256-8270

TO SUBLET W/FALL OPTION

Practically brand new Brittany Manor 2 bedroom apartment - all applicances are new and in excellent working condition, new wall to wall carpeting, free heat, pool call 256-0391, rent is negotiable

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Wanted Records - Cash or trade call Dynamite Records 584-1580

WANTED TO RENT

House or apartment in house within walking distance of campus at least two bedrooms will summer sublet 549-5505 Mark

No. or So. Amherst 3 bdrm house for fall 253-2878

Inexpansive housing needed on Martha's Vineyard for the summer. I will accept any place on the island. Call Court 546-5672

Looking for housing on Nantucket for this summer. Will help pay rent. Call Rick 546-5483

Large apartment or house in Northampton wanted Sept by responsible grad students 253-2828

Wanted 1 or 2 bedrooms in apt for 2 females starting Sept call Anne or Sandy 256-0358

WANTED TO RENT: NANTUCKET

Looking for housing on Nantucket Island for this summer. I would be happy to join your rent. Please call Julie at 546-6426

WE'LL EVEN THROW IN A COUCH!

Two room Southwood Apt summer sublet & fall option Shared room at $103 call 256-8323

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUDIO

AM/FM Car Stereo two Jensen speakers - $80 or BO 256-8323

AUTO FOR SALE

1986 Chevrolet Impala 283ci; new battery with five year warranty $375 546-5934

1978 Lincoln Versailles: loaded, a classic car in excellent condition $7500 firm. Phone: 609-858-4435

1974 Pinto 4 cyl. st. trans. 24 mpg good eng. Chuck 549-4711

1969 VW Squarebeck - 73000 mi. 34 mpg, no mechanical troubles. $600.00 549-4911 (Frank)

1980 Chevy Monza, 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 256-6612

75 B210 Datsun 2 new tires cassette player $1000 call 665-4213 evenings

72 VW Van runs great! Must see $1100.00 549-5631

67 VW Bug excellent running condition great gas mileage dependable transportation $500.00 549-0543

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7822

CAPE COD SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Jasons, Cape Cods finest nightclub, will be conducting interviews for all bar personnel on 4/30 and 5/7 from 12:00 to 3:00 pm. 228 Lower County Road Dennisport. Where the happy people go.

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FILM

Come see "The Last Grave at Dimbaza", an engaging film that depicts the plight of the South African people. Film will be shown in the Main Lounge of Crampton House 4/28 7:00 PM Free all are welcome!

FOR RENT

Furnished rooms for summer sublet, fall option in house five minutes from UMass. 549-1797

Boarding House, had it with dorm life and DC food?? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plan friendly atmosphere. Next to Newman Center. call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

June sublet with fall option 2 bedroom Brittany Manor heat included 253-3032

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

To sublet for summer w/fall option 4 bdrm apt on bus rt. Apt will be semi-furnished and is in good location rent negot. Call 253-2605 ask for Pete

Apt. in Southwood summer sublet/fall option. Dishwasher, new carpet, pool, tennis. Rent negotiable. Call 256-8216

2 bdrm summer sub with fall option full apt $200. on bus route Jeniffer 256-6887

Brandywine one bedroom apt A/C, dishwasher, disposal, WW, on bus route avail. June 1 - Sept 1 very nicely furn 320/month 549-0450

2 bedroom apt in Colonial Village Amh on bus route summer w/fall option 253-5506

3 bdrm Puffton Apt available may 28 summer sublet w/fall option 549-0543

5 bdrm house summer sub, fall op. Near UMass & Amh. Ctr. On bus route. $750/mth. 253-2819

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

Turntable Philips 212 good cond $50 or BO call 253-3588 we will deal!!

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Pioneer AM/FM Car Stereo Cassette 100 watt booster, equalizer, 3 way speakers brand new $225 or BO call Ed 549-1698

Hand made fisherman sweaters only $25 and $30 call 549-0381

Walkman II brand new 60$ call Mike 546-5002

Bedroom and living room furniture reasonably priced call 256-0571

One yr old full bed newer bureau w/mirror $200 firm 549-6923

Guitar and case 6 string Gilberto non clasical great condition 253-5215

Airtight woodstove excellent condition $325 call Margaret at 549-8633

HELP WANTED

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Junlors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

Collegian Business Positions available for Fall '83: Finance Managers, Assistant Business Manager, Assistant Advertising Managers, and Advertising Representatives. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. Deadline is Thursday 4/28. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Summer Jobs promoting ecology safe energy and consume rights. MASSPIRG, the stare's largest public interest organization has summer and permanent staff positions available for public education and fundraising, will train. $150-$250/week. Interviews 4/28, contact Bernice Stratton student employment office 545-1951

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Breton area call 1-800-952-7478

Solar Energy canvass locally must be neat personable hard-working earn $10/hour plus bonuses 586-5723 9-5

The Commuter Area Government is now hiring for the summer. Positions are for 30 hours/week. Must be available through the fall. Applications available at 404 Student Union 9:00 - 5:00, Monday through Friday. We are an affirmative action equal opportunity employer. Third World, women, and non-traditional students encouraged to apply. Deadline for applications is April 29.

Cooks needed West Dennis Cape Cod call (617) 394-3496 or 394-8994

Collegian Drivers' positions available for fall '83. Must have car, morning hours free. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Mobile vending truck drivers wanted on the Cape this summer. Pete 253-5218

HOUSE ON CAPE

2 looking for others to join in renting house in Falmouth/Woods Hole area. Mike 549-0223

INSTRUCTION

48 people interested in weight loss weight maintenance and body energy program call 586-2790 meeting Wednesday at 7:30 MacKimmie Main Lounge

LOST

A small clerinet case in Franklin. Very, very important! $20 reward. Please call 6-6355

One pair of women's glasses, possibly in a red oriental case. Might be lost in lot #22. Call 6-9149

Notes on a paper on witchcraft last seen 4/20 in Thompson 419. Call Barbara 584-6540

Anthropology Book on table in Campus Center week of April 14. Call 549-5934

LOW RENT!!!

1 or 2 roommates wanted for furnished apartment on bus-route. Acess to TV, stereo, kitchen, weightlifting equipment $110/month. 253-2828

MEMORIAL

For Christine O'Malley at the Newman Center, 4/30 at 4:30 all welcome!

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 1980 750K 7000 miles garage kept new Dunlop tires complete tune-up xtras $1800 or BO 253-9376

1982 Kawasaki GPZ750 mint condition low miles serious inquiries only 549-4363

PERSONALS

To Cindy C. Happy Birthday big sister from your little brother. Just one more year and your on your own

To Amy from Orchard Hill, we met at party Saturday night. Would like to see you again Tony 6-5077

To women of JQA 22: your right. I was wrong I'm sorry.

Down under room girl, your blue eyes are beautiful. Keep smiling!

Steven J. Murphy - no more jailbait for you either Happy Belated Birthday love you - Leach

Gary I may be fickle but I know when I've got a good thing. Happy Anniversary I love you! Julie

To Lambda Chi Alpha Associates good luck in the next few days! Have fun

SKI CLUB EXCLUSIVE APRIL 30

all those who workd 10 hours or more at the Great Ski Snatch Nov 18-21 contact the Ski Club 546-3437

Get Physical Sporting Goods Co-op
Ocean Pacific Shorts & Shirts
sneakers, frisbees, raquets, & balls
your sporting goods connection
322 Student Union (next to post office)

Get Psyched for Southwest Week
"Rock the Pyramids"
Tues: Visitorz Mass Transit
Wed: Cruisers Performers
Thurs: Midnight Sun
Fri: BMCP on Pyramids
10:00 pm WMUA Basketball Block Party
Sat: 8:00 movies 3 Stooges Horsefeathers
Sun Concert
David Johansen
Carlton Bryan & Crossroads
Abby Strauss
Urban Renewal
Heroes in Trouble
Hot Air Balloon Rides
sponored by:
The Pub, The Sub
Domino's, Bart's Ice Cream

Spaz, Next year your on your own! Be good! Love, your little sister Paula

Career Placement Assistance for graduates. Gaining an edge through Mass Marketing. Operations Research International PO Box 5470, Avon, Colorado, 81620 call toll free 1-800-421-3217

Julie: Wishing you congratulations, good luck and success with your new job! Much love, MBM

No, Carl Yastrzemski is God!

To G. Roy I've been waiting for your call since the reception PS why weren't you on the bus Saturday

Caroline Happy 20th Birthday Je'taime Jack

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PUFFTON SUBLET

3 bedroom Puffton pool A/C spotlight 320$/mo negotiable June - August Kathy 549-4035

RIDE WANTED

Ride for two to NYC, southern NY state or southern Conn needed desperately. Will leave anytime Friday 4/29. Will share expenses. Call Donna 546-8407

Ride needed to Washington DC area for weekend of April 29 call Kelley 549-6749

ROOM WANTED

Cape apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-6052 leave message

2 looking for housing in Falmouth/Woods Hole area. Mike 549-0223

Looking for housemate? Vegetarian, non-smoking, considerate, quiet, politically active. Transfering fall. Looking for cheap house, friendly housemates. Evenings, call Hannah (607) 722-4707

ROOMMATES WANTED

3 females house on Falmouth Cape Cod waterfront call 545-0075 Dianne

Presidential summer rental one or two people. Rent negotiable Bee 256-6887

Responsible roommates wanted for fall. One space available for summer 253-5109

Townehouse Apt. summer sublet fall option for 2 people 549-6313

Quiet matured male or female to share two Puffton 1 bed rooms 253-3551 dinner time

To share 3 bedroom Townehouse Apt beginning June and/or fall 549-5848

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Manor Apt fall semester call 6-5237 or 6-5243

Brandywine lrg bedroom avail for 1 or 2 roommates Neal 549-2808

SENIOR DAY

Anyone interested in working on Senior Day: beer pourers, publicity, band hospitality - meting Thursday at 7:00 - Suffolk Room SUB

SERVICES

fast accurate typing $1.50/page Leslea 584-3433

SUMMER RENTALS

The ideal place: centrally located on campus, everything and more included. $250. for singles, $150. for double's for the full summer. Call Glenn S. at 545-0047 or 545-2150

SUMMER SUBLET

2 badrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Janifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

1 bdrm Cliffside on bus rt pool and tennis courts 2858 665-4386

Looking for 3 roommates to share 2 bedroom Brittany Apt for summer and next year. Apt is in great condition w/new carpet and nice furniture. Can take 3 males or 2 females and 1 male call Kevin 253-3766

With fall option Two bedroom apt in house in Belchertown. On bus. 323-5854

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished $350 month available June 1 - Sept 1 549-6912

Rolling Green Apt - sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms beautiful apt, furnished, on bus route. Call Joel 256-0435

Female wanted for own room in 2 bedroom Puffton fall option call Toby 549-0137

One bedroom in a two bedroom apt in Brandywine, pool, cable, rent/best offer call 546-8500 or 546-8487

1 bedroom in apartment Cliffside fall option $165/mo 665-7560 545-0097 Ruth

Four bedroom apt summer sublet only $400/mo heat & util included w/fall option call 549-6745

Beautifully furnished 3 bedroom Townhouse apt available June to Aug price negotiable 549-5998

Furnished Townehouse Apt AC, rent negotiable call Scott or Rich 549-0516

3 bedrooms available in 3 bedroom Puffton apartment partly furnished air cond pool rent negotiable call Johanna 549-4827

5 bedrm house with fall option Main St Amherst 256-6352

CHEAP! 4 bedroom Rolling Green Apt - includes pool, AC, all utilities - $100 per person Call 253-3978

Townehouse Apt - 3 bedroom - summer sublet fully furnished - AC - cable call anytime 549-3843

1 bdrm apt Squire Village summer sublet w/fall option $310/mo & utilities Aug rent free call eve 665-4737

Female wanted to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

Southwood, two bedroom summer sublet need 2 roommates $125 mo or neg 546-5310

Brndywine furnished 2 bedroom 65 per month and negotiable call 549-5955

2 bedroom apt June 1 - August 31 Downtown Amherst $285.00/mo 256-8539

Rent $85 1, 2, or 3 people 5 mins to campus Presidential apts call 549-4483

Summer sublet furnished one bdr Brandywine apt $330/month, you pay $280, I pay $50 call Duncan 549-1305

Townhouse Apts fully furnished, AC, 10 min walk to campus rent negotiable 549-5804

Summer sublet fall opt 1 bdr at Puffers Pond free B & W TV included 275+ call 549-1649

Brandywine 2 bedroom pool furnished, equipped, AC bus negotiable 549-0747

Puffton 3 br apt for summer sublet. $135 per br per month or best offer. Convenient & comfortable. Call 549-6272

Sports

The New England Patriots selected Illinois quarterback Tony Eason, the all-time leading passer in Big Ten history, as their number one pick in yesterday's NFL draft.

Gorillas to Beantown to take on Crimson

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

What a difference a year can make in collegiate athletics.

Last year at this juncture of the season, the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team was toting an undefeated 6-0 record going into a home game with the Crimson of Harvard only to be shocked 12-8.

That loss turned out to be a skeleton in the Gorillas' closet as it came back to haunt the team later in the season when post-season consideration time came around.

This time around, the Gorillas, while turning in a series of good performances so far, are dragging a 3-5 record down the road to Boston in an effort to keep riding the track they jumped on last Saturday when they defeated Yale University in New Haven by a score of 13-8.

"Statistically we're doing pretty well," said head coach Dick Garber. "In a way, this is the same kind of year as we had in 1965 (the last time UMass had a losing season). We'd play a good game and we'd lose."

According to Garber, this squad is capable of shaking off the problems that have been plaguing them, mainly because the problems are few.

"I think the big thing is the shooting has been very erratic," the 29 year veteran Gorilla mentor said. "We execute well enough on offense and then we take a shot and hit the pipe (goalpost). If a couple of those shots had gone in, the record would be very different."

Garber has made a couple of changes in the lineup since the outset of the season, including moving Paul Fogarty from attack to midfield in an effort to get the senior more involved in the game and allow him to faceoff.

"On defense, Barry Cain, John Mincone and Brad Broadwell are all playing great," Garber added. "Overall we have been playing good defense but we have given up a couple of defensive breakdowns a game and those have hurt us."

As far as Harvard goes, they too defeated Yale this season but, by a score of 6-3, which may be indicative of a slowdown style of play.

Veteran lacrosse fans should remember that it was the slowdown style of play that Harvard used last year to make the Gorillas anxious and create some offbeat breakaway situations.

"They have a good conservative team," said Garber. "We'll press them from the first whistle and not let them sit on the ball. They're a lot like Yale."

Let's hope so since, as noted earlier, UMass beat Yale.

Game time is at 3 p.m.

Collegian photo by John Doucette

SCORE! Chris Schmitz puts the squeeze on Mike Fiorini after Fiorini scored against Boston College. The Gorillas play at 3 p.m. today at Harvard.

Collegian photo by Gerry deSimas

Mike Fiorini, the leading goal scorer for the Gorillas scoops up a loose ball during the Gorillas' 18-6 romp over Boston College earlier this year.

Pearson still waiting

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

Garry Pearson sat by the phone and waited for a call.

"It looks like I'll have to prove myself again," he said.

The first seven rounds of the National Football League draft were nearly complete and University of Massachusetts star running back had yet to be drafted by one NFL team.

But the 5'11" 185 pound tailback from Bristol, Connecticut, who was expected to be chosen between the fourth and sixth rounds, was in contact the entire day with representatives of the Dallas Cowboys, New York Giants, Seattle Seahawks, and Green Bay Packer organizations.

The draft, which usually takes two days to complete was jammed into one day yesterday, starting at 8 a.m. and continuing until midnight last night.

As of 9:30 last night Pearson knew little of when or if he would be drafted but the all-time leading rusher in UMass football history knew one thing for sure. He wants a shot at running back in the pros.

All four teams that contacted Pearson expressed a desire to move Pearson to defensive back, and Pearson believes his hesitation to agree to the change may have something to do with being a late pick.

"I want to go to camp as a running back," said Pearson. "I want to give it a shot that way and assess my situation at camp and go from there."

Even if he isn't drafted at all, Pearson will still get a tryout as a free agent with one of the four aforementioned teams depending on which contract he decides to sign.

"I'll get calls from these teams later tonight and talk it out with them," said Pearson. "I'll know a lot more tomorrow."

The draft has been affected by the United State Football League. The number of players chosen is 326 this year as opposed to 446 in most draft years.

Wright back to Penn Relays

By LAURIE FISCHER
Collegian Staff

This weekend University of Massachusetts high hurdler John Wright will compete against the top hurdlers in the country at the Penn Relays, but this year Wright will compete with the title of "the best New England high hurdler" according to coach Ken O'Brien.

Wright has broken numerous records during his four year college career, including his best time of 13.8 last weekend capturing first place in the high hurdle event at the Boston College Relays, but his goal of qualifying for the Nationals, which will be held in June, has gone unfulfilled.

Although he is pleased with his performance in the BC Relays, Wright is anxious as the Penn Relays approach because the senior has been eliminated in the trial rounds of the relays each of the last two years.

Currently, Wright is only two tenths of a second away from the qualifying time for the Nationals and stiffer competition could push Wright to faster times.

"When I'm home or in local New England competition I feel as though I'm giving one hundred percent. Then I'll race against the faster hurdlers at Princeton or Villanova and my times will usually be quicker," Wright said.

Coach O'Brien is optimistic considering Wright's recent improvement.

"I think he is on the way to qualifying for the Nationals," he said.

Also qualifying for the Penn Relays for UMass are throwers Elizabeth Patterson and Cindy Krupa and the mile relay team of Leah Loftis, Susan Bird, Maureen O'Rielly and Debbie Smith, who broke the school record placing third in the BC relays with a time of 3:58.1.

Busy stretch for baseball

By KEVIN DELUCA
Collegian Staff

"The next six ECAC games will determine the whole season — whether or not we are in postseason play. It puts a lot of pressure on us," said University of Massachusetts baseball coach Dick Bergquist.

Those six games are only part of a demanding 11 games in 10 days stretch (only two of the games are at home — May 3 against the University of Connecticut at 3 p.m. and a make-up game versus American International College on May 6 at 3 p.m. that starts today with a double-header at the University of Rhode Island at 1 p.m. and should test the endurance and depth of the whole squad, especially the pitching staff and catcher position.

Double-headers and crammed schedules are always a strain on a team's pitching, but the catching?

Two Mondays ago in the Northeastern double-header, back-up catcher Todd Ezold, who had been seeing a alot of playing time, caught a foul-tip on his ring finger, splitting the finger. Ezold has not caught since.

Ezold's injury left the Minutemen with two catchers, starter Butch LeBlanc and sopohmore Dan Clifford. Early in the first game this past Saturday against Vermont, LeBlanc was hurt when a collision at home plate left him with a gash in his leg that required stitches.

Suddenly Clifford was thrust into the starting spot with all the inherent responbility that goes with being catcher. Displaying a shotgun arm, Clifford made the most of his opportunity.

Besides throwing out two runners trying to steal second and hindering Vermont baserunning in general, Clifford proved to be defensively sound behind the plate as well as collecting a hit at the plate.

"Some years you only need one catcher; we're lucky to have three this year. Dan Clifford played very well," remarked Bergquist.

Ezold may be ready to play any day now while LeBlanc will not be in the lineup until this Saturday at the earliest.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

Volume CXII, Issue 123 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Thursday, April 28, 1983

Collegian photo by Kevin Fachetti

Hundreds of students took advantage of the bright sun yesterday to enjoy some music at the Southwest Pyramids. The music was presented as part of the Southwest Day celebration.

Speaker says Mafia in on JFK's death

By RICHARD NANGLE
Collegian Staff

The Dallas, Texas assassination of John F. Kennedy was a conspiracy orchestrated by the Mafia, said Amherst High School teacher Mark H. Gerstein during a presentation last night at the University of Massachusetts.

Using a chart that included the names of alleged killer Lee Harvey Oswald and his assassin Jack Ruby, Gerstein traced a maze of associations that connected people who knew Oswald to people who knew Ruby, during the presentation at the Campus Center.

Many of the people listed on the chart were involved with the Mafia in the United States and Cuba. One of the people, Charles "Dutz" Murret was Oswald's surrogate father.

Gerstein said one of the reasons the Mafia wanted to kill the President was in order to silence then-Attorney General Robert Kennedy. The younger Kennedy was the only attorney general in history to ever go after the Mafia, Gerstein said.

Then Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa who was infamous for his hate of the Kennedys is reported to have said after the President's death, "Well, Bobby Kennedy's just another lawyer now," Gerstein said.

Ruby, Gerstein said, killed Oswald in order to silence him. Oswald had told the press after he was arrested that he was "just a patsy," Gerstein said.

The same people who manipulated Oswald manipulated Ruby into carrying out the second assassination, Gerstein said.

Gerstein said he doubts whether Oswald was even involved in the shooting but that even if he was, there were shots fired from other places also. Possible areas were other buildings, or the also infamous grassy knoll to the right of the motorcade.

A witness, according to Gerstein, said she saw Oswald eating lunch on the second floor of the book depository where he allegedly fired the shots 10 minutes before the Presidential motorcade passed by.

Approximately 80 seconds after the shooting a police officer pulled a gun on Oswald in the same cafeteria as the "suspicious looking" suspect walked toward a soda machine. At that time the manager of the book depository said, "That's Lee Harvey Oswald. He's one of my boys," to the officer, Gerstein said.

Gerstein said that while it is entirely possible that Oswald could have come down from the top floor of the depository and acted as if nothing had happened after having killed the President of the United States, it is also highly unlikely.

The Warren Commission which originally said Oswald acted alone was dismissed by Gerstein as completely offbase.

As an example, Gerstein told of a prop used during one of the Warren Commission's proceedings. It was Jack Ruby's mother's dental chart.

Senate funds recycling center

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

The bottle and can redemption center for the University of Massachusetts campus will open on Monday, May 2, following approval of a $2,500 loan last night by the Undergraduate Student Senate.

Recycling Project Administrator James Crosby told the Senate the center "will kick off at 1 p.m. Monday on the Campus Center Concourse."

The redemption center will go out to the students with a "roving redemption service," which will operate "one night each week, 4:30 to 6:30 in each living area, and will also be open in the Campus Center Concourse two days in the afternoon," Crosby said.

"We will limit a little the brands we will take," Crosby said, but "all Pepsi and Coke products," and "85 percent of all beer brands sold in the area" will be accepted.

Crosby said redemption centers will pay out five cents per container to students and get back seven cents for every container from the redeemer.

Crosby said his projection estimates $250 per month net income.

Crosby said approximately $11,900 will be used for an "initial cash bank" to pay students the return on their empty containers. Another $500 dollars is needed for advertising and payroll, he said.

The senate also approved a proposal from SGA Treasurer Eric Nitzsche, which will allow variances in the amount of inventory that Student Controlled Businesses (SCB's) can count as cash when making purchase orders within the University accounting system.

"Right now, SCB's can write purchase orders on 50 percent of their inventory, but there is no policy that says how we can change that rate," Nitzsche said.

The new Asset Funded Purchase Order System will allow variances above or below the 50 percent limit, Nitzsche said, but there will be "no limit set." The rate for individual SCB's "will be decided by the Economic Development Board and, ultimately, the senate," Nitzsche said.

Public Policy Committee Chair Sheila Sullivan announced last night that there is a "very good possibility that we'll have a student on the Board of Regents before September." Sullivan said that a bill filed into the state by the House of Representatives by the Public Policy Committee has been combined with a similar State bill filed by Sen. Gerard D'Amico, D-Worcester, and should be voted on before June. She said that the bill, which would require a student Regent, should be sent from the Senate Ways and Means Committee to the legislature with a favorable recommendation, which would help the final vote.

In other business last night, the Senate elected George Vasquez as the UMass alternate representative to the State Student Association of Massachusetts.

The Senate delayed approval of the Northeast Area Government constitution because of "complications with it" according to Governmental Affairs Committee Chair Mindy Ordway. The constitution of the Distinguished Visitors Program was "automatically tabled," Ordway said.

A child's right to privacy

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

Educating children on their rights as individuals is one of the first steps in helping to prevent the sexual abuse of children, said the director of a child personal safety program last night at the University of Massachusetts.

"Children have a right to privacy. Their body is their own. It is important that they realize that," said Geraldine Crisci.

The personal safety program is a prevention project designed to edcuated children on what sexual abuse is and what they can do to prevent it, she said.

Although statistics are unclear on how many cases of sexual abuse of children actually occur in the nation, because so few cases are actually reported, it is estimated that one in every four female children and one in every eight male children are sexually abused in one way or another, she said.

Sexually abused children are usually aware that something is wrong or scary or that they have no choice as to why she said.

"Children know when they are being exploited. They know when they want to be touched and when they don't," she said.

One of the major things PSP encourages children to do is say no to adults who are attempting to harm them, she said.

Sometimes this is difficult for children to do because they "believe that adults know what they are doing and are very complacent," she said.

It is important for adults close to children to make them realize that when they do have a problem they can talk it over with someone, she said.

"I have found in dealing with these children that if we say we are willing to listen, more often than not, kids will want to talk about it," she said.

Another important factor in dealing with child sexual assault is to teach children what they can do if they are or think they will be sexually abused, she said.

"Children will most often not tell anyone about their experiences. If they did tell an adult and that adult did nothing about it, then the child will probably never tell anyone again," she said.

It is important for parents to tell their children that they are willing to listen to what their children have to say.

Collegian photo by Katie Wetters

Three unidentified University of Massachusetts students take advantage of the Outing Club's offer of free canoe rides on the campus pond yesterday afternoon.

World and National News

Shultz goes to Mid East

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz embarked on his first attempt at shuttle diplomacy yesterday and heard Israel's explanation of why it is not ready to withdraw all its troops from Lebanon.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin told him Israel's security interests must be protected in any agreement on the withdrawal of foreign troops from southern Lebanon, Begin's spokesman Uri Porat told reporters.

Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir told Shultz the Lebanese army can't do the job, Israel wants no foreign peacekeeping troops on its borders, and that it demands some Israeli troops remain in southern Lebanon on joint patrol with Lebanese soldiers, a senior Israeli official said.

The official said Shamir also discussed Israel's insistence on putting security in southern Lebanon in the hands of Maj. Saad Haddad, who quit the Lebanese army and commands a militia in southern Lebanon that was armed and trained by Israel.

The deadlock facing Shultz was underlined in Beirut, where the Lebanese Parliament after a two-day secret debate voted unanimous support of President Amin Gemayel's rejection of any form of Israeli military presence in southern Lebanon. It also endorsed his refusal to take Haddad back into the Lebanese army and put him in command of a 25-mile-deep buffer zone north of the Israeli border.

Shultz on his arrival from Cairo made clear that he expects Israel's leaders to agree to withdraw all their troops from Lebanon and drop their demand for a military presence there.

"Our immediate task is bringing peace to Lebanon, restoring Lebanese sovereignty, and withdrawing all foreign forces and ensuring peace and security" on the Israeli-Lebanese border, he said on arriving at Ben-Gurion International Airport.

AP Laserphoto

Robert Pfeiffer tests out the ultimate in commuter shuttles as he zips down Interstate 5 near Cardiff-by-the-Sea, Calif. Pfeiffer, 38, rents out the converted DC-3 to parades, conventions and parties at a cost of $1,500 per day.

Judges to review 'Lenox 7' case

BOSTON (AP) — Appeals Court Chief Justice Allan M. Hale promised on Wednesday to appoint a panel of judges to hear a full appeal of jail terms for the "Lenox 7" as soon as the necessary papers are filed.

The state Supreme Court had negated involuntary manslaughter convictions for the seven men, who are accused in the deaths of two Lee youths, Richard Retzel Jr., 18, and Barry Griffin Jr., 19, following a graduation party fracas in 1981.

Defendants Peter Bianco, Joseph Burke, Robert Walker, Bruce Kern, Mark Hinman, Todd Terpak and Steven Piretti were returned to Berkshire Superior Court and then sentenced to 18 months in jail on assault and battery convictions that had been placed on file.

Their attorneys claimed this was double jeopardy and violated due process, although the high court said that they could be sentenced for the lesser charge when they prevailed on the manslaughter indictment.

Attorneys William K. Danaher Jr., of Springfield, and Henry J. Boitel of Rockville Center, N.Y., argued for the defendants. Danaher said Trial Judge William Simons, in his probation report, listed death as the injury factor in the assault and battery while the higher court ruled it was not proved that the fight led to the drownings.

The attorneys contended that there would have been no new penalty on the assault and battery conviction if the high court had not ruled out the manslaughter convictions.

Danaher said, "We are not asking the court to review the length of the sentences...but the taking of the cases from the files has the appearance of vindictiveness." He said it was in essence a sentence for the manslaughter charge on which they were cleared.

Reagan says (a moral duty)

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan urged the nation and a skeptical Congress last night to embrace his Central America program on grounds that the United States has "a vital interest, a moral duty and a solemn responsibility" to protect the region from leftist revolution.

In a rare address to a joint session of Congress, Reagan said, "I say to you that tonight there can be no question: the national security of all the Americas is at stake in Central America.

"If we cannot defend ourselves there," said Reagan, "we cannot expect to prevail elsewhere. Our credibility would collapse, our alliances would crumble, and the safety of our homeland would be put at jeopardy."

Reagan's nationally broadcast address was primarily an attempt to salvage a proposed $110 million in U.S. aid for the besieged regime in El Salvador. Congress so far has balked over all but $30 million of that.

But Reagan pressed Congress to approve his request for aid for all of Central America, totaling about $600 million for 1984. "That is less than one-tenth of what Americans will spend this year on coin-operated video games," the president said.

"What the administration is asking for on behalf of freedom in Central America is so small, so minimal - considering what is at stake," he added.

Reagan said the Caribbean Basin region is "a magnet for adventurism" primarily sponsored by the Soviet Union and Cuba. "If the Nazis during World War II and the Soviets today could recognize the Caribbean and Central America as vital to our interests, should not we also?" he asked.

Reagan noted the seizure in Brazil of four Libyan cargo planes loaded with arms enroute to Nicaragua, and said "violence has been Nicaragua's most important export to the world."

Digest

By the Associated Press

'Grand Slamm' pleads innocent to gang rape

AYER, Mass. (AP) — Four men associated with the local rock band "Grand Slamm" pleaded innocent Wednesday in Ayer District Court to last weekend's gang rape of an 18- year-old female Army private stationed at Fort Devens.

During the hearing, charges of kidnapping were dropped but charges of aggravated rape remained against Corey W. Pirotta, 25, Glenn C. Little, 26, John R. Fournier, 25, all of Newburyport, Mass., and Thomas Crowe, 24, of Salem, N.H, according to Thomas Reilly, Middlesex County assistant district attorney.

A probable cause hearing is set for May 9, Reilly said, and all four remain free on $1,000 bail. District Court Judge David Williams heard the arraignment.

Police said the rape occurred after the band "Grand Slamm," based primarily in Newburyport, finished an engagement Friday night at Franklin's Club in Shirley, Mass. Police charge the woman was raped repeatedly on the band's bus while traveling to Ayer on Route 2A.

Expert says abuse killed young Brandy

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — An expert in child abuse testified Wednesday that the fatal injuries suffered by 3-year-old Brandy Mallett could not have been caused by a fall down the stairs of the family home.

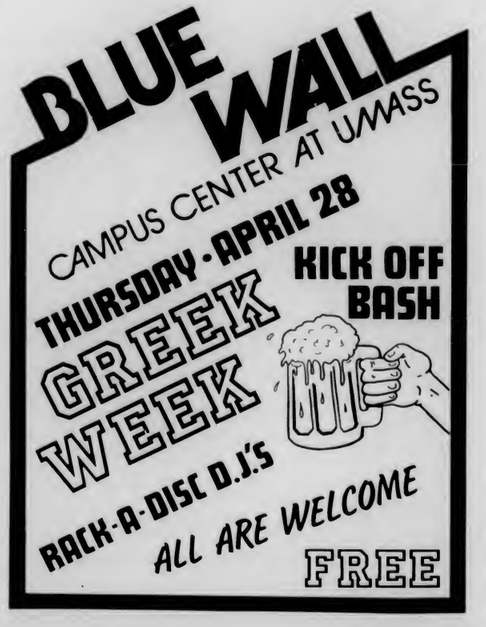
Dr. Eli Newberger, a pediatrician who has treated 1,500 cases of child abuse, said he doubted the child could have sustained the injuries that killed her even if she had been thrown down the stairs.

He said if the child had been brought to him "our diagnosis would have to be child abuse."

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Scott "One Last Fling" Hersey
Copy Editor — Paul "The Gripless Wonder" Belval
Layout Technician — Stephen "Center of the Universe" Anderson
Photo Technician — Katie "It's Jim on the phone again" Watters
Composition — Gail Tanzer, Laurie Frank, Adrianne Dufour, Brian Fitz Maurice, Dave Rath, Joy McCarty, Marge Hochman, Tim Riviere, Tracy Lang, Joanne Gaudette, Jamie Katz, Sue Hawkins, Ed Tausky, James Shanahan, Stuart Sajdak, Marianne Walsh

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.



Rent control opposed by Amherst selectman

By TAMI BORTON
Collegian Staff

Amherst selectmen Tuesday took a stand against rent control, an article for the Town Meeting supported by University of Massachusetts student Town Meeting Members.

Selectmen Barbara Griffith and Richard Minear supported the article while Edith Wilkinson, Fredrick Steinbeck and Allen Torrey voted against the proposal.

If passed at town meeting, which begins May 3 at 7:30 p.m., the state legislature must give the town approval to write a bylaw, Wilkinson said. The law would then have to be approved again at town meeting, she said.

"I feel it will distract from time and resources for other things (in town) that need immediate attention," Wilkinson said.

Town meeting member Robert Chisolm expressed his opposition to the proposal, noting a 19 percent increase in rent in Amherst since 1970, while the price of dormitory living has increased 98 percent during that time.

The article for the town warrant is a petition filed by Deborah Dizzard for the establishment of a rent control board that will be supported by fees paid by the renters.

Out of the 4,500 rental units in Amherst, about 3,000 will be affected by the rent control board, according to a Collegian article which appeared March 30.

The decision of the selectmen not to endorse a fund for fireworks may mean July fourth celebrations will have to be funded through voluntary donations.

The selectmen did not approve the $3,000 apropriation for holiday celebrations because the request was "not appropriate" for the town's operating budget, Selectman Barbara Griffith said.

"I've always enjoyed the fireworks, I watch them every year, but I question their position as part of the town budget," she said.

In the past, fireworks have always been funded through donations. However, this year the Finance Committee made the recommendation the town fund the celebration because "they felt it was worthy of town support," Joan Golowich, chair of the Finance Committee said.

Selectman Allen Torrey questioned whether the committee had noted a lack of public support as basis for their decision, which Golowich said was not apparent.

"The request would be more appropriate if introduced under leisure services for the town," Griffith said.

Collegian photo by Nick Moodios

An aerial view of the Southwest Day celebration is seen from the fourth floor of Washington Tower.

The selectmen also decided not to support article 46 which calls for a motor vehicle excise tax exemption for former prisoners of war.

"There is no proof these people are suffering as to warrant this exemption, or that they are at a disadvantage," Selectman Fredrick Steinbeck said.

"I hate to think we don't support them (prisoners of war)," selectmen's Chair Edith Wilkinson said.

Article 16, calling for $40,000 for the replacement of a traffic light at the intersection of North Pleasant Street and Eastman Lane, was endorsed. "For $40,000 I'll stand out there with a red flag," Steinbeck said.

Charter Day to celebrate UMass' 120th birthday

Pond festivities promise a full day

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

Sons of Massachusetts, devoted daughters true;
Bay State, Old Bay State, we'll give our best to you.
Thee, our Alma Mater, we'll cherish for all time,
Should auld acquaintance be forgot
Massachusetts, yours and mine.

—University of Massachusetts School song, adapted from Fred D. Griggs, '13

The University of Massachusetts will celebrate the 120th anniversary of its charter tomorrow with bells, bands, balloons, booths, cake and speeches. Events will kick off at 12:30 on the east side of the campus pond.

A marimba band will begin the festivities, followed by remarks from UMass Chancelor Joseph D. Duffey, President David C. Knapp and Board of Trustees Chair Robert Quinn.

The original charter will be read by James MacRostie, director of building operations at the Fine Arts Center, Gov. Michael S. Dukakis' proclamation of Charter Day will also be read.

At 1 p.m. there will be a balloon release, after which 119 loaf cakes and a giant 750 lb. anniversary cake will be cut and served to the crowd.

A rope pull between administrators and students, a charity dunking booth and 12 tables, each commemorating one decade in the university's history, will be in operation throughout the afternoon. These events are being sponsored by the Greek area as part of their Greek Week activities.

A slide show depicting the university throughout its history will be shown in the Student Union Ballroom beginning at 12:30 p.m. Admission is free to the 2 1/2 hour film, which is accompanied by period music and uses Collegian headlines to recount the past.

Three rock'n'roll bands will complete the afternoon by the pond, running from about 2 to 6 p.m.

Ceremonies will continue on Saturday in Bowker Auditorium beginning at 10 a.m. President Knapp will introduce six noted guest speakers, award two honorary degrees and present Chancellor Duffey with the chancellor's medallion in his official convocation as the fourth chancellor of the University.

Cake highlight of campus activities

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

A four-tiered yellow pound cake with white icing, weighing about 750 pounds and containing 1,074,200 calories, will be displayed and consumed near the campus pond tomorrow as part of the University of Massachusetts' 120th birthday festivities.

"We've made 'em big, but not this big," said Edward Sacco, UMass Food Services bakery manager and chef for the project.

Sacco along with bakers Battiste Netto and (brothers) George and Robert Sacco, will assemble the cake tomorrow on location, using 51 sheet cakes and 255 pounds of frosting on an 8 foot by 4 foot plywood board.

The cake's four layers are approximately six inches high and will be connected by pillars, making the creation 40 to 45 inches high.

The top will be decorated with the UMass logo set on a tripod for visibility. Frosting tinted "as close as we can come to maroon" will be used for trim.

The sides of the cake will be inscribed as follows: 1983 (top layer), Charter Day (second tier), Happy Anniversary (third tier) and University of Massachusetts (base layer.)

This large creation is the 120th in a batch of cakes to be baked for the celebration.

One loaf cake for each year since the school's founding, from 1863 to 1982, or 119 loaves, will be used to commemorate the day. Each yellow cake will bear its year in maroon icing on top of white frosting.

Sacco has not yet calculated the cost of the huge delicacy, yet did elaborate on the quantities of ingredients used.

The cake recipe calls for 72 pounds of shortening, 120 pounds of cake flour, 132 pounds of sugar, 3 pounds of salt, 3 pounds of baking powder, 102 dozen eggs, 36 quarts milk, and 1½ quarts vanilla extract.

The frosting will include 100 pounds of confectionary sugar, 25 pounds of shortening, 5 quarts water, 5 ounces of salt and 1 pint vanilla extract.

Slicing of the cakes for distribution to the crowd, free of charge, will begin about 1 p.m. The one pound loaf cakes will be distributed first and should feed up to 2000 people.

Following the reception, bands, a rope pull, and dunking game will bring the festivities to a close about 6 p.m.

State committee to meet here

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

The level of funding for public higher education will be the topic of discussion when the State House and Senate Ways and Means Committees meet in a rare joint session tomorrow at the University of Massachusetts.

Chancellor of Higher Education John B. Duff is expected to present a short statement to the committees on the need for the full $448 million dollars recommended for higher education in Governor Michael S. Dukakis' fiscal year 1984 budget.

The Board of Regents and the heads of all Massachusetts colleges and universities have also been invited to attend the hearing to answer specific questions on their institutions' funding requests.

State Senator John Olver, D-Amherst, said he feels there is a chance higher education funding could be cut as part of an overall paring of the Governor's proposed budget which he termed "way out of balance."

"There are many legislators who feel that the entire budget as proposed by the Governor is way out of balance," Olver said.

"There is no doubt in my mind that cuts are going to have to be made somewhere. I have not yet received enough information as to where the cuts should be made which is why we are holding the hearing on higher education on Friday."

UMass Director of State Relations Sharon Kennough, was more optimistic than Olver.

"I am encouraged that they (the committees) are conducting a hearing," she said.

"I cannot remember any other time they have met in a joint session," she said. "I can only remember one other time that either committee even met outside the City of Boston."

"It looks promising that they are coming to Amherst, the largest public school in the State."

The meeting will be open to the public at 1 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium.

Collegian photo by Ann Lamery

Because most older people were outside enjoying the sun yesterday, two-year-old Jonathon Lawall found some room to crawl around the Campus Center.

Sunderland offers tan without danger

By DAVID MUNIZ
Collegian Correspondent

SUNDERLAND- Anyone who wants to get a head start on a tan for the summer but can't afford to skip their afternoon classes can consider trying a tanning bed or booth, instead of relying on the sun.

The Racquet and Fitness Center, located in Sunderland, has just such a facility for tans. Their tanning "bed" uses two kinds of ultraviolet rays, UVA rays, and UVB rays. Together, these rays combine to give anyone a tan, and not a burn.

For the average person with fair skin, it takes at least three half-hour visits to get a noticeable tan, and eight to twelve visits for a "savage" tan. Tanning lotions and oils are not needed, and the center provides goggles to protect eyes from the rays.

Because one is inside, it is not necessary to wear any clothing while tanning. This makes it possible to get an even tan all over.

The wind, clouds, rain, and the possibility of getting a burn are all problems associated with outdoor tanning. None of these exist on a tanning bed. The bed method is also much quicker.

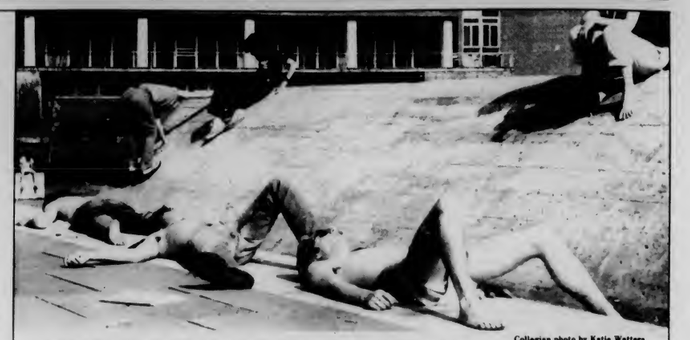
Mark Huetteman, assistant manager of the center explains how a tanning bed works. "You lay down on a piece of plexiglass, underneath which are located the bulbs. Another set of lights pulls down over you. It's kind of like a hamburger press."

The club charges $5 per visit. He also said that it offers "package deals" such as seven visits for the price of six visits and thirteen visits for $50.

The bed has been at the club since the middle of March. Huetteman says that the response has been extremely good. "We are very happy with the response we've gotten, especially with UMass women," he said.

"The majority of people using it are women, although a lot of guys use it too. Mainly students use the tanning beds and the Nautilus and racquetball facilities, although older people also use them too. Some professors also use the beds after playing tennis or working out," he said.

Even though the beds have been enjoying a very good response from the public, in general, the club has already noticed a slow down in the beds' use as the weather improves. "As the weather gets warmer, we naturally expect it to slow down, it's to be expected." Huetteman added.



Collegian photo by Katie Watters

Jim Wadsworth, Danny Sobel, John Benet, and Erica Liss take some time out yesterday afternoon to try and catch some sun outside the Campus Center.

Warm day provides welcome break

By TRICIA A. YACOVONE
Collegian Staff

On one of the nicest days of spring, hundreds of students threw down books, blankets and sometimes clothing, to enjoy the finer qualities of the season yesterday.

Students—some whom were cutting classes—gathered around the campus pond, in front of the Fine Arts Center and just about anywhere else that the sun, a dry piece of grass, and a view could be found. Afternoon classes were held outside, and some were even cancelled.

Call them sunworshippers, sunbathers, tan enthusiasts or what you like, they were out in force yesterday to engage in their outdoor activities, whatever they may be.

Some, like Todd Hartigan, a first year student in the College of Arts and Sciences, sat outside yesterday to "worship the sun." "Yes, I've decided to revive an old religion today, that's why I'm here," he said.

Some like being outside for purposes of reminiscing. "I put on the Walkman and tune out. It makes me think of summers in Conway, New Hampshire—, cold breeze and moderate temperatures," said Don Cassidy, a sophomore Social Thought and Political Economy major.

Janet Leonard has a different reason for reminiscing by the Campus Pond. "This is my last semester at school, so this will be one of the last times I'll be able to enjoy being out here. I like to sit close to the water to see the swans," she said.

Some people used the sunny day as an opportunity to draw, paint or party. One student decided to go outside where it was cooler than the heated buildings to finish her piece of art. "It's so nice out, I've been out all day. I like to go out when I can because you never know when you're going to get sun up here," said Lynne O'Hara, a sophomore English major from Lexington.

The canoes were out as well, courtesy of the Outing Club. Leslie Quinn, the chairman of the cross-country skiing for the Outing Club said he brought the canoes out for the students to enjoy.

"The canoes are locked up in this dark room feeling forlorn, so when we take them out they get to feel useful," he said. He commented on the additional enjoyment he receives from seeing students faces when they say "Free!"

The only obligation in using the canoe is to listen to a one minute speech from Quinn on the hints and regulations for a successful canoe ride.

Steve Hershman was one of the people who listened to Quinn and took advantage of this opportunity. "I wanted to take a cruise around the beautiful campus pond and see the campus from a swan's perspective." he said.

STOP

There's no need to hurry!
Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

Candy	Film	Newspapers
Tobacco	Film Processing	Tote Bags
Cards	Clocks	School Supplies
Calendars	Batteries	Typewriter Ribbons
Cassette Tapes	Electrical Supplies	Glassware
Books	Lamps	Cups
Backpacks	Magazines	Decals
Clothing	Memo Board	Pennants
Gifts	Pens and Pencils	Chips
Cosmetics	Binders	Cookies
Health and Beauty Aids	Notebooks	Popcorn
	Paper	Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528

Located in the Student Union

Convenient Hours
M-F 7:30 am to 10:00 pm
Saturday and Sunday
8:30 am to 10:00 pm

the Mini Store

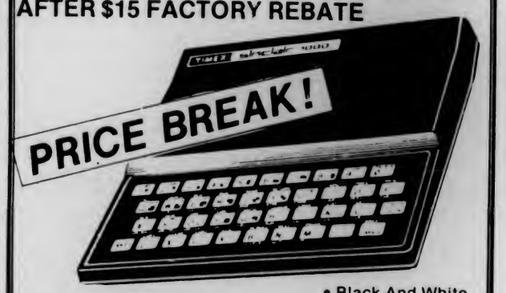
TIMEX sinclair 1000

Computer

Rebate expires April 30, 1983!

$44.95

AFTER $15 FACTORY REBATE



• Black And White Graphics

59.95 REGULAR PRICE
$15.00 FACTORY REBATE
44.95 YOUR FINAL COST

Other accessories available

TIMEX 16 RAM EXPANSION 44.95
Provides instant memory expansion from 2K to 16K.
TS1016WTW

Fully programmable 2K personal computer with expandable memory. Unique single-key entry of commands—LIST, RUN, PRINT, etc. Graph drawing and animated display. Connects easily to any TV set. Expandable. Portable. Clearly written manual makes it easy to learn and use.
TS1000-WTW

UNIVERSITY STORE

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

Amherst Chinese Foods
Best Mandarin Food
62-64 Main St.
Amherst
Closed Wednesdays
WE DO NOT USE MSG OR ARTIFICIAL COLOR
We use FRESH Vegetables from Our Own Farm
BEER & WINE LICENSE
SUNDAY BRUNCH
ALL YOU CAN EAT
$5.95
253-7635

The Amherst Masquers Present

VATSLAV

by Slawomir Mrozek
Directed by Richard Mennon
Kirby Theater
April 29, 30 & May 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7
8:00 P.M.
Admission $2.50
Senior Citizens $1.50
Amherst College students free with I.D.
For reservations call 542-2277
Box office hours: 10-5 weekdays

Vatslav, by the contemporary Polish master of the Theatre of the Grotesque Joke, is a dark, political farce written in 1970 with amazing prescience about the tragedy happening now in Poland . . . and elsewhere . . . and before.

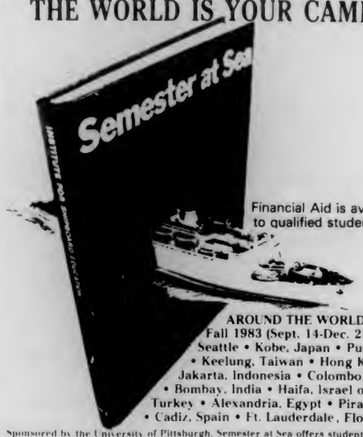
BARSELOTTI'S

Thursday Night Special
DOWNTOWN AMHERST
$1.00 off any name Pitcher of beer
with this coupon
DON'T FORGET OUR FRIDAY HAPPY HOUR
WITH MORE FOOD THAN EVER!

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY Telephone (413) 545-3500
Collegian
campus locale: University of Massachusetts Amherst Mass 01003

BUSINESS POSITIONS FOR FALL 1983
Applications now being accepted for:
Co-Finance Managers
Assistant Business Manager
Assistant Advertising Managers
Advertising Representatives
Application Deadline: Thursday 4/28
Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center
The Collegian is an Equal Opportunity Employer

THE WORLD IS YOUR CAMPUS



Financial Aid is available to qualified students

AROUND THE WORLD:
Fall 1983 (Sept. 14-Dec. 23)
Seattle • Kobe, Japan • Pusan, Korea • Keelung, Taiwan • Hong Kong • Jakarta, Indonesia • Colombo, Sri Lanka • Bombay, India • Haifa, Israel or Istanbul, Turkey • Alexandria, Egypt • Piraeus, Greece • Cadiz, Spain • Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh, Semester at Sea offers students a superior full semester academic program and supporting field experiences. This one semester experience is available to qualified students from all accredited colleges and universities.
More than 60 voyage related university courses. Faculty drawn from the University of Pittsburgh and other leading universities, augmented by visiting area experts.
Optional tours, including special tours into the People's Republic of China, available.
Semester at Sea admits students without regard to color, race or creed. The SS Universe is fully air-conditioned, 18,000 tons, registered in Liberia and built in America.
For a free color brochure, write: Semester at Sea, UCIS, University of Pittsburgh, Forbes Quadrangle, Pittsburgh, PA 15260, or call toll free (800) 854-0195 (in California call (714) 771-6590).

General Ed proposal revised

By MARY ANNE BEEN
Collegian Staff

The Faculty Senate is preparing a by-law change to create a General Education Council which will oversee the "core curriculum" required of all undergraduate students, and will continue discussion of the General Education proposal defeated at the April 7th meeting.

The by-law change, presented by the Faculty Senate Rules Committee, is one of three motions accepted at the April 7th meeting. These motions replaced the six motions orginally part of the General Education Curriculum proposal.

The General Education Council, if created, will accept the reservations and alterations suggested by the Ad Hoc Committee's report on General Education and the Acadcmic Matters Council report.

During the April 7th meeting, the Faculty Senate voted to just "receive" the General Education proposal, rather than accept or reject it.

"By voting to just receive the proposal, the senate saved General Ed. for the time being," said Jesse Ortiz, associate professor of Public Health, said.

"Some people believe that our actions represented a failure of nerve, a lack of courage," said Jay Demerath, a sociology professor. "People have to understand that these kinds of issues take time."

According to the Rules Committee's special report, the council will be primarily responsible for developing policy recommendations, and reviewing and recommending courses proposed by departments and programs for the General Education Curriculum.

The by-law change must be read by the Faculty Senate three times before it can be voted on. The third reading will take place on May 19th, the Senate's last meeting of the 1983 spring semester.

"I am entirely in favor of these three new motions," said Glen Gorden, professor of Political Science. "I did not think that the proposal would pass as written.

The replacement of the Ad Hoc Committee with a General Education Council is seen as a definite positive step, according to Fern Johnson, an associate professor of communications studies.

UMass does well in marathon

By TIM MacPHEE
Collegian Staff

Several University of Massachusetts students and faculty members were among the more than 6,700 runners who completed the legendary Boston Marathon last Monday.

"I predicted 3 hours and 10 minutes and I think I was lucky," said UMass Data Control Director Jim Cappiello. Cappiello completed the 26.2 mile race in 3:08.

"It was tough staying warm at first, but once we got into it, it was pretty comfortable," Cappiello said.

"There was a tailwind which was helpful," the 40-year old administrator said. "At the twenty-mile mark we hit the hills and the last four miles were a real struggle for me."

Cappiello said he was pleased with his finishing time because he trained for the race sporadically. While he has been a recreational jogger for the past four years, he said he has been running seriously only for the past two.

Freshman CASIAC major David Callaghan, senior David Croke, junior journalism major Ken Lundberg and exercise science graduate student Bill Tharien also completed the gruelling race.

Croke made it to Newton's Heartbreak Hill in 2 hours and 51 minutes. He said psychological preparation is the most important training necessary to complete the race.

"I did it because it gave me personal satisfaction," he said. "It was there and was something to accomplish. It takes motivation and desire," the 22 year-old Hotel Restaurant and Travel Administration major said.

Croke compared finishing the marathon to studying for a test, saying that training well pays off at the finish line just as studying for a test pays off when you receive a good grade.

"My aunt has cancer, so I got over 60 sponsors—friends and relatives who donated from $20 to $25 each," he said.

Croke said his blisters have finally healed and he has started running again.

"I'm kind of glad it's over," Croke said. "Running 80 miles a week is time consuming. Besides that, I am the coxswain of the University Varsity Crew Team. Between the two, they take up most of my time."

JUNIORS/SENIORS
PUT YOUR DEGREE TO WORK

Whatever your degree will be, we can give you a management position (if you qualify). You'll get technical training and managerial experience. The Navy offers managerial positions in the following areas:

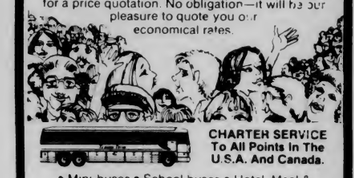
* AVIATION
* ELECTRONICS
* ENGINEERING
* BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION/ PURCHASING
* PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION
* SYSTEMS ANALYSIS

All positions require a superior academic record good health and th ability to pass our aptitude and physical exams. Age to 34 (federal age restriction) and U.S. citizenship is also required. Your benefits package includes 30 days vacation each year, free medical and dental coverage, low-cost life insurance and tax-free allowances. All of this, in addition to starting salary of over $17,800. If you're interested in gaining managerial and technical responsibilty fast, call collect:

Navy Management Programs
(518).462-6119

GOING SOMEWHERE IN A GROUP?

For your next trip—any size group—call or visit us for a price quotation. No obligation—it will be our pleasure to quote you our economical rates.



CHARTER SERVICE To All Points In The U.S.A. And Canada.

• Mini-buses • School buses • Hotel, Meal & Sightseeing Arrangements • Luxurious Highway Coaches Restroom Equipped and Air-Conditioned • Express Bus Service to Bradley Airport. For Information, Call 781-3320

Travel Time Bus Lines Inc.
99 Arnold Street Springfield, MA
General Office & Charter Service: 783-0211
Toll Free in MA 1-800-322-0297

SUMMER SESSION REGISTRATION BEGINS MAY 2

Register now for UMass/Amherst summer courses at the Records and Registration Office, Division of Continuing Education, Southeast Entrance, University Library. Copies of the Course Listing are available at the Division's Information desk. Don't wait until classes are full. Register now for optimum choice.

Thursday
OLDIES
with
Gregg Adams
TWO FOR ONE
9 til 11
all liquor drinks
no cover
THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

YOU GIVE SIX MONTHS TO ONE YEAR ISRAEL GIVES YOU PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

EXPLORE THE UNIQUE OPPORTUNITIES OF SHERUT LA'AM
Sciences • Community Relations • Teaching
Social Work • Health • Environmental Protection
There's something for you in Israel. Contact:
AMERICAN ZIONIST YOUTH FOUNDATION
515 Park Ave., NY, NY 10022 (212) 751-6070 Ext. 247/248

Israeli Representative from the Kibbutz Desk will be available all day Wed. May 11 to meet with students who want to go to Israel.
Call Debbie Propper 545-2526 for more info
302 Student Union

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
School _____ Year _____ Major _____
CLIP AND MAIL

All University Men come try out for the UMass Football/Basketball Cheerleading Squad.
Friday, 4/29 & Mon 5/2 at Boyden Gym or call Bill 549-6447

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS Charter Day

JOIN US! for a
Charter Day
celebration of the 120th anniversary
of the Founding of the
University of Massachusetts

ROPEPULL
BOOTHS
BALLOONS
BANNER CONTEST
BIRTHDAY CAKES

on Friday, April 29, 1983 at 12:30 p.m., Campus Pond
(rain site: Student Union Ballroom)

PLUS Charter Day Convocation, Saturday, April 30 at 10:30 a.m. in Bowker Auditorium, featuring installation of Chancellor Joseph Duffey

Engineering gets new terminals

New computer terminals, specially designed for use in computer graphics, will be added to the University of Massachusetts department of mechanical engineering design center, head of the department John R. Dickson announced recently.

The department of electrical and computer engineering will also receive new equipment, designed to help laboratory design of new computer systems.

Man charged with drunk driving

An 18-year-old Holland resident was arrested after 1 a.m. yesterday by University of Massachusetts police and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and being a minor transporting alcohol, police said.

The man, who is not a UMass student, was driving south on Infirmary Way, crossed the intersection of Clark Hill Road and struck the curbing on the south side of Clark Hill Road. No one was injured in the mishap but extensive damage was done to the underside of the suspect's vehicle.

Wexler joins Hampshire board

Three persons, including Washington Consultant Anne Wexler and Secretary of Transportation Brock Adams, were recently elected to the Hampshire College Board of Trustees.

Wexler, president of Wexler and Associates Inc. and a former Assistant to President Jimmy Carter, is the wife of University of Massachusetts Chancellor Joseph Duffey.

Adams, former Secretary of Transportation under Carter, was also elected, along with a third person, Dartmouth physics Professor Leonard Rieser.

Group gives battered women support

By ONAIDA FOX
Collegian Correspondent

Every 18 seconds a woman is beaten somewhere in the United States. Due to this overwhelming statistic of violence against women, local women have banded together to form an organization to help battered women.

Necessities, located in Northampton, was first established in 1978 as a task force. Later, in 1979, a grant funded by the Department of Social Services enabled them to branch out. They now have three full-time paid employees, and 17 volunteers who staff their 24-hour hotline, said Bonnie Mckee, a member of Necessities.

Necessities provides services for women in Hampshire county, through an abuse prevention act. Necessities helps women in court to obtain temporary restrictions and child custody orders. They also provide battered women with short term shelters through private housing, and welfare information, she said.

"We provide a lot of supportive counseling. We let them (women) know we believe them and are here for them, which comforts them," she said.

It is difficult for a battered woman to believe that she does not deserve to be beaten, Mckee said.

"Frequently the abuser tells the abusee that she deserved it because she did not have his dinner on time, or because she is unattractive. When a woman hears something like that a lot, it is hard for her to believe otherwise," she said.

There is no reason for a man to abuse a woman. A man does not have to hit a woman because they are arguing, she said.

"No one deserves that," Mckee said.

It is a myth that men cannot control their anger. A man does not beat up a police officer or co-worker just because he is angry with them, she said.

"He can control himself or learn to," she said.

Battering does not only occur in low-income third world families, Mckee said.

"Battering occurs on all economic levels. Some doctors, lawyers, and even professors beat their wives," she said.

Many obstacles prevent women from leaving a man who abuses them. It is difficult for women to find help in these situations, she said.

"The police do not take the issue of battering seriously, they consider it a private matter," she said.

Many women return to the abusive partner after a period of time. It is hard for them to suddenly make a change. The men are the ones with the income and the women have no means of their own to support themselves, Mckee said.

"They do not want to be beaten, but they want to be in a familiar situation. This is fear of the unknown. They still care about the partner despite his abuse," she said.

Each year the number of women that Necessities helps increases, Mckee said.

"It is not that battering is on the rise, but women are learning that there is help out there," she said.

Many women do not know where to go for assistance. Support groups such as Necessities are few, and badly funded, Mckee said.

Necessities' 24 hour hotline number is 586-5066 and is available for anyone in need of their services, she said.

Milks, Altneu win in OHAG

Presidential co-candidates Michael Altneu and Cara Milks won easily the Orchard Hill Area Government elections yesterday, gathering 61 percent of the ballots cast.

The pair captured 334 votes against write-in candidate David Callaghan's 78.

Judy Day, Kim Milinazzo, Philip Vettraino, and Maura McHugh vied for OHAG vice president, and McHugh and Vettraino came to a run-off vote, before McHugh emerged a winner with 152 votes to her opponent's 127.

Donna Dooley ran unopposed for secretary.

"We want to work with other area governments to try to get more students involved," Altneu said. "We'd like to have our own hotline of some kind, and get involved more with the RSOs. I'm optomistic," he said.

Southwest Area Government elections will be held tomorrow in the Hampshire and Berkshire Dining Commons.

Central America talk on radio

University of Massachusetts radio station WMUA will air an open forum on increasing area opposition to United States intervention in Central America.

The show will air at 6 p.m. as a special feature of "Focus" a weekly public affairs series.

Lecture on children's books

Children's author Patricia MacLachlan will give a talk on writing children's books today at 4 p.m. in Room 105 of Franklin Patterson Hall at Hampshire College.

Whole Wheat Pizza Factory
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur 11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat 11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

Before you leave for the summer
make a pair of
Leather Sandals
for $8.50
in the Student Union Craft Shop
complete free instructions

THE HUNGRY-U
Your Weekly Calendar — Take A Closer Look

TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY
"LADIES NITE" Strawberry daiquiri's $1.25 99¢ bar drinks 9:00-CLOSE	QUARTER NITE 25¢ beer THE HUNGRY-U BEST BUY AROUND TOWN! 9:00-MIDNIGHT	"HAPPY HOUR" FREE PIZZA ¢99 bar drinks ¢50 drafts 9:00-CLOSE	AFTERNOON ONCE AGAIN Happy Hour FREE PIZZA 60 oz Pitchers Happy Hour priced at ..... $2.75 drafts ..... 50¢ Your choice of bar drink ..... 99¢ 2:00-5:30

THE WEEKENDER
~ITALIAN MENU~
4:30pm - 7:00pm
1st 500 people served (no reservations)

MARJON HAIR DESIGN
Hair Styling for Men & Women
Hyper-Marche Mall
Rt. 9 Hadley, MA
586-4551
62 E. Main St.
Easthampton, MA
527-2411
Marjon Hair Design introduces the opening of a new salon at the Hyper-Marche Mall (formerly the Mountain Farms Mall).
Offering waxing, perming, coloring, frosting, styling, facial, sculptured nails.
WE ARE A CUT ABOVE THE REST
We use and prescribe REDKEN
Weekly hours: Mon-Fri 9-5; Thurs 9-9; Sat 9-4

Ski Club Exclusive
April 30
all those who worked 10 hours or more at the Great Ski Snatch Nov 18 - 21
contact the Ski Club 545-3437

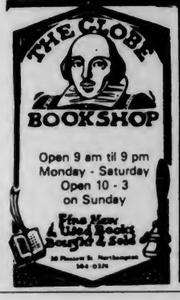
Fenn, Wright and Manson's ladderback tee in tropical linen. 44.00

Tropical linen striped pant. 68.00

Chona

CHONA CONTEMPORARY FASHION THORNES MARKET NORTHAMPTON

OPEN THURSDAY NIGHTS 'TIL 9 SUN 12-5



DYNAMITE RECORDS
Regular Spring Tape Prices
TDK-SA 90 - $2.50
MAXELL-UDXL II - $3.00
$30/case of 12
we buy LPs
Thornes, a marketplace plus!

We've Rented Another Store Especially For This

Colossal Catalog Clearance Sale!

Thursday, April 28 – Sunday, May 8 – 11 Days

SAVINGS ON A LARGE SELECTION OF NATURAL FIBER CLOTHING

Up to 60% off

Our regular low prices on Cotton Clothing, many items below cost

11 Days of Savings

We're clearing our storerooms, many of our most popular items, with . . .

Perfect For Summer Wear or All Year Long

Lots of other great bargains, samples, discontinueds. Limited quantities and sizes available on some items. All sales final on Sale Items. All at Our Special Sale Location.

Sundresses $9.99 Drawstring Pants $9.99

Drawstring Shorts $4.99 3-Tier Skirts $7.99

CHINESE SHOES as low as $1 pair

Good things Collective Inc

Just around the corner from Good Things at 37 Pleasant St. (formerly the Copy Center)

Weekdays 10-5:30 • Thursdays 'til 9 • Sundays 12-5

A WORKER'S COOPERATIVE • 52 MAIN ST. • NORTHAMPTON • 586-5403

FREE SODAS whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY FREE SODAS

363 Main St. Amherst

Large Mushroom Pizza for only $5.50

(2 free sodas upon request)

Call 256-8587

HANGAR ONE

Thurs. April 29 One of Boston's hottest bands
The Lines
2 for 1 bar drinks til 10:30 $3.

Fri. April 29 We continue to rock with. . .
Berlin Airlift
special guest: THE CARDIAC KIDS
free drafts 8-9 2 for 1 9-10 $3.

Sat. April 30 NEW WAVE MARCHES ON. . .
WMUA Solid Sound Dance Series
Rubber Rodeo
Fear of Strangers
Heros in Trouble
Free drafts 8-9 2 for 1 9-10 $3.

Coming. . .
Jonathan Edwards 5/4;
November Group 5/6;
James Montgomery 5/7;
Stompers 5/12

18 & older with ID 253-2280

BUDGET AIR FARES

EUROPE FROM BOSTON — ROUND TRIP FROM
AMSTERDAM $418
FROM NYC — ROUND TRIP FROM PARIS $479
ATHENS $499
TEL AVIV $599

ASIA & SOUTH PACIFIC

FROM WEST COAST — ROUND TRIP FROM SYDNEY $880
AUCKLAND $1060
MELBOURNE $880
BANGKOK $885
HONG KONG $655

ALSO . . .
Eurail, Britrail, International Student I.D., Youth Hostel Card, Youth and Student Tours All Over The World Domestic Air Fares

Please Call 617-497-1497 for a Free Catalog
We Are
COUNCIL TRAVEL CIEE
1278 Mass. Ave. #21
Harvard Square, Cambridge, MA 02138

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
Division of Continuing Education
Quality Education at Affordable Prices

For only $35.00 per credit hour you can get a headstart on next semester, or catch up on this semester. Mass Bay Community College offers 3 credit courses and non-credit workshops in your area of interest, day or evening this summer. Classes begin May 31 (Session 1) and July 12 (Session 2).

50 Oakland Street,
Wellesley Hills, MA 02181
tel. (617) 237-1100 ext. 132

VALUABLE COUPONS

James H. McManus eating place

BREAKFAST SPECIAL — With This Coupon
2 EGGS, 2 PANCAKES, 2 STRIPS BACON, 2 LINKS SAUSAGE
Reg. $2.55 — 2 For $3.99
Please present coupon when ordering
Coupon Expires May 16, 1983
SERVED ALL DAY ANYTIME C

FISH DINNER — With This Coupon
Our Famous Batter-Dipped Fillets English Style — Served with French Fries, or Baked Potato, Cole Slaw, Roll & Butter
2 For $5.95
Please present coupon when ordering
Coupon Expires May 16, 1983
SERVED 11 A.M.-10 P.M. C

SWEET & SOUR CHICKEN — WITH THIS COUPON
ALL YOU CAN EAT
Sweet & Sour Chicken in delicious tempura batter served with french fries, coleslaw, rolls & butter.
$4.95
Please present coupon when ordering
Coupon Expires May 16, 1983
SERVED 11 A.M.-10 P.M. C

Sun.-Thurs. 7 a.m.-3 a.m.
Fri. & Sat. 24 Hours
James H. McManus eating place
SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNTS
DISCOUNTS 2-5 P.M. 20%
ALL OTHER TIMES 10%
Does Not Apply To Specials
CAMPUS SHOPPING PLAZA RTE. 9, HADLEY, 256-6880

Python escapes, lives on diet of dead mice

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A baby python named Monty that vanished after a break-in four years ago at a Glasgow school apparently has been thriving in the building all along on a diet of mice.

"We think he has been living in the central heating system and waking up at night to catch mice," said biology teacher David Hampton at Cranhill Secondary School.

The snake was snoozing by a hot water pipe and slithered away as boys tried to capture it Tuesday.

Hampton said Monty was a few inches long when he was thought to have been stolen. It is now three feet long and "pretty shy, but not dangerous at all."

Beverly Hills illusion for $10 a month

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — It may be a dingy, cluttered, one-room office, but the address in Beverly Hills earns Jack Wilbanks about $5,000 a month.

Wilbanks, 50, rents the address to those who want to capitalize on the illusion of success and wealth that go with the city's reputation.

He owns the Beverly Hills Mail & Answering Service, where successful movie stars or obscure nobodies can rent a private mailbox for $10 a month. Wilbanks says he has about 500 customers.

His customers represent the address as everything from a penthouse apartment to an expansive office suite - and Wilbanks says that's fine with him.

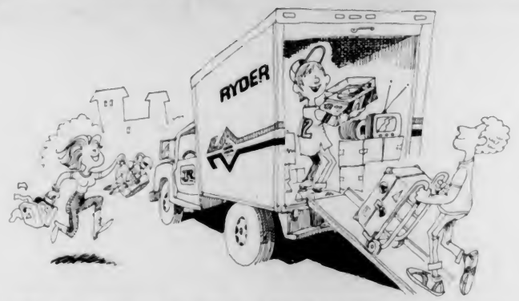
"I give them service and mind my own business," he says.

But U.S. Postal Inspector Lou Kinszler says such practices are "deceiving."

He said mailbox rental businesses are sometimes targeted by people who want to set up phony businesses for fraudulent reasons.

"It happens," Wilbanks admits. "But as soon as I find that out, I cancel the account."

Move Yourself, All Your Stuff, And Save, Too!



It's as easy as renting a Ryder truck, one way.

Compare costs before you make plans for moving at the end of the semester.

If you're 18 or older and have a valid driver's license, you can use a Ryder truck, rent-it-here, leave-it-there. Load up your stereo, 10-speed, clothes; everything. You'll still have room, no doubt, for one or two friends with their things to share the cost.

Compare that to the price of a plane ticket. Or even a bus. Plus shipping.

Rent a newer truck from the best-maintained, most dependable fleet in the world – Ryder. The best truck money can rent.

WE'LL BE ON CAMPUS

to show you how easy it is to move yourself RIGHT.

We'll gladly quote you rates and answer your questions. Come see us.

RYDER TRUCK RENTAL

SAVE!!! 10% on your next Truck Rental
Inquire at the College Book Store & Book Annex for your student discount card.

- For Reservation Information call -

253-5843 College St. Arco 260 College St. Amherst, Mass.

549-0010 No. Amherst Motors 40 Montague Rd. No. Amherst, Mass.

586-6364 Ricks Auto Repair & Rental 442 Elm St. Northampton, Mass.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

"Plain Truth" is not so true

There is a magazine circulating on campus that merits some attention. You've probably seen it in front of the bin on the Campus Center concourse which contains your favorite newspaper. The magazine is called "The Plain Truth" and is a not-so subtle attempt to advocate non-separation of church and state.

Rich Nangle

Published by the Worldwide Church of God in Pasadena, California, "The Plain Truth" deals with many of the problems of today and points to the Bible as the ultimate solution. In the current issue it supports a proclamation by President Reagan declaring 1983 as the "Year of the Bible."

Any country that proclaims a year of the Bible can not also claim the separation of church and state. Therefore "The Plain Truth" is guilty as charged.

In an article entitled "America Forewarned! Watch Out For the 1980's," The Plain Truth claims to know absolutely how God views America. America, it says, lays its foundation of strength not on mere technology, know-how, the work ethic or greed - but on an all pervasive religiousness.

But America is now in the process of moral decay, and the godly based ethics are "feebler, discredited by individuals, corroded by the doubts of these impious times, but without them, or what is left of them, America would not be what it is," the article states.

And let's forget about scientific research, for the Bible has all the answers.

"If Americans of recent years had still been reading the Bible, and believing the clear injunctions and warnings of its inspired writers, they would have known that deficit spending year after year is wrong, that abortion is murder-the breaking of the Sixth Commandment-that alcohol and drug abuse are "lusts of the flesh," not unexplainable "diseases," that pornography is clearly injurious to one's moral outlook-despite what presidential commissions might report-and that homosexuality is thoroughly condemned throughout the Bible, then San Francisco, California, would not have become a "walk-in closet"!

Furthermore, "President Reagan recently observed that "each year government bureaucracies spend billions on problems related to drugs and alcoholism and disease."

It also quotes Reagan as saying, "Has anyone stopped to consider that we might come closer to balancing the budget if all of us simply tried to live up to the Ten Commandments and the golden rule?"

Believe it or not, this magazine also criticizes the universities where "students clamored for the right of "free speech."

And another article tells us how to curb violence.

"From the beginning God has revealed the causes of evils and how we ought to live. He also reveals the good news that Satan is going to be forcibly thrust from his role as god and deceiver of this world. Jesus Christ is coming to restore the government of God over the earth and change human nature."

"Meanwhile in today's world you need spiritual weapons-spiritual help-to counteract the power of Satan. "For the weapons of (a true Christian's) warfare are not carnal, but nighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds (of Satan's attitudes and temptations)" (II Corinthians 10:4).

I'm constantly amazed by religious zealots who twist the words of the Bible to fit their own interpretation of theology. Such garbage!

One of my favorite political cartoons shows a picture of Jesus Christ with the caption "As a candidate. . .this man would be against capital punishment, for social reforms, opposed to the arms race, in favor of the ERA and therefore unacceptable to the Moral Majority..."

I tend to agree. Everything I was ever taught about Jesus told of his compassion and understanding and love. He was never portrayed as a right-wing reactionary.

But then again, maybe The Plain Truth is right. We do have a lot of problems.

God is coming, and boy is she pissed.

Richard Nangle is a Collegian columnist

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

'I WILL RUN AN OPEN, HONEST ADMINISTRATION.' SAID MR. PRESSER...

Letters

How UMies learned a lesson

To the Editor:

On Saturday March 5, 1983, like most UMass students, we were drinking cold beers. After we thought we had put on a good enough buzz to be socially crude and unacceptable, we decided to leave our dorm and look for some parties so we could drink some more. On the way out of our dorm we grabbed fire extinguishers and began to drench each other with the rank smelling pressurized water. We both thought it rather humourous until we were apprehended by an alert R.A. and proceeded to squirt him also.

After having a conference with our H.R. and two R.A.s we learned of the danger we could have put our fellow students in. We became aware of the fact that each year over 1200 fire extinguishers at UMass are tampered with. We also became aware of the punishment and severe consequences that follow after being caught tampering with fire extinguishers.

After attending a fire safety workshop, we learned what might have happened if we had not been caught in the act. Although the extinguishers were both immediately refilled, if there had been a fire that night in our dorm someone may have been left with an empty extinguisher to put out a small fire.

What we are stressing here is the point that even though you may be staggering drunk, try to have enough sense not to use a fire extinguisher for your added pleasure. Think about the time your room might have a fire in it, and the extinguishers are empty because a couple of assholes wanted to have some fun when they were bombed.

Kenon Prescott
William Sexton
James House
Southwest

Earth Day coverage -- biased

To the Editor:

Concerning the Collegian report on Earth Day, 4/25/83, I believe it is important to point out that the coverage of anti-registration speeches was less than objective. I had the dubious honor of hearing convicted registration resister Ed Hasbrouck proclaiming that America was a "decaying society" which would soon fall apart under our "military facade".

Although I expected to hear issues pertinent to the subject matter, Mr. Hasbrouck went on to ask everyone in the audience to "pray for the death of America" before finishing. I would suspect that most people do not share Mr. Hasbrouck's sentiments and was certain the Collegian would have reported the entire story.

After hearing the various speeches I began wondering what connection they had with Earth Day. I understand convicts such as Mr. Hasbrouck do not make a lasting impression on the American political scene, but if that is what Earth Day is about, I want nothing to do with it.

Michael de la Pena
Cance House
Southwest

Lack of freedom ficticious

To the Editor:

In a recent editorial, Rich Nangle was wondering whether freedom really exists. He pointed out problems that supposedly indicates that freedom does not exist in this country. How he can associate those problems with freedom is beyond me.

He criticizes President Reagan for expressing his opinion, but ignores the fact that he, himself, is free to state his opinion without fear of retribution. I wonder if Rich would like to join the Russian political dissidents in Siberia or other cozy places in that country.

Further on he gives his approval to nuclear demonstrators destroying public property. This is his idea of freedom? How does being free allow us to destroy the property owned by others. I've been under the impression that freedom carries with it the obligation to act with responsibility, even if you disagree with someone else's opinion.

Rich continues in this view throughout most of his editorial. He somehow has gotten the idea of freedom mixed up with his dissatisfaction with the problems evident in our society. While I happen to agree with most of his complaints, I refuse to accept his premise that freedom does not exist. Freedom does not guarantee the absence of problems. It does, however, allow us to try to correct what we feel is wrong with this society.

Rich should not aim the brunt of his attack at whether freedom exists or not, but rather at whether the people of this country have the courage to correct those evils present. That is where the problem really lies, not with the fictitious lack of freedom.

Sincerely,
David DesRoches
Sunderland

...and more about "Freedom"

To the Editor:

Rich Nangle's critique on American society ("Does Freedom Really Exist?") was nothing more than a thinly veiled condemnation of the economic and political systems that made the United States the greatest country in the world.

Mr. Nangle's twisted concept of freedom is the same one on which "democracies" such as the Soviet Union, East Germany, and Poland are based.

Finally, Mr. Nangle's statement that "we are only great because we live in a world full of mediocre countries" is a gross insult to the integrity of the United States; this country would be great in any league, regardless of the competition. Mr. Nangle might accuse me of being a flag waver, but we must keep Old Glory flying so that people like Rich Nangle won't try to burn it.

J. Kelley
Tatcher
Northeast

Other Earth Day comments

To the Editors:

"Objective" journalism does not exist, and the Collegian proves it in David Summersby's article on Earth Day (April 25, p. 1). In it, the writer describes a guerrilla threatre group as "depicting the struggle of the Nicaraguan workers (pledging "Viva Nicaragua!") against the CIA-supported freedom fighters who are trying to liberate Nicaragua from communist infiltration."

"Freedom fighters?" These so-called freedom fighters are men who operated as the thugs of the former dictator Somoza, raping, castrating and torturing civilians, killing children and disemboweling pregnant women, before the people of Nicaragua finally threw them and their U.S.-backed boss, Somoza, out of the country in 1979. They are despised in Nicaragua. "Liberate" Nicaragua? They are, as the New York Times has documented, engaged in burning down entire villages, bombing bridges, plotting (and failing) assassinations of the country's leaders, and making almost daily trips across the border from Honduras to Nicaragua to murder peasants who are trying to set up rural cooperatives.

Under the dictator Somoza, the only freedom the illiterate, starving Nicaraguans had was the freedom to hand over almost all of their hard earned wealth to U.S. corporations and to Somoza himself. Now, after a successful literacy campaign (which has raised the literacy rate from about 40 percent to 90 percent), after a health campaign has begun, after rising wages have driven way up the country's consumption of basic foods, the U.S. government and businessmen are infuriated. No longer can the U.S.-based corporations force the workers to grovel and beg for inhumanly low-paying jobs; no longer will the Nicaraguans let acres and acres of their rich land lie untiled while thousands starve.

Real freedom includes the ability to read, access to health care, enough food, decent housing, freedom to write poetry and to discuss politics without fear of jail, torture or death. Perhaps by "freedom fighters" David Summersby meant to say that the murderous criminals hired by the CIA are fighting against all of these new-found freedoms which Nicaraguans have finally begun to enjoy.

Since words like "freedom" and "liberate" are not neutral, we readers can only assume that David Summersby has chosen to side with the ex-dictator's henchmen against the vast majority of the Nicaraguan people, who are determined to defend their revolutionary society against any military aggression.

Sincerely,
Nina Eliasoph
Hadley

Yes to draft registration now

To the Editor:

In response to the Solomon Amendment; the necessity has arisen for a stand to be taken in support of it. I fail to understand the justification behind some people's reasons for not allowing the government to know of their whereabouts in a time of national need.

The act of registering for the draft is simply a power Congress utilizes to obtain information. This is separate from the act of conscripting people into war. The conscientious objector to war is given the right to claim himself as an objector, and is given individual consideration at the time the draft is activated. Therefore, by not registering for the draft, one is not resisting the draft and conscription, but rather is denying Congress the right to obtain legal information.

At a time when many people are in an uproar about the enforcement of the law in our society, there are still those who choose to deny the law by failing to comply with draft registration. Considering the options the government has to enforce this law, I feel the route they have taken has been quite lenient.

People who are unwilling to support this country in any respect to National Defense, are the same people who are quite willing to enjoy the same benefits of living in this country, i.e. government financial aid, as the person who supports its efforts. Perhaps the method employed discriminated against a certain economical group, but is that such a great price to pay to live in this country.

Possibly those people who feel so strongly against the Solomon Amendment should leave this country and experience life in others, where two years military service is manditory.

David L. Davidson
Amherst

WSYL is more than punk

To the Editor:

In regards to the Collegian article of 4/21 on student run radio stations: The article presented a somewhat misleading picture of WSYL-FM. We do play a much larger percentage of "punk" music than most stations would ever consider cramming into their tip 40 playlists. However it is important to note that WSYL does not exclusively program hardcore punk as implied by the article; we program a wide range of music including jazz, reggae, heavy metal, commercial new wave, and progressive rock. Sure, we try to play music not heard on other stations, but we do not feel "alternative" necessarily means "punk". Since WSYL is a student run radio station we make an effort to represent the wide diversity that exists among the musical tastes of the students.

Sincerely,
Michael D. Malone
Station Manager WSYL
Robert Falk
Music Director WSYL
Amherst

The games nations play — there's much at stake

One recent rainy Saturday afternoon when we were looking for something to do, my roommates and I decided to just stay home, drink beer, and play a game of Risk. Little did we know that by the end of that game we would come up with what may be a solution to the nuclear arms race.

First, I should explain the game of Risk. Risk is played on a board which depicts a rough map of the world. Players are allotted a certain number of pieces each, called "armies", to place on whichever countries they choose. The object of the game is to accumulate armies and use them strategically to attack other countries, capture continents, and eventually take over the entire world. There is an element of luck involved due to cards that are issued to each player who, at the end of his turn, has successfully captured at least one new country. When a player collects a set of three matching cards, he can exchange them for additional armies.

Paul Desmond

After about an hour the game was beginning to take shape. Gerry and I, who are both somewhat Risk rookies, were obviously not going to last long so we began concentrating on drinking instead. Andy was doing pretty well but Ron had just received the first large piece to enter the game, representing ten armies, which he dubbed a "nuke".

The mere mention of the word "nuke", plus the beer I'd had, stirred the political activist in me. I began to think about the implications of what we were doing.

"Have you ever thought about how much this game is like the nuclear arms struggle between the U.S. and Russia?" I said between sips.

"Right, Paul. Have another beer," Gerry said to the amusement of the others.

"I'm serious," I persisted. "Just look at all the similarities. This game invariably comes down to two players, as it practically has already, right?"

"Yeah, only because you two don't know what the hell you're doing," Ron said, never missing a cue.

"OK, so it happened early this time. But it has to happen eventually. You can't argue with that, right?" I said, obviously anxious to get back to the argument.

"Alright. So it has to come down to two people. So what's the point?" asked Andy.

"The point is that those two people can be thought of as the U.S. and Russia," I said. "And all the armies that, say, Ron has can be considered the amount of nuclear warheads, missiles, and various other nuclear weapons that the U.S. has. Andy's, on the other hand, is what Russia has." I was on a roll. "Now after Gerry and I are eventually forced out of the game, only Ron and Andy, or the U.S. and Russia, will be left. And chances are they'll both have a lot of armies, or nukes, and, as you all know, this game could go on for a long time with neither one having a decisive edge. Isn't that pretty much the situation between us and Russia right now?" I asked.

There was a long pause. They were actually thinking about it.

"OK, but what about advances in technology that give one country an advantage, like our MX missile. How does Risk include things like that?" asked Gerry in a rare moment of political insight. It was a good question.

"I'm not sure. That's a good point," I said. "But the basic analogy is there, right?"

"Yeah, I see it," Andy said, taking my side in an argument for the first time all semester. "And technological advances could really be compared to the luck of the cards," he continued. "Since both countries spend so much money on research and development, whoever comes up with something before the other guy is really just lucky. It easily could've been the other way around."

"Yeah!" I said, while spilling my beer. "We've really got something here!"

"OK, so you've got some big analogy that may not be completely idiotic," Ron said with his usual cynicism. "So what are you going to do with it now?"

"Well maybe I'll just buy a game of Risk and send it to Ronnie Reagan along with a note telling him to call up old Andropov in Russia and play Risk with him instead of spending billions of our taxdollars playing nukes," I said. "The money he'd save would put us well on the way to a balanced budget. And since it was all the idea of college kids, maybe he'd even give some of the money he saved back to us in the form of financial aid increases."

"Oh, sure. You still owe money from the last time we went shopping and you're going to shell out about eight bucks for a Risk game, plus postage, just to send it to Reagan who will no doubt ignore it, if he ever even sees it. Right. Tell me another one," cynical old Ron said.

He was right, of course. But I'm still going to start saving my change.

Paul Desmond is a Collegian staff member

To remember Albert Einstein

Last month, March 14th to be exact, and the 19th of this month were the days on which Albert Einstein was born and died, yet the world, on the precipice of nuclear annihilation, did not even pause to say a word in respect of this great man, nor did it remember him by repeating the words that the world-reknowned physicist and social critic had written-words filled with ideas and advice the world would be wise to heed in its present state. The following, therefore, are a few thoughts and comments by Einstein.

Kevin DeLuca

Moral Principle- All men should let their conduct be guided by the same principles; and those principles should be such, that by following them there should accrue to all as great a measure as possible of security and satisfaction, and as small a measure as possible of suffering.

Morality- For looked at from a simple human point of view, moral conduct does not mean merely a stern demand to renounce some of the desired joys of life, but rather a sociable interest in a happier lot for all men.

Mankind's Goal- . . . free and responsible development of the individual, so that he may place his powers freely and gladly in the service of all mankind.

Education- The school should always have as its aim that the young man leave it as a harmonious personality, not as a specialist. The development of general ability for independent thinking and judgment should always be placed foremost, not the acquisition of special knowledge.

Give into the power of the teacher the fewest possible coercive measures, so that the only source of the pupil's respect for the teacher is the human and intellectual qualities of the latter.

Imagination is more important than knowledge.

The important thing is not to stop questioning. Curiosity has its own reason for existing.

The Individual- Never do anything against conscience even if the state demands it.

. . . a successful man (in the customary sense) is he who receives a great deal from his fellowmen. The value of a man, however, should be seen in what he gives and not in what he is able to receive . . . Try not to become a man of success but rather try to become a man of value.

The ideals which have lighted my way, and time after time have given me new courage to face life cheerfully, have been Kindness, Beauty, and Truth . . . The trite subjects of human efforts-possessions, outward success, luxury-have always seemed to me contemptible.

The true value of a human being is determined primarily by the measure and the sense in which he has attained liberation from the Self.

Racism- I believe that whoever tries to think things through honestly will soon recognize how unworthy and even fatal is the traditional bias against Negroes.

Persecution- Great spirits have always encountered violent opposition from mediocre minds.

Patriotism- It would seem that men always need some idiotic fiction in the name of which they can hate one another. Once it was religion. Now it is the State . . . Heroism on command, senseless violence, and all the loathsome nonsense that goes by the name of patriotism-how passionately I hate them! I would rather be hacked in pieces than take part in such an abominable business.

War- To my mind, to kill in war is not a whit better than to commit ordinary murder.

World Affairs- Perfection of means and confusion of goals seem-in my opinion-to characterize our age.

Unlimited competition leads to that crippling of the social consciousness of individuals which . . . I consider the worst evil of capitalism.

Indeed this country has conducted its Russian policy as though it were convinced that fear is the greatest of all diplomatic instruments.

For all of us who are concerned for peace and the triumph of reason and justice must today be keenly aware how small an influence reason and honest goodwill exert upon events in the political field.

The Way Out- A permanent peace cannot be prepared by threats but only by the honest attempt to create mutual trust. A world government must be created . . . supported by a military power that is excusively under its control. A person or a nation can be considered peace loving only if it is ready to cede its military force to the international authorities and to renounce every attempt or even the means, of achieving its interests abroad by the use of force.

To understand the essence of the man and his ideals better, Einstein on Peace, The World As I see It and Out of My Later Years are recommended. Read on, and, as Einstein said, may "such a memory of the best of the past . . . stimulate the well-disposed of today to a courageous effort."

Kevin DeLuca is a Collegian columnist

Collegian

Board of Editors

Kevin Bowe Editor-in-Chief
Ed Levine Managing Editor
James Shanahan Production Manager
Joel Myerson Business Manager
John Hudson Executive Editor
John DiPalazzo News Editor
Cris Schuster Women's Editor
Doug Muise Arts Editor
Gus Martins Black Affairs Editor
Billy Shea Sports Editor
Kevin J. Fachetti Photo Editor

Associate Editors

Paul A. Basken, Ray Beauchemin, Richard Nangle, Michael Mahoney, Bill Wall, Associate Managing Editors; William Hopkins, Marianne Walsh, Associate Production Managers; Mary Beth Hebert, Josh Meyer, Associate Executive Editor; Mary Baldwin, Associate Women's Editor; Lisa Mosley, Associate Arts Editor; Jim Powers, Associate Photo Editor; Tami Borton, Mary Cresse, Mark J. Welch, Associate News Editors; Gerry deSimas, Kevin DeLuca, Associate Sports Editors; Yadiera A. Betances, Associate Black Affairs Editor.

Grateful Dead

The Official Book of the Dead Heads

SUPER SALE

SALE PRICES

Paperback:	Our Price:	$10.99
Hardcover:	Reg.:	$12.95
	Our Price:	$19.99
	Reg.:	$24.95

UNIVERSITY STORE Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
Located in the Campus Center

The UMass Jazz Ensemble and special guests the Max Roach Quartet will appear in a free concert at 8 p.m. on Thursday, May 5 in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. The internationally known Max Roach Quartet will feature Cecil Bridgewater on trumpet, Odean Peope on saxophone, Calvin Hill on bass and Max Roach on the drums. Roach, who has influenced jazz percussionists over the past half century, has been a professor in the Afro-American Music and Jazz Students Program at the university since 1972. For more information about this outstanding event, call 545-2227.

The Graduate School and the Graduate Student Senate invite you to attend the Graduate Forum, featuring an address by the Chairman of the Department of Physiology & Biophysics at New York University Medical Center School of Medicine.

Professor Rodolfo Llinas

will speak on

Of Brain and Movement

Sunday evening, May 1, at 7 pm

Memorial Hall

Cheese and wine reception following the address

Dr. Llinas has covered a wide field in both invertebrate and vertebrate preparations. He is working on the evolutionary questions of the brain. Recently he got interested in the questions of robots, and has developed the "tensor network theory" which has fueled a lot of discussion and stimulation into the field. We hope to hear more about his theory on May 1.

All are welcome to attend.

Arts

Live Wire

by Dave Chevan

As the semester's end draws even closer than you might dare to imagine, study time becomes even more essential. But...never forget that classic saying, "all work and no play...." So don't try to lay down some line about deciding to study all Friday and Saturday, day and night, because I know better. By nine, ten o'clock at the latest, you'll have to go out. Like it or not, you will. I know these things, I've studied once or twice myself.

There's a new jazz club in Northampton called The Avenue. It's located in Thorne's Marketplace. Though the grand opening isn't till Sunday, there are already performances nightly. Tonight it's Tom McClung and His Trio, tomorrow and Saturday night Bev Rohlehr will sing with John Colby. All in all, a welcome addition to the valley scene.

Another place you might go tonight is Hangar One for the local debut of a hot Boston band, the Lines. This band was formed in 1979 and has developed a large Boston following. Though they've taken their time to make it this far west, they're worth the wait.

Tomorrow night features two other Boston bands, Berlin Airlift at Hangar One, and the Atlantics at the Bluewall. Also Jim K will be at Sheehan's Cafe, and First Rate will play the Wok.

Saturday night's feature event is the Wilson Pickett show at the Rusty Nail. Pickett is a real soul man, and his "Midnight Hour" still remains one of the classic songs of the rock era. For those who like a little "boing" in their music, Rubber Rodeo, a new-wave country band, will play at the Hangar One. R-Complex will also be at Sheehan's.

Upcoming events include Toots and the Maytalls on Sunday at the Nail. Also at the Nail will be Martha and the Muffins of "Echo Beach" fame, on May 3. On May 19 the Iron Horse will present Chubby Checker and the Persuasions in a gala spring dance.

Last week's trivia contest winner is, oops, I've lost the winning player's entry, sorry. Whoever you are congratulations, you can come pick up your prize any time during office hours. As for the rest of you, get back to your books and start studying.

Play by Play

by Pam Madnick

Let the sun shine in! The Music Theater Guild will continue its outdoor performances of Hair Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights on the basketball court in the Orchard Hill area. Hair is free. Don't miss it. For more info, call 545-3603.

The New Play Festival, featuring ten new pieces by student playwrights opens this weekend. Tonight through Sunday, staged readings will be performed at 8 p.m. in the Emily Dickenson Hall, Hampshire College. For more info., call 549-4600, Ext. 351.

Six Characters In Search of An Author by Luigi Pirandello will be performed at Mt. Holyoke's Lab Theater tonight, tomorrow and Saturday. For further information, call 538-2406.

Smith College presents Shout Across the River by Stephen Poliakoff. This workshop presentation will take place in the Hallie Flanagan Studio, Smith tonight, tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.

Vatslav, a political allegory by Polish playwright, Slawomir Mrozeck, will be performed tomorrow and Saturday and again May 1-7 with all performances beginning at 8 p.m. General admission is $2.50; seniors $1.50. To make reservations, call 542-2277. Also each evening there will be a limited number of $.25 tickets available at five minutes before curtain time.

Tuesday, May 3 will be the first reading of the May Jones Library Poetry Reading Series. Linda Gregg and Archie Shepp will read. Gregg teaches at Hampshire and Shepp, renounced for his artistry on the saxophone, teaches at UMass in the Department of Afro-Am. For more information, call 256-0246.

Mary Jennings and Lawrence Devine will star in the UMass production of Company, from May 5-7 and 11-14.

Messages with a magic touch

CRIS WILLIAMSON
Sunday, April 24
Greene Hall, Smith College

By CRIS SCHUSTER
Collegian Staff

She's a singer. She's a poet. She's a storyteller. She is an incredibly talented musician and songwriter with a powerful sweet voice who always has a message to give to her audience.

She is Cris Williamson.

Photo by Jim Powers

Cris Williamson

Unfortunately too many people ask, "Cris who?" And unfortunately too many people did not take advantage of Sunday night's moving and entertaining performance.

Williamson knows how to keep an audience entertained. There are not too many singers who can sing about fairytales, prisons, waterfalls and roses and get away with it. Her songs deal very much with political and environmental themes and her messages are clear and simple: love yourself, others and nature.

Williamson showed Sunday night she was a performer for all ages. She prefaced her song "Lumiere" with "I wanted to give the children a gift. There's always a wonderful light in their eyes," she said. "There's hope. We really have to be like children about it."

She dedicated several songs to nature, which she referred to as "Mother." "Mother is really glad to have us." she said. "She cares about all things, even James Watt, which is a miracle to me."

Before one of Williamson's classic songs, "Grandmother's Land," she told the audience the story of the Indians who tried to escape to Canada, known as Grandmother's land, in the late 1870's. She captivitated the audience with her storytelling. She ended her song with a Sioux Indian chant which means "today is a good day to die," a philosophy which she said everyone should have.

Williamson, an outstanding piano and guitar player, was accompanied on electric and accoustic guitars by Tret Fure, also a very talented performer. Williamson has the intelligence to realize that she has such a skilled musician and singer accompaning her and she takes advantage of their combined talents. Williamson's and Fure's voices blended beautifully. Williamson showed she was only interested in giving the audience her best and if it meant allowing Fure to steal the show a couple of times, it was all right with her. Although Fure does not have the power Williamson has in her voice or the sense of humor, she does have musical talent.

In a duet, Williamson and Fure sang "Surrender Dorothy," which they wrote because Fure always wanted to write a song with that title. "Click your heels three times and head for home/ In your dream you find you're not alone/ There's no place like home," they sang.

Williamson did a great deal of speaking before her songs explaining the lyrics and the reasons why she wrote them. Oddly enough, you don't mind listening to the five minute explanations because Williamson has something to say in her songs and she wants to make sure the audience understands. She wants her audience to feel and to care. She took her audience high and low during the performance and touched them with her simple poetic messages.

"All I'm telling you is be happy and stand up for your rights, stand up for your birthright," she said.

And she told them well.

Tastes like Blue Nun to me

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

Ignorance is no excuse is an adage that comes to mind which underscores the recent trend of wine appreciation among college students. What at first seems an air of mystery surrounding wine is really no mystery at all; don't let those memories of James Bond sipping a Mouton-Rothschild '61 intimidate you. You don't have to be debonaire, suave, or sophisticated to appreciate wine. The key is to know a good wine from a poor one.

What is a good wine? For most it should be a wine that tastes good to you. It is also a wine that made from quality grapes and will carry the equivalently high price tag. This does not often describe a jug wine which is of common quality because it is made from a blend of inexpensive grapes. The jug wine unfortunately, is usually the type that restaurants and bars will stock as their house wine. This does not really pose a problem to the weekend snob, but to someone that might like a nice glass of wine and is overcharged, then product value should take presidence over social value.

Sometimes a restaurant will try to reenforce this snob effect by referring to their wine euphemistically, such as — by its location instead of by what it actually is. This is supposed to instill within you the opinion that the wine is of quality and merits its quality price. Its funny though, most other products labeled in this manner are called generic, but then, how can a restaurant charge you a couple of dollars for a glass of wine that is labeled...economy? Here is one such incident:

Last week I was at a restaurant with a friend and we felt like having a glass or two of wine. I asked the waitress what kind of wine was the house wine...

"California," was the reply.

"Oh...California...What?" I asked.

"Er...I don't know. It's from California."

I rephrased, "What kind of California Wine?"

"We have both. Red and White."

"Oh...Red and White?...Yes," was my reply and then proceeded to order two scotch and sodas instead. This way at least, I knew what it was that we would be drinking. From trial and experience I have discovered that such generic wine like generic toilet paper — can be rough on one's system.

Wine can also be presented in such a way that you cannot be at fault for being intimidated. An otherwise memorable dining experience can be ruined by the smug attitude of the wine steward who appears absolutely certain that you wouldn't know a Chateauneuf-du-Pape from Sunsweet Prune Juice. Under such circumstances it is necessary to intimidate such an individual immediately. Here is one method:

Shake your head wistfully over the winelist and sigh "Passable." Glance down at the list and say — "These are nice, but...have you anything better?"

"What wine would you desire?" the steward will ask innocently.

Continue with — "Have you any Chateau Illusione '72?" "Chateau Illusione?"

"Come, come, you must know? Its that interesting Bordeaux wine. Surely, you know of it?" Of course the steward hasn't because you have just made the name up on the spot.

"Ah...yes, sir. Alas, we served our last bottle just one hour ago."

"Er...yes, quite. What a pity." Next extract a small notebook from your pocket and inscribe a large check mark in it, while at the same time muttering the name of the restaurant.

The steward upon seeing all this will apologize for the oversight, and beg to be allowed to bring you a bottle of the restaurant's finest wine. He will show you the label, ritualize the uncorking of the bottle, and will pour some of the wine into your glass to taste. Smile thinly at him and wait. After a minute or so, pick the glass up and hold it up to the light — squint at the color, and raise one eyebrow skeptically, then inhale the bouquet and bring the glass slowly to your lips and swallow just a teaspoon of the liquid...

Sigh deeply and admit that although it is acceptable, even vaguely interesting, it is not a Chateau Illusione '72.

Whether you prefer a Sebastian California Mountain Chablis to a Puligny-Montrachet that is you and your wallet's business. The best advice is really no advice at all. Just be aware of what it is that you are spending your money for, because in this case ignorance is no excuse.

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS

$7.00
(with this coupon only)
$10.00 with Shampoo & Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
expires 5/30/83 C

Free Consultations
Please call for an appointment

Styles by Deborah
65 University Drive Amherst, MA 549-5610

Hypercurricula...

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed only on the day they are taking place. Announcements must be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, and returned to the office by 3 p.m. the Friday before the event. All submissions should be written in a similar style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Friday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION MEETING - Do you care about animals? Join us to help them! Everyone is welcome. Tonight is an educational meeting - learn what happens! For more information, call 6-4789 or 6-3260. 6 p.m., Room 911 Campus Center.

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP - Join us for singing, prayer & Bible study. Weekly meetings in Campus Center. Also, stop by our book table on the concourse Tuesday-Thurs. for information or discussion. 7 p.m., Campus Center.

S.A.F.A. GENERAL MEETING - Discussion of end of semester projects and summer plans - all new members welcome. 7 p.m., 903 C.C.

STPEC COLLOQ - Jill Lewis, Asst. Prof. of the Humanities and Arts at Hampshire College and co-author of Common Differences, will speak on "Feminism and Reproduction." 4 p.m. Thompson 6th fl. lounge.

S.C.E.R.A. ANTI-RACISM TEAM MEETING - The A.R. Team will be having a general meeting. All welcome! 4 p.m., Dukes Room.

PRE-MED CLUB MEETING - Very important! Elections for next year wil be held. 7 p.m. 165 C.C.

GRADUATE STUDENT EMPLOYEES COMMITTEE - There will be a meeting for anyone interested in discussing graduate assistants' wages and working conditions. Unionization will be considered. 3 p.m., C.C. 163.

WORKSHOP ON SEXUAL HARASSMENT - Film on sexual harassment "Workplace Hustle" and informal discussion on harassment in employment and academic situations. How to stop harassment. Free refreshments. 7 p.m., Classroom, Wheeler Basement.

FILM - "LAST GRAVE AT DIMBAZA" - An engaging film that depicts the plight of the South African people. The film will be shown in the main lounge of Crampton House 4/28 at 7:00 p.m. Free! All are welcome. 7 p.m., Crampton House Main Lounge.

UMASS FILM PRODUCTION CREW MEETING - Final meeting. Plans on completion of the UMFPC films in production to be discussed. Anyone interested in acting, writing or film production is invited. 7:30 p.m., Campus Center 802.

NEW TESTAMENT FELLOWSHIP - Come join us for our weekly meeting of worship fellowship and teaching from the Bible. 7:30 p.m., 175 Chestnut St.

FREE FILM: TICKET TO HEAVEN - The true story of a young man who joins a religious cult in California. This controversial film has received popular responses since its release in 1981. Free and open to all. 7:30 p.m., Thompson Hall 104.

XAVIER RIBALTA-CONCERT - A concert by the Catalan Folksinger Xavier Ribalta, admission free with refreshments to be served. All interested are welcome to attend. 8 p.m., Memorial Hall.

WINE AND CHEESE CONVERSATION HOURS - Come speak French and Italian in a relaxed atmosphere with native speakers. Excellent opportunity to practice your speaking ability and meet new people! All are welcome. 12-2 p.m., Herter 3rd fl. lounge.

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall By R. Miller

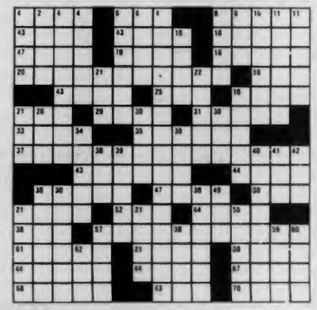
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe
© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Marshy places
5 WWII group
8 One-celled animal
13 Nurse, in Benares
14 "There oughta be ——!"
16 Boxcars
17 Porter
18 Actor's goal
19 Loves not at all
20 Stand firm
23 AAA's concern
24 Formerly Christiania
25 Prefix with sect
26 Fountain treat
27 Cover
29 Pet name for a famed Egyptian
31 Pursue
33 City south of Moscow
35 Hid
37 Tell a white lie
43 Type of cactus
44 Slaughter
45 Montezuma, for one
47 Creator of Perry and Della
50 Olla
51 Muse of history
52 Novelist Deighton
54 Hamburg's river
56 Exactly contrary: Abbr.
57 Realize
61 Document
63 Prevaricator
64 Gothic arch
65 Prospect
66 Cobbler's concern
67 Fishing bird
68 Noblemen
69 Assenting sign
70 Figures

DOWN
1 18th cen. composer
2 Melville novel
3 Horse on the move
4 Casts aside
5 Pop artist Andy
6 Succulent plant
7 Point out
8 Wimbledon champ, in 1975
9 A Farrow
10 Bit players
11 Cockchafer
12 A good quality
15 Mildam
21 House plant's need
22 Recess
26 Parent of a nino
27 Romaine
28 Garfunkel
30 She loved Narcissus
32 All —— up
34 Thin: Prefix
36 Mon —— ami
38 Driver's need
39 Course
40 Detached
41 Additionally
42 Independence man's monogram
45 Camel's relative
46 Fastening device
48 Stared rudely
49 Extension
51 Spinney
53 Elusive ones
55 Flora and fauna
57 Messrs., in Cadiz
58 Angel's symbol
59 Drove
60 Low hor.or cards
62 Photog.'s abbr



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

WEATHER

Today, sunny with high temperatures in the 70s and light winds. Tonight becoming cloudy, lows in the 40s. Tomorrow, partly sunny, high temperatures in the mid to upper 70s.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH	BASICS LUNCH
Cheeseburger	Oatburgers
Fish in batter	Fish in batter
Tartar sauce	Tartar sauce
DINNER	BASICS DINNER
Roast Turkey	Vegetable squares
Gravy, Dressing	Roast Turkey
Cranberry sauce	Gravy, Dressing
Ham and Cheese Florentine	Cranberry sauce

Wanted:

Typesetters

Typing proficiency mandatory
Will train for fall
Apply at
Collegian Office
Room 113 Campus Center
Tonight 7:00 p.m.
(troductory Meeting)

Painters Caps

Back in Stock

99¢

Located in the Campus Center

Open
M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

This is the famous Budweiser beer We know of no brand produced by any other brewery which costs so much to brew and age the exclusive Beechwood Aging produces a taste, a smoothness and a drinkability you will find in no other beer of any price.

THE WORLD'S RENOWNED

Budweiser.
KING OF BEERS.

GENUINE GENUINE

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

Metawampe Bicycle Race entries are still being accepted. Race date 4/30, 5 mile novice race (free). 25 mile expert race $2.00 entry fee.

Intramural Softball Tournament begins Tues 3 May 1983. Playoff games nightly, Fri, Sat, Sun exempted.  ALL TEAMS NOT LOSING THREE GAMES WILL BE SCHEDULED **

Soccer Tournament drawing 5 May 83 6 PM Boyden 223

Spring Track Results
Men 100 yd dash F. Pike 11.6, 200 yd dash M. Gibbons 24.3, 440 J. Kinwan 54.1, Mile J. Wiley 4:429, 2 mile B. Ross 10:13, 400 Relay UMass Soccer Brigham, Flynn, Pike, Gibbons 47.9, Shotput J. Ford 39'2, Discus D. Magson 116'9, High Jump M. Ellis 5'9, Long Jump C. Whitley 20', 120 Low Hurdles C. Whitley 14.6, Team Winner Phi Mu Delta, 2nd UM Soccer, 3rd Exercise Science, 4th Athletic East

Womens: Long Jump C. Bultman 12'10, Discus J. Jordan 83'10, 100 yd Dash L. Water, 200 yd Dash Keller 30.4, 120 Low Hurdles C. Bultman 22.5, 400 yd Dash S. Drum 77.9, Mile J. Flanigan 6:43, 400 Relay Exercise Science 61.6, Shot Put J. Flanigan 26'9

Intramural photographs, action and team, many basketball, softball, soccer, track etc on sale 215 Boyden Monday thru Friday 1-3 pm

Basketball forfeit fees, 215 Boyden. Fees must be picked up before 15 June 83

Tad Reutter won his second consecutive squash championship defeating Howard Gadlin. Stan Lema finished third. Sun was shining Tues night at 6:20 pm, also Wednesday AM Football managers forum on touch football vs flag/screen block football 251 May 5 8 pm, 251 May 9 8 pm

this Bud's for you!

RECYCLING PROJECT
REDEMPTION SERVICE
Beginning: Monday, May 2nd
5¢ Redemption for Soda and Beer

Schedule:
Northeast	Mary Lyons Rec. Rm.	Mon 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Central	Franklin D.C. Lobby	Tues 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Orchard Hill	Webster Main Lobby	Wed 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Southwest	Hampden D.C. Lobby	Thur 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Sylvan	Cashin Rec. Rm.	Fri 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Southwest	Hampden D.C. Lobby	Sat 12:30 - 2:30
Campus Center	Concourse	M & Th 1 - 3 pm

Get your 5¢ back on campus.

Brands accepted: Lists will be posted
SODA - all brands sold in campus vending machines (12 oz cans)
BEER - all major brands (12 oz and 16 oz bottles and cans)

Cans and bottles must be clean and clearly lablelled for MASS Redemption. They can not be crushed or broken in any way. Sorry no plastic.
Q. . . Call the Recycling Project 1 - 4 pm 545-0618.

Sports

Garry Pearson, who completed his career at UMass as the All-Time rushing leader in New England history, was not picked in the NFL draft. Pearson was not available for comment at press time.

Softball team upset splits doubleheader

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

NEW BRITAN, CONN. — Complacency. That is the one thing that top teams cannot afford to have during the season.

The University of Massachusetts softball team learned that lesson yesterday as they split with a scrappy Central Connecticut State team, losing 4-3 in the opener of a doubleheader and taking the second game 6-1.

UMass took command in both games but the difference was that the Minutewomen didn't keep up the intensity in the first game.

UMass took a 3-0 lead highlighted by a Jackie Gaw two RBI single in the third inning but could only manage two more hits down the stretch.

Central relied basically on two people to keep them in the game. Shortstop Sharon Mullins and thirdbaseman Annie Andrews lashed out four hits in the fifth and seventh innings two doubles, a triple and a single to bouy the Blue Devils.

Central pulled to within one at 3-2 in the bottom of the seventh after Mullins singled to left. Andrews followed with a triple to left to tie the score.

Lynn Stockly came on in relief of Cathy Reed for UMass. She threw two pitches before giving up a wild pitch scoring Andrews and Central picked up a 4-3 upset win.

UMass learned its lesson in the second game and jumped out to an early 4-0 lead in the second inning of the second game.

Chris Coughlin got on with a fielder's choice followed by a Missy Oman fielder's choice and Tina Coffin beat out a bunt to load the bases.

Mary Ann Lombardi, who had three RBI's in the second game, flied to right scoring Coughlin. Debbie Pickett singled to right and scored Oman. Two runs came in when Beth Talbott reached first base on a throwing error by the Central shortstop to round out the scoring for the inning.

Stockly registered three strikeouts and gave up three hits.

Central, who was fighting for a Division II NCAA playoff berth, had its only glimmer of hope in the fifth inning when they pushed their lone run of the nightcap across.

In the first game, Allison Rioux went three for three with a double, two runs scored and an RBI.

In the second game, Lombardi went two for three with three RBI's and Coughlin went two for two and scored once.

"We didn't make good contact with the ball in the first game," said coach Elaine Sortino. "Everything we hit was weak.

"We hit better in the second game. It was a very tough afternoon," said Sortino.

UMass, now 22-6 after the upset loss, will continue in pursuit of an NCAA playoff berth of their own Friday and Saturday at the Atlantic Ten Championships at Penn State.

Women's tennis team wins

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's tennis team won their fourth straight match as they easily defeated Providence college by a score of 7-2, here on Tuesday.

The Minutewomen dominated the singles matches once again as they took five out of the six matches, and had only one of those losses go to three sets.

Number one singles player and captain Ariel Fowler won by sweeping past Ann Marie Mancini of Providence 6-0, 6-0. Elizabeth Sullivan playing at number two singles also won handily as she crushed Lisa Tutangian by a score of 6-1, 6-2.

Third singles player Nancy Bolger continued the streak as she topped Linda Duchaine 6-3, 6-3. Chris Frazier who played at number five singles took three sets, but overcame Mary Beth Murphy 6-2, 2-6, and 6-4.

Patricia Sullivan played fifth singles and lost to Nancy Curtain by a score of 6-4, 7-6. Sixth singles player, Anne Marie Mackertich easily beat Laurie Shea 6-1, 6-1.

In the doubles matches, the first team of Maureen Hanlon and Wendy Sheerer won in straight sets over Mo McBarry and Ann Weber by scores of 6-2, 6-3. The second doubles team of Laura Kaufmann and Jillian Nesgos lost to Colleen Clarke by a score of 6-1, 6-3, but the third doubles team of Beth Goldberg and Joyce Girasella came back to beat Drea Corcoran and Orlyna Mattera 6-4, 6-2.

UMass now faces a tough task as they leave for the Atlantic Ten Championships this weekend at Penn State.

Hardballers take two at URI

By KEVIN DELUCA
Collegian Staff

KINGSTON, RI — University of Massachusetts baseball coach Dick Bergquist reached the 300 victory milestone yesterday as the Minutemen swept the University of Rhode Island by scores of 1-0 and 5-0.

Shutout pitching by winning pitchers Bruce Emerson (2-3) and Bob Kostro (3-3) enabled Bergquist to up his career to 301-231 and the team record to 11-13.

The Minutemen now head into their tough schedule of nine games in eight days having won six of their last seven games.

UMass travels to Holyoke tomorrow night to battle Springfield College on neutral ground before traveling to the University of New Hampshire for a crucial double-header. Tony Presnal (4-1) and Kostro are scheduled to start against New Hampshire.

As UMass enters the key part of their season there are several things worthy of notice.

Angelo Salustri, who replaced co-captain Emerson at shortstop so Emerson could become a starting hurler, has turned into a fine shortstop with excellent range and a productive bat. In fact, Salustri's .288 batting average is second best on the club and his two home runs and 9 RBI are both good enough for third on the team.

"In Angelo Salustri, we have one of the best shortstops in New England," said Bergquist.

It's M[illegible]time

The UMass Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils present

GREEK WEEK

Sponsored by Miller High Life & 7 Up

April 28
Awards Banquet at TOC 6:30-9 pm
Blue Wall Party 9-1 AM

April 29
Greek Area Charity Dunk for the UMass 120 year Charter Day 9-4

May 1
Greek Area BBQ & Olympics at Alpha Chi

May 2
Scavenger Hunt, all day event around the campus

May 3
Greek Sing CCA, Pub Night 7-1 PM

May 4
Charity Softball Games 6-10 PM
Phi Sig Party

May 5
Guiness World Record Day, Greeks build worlds largest ice cream sundae
Kappa Sig Closing Party

WE THANK YOU

From the staff of Union Records Unlimited, we thank all who have supported our student run organization.

Your continued support keeps us open and allows special sales to happen for you, the public.

Yours truly,
URU Staff

ON SALE!

By making us happy
we want to make you happy
with our super savings.
TDK SA-90
Maxell UDXLII-90
E Albums
Master Recordings
- are all on sale.

Union Records Unlimited

Spirit Haus
WINES & LIQUORS
Tel. 253-5384 338 College Street

Heineken	$4.25/6 pk
Rolling Rock 12 oz export	$9.50/cse
Labatt's Beer & Ale	$3.45/6 pk
Budweiser 12 oz loose cans	$10.95/cse

(deposits not included)

Stolichnaya 80° Vodka	$6.49/500 ml
Windsor Canadian Whiskey	$12.99/1.75 l

Many specials on imported & domestic wines
DON'T FORGET YOUR EMPTY BOTTLES & CANS!
not responsible for typographical errors

Uncle Wheat's PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small
2 item pizza
Only $4.00

Student Housing, Chi Rho welcomes applications from sihgle grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores. Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

The People's Gay Alliance
presents
A Dance
Friday, April 29, 1983
10th Floor Campus Center
Admission $2.
DJ - Job Stanley
Equipment - Audio Promedia
Lights - Dwelley
starting
"Doorprize Dinner"
(drawing at 1:00 am)
for more info call the PGA
at 5-0154

Female wantad to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

Southwood, two bedroom summer sublet need 2 roommates $125 mo or neg 546-5310

Brndywine furnished 2 bedroom 65 per month and negotiable call 549-5955

2 bedroom apt June 1 - August 31 Downtown Amherst $285.00/mo 256-8539

Rent $85 1, 2, or 3 people 5 mins to campus Presidential apts call 549-4483

Summer sublet furnished one bdr Brandywine apt $330/month, you pay $280, I pay $50 call Duncan 549-1305

Townhouse Apts fully furnished, AC, 10 min walk to campus rent negotiable 549-5804

Summer sublet fall opt 1 bdr at Puffers Pond free B & W TV included 275+ call 549-1649

Brandywine 2 bedroom pool furnished, equipped, AC bus negotiable 549-0747

Puffton 3 br apt for summer sublet. $135 per br per month or best offer. Convenient & comfortable. Call 549-6272

Beautiful 3 bdrm Townshouse for summer sublet. Please call 549-1215

Presidential 1 bdrm in 2 bdrm apt $130/month 549-1354 keep trying

Rolling Green 2 bdrm AC, pool, quiet, finished call after 6 pm 253-5986

Cooperative household. North Amherst on busline. Also storage space available. 549-6852

2 bdrm apt Amherst Center $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

3 bdrm house in Downtown Amherst $ negotiable call now 549-5860

Sunny summer sublet Amherst Center/ 2 bedrooms 549-0306, 253-2071

Cheap cheap rent for a 3 bdrm townehouse apt fully furnished call 549-1833/549-3853

House in N Amh (6/1-9/1) on bus rte 4 BIG bdrms. 260/mo. or 65/bdrm./mo. call 549-5893

Amherst Center apartment sublet with fall option, 1-3 bedrooms available call 549-6[illegible]8

3 bedroom Puffton Apt furnished, pool, tennis courts, cheap 549-4711

3 bedroom fully furnished luxurious apt in Townehouse for the summer. Ideal location at low price. Call 549-5968 or 256-8382

3 bedroom apt very close to camous & town rent negotiable furnished free cable for summer call 256-6150

2 bedroom Cliffside Apt summer sublet w/fall option $350/mo utilities inc call 665-3963 late nites

Southwood 2 large bedrooms easily accomodates 4 $90.00/month each call 253-5566

One bedroom in Southwood apartment non-smoking female fall option rent negotiable 256-0769

Cool, light efficiency apartment, furnished, Triangle St., Amherst, rent negotiable, 549-0457 or 545-0854

Puffton Village summer sublet one or two rooms $100 Jay 549-5921

Summer sublet fall opt Amherst center apt Karen or Lisa 253-2157 util incl

Summer sublet 1 bdrm rent neg call 549-0343 Brandywine AC pool

Spacious Squire Apt balcony, walk-in closets, cable, bus route, $360 665-2998 fall option

Clean beautiful 2 bdrm Townhouse Apt to sublet on bus route, furnished call Wendy 253-7360 or Beth 6-7325

TO SUBLET

Northampton four bedrooms June -August $560/month two floors two baths 584-8126

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

One bedroom in Southwood Townhouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

One bedroom in two bedroom Puffton fall option 549-3862

Summer sublet Puffton two bedroom two bathroom furnished apt RENT NEG! contact Pat or Dru 549-4426

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Summer with fall option Ouffton 1 bedroom $290 549-4430 evenings

Squire Village 2 bdrm summer sublet w/fall option 665-3914

Furnished two bedroom Townehouse Apt. June thru Sept rent negotiable call 549-1724

Three bedroom townhouse apt in Squire Village, June 1 w/fall option $400/mo or BO 665-4896

Need one roommate - two bedroom, two floor Southwood Apt. - includes kitchen, living room, two bathrooms - $140/month call 253-3556

3-story river fromt apartment bus route, AC, pool, cheap 549-4405

2 bedroom Southwood townehouse busroute, pool, tennis, rent negotiable 546-6705

Summer sublet: 3 bedroom Puffton Apt. furnished 546-7393

Squire Village townhouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380+ 665-4886

25+ 2 rooms in house on campus 549-4080

One bedroom apt Presidential Apts furnished air conditioned June - Sept 549-0127

Roommate to sublet semi-coop on bus route 130+ 256-0575

3 bedroom Townhouse with full cellar on bus route/ for 4 or 5 less than a mile from campus negotiable call Jon 546-6467 - keep trying.

Summer sublet/fall option, sumemr rent negotiable; 2 bdrm on bus route call after 6 will pay subl;ease fee 665-8787

3 bdrm apt available 115 neg utilities incl fall opt 253-9753

1 bdrm Puffton Vil for 1 or 2 people good rate call 549-5920

Summer sublet Brandywine one bedroom apt 549-3873 rent negotiable

With fall option 2 people wanted to share room. 10 minute walk to campus. $105/mo. Presidential Apts 549-5613

Brandywine one bedroom summer with fall option females only Linda 549-2646

One bedroom apt summer sublet fall opt bus pool Cliffside rent negotiable 665-3960 or 549-6499

One bdrm apt one month free half mile from campus $600 for summer 256-6948

Townehouse of Amherst 2 bdrm fully furnished, aircond, cable, 30 yds to busstop call 549-6960

TO SUBLET W/FALL OPTION

Practically brend new Brittany Manor 2 bedroom apartment - all applicances are new and in excellent working condition, new wall to wall carpeting, free heat, pool call 256-0391, rent is negotiable

WANTED

Class Rings. Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Students interested in getting money for school expenses 665-3482

WANTED TO RENT

House or apartment in house within walking distance of campus at least two bedrooms will summer sublet 549-5605 Mark

No. or So. Amherst 3 bdrm house for fall 253-2878

Inexpensive housing needed on Martha's Vineyard for the summer. I will accept any place on the island. Call Court 546-5672

Looking for housing on Nantucket for this summer. Will help pay rent. Call Rick 546-5483

Wanted 1 or 2 bedrooms in apt for 2 females starting Sept call Anne or Sandy 256-0358

Two students want house and roommates or just room in Hyannis or Yarmouth. Have money. Dan 253-2071, 256-8785

WANTED TO RENT: NANTUCKET

Looking for housing on Nantucket Island for this summer. I would be happy to join your rent. Please call Julie at 546-6426

WE'LL EVEN THROW IN A COUCH!

Two room Southwood Apt summer sublet & fall option Shared room at $103 call 256-8323

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUDIO

AM/FM Car Stereo two Jensen speakers - $80 or BO 256-8323

AUTO FOR SALE

1978 Lincoln Versailles: loaded, a classic car in excellent condition $7500 firm. Phone: 609-858-4435

1974 Pinto 4 cyl. st. trans. 24 mpg good eng. Chuck 549-4711

1969 VW Squareback - 73000 mi. 34 mpg, no mechanical troubles. $600.00 549-4911 (Frank)

1980 Chevy Monza, 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 256-6612

75 B210 Datsun 2 new tires cassette player $1000 call 665-4213 evenings

72 VW Van runs great! Must see $1100.00 549-5631

67 VW Bug excellent running condition great gas mileage dependable transportation $500.00 549-0543

1980 VW excellent running condition 567-7709

Toyota Truck 1976 excellent mechical condition, new tires, brakes. $1200 268-3216

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7822

CAPE COD SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Jasons, Cape Cods finest nightclub, will be conducting interviews for all bar personnel on 4/30 and 5/7 from 12:00 to 3:00 pm. 228 Lower County Road Dennisport. Where the happy people go.

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FILM

Come see "The Last Grave at Dimbeza", an engaging film that depicts the plight of the South African people. Film will be shown in the Main Lounge of Crampton House 4/28 7:00 PM Free all are welcome!

FOR FREE

Five adorable puppies are looking for good homes - call 549-6339

FOR RENT

Boarding House, had it with dorm life and DC food?? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plan friendly atmosphere. Next to Newman Center. call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

June sublet with fall option 2 bedroom Brittany Manor heat included 253-3032

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

To sublet for summer w/fall option 4 bdrm apt on bus rt. Apt will be semi-furnished and is in good location rent negot. Call 253-2605 ask for Pete

Apt. in Southwood summer sublet/fall option. Dishwasher, new carpet, pool, tennis. Rent negotiable. Call 256-8216

2 bdrm summer sub with fall option full apt $200. on bus route Jeniffer 256-6887

Brandywine one bedroom apt A/C, dishwasher, disposal, WW, on bus route avail. June 1 - Sept 1 very nicely furn 320/month 549-0450

2 bedroom apt in Colonial Village Amh on bus route summer w/fall option 253-5506

3 bdrm Puffton Apt available may 28 summer sublet w/fall option 549-0543

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Pioneer AM/FM Car Stereo Cassette 100 watt booster, equalizer, 3 way speakers brand new $225 or BO call Ed 549-1698

Bedroom and living room furniture reasonably priced call 256-0571

One yr old full bed newer bureau w/mirror $200 firm 549-6923

Guitar and case 6 string Gilberto non clasical great condition 253-5215

Airtight woodstove excellent condition $325 call Margaret at 549-6633

SHARP Cassette Deck 1 year old Dolby LED read out $80 or best Robert after 11 546-5090

Tires ★4★ 185/80r13 all season radials will mount-spin balence-new valves 30,000 mile/36 month ★guarentee★ 586-2544

2 brand new Panasonic speakers $80 or best offer lauren 6-8392

Three clarinets, must sell, good condition, we'll talk call 6-6462

Couch good condition $50 call Tracey 256-0653

Garrard-GT12 Turntable Like new. $60 or best offer. Call 549-5262

Television 9" B & W portable best offer call Tom - 546-6886

FOUND

Bracelet found at Evelyn King Concert Call 546-8519 describe and its yours

Found car keys near busstop in front of SOM; North Pleasant St. call 256-6845

Kimberly Nettelton I found your ring call 546-4429 ask for Heather

Found blue velcro wallet call 546-8061

HELP WANTED

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

Collegian Business Positions available for Fall '83: Finance Managers, Assistant Business Manager, Assistant Advertising Managers, and Advertising Representatives. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. Deadline is Thursday 4/28. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

The Commuter Area Government is now hiring for the summer. Positions are for 30 hours/week. Must be available through the fall. Applications available at 404 Student Union 9:00 - 5:00, Monday through Friday. We are an affirmative action equal opportunity employer. Third World, women, and non-traditional students encouraged to apply. Deadline for applications is April 29.

Collegian Drivers' positions available for fall '83. Must have car, morning hours free. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Tomorrow's Jobs know what is and will be available through this indispensable booklet of current government studies covering all industries and states inc, Alaska and Hawaii $8.75 Lyntel Research Dept. TA2114 PO Box 99405 Cleve., Ohio 44199 satisfaction guaranteed

Looking for experienced restaurant help for Capa restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate psychology student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm

LOST

A small clarinet case in Franklin. Very, very important! $20 reward. Please call 6-6355

One pair of women's glasses, possibly in a red oriental case. Might be lost in lot #22. Call 6-9149

Anthropology Book on table in Campus Center week of April 14. Call 549-5934

Lost - brown down coat please call Mat 6-7087

Keys on a purple hook keychain and gold timex watch Reward 549-1395

$25 REWARD dk. blue "Adventuregear" down jacket. Lost Friday - 22nd on Campus desperate - Lance, 317JFK, 6-7639

LOW RENT!!!

1 or 2 roommates wanted for furnished apartment on bus-route. Acess to TV, stereo, kitchen, weightlifting equipment $110/month. 253-2828

MEMORIAL

For Christine O'Malley at the Newman Center, 4/30 at 4:30 all welcome!

MOTORCYCLES

Honde 1980 750K 7000 miles garage kept new Dunlop tires complete tune-up xtras $1800 or BO 253-9376

1982 Kawasaki GPZ750 mint condition low miles serious inquiries only 549-4363

PERSONALS

"Sherm" Happy Birthday! Congratulations on becoming legal (again) at home! I hope you have a great day! Love always, your "Bermuda Club Pal." P.S. you still owe me!

Come on a 5000 mile odyssey from Alaska to Mexico - EARTHWALK: on 3-screens, narrated by Orson Welles, music by Pink Floyd and Vangelis. FREE TODAY, April 28, at 4, 7, and 9 pm in the SUB T-shirts given away to the first 25 people at each show!

Happy 19 Birthday you big "C" start the weekend early!

Tony, you were right about this being a great weekend! Remember the whipped cream on the balcony! I'll talk to you soon. Love always, Robin

Nanci Sap: Thank you for everything! You're the best! Stay out of trouble. Enjoy the 4 cans of whipped cream! Love, Robin

Blank Slate
It's only been 4 days: can I make it? A

Thank you beaker you saved me! Get psyched! Love Jill

SKI CLUB EXCLUSIVE APRIL 30

all those who workd 10 hours or more at the Great Ski Snatch Nov 18-21 contact the Ski Club 546-3437

Get Physical Sporting Goods Co-op
Ocean Pacific Shorts & Shirts
sneakers, frisbees, raquets, & balls
your sporting goods connection
322 Student Union (next to post office)

Get Psyched for Southwest Week
"Rock the Pyramids"
Tues: Visitorz Mass Transit
Wed: Cruisers Performers
Thurs: Midnight Sun
Fri: BMCP on Pyramids
10:00 pm WMUA Basketball Block Party
Sat: 8:00 movies 3 Stooges Horsefeathers
Sun Concert
David Johansen
Carlton Bryan & Crossroads
Abby Strauss
Urban Renewal
Heroes in Trouble
Hot Air Balloon Rides
sponored by:
The Pub, The Sub
Domino's, Bert's Ice Creem

Jayfer I remembered thanks to the US air. Have a super Birthday, eh? CM

Communication Disorders Majors award ceremony April 29 6 pm Memorial Hall wine and cheese reception free

Lesbian/Gay Dance Friday April 29 at 9 pm 10th Floor Campus Center admission 2$ for more info call 5-0154

Free Trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counselling referral MTuThF 4-8 pm 433SU 545-2645

Happy Birthday Dickie How about those greet buildings? Love Maddy & Braddy

UMASS ULTIMATE SHOWDOW MAY 4, 1983
Ultimate Tournament sponsored by The Sporting Goods Co-op
Bring a team roster by the Co-op for complete details 322 Student Union

Happy Birthday Carolyn Cardellal I hop this personal is OK I couldn't afford leather pants. S.

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PUFFTON SUBLET

3 bedroom Puffton pool A/C spotlight 320/mo negotiable June - August Kathy 549-4036

REWARD

Reward offered for a black onyx ring set in silver that was stolen out of our house at the huge Gilreath Manor party last Saturday nite great sentimental value - big reward 549-6227

RIDE WANTED

Ride for two to NYC, southern NY state or southern Conn needed desperately. Will leave anytime Friday 4/29. Will share expenses. Call Donna 546-8407

Ride needed to Weshington DC area for weekend of April 29 call Kelley 549-6749

ROOM WANTED

Cape apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-6062 leave message

2 looking for housing in Falmouth/Woods Hole area. Mike 549-0223

Looking for housemate? Vegetarian, non-smoking, considerate, quiet, politically active. Transfering fall. Looking for cheap house, friendly housemates. Evenings, call Hannah (607) 722-4707

Studio apt or room in apt or house pets allowed Sheila 253-9971

Female looking for a place on the Cape in the Hyannis/S. Yarmouth area call Nancy 549-1642

ROOMMATES WANTED

3 females house on Falmouth Cape Cod waterfront call 545-0075 Dianne

Responsible roommates wanted for fall. One space available for summer 253-5109

Townehouse Apt. summer sublet fall option for 2 people 549-6313

Quiet matured male or female to share two Puffton 1 bed rooms 253-3551 dinner time

To share 3 bedroom Townehouse Apt beginning June and/or fall 549-5848

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Manor Apt fall semester call 6-5237 or 6-5243

Brandywine lrg bedroom avail for 1 or 2 roommates Neal 549-2908

Available now. One room in house, only one mile to campus, on bus route, large yard with nice view 150 253-3362

Martha's Vineyard - Oakbluff's Female roommate wanted call Peggy 546-7703.

Townehouse Apt. - 2 bedroom 6/1 - 12/31 2 people - 665-4669 - After 7 Tom or Dave.

SENIOR DAY

Anyone interested in working on Senior Day: beer pourers, publicity, band hospitality - meting Thursday at 7:00 - Suffolk Room SUB

SERVICES

Typing short papers to manuscripts, reasonable, phone 665-4223 Debbie

SUMMER RENTALS

The ideal place: centrally located on campus, everything and more included. $250. for singles, $150. for double's for the full summer. Call Glenn S. at 545-0047 or 545-2150

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

1 bdrm Cliffside on bus rt pool and tennis courts 2858 665-4386

With fall option Two bedroom apt in house in Belchertown. On bus. 323-5854

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished $350 month available June 1 - Sept 1 549-6912

Rolling Green Apt - sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms beautiful apt, furnished, on bus route. Call Joel 256-0435

Female wented for own room in 2 bedroom Puffton fall option call Toby 549-0137

One bedroom in a two bedroom apt in Brandywine, pool, cable, rent/best offer call 548-8500 or 546-8487

1 bedroom in epartment Cliffside fall option $165/mo 665-7560 545-0097 Ruth

Four bedroom apt summer sublet only $400/mo heat & util included w/fall option call 549-6745

Furnished Townehouse Apt AC, rent negotiable call Scott or Rich 549-0516

CHEAP! 4 bedroom Rolling Green Apt - includes pool, AC, all utilities - $100 per person Call 253-3978

Townehouse Apt - 3 bedroom - summer sublet fully furnished - AC - cable call anytime 549-3843

Sports

MORE SPORTS ON PAGE 17

Gift giving Gorillas hand Harvard a win

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

CAMBRIDGE- This one really hurt.

The University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team, also known as Garber's Gorillas, traveled to Ivy Country yesterday and handed Harvard University (4-6) an 8-7 victory on a platter.

Like many of the Gorilla games this year, the game wasn't decided until the final minute of play.

In the past, bad breaks spelled the Gorilla's doom, but this day the Gorillas did themselves in.

They were hit with two unsportsmanlike conduct penalties, one on goalie Chris Benedetto and another on defenseman Brad Broadwell.

Benedetto's penalty was unnecessary (for throwing a dead ball) while Broadwell's offense may have been provoked. But, provoked or not, it may very well have cost the Gorillas the game.

With 5:46 remaining in the contest and the Crimson leading 7-6, Broadwell was caught retaliating against Harvard attackman Rob Hawley, who had repeatedly butted Broadwell in the head with his stick.

Broadwell was penalized and Harvard capitalized when Brendan Meagher scored with 5:14 left to push the Crimson lead to 8-6.

"I tell the guys you can't retaliate," said a dejected UMass head coach Dick Garber. "We gave this one away. I can't believe it."

With 4:19 left, senior Paul Fogarty scored for UMass to pull the Gorillas within one at 8-7.

Harvard then proceeded to hold the ball as the clock ran out and the Gorillas were unable to mount an attack as they were sent home with another loss and a record which dropped to 3-6.

One goal has made a difference all year long for the Gorillas and yesterday was no exception.

"There are two things you can do," said Garber, assessing the team's situation at this point in the year. "You can rollover and die or suck it up and come back. We'll rebound."

The team plays again on Saturday when they travel to West Point to take on Army.

Gazelles leap ahead early, don't look back

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

CHESTNUT HILL- The University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team improved their record to 9-1 as they handily defeated Boston College by a score of 14-1 on Tuesday night.

The Gazelles' powerful scoring attack once again scored early and put BC on the run the rest of the game.

"We played aggressively. It's the sign of a good team to go ahead right away. The only game we haven't scored first in was against UNH. We think we have the upper hand if we have to get someone to chase us," said Coach Pam Hixon.

Pam Moryl opened the scoring for the Gazelles a little more than three minutes into the game, and had a 4-0 lead as the rest of the team helped provide some scoring, and had a comfortable 5-1 lead at halftime.

The laxwomen continued to play their game and broke out in the second half with three goals in the first five minutes to take an 8-1 advantage, and they never looked back after that.

UMass was led in scoring by Linda Haytayan who had another outstanding day as she put in four goals and chipped in three more assists. She was followed by Moryl who had a four goal performance and Sue Kozloski and Tish Stevens who scored two goals each.

"We tried to fast break and got the ball downfield fast. I felt BC played well in midfield, but we were able to run the ball well and control it. They tried to triple team Pam, something which we've been expecting all along. But as she swept through she took her defenders off and passed to Linda who is dangerous one on one. Linda and Pam were too much for them to handle," said Hixon.

The stickwomen took 23 shots on the BC netminder, while UMass goalie Rita Hubner only faced six shots in the game and played well.

"The defense played well under a lot of pressure as both ends of the field have been tested. What we need to do is to read defenses and act appropriately," said Hixon.

"Now we have the opportunity to work on things and try some people in different positions to prepare for the upcoming weekend's games," Hixon added.

UMass will have to pull out all the stops as they take on the number one ranked and defending champions of the now defunct American Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW), Temple University Friday and then face number 10 ranked Northwestern on Saturday. Both games will be on upper NOPE field.

AP Laserphoto

Robert Parish of the Boston Celtics looks on as Paul Pressy of the Milwaukee Bucks reacts and hangs from the rim after sinking a basket. The Bucks beat the Celtics in game 1 of the NBA Eastern Conference semi-finals 116-95.

Tuft's Jumbos jaunt past UM netmen, 5-4

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

No wonder the Aztecs held the Sun God in such high reverence. Yesterday, for the first time in several weeks, the blazing ball of glory finally reigned supreme, but the University of Massachusetts men's tennis team found out that Tufts is exactly that in dropping an exciting 5-4 decision to the Jumbos.

The match was tied 3-3 going into the doubles. The number three doubles match finished first, with UMass' Mike Duseau and Dave Salem dropping a close 7-6, 6-4 contest to Allen Levenson and Phil Maloney. But UMass knotted the score again as Neal Mackertich and Stuart Goodman, playing number one doubles, defeated Steve Eisenstein and John Dumke 6-7, 6-1, 6-3. All eyes then [illegible] UMass dynamic duo of Steve Jordan and Rich Lindgren, fresh off their appearance in the Atlantic 10's doubles final in their bracket, were operating. But the Lord of victory did not cast its magic on the Minutemen as Tufts, Bill Friend and John Niceforo were the recipients of his blessing instead, winning 2-6, 7-6, 6-3. The tenth and final game went to 3-3 before Lingdren hit an overhead smash wide of the right sideline. Oh well.

In the singles, Mackertich, at number one, put on another display of superb tennis as he swatted Friend 6-1, 6-2.

"I felt pretty good today," said the senior Engineering major from Westfield, MA., adding, "Some matches you play well and lose, but today it felt good. This kid (Friend) is a good player, but today he was just off. I just went for it and the balls fell in."

Jordan also won in his [illegible] Goodman, though, ran into a buzzsaw in the form of Niceforo, who dealt the freshman the worst defeat of his young collegiate career, 6-2, 6-2. Rich Lindgren, at number four, rebounded to best Dave Kleiner 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The number five and six spots continued to give coach Bob Szlosek headaches as Duseau and Dave Singer, at five and six, respectively, each lost two-set decisions. Duseau lost the tie-breaker in the first set, on his way to hhe loss to Scott Beardsley 7-6, 6-2. Singer was manhandled by Dumke 6-2, 6-0.

"I'm dumbfounded that no one is winning at five and six," said Szlosek. "I don't feel confident with anybody who has been playing at those spots. it looks like they're not in the match. At two through four singles, at least when they lose, they hit. But at five and six, we are playing with no confidence, and not hitting."

The loss ended the Minutemen's four-match winning streak. They now stand at 4-2. They face Vermont today (2 p.m.) at home.

AP Laserphoto

Nolan Ryan, of the Houston Astros, after registering his 3,449th strikeout, yesterday in Montreal, breaking a long-standing record held by Walter Johnson.

Inside: UMass Charter Day special

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 124 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Friday, April 29, 1983

Collegian photo by Kevin J. Pacheco

Several students took advantages of the cloudless sky and warm temperatures yesterday to jump, dive and frolic off the cliffs at Puffers Pond.

Newly elected BOG chair pledges to support student interests in CC

By DAVID SUMMERSBY
Collegian Staff

Junior political science major Mike Reilly was elected the next chair of the Campus Center Board of Governors (BOG) last night during special BOG elections.

Reilly is the current BOG vice-chair. He will replace graduating senior Ron Keefe who has held the position this past year.

"I want to make sure that students are well represented in the Campus Center and I want to make sure that we are on top of all issues in the buildings so students can be informed of what is going on," said Reilly.

In elections for the other two officer positions, Allison Hughes was voted in as the next Vice-Chair and Jerry Quill won the spot as next year's treasurer.

"I want to make sure that student interests are well represented in the Campus Center and I want to make sure that we are on top of all issues in the building so students can be informed of what is going on," Reilly said.

Reilly also said as next year's chair he will place a lot of emphasis on trying to make capital improvements in the Campus Center repairing and replacing old or faulty equipment.

"I would like to see the BOG take an active hand in the economic development of the student run co-ops such as Union Record Store and Earthfoods," Reilly said.

"The Campus Center is finally getting on its feet," he said.

Reilly added that he wants to work for students but also work closer with the Campus Center Administration.

As Vice-Chair, Hughes said that protecting student interests is the first priority as well as making students aware as soon as possible of things going on in the Campus Center.

"I find it is important to work with the Campus Center Administration because they initiate most of the changes. We are there as a kind of watchdog making sure nothing happens unless students are informed," Hughes said.

Jerry Quill was not available for comment last night concerning his new position as BOG Treasurer. He will succeed Mike Fioretti who will be pursuing a graduate career.

The new officers will officially take their positions in September of 1983 and will be on the job until the following May.

Hatch changes names of food called offensive

By MARY BALDWIN
Collegian Staff

Due to student pressure and a recently published letter in the Collegian editorial pages, the names of three items on the menu at the Hatch restaurant, which are considered to be offensive by many, will be changed in the near future, according to the director of the Campus Center at the University of Massachusetts.

The names "Saucy Chick" and "Sensual Sausage" are in the process of being changed because they reflect gender and they may be sexist, said Bill Harris, Campus Center director.

"The students are correct," said Harris. "We should change the names. Using catchy names doesn't market the sandwich any better."

Complaints have also been made about the "Warsaw Willie" the name of a kielbasa sandwich sold at the Hatch, said Larry Jeffers, manager of the restaurant.

The names were brought to the attention of Jeffers in a letter he received from UMass students Laura Gallant and Mitch Gaslin. The letter complained that the "Saucy Chick" uses an extremely sexist stereo-type and perpetuates a condescending, objectifying image of young, single women. The "Sensual Sausage" is also unnecessarily sexual, Gaslin said.

"The 'Sensual Sausage' is not sexist but sexual, which is unnecessary," Gaslin said. As for the 'Saucy Chick' he said, "in street language chick is used to describe young females. You add saucy on to that and it only adds to advertising's derogatory image of women. We just wanted to point out that the names offend people."

On Tuesday, the names of the items which are listed on the menu board were blocked out with paper and the temporary names "No Name Chick," "Poor Poulet," "The Unknown Sausage," and "The Unknown Sausage with Sauerkraut" were added.

Jeffers said he did not order the change but the names will stay until new ones are chosen. "Someone probably instructed my supervisor to do it. I'd like to take them down. I think it's ridiculous after all that time. I could understand back when we chose the names if someone had protested, but not now," said Jeffers, who along with other Hatch employees chose the names three years ago. "I don't know why it has taken three years for someone to discover those names are sexist," Jeffers said.

"We have a 'Fat Frank' down here now. Is that discriminatory to fat people? How far do you go?"

Jeffers said the change will involve repainting the entire menu board, throwing out over six thousand sandwich lables and getting the kitchen help used to the new names.

Duffey to be inaugurated as part of Charter Day festivities

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

The inaugural convocation of Joseph D. Duffey as the fourth chancellor of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst will take place tomorrow after speeches by noted officials as part of University Charter Day celebrations.

The ceremony will begin at 10 a.m. in Bowker Auditorium with a prelude, followed by a fanfare and opening remarks from UMass President David C. Knapp at 10:30 a.m.

Knapp will then introduce the seven guest speakers, who include noted alumni as well as educators and government officials. An honorary degree, The Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, will be awarded to John W. Ryan, former secretary to the Board of Trustees and chancellor of UMass Boston, and Maurice A. Donahue, author of legislation that formed UMass Boston and a state medical school and current director of the Institute for Governmental Studies at UMass.

Speakers at the convocation will be: Evelyn Murphy, state secretary of Economic Affairs; Henry L. Gates, a Yale professor and former student of Duffey, Gordon Oakes, president of Baybanks Valley Trust and a 1963 UMass alumni; Regent David Beaubien, a UMass alumnus; Board of Trustees Chair Robert H. Quinn; Juanita Kreps, former secretary of Commerce in the Carter administration and vice president of Duke University; and John Ryan, the honorary degree recipient.

Knapp and Quinn will then preside over Duffey's installation, presenting him with a symbol of office. He will then deliver a short speech, following which the University Wind Ensemble will wind up the ceremony. A luncheon will follow.

Calendar of UMass Charter day celebration

NOON
University Marimba Band will play by the Campus pond

12:30 to 1 p.m.
Fanfare by Walter Chestnut and the Brass Choir from the top of the Fine Arts Center

Introductions: reading of Governor's proclamation, excerpts from the original charter; Remarks — Chancellor Duffey, President Knapp, Board of Trustees Chair Robert Quinn

12:30 to 3 p.m., continuous
A slide show depicting UMass through the decades, using period music and Collegian headlines, will be shown free of charge in the Student Union Ballroom

1 p.m. to 2 p.m.
"Happy Birthday" played by George Parks and University Marching Band Members

120 cakes cut and served to crowd (free);
University Oompah Band, a polka-playing group of faculty and staff, will play on the pond;

Judging of banner, 12 decade booths, awarding of University director chairs — 6 winners;
Student-administration rope pull, Campus Center gift certificates awarded

2 p.m. to 6 p.m.
Festivities continue with student bands including the Armstrong Brothers, Moving Targets and Mass Transit

House to vote on ban despite Reagan's plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Intelligence Committee will vote to ban covert military operations in Nicaragua despite President Reagan's appeal for Congress to rally behind his Central America policies, the panel's chairman said yesterday.

But the committee, meeting les than 24 hours after Reagan's speech to a joint session of the House and Senate, put off its decision until next Tuesday on a proposal to terminate funds for such covert activity in 45 days. The measure would substitute a program to openly help friendly nations in the region to halt leftist gunrunning.

Canadian Minister endorses arms plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau endorsed President Reagan's strategic arms proposals yesterday as proof the administration is "determined to seek ways to find lasting peace." That apparently cleared the way for the United States to test its cruise missile over Canadian skies.

Trudeau, who earlier complained that the proposed test flights of the cruise over Western Canada posed "a serious and deeply troubling issue" for his government, met for two hours with Reagan at the White House.

CORRECTION

An article in yesterday's Collegian erroneously reported that Maura McHugh defeated Philip Vettraino in the race for vice president of the Orchard Hill Area Government. Actually, that race will be decided in a runoff election, which has yet to be scheduled.

Also, Donna Dooley was elected treasurer, and Lynda Harbold was chosen to be secretary during the election, which took place earlier this week.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Ray Beauchemin
Copy Editor — Rita Murphy
Layout Technician — Will Hopkins
Photo Technician — Ann Lamery
Composition — Laura Shanahan, Alice Klingener, Mat Atkins, Matt Sajdak, Stuart Sajdak, James Shanahan, Sue Koczela, Will Hopkins, Peter Soderberg

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address change to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

HANGAR ONE

Fri April 29 — We continue to rock with. . . Berlin Airlift, special guest: THE CARDIAC KIDS, free drafts 8-9, 2 for 1 9-10, $3.

Sat April 30 — NEW WAVE MARCHES ON. . . WMUA Solid Sound Dance Series With EAT recording artists Rubber Rodeo and IRS record artist Fear of Strangers also Heros in Trouble, Doors Open 8 PM, Free drafts 8-9, 2 for 1 9-10, $3.

Coming. . . Jonathan Edwards 5/4; November Group 5/6; James Montgomery 5/7; Stompers 5/12

18 & older with ID — 253-2280

Student Housing, Chi Rho welcomes applications from sihgle grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores. Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

White Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small 2 item pizza
Only $4.00

HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF LAW
PRE-LAW SUMMER INSTITUTE
Weekday section: May 31 to June 30
Evening section: May 31 to June 30
Saturday section: May 26 to June 25
Call (516) 560-5916 or write
Pre-Law Summer Institute
School of Law
HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY
Hempstead, L.I. New York 11550

DELANO'S
APRIL HAPPY HOUR SPECIAL
Kronenbourg Bottles
2 for 1
plus our original twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a must
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

家酒園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant
"The Best Chinese Food"
MENU
Hot & Sour Soup
Beef with green pepper
Chicken Pan Fried Noodels
Sweet & Spur Chicken
Chinese Style BBQ Pork
Pan Fried Ravioli
Chicken Fingers
BUFFET
Mon - Thurs
5 pm - 8 pm
Sunday Brunch
11:30 am - 3 pm
ALL YOU CAN EAT
$5.25 per person
Luncheon Special & Take-Out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun - Thurs 11:30 am - 10 pm
Fri & Sat 11:30 am - 11 pm
10 Belchertown Road
at Rte 9, Amherst
256-8252

You Au To Wash Your Car
where you can soap,
BUBBLEBRUSH rinse, wax, engine degrease and whitewall clean.
Amherst Sunshine Car Wash
381 College St.
(across from Spirit Haus)
- Open 24 hours of every day -

COMING SOON
UTOPIA SPAS
a division of Stress Management, Inc.
(located at the Price Chopper Mall, Amherst)
A Complete Therapeutic Relaxation Facility
•Hot Whirlpool Spas
•Sensory Deprivation Tank
•Therapeutic Massage
•Suntan Lounge Room
•All Natural - nonalcoholic - refreshments
•Warm & Comfortable Lounge-area with Wood Stove
•A Clean, Safe, Supervised Environment
•Each area wired for your own favorite music or sounds
•and Much More
Take a Deep Breath and Relax

TONIGHT
JOHN WILL NEVER EAT SHISH KEBAB AGAIN
Steven will never ride a motorcycle again.
Greg will never lift weights again.
Who's killing Crawford High's snobbish top ten?
At the rate they're going there will be no one left for Virginia's birthday party...alive.
Happy Birthday to me
Six of the most bizarre murders you will ever see.
Friday April 29 S.U.B.
5-$1.00 7, 9, 11-$1.50

This mural of a third world mother, her starving child and nuclear weapons hanging from the Campus Center garage has been subject to recent controversy concerning where the mural should be homed.

Campus Center, artist in dispute

By MICHELE DOLAN
Collegian Correspondent

An effort to move a world hunger mural outside the Campus Center Garage to inside the Campus Center is proving difficult for artist Jaime Young.

Young wants her mural moved to a more suitable location, but Campus Center Director William Harris said the move will not take place.

"You cannot view the full scope of the mural," Harris said of moving the mural to the proposed site at the right of the escalator in the Campus Center. He added that there is no problem with officials at the garage about permanently leaving the mural in its current position.

The colorful mural depicts a third world mother and her starving child in a scenario of nuclear weapons. It came to the UMass campus in December when Young and staff members of "Spectrum," the UMass literary magazine, hung it in its present position on the garage wall.

"Spectrum" will be using the work in its 1983 issue, which is currently in production.

"I really appreciate a statement of human values," said "Spectrum" Managing Editor Charles Francis Carroll.

"Now we're looking for a more permanent place for it," said Carroll, who is supporting Young's effort to move the mural.

John Furbish, who coordinates public art in the Campus Center and the Dining Commons, said he has been working with Young to get the mural moved and recently joined forces with Carroll.

"The Campus Center has been involved with public artwork, so it would be a suitable place (for the mural)," Furbish said.

Young said the mural is a statement against nuclear weapons.

"The mother is representative of every mother who is trying to keep a child alive," she said. "The child is representative of the next generation. The cup that the boy is holding is empty because of the missiles that are being made. The industrial world is depriving the third world of the food that they need just by making the bomb."

Campus parking coordinator Jim Lee said the artist has permission to keep the mural on the garage wall permanently. The garage wall is donned with banners for student organizaions which Young said "detract from the mural."

Until the conflict between Young and Harris is resolved, the future of the mural remains uncertain.

Residential College system stays

By RICHARD NANGLE
Collegian Staff

Residential college programs will remain under the direction of the School of Education despite a proposal in the new Long Range plan that the programs be eliminated.

The Faculty Senate Academic Priorities Council voted unanimously to keep the programs and agreed to make other recommendations to the Faculty Senate at its May 18 meeting. The Council had been asked by Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey to consider the question of eliminating residential programs.

The recommendations included informing the senate that: issues raised regarding programmatic quality are being addressed by the School of Education; monitoring of the program should be handled by the residential college subcommittee of the Academic Matters Council; the development of any residential honors program should originate with the Academic Matters Council and proceed through proper channels.

Proposals for the Southwest and Orchard Hill residential colleges included a merger which was agreed by the committee.

Also student representative to the council Bruce Levy argued against combining the university honors program with the Orchard Hill Residential College.

Levy said he feared that students who were not a part of the honors program would not be able to interact well with them and an "elitist" attitude might develop.

Since the residential programs will be campus wide, the phrase "residential college" must be eliminated, Levy said.

The University of Massachusetts will have a minimum of three years, as of Sunday, to implement the expansion of residential programs to a campus-wide base, Levy said.

Little difference between the sexes

By ROBERTA RUBIN
Collegian Correspondent

There is no real difference between men and women but there are still conflicting arguments which need to be solved, said an Amherst College professor to an audience of 30 in the Pratt Library at Amherst College last night.

Rose Olver, who was the first female faculty member admitted to the Amherst College staff in 1962, said that men and women, when they are born, both hold masculine and feminine traits, but that child rearing and social features are the major influences that give the male his "typical" masculine traits and the female her "typical" feminine traits.

"I believe that men's relationship are competitive and that this trait is the result of the competitiveness between father and son for the mother's attention," she said.

Because the mother pushes the son away from herself and toward the father, from an emotional relationship, and because the father might not be around too much, the son assumes on his own that he should not be everything that his mother is, in order to be masculine. As a consequence, the male becomes controlled and structured and usually deals with rules. However, women generally have a closer relationship with the mother so that women become more tuned into emotions, seeing what they can do to help others and to deal with relationships.

According to Olver, these two completely opposite traits of both sexes can prove to be dangerous.

"The autonomous and competitive man might eventually become violent and the woman who is so busy helping others will probably forget to help herself and she will become vulnerable to abusive people," Olver said.

Olver said although men and women deal with situations in completely opposite manners, they are both moral and correct. Men tend to deal with friendships by interracting in large groups.

They usually interact in these groups by joking, playing or discussing sports, but they share no intimate thoughts. Women on the other hand, tend to gather in small groups and they usually talk of family and relationships. Both the male and female manner of interacting with friends are "different but they are both moral," Olver said.

Olver said that she feels that the ideal man or woman would be the two opposite traits mixed together into one person. "However," she said, "cultural research needs to be done and in about five or six years, some answers may come out of it. Then, we may know how to mix these two traits together."

Greek week begins with awards night

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

"Father bless these Greeks — for they need it," were the words used to bless the food which commenced the annual Greeks Award Night Banquet held last night.

The awards banquet was the kick-off event for Greek Week and was held to honor those members and sororities and fraternities that have displayed outstanding service not only to their particular house, but the community as a whole.

Ten Gamma Gamma Awards were presented to individuals for meritorious service. Awardees were: Chris Funk, Peter Buckley, Martha Mcgrail, Joe Floyd, David Kiselbrock, Joe Armstrong, Joe Cooney, Mark Peterson, Steve Cummings and Mark Bice.

Lambda Delta Phi was selected as the most improved sorority and Delta Chi the most improved fraternity.

Renee Lanzilli was selected as the best sorority president and Brian Sullivan the best fraternity president. They are presidents of Alpha Chi Omega and Beta Kappa Phi, respectively.

The Greek awards for Man and Woman of the year were presented to the man and woman who have done the most to exemplify Greek life was presented to Carley Denlinger and Jim Lonigan.

The inscription on the plaque read "It is a good thing to be rich, and a good thing to be strong, but it is a better thing to be loved of many friends." The motto written by Euripides some 5,000 years ago, is presented to the Greek who best displays these qualities.

The Brad Rinquist Memorial Award is presented in memory of a fraternity brother from the University of Massachusetts who died in an automobile accident three years ago. The recipient for this year was Carolyn Troki of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Greek Week will continue through May 5 with a number of events to benefit local charities. The week will conclude with the sororities' attempt at breaking a Guiness World Record for creating the world's largest ice cream sundae which will be service to the public.

Newslines..

Puppet show instructs kids on rights concerning abuse

A puppet show aimed at teaching children about their right not to be abused will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in Campus Center Room 101 for ages 5-6 and 2 p.m. for ages 7-10. Admission is free. For more information call Educator Advocates 545-0883.

Chisholm among speakers at Amherst College law forum

The fourth annual Charles Hamilton Houston Forum on Law and Social Justice will be held today and tomorrow at Amherst College. Guest participants will be Shirley Chisholm, Purington professor at Mount Holyoke College, and William Bradford Reynolds, assistant attorney general, civil rights division, United States Department of Justice.

"Leave the boys at home" and come to the Quabbin picnic

A women's retreat to Quabbin will take place this Sunday as the first annual "Leave the Boys at Home" fun and frolic picnic will be from 1 to 5 p.m. Those interested in attending should meet outside the Student Union Ballroom at 11:00 a.m. For more information contact SCERA at 545-0341.

Conference for women and their career opportunities

A conference to help women make career decisions and set goals, entitled "Working Women: Exploring Personal Change and Options" will be held tomorrow in Seelye Hall at Smith College.

The conference, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., was initiated by Livelihoods, a career newsletter for women, and is being co-sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education at the University of Massachusetts, Smith College Career Development Office, and Worklife Associates of Granby.

The morning schedule includes workshops on self-assessment, resume writing and interviewing, and the afternoon schedule includes workshop electives.

Workshops include "Myth and Reality in the World of Work," a discussion of stereotypes about working which may influence career decisions, and "The Balancing Act: Work in Women's Lives," where women will explore their changing views of work. For more information call 545-2484.

— MICHELLE HYDE

Hampshire College sponsors conference on communication

A conference on "Social Investing: Networking for Investment in the Future," will be held this weekend at Hampshire College. A series of speakers and panels will discuss issues surrounding social investing, and various possibilities for action and future communication. The keynote address will be given by Robert J. Schwartz, vice president of Shearson/American Express and a member of the national board of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

David Johansen, the Fools headline weekend concerts

The University of Massachusetts will be rockin' and rollin' this weekend as the Union Program Council presents David Johansen and Urban Renewal as part of the annual Northeast/Sylvan and Southwest area concerts.

Opening the Northeast/Sylvan area concert at noon tomorrow in Quadrangle area in Northeast will be the Boston-based rockabilly group, Club Koda, followed by The Fools. The headlining act will be Luther "Guitar Junior" Johnson and his band. Johnson is the lead guitarist for the legendary blues performer Muddy Waters.

The Southwest area show will take place from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday at the Barbeque Pits there. Included in the show are Heroes in Trouble, Abby Strauss, Urban Renewal and the reggae band Carlton Bryan and the Crossroads, who have previously performed with reggae masters Peter Tosh and the late Bob Marley. Headlining the concert is former New York Dolls singer David Johansen.

FOUR SEASONS

Busch	btls.	$8.99
Bud	cans.	$10.99
Bud Light	cans.	$10.99
Carling Black Label	btls.	$6.99
NEW — Hamms	cans.	$7.99
Popov Vodka	750	$4.49
Vodka & Gin	1.75	$7.99
Rum	1.75	$9.99
Piccala Coffee Liquor	1 L.	$7.49
Sebastiani Table Wines	3 L.	$6.99
Andre Champagne	750 ml.	$2.99

Help keep up the tradition - drink May Wine on May 1st.
Several brands available.

Kegs Delivery
Bring your empties to us.
Wines/Liquors
rte 9 hadley m. - 584-8574

NEW MUSIC
A CONCERT OF MINIMALIST WORKS
Sat. Apr. 30 8:00 p.m.
By Steve Reich and Thomas Myron
Bezanson Recital Hall,
UMass Fine Arts
Center, Amherst
$1.00 Admission
FUNDED BY THE UMASS ARTS COUNCIL
PRODUCED BY THE TIME AND MOTION PROJECT

Jonathan Edwards
Bev Rohler Band
& Blues with
Paul Rishell
Wed. May 4th
at Hangar One
benefit for Paralysis
Cure Research
advance tix $6.
Wed-Fri on concourse
for more info call
549-5994

FREE SODAS
whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY
FREE SODAS
363 Main St., Amherst
256-8587
WEEKEND SPECIAL
Large 2 - Item Pizza
only $6.50
(2 free sodas upon request)

AMHERST CINEMA
$2.50 Double Feature
Wednesday - Saturday
Annie Hall 7:15
Manhattan 9:00
Sunday - Tuesday
The Tin Drum 7:00
Mephisto 9:15
Downtown Amherst
253-5426

Blimps & Things
rent-a-blimp
527-6358
Blimp Rentals
Variety of sizes
starting at 4 ft.
BALLOONS IMPRINTED
BALLOON RELEASES
HELIUM SALES
Parades & Parties
Rentals, Sales, or Complete
Promotional Packages

APU
Advertising
Specialties
Unlimited
527-5662
"Products with Ideas"
Calendars
Bumper Stickers
License Plates
Wearables
Buttons

1 Cottage St. Easthampton

Do you own a Personal computer?
Before you buy anything,
check out THE COMPETITION!
Diskette Storage Box $23.95 Sug. Retail $29.95
Elephant Memory Disc's
Single side, single density $23.50 Box of 10
Single side, double density $23.50 Box of 10
Double side, double density $31.50 Box of 10
Seikosha GX-100P Dot Matrix Printer-50 cps - $249.95 compatible with Commodore and all centronics parallel systems.
We carry entire Elephant Memory System line.
Enquire for a comprehensive price list.
P.O. Box 136, Amherst, Mass. 01004

STARTS TODAY

SHOWCASE CINEMA MANAGEMENT
PALACE 1·2
RT. 5 RIVERDALE RD W SPRINGFIELD
781-4890

SACK CINEMA
EASTFIELD 1·2
EASTFIELD MALL SPRINGFIELD
543-3304

TIME OUT
A GOOD PLACE TO START A CONVERSATION
HAPPY HOUR
4 - 7 PM
SUNDAY NITE
SPECIAL
RUM & COKE
GIN & TONIC
$1.00
Free Popcorn
Two TV's
Amherst's Biggest Little Bar
37 N Pleasant St.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Dukakis addresses higher ed.

It is not too soon to be thinking about the year 2000. That is when the children who were born during this past election year will finish high school. And as we think about what America will be like at the dawn of the next century — how sound her economy will be, how strong her communities, how rich her quality of life, how free her people — we have to recognize that education is an indispensable ingredient of that future.

We have to recognize that the beneficiaries of quality public education, in all the communities of all our states, are not merely teachers, students, and their families — but all of our people.

I spent 1982 telling campaign audiences of all kinds that without our state's reputation for educational excellence, even though in Massachusetts, as in other states, the Governor is not directly responsible for public education.

There is more to leadership than formal authority. Few people can match the moral leadership that a Governor can exert on behalf of policies and programs that match his convictions. And only the Governor can lend coherence and direction to the mix of federal, state, and local activities, that make up the whole of public policy in a field like education.

Lip service won't do. As Governor I have said to the White House and the Congress that a $1.6 trillion increase in defense spending at the cost of educating our children is unacceptable. As Governor, I intend to make certain that public education gets its fair share of the state's resources. In my FY 1984 Budget Recommendations for higher education I am asked for $447.9 million for the Board of Regents, an increase of $33.1 million over the fiscal 1983 appropriation. Highlights of the fiscal 1984 budget recommendation include — development of new programs and expansion of instructional support in areas of great importance to the state's economy: engineering, computer, and informative sciences, health professions, management, environmental engineering, and the basic sciences; attention to deferred maintenance at our public institution's physical plants and strengthening of educational equipment inventories; increased general scholarship aid as a just step toward meeting our commitment to bring total scholarship assistance to a local commensurate with other states; tuition increases are not recommended. At the elementary and secondary level, our highest priority is to provide additional state aid through a distribution formula based upon need. In keeping with this priority, we are recommending a $151.2 million increase in local aid to cities and towns. It is anticipated that a significant proportion of this funding will be used to provide additional resources to local school districts.

Most important of all, as Governor I will use the prestige of my office to be an advocate for public education. In Boston, just one household in ten has a direct stake in the public schools in the form of a child enrolled there or a breadwinner working there. It is no wonder that political support for the public schools has deteriorated, and in many other Massachusetts cities, things are better only in degree. How can the citizenry at large come to recognize its tremendous stake in those schools? Our leaders have to show the way, and in the states that kind of leadership starts with the Governor. If we do our homework in Massachusetts, I believe that the 1980's can be a comeback decade for public education. I pledge my efforts to achieving that goal in partnership with the education, business, and labor communities of the Commonwealth.

Michael S. Dukakis

Massachusetts would be an economic wasteland. In the narrowest sense, higher education, public and private alike, is a significant economic force all by itself — it employs over 100,000 people and generates over $3 billion in economic activity in Massachusetts every year.

But that is only one small part of the story. In an emerging world economy based on knowledge, Massachusetts has become a center for the development and use of new technologies because of our reputation for educational strength at every level — from suburban elementary schools to Boston Latin to the libraries and labs of our 100 college and university campuses.

In Massachusetts we have begun to link our colleges and universities to our local school systems. The University of Massachusetts alone is involved in more than 75 such linkages and is now working to broaden and formulize an alliance with our public schools. A second area of linkage is between education and the business community. In Massachusetts, where two years ago education and high technology were locked in a bitter struggle over taxation and public finance, a recent feature story in the Boston Globe business pages asked a number of leaders in our state's knowledge-based industries to discuss the most important issues facing Massachusetts in the 1980's. They all began with education. We need to reach out to our progressive business leaders with strength and confidence. They need us as much as we need them. The labor movement is another important area of collaboration for the education community.

As Governor, I will be a strong ally for education at all levels in Massachusetts. I intend to make the partnership between education and economic growth a reality in our state. I recognize that if there is one person in a position of political leadership in every state, who can make a difference for education, it is the Governor. And I say that

Michael S. Dukakis is Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Letters

Orchard Hill gives apologies

To the Editor:

The Orchard Hill Area Government would like to thank all the Orchard Hill residents for their participation in Bowl Day '83. However, their has been some discussion concerning the Tug-of-War competition. Although the team names were chosen by the individual teams, the Area Government recognizes its responsibility as an organizer of the event and we would like to apologize to anyone offended.

Orchard Hill Area Government
Chuck Nally
President

Plain Truth isn't very truthful

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on Rich Nangle's editorial on April 28 entitled "Plain Truth is not so true." I am involved with Campus Crusade for Christ, an RSO group here on campus, and I would like to make it clear that we, as an international organization, certainly do not advocate much of what the magazine's Publisher Herbert W. Armstrong writes. In fact, many very learned theologians have called his Worldwide Church of God a cult. So then, I share Mr. Nangle's amazement with "religious zealots who twist the words of the Bible to fit their own interpretations of theology."

Mr. Nangle also wrote that Jesus taught "compassion and understanding and love," again I agree, but Jesus also taught that He is God, and that each of us must decide whether to accept or reject Him as such. It is not my intent to preach or force anything on anyone, but I do beg anyone who has asked himself, "Why am I here?", to merely check out the reasons given by Jesus. And then decide.

Christopher Willard
Southwest

Calories a day is it the way?

"I hope you don't mind that I started eating without you, but I was really starving," I apologized. "My stomach grumbled right in the middle of Economics, and everybody stared at me. It was incredibly embarrassing."

"That's okay," Norma said, sitting down across from me. We'd agreed to meet for lunch at noontime, in the Bluewall. By the time she arrived — 12:10 — I'd already been through the sandwich line, found a table, and munched my way through the better part of a chicken salad and tomato on rye.

Elizabeth Luciano

"I'm not terribly hungry today," Norma added airily, then delicately opened a paper napkin and spread it across her lap. She mincingly picked up a dill pickle and bit into it. Besides a small Tab, it was the only thing on her tray. "Mmmmmm . . . heaven," she murmured, closing her eyes.

I looked up at her sharply. This did not sound like Norma, who was notorious for polishing off entire bags of Chips Ahoy cookies in one sitting, then sloshing them down with a quart of vitamin-D whole milk. She's one of those people who truly enjoys food. And although she couldn't exactly be called fat, her figure did confess to frequent pit-stops at Bart's.

"Oh, I forgot to tell you," she snapped back to life, the pickle juice dribbling down her chin, "I'm on a diet."

"Why?" I asked, somewhat insincerely. It was obvious why, but it's just a nice question to ask of people who are dieting.

"I just decided it was time," she shrugged, sipping her Tab. "It's going pretty well so far. I had six Cheerios for breakfast, and I can hardly wait for dinner tonight."

"Antipasto and a plate of high-protein spaghetti?" I guessed.

"Nope. Three lettuce leaves, half a lemon, and a sprig of fresh parsley," Norma tried to sound cheerful. My stomach lurched.

"That sounds very . . . nutritious," I said, making a conscientious effort to be supportive, although it hardly sounded like the healthiest, most appealing regimen in the world.

"It really is!" she assured me enthusiastically, "You should try it. I mean, summer's just around the corner, and you'll be spending lots of time at the Cape, right?"

"Wrong. The Jersey shore. I live in New Jersey."

"Same differenece," she said impatiently. "Come on, it won't be so bad if we diet together."

"I don't think so, Norma," I said doubtfully. "I'm an M&M junkie. I might go through withdrawal symptoms."

"Don't be so childish," Norma said, crunching the ice from the bottom of her cup. "Your extravagant fondness for M&M's is an infantile, psychological crutch, and you know it."

"What about my membership in the Sundae-of-the-Month club?" I said feebly. "We're supposed to try mango ripple with hot butterscotch this weekend."

"Quit the club," she suggested, "Spend some time at the gym, instead."

"But that would be a shock to my system!" I protested, anxious to be running out of excuses. "Besides, I might waste away to nothing. I mean, losing a few pounds would be nice, but I don't want to become emaciated."

Norma looked me straight in the eye.

"It's not likely," she said coolly. I winced; the truth hurt. "I'll bet you can pinch an inch," she added cruelly, groping for my waistline. The people at the next table snickered into their sandwiches.

"Norma, will you cut that out!" I hissed, slapping her hand away. "Everybody's looking!" She really can be tacky, at times.

"Then you'll do it?" she insisted, "You'll go on the diet with me?"

"Alright, alright!" I shouted, "I'll do it!"

"That's terrific," Norma smiled, pleased to have gotten her way. "Our snack for this afternoon is one unstuffed, green olive, and a raisin."

I can hardly wait.

Elizabeth Luciano is a Collegian columnist

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

BEFORE YOU LEAVE FOR THE SUMMER
MAKE A PAIR OF
LEATHER SANDALS
FOR $8.50
IN THE STUDENT UNION CRAFT SHOP
COMPLETE FREE INSTRUCTIONS

WHOLE WHEAT PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free
Delivery
256-8587

Tour de France

GRAND PRIZE:
12 SPEED
PEUGEOT
FITTED TO WINNER

Winners to be Drawn at Bluewall Luncheon
Wed. May 4, 1983
WINNERS NEED NOT BE PRESENT

BICYCLE RAFFLE!

EXCITING RUNNER-UP PRIZES!
Team Peugeot Racing Jersey • Repair Book
(3) Bicycle Seat Bags • Tune-up Certificate
Light with Generator

Any Purchase ($2.00 minimum) in the Bluewall Cafeteria
Entitles a Customer to One (1) Raffle Ticket

Black Affairs

Black candidate questioned

By BAYARD RUSTIN
Special to Black Affairs

Recent weeks have seen the emergence of a spirited discussion about a possible black candidate in the Democratic presidential race. Clearly, no black or civil rights leader would have reason to quarrel with the entry of a qualified black politician into the Presidential sweepstakes. After all, wouldn't the entry of a popular black candidate raises certain issues of vital concern to the black agenda? Would not a black Presidential candidate serve to galvanize black electoral involvement in the electoral process? Wouldn't a black candidacy increase the number of black delegates to the Democratic Party Convention?

At first glance, the answer to all these questions might appear to be yes. Yet a closer examination of the issue provides a more complicated and less clear-cut picture.

Clearly, a black Presidential candidate would be in a position to raise issues of concern to black Americans. Yet a candidate who entered the Democratic primaries on the basis of a black candidacy and black agenda would deal a substantial setback to black community interests. The issues of greatest concern to black Americans, after all, are not exclusively black issues. The issues of jobs, unemployment, plant closings, education, crime, and poverty are part of the national agenda; they are problems which concern all Americans and must be posed in the broadest possible manner if we are to elect a candidate sensitive to the needs of blacks and all working people. A candidate who runs for President on a black platform, therefore, runs the risk of making such issues appear linked to more narrow special interests.

Clearly, a black Presidential candidacy would galvanize increased black voter interest. Yet the evidence of the 1982 elections is that blacks — who for the first time voted in higher proportions than whites — can also be motivated to vote in greater numbers purely on the basis of political issues and economic interests.

A black Presidential candidacy might increase the number of black Democratic Convention delegates; but not by any significant number. Blacks clearly will be included in substantial numbers within the delegations pledged to the declared candidates (Mondale, Glenn, Hart, Cranston, Hollings and Askew). Moreover, because of a shift of delegate strength to the Southern states, where the black vote is more highly concentrated, the number of black delegates to the convention is likely to be augmented.

Thus each of the major advantages of a black Presidential candidacy may not be so substantial as it first appeared. Moreover, there are serious drawbacks to a black Presidential entry:

- Such a candidacy would take away votes from the candidates who, in the absence of a black candidate, are most attractive to the black electorate.
- A black candidacy would mean that the likely nominee won the nomination with less black support and therefore might be less responsive to black interests.
- Blacks who voted for a black candidate would almost certainly be voting for someone who will not be the likely nominee.
- A black candidacy would clearly be perceived by many non-blacks as the candidacy of a special interest and could hurt the Democratic Party by making it appear beholden to special racial, ethnic, or other group interests.
- Because many black political leaders are likely to back other candidates, a black candidacy would add to the division of the black leadership and to the splintering of the black vote.
- A black candidacy might have the effect of heightening racial tensions and weakening the coalition of blacks, labor, and liberals, which is essential to Democratic electoral success.

No one can deny the right of a qualified black or white candidate to enter into the Democratic Presidential campaign. However, any black who might choose to make the run for President should only do so on the basis of a candidacy which appeals to the entire electorate and not only to the black community.

Thus, it is not at all surprising that many prominent black leaders, including the leadership of the NAACP, has expressed serious doubts about the advisability of a black Presidential candidacy in 1984.

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
FRIDAY
ROCK WITH
The Atlantics
$3.00 cover

amc THEATRES
$2.00 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW
amc HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550
amc MOUNTAIN FARMS 6 584 9153

Best Actor
Ben Kingsley
winner of 8 Academy Awards
GANDHI
Fri(4:45 @ $2) 8:30
Sat & Sun (2 & 4:45 @ $2) 8:30
PG

SUSAN ANTON
SPRING FEVER
Fri (5:15 @ $2) 8:00, 9:55
Sat & Sun(1:15, 3:15 & 5:15 @ $2) 8:00, 9:55
PG

Flashdance
It's as far as you can go.
Fri (5:15 @ $2) 7:30, 9:45
Sat & Sun (2:15 & 5:15 @ $2) 7:30, 9:45
R

MONTY PYTHON'S THE MEANING OF LIFE
Fri (5:15 @ $2) 7:30, 9:45
Sat & Sun (2:00 & 5:00 @$2) 7:15, 9:45
R

CHUCK NORRIS DAVID CARRADINE
LONE WOLF McQUADE
Fri (5:30 9 $2) 7:45, 9:55
Sat & Sun(2:30 & 5:30 @ $2) 7:45, 9:55
PG

Catherine Deneuve & David Bowie
THE HUNGER
Fri (5:30 @ $2) 7:45, 9:55
Sat & Sun (1:45 & 5:15 @ $2) 7:30, 9:55
R

Something Wicked This Way Comes
Fri (5:00 @ $2) 7:15, 9:30
Sat & Sun (2:15 & 5:00 @ $2) 7:15, 9:30
PG

SUPERVISION 3-D
TREASURE OF THE FOUR CROWNS
Fri (5:30 @ $2) 7:45, 9:45
Sat & Sun (1:00, 3:15 & 5:30 @ $2) 7:45, 9:45
PG

MIDNIGHT MOVIE MADNESS
FRI & SAT at 12:15 a.m.
amc HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550

ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW
R

WIZARDS
R

DAWN OF THE DEAD
R

Arts

trailers

By Andy Gordon

Robert DeNiro's a great actor, granted. So is Al Pacino and Dustin Hoffman. But perhaps no actor has ever made quite so impressive a movie debut as did Miles O'Keefe, when he played the title character in last summer's classic film, Tarzan, The Ape Man. While O'Keefe was up on the screen grunting and 'rasslin with lions, cobras and Bo Derek, there must have been a handful of casting directors in the audience, having a helluva good time. O'Keefe will return to the screen during the next year in no less than six new pictures, including Ator, The Fighting Eagle and its sequel, Ator the Invincible. Miles will also play the title roles in The Death Angel and S.A.S. Malko ("His specialties: Killing and loving"). Yahoo.

Slightly more literary, there are several films based on well-known books that are either in or entering post production. The Honorary Consul, based on the novel by Graham Greene, will be released by Paramount. Michael Caine and Richard Gere will star in the drama. Timothy Hutton has the lead in E.L. Doctorow's The Book of Daniel, which is being directed by Sidney Lumet. Lindsay Crouse, Amanda Plummer and Ed Asner also star. Martin Cruz Smith's novel, Gorky Park, will be put on the screen by director Michael Apted (Coal Miner's Daughter). William Hurt, Lee Marvin and Brian Dennehy star in the picture, which was adapted by British writer Dennis Potter (Pennies from Heaven).

On the lighter side, there's Mr. Mom, a role-reversal comedy starring Teri Garr as a working woman and Michael Keaton as her house husband, Martin Mull and Ann Jillian also appear. Stan Dragoti (Love at First Bite) directed from a screenplay by National Lampoon's John Hughes. Sounds like a winner.

Cheech Marin and Tommy Chong will star in a handful of new releases. They play pirates in the upcoming star-studded Yellowbeard, sharing top billing with Monty Python. Cheech and Chong in Concert features the duo in live performance at the Hollywood Bowl and then they'll move on to The Corsican Brothers, playing the title characters. Tommy plays director on the latter film.

Steve Martin's new comedy, The Man with Two Brains (Trailers, Nov. 19) will be released locally soon. Martin stars as a brain surgeon who falls in love with a bodiless brain, which is kept alive in a jar and whom Martin can converse with. Kathleen Turner plays his mean-spirited wife and David Warner plays a mad scientist with a huge laboratory built into his condominium. Carl Reiner directed the film.

Steve Martin plays a brain surgeon developing a screw-top technique of cranial surgery in the new film, The Main With Two Brains.

Henry Thomas will return as Eliot in E.T. II, but first he'll play second lead in Misunderstood. This sensitive drama deals with the relationship between Thomas and his father, played by Gene Hackman. Jerry Schatzberg wrote and directed the picture.

No film related article would be complete without an update of what the Charlie's Angels are doing now. Jaclyn Smith is starring as the title character in Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy: The Untold Story, with James Fran-ciscus playing J.F.K. Cheryl Ladd, meanwhile stars in Now and Forever, a love story "For anyone who has ever fought for love." No word on Farrah.

Local Best Bets: Two of Woody Allen's best pictures, Annie Hall and Manhattan, are playing tonight and tomorrow at the Amherst Cinema. On campus, for all you slasher fans, tonight the S.U.B. has Happy Birthday to Me, starring Melissa Sue Anderson as a teenage psycho. I must confess to enjoying this flick, if for no other reason than the utter stupidity and implausibility of the scr-renplay. Another chiller, The Hunger, starring Susan Sarandon and David Bowie, starts today at the dead mall. Ex-Collegian librarian Deni Chapnik (class of '82) strongly recommends the film.

STADIUM
10 a.m.
til 11 p.m.
253-5595
U. Mass.
Amherst
LIQUORS
Kegs • Beer • Wine • Ice
University Drive, Amherst, Mass.
Just past UMass Stadium, from SW dorms
not responsible for typographical errors

Miller Lite 12 oz can..... $10.60 + $1.20
Budweiser 12 oz cans.... $10.95 + $1.20
Rolling Rock 12 pk cans.... $5.00 + .60
Natural Light 12 oz cans.... $9.50 $1.20
Busch 12 oz bot..... $9.00 + $1.50
Tuborg 12 oz bottles..... $9.25 +$1.20
Moosehead 12 oz bottles $13.95 + $1.20
Steinhauser 12 oz bottles $13.95 + $1.20

California Cellars 3 L..... $6.49
Almaden 3 L..... $6.95
Almaden 1.5..... $4.50
Inglenook 1.5 L..... $3.99

Carlo Rossi 3 L..... $5.29
Von Stratton Liebfraumilch 1.5 L..... $4.95

Vodka 1.75..... $8.20
Gin 1.75..... $8.20
Rum 1.75..... $9.95

Residence Hall Closing Notice

Residence halls will close for the summer on Thursday, May 26 at 6:00 PM. Graduating seniors who plan to remain in the halls after May 26 must notify their Head of Residence or Cluster staff member by Thursday, May 19. Those seniors cleared to stay in residence until Commencement must vacate their halls by 4:00 PM on Saturday, May 28.

A detailed closing notice will be distributed to residents during the week of May 2.

Office of Housing Services

Still the Best Happy Hour in town.
Buffet including Hot & Cold dishes.
All you can carry & eat only $1.00
also 65 oz Pitchers of Rolling Rock Beer $2.95
3:00 - 7:00
Bottles of Rolling Rock $1.45

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed only on the day they are taking place. Announcements must be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, and returned to the office by 3 p.m. the Friday before the event. All submissions should be written in a similar style as they appear in the paper.

Today

BOARD OF GOVERNOR'S MEETING — The coffeeshop is saved. There are still issues which will affect students greatly. We want your opinions. Special thanks to Robert Gordon for your concern. 6 p.m., Rm. 805 C.C.

SHABBAT SERVICES AND DINNER — Shabbat is a warm and creative experience, a time for reflection and sharing. We now have shabbat dinners, catered by Earthfoods, following the service. Please sign-up by 10:00 a.m. today for the dinner. 7 p.m., Dukes room.

Tomorrow

SHABBAT MORNING SERVICES — Torah study followed by a light lunch. Open to all. 10:30 a.m., meet at Hillel office, SU 302.

ANTI-KLAN HARTFORD RALLY — Bus will be leaving Student Union Building for a Klan counter-rally in Hartford. SCERA Anti-Racism Team, 545-0341. 12:30 p.m., front of Student Union Building.

Sunday

NEED A RIDE TO CHURCH? — The CHURCH BUS leaves at 9:30 from Prince House and stops at Hills North, Greenough, Grayson, Fraternity-Sorority Park, Cashin, and NOPE enroute to the Amherst churches. Call UCF, 545-2661 for more information.

ORIENTEERING — THE THINKING SPORT — Orienteering is a navigational sport done either walking or running, often compared to a "rally on foot." This event open to beginners; with all instruction and materials available. Carpooling available. More information 549-5921. Register and start 10 - 11 a.m., Forest Park, Springfield.

AMHERST AREA NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH — All are welcome to join us for our weekly service of worship, praise and teaching from the Bible. 3:30 p.m., see CC schedule for room.

All University Men come try out for the UMass Football/Basketball Cheerleading Squad.
Friday, 4/29 & Mon 5/2 at Boyden Gym
or call Bill 549-6447

SUMMER SESSION REGISTRATION BEGINS MAY 2

Register now for UMass/Amherst summer courses at the Records and Registration Office, Division of Continuing Education, Southeast Entrance. University Library. Copies of the Course Listing are available at the Division's Information desk. Don't wait until classes are full. Register now for optimum choice

NEED HELP WITH YOUR STUDENT LOAN?

If you've attended college on a Guaranteed Student Loan or a National Direct Student Loan made after October 1, 1975, consider spending a couple of years in the Army.

If you train for certain specialties, the government will release you from 1/3 of your indebtedness (or $1,500, whichever is greater) for each year of active duty.

Obviously, a three-year enlistment cancels 100% of your debt. But if you sign up for the Army's exclusive two-year enlistment option, we'll still cancel 2/3 of your debt.

Plus, you may be eligible for generous educational incentives.

To find out how to serve your country and get out of debt, call the number below.

In Northampton call 584-2157
In other areas consult the Yellow pages under "Recruiting"

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Budweiser 12 oz cans	$11.00/cse + dep
Falstaff 12 pk bottles	$3.99 + dep
Schlitz 12 pk cans	$4.99 + dep
Rolling Rock 12 oz long necks	$10.00/cse + dep
Champagne 750 ml	$3.19 + up
Paul Masson Wines	$3.99/1.5 liter
Chablis, Burgundy, Rose, Rhine	$2.49/750 ml
Gin or Vodka 80°	$5.45/1 liter

All Beer & Wine Specials are ICE COLD!!

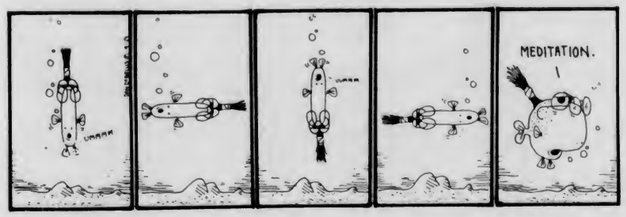
Ski Club Exclusive
April 30
all those who worked 10 hours or more at the Great Ski Snatch Nov 18 - 21
contact the Ski Club 545-3437

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis



After the Fall By R. Miller

CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

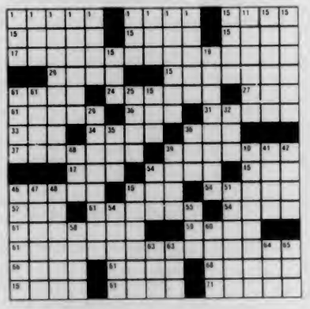
© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS

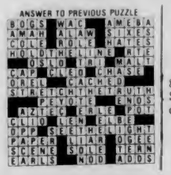
1 Space —
6 Clumsy one
10 Small fry
14 Pooh's nourishment
15 Writer Gardner
16 Aid
17 "Reason number one"
20 Israeli dance
21 Turncoat
22 Donkey: Ger.
24 "I haven't a thing ——!"
27 Dutch town
28 Ways
30 Through, in Spain
31 Llama's range
33 River in cen. Asia
34 Furniture wood
36 Wedding words
37 Commuter's group
39 Army wagon of old
43 April 15 initials
44 Thumb and namesakes
45 Numero —
46 Daft
49 African cobra
50 Glacial ridge
52 Abbr. on a map
53 Bolero, e.g.
56 Leaning tower city
57 Supple
59 Not, old style
61 "Concluding reason"
66 "Bell Song," in 68 Across
67 Fam. members
68 Delibes opera
69 Textile worker
70 Behold, to Claudius
71 Abhorrence

DOWN

1 Key letter
2 White House nickname
3 Broadcasting
4 Look!
5 Ogler
6 Aloha symbol
7 Hockey name of fame
8 Topcoat
9 Tropical fish
10 Anklebones
11 Eased
12 Do an agent's job
13 Cordwood measures
18 More than pleasingly plump
19 Bliss
22 Skater Heiden
23 Alone, in Avila
25 Gemstone
26 Chinese chef's need
29 Second——
32 Negative answers
35 Dawn goddess
36 "—— Woman," Reddy hit
38 Hole
39 Manage
40 Japanese dish
41 Change for a fiver
42 Kaye of ballet fame
44 Commiserative cluck
46 Baby Doe's story, e.g.
47 Zoo feature
48 Actress O'Shea
49 Pertaining to vinegar
51 Feast, informally
54 Entertain
55 Explosive initials
58 Vega or Mercury
60 Hello, along the Seine
62 TV network
63 Sugary suffix
64 Tex. campus
65 Pro ——



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE



WEATHER

Warm, today in the 70s, 80s along the seacoasts. Similar temperatures and conditions tomorrow.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Tuna grinder
Macaroni and cheese

BASICS LUNCH
Tuna grinder
Macaroni and cheese
Bulgar and bean salad

DINNER
Meatloaf/Beef gravy
Shrimp and Scallop Creole
Egg salad plate
with saltines

BASICS DINNER
Creamed vegetable croquette with sauce
Shrimp and scallop creole

Wanted:
Typesetters

Typing proficiency mandatory
Will train for fall
Apply at
Collegian Office
Room 113 Campus Center
Monday 8:00 p.m.

More tours, better tours than ever

summer tours to the soviet union

begin June 26

We offer young people: general "get acquainted" tours • study-tours of socialism in practice • peace seminars • farm tours • rail tours • sports tours • Russian language study-tours • folk dance study-tours • the Moscow International Marathon — all featuring meetings and personal contact with Soviet youths.

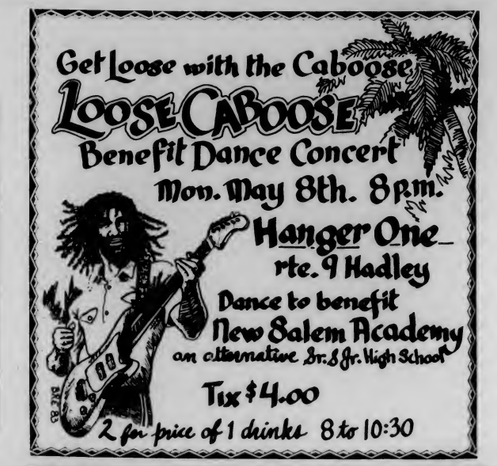
Prices begin at an incredibly low $1450, all-inclusive from/to New York.

Write for Brochure

voices of the future

250 West 57th Street, Suite 1428, New York, N.Y. 10107

(212) 245-7501 or Out-of-State (800)-223-1336



The People's Gay Alliance
presents
A DANCE
Friday, April 29, 1983
10th Floor Campus Center
Admission $2.
DJ - Job Stanley
Equipment - Audio Promedia
Lights - Dwelley
STARTING
"Doorprize Dinner"
(drawing at 1:00 am)
for more info call the PGA
at 5-0154

Great Spring

SALE!

Clothing Jewelry

Chinese Shoes

20% off all Bedspreads

20 - 40% off selected Clothing

30% off selected Jewelry

Daily 10 AM - 6 PM

Use the BUS STOP out front

great gifts - great prices

THE MERCANTILE

AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS

July and August only. 3 bedroom apt. Amherst center. 3 min to Pub rent negot call 546-9027

Summer sublet fall option 76 Chestnut St, Amherst. easy walk to campus. Available June 1. Call 549-4127 ask for Jim. 150 + per month

Summer sublet Colonial Village one bedroom $225/mth call Tom 256-6659

One bedroom apt w/fall option, AC, pool, tennis, on bus route, $225/month utilities included 665-2538

1 bdrm in 2 bdrm Brandywine Apt rent negotiable 549-1405

TO MY BAD BOY

Happy Birthday! I'm glad that I'm with you to share this day and other memories! I love you - Snuggle Bumps!

TO SUBLET

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

One bedroom in Southwood Townehouse pool tennis available June 1 fall option 253-3497

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet with fall option. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Three bedroom townhouse apt in Squire Village, June 1 w/fall option $400/mo or BO 665-4896

3-story river fromt apartment bus route, AC. pool, cheap 549-4405

2 bedroom Southwood townehouse busroute, pool, tennis, rent negotiable 546-6705

Summer sublet: 3 bedroom Puffton Apt. furnished 546-7393

Squire Village townhouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380 + 665-4886

25 + 2 rooms in house on campus 549-4080

One bedroom apt Presidential Apts furnished air conditioned June - Sept 549-0127

Roommate to sublet semi-coop on bus route 130 + 256-0575

3 bedroom Townhouse with full cellar on bus route/ for 4 or 5 less than a mile from campus negotiable call Jon 546-6467 - keep trying.

Summer sublet/fall option, sumemr rent negotiable; 2 bdrm on bus route call after 6 will pay subl;ease fee 665-8787

3 bdrm apt available 115 neg utilities incl fall opt 253-9753

1 bdrm Puffton Vll for 1 or 2 people good rate call 549-5920

Summer sublet Brandywine one bedroom apt 549-3873 rent negotiable

With fall option 2 people wanted to share room. 10 minute walk to campus. $105/mo. Presidential Apts 549-5613

Brandywine one bedroom summer with fall option females only Linda 549-2646

One bedroom apt summer sublet fall opt bus pool Cliffside rent negotiable 665-3960 or 549-6499

Townehouse of Amherst 2 bdrm fully furnished, aircond, cable, 30 yds to busstop call 549-6960

1 bdrm Colonial Village avail July 1 fall option $245 + call 253-3703

Room in Amherst Center for summer sublet $125/month utilities included 253-7396

Two bedrooms in four bedroom apt summer sublet/whole apartment fall option 253-2052

2 bdrm Brandywine apt with fall option 2 spaces availabel call 549-4114

One bedroom in apt. bus routem center of Amherst, summer sublet w/fall option $150/ + call Jody 256-8407

Sunderland 2 bedroom apt on bus route available June 1 w/fall option 325 call 665-7552

2 bedroom apt cheap 275/mo fall option on bus route 256-8270

2 bedroom apartment in Northwood air conditioner, small garden plot asking $310 but price negotiable call Mir, Lisa, Julia evenings 665-4793

TO SUBLET W/FALL OPTION

Practically brand new Brittany Manor 2 bedroom apartment - all applicances are new and in excellent working condition, new wall to wall carpeting, free heat, pool call 256-0391, rent is negotiable

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Students interested in getting money for school expenses 665-3482

WANTED TO RENT

House or apartment in house within walking distance of campus at least two bedrooms will summer sublet 549-5505 Mark

Inexpensive housing needed on Martha's Vineyard for the summer. I will accept any place on the island. Call Court 546-5672

Two students want house end roommates or just room in Hyannis or Yarmouth. Have money. Dan 253-2071, 256-8785

4 room apartment, long term, starting 6/1. 1 - 2 bedroom, no complexes. Single, non-student, references. Fred 253-9884

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUDIO

AM/FM Car Stereo two Jensen speakers - $80 or BO 256-8323

AUTO FOR SALE

1978 Lincoln Versailles: loaded, a classic car in excellent condition $7500 firm. Phone: 609-858-4435

1969 VW Squarebeck - 73000 mi. 34 mpg, no mechanical troubles. $600.00 549-4911 (Frank)

1980 Chevy Monza, 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 256-6612

75 B210 Datsun 2 new tires cassette player $1000 call 665-4213 evenings

72 VW Van runs great! Must see $1100.00 549-5631

67 VW Bug excellent running condition great gas mileage dependable transportation $500.00 549-0543

1980 VW excellent running condition 567-7709

Toyota Truck 1976 excellent mechical condition, new tires, brakes. $1200 268-3216

Saab 99E 1970 mechanically new, no rust needs minor body work $2500 549-8861 BJ after 5:00

350 Nova great engine good body a steal at $650 549-1278

3 BEDROOM $330.00/MO

3 bedroom in Sunderland on bus route 330.00/mo with fall option 665-3240

CAPE COD RENTAL

Quiet couple seeks another couple to share cottage in So. Orleans. Close to Chatham, Brewster,Harwich. 6/1-9/26 Call after 7 567-8478

CONFIDENTIAL HERPES RESEARCH

Psychology Graduate Student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm. Thanks!

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FOR FREE

Five adorable puppies are looking for good homes - call 549-6339

FOR RENT

Boarding House, had it with dorm life anc DC food?? Great opportunity awaits: best location on campus excellent meal plar friendly atmosphere. Next to Newmer Center. call Nate or T.J. 253-9015

June sublet with fall option 2 bedroom Brittany Manor heat included 253-3032

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

To subiet for summer w/fall option 4 bdrm apt on bus rt. Apt will be semi-furnished and is in good location rent negot. Call 253-2606 ask for Pete

Apt. in Southwood summer sublet/fall option. Dishwasher, new carpet, pool, tennis. Rent negotiable. Call 256-8216

2 bdrm summer sub with fall option full apt $200. on bus route Jeniffer 256-6887

Brandywine one bedroom apt A/C, dishwasher, disposal, WW, on bus route avail. June 1 - Sept 1 very nicely furn 320/month 549-0450

2 bedroom apt in Colonial Village Amh on bus route summer w/fall option 253-5606

3 bdrm Puffton Apt available may 28 summer sublet w/fall option 549-0543

1 bedroom Brandywine summer sublet w/fall option, AC, dishwasher, disposal 549-0781

We're looking for a 3 bedroom apartment for September. Call anytime, day or night.Ask for Mike, Mike or Bill. Phone 256-0543

Summer sublet fall option 2 bedroom apt on busroute 275/month 256-8270

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Bedroom and living room furniture reasonably priced call 256-0571

Airtight woodstove excellent condition $325 call Margaret at 549-8633

2 brend new Panasonic speakers $80 or best offer lauren 6-8392

Couch good condition $50 call Tracey 256-0653

Television 9" B & W portable best offer call Tom - 546-6886

FOUND

Bracelet found at Evelyn King Concert Call 546-8519 describe and its yours

Found car keys near busstop in front of SOM; North Pleasant St. call 256-6845

Kimberly Netteiton I found your ring call 546-4429 ask for Heather

Found blue velcro wallet call 546-6061

HELP WANTED

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Office Memorial Hall

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

The Commuter Area Government is now hiring for the summer. Positions are for 30 hours/week. Must be available through the fall. Applications available at 404 Student Union 9:00 - 5:00, Monday through Friday. We are an affirmative action equal opportunity employer. Third World, women, and non-traditional students encouraged to apply. Deadline for applications is April 29.

Collegian Drivers' positions available for fall '83. Must have car, morning hours free. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Looking for experienced restaurant help for Cape restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

CRUISE SHIP JOBS! Great income potential, all occupations. For information call: 602-837-3401 ext 833

Worcester Area - Full or part time work phys-ed graduate. Boys and girls gymnastics. Resume to Box #2 Cherry Valley, Mass 01611

LOST

One pair of women's glasses, possibly in a red oriental case. Might be lost in lot #22. Call 6-9149

$25 REWARD dk. blue "Adventuregear" down jacket. Lost Friday - 22nd on Campus desperate - Lance, 317JFK, 6-7639

Handwoven Irish Tweed Cap - Grey; left in Marston 228 or on bench outside ECE Office. If found, contact Doug 6-8895

Glasses in orange case 546-7246 Rita in Evenings.

A pair of glasses in a brown case if found please call 6-8876.

MEMORIAL

For Christine O'Malley at the Newman Center, 4/30 at 4:30 all welcome!

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 1980 750K 7000 miles garage kept new Dunlop tires complete tune-up xtras $1800 or BO 253-9376

1982 Kawasaki GPZ750 mint condition low miles serious inquiries only 549-4363

PERSONALS

Happy Birthday Janet from your guy, who thinks you're the best! Love always Dave.

Happy 22 Birthday Laurie you're no ordinary Bunnyl Up north your a ski bunny, with or without snow. Down south your a dune bunny. At poolside a whole new bunny is exposed! Have a hopping good day! Love Bubbles Hoover and Radar.

Robyn Nous te souhaitons un "Super Bon" Anniversaire! Fait une fete cherie tes cheres amies Deborah, Audrey, et Janie.

Deve, Happy 21! This entitles you to one specail birthday dinner. Have a great one Love ya lots, Lin.

Donne: this weekend is going to be terrific Don't worry about it, just get psyched -Bruce.

SKI CLUB EXCLUSIVE APRIL 30

all those who workd 10 hours or more at the Great Ski Snatch Nov 18-21 contact the Ski Club 545-3437

Get Physicel Sporting Goods Co-op
Ocean Pacific Shorts & Shirts
sneakers, frisbees, raquets, & balls
your sporting goods connection
322 Student Union (next to post office)

Get Psyched for Southwest Week
"Rock the Pyramids"
Tues: Visitorz Mass Transit
Wed: Cruisers Performers
Thurs: Midnight Sun
Fri: BMCP on Pyramids
10:00 pm WMUA Basketball Block Party
Sat: 8:00 movies 3 Stooges Horsefeathers
Sun Concert
David Johansen
Carlton Bryan & Crossroads
Abby Strauss
Urban Renewal
Heroes In Trouble
Hot Air Balloon Rides
sponored by:
The Pub, The Sub
Domino's, Bart's Ice Cream

Communication Disordars Majors award ceremony April 29 6 pm Memorial Hall wine and cheese reception free

Lesbian/Gay Dance Friday April 29 at 9 pm 10th Floor Campus Center admission 2$ for more info call 5-0154

UMASS ULTIMATE SHOWDOW
MAY 4, 1983
Ultimate Tournament sponsored by The Sporting Goods Co-op
Bring a team roster by the Co-op for complete details 322 Student Union

JJ I hope you have a beautiful birthday love Emma Career Placement Assistance for Graduates. Gain an edge through Mas Marketing, Operations Research International, PO Box 5470, Avon, Colorado, 81620 call toll free 1-800-421-3217

Quad Day and Dance. Dance - 9-1 Friday $1.00, DJ, Worcester DC BYOB Quad Day: 12-6 The Fools! SUB rain location. Thank you Donna and Jenn for all your help

BONGO HAPPY BIRTHDAY you New Traditionalist don't drive in NJ love Weaver Flash and Frog

My Marianne, I've looked around enough to know, that you're the one I want to go through time with, I hope this birthday is your best ever! All my love, Tony

Lisa you are the best friend and roommate a Uman could evah have Happy Birthday Amy

CRISPIN Happy Birthday! Oops, I'm early. Your loving sister, Nganga

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PUFFTON SUBLET

3 bedroom Puffton pool A/C spotlight 320$/mo negotiable June - August Kathy 549-4035

RICK MUNROE

URGENT you call me keep trying collect O.K. Ruth.

ROOM WANTED

Cape apartment South Yarmouth call Chris 256-6052 leave message

2 looking for housing in Falmouth/Woods Hole area. Mike 549-0223

Female looking for a place on the Cape in the Hyannis/S. Yarmouth area call Nancy 549-1642

ROOMMATES WANTED

Responsible roommatas wanted for fall. One space available for summer 253-5109

Townehouse Apt. summer sublet fall option for 2 people 549-8313

Quiet matured male or female to share two Puffton 1 bed rooms 253-3551 dinner time

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Manor Apt fall semester call 6-5237 or 6-5243

Avsilable now. One room in house, only one mile to campus, on bus route, large yard with nice view 150 253-3362

One Female for two bedroom Southwood Apartment 253-7845

2 Paople to share large bedroom in 3 bedroom Townehouse apt for fall call Immediately Shari 6-9623 Sheryl 6-9680.

SERVICES

Fast accurate typing $1.50/page Leslea 584-3433

SUMMER RENTALS

The ideal place: centrally located on campus, everything and more included. $250. for singles, $150. for double's for the full summer. Call Glenn S. at 545-0047 or 545-2150

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

1 bdrm Cliffside on bus rt pool and tennis courts 2858 665-4386

With fall option Two bedroom apt in house in Belchertown. On bus. 323-5854

Rolling Green Apt - sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms beautiful apt, furnished, on bus route. Call Joel 256-0435

Female wanted for own room in 2 bedroom Puffton fall option call Toby 549-0137

One bedroom in a two bedroom apt in Brandywine, pool, cable, rent/best offer call 546-8500 or 546-8487

1 bedroom in apartment Cliffside fall option $165/mo 665-7560 545-0097 Ruth

Furnished Townehouse Apt AC, rent negotiable call Scott or Rich 549-0516

Townehouse Apt - 3 bedroom - summer sublet fully furnished - AC - cable call anytime 549-3943

Female wanted to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

Brndywine furnished 2 bedroom 65 per month and negotiable call 549-5955

2 bedroom apt June 1 - August 31 Downtown Amherst $285.00/mo 256-8539

Rent $85 1, 2, or 3 people 5 mins to campus Presidential apts call 549-4483

Beautiful 3 bdrm Townehouse for summer sublet. Please call 549-1215

Cooperative household. North Amherst on busline. Also storage space available. 549-6852

2 bdrm apt Amherst Center $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

3 bdrm house in Downtown Amherst $ negotiable call now 549-5850

Cheap cheap rent for a 3 bdrm townehouse apt fully furnished call 549-1833/549-3853

House in N Amh (6/1-9/1) on bus rte 4 BIG bdrms. 260/mo. or 65/bdrm./mo. call 549-5893

Amherst Center apartment sublet with fall option, 1-3 bedrooms available call 549-6378

3 bedroom Puffton Apt furnished, pool, tennis courts, cheap 549-4711

3 bedroom fully furnished luxurious apt in Townehouse for the summer. Ideal location at low price. Call 549-5968 or 256-8382

3 bedroom apt very close to camous & town rent negotiable furnished free cable for summer call 256-6150

2 bedroom Cliffside Apt summer sublet w/fall option $350/mo utilities inc call 665-3963 late nites

Southwood 2 large bedrooms easily accomodates 4 $90.00/month each call 253-5566

One bedroom in Southwood apartment non-smoking female fall option rent negotiable 256-0769

Cool, light efficiency apartment, furnished, Triangle St., Amherst, rent negotiable, 549-0457 or 545-0854

Puffton Village summer sublet one or two rooms $100 Jay 549-5921

Summer sublet fall opt Amherst center apt Karen or Lisa 253-2157 util incl

Summer sublet 1 bdrm rent neg call 549-0343 Brandywine AC pool

Specious Squire Apt balcony, walk-in closets, cable, bus route, $360 665-2998 fall option

Meture female for bedroom in Colonial Village 253-3220

Sports

Anyone interested in being a manager for the men's basketbal team during the 1983-84 season should contact the basketball office. It is located in the Boyden Building on the second floor.

Gorillas plan ambush of Army at West Point

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

Yesterday, the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team, which usually hits Boyden Field at about 4 p.m. for weekday practice sessions, didn't get on the field until about 5:15 last night, and with good reason.

While 11 Gorillas ganged up on a Food Science exam, the rest of the Gorillas were in a meeting room on the second floor of Boyden Gymnasium, waiting to discuss the factors which contributed to the 8-7 loss to Harvard Wednesday and the 3-6 record thus far this year.

But more importantly, the Gorillas discussed their plans for this weekends trip to West Point, which, whatever else they decide to do this weekend, will surely include a battle with the Cadets of Army noon Saturday.

"We talked about whether we're going down there to play to win or just play and get our butts kicked," said assistant coach Jim Weller.

Weller was the leading scorer on last year's team which owned a 6-1 record and had playoff aspirations when they hosted the cadets and whipped them 14-8. But this year the Gorillas are marching to Army territory with no national ranking and no shot at a post season playoff berth.

A win will be no easy task (UMass is 1-3 on the road). Army is one of the top ranked teams in the nation and, as always, those Army men are in great shape. Getting up at 6 a.m. every morning and running a few miles tends to do that for you.

But the fact is, the Gorillas better be ready to play because Army is currently ranked fifth in the nation. Owners of a 7-1 record, a victory last week over then top ranked Syracuse 9-6, the Cadets have strong aspirations for a post season playoff berth.

Army is led by a strong attack, featuring Dave Cino and Paul Giodano, the leading scorers the last two years for the Cadets. Barry Cain, John Mincone, and Brad Broadwell will have the assignment to stop the Cadet attack.

Offensively, the Gorillas are led by sophomore Mike Fiorini, leading the team in goal scoring with 16 goals. He has also dished out 6 assists for a total of 22 points.

Army is the first in a consecutive string of tough games for the Gorillas. After this trip they return for a home date with Dartmouth May 3 before Syracuse and Maryland, both nationally ranked teams, come to Boyden Field next weekend.

Women lacrosse hosts Temple, nation's best

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

It's going to be a rough one. The University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team will face its toughest test of the season as they host both Temple University and Northwestern University on the upper NOPE field this weekend.

The predicted hot weather for the weekend will not make things any easier for the 9-1 stickwomen who have won their last eight straight games.

Temple is currently rated number one by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. UMass is fifth and is also the defending national champions of the now defunct American Intercolleagiate Athletics for Women (AIAW). Northwestern is no slouch either as they are ranked number 10 by the NCAA.

"From Temple we expect speed and a lot of scoring. They have been playing a man to man and zone defense, so we're not sure what to counter with," said coach Pam Hixon. "They have a potent offense and the ability to score tons of goals, so we will try to reduce their goal scoring ability. But we can score too, so we will continue to do what has been successful for us; play tough "D" and take advanatage of the good scoring opportunities," added Hixon.

Temple has lost one game so far this season to Delaware, has tied Harvard, and also has had several one goal games. Hixon hopes to win at least one of the two games, and UMass will come out aggressively as usual and take it to both teams.

"At certain positions, we certainly have speed. Player for player we probably can't outrun them. We are not going to do too much differently, just try to play an intelligent game. Temple must play an exceptional game. A loss would hurt them more than it would hurt us. But a win would give us a lot of momentum and confidence," said Hixon.

Hixon is not really thinking about the Northwestern game, even though it is so close. Northwestern has already defeated nationally ranked Dartmouth and will be looking to upset the laxwomen.

The stickwomen will host Temple this afternoon at 4 p.m. in what promises to be the start of an exciting women's lacrosse weekend at UMass. On Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p.m. Temple will take on UNH, and at 3:00 p.m. the Minutewomen will host Northwestern. The final game will take place Sunday morning at 11:00 a.m. as UNH meets Northwestern.

Men's tennis travels to Yale for New Englands

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

The "Invasion of the Ivies" will commence this morning in New Haven, Connecticut when the New England Tennis Championships get underway at Yale University. Omit Dartmouth, name the other three Ivy League schools in the six-state region and you have also named the three favorites going into this weekend's tournament. That's right. The answer is Harvard, Brown, and the host Eli.

They are the cream of New England tennis, and all the other coaches in this tournament know it. The Crimson and the Eli will contend for the number and two spots, with the Bruins (no, not those Bruins) taking third place. The rest of the picture is garbled.

"Fourth place will be contested by every other team there," says University of Massachusetts coach Bob Szlosek. Of the seven remaining schools in the tourney, that fourth position will be a race between such schools as UMass, Boston College, Boston University, Clark University, and Rhode Island.

The individual players include Glen Layendecker of Yale and Howard Sands of Harvard, both of whom are two of the better collegiate players in the United States. But Szlosek feels Neal Mackertich, the number one singles player for the Minutemen, will hold his own against the heavyweights.

"If Neal gets a good draw, then there is a good chance he could go a long way, because Neal can compete with anybody in New England," said Szlosek.

Yesterday the Minutemen had a match against Vermont. The match was ended by verbal agreement at 5 p.m. due to UMass' obligation to be at Yale by 7 p.m. for the drawing of the seeds.

The singles were completed, with the Catamounts winning four, including number one where Bob McCredie upset Mackertich 6-4, 6-3.

"He played very well," said Mackertich. "He didn't miss a shot the whole match. He was penetrating very well. His serve was big and he vollied with incredible touch. If I came in he lobbed over me. I played poorly and he dictated tempo. I just didn't hit my shots."

Steve Jordan and Stuart Goodman, at number two and three singles respectively, registered the lone victories. Goodman rebounded from Wednesday's bad match against John Niceforo of Tufts to crush Vic Milligan 6-3, 6-0.

"I forgot about yesterday's match and I got some confidence early. I won my first game that went 3-all, which is important psychologically. I didn't lose another one for the rest of the match," said Goodman.

Jordan rebounded to beat Mike Bonfigli, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0. Losses were suffered by Rich Lindgren, Mike Duseau, and Chris Allaire, at four, five and six singles respectively.

Collegian photo by Nick Moudios
Minuteman Steve Jordan

Softball seeks Atlantic Ten title in Penn State tourney

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

UNIVERSITY PARK, Penn. — The University of Massachusetts softball team can move one step closer to their goal of making the NCAA tournament this weekend as the Minutewomen compete in the Atlantic 10 conference championships, at Penn State, today and tomorrow.

The winner does not get an automatic bid to the 16 team NCAA tournament, but how Massachusetts plays may well decide if UMass earns their first bid since 1980.

Massachusetts, ranked number one in the latest New England poll and number one in the NCAA Northeast region, faces Rutgers and Rhode Island as their main competitors for the sole Northeast bid into the NCAA's. Adelphi is also in the running for the Northeast bid, but is not in the Atlantic 10.

Before Wednesday's upset by Central Connecticut, UMass could have sewed up the first seed, but now it is ranked second behind URI. Penn State, Rutgers, Temple, and St. Joseph's round out the seedings.

So, the Minutewomen will play at noon today the winner of the Penn State - St. Joseph's match-up in their opening game of this double elimination tournament. One thing is for sure, they will meet Rutgers and Rhode Island along the way somewhere.

"We have to beat those teams (Rutgers, URI) and then there will be no doubt in anyone's mind of who's going (to get the NE bid)," said head coach Elaine Sortino. "We are going into the tournament and you have to win. It doesn't matter who you play, the pitchers — when you go into a tournament you have to win."

In previous action this season, UMass has won two of three from Rutgers and split with URI.

Injury-wise, UMass has no new injuries — only some old sores. All-American catcher Jackie Gaw is still nursing a sore shoulder and Missy Oman still has a sore wrist but other than that UM is ready to go.

Pitchers Lynn Stockley and Cathy Reed, both freshmen, will start.

After this weekend, UMass' chances to go to Omaha, site of the 1983 College World Series, will be more defined, with or without the Atlantic 10 crown.

Football team holds spring training contest tomorrow

By RUSS WHINNEM
Collegian Staff

The final score to most will mean nothing. Even head coach Bob Pickett acknowledges that the main idea is to "have some fun." However, when a sea of red and white jerseys take the field at Alumni Stadium at 2 p.m. tomorrow for the annual spring varsity football game, a very real wave of emotion will accompany them.

The situation is this. Last night following regular team practice, a "draft" was held by squad seniors, to choose up sides for the game. After that, it will be a light practice today and a long night ahead to dream of being the star the next day. The game itself will be just that — a game situation. The only alterations will be the no kick-off and blocking punts, field goals, or extra points rule.

Mentor Pickett looks at the game as another workout, a lot of fun, and another chance to evaluate who may or may not be ready for a varsity jersey. However, the coach, who has not been exactly blessed with good weather thus far, insists that important judgements will not be based on this one scrimmage.

"Because of all the rain our practices have been thrown off some," Pickett says. "If we get 16 to 18 good practices in though, we'll be very happy. The game will be a part of the evaluation but that won't be all. I'd hate to judge a young man on one day."

For players usch as freshman walk-on Brian Gibson, though, the atmosphere will be intense.

"For me it's a chance to be part of varsity and playing there is what it's all about," Gibson, a safety, says. "I'm just happy they've given me the chance to show what I can do throughout and this game sums up the spring. It's the last chance to go out and give it your all."

Meanwhile, perish the thought that the veterans on the team view this game with any less enthusiasm than their younger teammates. Grady Fuller, a three year superstar from the defensive backfield is, frankly, pretty pumped up.

"I'm totally psyched," Fuller explained outside the locker room. "This is my last spring game and my last chance to work on my techniques. Besides," he grinned, "the scouts will be there."

Preparing for tomorrow's needs today

UMass faces a changing future

By KEVIN BOWE

". . . each State which may take claim to the benefit of this act, to the endowment, for support and maintence (sic) of at least one college where the leading object shall be, without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanics arts, in such manner as the legislatures of the States may respectively prescribe, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions in life."

— Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862

So began the seeds of the University of Massachusetts.

Founded one year later as the Massachusetts Agricultural College, UMass has, since its inception, been known by its reputation for providing a quality post-secondary education for all students who aspire for it, regardless of their economic status.

But another, often unmentioned, mandate was given when UMass was founded 120 years ago: that of serving the citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. All these years this land grant institution in Amherst has undergone three phases of development as an agricultural college, a state college and a university with a strong research oriented faculty, while quietly trying to live up to its land grant mission.

In fulfilling its historic mission as an agricultural school over the past century, UMass has served the Massachusetts farmer in alleviating such diverse problems as soil erosion, animal disease, or displaced farm land.

Today society demands more from its land grant institutions and UMass has, in some ways, adjusted to those demands. As our society begins a new transformation, UMass must be able to meet the challenge without comprising its acaemic integrity.

The transition from an industrial society into a so called 'knowledge based economy', an economy based on the processing of information, is forcing the University community to grapple with some major questions: What are the needs of the future and how do they conflict with the immediate needs of today? How do the needs of the society clash with the needs of a strong liberal arts education and the need for maintaining academic freedom?

A balanced liberal arts education is always needed. But a new component, an understanding of the technology that is increasingly changing society, is needed. And UMass is needed to assist society with the problems of today while it simultaneously preparing for the needs of the future.

"UMass has not fully developed its land grant role compared to other states," said Dr. John Hoy, president of the New England Board of Higher Education. "What is fascinating about it today is that UMass was never encouraged to become a great (land grant) institution."

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology was granted a charter on April 27, 1863, two days before the Massachusetts Agricultural College charter grant. MIT's charter emphasized the "mechanical arts" while MAC's aim was on agriculture.

Today, while MIT plays a national and international role "It's clear that Massachusetts needs a land grant institution," Hoy said.

As part of its effort to meet the demands of today, the UMass Cooperative Extension Service brings its diverse expertise — from energy efficient audits and solar heat demonstrations to 4-H programs for special needs children to almost every area of the Commonwealth.

Over the past decade, Massachusetts cities and towns have experienced serious problems of urban decay and eroding tax bases, which have been further exacerbated by the passage of the "Proposition 2½" tax cutting referendum in 1980. The Center for Economic Development, a program that utilizes the resources of the UMass School of Management, is trying to ease the problems of these communities. Serving such cities and towns as Attleboro, Chicopee, Gardner, Lawerence, Peabody and Springfield, the Center assists in the development of downtown revitalization projects, studies the growing problem of the reuse of closed municipal buildings and develops manangement programs for community planning, prepares and revises zoning laws to meet the needs of the community and serves as a resource on federal and state grant programs.

The Center also assists in economically depressed areas. Through five regional offices, UMass offers business counseling and research services and classroom experience at nominal fees to businesses with no more than 500 employees and $30 million in sales.

But UMass is not just concerned with the conditions of local communities and businesses. It is also attempting to grapple with the Commonwealth's severa environmental problem associated with the "acid rain" phenomena believed to be killing thousands of lakes in Massachusetts and oth er Northeastern states and Canada. Scientists theorized that coal stacks in the midwest emit toxic ammissions into the atmosphere which comes down as precipitation into our 2,600 lakes.

UMass researchers are at the forefront of attempting to grapple with this potentially disastrous problem. For the last four years, scientists from the Water Resources Research Center have been monitoring rainfall and have found it contains high amounts of acidity. In an effort to inform, the public, the acid rain levels are broadcast over several Massachusetts radio and television stations.

The study of acid rain is now being broadened to include every lake region in Massachusetts. Last March, UMass researchers from the departments of botany, chemistry, forestry and plant pathology, along with hundreds of volunteers from environmental groups, collected samples from more than 2,000 lakes across Massachusetts in an effort to systematically monitor the effects of acid rain statewide,

But UMass has a long way to go before it can be recognized as a distinguished university. One reason is that a very small amount of the activities that the faculty members have conducted is utilized to help solve the policy problems of the Commonwealth.

"Where else should government turn to?," Dr. Hoy asked rhetorically.

"The landgrant institution should be the first place to turn. It is vastly preferable to private industry or other sources," he said.

The use of UMass by the leaders of state government to research key public policy issues is now only at an embronic stage. One example of utilizing UMass's expertise was a two day symposium of the Agriculture and Natural Resources Legislative Committee held at the Amherst campus last fall.

Staff of the committee suggested subjects to the UMass College of Food and Natural Resources for topics they wished to cover. Graduate students and faculty planned the workshops around these suggestions. Such issues as the "Economics of Hazardous Waste" or "Land Use and Waste Disposal" ware discussed to aid the legislators.

As society begins to transform from the traditional industrial based economy to one that is increasingly based on knowledge and new technologies, UMass finds itself with the challenge of confronting the future, Even though it has not fully met all the challenges of today, it must be given the chance to prepare for tomorrow.

As the mission of the University changes, it must continue to have the three essential functions of teaching, at a low-cost affordable price, all students who wish to learn; developing a faculty that is committed to research within their disciplines; and continuing its public service component of the land grant institution.

continued on next page

UMass celebrates its 120th anniversary

By ED LEVINE

When Senator Justin L. Morrill of Vermont sponsored the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862, he intended to provide federal monies to allow states to purchase land and set up colleges to help young people learn to take advantage of the ever-increasing technologies of agriculture and industry.

When Massachusetts decided to take advantage of the Senate's offer and established the Massachusetts Agricultural College in 1863, so began the University of Massachusetts, which was to grow both in size and scope, exceeding even Justin Morrill's wildest imaginations.

After much planning, Amherst, already the home of Amherst College, was selected as the site for the new state agricultural school over Springfield, Northampton and Lexington. A 310 acre tract of land was purchased for the school and construction began the four wooden buildings which originally comprised the college's campus.

In 1867, the Massachusetts Agricultural College opened for business with four faculty members and 56 students. At first, the educational focus was on techniques of agriculture and animal sciences. Other courses were offered in chemistry, political economics, languages, literature and physical education.

Over the next several decades, the college began to grow, awarding its first graduate degrees in 1896 and constantly expanding its curriculum. After World War I, when it became clear that the school was broadening its horizons beyond agricultural training, the first era of growth had begun. In April 1931, the state Legislature decided the change in focus of the school was enough to change its name to the Massachusetts State College.

During World War II, enrollments at the college fell as most young men put off their education to fight in the war, leaving the campus populated mostly by women. After the war, however, veterans of the military began to take advantage of the New G.I. Bill offering them a free education, and the college once again began to flourish.

In 1947, as the enrollment jumped to more than 2,400 students studying many disciplines, the state legislature once again responded to the growth of the school, officially changing its name to the University of Massachusetts.

Since the final name change, the University has grown at a remarkable rate.

Loaded with new students taking advantage of veteran's benefits, the University began to grow and prosper. By 1960, the campus population had increased to 6,495 students and 366 faculty members. It became apparent that UMass needed to grow, physically, to keep up with the expansion of enrollment and services.

Throughout the 1960s, the campus began to reform. Buildings sprang up every year. Such complexes as the Campus Center and the Orchard Hill, Sylvan anc Southwest residential areas were built, along with Herte Hall, the University Library Tower, the Graduate Research Center and the Whitmore Administration Building. What had once been a sleepy little agricultural college campus with a few wooden buildings, stockyards and fields of crops, had grown into a city of its own in the midst of a formerly peaceful valley.

As the Amherst campus began to grow, so did the University as a whole. A partner school was established in Boston, which itself expanded to accommodate commuters and older students, until it needed new quarters, eventually constructed at Columbia Point overlooking Boston Harbor in Dorchester. A medical facility was established in Worcester, satellite campuses stretched across the state and research stations were set up worldwide.

Once the growth slowed in the early 1970s, UMass began to settle in to its new confines and work on improving the quality within the walls of the buildings. Research programs became more prominent. The schools of business and engineering, as well as some departments such as chemical engineering and sociology, became nationally prominent. And the University continues to grow.

As UMass enters its 13th decade, however, it enters a new phase in its rich history. The era of rapid growth and unlimited funds for education is over. Money is tight. Education does not have the priority it once enjoyed.

The world beyond UMass is changing, too, and the effects of the sociological and economic metamorphasis are beginning to show here on campus. More students are vying for coveted openings in the business and engineering programs, while those with liberal arts educations are seeing potential job markets wither. As the world changes, UMass struggles to adapt, to prepare itself for the future, A future which remains uncertain, yet somehow challenging.

In the fall of 1982, there were 1,470 faculty members on the Amherst campus, teaching a total of 24,949 students, including 5,300 working toward graduate degrees. The students themselves have changed also since the early days when high school graduates came to the state's landgrant college to learn how to make their family farms more modern and efficient. According to University statistics, more "non-traditional" students are entering UMass. Many of these students are older. Many are retraining to keep up with the new technologies which are dominating the world. While students of the past came to UMass supported by their father's and reared by their mothers, today's students are coming from families where both parents work. Last year, according to University statistics, two-thirds of incoming students were from two income families.

As the cost of education continues to soar, with the price tag of a private education skyrocketing beyond the means of much of society, the "new working class" generation struggles to keep their values and respect for a post-secondary education. As education changes, society changes. As society changes, so does education.

This delicate interrelationship is something UMass and other schools must now face. How do educational institutions both lead and follow society? How do they adjust? How does a University live up to its mission to provide training for future technologies when its uncertain what those technologies will be?

All these issues are topics University administrators, students, parents, alumni and state politicians will have to deal with now and in the future. Finding the right formula is a difficult, if not impossible task. It will take a lot of hard work and cooperation before it is achieved.

As the University celebrates its 120th anniversary, we have taken the time to reflect on the past, on the changes this campus and its population has undergone, and tried to look into the future. Today's history was yesterday's future. To examine what may happen in a time yet to come, one must understnd the past. Hopefully, we can all learn something about where we've been and try to figure out where we are going.

Above all, however, one thing is clear: The University of Massachusetts, with all its faults and shortcomings, its a first rate institution with a rich history and tradition. It is unlikely that tradition will fade in the future.

★ Changing Future

continued from previous page

"The University will define its mission in these three ways wisely. Although a lot of it is written in the nature of the Massachusetts economy," Hoy said.

The three areas Hoy forsees as needing attention for UMass' land grant role in the 1980's and 90's are assisting in improving the primary and secondary schools in the Commonwealth; readjusting the educational mission to accomodate the older students who will increasingly make up college enrollments in the future; and the need to assist government and industry in confronting the technological aspects of a changing economy, just as its original mission was to assist in agricultural development.

UMass appears better equipped to meet the needs of the future compared to its accomplishments of assisting with the problems of today.

Umass is aggressively trying to help improve the three largest school systems in Massachusetts: Boston, Worcester and Springfield. The School of Education has faculty members active in many schools statewide seeking to help improve the teaching capacity of individuals by direct help or added graduate work for the teachers.

Through a cooperative effort with the business community and a group of public schools, UMass-Amherst is conducting a teacher training program for math and science teachers, which are increasingly in demand. The program takes racent graduates in these fields and certifies them for teaching positions. The individuals would be committed to teaching for at least a three year period. During this time, companies would provide part-time employment to compensate the low pay teachers receive in comparison to private industry. Plans are currently being developed so that students who complete their three year committment would have a proportion of their student loans waived.

Because of its geographical location, UMass-Amherst will find it very difficult to meet the needs of the older students who predominately live in urban areas. Most of this mission will fall on its partner university in Boston and smaller satellites in areas like Waltham, Lawerence, Holyoke or Springfield.

One way to compensate for its location is to use video technology to bring the Amherst classroom to other parts of the Commonwealth, and with the recant passage of the Massachusetts Corporation for Educational Telecommunication, an effort conceived of by UMass, the University will be linked up to colleges and businesses statewide. Courses, mostly graduate, taught at UMass, will be beamed to students who are unable to travel to Amherst.

The most controversial change in the UMass mission lies in the increasing direction towards technologicael programs that will assist, many believe, the profits of private corporation and will comprise the academic integrity of a research university.

"The Amherst campus' main strength is it's always been devoted to a strong liberal arts tradition in a very deep sense," Hoy said.

"And this is a very healthy base from which to confront the technological, or more accurately, the knowledge-based changes in society."

Just as the Cooperative Extension Service played a role in Massachusetts agriculture, the Applied Technology Center is trying to fill the void for high technology entrapreneurs.

The Center is designated to assist manufacturing and service companies in New England and to develop their research needs for certain fees. Dr. David Navon, acting director, believes the center will become a "problem solving" agency for companies at a price individual companies cannot match.

So as UMass begins its 121st year as a land grant institution, it can only reflect on mediocre acomplishments of the past — a record that must be blamed evenly onto the facts of history which brought about a very strong research base in Boston through the strength of the independent universities and colleges located there.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that the Commonwealth demands a stronger role through its public land grant university in the coming years. UMass appears ready to meet these challenges, our communities, businesses, environmental groups and citizens appear eager for the assistance. The questions is will our leaders of the Commonwealth have the vision to let it happen?

Photo by Kevin J. Fachetti

A symbol of the modern era, the University tower library seems ominous looming over a symbol of days gone by, the Old Chapel.

It's academic: Learning is the name of the game at UMass

Engineering, business and arts: the search for an even balance

By PAUL A. BASKEN

In the face of the combined forces of a tight economy and the world drive toward computerization, deans of the Schools of Management and Engineering and the College of Arts and Sciences, instead of quickly expanding to accomodate the market, are now fortifying efforts to maintain and improve both academic quality and overall diversity at the University of Massachusetts.

All three have for years capped undergraduate enrollment (Management, at 2,000 students; Engineering, at 2,200 students; and Arts and Sciences, at 10,000 students). All three serve growing fields. In a day in which demand dictates supply, the microchip is the future, resumes open doors, and higher education is big business, the schools of the three largest and fastest growing fields could be pushing their luck with the University's 120-year-old reputation. But they're not.

School of Engineering

The newest of deans, James John of engineering, is in the most recently explosive of the three broad divisions. But instead of looking to share some of the bull market in a state with "the golden highway" and full of two-year technical institutes, John is stressing quality over quantity.

The newest three additions to the electrical and computer engineering departments, for example, are among the first to be sought and hired under a new approach the school has adopted. "Improvements in quality," said John, is the objective of new faculty requirements which now stipulate research work to achieve tenure and heighten overall emphasis of their graduate school.

In short, John is working to give the University of Massachusetts one of the top 10 engineering schools in the country. He feels it is now among the best 30 or 40.

Although the school now receives about half the 65 percent of its budget donated by industry in 1980, it continues to attract money — $4 million over the past three years and $3 million a year in both government and corporate research grants. But also crucial, John said, is the growing "realization on the part of the legislature that engineering is important.

The Off Campus Manufacturing Program, a course series for working engineers to be staffed by University professors next semester in Lexington, is an example of a new offshoot the school has begun to combine both the move toward graduate school emphasis (it and the school's series of videotaped courses sent out to companies are primarily graduate curriculum) and a recognition of the need to combat the steadily increasing problem of rapid obsolescence in an engineering education.

And while the "more job-oriented undergraduate may have evolved a more specialized selection of course offerings, it has not weakened the University's commitment to a rounded education for its engineers — half of all courses taken are outside the major and have been since the school's beginning just after World War II.

College of Arts and Sciences

With majors that range from dance to chemistry, Dean James W. Shaw of he College of Arts and Sciences is also experiencing a "pulling in opposite ways," but of declining as well as growing fields.

As a result, the 2,500 students accepted annually into a liberal arts major are treated for "job-consciousness" in two ways, Shaw said.

First, the college has in the past two years instructed its undergraduate advisors to stress specific careers in helping students plan their education. But, as a second point of action, and somewhat a contradiction of the first, advisors "try to reassure them that the connection between their major and what they're doing at 35 is very small."

"Do one for love and one for money," Shaw advises liberal arts students, who then often combine majors, with results sometimes as diverse as "classical English and computers."

The College itself, however, does not devote much effort to moving with the job market, Shaw said, for several reasons: it is "almost impossible" to predict demand ("engineers are a good example"); tenured professors restrict cross-field adjustment; and the need to maintain a "critical mass" of students in all departments to ensure diversity is integral to a "good university."

Although there are exceptions — the library, while being budgeted by the governor for physical, external repairs, is losing academic quality inside its brick walls, Shaw said. Programs such as radio astronomy, meanwhile, are being encouraged in their growing success — Shaw sees the University proving itself successful in efforts not to become a small, narrowly based, and thus out of business, institution.

However, in sustaining education in fields that students see as less desirable (300 to 500 of the 2,500 Arts and Sciences freshmen are first rejected by the management school, while 200 to 300 wanted to be engineers), many departments are helped by societal demands, historical restraints and tradition, Shaw said.

"Much of the decision has been worked out by the economy," as is evidenced by the decline of schools in many troubled industrial states and the growth of universities in the Sun Belt, Shaw said. With its economy keeping pace nationally, Massachusetts is providing its largest university level budgets, but with little extra for growth.

School of Management

The School of Business Administration became the School of Management in January to reflect what Dean Harry T. Allan also sees as a broader range of training for its students — "the managers of the future."

But having had the highest teaching load on campus for several years, and having been allowed to select only 350 of its 2,600 fall applicants, the management school is also in a position to seek funds to quickly expand. However, "as long as the system is providing reasonable access," Allan, too, plans to stress quality first.

Of the 1,200 business schools in the nation, only 200 are accredited for awarding masters degrees, and of the 200, Allan asserted, "we are in the top rung." Companies are "very eager" to hire the school's graduates, Allan, said, predicting that by the year 2000 a marked increase in both masters degrees and managerial positions similar to the unprecedented growth of the 1960s when the Ford and Carnagie Foundations issued reports critical of business education in the U.S. and subsequently donated universities funds to remedy it.

The school this year received grants and contracts totalling $1 million from outside sources, including federal and state money Allan said is to be used by the Small Business Development Center, a consolidation of several schools from throughout the state, formed by its flagship university, to provide its 9,000 small businesses with consultation, training and applied research.

Management courses constitute 40 to 60 percent of a major's schedule, making such a student "half liberal arts," Allan figured, and resulting in a professional, not vocational, school whose graduates are better able to keep and adapt to a job.

The School of Management, therefore, is also seen settling into a relative steady state, recognizing the opposite end constraints of a strained teaching staff and other problems which "Whitmore is certainly sensitive to," and the need to retain overall diversity.

Outlook

The Schools of Engineering and Management and the College of Arts and Sciences, while looking to a future of heightened competition with other schools, are not looking to compete within the University for their singular advantage. While budgetary constraints dictate it to some extent, each is rejecting temptation to bite off more than they can chew, to the collective advantage of all University majors.

If when the political climate becomes more favorable toward higher education, the University has stuck to its game plan as outlined by the deans, the School of Engineering may become among the top 10 in the country. And the School of management may be widely recognized as being in the "top rung." But most importantly, the University of Massachusetts as a whole should be known as among the country's finest.

Many alumni make it big

By MARY BETH HEBERT

Throughout its 120 year history, the Univeristy of Massachusetts has had a propensity to graduate three kinds of successful scholars — engineers, writers and showbiz people.

It's hard to say which group is more eminent. Amongst the corps of graduates UMass has in its ranks are presidents of huge multi-national corporations, Oscar nominees and lauded authors.

One student majored in chemical engineering, made dean's list all four years and was a member of the chemical engineering club. Fortunately for him he was able to enter into a field where his engineering expertise could be put to work. John Welch, a graduate of the class of 1957 and a recipient of a 1982 honorary doctor of science degree, became president and chief executive officer of General Electric. Another chemical engineer who made it is Richard Mahoney, class of '55. While his name may not ring any bells, his company name sure would. Mahoney is the president of Monsanto chemicals.

Andrew C. Knowles' work on the Mother's weekend committee didn't quite prepare him for his future, but his degree in electric engineering did. This graduate from the class of '57 became not only the vice president of the Digital Corporation but is also on the UMass Board of Trustees.

Despite the less-than evitable record of many of our sports teams, UMass has been able to place several people on professional teams. Mike Flanagan, who played baseball for UMass in 1972 and 1973, is one of the top starting pitchers in the American League. Flanagan won the Cy Young Award in 1979 for his outstanding job with the Baltimore Orioles. Football player Greg Landry played quarterback for the Minutemen in 1965, '66 and '67. He later went on to play for the Detroit Lions and the Baltimore Colts, and is currently quarterback for the Chicago Blitz of the newly-formed United States Football League.

But by far, the most famous UMass sports alumnus is Julius Erving who played for the Minutemen in the '69-70 and '70-71 seasons, setting many school records which still stand. After leaving Amherst at the end of his junior year, Erving went on to the American Basketball Association where he played for the Virginia Squires and the New York Nets. He is currently a forward for the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

Often, a quick glance backwards will show the steps that have led accomplished people on the path to success. Vice president for news for the American Broadcasting Corporation, Ed Fouhy, '56, got his start working as an assistant sports editor for the Collegian.

It was no ordinary doctoral candidate that submitted his dissertation on "An Integration of the Visual Media via 'Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids' into the Elementary School Curriculum as a Teaching Aid and Vehicle to Achieve Increased Learning." Bill Cosby, who was granted his Doctor of Education degree in September 1976, agreed to do his graduate work at UMass only after the University agreed not to publicize his presence. Another doctoral achiever (albeit an honorary one) is Jester Harrison from the class of '24. Harrison was noted for his role as Leroy, the brother-in-law of the King Fish on the famous Amos 'n' Andy radio show. While he never graduated from UMass, Harrison received his degree in 1972 for his fifty years of achievements in the choral music field.

Women from UMass have made their mark on the world as well. During her time at UMass, Natalie Cole, '72, was still trying to overcome the stigma of being Nat King Cole's daughter. She began to get recognition for her own music when she sang at the Top of the Campus lounge.

Recent headlines have included the name of another UMass alumni. Buffy Sainte-Marie from the clas of '62 just won an Oscar for her work on the award-winning song "Up Where We Belong" from the movie An Officer and A Gentleman. A major in Oriental philosophy, Sainte-Marie started singing professionally at the Old Candy Factory in Springfield while a UMass student. By 1966, her albums were selling second only to Joan Baez's amongst folksingers.

And the list of succesful alumni does not end there. Through its 120 year history, UMass has produced many great graduates. The tradition is sure to continue.

Faculty groups made some gains, continue to strive for improvement

By RITA MURPHY

In a university which has seen administrators come and go, students enroll and graduate, buildings rise and then fall, piece by piece to the ground, one thing has remained stable at the University of Massachusetts: the role of the faculty.

With the passing of the years and the changing of the make up and direction of the University, the faculty have also undergone changes. But as was the case in 1863, the faculty in 1983 still bestow their wisdom and knowledge upon students.

In a time when educational priorities are being questioned in Washington as well as the question of what role universities should play in the future of the country, UMass and the University faculty have been faced with questions of their own.

In recent months, the faculty have examined their roles in academic responsibilities and have questioned whether they should be changed.

The faculty have long debated the issue of the General Education Curriculum proposal. They have looked at it and questioned what direction it could send the University and the faculty in particular.

The faculty have always "been the strongest group involved in academic affairs, and that's the way it should be," said Harvey F. Kline, associate professor of political science and former secretary of the Faculty Senate.

In recent months, the faculty have questioned just how involved in academic affairs they should be. Through months of debate, criticism and uncertainties, they have come up with no easy answers.

They have been divided and yet have remained unified at the same time, reaffirming their commitment to education but questioning what kind of a commitment is too much of a commitment.

They have come up with no easy solutions to the question of where the University is going, but they have agreed on one thing: discussions must continue.

While those discussions about the future role of the faculty at UMass continue, reflections of the past roles of the faculty have inevitably surfaced.

Much has changed in terms of the makeup of the faculty since 1863, and despite years of questions about their future, the quality of the faculty has remained consistent throughout the University's history.

In 1863, there were just 11 faculty members on campus; today there 1470 faculty members. A dramatic change in size, but very little change in style. Professors still taught and students still learned.

The major change faculty have undergone in their history has been in their role in university government.

UMass has two main faculty bodies, the Faculty Senate and the Massachusetts Society of Professors (MSP).

Although, in theory, the two groups are supposed to handle different aspects of faculty interests on campus, Kline said, the organizations have sometimes overlapped during the past few years.

The senate's main responsibility is in academic affairs, he said, while the MSP deals with faculty contracts.

"Because of faculty bargaining difficulties in the past few years, there have been a number of occasions when the faculty (groups) had to reach agreement if conflicts arose with the bargaining mode," he said.

The history of the senate goes back to 1955, while the MSP came onto the campus in 1977, according to documents in University Archives.

Before the senate came into existence, the whole campus faculty would meet at various times throughout the year, according to the documents.

In October, 1955, the faculty appointed an Ad Hoc Committee to look into the possibility of forming a senate made up of faculty members from each department on campus.

Robert W. Wagner, a mathematics professor, who was one of the members of the committee, said one of the major reasons for the creation of the senate was to increase the role of the faculty in governance.

"It was felt that the faculty wasn't unified, and there wasn't sufficient faculty involvement in governance. So we undertook to set-up a senate,' Wagner said.

On April 13, 1956, then UMass President J. Paul Mather wrote to all faculty members urging the formation of the senate.

"I regard it as a primary means of accomplishing greater democracy and participation for the entire faculty in the affairs of the university," Mather wrote.

Almost one year to the day later, on April 11, 1957, the senate met for the first time. According to archive documents, in 1957, the senate had only 42 members, today there are 111 senators.

During the 1970's, the senate was more "politically conscious" than it ever was before or since then, said David Booth, a political science professor and secretary of the senate from 1974 to 1975.

'With the passing of time into the 70's, the senate did not seem to be as conscious about politics,' he said.

The MSP has had a lot to do with this, he said.

'The coming of the union inevitably divided the attention of the faculty between protecting the rights and the interests of the faculty bargaining unit on campus. It tries to 'improve working conditions of faculty ut UMass while promoting the goals of higher education,' said George T. Sulzner, acting president of MSP.

MSP.

During the middle 60's and early 70's, there was a tremendous growth in the student population of the campus. As a result many new people were hired and attitudes around the campus were positive, Sulzner said.

In the middle 1970's, however, the growth slowed down and fewer people were hired. The student period of growth had stopped. The atmosphere on campus changed. Faculty took a 'critical stance towards what was happening,' in relation to the decrease in the number of faculty hired, he said.

As a result of all these changes, the MSP was needed, he said.

While both the MSP and the Faculty Senate changed with time, faculty members themselves have changed very little in comparison with the University as a whole, said Deane Lee, associate professor of agriculture and reource economics since 1947.

"The biggest difference is that the faculty in 1947 knew personally the rest of the faculty. Today that isn't the case," Lee said.

Another change that has affected the University is the reward system, he said.

"Good teaching was appreciated and rewarded more than it is now. Now teaching is downgraded in comparison with research and publication," he said.

One major problem faculty did not have to contend with in its first 100 or so years, but had to battle in the past 10 years, is what Kline referred to as "musical chairs at Whitmore."

In the past 13 years, UMass has had five chancellors at one time or another: Oswald Tippo, from 1970 to 1971; Randolph W. Bromery, from 1971 to 1979; Henry Koffler, 1979 to 1982; Loren Baritz, spring of 1982 until the summer of 1982; and Joseph Duffey, fall of 1982 to present.

"The great administrative turnover has hurt the campus in general," Kline said.

Faculty have had difficulty in adjusting to the constant changes being made at Whitmore, he said.

But, Whitmore's instability has not hurt as much as administrative uncertainties have hurt other universities because "the strength of the university is not with the administration, but with the faculty and students," he said.

Because of the University's first-rate faculty, competent staff and impressive students, "they have been able to deal with administrative turnover," said former chancellor Koffler.

The faculty, "the Five College environment and the beautiful setting encourage vitality and creativity. The University provides a charged intellectual, cultural and artistic atmosphere," said Koffler, now President of the University of Arizona.

Many professors share Koffler's views on UMass "first-rate" faculty despite the administrative problems.

"The faculty have now maintained high involvement and high visibility compared to other institutions. The UMass faculty is far more sophisticated than other universities," Booth said.

They're not quite the big time, but UM sports are competitive

By RICHARD NANGLE

University of Massachusetts sports do not have national glorification.

You'll never see Keith Jackson extolling the virtues of the hotshot running back on the UMass football team. And Brent Musberger may never have anything to say about a player of the caliber of John Hempel on the basketball team.

But nevertheless, UMass has a rich history of athletic folklore and the promise of an even greater future.

Once nicknamed the Redmen, the team names were changed after complaints from a group of native American Indians in New York that the name connoted racism. In 1972 the Undergrauate Student Senate asked students to vote on one of three options: the Minutemen, the Statesmen or the Artichokes. Everyone knows what happened next.

Sports at UMass have a tradition of competitiveness that continues today, with the possible exception of basketball in recent years.

"I don't think we have to go into any game in any sport with the idea that they are better than we are," says Dr. David Bischoff, dean of the School of Physical Education.

UMass is a rarity among schools with major athletic programs. Usually, one would not talk to someone within the school of physical education in order to find out about varsity sports. But the attitude is different here.

Bischoff said he believes the athletic program complements the education program and thus should be an extension of it. But complementing rather than substituting for an education does not mean the coaches here do not want to win.

"The coaches we have here are people who give a damn. I think athletics provides a remarkable opportunity for students," Bischoff says.

And more athletes tend to graduate than not, Bischoff adds.

Perhaps the biggest black mark on UMass sports though is the lack of a modern indoor facility. Basketball has the decrepit, but somehow charming, Curry Hicks Cage. But due to lack of an ice rink and the difficulty of scheduling games at Amherst College, the hockey program was canned in the late 70's. The problem is a simple lack of funds.

"If anyone expects us to be competitive, and if we understand the realities of athletics with grants and aid, we have to find new ways to generate revenue," Bischoff says.

"If we can't do something well, I don't think we should do it at all," he says, explaining why hockey was dropped.

"I will continue to push for an indoor facility," he says.

The prospects for an indoor facility in the near future looks grim, although Bischoff says he hopes the groundwork will be laid by 1990. In this year's Capital Outlay Budget for UMass, proposed by Governor Michael Dukakis, the tower library is slated for 13th and I ast in priority of funding. That kind of prioritizing leaves little room for consideration of a new athletic facility.

While Bischoff calls the Cage "disgraceful" he is also quick to point out that it is a great place to see a basketball game. But since it can only accomodate a little more than 4,000 spectators, it is hardly large enough to complement a successful program. Even with this year's 9 and 20 team there were a few sell outs and times when students had to be turned away.

Back in 1970 and 71 thousands were being turned away at the doors of the Cage. UMass was a contender for the National Invitational Tournament Championship in those years thanks to the help of one "Doctor" Julius Erving. It's hard to believe that the greatest player in basketball history once played within the confines of the Cage.

Erving's high school coach, who was also the UMass basketball coach before Tom McLaughlin, says a basketball buddy of "J's" in highschool named him Doctor after Erving ribbed him by continually calling him Professor.

"It surprised me that he became so good so quick," Ray Wilson says of the Roosevelt, New York, high school graduate.

"Everyone thought if he grew he'd become an outstanding player," Wilson says.

Well, Erving grew three inches in his senior year. After UMass he played a few years in the American Basketball Association for the Virginia Squares and the New York Nets. Now he's playing for a Philadelphia 76er's team that seems the most qualified to win the NBA title this year.

UMass hoop goes way back. Back in the fifties, when all the rednecks looked like Fonzie, the team was captained by Henry Mosychuk, a brother at Phi Sigma Kappa. The team did not win any accolades that year and the Cage probably looked much the same as it does now.

One of the earliest varsity basketball seasons dates back to 1906 when the team was 1-2 for the year. To prove that some things never change is the fact that some of the games that year were cancelled — due to financial difficulties.

The first basketball team, in 1902, went 5-3.

The earliest UMass varsity sports were played when the college went under a different name.

In 1871, Massachusetts Agricultural College believed they could field a crew team that would be competitive with the already well-known Harvard and Brown squads.

To the surprise of crew followers everywhere and the MAC team itself, Harvard and Brown placed second and third to the Aggies at the Ingleside regatta.

A piece of the winning boat, so crudely built that it was highly inferior to the Harvard and Brown crafts, is encased in glass in the archives room in the tower library.

Baseball became a MAC mainstay in 1877. The team went 3-1-1 that year with the highlight being a 15-1 drubbing of rival Amherst College.

But 10 years later, in 1887, MAC was knocked down and humiliated by the Amherst nine. The final score was 34-4. Back in those days the long ball was an extreme rarity. The gloves the players used were pathetically small and lacking in padding compared to today's models. It's safe to say that there were a lot of errors committed in those days as the scores were usually much higher than an average college baseball score today.

1965 was also the year that the current football facility known as Alumni Stadium was completed. In the Redmen's first game in the modern stadium they destroyed American International College by a score of 41-0. Their next home game was a disappointing 18-6 loss to Buffalo.

The homecoming game that year against Rhode Island was also the dedication game for Alumni Stadium. A letter of congratulations came from then-Governor John Volpe for continuing the tradition of UMass football. The Redmen responded by beating the Rams 30-0.

In 1977 the Minutemen went to the Division 1AA playoffs but lost their semi-final game to Lehigh 30-23. The next year they came close to a national championship. After defeating Nevada-Reno 44-21, the Minutmen went to the Pioneer Bowl in Wichita Falls, Texas, where they lost to Florida A&M, 35-28.

Back in the old days when the football field was in front of the Chapel, the old building's bell would ring every time the football team was victorious. The gridiron was known as Pratt Field.

The first game ever was in 1879 against, you guessed it, Amherst College. MAC won that game 1-0.

Years later, one of the players on the original team noted, "We had no uniforms then and were a hard looking bunch with our old clothes on."

Eventually it became apparent that Pratt Field had to go and a more modern stadium should be built. The post depression era saw the UMass Redmen playing on Alumni Field located on the grounds now occupied by the Whitmore Administration Building.

The first game ever played on Alumni Field was on October 9, 1915. On that day MAC defeated Colby 26-0.

And once again in the late 60's it became evident that the Redmen were deservant of an even better facility...Alumni Field, which was built in much the same manner as the current Amherst College field, was not worthy of the high quality teams UMass was fielding.

In 1963, under coach Vic Fusia, the Redmen went 8-1-0 allowing a mere 12 points while scoring 265. They were subsequently invited to both the Tangerine and Liberty Bowls but declined them.

Coach Fusia, now owner of Amherst's "Time Out" bar, says he felt the team was too young to go to a major bowl. And perhaps he did not want to subject his great team to a season ending loss. It might have been an unfortunate way to celebrate the University's centennial.

"They're (bowls) not the greatest things in the world to go to," he says.

But in 1964 Fusia took his 8-1 team, whose only loss was a 20-14 decision to Harvard, to the Tangerine bowl. Unfortuantely for the Redmen, they were on the lower end of the 14-13 score against Carolina.

Fusia says the people who run the Tangerine Bowl promised UMass that they could come back the next year. But after being invited due to their impressive 7-2 record, Fusia once again turned down a bowl bid.

Maine had won the Yankee Conference that year thanks in part to a 10-89 victory over UMass on opening day. Fusia graciously suggested that Maine be invited and the Tangerine Bowl officials agreed.

There are, of course, many more sports accomplishments associated with the University of Massahcusetts, but space does not permit a complete history.

One would be hard pressed to find out what happened in women's sports before the late 1960's. The Index keeps no such records while emphasizing men's sports. Further evidence of sexism, at least by current valley standards, would be the name of the female sporting organization.

The "Girls Athletic Association" was begun in 1925. Starting in 1917, women interested in sports met on the second floor of the Chapel where their tools consisted of a desk, piano, box of Indian Clubs and two basketballs.

After a while the activities, which included Indian Club swinging set to music, began to cause the plaster to fall down to the first floor library. The women then moved to the stage of Bowker Auditorium and eventually a room in Stockbridge Hall.

The 1982 women's lacrosse championship was won by UMass. It is the only national championship the school has ever won. In 1981, the men's team had to play their 'home' playoff game at the University of Virginia when the NCAA ruled that Boyden Field was unfit for playoff competition and the stadium could not be made ready with commencement pending. The Gorilla's lost that game 16-12.

Current pro heroes who played for UMass include quarterback Greg Landry of the Chicago Blitz, former Cy Young award winner Mike Flanagan of the Baltimore Orioles and reliever Jeff Reardon of the multi-talented Montreal Expos.

Dean Bischoff attributes the sporting atmosphere at UMass to the great expanses of land which make it possible to field many intramural teams. And the interest in sports is forever increasing. Last year was the first time ever that all the student lockers in Boyden were given out, he says.

"Not many other schools in the United States offer as many opportunities as we do in student athletics," he says adding that he considers the UMass coaching staff as good as anyone's anywhere — even renowned Penn. State.

As for the future?

"Our position has been the same. If we can get a decent facility on campus, we'll start a men's and women's hockey team," Bischoff says.

Who knows? Maybe someday UMass will have that mythical domed stadium.

Photos courtesy of University Archives

Perhaps the most succesful UMass alumnus of all, Julius Erving, battles for a rebound during a game in Curry Hicks Cage in 1970. Below, the school's first sports team, the Crew, compete in a 1871 race.

Photo courtesy of University Archives

For women, some things never change

By CRIS SCHUSTER

In an University where women were once considered to be important only as a means of occupying men's weekends, and where it was once thought a woman's only goal was to go to college in order to get a husband, women are now being recognized for their past and potential accomplishments to the country and the world.

But some things never change.

The vast difference between the number of women and men faculty members still remains after 70 years. The increase of women faculty members in the past 10 years, however, has only been two percent and the number of women admitted to the University is less than the number of men admitted despite intensive recruiting efforts.

In spite of this, Helen Curtis Cole, the first and only dean of women at the University, said, "Tremendous progress has been made on the admission of women. When I first came here (in 1945) it was really a man's institution."

Admission for women in 1945 was "held down to about 30 percent and then it was supposed to be 40 percent," she said. Some departments did not want to admit women or promote their admission. "At first women were not admitted to medical school. Women applicants were better qualified but they (departments) were afraid to admit women," she said.

In 1950, the first graduating class after World War II, 1,000 men and 100 women graduated from the university.

"The women were very carefully selected. We admitted top-flight girls and we lost very few," Cole said.

Irmarie Scheuneman Jones, class of 1945, said that during the war the campus was the women's province because most of the men had gone to war. Her graduating class had 89 women and 10 men.

One incident Jones remembers clearly was when a woman on her floor was found with a male Amherst College student in her room. The woman, Virginia, was expelled from the college even though she and the student were only talking.

"It was shocking," Jones said.

Once the war was over, the veterans came back to class and the campus was again a man's domain, she said.

"Our consciousness wasn't raised then. It didn't seem strange then. It was accepted that the men ran everything," she said.

For women, once the veterans returned, the reaction was one of relief.

"You've got to realize the consciousness. All you wanted to do was get married and stay at home with the kids. This was the feeling. Even though women were active in the war business, the attitude was — Oh goody, they're back and now we can go on dates,'" she said. "We weren't thinking particularly 'career' then."

Much of the attitude of women can be reflected in a letter to the women from Edna Skinner, the advisor of women, in the Freshman Handbook of the Massachusetts State College for 1944-45.

"With our young men in the military service, our country has very special need of educated young women who have developed poise, maturity of judgement and the ability to do useful work," Skinner wrote.

Freshman women had other things to strive for other than gaining the ability to do useful work. Their first main objective once they had started college was to survive the hazing period.

Hazing period was a week-long period of torture for freshmen, which was held the second week of classes. The handbook told freshmen to learn the names of at least 10 upperclassmen, make up a four line jingle containing their names and hometowns and to be ready to recite it at any time. Also students had to learn the following resolution:

"I hereby confess that I a man ignodripium pyrodopium gynosilium ignoramous and resolve without appregnation nor recalcitraation to obey in a sportsmanlike manner all rules and regulations as set forth by my superiors the sophomores."

"Women did take over and they did very well. It was a unique time," she said.

Jones lived in Butterfield dormitory, an all women dorm, just after it was built. One reason the dorm was built so far away from campus was because it was hoped that men would be discouraged from walking all the way to the dorm to visit the women, Jones said.

"Oh, how carefully they treated us," she said. "They (housemothers) were still treating us like high school students. Curfew was at 10 p.m. and after five demerits (demerits were given if students were five minutes late) you would have to go before a court of your peers," she said.

Freshmen women also had to go through Baby Day where they had to dress as babies with their hair in pigtails and suck on a lollipop all day. Then, they had to survive "Moron Day" where they had to carry an umbrella and whenever they heard the cry "Air Raid," they had to open it up and get under it.

"It (Hazing Week) was so degrading," Jones said. "The climax (of Hazing Week) was the rope pull with the women cheering and the men doing all the pulling."

For many years curfews for women were strictly enforced. According to the 1944-45 handbook, all houses closed regularly at 10:30 p.m. Students could not entertain male callers before 6 p.m. of any week day.

Unless special permission was obtained from the house mother, men could not visit dormitory rooms. Permission was not given after 7:30 p.m. Presence of men callers on floors was announced by use of the buzzer system.

In 1965, a reform committee petition asking for the abolition of curfews was signed by an overwhelming majority of women students on the plea that "Even if you don't want freedom for yourself, you don't want to spoil it for others." The assistant dean of women, Isabelle Gomon, responded to that plea in her annual report.

"Certainly it is naive to think that by requiring curfews, the University is legislating morality. Our concern has been for the safety of students and the protection of property," Gomon wrote.

However, Dean Curtis said, "The University has always had a high caliber of women students who have been ambitious, full of goals."

In her first report as the dean of women, Curtis made several suggestions for improvement of women's academic lives, which included additional improvements in existing housing facilities for women and providing adequate social rooms and dining facilities.

One of the concerns which still remain is the number of women on the faculty, which Curtis said she spent a great deal of time and effort trying to change. But it seems an impossible task.

"What is alarming is there has only been less than two percent increase in the female faculty in the past 10 years," said history Professor Joyce Berkman.

The number of department heads who are women has been "barely altered," she said. "I hope there will be more consideration in making a more hospitable environment (in the future). We've lost a lot of women faculty who had found their department uncongenial and found themselves isolated because they are women."

Currently, according to the 1981-82 University of Massachusetts Fact Book, there are 528 tenured male faculty and 42 tenured women professors. At all levels of the faculty, there are 1,016 men earning an average of $31,635 and only 185 women earning $26,077.

"There is a dramatic disparity in wages of male and female faculty especially in the middle ranks," said Berkman, a member of the faculty senate committee on the status of women.

Stronger internal networks are needed in order to improve this problem, Berkman said. There is some awareness among male faculty members of the problems of inhospitable environments, but conditions must be improved, she said.

"I foresee a continued steady, but rather slow, expansion of women in various fields in divisions on campus," she said. "Interest in interdisciplinary study has been happening and will probably continue to expand."

But some things never change.

As UMass grows, Amherst feels the pain and pleasure

By NANCY GONTER

[illegible] in the middle of Amherst, complete with heavy traffic, [illegible] and lack of people.

[illegible] this city was unique because it was not self-motivated. It developed as Amherst [illegible] the town depended on the [illegible] Education is the major industry in the town of Amherst.

Then, shortly after World War II, [illegible] a boom era in 1976, the University [illegible] and the town of Amherst experienced more change than ever before.

In 1945, the town's population was 7,000 and the state college, now UMass, had 2,500 students enrolled. In the next 30 years, the town's population tripled in size. The population is now 30,000 according to federal census figures.

The University's expansion changed the town of Amherst. Increased traffic [illegible] for housing, water and police protection because of the increased population attracted the town and its permanent residents.

Residents fear the town's enlargement [illegible] the nature of the community and that [illegible] the town will become obsolete. But the increased size also provides additional business and new [illegible] opportunities.

Although O'Donnell [illegible] college cooperation a reality. We are one of the only communities to offer a group of five colleges," he said.

O'Donnell also noted that traffic increased because of the University's expansion. Traffic was at its worst eight to 10 years ago but traffic situation has improved since the bus service began.

Changes at the University began after World War II with the passage of the GI Bill of Rights, an educational benefits [illegible] program in agriculture and vocational [illegible] established with veterans in mind.

The combined [illegible] of veteran's demanding their benefits convinced the state legislature to transform Massachusetts State College into the University of Massachusetts in May of 1947.

At the end of the 1940's enrollment at the University had increased by nearly 1,000 students and Amherst residents had little reason to suspect the development of the new university would disturb the traditional balance between "town and gown" or that the University would expand to the size it is now.

The 1950's were years of continued expansion. The town responded by establishing new leadership in the community. The position of town manager was created and long-time Amherst resident Allen Torrey was chosen to fill it. The traditional three-member Board of Selectmen, with representatives from [illegible] and the central of Amherst, [illegible] businessmen, one was involved in the University, one to Amherst College and one was a woman. Edna Markham, elected to the Board of Selectmen in 1954, was the first woman ever to serve as a selectmen.

The University began to break away from its image as an expansion of a pre-war state college in the 1960's. The schools of education, nursing and physical education were more firmly established.

Even in 1962, Amherst had not felt the full effects of the University's expansion. None of the present construction was [illegible] to construction of the high rises of Southwest.

Between 1963 and 1976, the University emerged as a small city of an unusual type. Buildings rose at astounding, [illegible] reaching heights not previously seen west of Boston.

The buildings and the increased traffic combined with changing values and dress put stress on the balance between town and gown.

"The colleges and University dominate the town," said Edith Wilkinson, current chair of the Board of Selectmen. "There is more [illegible] that isn't dominated."

"The demands of the University determine what our (the town) needs will be," Wilkinson said.

Every year after 1961, the University enrolled an additional 1,500 new students each year, until a goal of 25,000 to 30,000 students was reached. By 1970, enrollment had tripled to 21,000 students and faculty had increased to 1,150.

The increased pace of expansion at the University produced a remarkable [illegible] constructing [illegible] The average [illegible] starts went from 43 [illegible] to 430 units each year after 1962. Of these 430, 300 were apartments and the rest were houses. By 1970 about 2,000 new housing units had been constructed in town.

The town's planning board adopted a set of sub-division regulations and the town adopted a building code setting minimum standard for housing. Because of new regulations, some development was deflected into adjacent towns.

As a result of the fast-paced population, a strain has been placed on the town's police force. The hiring of new police officers has not kept pace with the increasing population. Amherst Police Chief Donald Mara, who has been with the force since 1959 said that since he has been with the Amherst department, the force has grown from 11 to 29 police officers.

The force has not grown commensurate with the population," Mara said. "However, most students are law abiding citizens. Amherst brings crime because it is a hub of activity and because of the accessibility to the town," he said.

The crime rate did rise in 1961, [illegible] arrests were made for narcotics violations, in 1970, there were a total of 75 narcotics arrests.

Town leaders and boards struggle to maintain some sort of control over the growth of Amherst. Measures to regulate land use and private construction were instituted. In the early 1970's, citizen movements charged that the town's leaders were not doing enough to control the development in Amherst. Land developers complained of increased interference from government.

Wilkinson, who has lived in the town for 30 years, noted that Amherst continues to grow, despite the Universities nearly non-existent growth.

Town and gown have long ago become so involved, one with the other. There is no way to separate it," Wilkinson said.

Photo by Kevin J. Fechero

Learning from the past, UMass looks ahead

Reaching out to spread the word

By KEN BAZINET

Diverse expansion in academic research and study is now at the center of all strategies for long range planning at the University of Massachusetts. Studies conducted by internal working groups and private consultants have advised UMass' Chancellor, President, Board of Trustees and several Massachusetts politicians that research is vital to ensure the growth of the University.

It is the consensus among its faculty, administrators and alumni that UMass is moving in a direction which may give it the opportunity to compete with Massachusett's reputable research Universities. The belief that UMass is capable of entering into a market which has been dominated by big private schools, like Boston University and Tufts, and like Harvard and MIT, has forced the University to develop strategies in external relations which go beyond dry press releases and Saturday afternoon football games with legislators.

During the Fall 1981 semester, former Chancellor Henry Koffler created the position of vice chancellor for university relations and development. This new vice chancellor, who has yet to be hired, will oversee all areas of public affairs, development and external relations. He or she will coordinate the campaign to spread the "good word" about UMass to everyone from the Amherst Board of Selectmen to the U.S. Department of Defense.

Despite the disadvantage of not yet having a vice chancellor, the staff which operates under the domain of University elations and Development has begun to adopt several plans which they say work best to tell the story of the most recent research and other academic activities conducted at UMass.

Prof Ralph Whitehead, a member of the Journalistic Studies faculty since 1973 and a consultant on external relations to UMass President David C. Knapp during the last two years, believes the best strategies are developed by groups which do everything necessary to understand the intellectual activity at the University. Whitehead's chief role under Knapp is developing and modifying strategies for external relations and his work is respected by those who he comes in contact with in and out of UMass.

Whitehead's idea of the perfect strategy is to innovatively present fresh and distinctive "high definition" material to the media, state legislature and private industry. He says "high definition" material are those projects which can be sharply defined and conceptually sound enough to ensure that they are understood by the average reader or listener.

And it only takes four of these "High definition" projects a year to draw attention to the University, Whitehead says.

One "high definition" project which is drawing considerable attention is the study of artificial intelligence by researchers in the department of computer and information science (COINS). This research into functions of the brain could potentially be applied to the study of linguistics, psychology, physical therapy and several similar concentrations.

> "The best sales people for the quality of the University is our students."
>
> — Daniel Melley
> UMass Public Affairs

To get the specific and detailed facts of this research to people outside UMass, a special presentation and press package was put together by Arthur Clifford, director of the UMass-Amherst News Bureau. To properly prepare himself, Clifford virtually had to be taught by the COINS researchers which, upon the appearance of a two part series in the business section of the Boston Globe, proved to be the most efficient way to get the story to the public.

The work which Clifford and his staff did to understand the artificial intelligence research has encouraged him to create a data base for working journalists which would make UMass' resources directly accessable by 1984. An 18-month-old relationship with the Valley Press Club is the first step which he has taken to motivate area reporters to learn about such topics as toxic waste, acid rain and data analysis from UMass researchers. He hopes the idea will eventually emerge the "University of Massachusetts Center of Learning for Journalists," and would ultimately like to see information passed on to reporters directly by UMass' computers.

The UMass News Bureau cranks out about 30 media releases a week during the academic year with the intention of keeping a steady mention of the University in the press. Commonwealth Research Reports, a newsletter with a circulation of 1,000, is mailed to government officials, libraries and town planners, is also prepared by the news bureau, as well as "Commonwealth Journal," a 30 minute syndicated radio talk show which reaches 50 stations throughout New England. Students and faculty can receive recognition for academic achievement through the news bureau's "home town news releases" which reach local papers, the "Learning" section of the Globe and the Chronicle of Higher Education.

Parents and "friends" receive Contact, a bi-monthly publication which was created to inform people of the activities of the faculty. Contact is an award winning publication, and its editor, Terry Allen, stresses cleanly written articles and sharp photography provided by the University Photo Center.

Daniel Melley, director of Community Relations feels UMass students are potentially the best media releases the University can provide.

"The best sales people for the quality of the University is our students. The hard working (students) will do the most to help the University's reputation," he said.

But Melley says it was only a few years ago that "the press used what went on nights and weekends in the Southwest Residential College as its main coverage totally disregarding the academic qualities of the university." The elimination of the Alumni Stadium "Spring Concert" and forbidding beer kegs in the dormitories are two steps which the University took to curb the "ZooMass" image which dominated the press during the latter part of the 1970's.

Development through University relations

The ultimate goal reached through external relations is to generate private contributions to UMass. Dallas Darland, director of Development, is responsible for raising money and equipment from private corporations and Alumni.

But before Darland can begin to ask the 80,000 Alumni for contributions, it is the responsibility of Jon Hite, director of Alumni Affairs, to charm them with reunions, Red Sox games and similar activities. Hite says it is important to make the Alumni feel that Amherst is still their home.

"We need a network of people who want to renew their ties with UMass," he says. "This is the only way to set the ground work for contributions."

Hite's long range plans include arranging a system in which students are employed summers and after graduation by alumni. He communicates with Alumni through direct mail The Alumnus, a bi-monthly magazine. He also takes working trips regularly to Boston, Washington D.C. and just about anywhere alumni activities are being held.

After Hite makes everyone happy and comfortable, the telephone calls and mail begin to arrive from Darland asking for contributions. The recent creation of "Telefund", a phone bank recently installed in Memorial Hall operated by a paid staff, is expected to increase the total Alumni contribution. The previous Phone-a-thon effort was a volunteer operation which this year earned $371,900 in pledges from 14,623 alumni and friends.

"Telefund" has the $1 million mark as its target for next year. This project will also go beyond alumni contributions and reach students' parents as well.

Getting private industries to donate computer and business equipment is also important to development. Numerous computer terminals on campus have been donated from Digital, Wang and other Massachusetts based high technology firms. Darland is also responsible for arranging grants with private industries, and negotiations have lead to the purchase of equipment at a reduced cost which is a key to research at UMass.

Whitehead believes that even with a vice chancellor on the way, university relations and development will not see itself become a division unless it is increasingly financed.

"UMass will have to get the salaries up to bring people in to fill the holes. What we have at UMass is not yet a division, but a market place. Those offices that do good work get clients, those that do not do good work, don't get the clients," Whitehead said.

The staff which make up university relations and development agree that the University has taken an unnecessarily long time to realize the need for good people who receive a good salary. It is obvious that UMass will need people working external relations who are comparable to those researchers who are making news at the University.

"External relations," says Whitehead, "is thinking not flacking. At a university nothing is more important than seeing that information flows quickly and innovatively."

Land Grant to High Tech

Planting the seeds of the future

Prepared by the staff of the Massachusetts Daily Collegian on the occasion of the 120th anniversary of the signing of the University of Massachusetts Charter, April 29, 1983.

This special issue was financed by the Office of Public Affairs at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and produced by the staff of the Collegian. The opinions expressed in this issue are those of the writers and editors of the Collegian and in no way represent the opinions of the administration or Trustees of the University of Massachusetts. The Collegian student staff is entirely responsible for the content. No faculty member or administrator has read any of the material prior to publication.

Project Editor	Ed Levine
Publishing Arrangements	Kevin Bowe
Graphics Technician	Stuart Sajdak
Production Manager	James Shanahan
Financing	Daniel Melley
Typesetting	Faye Whitney-Lussier, Lauri Neely, Marianne Walsh
Paste Up	Stuart Sajdak, James Shanahan, Will Hopkins
Writers	Paul A. Basken, Kevin Bowe, Nancy Gonter, Mary Beth Hebert, John Hudson, Ed Levine, Rita Murphy, Richard Nangle, Cris Schuster
Photography	Kevin Fachetti, Ed Levine, Drew Ogier

Special thanks to Collegian Business Coordinator Jim Ristuben and Dan Melley of the Office of Public Affairs for the financial arrangements, to Hannah Hosom for the title, to Steve Long of University Photo Services for photo equipment and to the Collegian staff for putting up with the "last waltz."

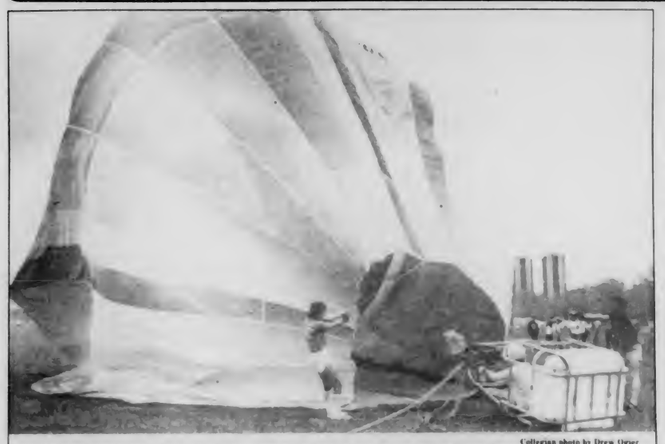
Produced by the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Ma. 01003.

Cover photo, the Metawampe Statue overlooking the Campus Center area, by Ed Levine. Page two photo of the UMass campus by Kevin J. Fachetti.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXII, Issue 125 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Monday, May 2, 1983



Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

Oh the humanity! Is it the Hindenburg? No, it's just a hot air balloon being filled by workers during Southwest day yesterday under the watchful eyes of mesmerized onlookers.

Duffey to stick around awhile

ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

After speeches and the awarding of two honorary degrees, parties at the convocation ceremony of the fourth chancellor of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst presented Joseph D. Duffey with two gifts symbolic of his new office.

One was a chancellor's medallion. The other was a can of cement.

UMass President David C. Knapp presented Duffey with the ceremonial medallion to be worn at graduation. Cast in silver, the four inch disk on a chain resembles Knapp's own gold medallion, yet is the first to be given a chancellor. Similar medallions were later awarded to the chancellors of the Boston and Worcester campuses at a luncheon following the convocation.

The cement, a gift from David Beaubien, a member of the Board of Regents, was presented because the University campus has had four chancellors since 1970, the donor said.

Beaubien instructed Duffey how to use his unusual gift.

"I would encourage you to apply it to the seat of your pants and then to the chair in the chancellor's office," he said. "I would encourage you to sit down and stay awhile."

Preceding Beaubien's presentation, Yale Professor Henry L. Gates, one of Duffey's former students at the school, said the new chancellor would be welcome back at Yale anytime.

"Yale's loss is the gain of UMass," Gates said.

Duffey officially took office at the University on Oct. 1, 1982 after being appointed to the post last August. He replaced former chancellor Henry Koffler, who resigned last May after accepting the presidency of the University of Arizona. Koffler was chancellor at UMass for three years.

In his inaugural address, Duffey traced the history of the University through the periods of social and academic change that culminated in the current status of UMass as a "major comprehensive research university."

"There has been social progress in history," Duffey said. "Much of that progress has been due to education. Education is more than the acquisition of knowledge, it has to do with character and morality."

"Our sense of what this place is about, what we are trying to impart — by example and teaching — must include these values as an active ideal, or we will fail the rich tradition of those who first envisioned this (university)," he said.

Honorary degrees were awarded to two advocates of higher education in Massachusetts. John W. Ryan, president of Indiana University and former first chancellor of UMass-Boston, and Maurice Donahue, director of the office for governmental affairs at UMass, and former state senate president who aided in the University's expansion through his legislation, were given the diplomas and hoods for the Doctor of Laws honoris causa.

Evelyn Murphy, Massachusetts secretary of economic affairs, read the governor's proclamation of Charter Day at the ceremony and commented on a waning job market that will lose two and one half million workers to automation by 1990.

"We must tie together education and economic growth to protect our country from division within and competition from without," Murphy said.

Juanita Kreps, vice president of Duke University, professor of economics and former secretary of commerce under the Carter Administration also spoke, relating crises in the international trade and money markets to the role of education.

Annual Town Meeting begins tonight

By TAMI BORTON
Collegian Staff

Beginning at 7:30 tonight the 256 Amherst Town Meeting members will decide which of the 79 Town Warrent articles should be adopted by the town.

The meeting, held in the junior high school auditorium, will run Monday, Wednesday and Thursday for the next three weeks, or until all articles have been acted upon.

"In this legislative form of government, the representative Town Meeting members will make decisions on town budgets, zoning and other rules and regulations," Selectman chair Edith Wilkinson said.

The town Finance Committee has prepared a report making recommendations to the town and explaining articles. The report is available at town hall.

An article requesting the formation of a rent control board to govern rent increases and tenant complaints will top the agenda. The board is to be financed by landlord fees. Student and other progressive members will be supporting the issue, while the selectmen and members supporting the rental industry will oppose it.

A request for a $17.5 million operating budget to fund road improvements, bicycle safety measures, town fireworks and other needs will be presented at the meeting for approval.

The Conservation Commission is asking for funding to complete a feasibility study on improvement of water quality at Puffers Pond.

Selectmen are endorsing an article which asks for funds to renew the Speed and Alcohol Prevention Patrol. Among the remaining articles is a recommendation to inform the town's congressional representatives that Amherst opposes military aid in El Salvador.

New standards given the OK

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts President David C. Knapp will announce at a Board of Regents hearing today that the University is satisfied with a revised edition of the proposal advocating stricter interim admissions standards for the state's public colleges and universities.

"The regents have added (solutions to) most of the concerns we have had," Knapp said Saturday. "We will support the revised draft as it stands in the interim."

The original proposal, released in January, was controversial because it required a minimum Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) score of 800 and a minimum class rank in the 40th percentile. While both class rank and test scores are commonly used as predictors of academic success in college, opponents argued these cutoffs would discriminate against students from competitive high schools, students who do not test well and minorities.

The revised proposal states that its standards are minimum elegibility requirements to the state's baccalareate institutions and that each institution must create its own specific policy in the fall.

Knapp said the University policy will be constructed for implementation in December, after the revised standards have been "subject to review."

He added that he does not anticipate the new policy will vary greatly from the once now in use, noting that the current standards "have been effective."

UMass Director of Undergraduate Admissions David G. Taggart said his office plans to conduct research this summer on the proposal and will "apply it and its characteristics against the incoming class (of 1987)," for which there were more than 16,000 applications for approximately 4,000 openings.

The Board of Regents is scheduled to vote on the revised proposal May 10. If the plan is approved, a sliding scale to balance low SAT scores with high class rank and vice versa would be implemented. Sixteen academic units — including four years of English, three of mathematics and two each of natural science, social science and foreign language — would be required of applicants.

The proposal would be phased in over a four-year period.

The proposed standards also offer exemptions to older, disabled and educationally disadvantaged students. The standards would not affect open admissions policies at the state's 15 community colleges. According to the revised proposal, no one will be denied access to higher education in Massachusetts.

Today's hearing, which begins at 10 a.m. at the UMass Medical Center in Worcester and is expected to last about two hours, will be a forum for both pro and con opinions on the proposal.

The Regent's vice chancellor for academic affairs, Dr. Roger Schiness, said only supporters had registered to speak at the hearing as of last Friday. He said he anticipated opponents would attend the meeting as well.

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

'Sealed with a kiss' — David Johansen excites the crowd during yesterday's Southwest concerts at the barbeque pits.

World and National News

May Day spurs riot for Solidarity

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Riot police bowled demonstrators over with powerful jets from water cannon, laid down clouds of tear gas and charged with swinging truncheons into tens of thousands of May Day protesters Sunday in this Baltic birthplace of Solidarity and at least two other Polish cities.

"Everything went well. Our appeal has drawn a response," said the 39-year-old shipyard electrician who helped found Solidarity and led it through the period of unrest that martial law squelched in December 1981.

Most of the Gdansk demonstrators later tried to march the three miles to Walesa's apartment. It was cordoned off by helmeted riot police but the labor leader, who has just been reinstated in his old job at the huge Lenin Shipyard, went onto his balcony and flashed the victory sign to several thousand people who got close enough to see him.

In a change of pace, the Solidarity underground has asked supporters to wear union badges and dress clothes to work on Tuesday, the traditional Polish Constitution Day that the communist regime does not honor as a legal holiday. A leaflet from underground leaders in Warsaw urged supporters not to "take part in any kind of demonstrations, rallies or street marches on May 3."

AP Laserphoto

Supporters of the outlawed Solidarity Union march through the streets of Szczecin, Poland, during a May Day demonstration Sunday.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Reagan pays tribute to 57,939 Vietnam dead

WASHINGTON — President Reagan paid his first visit to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial on Sunday, placing a bouquet of yellow and pink flowers between the granite walls bearing the names of 57,939 dead and missing.

The president spent seven minutes at the memorial, on the Washington Mall between the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial, after attending services at the National Presbyterian Church.

The monument was dedicated nearly six months ago. Vietnam veterans were angered then that the highest ranking government official taking part in the program was Edward Alvarez, deputy administrator of the Veterans Administration.

Mark Weinberg, an assistant White House press secretary, said the president "wanted to go for a long time. This was the first opportunity he had."

Death count up to 12 in Navy plane crash

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Divers pulled eight bodies from the St. Johns River on Sunday, bringing to 12 the number of known dead after a Navy transport plane with 15 aboard crashed into the murky water and burst into "a huge ball of flame."

The sole known survivor of the Saturday afternoon crash remained hospitalized in intensive care while 19 Navy divers and four from the Duval County sheriff's office searched the north-flowing river for two more bodies.

"We know there are no more bodies inside the wreckage of the plane," said Navy spokeswoman Sharon Ieronimo.

She said the divers were searching a four-mile stretch of the river where it sweeps past the Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

The plane, a twin-engine C131-F with six crew members and nine passengers, crashed just shy of the station's main runway five minutes after taking off en route to the Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Slugs; slimy, sophisticated thin-skinned survivors

SEATTLE — Sure they're slimy, ugly and bad for gardens, but that's no reason to hate slugs, a University of Washington professor says.

"They've unfairly been given a bad name," says Ingrith Olsen, a zoology professor. "Actually they're fascinating, lovely animals."

For five years she has been studying the creatures, often described as snails without shells.

"Slugs are very sophisticated and complicated in their behavior, even though they don't look it to some," she says. "For example, did you realize that every cell in their body has a nerve?

"And they survive in an environment as tough as ours ... with skin that's only a single cell thick, unlike the human skin which is comparatively thick."

Ms. Olsen also notes slugs have both male and female reproductive organs.

Some gastronomes note that slugs are closely related to the escargot, a snail treasured as a gourmet treat. One state resident, Frank Howard, 40, of Snohomish, has even produced a book, "The Best Washington Slug Recipes."

But Ms. Olsen says she wouldn't eat slugs because there are other sources of protein. Besides, she's too fond of them.

AP Laserphoto

Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca recently urged University of Michigan graduates "to get so mad that you kick your elders in the figurative posteriors" over America's economic condition.

Rubik's cube inventor to use profits for aid

BUDAPEST, Hungary — Ernee Rubik, inventor of the Rubik's cube, plans to use part of the riches from sales of the puzzle to set up a foundation for struggling Hungarian inventors.

Rubik plans to endow a foundation for inventors with the equivalent of $175,000, the government newspaper Magyar Hirlap said Saturday.

Rubik teaches at the Budapest College of Arts and Crafts, where he originally designed the colored cube as a teaching aid for mathematics students.

Man charged in lover's lane murder

AVON, Mass. — A 21-year-old Avon man was being held on $50,000 cash bail in the Dedham jail Sunday, charged with murdering a woman at a lover's lane by running over her several times with his car, police said.

The woman, identified as Cheryl A. Goodhue, 22, of Brockton, was found near a well on the Brockton-Avon line about 8 a.m. Saturday by an employee of the water department, Avon Police Chief Carl Miller said. He said she was partially clad and unconscious, her body bruised and a leg apparently broken.

She died two hours later at Cardinal Cushing Hospital in Brockton.

"During our investigation we found that it appeared that a vehicle had run over her. We found all kinds of tire tracks and blood in different sections of the area," Miller said.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Rich Nangle
Copy Editor — Anne McCrory
with a guest appearance by E.L. Birk
Layout Technician — Gerry deSimas
Photo Technician — Drew Ogier
Composition — Lauri Neely, Nancy Gallo
Stuart Sajdak, Alyssa Rusiecki, Mat Atkins
Jim Finkle, Maria Cahillane, Joyce Haglund

Subscription Rates

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Residence Hall Closing Notice

Residence halls will close for the summer on Thursday, May 26 at 6:00 PM. Graduating seniors who plan to remain in the halls after May 26 must notify their Head of Residence or Cluster staff member by Thursday, May 19. Those seniors cleared to stay in residence until Commencement must vacate their halls by 4:00 PM on Saturday, May 28.

A detailed closing notice will be distributed to residents during the week of May 2.

Office of Housing Services

MARTHA'S VINEYARD
ECONOMICS
SUMMER COURSES

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

ECONOMICS 103 — INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS (3CR) June 13-July 13

ECONOMICS 104 — INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS (3CR) July 25-August 23

Classes meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 7:45 - 10:45 a.m. For additional information, contact:

Debra Lyon
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0530

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert
by

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
Victor
BORGE

Conducting, playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

The splendor of the farming attitude in the Pioneer Valley is demonstrated by Andrew Cowles and a friend. The former Stockbridge students are attending to the pansies at Andrew's Nursery Saturday.

Senate to cut ed. budget

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis' fiscal 1984 budget, earmarking millions for higher education, was rejected last Friday by the joint House and Senate Ways and Means Committee.

In a rare joint session held at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, several of the legislators said the entire state budget was out of balance and said cuts would have to be made.

Rep. Michael C. Creedon, D-Brockton, called the budget "unrealistic" and told the Board of Regents to find areas in which they (Regents) could cut the budget.

"I have always been supportive of higher education, but I realize that I have to do a balancing act," Creedon said.

"The budget which you submitted will not come out as high. We are going to cut the budget and I think that the Regents should look to where they could contract their budget," he said.

Sen. Chester G. Atkins, D-Concord, echoed Creedon's words.

"I promise you that there will be cuts made in the entire state budget," Atkins said. The governor is working on a series of huge cuts."

Atkins said slow downs such as the governor's revisions have — in past years — delayed approval of the budget before the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1.

"We are working very closely with the governor to achieve mutual cuts," Atkins said. "In fact, this is the closest cooperation that I have seen."

Chancellor of Higher Education John B. Duff defended the higher education section of Dukakis' budget recommendations.

Along with many chief administrators from the state's public higher educations institutions, Duff presented the argument that there is no fat to trim in the higher education budget. He said enrollments could increase due to the fact that unemployment and economic conditions may cause more students to seek public educations.

Atkins and Creedon promised to attach an amendment to a supplemental appropriations bill in order to free $2.5 million to be used to perform renovations and repairs on the tower library. The funds were originally appropriated for this purpose in 1980 but have not yet been used because of the legislation that appropriated the funds restricted their use.

"On Monday (today) I, along with Representative Creedon, will introduce to the supplemental budget an amendment to fund repairs (to the tower library)," Atkins said. "This funding package will be on the governor's desk within 10 days."

Birth control in Puerto Rico

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

Since the late 1930s nearly one-third of all women in Puerto Rico have been sterilized in the government's "population control" plan, said the producer of an award winning film on sterilization, Saturday night at the University of Massachusetts.

Ana Maria Garcia, producer of the film "La Operacion," said that in 1937, Puerto Rico passed a law that made sterilization available to all women in the country. Since that time, nearly 200,000 women have been sterilized.

Physicians and government leaders in Puerto Rico have led women to believe sterilization is a form of "birth control that can be reversed after the operation," Garcia said.

"I'm not against sterilization, I think it's a positive thing because I believe in the reproductive rights of women. But it is the way it is carried out by the government that is wrong," she said.

Puerto Rican doctors have strongly favored the use of sterilization because of their "classist type of attitude," she said.

"Many doctors believe poor people should not populate like other classes," she said.

In Puerto Rico, women are not made aware of birth control methods, they are only told of the sterilization process, she said.

Puerto Rico has been used as a "social laboratory" and women "are used as its guinea pigs," she said.

In the late 1950s and the early 1960s, Puerto Rican women were the first in the world to use the birth control pill. But they were not told that no women had used the pill before, she said.

The women who took the pill suffered adverse effects, some of which still show up today in those very same women, she said.

"Even today, drugs that are banned in the United States are sold in Puerto Rico and other Latin American countries," she said.

Puerto Rico is not the only country with a rising rate of sterilization. In the last decade there has been an "astronomical increase in sterilizations in the United States," she said.

Approximately 30 percent of all couples in the U.S. have had one or both partners sterilized, she said.

Women discuss careers

By MARY BALDWIN
and ROBERTA RUBIN
Collegian Staff

One of the major problems facing working women for the 80's is the lack of a women's network and available information on career development and options, said Linda Levin, publisher of Livelihoods, a quarterly newsletter for New England women.

In a one day career conference for women Saturday at Smith College, a panel discussion and practical hands-on career development workshops were attended by over 100 women. The conference was designed to give the women a chance to develop a network, meet other women who are also mapping out their career paths and make contacts in occupations of personal interest.

"Women really want to help other women," said Cathy Walsh, academic advisor at the Division of Continuing Education at UMass. "We need to help each other."

During a self-assessment workshop, Walsh said, "self direction is based on self understanding."

"Without self understanding we tend to react rather than act. We waste a lot of energy getting out of situations we shouldn't be in in the first place, such as jobs that we hate," she said.

The problem with self-assessment is that people have so much information about themselves they can't sort it out, she said.

Arlene Rodovich, property officer of the property and inventory control department at UMass said, "Everyone should have a goal in life and when you reach it, set yourself onto another. If there is something you want, you have to work for it. It will be hard."

Rene Andersen, director of Cambridge College/Northampton and partner in Andersen/Kohler-Gray Associates said from her own experience, she has found that career women who are trying to break into a new field will be able to transfer their skills.

Regarding mothers whose work experience has been volunteer, Walsh said, "Work is work." Most companies find that mothers are good organizers and bright individuals and often preferable to applicants with long work histories who are set in their work ways.

In order for a woman to succeed in the business world, she must act, think and look as much like a man as is possible, according to leaders of a workshop on the myths and realities of working in a male dominated business world.

UMass alumnus of yesteryear recounts past

By E.L. BIRK
Collegian Staff

Wiping purple and white cake frosting from his chin, Gifford Towle, 75, from the class of '32, grinned to show his appreciation.

"This pretty good stuff," he said.

Towle was one of the more than 1,000 birthday revelers who came out into the hazy sunshine Friday to commemorate Charter Day, the 120th birthday of the University of Massachusetts.

Walking through the crowd of tanned and tank-topped college students, the missionary and minister exuded a youthfulness that fit him in with the other party goers. While Towle was sampling a piece of one of the 120 birthday cakes baked by University Food Services, people were singing "Happy Birthday" to UMass, and Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey sliced into the largest cake — a 750-pound, four tier bake shop monolith.

"It's inevitable, people want an education," he said of the rapid expansion the University experienced during the previous two decades.

"When you get up to 23,000, you get saturation education," Towle said.

Despite the University's size, UMass rivals any of the large universities in the east and midwest, he said.

Wearing his Charter Day T-shirt under a red sports coat, Towle reminisced about his years as a missionary in the Subcontinent of India where he taught Indians how to locate water, drill for it and then install hand pumps he designed and manufactured.

"Those were the best hand pumps in India," he said. "And, that's not me saying so, UNICEF said so."

One of the highlights of his Indian tenure was meeting Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, the Indian spiritualist responsible, in part, for leading India to its independence from Britain.

Reviewing a row of "decade tables" — set up by members of the Greek community to commemorate each of UMass' decades — Towle came upon the table for the 30s that featured Collegian headlines. He remembered how one of his roommates had been a Collegian editor for several years, how he and then college President Roscoe Thatcher fought with the Massachusetts Legislature and won to allow conscientious objectors exemption from military training and how he had waited on tables to earn his $4 monthly rent.

"You had to pay your own way," he said. "We students paid $4 a month for rent and if you knew that art of waiting on tables and could smile occasionally, you could do all right."

Collegian photo by Ann Lamery

The thrill of victory or the agony of defeat? These students battled the administration in the tug-of-war match of the century Friday. "Since the students were in charge of getting the rope and the rope broke, the administration wins by default," said Dan Melley, director of community relations at UMass.

Childbearing a feminist issue

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

The recent insurgence of new right politics with stress on the family structure and claims of national security fosters a growing paranoia about the role of bearing children in today's society, said the co-author of Common Differences: Conflicts in Black and White Feminist Perspectives, Thursday during a speech at the University of Massachusetts.

"The bearing of children has not been a topic for rigorous discourse in the women's movement," Jill Lewis said in her talk on feminism and reproduction.

Using such terms as the "terrain of reproduction," and calling the family structure "profoundly problematic," with the family characterized as a series of "fragmenting crises," Lewis described the dilemmas that bearing children have on feminism.

Society ascribes to the issue of childhood a kind of "anti-feminism," she said. The family is a history of "neglect,"

"The biology of reproduction is an issue that should be of increasing importance in the feminist movement today. Women must be able to bear children without risking their feminism," she said.

Reading from her work in progress, a book on feminism and reproduction, she cited such authors as Betty Freidan and Simone deBeauvoir as examples of feminist freedom. But these authors "did not address themselves to the issue of children without the idea that women are subsequently tied to their family," Lewis said.

"The pill on one level gave women their sexual freedom. The issue I raise is total freedom. The ability to have children should not be an issue that is dependent on technology," she said.

"The crucial dilemma revolves around the issue of having a child. Bearing children must be controlled by women," she said.

and a history with obvious reference to heterosexuality is something that must be openly questioned in today's society, she said.

The Globe's here; really!

Political spectators can learn how to "Handicap the Candidates" tonight in a free lesson from some professional oddsmakers.

Some of the Boston Globe political and opinion experts will speak at 8 tonight in Campus Center room 163 in a seminar open to the public on how to judge which of the Democratic presidential aspirants stands a chance.

Bringing their expertise to the University of Massachusetts will be Washington Bureau Chief Robert L. Healy, Editorial Page Editor Martin F. Nolan, Executive Editor John S. Driscoll, State House Bureau staffer Christine M. Black and columnist David Nyhan.

Healy, who has been with the Globe since 1942, started as an office copy boy while working his way up the newsroom ladder.

Nolan, Washington bureau chief before Healy, started at the Globe in 1961.

Driscoll served as Globe managing editor before becoming executive editor. He has also been night editor, sports writer and assistant to Editor Thomas Winship.

Black currently reports from her statehouse bureau position on statewide political activity. She came to the Globe from the Boston Herald American.

Nyhan began his career with the Associated Press in Springfield, moved to the AP's Statehouse bureau and then to the Globe where he now works as national columnist.

— E.L. BIRK

All University Men come try out for the UMass Football/Basketball Cheerleading Squad. Friday, 4/29 & Mon 5/2 at Boyden Gym or call Bill 549-6447

WANTED

for CRIMES AGAINST NATURE
contact Montana Dept of Fish & Game
L.Beaupiep,
Sheep Officer

Marjon Hair Design Inc

GOODBYE WINTER. . .
HELLO SPRING!

Hair will remain short this season, color and volume very important

Highlights, lowlights, bobs, root perms. . .these are just the start Call us now at

MARJON HAIR DESIGN
"We are a cut above the rest"
Hyper-Marche Mall
Rt 9 Hadley, MA
586-4551

BUS DRIVING JOBS
U-Mass Transit Service will accept applications for its Summer Training Program

Thurs. May 5
6:00 PM
Rm 174 - 6 Campus Center

Minimum Qualifications:
- 18 years of age
- Held Class III license for at least 1 year
- Enrolled in a U-Mass degree program with at least 3 semesters remaining must show schedule or transcript as proof of class year

Only 75 Applications Will Be Accepted

Both work study and non-work study are acceptable

U-Mass Transit is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer

COOKBOOK SALE
"Our Most Popular Cookbooks"

	Publ. List	SALE prices
Moosewood Cookbook	$8.85	$7.16
Enchanted Broccoli	$11.95	$9.56
Joy of Cooking	$15.95	$13.58
Better Homes & Gardens New Wokbk	$15.95	$13.58
Betty Crocker Cookbook	$12.95	$10.99
Beard on Pasta	$13.95	$11.16
Victory Garden Cookbook	$15.95	$12.66

UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
Located in the Campus Center

EDITORIAL/OPINION

We don't learn through history

We've all heard the conservative's argument against disarmament claiming: "If we let up, the Russians will get ahead, and 'move in' on 'free countries' — they can't be trusted."

To this line of thinking I would first like to add that while attacking Soviet foreign policy, too many conservatives fail to see or understand the United States foreign policy over the past twenty years.

Michael A. Ferry

In 1965, the government publicly announced that the United States would support and defend the "free government of South Vietnam, in order to "promote democracy and stop Communism." What kind of government did we support or set up in Saigon that was opposed by almost 70 percent of the whole country? Was it also in the interest of democracy to bomb the neutral countries of Cambodia and Laos? Recalling history, it was also the United States who had its foot slammed in the door of a people's revolution in the Bay of Pigs in 1961.

I feel that the motives for these actions are different than what the government has led us to believe. It's built up that the United States is interested in promoting "World Democracy" and the Russians are promoting "World Communism." The fact is, it's not so much a battle of ideologies as it is a battle of economics, resources and world trade. The arms race is crippling the Soviet economy and it is stifling ours as well. The truth is, both superpowers depend on foreign resources and trade to maintain their economies and stabilize their masses.

If one has vast military superiority, then that means more bargaining power for foreign resources through trade. If you don't believe this is true, then why are the United States and the Soviet Union the world's largest suppliers of weapons to underdeveloped or developing nations, who in turn usually have resources of interest to either nation?

If President Reagan is really interested in maintaining a "Free World" through democracy, then why are we sending $93 million to a military government in El Salvador who has in the past three years murdered over 30,000 of its own people, and is opposed by the vast majority of its people?

In a time where unemployment is over 10.8 percent, the government should channel its capital to providing for their own people, and let the people of other nations determine their own fate, just as we did over 200 years ago. The only way we can do this is through progressive legislation.

For thirty years now we've heard conservatives saying, "build up defense, cut social programs for a balanced budget." The trouble with us Americans is we don't learn through history. This philosophy has never worked and is not working right now under President Reagan. We see that the conservatives keep resorting to their cold war rhetoric, playing on Americans' fears of Russians, while engaging in Imperialist conquests to maintain a corner on the world market. "Friendly" nations are the ones who do business with the United States.

Every time we see a progressive movement build up in this country, the conservatives cry out with their cold war rhetoric of "Communist infiltration." Labor unions, the anti-war movement, the anti-nuclear movement and now, the disarmament movement according to the President is a "Communist backed plot by the KGB." President Reagan most likely discredited himself and his reactionary philosophies with such a statement, more than the movement itself.

In these times of obvious economic hardships, we must take a hard look at our own policies and question the obvious: "Are we really benefiting from the arms race?" To those with their eyes open, they know nobody is winning.

Michael A. Ferry is a UMass student

Freedom — not just a word

Freedom is just another word meaning nothing left to lose,
60's protest song

A recent Collegian Editorial has sparked a flurry of debate on whether freedom really exists in America. As one who has had first hand experience in observing freedom as practiced in other parts of this sphere we call earth, notably Southeast Asia, I will be the first to admit that yes, we do have a great amount of freedom in this country — freedom to speak freely, freedom to choose where we will live, and the freedom to unrestrictedly travel to that place — but, I too question; not the fact that freedom exists, it does, at least on paper, (the Bill of Rights). But I do question whether or not the excercise of our freedoms are free.

David B. Miner

Lest one get the impression that I am just a radical leftist, anti-establishment radical taking a swipe at the establishment and the American Way of Life, I would like to point out that I served six years in the Air Force during the Vietnam Conflict (I volunteered), and a year in Southeast Asia (again as a volunteer). I still get a lump in my throat when I hear the National Anthem played or when Old Glory passes in front of me in a parade. Being a free American means a lot to me, and as such I cannot close my eyes to things which could abridge my rights to freely exercise my freedom.

In 1976, while working as a reporter for the Springfield newspapers, I covered one of the rallies at Seabrook. At this rally a document was shown to myself and a reporter from the Boston Globe which was reputed to be a secret white paper written for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), in which it was advocated that, "in the event of the theft or suspected theft of nuclear material, that a wholesale mass arrest of suspects be conducted with the suspension of civil liberties and that the use of torture be employed." This paper was later confirmed by the NRC to be a "working paper."

The question that comes into my mind is who are these suspects, who are to be arrested without warrants no less? Are they listed on some list in some government agency just because they exercised their objection to nuclear power and if they are, does this tend to stifle freedom of speech?

There are precedences for "government hit lists," and they are not confined to the "dark days of Watergate" and the Nixon administration. If one follows and is active in politics, you would know that all politicians keep lists of those who not only worked for and contributed money to their election campaigns, but of those who worked for their position. The staff of the winning poll carefully studies these lists, and those who worked the hardest and contributed the most money are offered the patronage jobs, such as an ambassadorship or the directorship of an agency. Pick up any newspaper and watch the coverage of a Civil Service suit that is currently being heard against the City of Boston, and you'll see.

My question — does this stifle free elections or the freedom of speech? Would this cause someone from speaking out on an issue for fear of losing a good job?

As a loyal American, there is no doubt in my mind that this is a great coutnry, and I would not willingly choose to live in any other country. But it is also my conviction that as long as there are situations where I may have to fear to exercise my freedoms, or freely speak my mind, then I seriously question whether freedom truly exists.

Freedom isn't free
You got to pay the price — sacrifice
For your liberty.
"Freedom Isn't Free" © — Up With People Movement

David B. Miner is a Collegian staff member

Letters

Democracy needs criticism

To the Editor:

In response to David Davidson's (4/28) letter condoning draft registration and the Solomon Amendment, I would like to make six specific points which may well apply to previous letters like his.

Registration is not separate from conscription. There has never been a registration without a draft, and the same is true now. Draft boards have already been established and associated organizations and agencies have been told to prepare for a draft. Registration is a first step to conscription and nothing else.

Conscientious Objection is not necessarily an option. The C.O. process is discriminatory in that in the past, a disproportionately large number of poor and uneducated men have been denied C.O. status. Conscientious Objection is not as simple a solution as many people would like to believe; the objection must be by reason of "religious training and belief" which "does not include essentially political, sociological, or philosophical views, or a merely personal moral code." (Military Selective Service Act Sect. 6(j)).

By not registering for the draft, one is hindering the processes of draft registration and conscription and is not denying Congress the right to any "legal information." Resisting draft registration is obviously resisting the first step in the process of conscription. Furthermore, the information being denied the Selective Service (Congress has nothing to do with it) is not "legal information" in the sense that the Selective Service has any "legal" right to it. In this country of freedom, which Davidson leaps to defend from top to bottom, we are not required to keep the military informed of our name, address, age, social security number, and telephone number.

The route the government has taken in prosecuting non-registrants has not been lenient. The law has many legally and constitutionally questionable aspects which the Selective Service is doing its best to get around. Furthermore, with several million non-registrants on their hands, there is not a lot they can do without stirring up an even greater outcry than there already is.

As for my obligation as a financial aid recipient to reciprocate with military duty, I can only say that when my country's military prowess is put to use in those rare instances when force can be beneficial, when it is no longer a tool for the maintenance of racism, oppression, genocide, and all sorts of other activity repugnant to our own constitution, then and only then will I consider becoming a part. In the meantime, there are better ways in which I can serve my country.

Finally, I would like to remind Davidson that a democracy is dependent on a critical, questioning citizenship, not a complacent flock of sheep who do what they are told obediently and unquestioningly. Were it not for such people as Ed Hasbrouck, the spirit of democracy would quickly diminish, opening the doors to corrupt government and totalitarianism. Without such people, this country would never has achieved the level of democracy it has.

Don Ulin
Northampton

Sound off with your letters to the editor!!

Collegian

Board of Editors

Kevin Bowe	Editor-in-Chief
Ed Levine	Managing Editor
James Shanahan	Production Manager
Joel Myerson	Business Manager
John Hudson	Executive Editor
John DiPalazzo	News Editor
Cris Schuster	Women's Editor
Doug Muise	Arts Editor
Gus Martins	Black Affairs Editor
Billy Shea	Sports Editor
Kevin J. Fachetti	Photo Editor

Open 24 Hours–7 am Mon. thru Sat. Midnite–Sunday 12 Noon to 6 pm
in Hadley-Amherst and Pittsfield stores.

STOP & SHOP

MORE WAYS TO SAVE!

DOUBLE COUPON SAVINGS On Manufacturers' Coupons
Manufacturers' Coupons are more valuable at Stop & Shop because we double your savings. Details in store

EVERYDAY LOW PRICES!
You'll find them all over the store. Plus hundreds of Warehouse Values.

HUNDREDS OF SPECIALS IN OUR CIRCULAR!
Including valuable Stop & Shop Coupons. Check out every page of the circular. It can save you dollars more. Pick one up in the store.

PLUMP PERFECT ROASTER AT A PLEASING PRICE!

Stop & Shop's poultry buyer got you a terrific buy on Frank Perdue's extra meaty fresh roasting chickens!

PERDUE 6-7 LBS. U.S. GRADE A FRESH ROASTING CHICKENS
PERDUE OVEN STUFFERS 59¢ lb

White Gem Legs	.69	Boneless Breasts	2.39
White Gem Wings	.59	Perdue Chicken Legs	.79
White Gem Thighs	.79	Perdue Chicken Wings	.69
Chicken Drumsticks	.89	Boneless Breasts	2.49
Fresh Ducklings	.89	U.S. Grade A Turkeys	.59
Cornish Hens	.99	Butterball Turkeys	.79

FRESH STOP & SHOP PORK. MORE LEAN MEAT FOR YOUR MONEY.

Assorted Pork Chops	lb 1.49
Center Cut Chops	1.89
Sirloin Pork Cutlets	2.29
Countrystyle Ribs	1.49
Pork Loin Roast	1.59
Sirloin Half Pork Roast	1.69
Italian Sausages	1.69
Breakfast Sausages	1.49
Perri Sausages	2.19

STOP & SHOP BEEF IS THE TENDER DELICIOUS CHOICE.

BOTTOM ROUND ROAST $1.79 lb
USDA Choice Beef Round

Boneless Chuck Roast	1.79
Rump Roast	1.99
Boneless Blade Steak	2.39
Boneless Chuck Steak	1.99
Cubed Steak	2.49
Eye Round Roast	2.69
Lean Stewing Beef	1.99

SELF-SERVICE DELI SPECIALS

Meat Franks	.99
Thick Sliced Bacon	2.39

CORNER DELI SPECIALS. In our stores with a service deli

Majesty Ham	2.99
Baby Swiss	1.99

IT'S TIME TO DO THE BEST YOU CAN WITH SPECIAL PRICES ON TOP NAME BRANDS.

Tropicana Chuggers	2.29
Frito Doritos	1.09
Stop & Shop Coffee	1.89
2 Liter Beverage	.69
Taco Shells	.89
Wish-Bone Dressing	.69
Duncan Hines Cake Mix	.79
Vegetables	2 for .89
Ragu Sauce	.79
Geisha Tuna	.79
Marcal Towels	2 for 1
Friskies Buffet	3 for 1

SAVE ON FINE FROZEN FOODS:

Orange Juice	.89
Lender's Bagels	.59
Dinner Classics	2.99
Hendrie's	1.79

SAVE ON FRESH BAKED GOODS:

English Muffins	3 for 1
Big Daisy Bread	2 for .99

SAVE ON FRESH DAIRY FOODS:

Orange Juice	1.09
Cottage Cheese	1.39
Corn Oil Margarine	.89
New Country Yogurt	3 for 1

LUSCIOUS STRAWBERRIES FOR A PIE, SHORTCAKE OR SUNDAES.

FRESH STRAWBERRY PIE $1.99 ea
Fresh ripe strawberries in a graham cracker pie shell, filled with a quart of strawberries

A FULL QUART OF STRAWBERRIES $1.39
Fresh And Ruby Red! Quart

Green Zucchini	.69
Fresh Spinach	.59

WE BRING OUR PRODUCE TO YOU FASTER AND FRESHER.

GREEN BEANS 59¢ lb
Fresh and snappy

Fresh Fruit Gift Tray 7.99 ea.
Perfect Gift For Mother's Day 15 Pieces

Red Emperor or Ribier Grapes 1.99 lb
Sweet & juicy

Green Peppers .59 lb
Great for stuffing too!

STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON — FREE Geisha Chunk Light Tuna C
STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON — FREE Libby's Natural Pack Vegetables C
STOP & SHOP DAIRY COUPON — FREE Buttermilk or Homestyle Biscuits C
STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON — FREE Royal Gelatin C

STOP & SHOP

IT'S TIME TO STOP & SHOP.

Prices effective Sun., May 1 Sat. May 7. In fairness to our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to three packages of any items offered for sale. Not available in case lots or to other dealers or wholesalers. Copyright 1983 by Stop & Shop Supermarkets. Not responsible for typographical errors.

Arts

Wilson Pickett is wicked

Wilson Pickett
Rusty Nail, Sunderland
April 30

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

"One mo time! I saaaid!...One mo time!" shouts a member of the East Coast — West Coast Band horn section as Wilson Pickett walks off stage for the first time.

"One mo time!" he shouted again as the Wicked Pickett, one of the original soul masters of the '60s and '70s, who was a mainstay on record charts for years during that decade, retreats backstage for a second, a third and a fourth time.

And he keeps coming back. Song after song. Soulful. Dynamic. Rhythmical. Sweating. Pulsating. Never stopping. Like the weeks after weeks of endless cross-country touring. Vegas. Philly. D.C. New York. The East Coast — West Coast Band named so only because its members hail from both sides of the country, but because of its more than 10 years together traveling, touring, coming back song after song.

Backstage, Pickett relaxes. He sits in his bathrobe with a beer and talks about how he does it. How he keeps coming back.

"My life is this entertainment," he says. "I've been playing since I was 18. I'm 42 now." But it's the people, he says, that really keep him going.

After all, the people are who make or break a show. A tour. A career. And judging by Pickett's career, from his soul roots to more recent pop and rhythm and blues, his fans have made him a success. The fans in Vegas. Philly. D.C. New York.

But onstage, Pickett moves. He parties. He celebrates humanity — black, white, man, woman. His opening number, an upbeat version of his early Seventies' hit, "In the Midnight Hour," has the crowd on the dance floor moving. Partying. Celebrating that humanity.

"I'm In Love" and "Mustang Sally" bring the audience closer together, higher, into one big dancing soul.

Pickett has been on stage for 45 minutes now. He shows no signs of stopping or even slowing down. "Hey Jude," he sings. There is a roar from the crowd, then a hush as he continues: "Don't make it bad. Take a sad song and make it better..." Pickett does for "Hey Jude" what the Fab Four had only dreamed of. He is soulful. He is moving. He is down on his knees as the song turns to a close, bursting, "Na na na nananana...Hey Jude..."

He leaves the stage. "One mo time," come the shouts.

And he returns. "Funky Broadway." ..."Land of a Thousand Dances." ...

He's off stage now. The crowd disperses but upstairs one can still feel the energy, the magic, the Soul. Wilson Pickett has that magic about him. He carries it with him on stage and off.

"Remember to let it into your heart
Then you can start
To make it better."

Wilson Pickett has it in his own heart and he let it into the hearts of many at the Rusty Nail last Saturday. It doesn't get any better than this. And it doesn't have to.

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

Give 'em what they want!

David Johansen brought his funky music and chic wardrobe (great pic of Marilyn Monroe on the jacket, Davie) to Southwest's barbeque pits yesterday afternoon. The show teetered on the edge of cancellation due to the threat of rain, but when David Jo and company finally took to the stage, electricity crackled through the air. Johansen delivered his seemingly endless string of "greatest hits" with the expected level of energy, craziness, and the usual array of bizarre hats. As for the crowd's reactions — need you ask? Johansen certainly knows that to survive in that big, bad world of rock and roll, you've gotta give the people what they want.

RECYCLING PROJECT
REDEMPTION SERVICE
Beginning: Monday, May 2nd
5¢ Redemption for Soda and Beer

Schedule:
Northeast	Mary Lyons Rec. Rm.	Mon 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Central	Franklin D.C. Lobby	Tues 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Orchard Hill	Webster Main Lobby	Wed 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Southwest	Hampden D.C. Lobby	Thur 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Sylvan	Cashin Rec. Rm.	Fri 4:30 - 6:30 pm
Southwest	Hampden D.C. Lobby	Sat 12:30 - 2:30
Campus Center	Concourse	M & Th 1 - 3 pm

Get your 5¢ back on campus.

Brands accepted: Lists will be posted
SODA - all brands sold in campus vending machines (12 oz cans)
BEER - all major brands (12 oz and 16 oz bottles and cans)

Cans and bottles must be clean and clearly lablelled for MASS Redemption. They can not be crushed or broken in any way. Sorry no plastic.
Questions? Call the Recycling Project 1 - 4 pm 545-0618.

Pilot. The better ball point pen.

When it runs out you won't have to.

The exciting Pilot Ball Point. It's got everything going for it. Smoother writing. Specially designed finger ribbing for continual writing comfort. Stainless steel point. Tungsten carbide ball. Perfectly balanced. A choice of medium or fine points. And best of all...you'll never throw it out.

Just slip in a 39¢ refill and you're ready to write again. So next time your old scratchy scratchy pen runs out, run out and get a 69¢ Pilot Ball Point pen... plus a few refills.

PILOT

whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soup Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small 2 item pizza
Only $4.00

4 FREE VIDEO GAMES
with a purchase of 4 games, for college students present ad plus student ID - 1 coupon per nite, expires May 5th. Signature_____
TUES-WED-or THURS • 6 PM thru 1 AM
Special Bonus on machines at all times (example - Robotron 20 men to start, Joust 12 birds, etc) video games located in
BACK ROOM RECORD & VIDEO SHOP
233 N Pleasant St, in Carriage Shops, near Pub

★Rhetoric Exemption Exam★

The Rhetoric Exemption Exam will be given on:

★WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1983★
6:30 - 8:30 p.m.
BARTLETT 61

The test is open only to students who entered as freshmen prior to Fall 1982 or transfers who will be Juniors before Fall 1984. This is the last time this exam will be given this semester. Bring student I.D. and a pen.

WHICH STUDENT LOAN PAYMENT WILL YOU ENDORSE?

We'd like you to think—just for a few minutes—about something you may not like thinking about: how you're going to pay off your GSL, NDSL or FISL student loans.

Not long after you leave school, you'll have to start making student loan payments. Right now, you may have no idea how much you'll have to pay every month, but it may be more than you will be able to pay. Particularly when you consider that your income will probably be lower at that point than it will ever be again.

Now, for the good news. There's a way for you to reduce those student loan payments dramatically—by up to 50%—in a unique program called OPTIONS.

Loan Category	Typical Old Payment	Typical OPTIONS Payment
$5,001-$7,500	$ 96.00	$ 58.00
$7,501-$11,000	122.00	72.00
$11,001-$15,999	166.00	96.00
$16,000-or more	214.00	123.00

First, figure out how much you'll owe. Do a little mental arithmetic to see how much you're going to owe in GSL, NDSL or FISL loans. Find the closest total on the chart. The next column shows the approximate amount you'll be paying every month. In the last column, you'll see the average OPTIONS payment you could make instead.

It's called OPTIONS because that's what you get! When most lenders set up your payback schedule, they won't ask you how you'd like to do it. They'll just tell you how it's going to be. Period.

OPTIONS is different. With OPTIONS, you decide within broad guidelines what your payments will be, and how long you'll pay.

After you pick your own payment plan, Sallie Mae pays off your existing GSL, NDSL and FISL loans and creates one new, 7%-interest, guaranteed student loan with no prepayment penalty. Working with you, we draw up a payback schedule you can live with, based on one of 3 basic OPTIONS.

OPTION 1 lets you extend the payback period and make lower, unchanging payments.

OPTION 2 also gives you more time, but features payments that start out very low and then gradually rise—like your income. OPTION 3 gives you graduated payments too, but lets you pay the loan off faster.

Learn more about OPTIONS now, so you'll be prepared when the time comes. We urge you to start planning now for that day when you endorse that first student loan payment.

Sallie Mae—a private corporation chartered by act of Congress in 1972 to make it easier for lenders to provide student loans—is now authorized to make student loans easier to pay off.

Ask your school's financial aid office about Sallie Mae and its OPTIONS program. Or, for a free brochure, fill out and return the coupon.

Name
Address
City
State Zip

Mail to: Student Loan Marketing Association, OPTIONS, 1050 Thomas Jefferson St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007.

SallieMae
OPTIONS

1983 Student Loan Marketing Association

Hypercurricula

POLITICAL CHANGE IN THE CARIBBEAN — Elsworth Young, Industrial Relations Officer — Caribbean Community Secretariat will speak on "The Labor Movement, Social Agitation and Political Change in the Commonwealth Caribbean: 1935-45." 10:30 a.m., CC rm. 805-809.

THE CHOICE IS YOURS! — Slide show presentation describing many OXFAM projects worldwide. The UMass Hunger Task Force invites anyone interested in learning more about world hunger and what is being done about it to attend. 4 p.m., 428 Student Union.

MEN INTERESTED IN CHEERLEADING — All men interested in cheering for varsity football/basketball are encouraged to attend this meeting. Come prepared to work out and have fun! For information call Bill 549-6447. 4 p.m., Boyden Field (rain — Boyden Gym).

NATIVE AMERICAN SOCIAL — Open to everyone, a chance for Native Americans to meet, socialize and discuss relelevant issues over free food. Discuss revival of American Indian Student Association, etc. 4-6 p.m., Melville House lounge.

UMASS HUNGER TASK FORCE — will facilitate discussions of food, agriculture, health and related topics with People's Market members. 6-8 p.m., 428 Student Union.

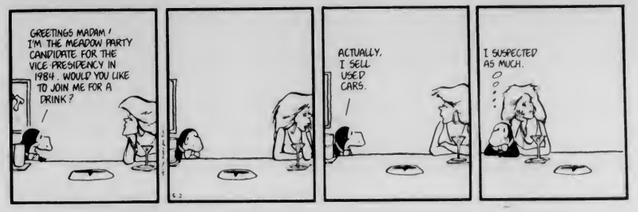
ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION MEETING — If you care about animals, come to the meeting. All are welcome. We have letters to congressmen protesting cruelty to animals. For more information, call 546-4789. 6 p.m., room 174 Campus Center.

HILLEL COUNCIL — All welcome. The Hillel Council is the major decision-making body of the organization. 6 p.m., S.U. 310, Dukes Room.

CONCERT: FACULTY WINWOOD QUINTET — Featuring artists Joanne Tanner, flute; Charles Lehrer, oboe; Michael Sussman, clarinet; Laura Klock, horn; and Frank Morelli, bassoon. Guest artist will be trumpeter Walter Chesnut. They will perform works by Darius Milhaud, Anton Reicha, and Music Department Head Charles Bestor. Free. 8 p.m., Bezanson Recital Hall.

WOMEN'S ISSUES TEAM — The team will hold an evaluative meeting and decide on goals for the summer and fall. Everybody is welcome! 6:30 p.m., C.C. 802.

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

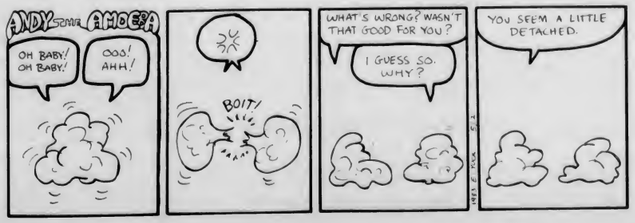


The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall By R. Miller



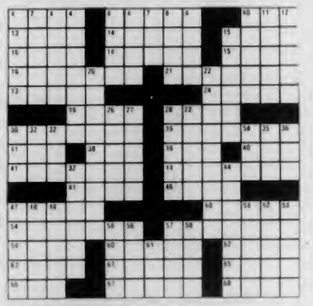
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

©1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Meadowlands
5 —— frutti
10 Marble
13 Odium
14 Vocally
15 Annoy
16 —— boy!
17 Dromedary's relative
18 Della's creator
19 Denizen of the Atlantic
21 Lobster, for example
23 Island in Firth of Clyde
24 Antiquated
25 Bismarck's home: Abbr
28 Straw in the wind
30 Part of a Briton's day
33 Biting
37 Vacationer's choice
38 Port on Malabar Coast
39 Biblical lion
40 One of the Grants
41 Change dollars to pounds
43 "Pale —— offerings": "Macbeth"
45 Agnes, Spanish style
46 King
47 Mexican of old
50 Carpenter's needs
54 Beach sight
57 Historic salt lake
59 Shop sign
60 Cap feature
62 Those, in Seville
63 Axillary
64 Stage direction
65 Paul of film fame
66 Writer's output
67 Brands
68 Spotted

DOWN
1 City in Tibet
2 Restaurant habitue
3 —— of roses
4 Putty, e.g.
5 Tijuana treat
6 —— Bator
7 Piper's son
8 Calendar: abbr.
9 Tick over
10 Amateurs: Var.
11 Deal out
12 Like some gardens
15 Pay what is due
20 Need
22 Revolutionary antiques
26 Con ——, tenderly
27 English poet
28 City on the Missouri
29 Haute cuisine mushroom
30 Sound from an alarm
31 J'sn., in Madrid
32 —— Arbor
34 Choice: Abbr.
35 Formerly called
36 Thine, in Paris
42 House hunter
44 Chaplets
47 State of NE India
48 Enthusiasms
49 Argentine timber trees
51 Publish
52 Sierra ——
53 Black buck
55 First lady and others
56 Companion of wine
57 Busy one
58 Strays
61 Amtrak stop



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

P	R	O	B	E	S	L	O	U	T	A	D	S
R	O	N	E	Y		R	E	L	I	A	B	L	E
I	N	T	H	E		F	A	S	T	P	L	A	C	E
M	O	M	A			F	I	N	A	L		T	O	R
S	S	E	T			L	O	W		C	A	R	E	E
R	O	A	D	S		P	I	C	K		A	N	D	I
I	L	L		M	E	A	K		I	D	O
C	A	P	O	T		G	A	L	E	S		S	O	N
		R	A	S	P		T	O	M	S		U	N	O
B	E	T	Y		A	S	P		E	S	K	E	R
A	V	E		P	A	C	K	E	N		P	I	S	A
L	I	S	S	O	M	E		M	A	R	Y
L		S	E	D	U	N	O		T	E	A	S	T
S		J	A	S	U	S		L	A	K	M	E
D	Y	E	R		C	I	C	L	E		O	D	I	U	M

WEATHER

Mostly cloudy today. Chance of a few showers tomorrow. Fair Wednesday. Daytime highs in the 50s to low 60s today. 60s tomorrow and Wednesday. Overnight lows in the 30s tonight.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH:
Royal Zucchini
Beef Parmesan
Grilled Ham and Cheese Sandwich

DINNER:
Oriental Stew
Fish Fry/Tartar Sauce
Cheese and Egg
Cold Plate

BASICS LUNCH:
Garden Chili
Grilled Cheese on Wheatberry

BASICS DINNER:
Mexican Vegetable Bake
Fish Fry/Tartar Sauce

Handicapping the 1984 Presidential race with Boston Globe editors, columnists and writers, 8 p.m., tonight in Room 163 CC.

All Collegian Staff are welcome to talk with some of the Globe editors at 3:30 today in the Collegian Business office.

Football has spring game

By RUSS WHINNEM
Collegian Staff

In a game that Mike Favreau established himself as a linebacker, Jim Simeone confirmed himself as a quarterback, and Mark Tabor impressed a lot of people, the Red squad withstood a last ditch rally and held off their White counterparts 21-18, Saturday, in the annual Spring football game.

The contest had its outcome seemingly sewed up until the Tabor-led White team made a run with less than five minutes left, down 21-10.

After steadily moving the ball upfield, Tabor hit Paul Walsh for 24 yards to the Red five, and minutes later he hooked up with Kevin Jackson for the score, with 1:01 showing on the clock. When Tabor found Gary Freker in the end zone on the two point conversion, it was 21-18.

Tabor had one more shot with 34 seconds left. However, a holding call proved fatal to the Whites and a Mike Dwyer sack of Tabor ended the game.

Afterwards, coach Bob Pickett was all smiles. "I thought our execution was good considering we've only had twelve practices," he said. "We threw the ball reasonably well and caught it reasonably well."

One of those throwing well was Tabor, who despite tossing three interceptions, compiled 188 yards through the air with one touch down, while constantly working under heavy pressure.

The beginning of the game was the Simeone show. He began quickly, and on the second play from scrimmage hit John Jefferies for fifty one yards to the White 13, before Rich Jenkins jumped over from the two.

Less than three minutes later Simeone was at it again. First he found Jenkins for 18, then hit Rick Garcia for another 12, before finally taking a broken play and weaving his way untouched for a 34 yard score. Brother Bob Simeone again placed it through the uprights for a 14-0 lead.

Favreau, meanwhile, chose the second quarter to prove some things. With seven minutes to go in the half, he picked off a Tabor aireal at the White 20, returning it to the 3. Then, with forty-four seconds left, he grabbed another, returning it inside the 40.

★softball

Continued from page 12

really whacked the ball (especially against URI), but we couldn't push the runs across."

The Minutewomen just couldn't finish the job. In all three games, UMass outhit their opponents. They also left more baserunners (22 total for the weekend) stranded than their opponents. And coupled with a few defensive errors, it was a tough weekend for UM.

Against Penn St., the Nittany Lions put together a single, double and triple off of Cathy Reed to take a 2-0 lead in the second. They added one more run in the third for a 3-0 bulge.

The closest UM got was when they loaded the bases with two outs in the fifth, but Chris Coughlin popped to first. UM also left runners on third twice. Relief pitcher Lynn Stockley shut down PSU (6 k's, no hits), but UM left 10 on base.

The Minutewomen disposed of Temple 3-1 and earned them a shot at URI. Two Stockley walks against the Rams came back to haunt her as they scored.

UMass rallied in the fifth tying the score as Debbie Pickett singled plating Missy Oman. URI responded with a two run triple to right in their half of the fifth, and UMass had to rally again.

In the sixth, Talbott led off and singled to right followed by Gaw's triple to right making the score 3-2. Sally Maher sent a shot to second and her throw nailed Gaw at the plate in a controversial play. Coughlin walked but UM couldn't score again.

In the seventh, Rioux got on with a fielder's choice and Talbott singled before Gaw popped up.

UMass, who has lost four of their last seven, is now 23-8 and have dim hopes for the Northeast playoff bid. Rutgers and URI have the edge over UM.

"You have to go out and make your own breaks," said Sortino. "If we had beaten URI, we would've been in good shape."

★men's lacrosse

Continued from page 12

The top offensive outputs by the Gorillas have been at the confines of Boyden Field, an 11-4 season opening win over Hobart College and a 14-13 loss to Rutgers University.

The Gorillas will return to the pleasant surrounding of Boyden Field and the always influential Boyden Hill crowd Tuesday when they host the number one ranked team in New England, Dartmouth, at 3 p.m..

Syracuse, the number three ranked team in the nation and Maryland, the number seven ranked team in the country, follow Dartmouth Friday and Sunday, respectively.

COLLEGE GRADS
COMPLETE TRAINING PROVIDED FOR ALL POSITIONS

PILOTS
$19,000 start. 20/20 vision. All majors. 19-28 yrs old.

AVIATION
SYSTEMS MANAGERS
$19,000, all majors, 19-28 years old, 20/20 not required

MANAGERS
$17,800 start. Ship handling and ship management. All majors, 19-34 years old, 20/20 vision not regd.

MANAGERS
$17,800 start. Finance, Personnel, Logistics. Business majors preferred. 19-34 years old, 20/20 vision not required.

ENGINEERS
$22,800 start plus bonus. Project management. R & D operating engineers. Engineering, science, or technical majors. 19-27 years old. Some positions up to $40,000 in four years.

All positions feature excellent promotion potential. Raises to over $28,000 in four years. Excellent benefits. Written test and physical examination required. U.S. Citizens only. No obligation interview. Call collect: NAVY MANAGEMENT PROGRAMS
(518) 462-6119

IMPROVE STUDY HABITS
IMPROVE SPORTS ABILITY
HYPNOSIS CAN HELP YOU MAKE IT PERMANENT
Many of our clients are doctor referrals.
OVERCOME ANXIETIES, FEARS & PHOBIAS
Lose Weight• Stop Smoking • Insomnia • Nail Biting
Self Confidence • Sexual Problems •
HAMPSHIRE ETHICAL
HYPNOSIS CENTER
Milton H. Askinoss, Member A.A.E.H.
Available Lectura Demonstrations
Call or Write for Free Brochure
The Farrick Building, Rte. 9, Hadley, Ma.
3/10 mile Hampshire Mall (next to Rocky's Hardware)
584-1919 by Appt. Only

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free
Delivery
256-8587

Looking for a meaningful
SUMMER JOB
Massachusetts Fair Share
The country's largest statewide citizen action organization
Has full time and summer openings for fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building to shape hazardous waste, energy, and other policies in this state.
Hours 1:30 - 9:30 pm, pay: $175 - $225 average per week and benefits. Will train.
Call: 586-8713,
9 AM - 1:30 PM
Mon - Fri for Western Mass.
For work in Boston Area call:
1-800-952-7478

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

1980 Chevy Monza, 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 256-6612

72 VW Van runs great! Must see $1100.00 549-5631

Toyota Truck 1976 excellent mechical condition, new tires, brakes. $1200 268-3216

Saab 99E 1970 mechanically new, no rust needs minor body work $2500 549-6861 BJ after 5:00

350 Nove great engine good body a steal at $650 549-1278

1977 Fiat 128 excellent condition, good gas mileage. $1500 549-0056 evenings

75 Chevy Suburban rust, dents but runs excellent with long future BO Mitch 256-6712

3 BEDROOM $330.00/MO

3 bedroom in Sunderland on bus route 330.00/mo with fall option 665-3240

BROTHERS

of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity welcome all males attending UMass as an undergraduate to an Open Rush at our home on 374 N. Pleasant St. and Fearing St. The big blue house on the way to town. Come down, have a beer with us and find out what we're all about. Wed. May 4 8:30 to 11 PM 545-0244

CAPE COD RENTAL

Quiet couple seeks another couple to share cottage in So. Orleans. Close to Chatham, Brewster, Harwich. 6/1-9/26 Call after 7 567-8478

CONFIDENTIAL HERPES RESEARCH

Psychology Graduate Student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm. Thanks!

ENTERTAINMENT

Reckadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FOR RENT

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

To sublet for summer w/fall option 4 bdrm apt on bus rt. Apt will be semi-furnished and is in good location rent negot. Call 253-2605 ask for Pete

2 bdrm summer sub with fall option full apt $200. on bus route Jeniffer 256-6887

Brandywine one bedroom apt A/C, dishwasher, disposal, WW, on bus route avail. June 1 - Sept 1 very nicely furn 320/month 549-0450

1 bedroom Brandywine summer sublet w/fall option, AC, dishwasher, disposal 549-0781

We're looking for a 3 bedroom apartment for September. Call anytime, day or night. Ask for Mike, Mike or Bill. Phone 256-0543

Come to Cape Cod this summer. reasonable rates: Seamist Lodge, 174 Main St Box 342, Hyannis, MA 02601, 1-617-771-8423

Chic, cheap, apt for sumemr rent 275 + 2 br, on bus route 253-9389

STUDENT HOUSING Chi Rho welcome applications from single grads and undergrads including freshmen and sophomores. Contact First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian ministry house call 549-3596 or 256-6691

One bedroom in Puffton apartment Fall option 549-0837

Rent great Brandywine Apt for summer possible fall option - cheap! 549-1463

Colonial Village summer sublet w/fall option 2 bedroom $295/mo 256-0556

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Airtight woodstove excellent condition $325 call Margaret at 549-6633

2 brand new Panasonic speakars $80 or best offer lauren 6-8392

Full size bed, bookshelf, stereo call for prices 549-0056 evening

Titleist Woods, beautiful cond, 1, 3, 4, 5 $90.00 call Tony 256-6863

Brand new, never been ridden. Must sell immediately call Rob 586-5424

Sanyo AM-FM stereo, 8 track built in turntable 75. Dave 546-5359

Refrigerator - dorm size Kenmore, used 2 semesters $80 546-4016

Tires ★4★ 185/80R13 all season radials will mount-spin balance-new valves 30,000 mile/36 month ★ guarantee ★ 586-2544

FOUND

Found woman's watch in 221 MRST. Call Bill at 6-4342

HELLUVA BARGAIN

Townhouse summer sublet 3 bdrm, AC, extremely negotiable call 546-6667 or 546-5204

HELP WANTED

Employment Opportunities part time/nights available for Spring/Summer/Fall for qualified Juniors, Sophmores and Graduate Students in University Alumni Telephone Solicitation program. $4.00 plus an hr. People with sales and/or telemarketing experience are encouraged to apply at Telefund Offica Memorial Hall

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

Collegian Drivers' positions available for fall '83. Must have car, morning hours free. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Looking for experienced restaurant help for Cape restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

Worcester Area - Full or part time work phys-ed graduate. Boys and girls gymnastics. Resume to Box #2 Cherry Valley, Mass 01611

Cruise Ship Jobs! Great income potential, all occupations. For information call: 602-837-3401 ext 833

Wanted work-study and non work-study assistants to SGA Co-Presidents. Jobs involve research and advocacy around social and educational issues. Skills in related areas, ability to type, and general office skills helpful. Pickup applications in Rm 406E Student Union Building. Applications due May 13. For more information call 545-0341. The SGA is an affirmative action employer

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate psychology student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. if you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 PM

LOST

$25 REWARD dk. blue "Adventuregear" down jacket. Lost Friday - 22nd on Campus desperate - Lance, 317JFK, 6-7639

Glasses in orange case 546-7246 Rita in Evenings.

Plestic covered noteped 4/28 Goodell 6th floor. Useless to anyone but me. Reward! Please call 665-2579

Macroeconomics book on NEAG bus to NYC on April 23 call 6-9374

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 1980 750K 7000 miles garage kept new Dunlop tires complete tune-up xtras $1800 or BO 253-9376

PENTHOUSE FOR RENT

Looking for a couple only to share a beautiful co-op house 1 block away from campus and Amherst Ctr. There are four of us in the house now --- 2 males 2 females. Entire third floor is available for $225/month starting June 1. Includes private bathroom! Call soon, 549-6550

PERSONALS

Muffy Von Abrahem It's been great rooming with you. Best of luck to you, Krista, Lynn, and Stace on Townehouse Love Deb

LEAH B I LOVE YOU!!! Scott

Donna S Happy 20th!! Love, Diane, Sue, and Judy

Lisa you are the best friend and roommate a Uman could evah have Happy Birthday Amy

Free trained Lesbian/Gay Paer Counseling referral MTuThF 4-9 pm 433SU 545-2645

Craig: 2 years that's incredible. Happy Anniversary love Sandy

Danisa, Happy 20th Birthday! Now we can go dancing and drinking! Congratulations, Love Tom

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

RICK MUNROE

URGENT you call me keep trying collect O.K. Ruth.

RIDE WANTED

Ride needed to Colorado - Denver Area after finals! Will share driving & $ call Gary 546-6027

ROOMMATES WANTED

Famale roommate wanted for Brittany Manor Apt fall semester call 6-5237 or 6-5243

Available now. One room in house, only one mile to campus, on bus route, large yard with nice view 150 253-3362

One Famale for two bedroom Southwood Apartment 253-7845

2 People to share large bedroom in 3 bedroom Townehouse apt for fall call Immediately Shari 6-9623 Sheryl 6-9680.

Brittany Manor - female for own bedroom in 2 bedroom apt starting September - Lisa 253-3568

Two responsible famales to share Brandywine Apt starts June 1st 549-1463

3 roommates needed - summer sublet w/fall option in Brittany Manor 256-8388

SERVICES

Fast accurate typing $1.50/page Leslea 584-3433

Typing Fast - Reliable $1/pg IBM Selectric call Nancy 549-1642

SUMMER RENTALS

The ideal place: centrally located on campus, everything and more included $250. for singles, $150. for double's for the full summer. Call Glenn S. at 545-0047 or 545-2150

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm fully furnished townhouse Southwood apt on bus rt, swim pool, rent negotiable call 253-3810

Townehouse Apt - 3 bedroom - summer sublet fully furnished - AC - cable call anytime 549-3843

Female wanted to summer sublet Brandywine room. For more information 549-0425

2 bedroom apt June 1 - August 31 Downtown Amherst $285.00/mo 256-8539

Beautiful 3 bdrm Townehouse for summer sublet. Please call 549-1215

2 bdrm apt Amherst Canter $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

Cheap cheap rent for a 3 bdrm townehouse apt fully furnished call 549-1833/549-3853

One bedroom in Southwood apartment non-smoking female fall option rent negotiable 256-0769

Cool, light efficiancy apertment, furnished, Triangle St., Amherst, rent negotiable, 549-0457 or 545-0854

Puffton Village summer sublet one or two rooms $100 Jay 549-5921

Spacious Squire Apt balcony, walk-in closets, cable, bus route, $360 665-2998 fall option

July and August only. 3 bedroom apt. Amherst center. 3 min to Pub rent negot call 546-9027

Summer sublet fall option 76 Chestnut St, Amherst. easy walk to campus. Available June 1. Call 549-4127 ask for JIm. 150 + per month

Summer sublet Colonial Village one bedroom $225/mth call Tom 256-6659

One bedroom apt w/fall option, AC, pool, tennis, on bus route, $225/month utilities included 665-2538

Brandywine summer sublet 2 bdrm furnished rent neg 549-6440 AC pool

Beautiful large 3 bedroom apt in house Amherst Center excellent location June - Sept 1 $400/month call now 253-2169

4 bedroom Squira Villaga June thru August fall/option bus route 550/month 665-3686 Tom

Summer sublat/fall option 2 bedroom Northwood Apts. Hot water incl. On bus route. Pool. $200/month neg. Call evenings or before 9:30 AM 665-2939

One bedroom in five bedroom house. Two blocks from UMass $155 545-0794 w/fall option

Two bedroom apt available in Brandywine June to Sept price negotiable call Jennifer 546-5390

w/fall option space available in Colonial Vil apt rent negotiable call 253-7662 after 5

TOWNHOUSE APT 3 bdrm, furnished, rent negotiable call Mike 546-4229 or Rich 256-6041

Puffton Villaga 1 bdrm in a 3 bdrm apt summer sublet fall option 549-4791

Summer sublat/fall option 1 bed in 2 bed Brittany manor apt 256-0298

2 bedroom Cliffside Apt $285 month includes nice big POOL, tennis courts playing fields all utilities 665-4644

Colonial Village one bdrm., pool, laundry, bus rte. rent negot. 256-0179.

TO MY BAD BOY

Happy Birthday! I'm glad that I'm with you to share this day and other memories! I love you - Snuggle Bumps!

TO SUBLET

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet with fall option. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Squire Village townhouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380 + 665-4886

25+ 2 rooms in house on campus 549-4080

One bedroom apt Presidential Apts furnished air conditioned June - Sept 549-0127

3 bdrm apt available 115 neg utilities incl fall opt 253-9753

1 bdrm Puffton Vil for 1 or 2 people good rate call 549-5920

One bedroom apt summer sublat fall opt bus pool Cliffside rent negotiable 665-3960 or 549-6499

Townehouse of Amherst 2 bdrm fully furnished, aircond, cable, 30 yds to busstop call 549-6960

1 bdrm Colonial Village avail July 1 fall option $245 + call 253-3703

Room in Amherst Center for summer sublet $125/month utilities included 253-7396

Two badrooms in four bedroom apt summer sublet/whole apartment fall option 253-2052

One bedroom in apt. bus routem center of Amherst, summer sublet w/fall option $150/ + call Jody 256-8407

Sunderland 2 bedroom apt on bus route available June 1 w/fall option 325 call 665-7552

2 bedroom apartment in Northwood air conditioner, small garden plot asking $310 but price negotiable call Mir, Lisa, Julia evenings 665-4793

Three bedroom Puffton closest unit to campus, $95/month possible fall option 546-5511 or 549-5685

3 bdrm Townehouse Apt fully furnished air conditioned close to campus 549-5848

Free summer rent 10 month lease Brittany Manor 256-0129 Pete etc

Two bedroom apartment in Cliffside pool, tennis call 665-4953 negotiable

$310 Brandywine two bedroom fall option Dave 546-8730 call Monday and Tuesday

3 bedroom $335/mo Northwood bus route pool avail June 1 or July 1 665-7783 fall opt

3 bedroom apt furnished June 1 - Sept 1 $296/mo call 549-4047

TO SUBLET W/FALL OPTION

Practically brend new Brittany Menor 2 bedroom apartment - all applicances are new and in excellent working condition, new wall to wall carpeting, free heat, pool call 256-0391, rent is negotiable

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Students interested in getting money for school expenses 665-3482

WANTED TO BUY

Wanted: Welding skills & practices. Will buy or rent call Jon at 546-9328

WANTED TO RENT

Two students want house and roommates or just room in Hyannis or Yarmouth. Have money. Dan 253-2071, 256-8785

4 room apartment, long term, starting 6/1. 1 - 2 bedroom, no complexes. Single non-student, references. Fred 253-9684

Wanted 1 bedroom in house or apt for fall will take summer option, if necessary call Laurie 546-5407 after 10:30 pm

Wanted bdrm or apt in Brandywine for summer sublet w/fall option please call 546-7928

ZIMBABWE!

Katanga! Happy Birthday Peregrine! No party stopper here! Much love, Marce

Sports

More sports on page 10

Gazelles tie Temple 4-4, pound NW

UM hot, unbeaten in last ten

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

It was a tough going but relatively successful weekend for the University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team as they tied number one ranked Temple University 4-4, and defeated number ten ranked Northwestern University 7-4.

In the Temple game on Friday afternoon, the Lady Owls broke out on top 16 seconds into the game, but Pam Moryl tied it up for the Gazelles about ten minutes later, with a free shot in front of the net. Temple took a 2-1 lead about two and a half minutes later, but the rest of the half belonged to UMass.

Linda Haytayan once again tied it for the Gazelles 20 minutes after the opening goal, as she too scored off a free shot. Then Moryl (who was roughed up all day but still played very well) put the stickwomen ahead for the first time as she stole a pass in front of the Temple net and put it in.

Forty-nine seconds later Tish Stevens scored a backhand goal off a nice feed from Bunny Forbes in what was to be the Gazelles last goal of the afternoon as they went into halftime with a 4-2 lead.

The second half became a midfield struggle as both teams played hard, but it was Temple who got the breaks as they scored two goals within 1:19 to tie the game. Goalie Rita Hubner withstood a great deal of Lady Owl pressure. It was an exciting game to the end, but UMass had to settle for a 4-4 tie. There is no overtime period in women's lacrosse.

"It was a physically tough game, but both teams played well. We had our chances, but took some weak shots. It was the best game for us. The defense only gave up four goals which is great. If we keep playing like this, we should keep winning," said coach Pam Hixon.

Saturday afternoon's contest with Northwestern was played under a more relaxed atmosphere. Moryl once again opened the scoring at the 3:00 mark off another free shot. Sue Kosloski put the laxwomen up 2-0 as she picked up a loose ball in front and scored. Moryl then set up Stevens for a running goal, to put them up 3-0, but Northwestern (NW) came back 11 seconds later to close out the scoring in the first half at 3-1.

Haytayan and Linda Bevelander both scored off free shots to open the second half and push UMass to a 5-1 lead. NW began to set up their offense and scored on a shot that trickled past Hubner to cut the lead to 5-2. Kosloski, though, scored again off a Moryl pass, and UMass once again had a four goal lead.

NW put on pressure and came up with another goal off of a scramble in front of Hubner to make it 6-3 with under four minutes left, but Bunny Forbes scored the nicest goal of the game as she executed a beautiful give and go with Kosloski to ice the game with less than two minutes to go.

NW scored once more to make it 7-4, and gave the stickwomen a scare as an open shot from in front hit the top of the crossbar and bounded away and UMass came up with their tenth victory.

"It was not one of our better games. The second game is always difficult and we had an emotional letdown after Temple. They surprised us with a zone. We didn't adjust to things too well, but we did play well enough to win," said Hixon.

The laxwomen now boast a 10-1-1 record with a ten game unbeaten streak. They will rest a few days before going back into practice to prepare for their upcoming match Wednesday as they host Northeastern University.

Collegian photo by Nick Moudios

Northwestern's Maritoni Derecho closes in on Sue Kosloski in Saturday's UMass win at NOPE.

Baseball sweeps NH, moves over .500 mark

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

DURHAM, N.H. — In recent weeks, the University of Massachusetts baseball team has looked like the twin brother of the Houston Astros. You know, good pitch-no hit. Hey, with a team batting average of .235, they certainly haven't been (Coach Dick) Bergquist's Bashers.

But thanks to superb pitching (five shutouts in two weeks), the Minutemen have won 12 of the last 15. On Saturday, against the University of New Hampshire, the hitters graciously said "Thank you,' banging out 21 hits in a doubleheader sweep of the Wildcats, 11-2 and 3-2, which raised UMass' record over the .500 mark for the first time this season (14-13) and to 7-4 in the ECAC New England Baseball Conference.

"We've come on really nicely at the right time," said Bergquist. "We seem to be playing well just when we need it. It's better to play well the last two, three weeks than early in the season (On April 4 UMass was 2-10). So, we have done well and hopefully it will continue."

In the second game Saturday, undoubtedly the most exciting and wackiest this season, freshman pitcher Bob Kostro (4-3) was the main man for UMass, limiting the Wildcats to seven hits in the extra-inning contest and pitching out of several jams in the later innings.

UMass scored the winning run in the ninth with a bunt single by Steve Messina, a bloop single by leadoff hitter Dean Bennett and an error by wildcat first baseman Jeff Stohrer on a cue shot by Bruce Emerson, enabling Messina to score.

Kostro had forced the game beyond regulation when, in the seventh, Walt Pohle on second after singling and advancing on a groundout, he blew three straight strikes by Bob Connor after falling behind 3-0.

"I expected Bob Kostro to be one of our top pitchers from the first time I saw him. I think he can be a blue-chip pitcher," said Bergquist.

In the UMass romp in the first game, Angelo Salustri gave the Minutemen all the runs they would need with a three-run homer.

After UMass scored two more runs in the third, Todd Comean launched a rocket over the 356 sign in left-center for a two-run homer, making it 8-2. UMass scored a single run in the fifth and two more in the sixth to enable winning pitcher Tony Presnal (5-1) and reliever Jim Gallagher to coast home.

This most successful of weekends started Friday night for the Minutemen as winless senior hurler Dave Valdanbrini blanked Springfield College 3-0 under the lights in Holyoke's Mackenzie stadium.

Valdanbrini was masterful en route to his one-hit shoutout. His fastball was particularly effective.

"I felt so good with my fastball, it was moving well. The catcher (Dan Clifford) did a great job of setting up pitches," said a happy Valdanbrini.

UMass got all the runs they would need off of Springfield starter Lee Rywalt in the first inning when slugger Chris Waszczuk hit a triple that was lost in the lights to knock in Tod Comeau, who had walked. It was Waz's 30 RBI of the year. (The UMass record is 37 held by Bob Hansen.)

Dean Bennett knocked in a run in the top of the fifth inning and then scored in the eighth on a Comeau single to account for the final tally of 3-0.

Gorillas shot down by Army, drop 9-4 decision

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

To faithful Gorilla watchers, explanations of Gorilla losses must sound like a broken record.

But, the Season of Frustration, with, as UMass head coach Dick Garber says, a capital "F," continued this weekend when the Gorillas gave the fifth ranked Cadets of Army a scare before finally dropping a 9-4 decision.

As Garber pointed out, the final score doesn't justify the performance of the Gorillas, who carried out Garber's game plan to the "T."

"Early in the week we talked about slowing the ball down because we realized we couldn't run with them the entire game. Nobody in the country can," said Garber, who saw his team's record drop to 3-7, and end a four game road trip with a 1-3 record.

The Gorillas controlled the tempo early, jumping out to a 2-0 lead on goals by midfielders Peter Martino (2 goals) and Rich Messina. The Gorillas knew the potent Army attack couldn't score if they didn't have the ball, but the Cadets still managed to knot the score at 2-2 at the end of the first period.

The second period started out shaky for UMass when Army scored three quick goals, one a riotly disputed goal that Garber claimed bounced through the side of the net, but the referee saw it as a goal and UMass was down 5-2 midway through the period.

But Martino and tri-captain Timmy Cutler scored for the Gorillas before the half ended and the Gorillas went into the lockeroom down 5-4.

"We were in the position we wanted to be in at the half," said Garber. "We wanted to be one up or one down. We were in good shape."

The Gorillas played a strong third quarter but couldn't find the net and the Cadets opened up a 6-4 lead after three periods. The Gorilla "D," led by tri-captain John Mincone, sophomore Barry Cain, freshman Tom Aldrich and senior Brad Broadwell, held the Cadets in check the first three periods while senior Chris Benedetto played en exceptional game in net.

But in the fourth quarter, like so many games before, the Gorillas simply couldn't find the net. Army scored on a broken play with nine minutes left to lead 7-4 and the Gorillas abandoned the slowdown strategy, started chasing the ball and left themselves vulnerable to the explosive Army attack.

But, the problem the Gorillas have had to deal with all season, poor shooting, haunted them again. Several Gorilla shots hit the pipe (goalpost) and bounced away.

"What it boils down to," says Garber, "is we don't have the shooters we've had in the past. We don't have a Jimmy Weller or a Brook Sweet to put the ball in the net."

Continued on page 10

Softball loses to Penn St. URI, finish 4th in Atlantic 10

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

UNIVERSITY PARK, Penn. — Down 3-2 with two outs and two runners on in the top of the seventh in the consolation bracket of the double elimination Atlantic 10 softball tournament, who would you want to be at bat if you were the University of Massachusetts softball team?

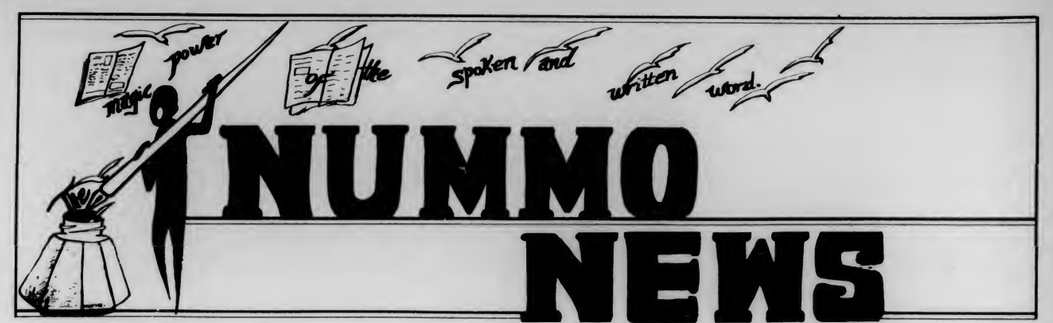
Of course, All-American catcher Jackie Gaw would be the one.

Gaw was the batter in Saturday's game with top-seeded Rhode Island and a loss would end the tournament for one team. UMass had fought back from 1-0 and 3-1 deficits and now with Allyson Rioux and Beth Talbott on first and second, UMass was rallying. But just like poor Carl Yastrzemski's foul pop to Graig Nettles in 1978, Gaw popped it into foul territory and URI had beaten down the Minutewomen.

The Minutewomen finished a disappointing fourth. UMass fell to 3rd seeded Penn State in the first round 3-0, rebounded to topple Temple 3-1, but lost in the second round consolations to URI, 3-2.

"We were missing key hits at the right time," said a dejected head coach Elaine Sortino. "With our backs to the wall, we

Continued on page 10



Monday, May 2, 1983 VOLUME 11 ISSUE 82

NUMMO News' ONLY connection with the Massachusetts Daily Collegian is for the purpose of distribution.

Latin America refutes Reagan

"Mr. Reagan...has lied to the American people", said Maria Menenses of "Casa Nicaragua", the Nicaraguan representative for Latin American Week's "Women In Struggle" panel. "Where my people (are, they) don't know about East/West conflict", stated America Ugarte from "Women for Quatemala" representing Quatemala. "Quatemala was the center" of the original Spanish invasion and oppression", she continued. "The history of Central America has been (related) before the Soviet Union was a country."

"It is very true that the women's struggle in ttis country is very different from the women's struggle in South America", said the representative for El Salvador, Quadalupe Gonzalez of the Democratic Revolutionary Front. Women were already integrated into the work force picking cotton, coffee beans and sugar cane, she explained. "In the last 50 years" factory women workers "have been making strikes and were supported by women of the community."

"Right now," she told the audience, "the challenge is to change the government. Women want to be in organizations that will take power; they want to be a part of the organizations making policies of the new government. The best way is through the FMLN and FDR."

The Guatemalan representative said, "We can't see our struggle of women separated from the context of the Quatemalan struggle, with our men, to have better housing, better food..."

Speaking about the situation for women in her country, she said that in all sectors of society there is sexist discrimination. "Women are the most oppressed: tortured, raped, murdered. Our only choice left (is) direct participation." She stated that "Women participate on all levels: political, military, (even) with rifles; doctors, nurses, secretaries." She continued, "We know it (- the position of women and all the people) can only be changed through revolution."

"The situation of women in Nicaraguan is similar to those in Quatemala and El Salvador," said the Nicaraguan representative." "Only the popular Sandinista revolution has opened doors for women (in our country) to take their rightful place in the society," in deciding and making history.

She affirmed the statement, "Women have always been present in the struggle of our country" by citing numerous examples of organizing women of her country had done. She related how fundamental the Nicaraguan women were in building the foundations of a new society: creating programs, initiating schools.

The women of Nicaragua continue to play a key role in the development and progress of the country, she told the audience; she noted that they have a particularly prominent role in the health program.

The Cuban representative, Sonia Rivera Valdez of Circulo de Cultura Cubano said, "Women's participation was fundamental in the creation of a new Cuban society." She cited example after example showing the improvement in the lives of women in Cuba. She gave examples of improvement in every sector of society."

She explained, "Sexism is a hard barrier to break. The factors are not objective, there are many subjective factors. Much of it stems from Spanish values."

"Ninety thousand women left domestic service, on completion of the sixth grade and started working in urban reform," she stated.

"Discrimination by race or sex is punished by law," she continued. She also mentioned that mothers are allowed leave with pay if a child is hospitalized for a period of time.

She told the audience, "Cuba has established the proper structure for their liberation. (But) often Cuba encounters an enormous problem - U.S. intervention in our struggle...".

The Nicaraguan representative asked the audience, "Do you know "that from the moment of triumph of our country, we've suffered a silent war." She stated, "We denounce here in front of all the aggression we're suffering (from the United States government.)"

She continued, "The Reagan administration says that Nicaragua is a danger to this country (the U.S.), but we know as well as all people know that Reagan is the real danger. We denounce the traffic of arms to counter-revolutions."

"We're accused of sending arms to El Salvador but there has been a spy boat.. and it never detected arms going to El Salvador", said the representative for Nicaragua.

She refuted another Reagan accusation by stating, "We do not have Soviet missiles. Nicaragua will never have missiles from (-for) another country in our country."

"We blame the American administration" said the representative of El Salvador. "It is a total lie about their part in helping political prisoners." She told the audience that "A group of women political prisoners are being tortured. They need the support of the world."

"Right now we're in a state of war in Nicaragua; we want to make that clear to all women," stated Menenses. "That is why we ask for solidarity from all the women of the world."

America Ugarte posed the question,"What does Quatemala want the North American people to do•" She answered, give "support and solidarity. Demonstrate, write Congress. Don't let your taxes be used to murder women."

The Cuban representative, Sonia Rivera Valdez, said, "We women are the masters or mistresses of patience.. for long-term change. We know it is not worthwhile to flee, because there is nowhere to hide...Non-involvement doesn't promise you life or the life of your child. You can't protect and hide them. The only way is to confront and fight the situation." She ended by saying, "We, 'Latin American women believe we have the right to create a better life for ourselves and our children; a better world for all people, a more just world."

In Solidarity Against South Africa

By Brenda Ling

Henning Pieterse, vice-consul of South Africa's Ministry of Information, was invited by a SUNY/New Paltz professor earlier this semester to speak on apartheid policy for a Third World nations course.

On the day of the scheduled lecture, a group of sixty students rallied outside the building and then entered the classroom to prevent Pieterse from speaking by shouting him down and taking away his notes.

As the heated issue of Pieterse's right to free speech arose, two of the students who had stopped the lecture were put on academic probation, and beyond this administrative action, the administration planned to host Pieterse at a later date.

In response to these measures, a coalition of student political organizations demanded that charges against the two students be dropped and that Pieterse not be invited back. The Political Science Department, though, advocated Pieterse's reappearance, and suggested to buffer it by giving an African National Congress member "equal time" to speak and by discussing more openly the issue of free speech. Nevertheless, student pressure and the ensuing publicity forced the New Paltz President to drop charges against the students and not to reinvite Pieterse.

The effect of New Paltz students' actions should reinforce UMass students' desire not to allow any administration to act counter to our convictions. As more and more connections between U.S. campuses and the South African regime are exposed, students should gain strength from understanding and working to promote a sense of solidarity with other colleges and universities that condemn the racist practice of apartheid.

Photo by John Wright

Musician Fred Clayton is also a master in the martial arts.

The Klan in Meriden

By Brenda Ling

Proclaiming April 30 - May 1 National White Solidarity Weekend, the Ku Klux Klan stood out publicly in Meriden, Connecticut last Saturday to promote its hatred and proposed genocide of non-whites in this country, the U.S. of A.

Anti-Klan networks have worked diligently to oppose last weekend's rally, but nearly 30 Klan members emerged from the Meriden courthouse shortly after noon. The robed members were extremely well protected by over 250 police officers in riot gear who watched the estimated 700 demonstrators and observers from the street level, from the roofs of buildings, and from the circling helicopter above.

Two Klansmen, one of them Bill Wilkinson, Imperial Wizard of the Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and known FBI informer, attempted to address the crowd, but protestors' constant loud chants of "Death to the Klan," and "FBI, Cops, the Klan, all part of the Boss's Plan," and "Blue by Day, White by Night," drowned out the speeches.

After the 40-minute rally, Klan members were escorted by the police through the courthouse and out the back door while protestors continued their militant shouting.

Let this showing of citizen anti-Klan support in the face of police Klan support be an example of how to take an active stand against the racist tactics of this country. Many people talk about the Constitution and the Klan's legal Right to Assemble, but hiding behind this abstract principle avoids the issue: the Ku Klux Klan does not simply assemble, it organizes to terrorize and to murder Third World peoples. That is the issue, here, in black and white.

The Klan will not die today or even tomorrow, but we must be willing to take a stand against it, to acknowledge the Klan's intricate ties with the state, and to focus on this connection as our target to defeat white supremacy.

Railroading at EWC

Editorial by Steven Coons

It is crucial that the Third World, Feminist, and Progressive White Communities, as well as the general public know about the controversy surrounding the Everywoman's Center (EWC) at UMass.

As a member of the Ad Hoc Committee in support of the three women under attack (Malika Jones, Marianne O'Leary, and Mary Wentworth), I am very well aware of the complexities of this situation. However, one thing that is clear, indeed the most salient feature that unites these women in a common plight is the explicit lack of due process in the re-evaluating and restructuring of the Everywoman's Center on the part of the UMass Administration (Whitmore), in general, and the Director of the Everywoman'S Center specifically (Ruth Weekes-Washington).

For those unaware of what has been going on, there has been a move to transform Everywoman's Center from a Women's Collective to a classical (Male-Patriarchal) hierarchy.

The centralization and consolidation of power, authority, and control has rendered the EWC accountable to the Administration's desires as opposed to the Community's needs. The servicing of sound and viable Women's Programs has been compromised in usurping decision-making from the Collective (viz decentralization) and centralizing it in the hands of an upper echelon of a few administrative bureaucrats.

The charge of racism made by the current EWC hierarchy, in this case, is not only unfounded it is absurd! Aside from the fact that one of the women being railroaded out of EWC is, herself, a Black Woman (Malika Jones) it only shows the attempts by "The Powers That Be" to both cloud and trivialize what's really going on here and what's really at stake.

The cavalier, unjust, insensitive, and sometimes ruthless treatment of these three women – two of the women were not given the required six months notification of dismissal – Malika was ill a good part of this period, she was pregnant, and eventually had a miscarriage, and Marianne was dismissed just two weeks to her acquiring permanent University status – is apalling and exhibits that the railroading of these women reflects the desired relationship in the administration and management of women, which militates against Women's Collective and Democratic Management (viz "WOMEN'S POWERI"), and toward centralization of accountability and decision-making.

It is clear that the Everywoman's Center is no longer a workplace for women that is democratic, supportive of single mothers, dedicated to finding alternatives to patriarchal structures nor concerned with addressing the needs of poor and Third World Women.

The Ad Hoc Committee is endorsing the following demands: 1) Malika Jones, Marianne O'Leary, and Mary Wentworth be reappointed/reinstated. 2) Another position be funded for Educational Access and Outreach at Everywoman's Center so that the Poor Women's Task Force can continue to address the needs of low-income women. 3) A Community Advisory Board be established for the Center so that there is a vehicle for expression to community concerns and a counterbalance to the administration.

Note: This editorial reflects the particular opinions of the author. It does not reflect the views of this newspaper/the Nummo staff.

Will Faculty Senate Support Racism?

Editorial by Segun Eubanks for the Nummo staff

There seems to be a good possibility that the faculty senate will be sharply divided on a resolution that would not allow University funds to be used for academic contact with South Africa, which will be discussed at the next Senate meeting on Thursday, May 5. The resolution states that no "unit whose authority derives from the University shall provide or administer funds . . . for any form of academic or professional contact with South Africa.

This resolution and similar ones already passed by the Undergraduate and Graduate student senates stem from a trip to South Africa taken by Dr. Robert T. Wilce in which $600 of University funds were used. The Research Council of the Faculty Senate awarded these funds.

The question is, will the Faculty Senate vote down the resolution, thereby supporting the racism and Apartheid that exists in South Africa? At the last Faculty Senate meeting, April 21, the Senate voted down a motion to even consider the proposal. This indicates that there is opposition to the proposal. It also indicates that racism exists within the Faculty Senate. If this resolution fails to pass we as students must take a serious look at the faculty that is supposed to be educating us.

The United Nations, the state legislature, and the Board of Trustees have all passed motions condemning South African apartheid and divesting from companies that conduct business in South Africa. It is the responsibility of our Faculty Senate to not only pass this resolution but to begin formulation of a set policy condemning South Africa's racist policies and refusing all forms of funding toward South African contact.

The Faculty Senate meeting, which will be held at 3:30 p.m. in SBA 120 this Thursday, is open to students. Students especially Third World students, should attend this meeting and give our support to the professors who are sponsoring this motion. We must demand that the University of Massachusetts stop supporting a country that has the most racist, repressive government in the world.

Announcements policy: All announcements must be submitted in writing by the Friday before date of issue.

Nummo Staff

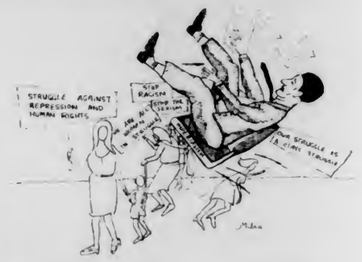
Angela Brown	Editor
Tracey Bryant	Production Manager
Brynne Clarke	Lay-Out Editor
Donna Davis	Business Manager
Keith Johnson	Researcher
Mitra Samimi	Graphics Editor
John Wright	Photo Editor
Lauri Neely and Laura Shanahan	Typesetters
Bernadine Brown	Administrative Assistant

CONTRIBUTORS

Ed Cohen	Photographer
Segun Eubanks	Correspondent
Chris Hardin	Photographer
Russell Jordan	Correspondent
Brenda Ling	Correspondent
Baron Roland	Photographer
Ray Sanderlin	Photographer
Robert Teixeira	Correspondent
Rich Thorpe	Correspondent

Women in struggle

By SONIA NIETO
Translated by Sylvia Galvan



When we think of women in struggle, certain images flash before us: a guerrilla fighter in El Salvador fighting for the liberaton of her country, a woman who's chained herself to the fence at the Pentagon to protest nuclear proliferation, women on strike, women in demonstrations. Yes, all of these women are in struggle, but "women in struggle" means much more to us: it means the constant struggle that we as women are engaged in every day to make our lives more meaningful. We are all women in struggle.

What we would like to do is to take a few minutes to analyze the relationship between women's oppression here in the United States and in Central America.

There is a real, not only an imagined connection here. What is the relationship between women guerrilla fighters in El Salvador and women on welfare in Holyoke? What is the connection between women in Guatemala struggling for basic human rights and women in Springfield demanding better working conditions? We believe there is a very real and tangible connection and we'd like to analyze it.

First, let us define what we mean by "lucha" – struggle. If we think of struggle as a constant fight for our basic human rights, we are all in struggle every day of our lives. The many little injustices that we are subjected to daily makes our lives, lives of struggle. These little injustices might mean paying a few cents more each week for milk for our children; or having to respond to the ever-present forms of sexual harassment at our places of work. These little and not so little injustices cause us pain and discomfort and anger.

But let us make no mistake of it: struggle has many different levels. A woman in El Salvador who witnesses the death of two of her three young children due to malnutrition is suffering from a qualitatively different oppression than a woman in Springfield who cannot get free school lunches for her children. Both are struggling for human rights, but we must recognize that some rights are more basic than others. What we must determine is the connection between these two women.

First, women everywhere are subject to some level of exploitation based on sex. Whether in Northampton or Puerto Rico, control over our lives has been taken by others, to one extent or another. The fact that over ⅓ of women of child-bearing age in Puerto Rico have been sterilized is a concrete example of genocide; the fact that poor women in Northampton do not have access to free and safe abortions is, although different, another concrete example of how women do not have control over their own lives, their own bodies. Control over our own lives also means the right to choose our sexual preference without having to suffer for our choice.

Exploitation based on sex, or sexism, has many manifestations in different cultures, and although we may often hear derisive comments from North Americans about "machismo," in many ways it is no better here. Machismo may exist in more virulent forms in some of our own communities here than in some parts of Latin America. Here, it may mean that we as workers have a double burden: a full day of work as well as a full load of housework and child-caring when we return from the workplace. In Nicaragua, it may mean that a woman who wants to participate in the liberation and transformation of her nation is prohibited from doing so by her husband. In both cases, women's sexuality is being used as a basis for oppression. The fact that women everywhere are subjected to sexism and our response to it are other bonds we as women share.

We must also share an understanding of class. When we speak of women in struggle, we refer not to the wives and daughters of the elite, but to the most exploited sectors of society – poor and working class women. We must realize, nevertheless, that the woman's liberation movement in both the U.S. and Latin America was begun generally by middle-class women who were reacting to unequal conditions in the workplace. The more radical off-shoots of the movement here have attempted to come to grips with the issues of poor and Third World women as well, some with more success than others. On the other hand, the women's liberation movement in Latin America has generally been more responsive to the issues of poverty, probably because class divisions are so much sharper in most South American countries and sexism is more readily apparent. However, both in Latin American countries and in the U.S., many poor and working-class women have viewed the women's movement with suspicion because the issues they articulated were not always the issues that poor women faced on a daily basis. An understanding of the issue of class interests as they relate to the oppression of women is another connection we must therefore make. Fighting for a seat on the Board of Directors of Exxon cannot be our struggle. Our struggle for the liberation of women must be a broad-based struggle based on real liberation. As Marta Lamas, a journalist and member of the Movement for the Liberaton of Women in Mexico, has said, "The name 'women's liberation movement' does not imply that it seeks only to liberate women, or that women must oppose themselves to men, but that they must start with their own interests, uniting with all other oppressed sectors which are also seeking a revolutionary change for all."

The issue of race is another dimension we must understand if we are to make connectins between women here and women in Central America. If we understand that women of color are the most impoverished, the most exploited sector of women, then we begin to understand how we as women are manipulated and divided by the international ruling class. Generally speaking, the lighter the skin, the less apparent the accent, the closer we come to the ideal of European women, the more we get to share in the privileges of a society. Even if we get only crumbs, those crumbs are often enough to keep us scrambling, competing, and hating one another. No matter what society we care to look at, darker-skinned peoples are usually at the bottom. If we fail to see racism as one of women in struggle continued

Continued on page 3

the primary forces of exploitation in the world, our concern with women's issues will be incomplete.

Clearly there are qualitative differences in our oppression. Within the U.S., professional women, although they may suffer sexual harassment on the job, do not feel the burden of exploitation in the same way that factory workers do. This qualitative difference becomes even sharper when we compare our situation in the U.S. to that of our sisters in Central America. Surely there is a profound difference between women there who struggle daily with death and women here who cannot afford decent housing. One is struggling for survival, the other, for basic human rights. It's important to keep these distinctions in mind; from our relatively comfortable homes with relatively plentiful goods and services, we cannot always compare ourselves to our counterparts in Central America.

So far, we've focused on some ways in which our struggle as women is different from and similar to the oppression of women in Central America. First and foremost, however, what we must analyze and understand is the connection between our oppression as women in the U.S. and the foreign policy of the U.S. as it is carried out in Latin America. For every day-care center closed here, more money is supplied to the Junta in El Salvador to prop up a despised and repressive dictatorship. For every health clinic closed, guns will find their way to the military dictatorships like Chile so that it is at the beck and call of the U.S. Even Puerto Rico, the classic Welfare State, sustained by the American government to watch-dog the Caribbean and where two-thirds of the population lives on food stamps, faces the very real prospect of losing those food stamps. The money that is saved there may end up funding "Radio Free Cuba", or as they cynically named it, "Radio Marti," the most massive and paranoid anti-communists radio campaign since the Cold War. These connections are everywhere around us, and if we fail to notice them we think how the ruling class would have us think: that one thing has nothing to do with the other. But if we think dialectically, that is, if we start making connections and seeing relationships, then we can make our struggle a more meaningful one, a more sustained and consistent one. Our struggle against repression and for human rights both here and in Central America need not be based on simple altruism or humanitarianism. No, because the more repressive our government becomes in Central American the more we as women in the U.S. will also suffer. Every time we permit the federal government to cut back on a domestic program, be it day-care, senior citizens centers, or free school lunches, we are permitting the government to rearrange our priorities. Imperialism affects us all – women, men, and children – not only in El Salvador or Guatemala, but right here as well. We are all the victims.

While 85 percent of the children in El Salvador may be suffering from malnutrition, our own children here will suffer as a result of the reduction in school lunches, both in quality and quantity. And with this example, we have come full circle, having analyzed what these two women have in common. What is it that connects them? It is, first of all, their victimization by imperialist policies; and secondly, their reaction, a real determination to struggle for human rights under a system that is unresponsive to their needs.

Where do we go from here? Clearly, this conference is only a beginning. Let us first become aware of the issues; let us learn the facts and figures of oppression. Armed with this information, we can go about the job of empowering ourselves to transform our reality. Empowerment means not only knowledge, but action as well. In our homes, in our workplaces, at our schools and universities, in our churches and community centers, and in our unions, we must continue our struggle against U.S. military intervention in El Salvador, against the arms build-up in repressive governments in Latin America, against the propaganda build-up directed at Cuba, against genocide in Puerto Rico, and for decent housing, for day-care, for meaningful employment, for quality education, and finally, for responsible foreign policy. We must take our message where ever it will be heard – from the streets to the board rooms of the United States, from Town Meetings to State Legislatures. At this conference, two types of work-ships: informational and action-oriented. It is our hope that through these experiences we will combine theory and practice in an effort to re-commit ourselves to the reconstruction of society.

It is at this point that we women have to learn from the example of our sisters in revolutionary societies.

Continued on page 4

Photo by John Wright

CCEBMS students ending a tutorial session in the New Africa House library.

June Jordan brings personal and political together

By Angela Brown

At the Black and Women's Studies Conference April 22-23, this writer had to ask herself: What kind of fuel keeps a woman like June Jordan going? The question did not arise immediately because Jordan got up and took the podium so calmly and unassumingly. Perhaps it was because this women, a published poet, journalist and political activist currently teaching at SUNY - Stony Brook, was among friends as she turned to a warmly receptive audience of 500.

Her address brought personally experienced issues, such as repressive sex roles, and broad political affairs, like the struggle for a previously colonized island's independence, together in an essay entitled "Report from the Bahamas." In her address she discussed her feeling of distance from the island's Black women, though they might have had much in common.

But, she related how she found an unexpected partner in Kathy, an Irishwoman, when she returned to New York from her break. Jordan had been called upon to help a Black South African woman being repeatedly beaten by her alcoholic husband. Kathy initially expressed doubts about intruding into the other's life, although she had dealt with alcoholism before. But, finally Kathy proved compassionate and able enough to reach out and help the stricken woman. The incident was a moving one, and the story had a special emotional impact on the audience.

When asked, after her talk, how she saw her role as a professor at Stony Brook active in student and political efforts on the campus. Jordan said, "It seems to me natural." She added she felt it was important because students might otherwise unnecessarily remain at a low level of activity. When some issues hit closer to home like the Klan's recent campaign in Long Island, "the first reaction is to feel hurt . . . and powerless," she said. Then it is most important to "respond actively" because then "the reason for your fear will diminish," she continued.

Counteractions against the Long Island Klan have included legal action in addition to other student initiatives, according to Jordan. She said that winning a legal case then left the feeling that they "were armed with that," and "everyone feels empowered." She noted that usually "the law colludes with the Klan."

She was also asked how her views of personal and political affairs were interconnected. She responded by saying they were "the same issue . . . (embodied in) self-determination, from the most intimate, to the all encompassing" issues. "I don't see any difference," she added. She also terms self-respect as "fundamental to human life."

Jordan has certainly highlighted the theme of self-determination in previous works, such as the important piece "Poem About My Rights" (1978), in which she defintely states "I am not wrong: Wrong is not my name."

Jordan has been an integral part of Stony Brook's Students Against Apartheid, and recently helped organized a tribute to Billie Holiday, on that campus. She is also involved with issues of Central America, specifically the illegal war being waged there, and is presently investigating the status of children in Nicaragua.

WHAT IS NEEDED IN NUMMO NEWS ???

Get involved!! The time is ripe for students who've always wanted to learn how an independent Third World weekly is produced, because NUMMO is extending a special invitation to interested persons to come on down and check us out!!

There are a whole range of skills, technical, creative, literate, artistic and otherwise, that go into newspaper production. All are encouraged to find out how to expand their capabilities and contribute to an important collective effort at the same time. The Black, Latino, and Asian-American communities should take the time to remember and consider the fact that NUMMO is the community's mode of cultural, political, social, philosophical and multi-dimensional expression. It exists to voice the concerns of underrepresented groups, concerns that are traditionally overlooked or distorted in the mainstream media. These concerns should not be centered around the negative elements of life in Amherst, in New England, and in the United States. These concerns include anything that constitutes a dynamic response to the flow of history, to change and possibility, to the educational process, all of which influence our lives as students of color at the University of Massachusetts.

NUMMO needs students who are willing to take the responsibilty for continuing the process of communication through words, thoughts and deeds. NUMMO needs the responsiveness of the community in orderto accomplish its goals. The power of the written and spoken word is its use in teaching and questioning, in analysis and interpretation, and especially in its use for expression! This is not some mystical power but speaks to the nature of human life, right now, in the world we live in. NUMMO asks that you, the reader, consider taking an active stance toward your education, through involvement in any form,particularly since there are so many options available, even within NUMMO itself!

Du Bois Scholarship Fund

By Tracey Bryant

W.E.B. Du Bois , one of America's foremost scholars, was a fervent advocator of higher education.

During a crucial period in American history, Black people in this country were faced with narrowing choices of existence. There evolved two main schools of thought: one headed by Booker T. Washington, advocating the necessity of trade schools as Black Americans' best hope, and the other led by W.E.B. Du Bois advocating the necessity of education as the key to solving the problems Black Americans faced.

In concordance with the belief that education can be used as a tool for economic progress, the W.E.B. Scholarship Fund has been established at UMass/Amherst. The fund will pay for the tuition of five incoming Third World freshmen.

The Du Bois scholarship fund will be a much needed aid and incentive to Third World students (and the community at large). This scholarship will not affect Third World students already enrolled. But it will probably increase UMass's Third World student population in the future.

As Marguerite Spring, a Third World sophomore at UMass said, "Although I'm not eligible, I'm really pleased with this new scholarship fund. It helps keep a door open for Third World people, in a time when so many doors are closing."

For more information, please contact Rudy Jones, Admission Office, Whitmore Building. Note: The scholarship application deadline is approaching.

Announcements * Announcements

The Seta Rampersad Scholarship Fund

The Seta Rampersad Scholarship Fund was formed in 1982 as a memorial to Seta Rampersad, a 20-year-old Third World woman who was an undergraduate at the University of Massachusetts. Seta, a political science major and senior was found dead in Motel 6 in South Deerfield on September 13, 1978.

Seta was the daughter of immigrant parents who came from Trinidad. Seta, if she had lived, would have received her degree in May, 1979. Her career goals included being a legal advocate for Hispanic and Black youths who had been convicted in Springfield.

Recipients of the Seta Rampersad Scholarship must be Third World women undergraduates who have shown a history of commitment to social change in their communities, especially in the areas of health, women's issues, legal reform, Third World organizations, anti-nuke and international solidarity struggles.

Scholarships will be awarded to 2 Third World women undergraduates who have demonstrated good academic work (2.5 cum) and who have shown a sincere devotion to social progress. The award will be $300 and applications are due June 1, 1983 for the fall semester.

For more information and applications call Malika Jones at Everywoman's Center, 545-0883.

Songs from New Song Movement

Cuban artist Sara Gonzales will appear Tuesday, May 3, 7:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Church in Amherst.

This event is sponsored by Circulo de Cultura Cubana, N.Y., Brigada Antonio Maceo, W. Ma., Venercemos Brigade, W. Ma.

Everywoman's Center Service Calendar

May 5 Finding Job Opportunities, Campus Center, rooms 911 and 903, for more info contact EWC at 545-0883

Women's Program Coordinator

Wanted Fall '83. Women's Program Coordinator. 15-20 hours/week, $3.50/hour. Must be UMass undergraduate. Applications available at 415 or 416 Student Union. Deadline — May 6, 5:00 p.m. The SGA is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

May Poetry Series

Professor Archie Shepp and Linda Gregg will read poetry, kicking off a May Poetry Series at the Jones Library in Amherst.

The reading will begin at 8:00 p.m., Tuesday, May 3rd. There is no admission.

Archie Shepp is most known for his music and artistry on the saxophone as well as his accomplishments in the theatre. He is also known for his poems, "The Wedding," and "Mama Rose" and will present these as well as others during the reading.

Course Proposals Sought

The Malcolm X Center (located in the Southwest Residential Area) is accepting class proposals for the Fall 1983-84 semester. Anyone interested call 545-2819 or come down to the Center Monday through Friday 12:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m., or Saturday 12:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Housing needs

Are you looking for: Housing? Housemates? Moving information? Information about your rights as a tenant?

The Resource room at Everywoman's Center has a Housing Book to help you find contacts and information about housing needs. Stop in to look at this and other survival information, including a Childcare Book and a Job Bank Book. Everywoman's Center is located in Wilder Hall at the University of Massachusetts and is open to all Community and University women. Everywoman's Center is open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 12:00noon to 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday.

*women in struggle

Women in Nicaragua, for example, make up a quarter of the Sandinista Army; they are in charge of two of the five Secretariats; and a woman directs the Front's political work in Managua. More importantly, women participated in unprecedented numbers in the revolution against Somoza, so that by the final offensive in 1979, women made up 30% of the Sandinista Army many commanding from small units to full battalions. Women in Nicaragua are struggling to become equal members in a society built on machismo. Women are decisive in un-doing the foundations of that society in order to rebuild it into a more just one. The fight is far from over. But the qualitative leaps made by Nicaraguan women should be an inspiration to us.

We are faced with a tremendous challenge. In struggling against imperialist forces, sexism, racism, we are extending our hands to our sisters in Central America and saying with a clear and strong voice ENOUGH! From our point of view, the struggle for women's liberaton should be fundamentally linked to the struggle for a revolutionary transformation of the society. Our struggle has just begun — the struggle continues.

May Reading Series

May 3 Linda Gregg, Too Bright to See, Graywolf Press
Archie Shepp, in Black Drama Anthology, Signet books "Mama Rose" (poem), Live in Concert with Jasper Van't Hof, Steeple Chase records; "Attica Blues Big Band" Live at the Palais de Glaces, Blue Marge

10 Frannie Lindsay, The Aerial Tide Coming In, Swamp Press
George Murphy, No Other Life, Amper-sand Press; Editor, Tendril

17 Chase Twichell, Northern Spy, University of Pittsburgh Press
Carole Oles, The Lonliness Factor, Texas Tech Press Quarry, The University of Utah Press

24 Gary Metras, The Night Watches, Adastra Press; The Yearnings Samisdat Press; publisher, Adastra Press
Elizabeth McKim, Burning Through, Family Salt, Wampeter Press Body India, Yellow Moon Press

31 Andrew Salkey, In the Hills Where Her Dreams Live, The Black Scholar Press; Land, Away, Allison & Busby
Kathryn Marshall, Desert Places, Harper and Row; My Sister Gone, Harper and Row

Black Mass Communications

1983 Spring Schedule

Sunday	Les Correia, Soft n Easy, 2-6:00 a.m. Rev. Pearson, Glory Road to Gospel, 6-10:00 a.m. The General, Positive Vibrations, 10-2 a.m.	D.R., Urban Contemporary, 3-5:30 p.m. Kari Njiiri, Pan Afrique, 10-2:00 a.m.
Monday	Victor Yepaz, Concepto Latino, 2-6 a.m. Mahoghany, Free as the Wind, 12:15-3 p.m. Merrit Anthony, Phase III, 3-5:30 p.m. *People's Perspective with Merritt Crawford, 6-7:00 p.m. Concepto Latino, 7-10:00 p.m.
Tuesday	Puma, Urban Contemporary, 12:15-3 p.m. Eliot Andrew, Urban Contemporary, 10-2:00 a.m.
Wednesday	Terry Parker, Urban Contemporary, 6-9:00 a.m.
Thursday	Rev. Pearson, Glory Road to Gospel, 2-6:00 a.m. Concepto Latino, 6-9:00 a.m.
Friday	BMCP, 2-6:00 a.m. Concepto Latino, 9-12:00 noon Carl Lowman, Rhythm Section, 12:15-3 p.m.
Saturday	Concepto Latino, 1-3:30 p.m. George McKenzie, Reggae, 3:30-6:00 p.m. Reports in Color with Bettina Henry, 6-7:00 p.m. Wilhemina Samuels, Ladies Touch, 7-10:00 p.m. Frank Oglesby, Franki O's Odyssey, 10-2:00 a.m.

* Public Affairs
 Rev. Pearson included; not a part of BMCP
 News

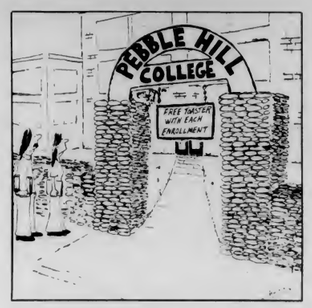
Keep on listening to BMCP on WMUA, 91.1 FM and help us keep BLACK MUSIC alive!



S.G.A. President's Newsletter

Games? Here's your Board...

My first encounter with the Board of Trustees proved to be quite a revelation. I discovered that there were indeed heights to bureaucracy unbeknownst to me in the past. The Trustees, without so much as the bat of an eyelash, voted to violate a policy which they had passed only one meeting ago. I was shocked, but pleased that I was only an observer, since I do not officially take office until May 31st when Jim Murphy's term expires.

The specifics of the situation are as follows: At their February meeting the Trustees passed the Trust Fund Management Policy, which is responsible for the phenomenon known as "full costing". The Collegian has given a good amount of coverage to full costing, so I won't dwell on it here. For those who missed the Collegian articles, suffice to say that students will now be paying three separate times for costs previously paid but once. Bad enough right? Wrong! The Board actually managed to disregard that policy one meeting later so as to increase student costs even more.

The Trust Fund Management policy explicitly states that student fees can only be increased by 2.4% of the amount of money that students already pay into a trust fund. In the case of the campus center fee, that would mean a two dollar increase, bringing the fee from $79 to $81. But, because the Campus Center continues to be as mismanaged as ever (despite the fact that they receive some three hundred thousand dollars worth of textbook annex profits in addition to student fees and revenues) the administration insisted that a five dollar increase was required in order to leave the establishment a "reasonable margin of profit". The Trustees, in full knowledge of the fact that it was against their own policy, and despite Jim's thorough arguments, voted overwhelmingly in favor of the five dollar increase.

This may not seem particularly significant at first glance, but it is only one element of a growing and dangerous trend. By the end of the next two academic years full costing will increase student fees by several hundred dollars. Furthermore, the state, which used to incur the costs to be paid by student fees, is likely to withdraw a good deal of funding from the University. But that's O.K. with University President David Knapp; he's still getting the funds that full costing has "freed up" to "allocate" as he pleases.

The worst part of all this is neither a potential slushfund for the President nor even the money that students will have to pay. The most heinous aspect of the whole thing is that it is going by without a sound from the students on this campus, save the whimpers when we get to the Bursar's window.

The Trustees, not to mention our own administrators, feel quite safe in taking action which is detrimental to students, and need not stop. After all, "what are students going to do about it? They don't even know what happens here until well after the fact." Well, fortunately the Trustee reading materials and agenda arrive at our office about a week before this newsletter is scheduled to come out each month - well in advance of the actual meeting. So, that takes care of the part about student information. What about the other part? It should be noted here that the campus center folks originally requested an $88 fee before the Board, and it was only through student pressure that they "compromised" at $84. The only students involved in that were Jim and a few others from the S.G.A. What if it were 19,000 people instead of three or four? That would take care of the other part of the problem.

The Trustees might be uncommonly bureaucratic, but they aren't stupid, and I'm sure that they aren't particularly cruel either. They are merely under the mistaken impression that students don't care about their fate, while David Knapp and Joe Duffy do. We simply have to prove them wrong. I've been to four Trustee meetings now, talked to many people, and done a lot of research on the Board and its past actions. I am convinced that pressure from "the masses" is the one thing it will respond to.

In the future this column will deal with more than just news from the Board of Trustees. We'll be giving Updates on what to expect on things like financial aid, legislation on higher education, the antics of the Board of Regents, and more. But for this week, I thought it was important to convey a feeling Questions? Comments? Want to get involved? We're in 406E Student Union, 545-0847. Please come by.

Reproductive Rights Update

An anti-choice amendment that states an abortion is not a right under the Massachusetts Constitution recently passed the constitutional convention. The next step is to pass the amendment at the next convention and then make the amendment a referendum question in the 1984 Presidential election. The referendum question would essentially encompass two questions: Should women have the right to choose an abortion, and should the state provide funding for abortions under Medi-Caid.

Linking state funding with the right of choice could play out in two possible ways: Pro-choice people will uphold their belief in choice regardless of how they feel about state funding, or their opposition to the state providing funds will override their belief in choice. It is imperative for Massachusetts voters to realize however that without economic means, abortion is not a choice but a privilege for women of money. The choice of a safe, legal abortion demands the ability to pay for one, otherwise no choice exists. Massachusetts is one of the few states that supports abortion as low-income health care. In order to maintain this, pro-choice people must become vocal. For more information contact CERRF (Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom).

Over the Student Union Balcony

The role of the campus president is indeed an important one. In the past few years however, the duties have been nebulous at best; due to past conflicts with the student trustee. Because the role of the Speaker and Co-President/Trustee are so well defined the Co-President/campus president has in the past gone through an identity crisis.

The campus president is charged with a number of duties. He/she is a non-voting member of the Faculty Senate, and is charged with appointing a student Attorney General. There are also many campus-wide committees, concerning student issues, where it is important that students participate. The campus president appoints students to these committees. She/he also serves as the student representative to administrators and governing bodies both inside and outside the University.

In the past year the President's office has been working on issues important to the rights of students on campus. A Police Misconduct Review Board has been established to address problems of police harassment. Much work has also been done on the Solomon Amendment, rent control, and gaining a student voice in town politics.

Along with these issues there are many new goals set for the President's office. In the coming year our office will address the bus service, implementation of the Bottle & Can Redemption Center, rent control, social problems on campus, networking with other student organizations, and improving communications with other student leaders. Perhaps the campus president's biggest concern will be the ability to inform the students about the important issues facing us. After all, how can we participate in activities if we don't know what's going on?

It is our hope that this newsletter is the first step in improving the SGA's accountability to the campus community. Your input and participation is crucial if we are to continue to move forward in the area of student rights. We are constantly striving for more jobs for students, credits, independent studies and internships.

We encourage you to come up to the office and check things out. Your future is in your hands.

MONDAY, 8:00 AM
SNPS IS HERE

When you can't be there Student Note and Printing Service is on hand to cover the lectures you missed. Our experienced notetakers cover introductory courses in Business, Economics, Food Science, Communications Studies, CORIs, and more.

Student Note & Printing Service

Union Records Unlimited
The Student Run Record Store

201 Student Union
Univ. of Mass.
Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0400/0401

COLLEGE AUTO REPAIR

CAR CARE FOR LESS

Spring Tune-Up & Oil Change Specials

545-0873
Located on the First Floor Campus Garage

OPEN Thursday 4-8
Friday 3-7
Saturday 12-7
Sunday 12-4

PEOPLES MARKET
all kinds of items for all kinds of people

RUN FOR STUDENTS — BY STUDENTS

- Located on the main level Student Union behind Earthfoods and S.U.B.
- Wednesday night shopping for your convenience
- Quality foods at the lowest prices!!
- We have everything from bulk grains to teas & spices to household items
- Everyone is welcome students as well as faculty
- PEOPLE'S MARKET has something for everyone

Calendar of Events

1 SW Concert 12-6 SW Fields	2 Womens Issues Team meeting 6:30 pm CC	3 CERRF meeting 6:30 pm UMMTG: "Hair" 7:00 at OH Basketball Courts	4 Kent State/Jackson State Anniversary (May 4, 1971) UMMTG: "Hair" 7:00 OH Basketball Courts Student Senate 7:00 CC163	5 BCP/CCEBS Career Day CCA 9-5 UMMTG: "Hair" 7:00 OH Basketball Courts PSN Meeting CC162 7:00 "Dr. Strangelove" Mahar 5, 7, 9, 11 pm	6 WMLASC: Teach-In on US Foreign Policy Mahar Commuter Collective Movie: "The Last Picture" 8:00 CC904 WMLASC: Films on the Third World Cape Cod Lounges 11-5 CC101: 11-11	7 Central/Orchard Hill Concert 12-6 OH Basketball Courts Malcolm X Center Picnic SW Horseshoe BMCP Funkathon CCA 8-
8 CCEBMS Family Day 2-7 CCA "Her Stories in Motion" Hampden Theater SW 8:00 Mother's Day	9 DVP: Hugh Kaufman "Hazardous Waste" 8:00 SUB Womens Issues Team meeting 6:30 CC	10 CERRF meeting 6:30 CC Jazz Ensemble 8:00 Bowker Auditorium	11 Cleveland Symphony Orchestra with Victor Borge FAC 8:00 ~~Student Senate 7:00 CC163~~	12 RSU meeting 7:00 UMass Coalition for Reproductive Freedom 7:30 CC804	13 BCP Graduation Awards Newman Center 7:00 pm Anti-Pornography Picket at Augies Tobacco, Amherst ~~PGA Disco 9-1 CC1009~~	14 Emerson Women of Color Fashion Show SUB 8:00 GALA March Northampton
15	16 GPC: "Slap Happy" 12-2 Metawampe Lawn Women's Issue Team meeting 6:30 CC	17 CERRF meeting 6:30 CC	18 Last Day of Classes Student Senate 7:00 CC163	19 STUDY Reading Day GPC: Killer Comedy Nite Blue Wall 9:00 ~~Charlene & Jim go to Martha's Vineyard~~	Finals Begin 20 F	21 I
22 N	23 A	24 L	25 S	26 Finals End Senior Day 12-6 Metawampe Lawn Dorms close 6:00	27	28 Commencement
29	30 Memorial Day	31	This calendar is provided as a service by the SGA President's office. It will be published on a monthly basis.	To have your events listed on the calendar send the listing to the SGA President's office, 406E Student Union, or call 545-0341.

HELP WANTED:

INTERNSHIPS IN
Public Relations, Marketing, Advertising, Graphic Arts, etc.

SGA Communications
423 Student Union Building
(413) 545-0341 X 28

Contact: Curry Hicks
Office of Internships.

UMASS RECYCLING PROJECT
"Redemption Service"
306 Student Union Building
Amherst MA 01003 (413)545-0618

UMASS ULTIMATE SHOWDOWN

MAY 4, 1983

Bring your team roster by the Co-op by May 3, 4 p.m. to Register

UMASS AMHERST SPORTING GOODS CO-OP

SNACK ATTACK...Field Dorm
(Monday - Sunday 7 p.m. - 12 p.m.)

THE SUBWAY...Macnamara Dorm subs · yogurt · candy · desserts · ice cream · chips · bagels
Sun - Thurs 12 - 12
Fri, Sat 12 - 1

KENNEDY'S PLACE
Visit us on the 5th floor
Ice cream - Juice - Candy - Soda
Sun. - Thurs. 7 p.m. - 1 a.m.
Fri., Sat. 8 p.m. -2 a.m.

I.F.S.E.A. Coffee Shop....Flint Lounge
Donuts - Bagels - Coffee - Tea
M-F 8:30 a.m. - 12:30

Photo Co-op

Hours:
M-F 11-3:00
Compare!
The best prices in Amherst.

Valley Women's Voice

HELP WANTED: INTERNS

- advertising - 20% commission
- editorial - write & edit
- production - typeset, design, paste-up, do graphics/photos
- distribution -
- fundraising -
- office staffing -

JOIN US!

PO Box 392, N'ton, MA 01061 584-2479

"Why not start your own Student Controlled Business!"

contact:
THE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT OFFICE
Room 409, Student Union 545-2166

earthfoods restaurant

Wholesome & delicious vegetarian fare
All freshly prepared here in the Earthfoods kitchen
Come on in!

Mon-Fri., 11am-3pm
Commonwealth Rm., S.U.B.

Dealing With Racism

Racism on campus seems like something that should not exist, or not that much, in an area of intellectuals and progressives. This however is not the case. Racism has always infected every artery of the University and its poison seems to be spreading. The Ombudspersons office reports that they have received twice as many complaints of racial harassment this year as last year. The complaints noted by the Ombudpersons and CCEBMS have taken different forms from abusive graffiti, vicious letters slipped under doors, and even physical harassment.

On April 12, 1983, the Chancellor called a meeting of members of the University community to talk about racism on campus, an unprecedented move by the top of the hierarchy. At that meeting it became clear that there were no mechanisms on campus to deal with incidents of racial harassment. The student code of conduct merely offers an interpretation of present rules governing student behavior and racial harassment. The faculty has no codes governing racism, nor does the university staff. Concern about lack of procedures was the main issue of discussion, however concern was also raised about the treatment of students who try to employ rules. Instead of sanctioning the true instigators of racial incidents, the minority students who try to defend themselves are made out to be at fault. Because of the twisting of situations, minority students are reluctant to use campus resources for aggrieving their complaints.

The Chancellor has charged three working groups to look at the campus situation and initiate change. These groups are to review present procedures, document incidents, and examine student, faculty, and staff behavior. The Chancellor appears to be serious about combatting racism and so is the SGA.

Questionnaire

Through this questionnaire we would like to give students the opportunity to voice their opinions about Student Government and University life.

1. Are you aware of growing racial tension in your dorm? On campus? What do you feel are the causes of this?

2. What issues would you like to see the SGA/President's office working on?

3. What do you feel are the strengths/weaknesses of this newsletter? Do you think this newsletter could be an effective means of communication between the SGA and students?

4. Please feel free to comment or ask us questions about any issues of concern to you.

The President's office wants input! We would like to raffle off two complimentary tickets to all people who return their questionnaires. Please detach the questionnaire, put it in an envelope and address it to:

President's Office
406E Student Union Bldg
Campus Mail

Name:
Address:
Phone Number:

CLIP AND SAVE

Revolving Tips

Through the revolving tip column the President's office hopes to provide information and ideas that are not always so easy to get at UMass.

101 Ways To Get An Incomlete

An incomplete is very useful for buying time and that's about all it's good for.

You still have to complete the classwork. In fact, most people never finish their incompletes (A fact that contributes to some professors' reluctance to give them). For that reason, we strongly recommend that you finish the course-work on time, if it is humanly possible. We don't want to encourage people to go looking for incompletes. What we do want is for people to be aware that they have an option. Too few students are told that an incomplete is within the range of possibilities; and some have to leave school because of that.

There are no hard and fast rules when it comes to incompletes, so just about anything goes. One approach is to simply assume that the professor, in a fit of unlimited charity, will give you the incomplete; and then wait around for the big I-N-C to arrive in the mail with the rest of your grades. However, this is an especially risky avenue of pursuit. We feel that there are more effective means, which can be broken down into 2 general categories: Groveling and Hassling.

Groveling:

You need to convince the professor that an incomplete is the most productive option for you. There are a number of ways to go about this, and you'll have to decide what is most appropriate to your situation. However, here are a couple of suggestions:

1) Lay the whole thing out with an attitude of "We're both rational adults, I can't finish the course, so what's the most reasonable option." This is fairly effective; however, there are professors who are philosophically opposed to incompletes.

2) Try to elicit some sympathy. Everyone runs into hard times; therefore, most anyone can sympathize with yours. In some cases, even a teacher who is professionally opposed to giving out incompletes can be swayed by a special circumstance. This of course necessitates that you have a damn good excuse. If you don't...find one. For this you'll have to consider both creativity and believability. In this category fall such things as food poisoning, legal hassles stemming from a drunk driving charge, etc.

Also consider your approach when doing the actual groveling. Nobody will believe a hard luck story if you're grinning from ear to ear; now will they believe a story that sounds rehearsed (which is not to say that you shouldn't rehearse it). Therefore, you want to ham it up a bit, for effect; how far you take it is at your discretion.

Hassling:

O.K., you've laid your best excuse on the teacher and she/he tells you to drop dead. In this situation you will need a second line of defense. This is where hassling comes in. The object here is to make it clear to said professor that you would have no qualms whatsoever about hounding him/her to the grave in pursuit of this incomplete. In the meantime, you might want to research any outstanding arrest warrants the professor may have---a little leverage never hurts.

With some professors, nothing you can say is going to get them to give you an incomplete. If you should run up against one of these, feel free to go directly over her/his head. Remember, these people do not operate in a vacuum--they all have to answer to someone. The first line of appeal would be the teacher's department head.

If you get nowhere with the department head, the bureaucratic trail will lead you to the academic dean, the associate provost for undergraduate affairs, the provost, and the chancellor, in that order. If you exhaust all these options and still haven't gotten an incomplete, you've lost, and you should start to consider withdrawing from the class, or taking a few 'gut' courses to make up the difference. Good luck!!

Reprinted from the Radical Student Union's Disorientation Pamphlet, Fall, 1982.

Every Wednesday at 7:00 • • • • •

• • • • News from 420 SUB

The University of Massachusetts Undergraduate Student Senate is a legislative body comprised of 120 elected senators. These elected senators serve as representatives from each residential area; the Greak area, the Commuters, the Third World Community and Area Government Officials representing the seven residential areas.

The current SGA Presidents, Tom Ahern and Charlene Allen, were elected through a campus-wide election and serve as the student body president and a member of the Board of Trustees. The Speaker, Chris Sullivan, and Treasurer, Eric Nitzsche, were elected by the Senate and play key roles in the functioning of the Senate. The Speaker is required to set the agenda and conduct the weekly Senate meeting. The Treasurer is responsible for establishing and overseeing financial policies concerning the Student Activities Trust Fund (SATF).

Each senator is responsible for serving on a Senate Committee. There are seven committees and of these seven, four are internal (directly related to Senate), and the other three committees are external (not exclusive to Senate issues only). The four internal committees are the Coordinating Committee, Budgets Committee, Finance Committee, and Governmental Affairs Committee. The three remaining external committees are the Academic Affairs Committee, Public Policy Committee, and finally the Rents and Fees Committee.

This past semester the Senate has been involved with various issues and policies. Just recently students voted on the SGA referendum, which listed five questions ranging from the co-ed bathroom policy to the University's policy on exchanges with South Africa. Other issues which have been discussed are student control of the SATF and the Long-Range Plan, which includes raising admissions standards.

The Senate is a student organization which offers a diversity in its members, committees, and opportunities. In th process of dealing with issues confronting our university there is also the opportunity to learn valuable skills. The Senate offers a unique experience that allows senators to serve students, the University, and themselves. Come to a Senate meeting and see for yourself what your Student Senate is doing.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 126 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Tuesday, May 3, 1983

Assoc. Provost as guest prof. going to N.Y.

By DAN STOCKFORD
Collegian Correspondent

University of Massachusetts Associate Provost for Undergraduate Education Johnetta B. Cole is preparing to live in Brooklyn, N.Y. next year while she serves as a visiting professor at Hunter College.

Cole, a tenured professor in the UMass anthropology department, will take leave from administrative duties to serve as the first Russell Sage Visiting Professor in the Social Sciences at Hunter College, a division of the City University of New York.

She will participate in the Russell Sage Foundation's Project on Equity for Women in Higher Education.

UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey will appoint an acting associate provost to serve in Cole's absence. Cole, whose leave begins in September, has led the administration's effort over the past two years to develop and implement a general education curriculum proposal.

"I'm particularly honored because of the name Russell Sage has within the social sciences," Cole said.

Sage was a 19th century financier whose fortune was used after his death to establish the Russell Sage Foundation. The foundation is dedicated to promoting the use of knowledge of the social sciences.

Cole said that she hopes to rent a home in Brooklyn for her family.

"Since my teaching will revolve around racial and ethnic diversity, Brooklyn will be the perfect place to live next year," said the administrator who served as a professor of anthropology at UMass before assuming duties as associate provost in 1981.

"Brooklyn is one of the areas in our country that has the greatest diversity of racial and ethnic groups," Cole said.

Cole will teach courses and give one public lecture in both the fall and spring semesters. "Afro-American Culture in the United States" is the title of Cole's fall course.

The project on equity for women in higher education will be divided up into areas or topics, Cole said.

"The topic I will research is minority women in higher education," she said. Cole added that the project will involve meeting weekly with a group of women who are researching various topics pertaining to women in higher education.

Collegian photo by Dave Dreher

These students were spotted in the stacks of Goodell Library in search of information to aid them in their varied endeavors. As finals approach the library will turn into a campus hot spot.

Students petition administration on crowding problems

By MARY CRESSE
Collegian Staff

Nearly 500 students signed a petition yesterday requesting the University of Massachusetts administration to examine the problem of overcrowded classes.

"We...wish to express our growing concern in relation to the unavailability of certain courses," the petition said. "We request that the administration reevaluate the present allocation of resources (i.e. teachers, funds) in order to alleviate this problem."

Communications Studies majors Amy Lipman, Ron Lustberg, Ron Leimeux and Jason Rubin, and Carol Sazama, a student in the Bachelors Degree with Individual Concentration (BDIC) program, started to circulate the petition two weeks ago as part of an assignment for a Com Stu course requiring students to do a "persuasive campaign" eliciting action from students. Yesterday's lobby for support was their first concentrated attempt since the inception of the project.

"We...wish to express our growing concern in relation to the unavailability of certain courses."

"I thought the topic was appropriate because you pay good money to go to school and you can't even get the courses you sign up for," Lipman said. "A lot of times you have to attend summer school just to get the courses you need. I've even known second semester seniors not to have filled their course requirements and graduate late."

Lipman said she and her co-drafters intend to submit the petition to Chancellor Joseph F. Duffy within the next two weeks. She is hoping to have 13,000 signatures by then.

"What we're doing shouldn't be seen as radical in any way; we're just trying to educate ourselves and other students to the fact that something can be done. There's enough students on this campus, so that we should have the power to do it."

Interim Dean of Academic Support Services Lawrence Benedict agreed with Lipman, but added the University has addressed the problem many times and has even formed a special committee to contend with the problem. The cause, he said, centered around what he terms a "cyclical trend" in students' choice of majors.

"The university knows there are certain majors with high-level pressures on them because of lack of faculty members — majors like Psychology and Communications Studies are popular; so is Business, and even those like Dance and Music are seeing a crunch."

"The university knows there are certain majors with high-level pressures on them because of lack of faculty members — majors like Psychology and Communications Studies are popular; so is Business, and even those like Dance and Music are seeing a crunch. To combat this, (Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs) Loren Baritz has appointed faculty members to some of these crowded departments."

"But this can change in a few years. In the late 60s and early 70s, for instance, everybody wanted to major in English, so the University saw the need to channel more faculty members over to that department. Five years later, the trend was toward business and there were a few extra people in the English department. Five years from now I'll bet you the cycle will change again."

"We're simply trying to spot these trends and act in the best interest of the students."

But Lipman and her supporters will continue to lobby for change. "There is a lot we have to accomplish, but we'll keep pushing until we are satisfied with the University's action on this issue. The students deserve to receive what they pay for."

Two infected beavers roaming campus pose epidemic threat to community

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police said they are still looking for a pair of beavers let loose from Tillson Farm by unknown perpetrators Friday night.

The pair of beavers, infected with giardiasis disease — commonly known as backpacker's or hiker's disease because it is transmitted through outdoor water sources — could be "epidemic to people," said Wendell Dodge, director of the cooperative wildlife research unit at Tillson Farm.

Dodge said the disease is a protozoan flagellate disease that causes diarrhea. Were a human to drink from a stream that one of the infected beavers had contaminated, the human could possible become infected, Dodge said.

Backpackers and hikers have been known to drink from streams and creeks and to have been infected, hence the disease's nickname.

Dodge said the beavers, a male and female which have been in captivity since October 1981, were being held to determine whether giardiasis disease was infectuous to people, but reasearchers had no conclusive results.

Dodge said the beavers had not defecated in a while and may have lost the infection, but if seen, the Forest and Wildlife Department should be contacted immediately. The beavers can be identified by small silver metal tags on each ear. They are between 50 and 60 pounds each, Dodge said.

A third beaver had been let loose, but because it had been born in captivity and had considered the pen "her home," Dodge said, it returned.

Dodge said cases of giardiasis have been previously reported in Rome, N.Y., Bradford, Penn., and Berlin, N.H. where 1,500 people were infected.

The disease, once contracted by humans, could be transmitted in places of potentially poor sanitation such as child day care centers or wading pools.

The pen where the beavers were kept was broken into when the locks were broken by a bolt cutter, Dodge said. Police have no suspects. The beavers are believed to be in the outlying wooded area surrounding the University, probably by streams and ponds.

World and National News

AP Laserphoto

Ten year-old Samantha Smith, who wrote a letter to Soviet leader Yuri Andropov to ask about nuclear war, shares a laugh with Johnny Carson during an appearance on the Tonight Show last week.

Detroit race policy opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration asked a federal appeals court yesterday to reverse its approval of a Detroit Police Department plan to promote equal numbers of blacks and whites to lieutenant as a remedy for past job discrimination.

In a brief filed with the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, the Justice Department argued that it was unconstitutional for a public employer to set up a racial promotion preference for any person who could not prove that he or she was the victim of actual past discrimination. It noted that the Supreme Court in the 1979 Weber decision had approved such a voluntary agreement between Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. and the United Steelworkers Union but said that the Weber decision applied to private employers, not governments.

Navy jets shot at by accident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Somali defenders fired antiaircraft guns and a missile at two U.S. Navy F-14 jets last week, apparently mistaking them for Soviet-built MiGs from neighboring Ethiopia, defense officials said yesterday.

The U.S. warplanes were not hit and returned to the aircraft carrier America off the Somali coast, said sources who spoke on condition they remain anonymous.

The shooting occurred apparently because the Somali defense ministry failed to notify its air defense units in the Berbera area that clearance for the F14 flights on a photo-mapping mission had been granted "at the highest level of the Somali government," the U.S. officials said.

S.S. number shared by identical strangers

AURORA, Colo. (AP) — Patricia Kern and Patricia DiBiasi were given the same Social Security number, but the government wasn't as far off as it may seem.

Both were born Patricia Ann Campbell on March 13, 1941. Both had fathers named Robert. Both have been bookkeepers and both have children ages 21 and 19.

Both studied cosmetology and enjoy oil painting as a hobby. Both married military men, and their weddings were within 11 days of each other in 1959.

Mrs. Kern lives in Aurora. Mrs. DiBiasi lives in Hines, Ore.

The mixup was noticed by Mrs. Kern when the government notified her that she owed $3,000 in taxes for a job she held in Oregon, a state she never has visited.

"It's so weird," said Mrs. Kern. "I don't know which would be stranger — if we find out we are related, or if we find out that we are not, considering all the other things we have in common."

John Trollinger, a Social Security spokesman in Washington, said the numerical mixup probably was caused when one woman applied for a Social Security card and was given a replacement card for the other.

Shultz active in Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz conducted marathon talks with Israeli leaders yesterday and an Israeli official said that for the first time Shultz offered U.S. proposals for removing foreign troops from Lebanon.

Shultz met for more than six hours with Israeli Cabinet ministers, diplomats and army officers and scheduled his fifth meeting with Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

"Active American participation is beginning today," said an Israeli official, briefing reporters. "Until now, they have just been hearing very patiently our positions and those of the Lebanese."

The official did not specify what proposals Shultz had injected into the negotiations.

Shultz, now in his second week of shuttle diplomacy, had a narrow escape from a rocket attack early Sunday in Beirut. Shultz has said he was not deterred by the attack and that he would not hesitate to stay overnight in Beirut again if necessary. He plans to return to the Lebanese capital Tuesday.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Mass. needs more space to contain criminals in face of overcrowding prisons Dukakis says

WORCESTER — Recycling existing buildings for jails because of dangerous prisoner overcrowding is an alternative to building new prisons, Gov. Mchael S. Dukakis suggested Monday in an annual Law Day speech to the Worcester County Bar Association.

"Overcrowding in our state prisons and our county jails is rapidly approaching the danger level," he said.

Dukakis noted that the state's inmate population has more than doubled since 1975 and the gap between population and capacity was expected to widen in the next few years.

"If we are going to get tough on career criminals for whom lawlessness has become a growth industry, then we are going to have to make the tough decisions to find the space to keep them behind bars where they can no longer endanger the public," he said.

Police testify on murders raps from motel brawl

CAMBRIDGE — Two police officers charged with murder testified yesterday they were attacked with clubs and table legs in a wild motel brawl when they tried to make an arrest after an off-duty patrolman was beaten in a barfight.

"I was kicked in the face. I was kicked in my mouth...they were stomping on my hands," said John McLeod, one of four Everett policemen charged with a rampage at King Arthur's Motel and Lounge on July 23, 1982.

McLeod, the first witness for the defense, said he was attacked at the motel's bar, dragged outside and beaten by at least four men. Earlier prosecution witnesses said McLeod started the fight, was knocked down by one man and then thrown out of the bar.

Prosecutors contend that police staged a revenge raid later that night and injured seven men in a room at the motel. One man, Vincent J. Bordonaro, died later of head injuries.

On trial on murder and assault and battery charges are McLeod, William McCluskey, Richard Aiello and John Macauda. Chelsea patrolman Michael Nadworny is on trial on charges of assault and battery and violation of civil rights.

Release bill approved

BOSTON — The Senate initially approved 20-17 yesterday legislation requiring that three psychiatrists agree on the release of certain patients from mental hospitals.

Sen. Denis L. McKenna, D-Somerville, said that liberal policies of the Department of Mental Hospital are responsible for some of the problems associated with the homeless issue. He argued that getting the opinions of three psychiatrists will protect the public.

AP Laserphoto

With his brother's truck nose first in a six-foot deep hole created by a South Hadley water main break, John Hutcelseder climbs into his own truck. It was the second time in less than a week that the town was hit by a roadway sink hole.

Clubs serving liquor after hours Globe cites

BOSTON — Two athletic clubs with police connections are among the places in Boston that serve alcoholic beverages after hours, The Boston Globe reported yesterday.

Although licensed establishments are required to sell liquor, and state law forbids selling it after 2 a.m., some in Boston sell liquor without licenses or after legal hours, the Globe said yesterday in a Spotlight Report.

The newspaper said the 2 a.m. shutoff is enforced for most bars and restaurants in the city, but some stay open all night.

Thomas Stanton, executive secretary of the Boston Licensing Board, estimated that as many as 20 establishments in the city operate without licenses and after hours.

"When we receive information, we raid them," said Detective Lt. Edward J. McNelley, commander of the Boston Police Department's vice unit. He said Police Commissioner Joseph M. Jordan puts a high priority on such prosecutions.

The Globe says The Mike Contilli Athletic Club in the East Boston section and the Silver Shield Athletic Association Inc. in the Roxbury section are among after-hour establishments that have operated without liquor licenses.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Michael No middle name Mahoney
Copy Editor — David Kirkwood Summersby
Layout Technician — Susan Dawn Bankert
Photo Technician — David Paul Deuber
Composition — Terri Cooper, Sheryl Silver, Margie Hochman
Laurie Frank, Adrianne Dufour, Gail Tanzer, Dave Rath
Brian Fitz Maurice, Marianne Walsh, Maria Cahillane, Jackie Femino
Nancy Gallo, Ken Kalinowski, Don Narey, Stuart Sajdak, Donna Estabrooks

Subscription Rates

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

SGA wants control of summer activities funds

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Student Government Association (SGA) officers will attempt to remove all University personnel from the Summer Budgets Committee that controls student activities fees collected.

SGA Treasurer Eric Nitzsche yesterday said he will attempt to change the bylaw of the SGA constitution that defines membership of the budget committee. He will introduce a motion to enact this change at tomorrow night's Undergraduate Student Senate meeting.

If accepted by the Senate, the new bylaw will eliminate Student Activities Office (SAO) Director Franklyn D. Donant from his voting position on the committee, and would also eliminate two other SAO staff members from non-voting positions on the committee.

That would leave four student voting members, the SGA Budgets Committee chair, an SGA co-president, the Speaker of the Senate, and SGA Treasurer Nitzsche, who will chair the committee.

Nitzsche said the SGA officers will make the motion because they "feel it is not appropriate to have paid members of the administration on student committees."

"Whether or not they have a vote, their influence is pernicious," he said.

The Summer Budgets Committee allocates activities fee monies paid by students taking courses during summer session. Students pay a $12 activities fee for each six week session.

Nitzsche estimated the entire budget would be "around $35,000," but said he was not sure because "we don't know how many people are going to sign up and pay the $12 fee."

Besides a jazz series, summer intramurals and other programming, Nitzsche said the budget includes funding of summer staff at organizations such as the Legal Services Office and WMUA-FM.

Nitzsche said Donant created the Summer Budgets Committee in the spring of 1981 under pressure from SGA leaders who wanted more student involvement. Until then, Nitzsche said, the SAO director, "did the entire budgeting process at his own discretion. There were no students involved."

Donant said he "created a more democratic process," with the committee.

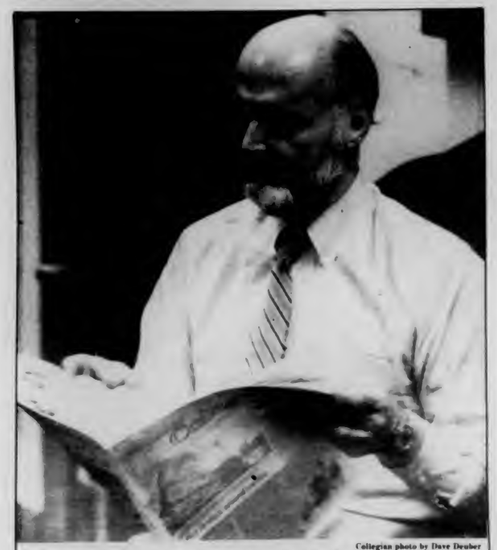
"I think what we have now is an equitable process," he said. Administration membership "doesn't compromise the student vote. They have the vote four to one," Donant said.

Donant also said the committee has "not had any problem with (membership) in the past." Both Nitzsche and Speaker of the Senate Chris Sullivan agreed.

But that is not the issue, they said.

"We feel students have a better idea of what students want in their programming," Nitzsche said.

Both Nitzsche and Sullivan said control of the summer student activity monies was connected to the larger issue of whether the students should have total control over all student Activities trust Fund (SATF) monies.



Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

Martin F. Nolan, editorial page editor of the Boston Globe, inspects yesterday's edition of the Collegian during a visit to the Collegian Business Office.

Globe editors assess 1984 campaign during campus visit

By JOHN DiPALAZZO
Collegian Staff

Editors and writers from the Boston Globe last night gave their appraisals of presidential candidates, but their predictions of the parties' nominees differed considerably.

Editorial page editor Martin F. Nolan, associate editor Robert L. Healy, statehouse bureau reporter Christine M. Black and columnist David Nyhan appraised the candidates and issues of next year's presidential campaign during a panel discussion in the Campus Center last night.

Healy, who served as moderator of the discussion, said that he assumed that President Reagan would seek re-election.

"A lot of Republican politicians in Washington feel that if the economy improves, everything's going to be OK for the president."

HOwever, Healy said there is a "pretty strong notion" that the tax cuts initiated by the Reagan administration were not distributed fairly throughout the economic spectrum.

"My hunch is that Reagan will probably not do anything (decide whether he will run) until very late," Healy said.

Nyhan discounted the idea of Reagan seeking re-election, saying that the president was "one-half inch deep on issues."

Nyhan predicted that, with Reagan out of the race for the Republican nomination, George Bush would defeat Jack Kemp.

"If I had to pick a guy who'd be president in 1984 I'd pick John Glenn," he said.

Nyhan said of Mondale, "his campaign reminds me of a bicycle built for eight; they get everyone in there pedaling their ass off. The problem is when one guy stops pedaling — when that happens, the whole campaign falls right over.

Nyhan also said that, given current population shifts, "I think that we will not again have a president from the north and east. I think Glenn would be about as best as the Democrats could get."

Nolan, in his remarks, also predicted that Reagan would not run for re-election.

"He's discoverd another job that's not nearly so difficult: being ex-president," he said.

While Nolan said Mondale leads the field among the Democrats, he could suffer from that, since he is viewed as the candidate to beat.

Black confined her remarks to the presidential campaign within the state.

Black said the number of delegates at the recent state Democratic issues convention who said they were undecided before the presidential poll was taken was "extremely high."

"That tells us a lot about this particular group of candidates: they're remarkably similar," she said.

"I guess what the Massachusetts experience has shown us is that there's no clear winner in this crowd yet," she said.

UM marine researchers to feed Congress fish delights

By MICHELE DOLAN
Collegian Correspondent

University of Massachusetts Marine Food researchers will be in Washington D.C. tomorrow to present unusual new seafoods to congressmen at the National Agricultural Research Fair.

Led by Food Science professor Ernest M. Buck, the UMass researchers in the Marine Foods Program will be serving congressmen such delectables as "Fishsticks," made from red hake, and "Ocean Nuggets," made from squid.

The Marine Foods Program at UMass has aimed at finding ways to use under-utilized species of fish plentiful in New England waters. Buck, who is known as "the Cod father" by his peers has developed these uses for red hake — a "Fish off our coast nobody's doing anything with," — and squid — the most under-utilized fish because of its texture.

"We mainly want to introduce them to squid", Buck said. "Ocean Nuggets" are made from squid and red hake that is rolled into a ball, battered, and deep fat fried. "They taste like a clam strip," he said.

Buck has also directed the development of a new product called the "Fishdog". The "Fishdog," which contains no red meat and virtually no fat, is "vastly more nutritious than a conventional hotdog", Buck said. He conducted consumer acceptance studies on campus and found that it was acceptable.

"Not a single person indicated it had a fishy taste", Buck said.

The U.S. Dept of Agriculture, which is sponsoring the fair, has invited 19 states to set up displays. Of the 19, UMass is the only one to exhibit food from marine fisheries.

"Our goal is to demonstrate to Congress the level and quality of research that's being done here in the marine foods and to point out to them how we can effect the economy of the country," Buck said.

"Funding for this agricultural station is from the federal government", he said. He said he hopes federal funding to UMass marine research will increase as a result of the exhibition.

The use of these under-utilized fish species for food products would be beneficial in numerous ways, Buck said. The fishing industries will benefit because their catches of red hake and squid can be used, and employment opportunities will increase because of increased catches. Industry will be less dependent on foreign countries because our domestic utilization will increase.

The protein in these fish that is now being wasted will be used to produce more nutritious commercial food products, according to Buck.

"It would have ramifications all the way down the line", he said.

The UMass Marine Foods Program started five years ago when researchers became aware that there was not as much research being done in marine foods as in other foods.

"We were aware there had been very little done in the area of marine foods," Buck said. "We have chosen to emphasize our work in the marine area.

Thomas Moore, a sculpture design major, studies his tewsegrety art project at the North Pleasant St. side of the Fine Arts Center.

UMass police report breaks

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police yesterday reported that a 26-year-old man, playing frisbee outside the Student Union building Friday afternoon, dove over a retaining wall there and fell down a stairwell 15 feet, 5½ inches and fractured his right elbow and left forearm.

UMass police said Davie J. Mazzo of Brandywine was taken to Cooley Dickinson Hospital, Northampton, where he was treated and released.

Police also reported that a 22-year-old woman, who had climbed to the top of a pine tree between the Fine Arts Center and the School of Management at 6:37 p.m. Sunday and attempted to climb down, fell 20 feet and broke her left leg.

The woman was also taken to Cooley Dickinson and released.

In other police action:

A man, jumped from behind by an unknown number of assailants, sustained head injuries including a bloody and possibly broken nose after he was attacked in a well-lit area of the Berkshire Dining Common loading dock shortly before 1 a.m. Saturday, police said yesterday.

The man was treated at the University Health Services and released.

Police responded to a call at 2:04 a.m. Saturday in Chadbourne dormitory where five men were reportedly involved in a fight, police said.

No arrests were made in the incident but police said a man was kicking people in a martial arts fashion. One man was kicked in the ear. Another man involved in the incident, an 18-year-old from Quincy, was later arrested at the Student Union building and charged with trespassing.

An 18-year-old male resident of John F. Kennedy dormitory was arrested at 3:21 p.m. Friday and charged with possession of an altered license and purchase of alcohol by false representation.

Police observed the man with a keg and asked him for identification, whereupon he produced a license with a changed birthdate, police said.

A man walking along University Drive about 4 p.m. Friday told police a brown Volkswagen Rabbit drove by him there and a bottle of beer was thrown from it, shattering on his foot. Police said the man was uninjured and obtained the car's registration number. The case is under investigation.

The Amherst Fire Department responsed to a fire in a wooded area north of Sylvan Residential Area shortly before 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

Police said a group of students had gathered around a bonfire with a 10 foot diameter but were asked to leave when police and the firefighters arrived.

A person, stopped and charged with a non-criminal moving motor vehicle violation last week and who produced a police badge for identification, has found to have been impersonating an officer, police said yesterday. No charges have been filed.

An unknown amount of gray gym shorts and sweats were reported missing from a Boyden equipment room Saturday morning.

Police said the equipment was taken some time between 1 and 7:58 a.m. and will not know how much was taken until an inventory is conducted.

A ring and gold chain (total value of $246) were reported missing from a room in Coolidge dormitory Saturday. The incident occurred between noon Friday and 5:28 p.m. Saturday when it was reported.

Police charge nudie suspect

By DAVID B. MINER
Collegian Staff

A University of Massachusetts employee was arrested Saturday and charged with open and gross lewdness in connection with an incident that happened last Monday, Amherst Police report.

Police said that a female returned to her Amherst apartment and found a nude man in her bedroom who made suggestions of a sexual nature. These comments caused a felony complaint rather than a misdemeanor of indecent exposure to be issued to the 22-year-old male, police said.

Police added that the persons involved were known to each other after having studied music at the University.

The male was released on bail pending his arraignment in Northampton District Court yesterday.

Amherst Police also reported the arrest of three persons in two separate incidents in the parking lot of the Pub on North Pleasant Street.

In the first incident, a 14-year-old Amherst youth was taken into custody after he allegedly assaulted an employee of the Pub with a machete. Police say that the employee was attempting to stop two persons from leaving the establishment with Pub Mugs when the juvenile intervened. The youth will be arraigned at a later date in Juvenile Court on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

In the second incident, two Connecticut men were arrested and charged with several violations of drug laws after an Amherst Community Service Officer noticed suspicious activity in a parked automobile.

Police say that when arrested, the pair were in possession of two grams of cocaine, four ounces of marijuana, and paraphenalia (razor blades, mirrors, and plastic bags).

The duo was charged with: possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of cocaine, and possession of cocaine with intent to distribute. The pair was held without bail pending their arraignment.

In other police business, Amherst Police report two UMass students were arrested on April 29 for being minors in possession of alcohol.

Activist Conference protests investments in South Africa

By DAVE LINTON
Collegian Staff

A regional conference of activists from several northeastern states seeking the withdrawal of funds from companies in South Africa to protest that country's apartheid system was held this past weekend at Amherst College.

"The conference is important because it represents a coming together of student and community groups to recognize and coordinate their individual action against investment in South Africa," said Joshua Nessen.

Nessen of the American Committee on Africa that organized the conference. The conference follows several recent demonstrations at colleges such as Amherst and Harvard.

"The fact that we can bring people from New York, New Jersey, Maine, and Rhode Island is significant. Some groups couldn't come in person but they do do work," Nessen said.

Mass Divest campaign worker Robert Shaefer, an aide to Massachusetts State Senator Jack Backman, D-Brookline, was the keynote speaker. Mass Divest, a coalition of groups opposed to public and corporate investments in South Africa, was successful in getting divestment legislation passed last January. The legislation passed over former Governor King's veto, affected about $90 million in state pension funds.

"The legislative campaign is a great untold story. It reached a point where corporations in South Africa were forming to combat divestment legislation," Nessen said.

Grass roots organizing strategies were discussed as a means of ending investments.

"We've decided to target commencement exercises and ask graduating seniors to pledge not to contribute to the endowment until divestment (of their schools) occurs," said Nessen.

"Students can do things like finding exiled South Africans on campus who can testify about the situation in South Africa," Shaefer said. "The people who have the time and energy are the young, the students."

"Divestment is an extraordinary activity but what is going on down there is also an extraordinary activity and warrants action," he said.

GET MORE OUT OF THIS SUMMER AT URI

Register now for summer classes at URI. There are more than 300 credit and non-credit subjects being offered — everything from computers to psychology.

Classes meet at the main campus in Kingston and at our convenient URI Building in downtown Providence. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions let you set up your schedule to suit your summer schedule. Register now.* Classes start June 20.

For registration or a summer course list, call: 277-3800.

Open new doors. Open your mind.

URI COLLEGE OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

*To help assure your choice of courses, register by June 14th.

Women's Week events schedule

TUESDAY

The Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom (CERRF) will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Campus Center room 902.

A table will be set up from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Campus Center concourse asking for support in a letter writing campaign opposing the Eagleton Amendment which was passed by the Senate last week which says an abortion is not secured by the U.S. Constitution.

WEDNESDAY

Rene Carew will speak on "Work/Career Issues for Women" at a luncheon from noon to 2 p.m. in room 1001 of the Campus Center. The luncheon is being sponsored by the University Women's Professional Network.

THURSDAY

The International Women's event evaluation meeting will be held at 1 p.m. in room 422 of the Student Union.

The Anti-Racism Team will meet at 4 p.m. in room 801 of the Campus Center.

The Women's Leadership Project will meet at 6:30 p.m. in room 415 of the Student Union.

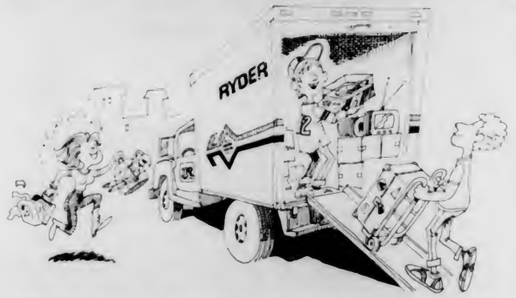
FRIDAY

The life/career planning: Black Women "Moving On" will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow, in room 165 of the Campus Center. For more information call the Everywoman's Center at 5-0883.

Collegian photo by Chris Jungmann

Andy Sollecito fielded questions from passersby last Thursday on the Metawampe lawn. His 37 pound pet, Rikk, attracted a fair amount of attention.

Move Yourself, All Your Stuff, And Save, Too!



It's as easy as renting a Ryder truck, one way.

Compare costs before you make plans for moving at the end of the semester.

If you're 18 or older and have a valid driver's license, you can use a Ryder truck, rent-it-here, leave-it-there. Load up your stereo, 10-speed, clothes; everything. You'll still have room, no doubt, for one or two friends with their things to share the cost.

Compare that to the price of a plane ticket. Or even a bus. Plus shipping.

Rent a newer truck from the best-maintained, most dependable fleet in the world - Ryder. The best truck money can rent.

WE'LL BE ON CAMPUS

to show you how easy it is to move yourself RIGHT.

We'll gladly quote you rates and answer your questions. Come see us.

RYDER TRUCK RENTAL

SAVE!!! 10% on your next Truck Rental inquire at the Collegian for your student discount card.

- For Reservation Information call -

253-5843 College St. Arco 260 College St. Amherst, Mass.

549-0010 No. Amherst Motors 40 Montague Rd. No. Amherst, Mass.

586-6364 Ricks Auto Repair & Rental 442 Elm St. Northampton, Mass.

Town Meeting makes TV debut

By MITCH ZEMEL
Collegian Staff

The 224th Annual Town Meeting of Amherst began last night, and for the Town Manager, the Assistant Town Manager, and 98 Town Meeting members, it is their first session ever.

The meetings are being televised this year by Community Cable Access Television (C.C.A.T.V.), the local cable station. Matt Reid, a member of the station's Board of Directors said that the Town Meeting is the "central political institution", and the citizens of the town should be able to view it.

The Town Meeting, which has been known to last as many as 14 days, got off to a relatively quick start and covered the first eight articles in an hour-and-a-half. There are 79 articles on in this year's Town Meeting Warrant Article.

Article Three, which appropriates and transfers $30,500 from the Speed and Alcohol Enforcement Program SAP to the Police Account was passed unanimously. Because the SAP program did not get state funding requested, the program was continued by the town's Police Department by allocating funds from the operating budget. This transfer of funds will cover the costs assumed by the Police Department.

Article Four, which allocates money for the removal of Snow and Ice was dismissed because, as Selectmen Frederick Steinbeck said, "There is enough money in the account if we don't get any more snow."

Article Five, which appropriates $5,000 to repair the East Leverett Road Bridge, was passed by the Meeting members, as was the Article Six which appropriates $20,000 for the continued engineering and design of East Street-Main Street Intersection.

The Town also passed Article Seven, which appropriates $70,290 to the Water Interest Account. Article Eight was also passed. This Article authorizes the Town Treasurer to borrow money in anticipation of the revenue for the new financial year.

Birthmother groups support women who gave up kids to adoption

By ROBIN MANDEL
Collegian Staff

Statues banning the disclosure of the names of parents of adopted children have created controversy and aroused considerable interest within the legal profession, according to two coordinators of birthmother organizations in Massachusetts.

Birthmother support organizations are groups set up to provide support, aid and legal information to women who have relinguished a child for adoption.

Helen O'Donnell, coordinator and organizer of the Western Massachusetts Birthmother Support Group, which is no longer in existence said, "Adoptees have a need to search for their roots. They have a desire to know the circumstances of their birth, their family medical history and why they were placed up for adoption. And, just as adoptees have the right to this resource information regarding their past background, birthparents also have the right to learn about the children that they have relinguished."

Because of the secrecy behind adoption, birthmothers may never be able to obtain information about their relinquished children.

"It is an inhuman policy to be prohibited to know anything about the child relinquished. It is also a breach of the constitutional right on the part of the adoptee," said Libbi Campbell, Regional and Massachusetts coordinator for Concerned United Birthparents (CUB), a nationwide birthparent organization.

According to O'Donnell, the experience of being a birthmother is an isolated one. The woman feels a tremendous sense of frustration and a constant wondering about the child that she has relinquished. Questions such as whether the child is dead or alive and whether the child is happy may arise in the birthmother's mind.

"The common expression that women hear is 'you'll go on, life goes on'. This is not true. It is an ongoing situation, a grieving process which will often haunt the birthmother for the rest of her life. People think relinquishing a child for adoption is similar to having a child that dies. But with death, at least there can be a reconciliation — the parent knows that the child is dead. In these cases, a birthmother may actually run into her child and not even realize it is her own child," O'Donnell said.

The common myth in society is that women who surrender their babies do so because they do not want them. O'Donnell said that people need to be aware of the basics regarding this myth. The majority of women who surrender their children do so because of lack of options.

"Women surrender their children for several reasons. Before 1979 and before abortion and birth control was legalized, a single woman was faced with a terrible stigma of having an illegitmate child. So, she would turn to adoption, the only other option open to her if the father of the baby wouldn't marry her. Today, a teenage woman will often give up a baby because she does not make a large enough income and therefore finds she cannot support the child financially. Other times, a birthmother will feel that she is not emotionally ready to deal with a baby at that time of her life," she said.

Newslines . . .

NEAG voting today and tomorrow, Worcester Commons polling place

Kirsten Dahl is the unopposed candidate for vice-president.

Darcy Conway is being challenged by a write-in candidate for the treasurers post.

Diane Rossi and Pauline Kelly square off in the race for secretary.

Voting will be held tomorrow and Thursday in Worcester Dining Commons for Northeast Area Government (NEAG) positions.

Marge Deacutis faces Joseph Sparks in the showdown for the NEAG presidency.

Unopposed candidates victorious in SW Area Government voting

Presidential co-candidates, Fran Hegeler and Michael Bean, easily won the Southwest Area Government (SWAG) elections last Thursday, with 215 votes cast in the uncontested race.

Lisa Stratouly and Scott Kogos won the co-vice-president's positions with 205 votes, also unchallenged.

Rose Longo received 206 votes to win the position of SWAG Treasurer, unopposed.

Howard Breslau, a write-in candidate, received 30 votes to take the position of communications coordinator for SWAG.

Awards for 4th Video Art Festival

The Union Video Center has announced the winners of the Fourth Annual Video Art Festival.

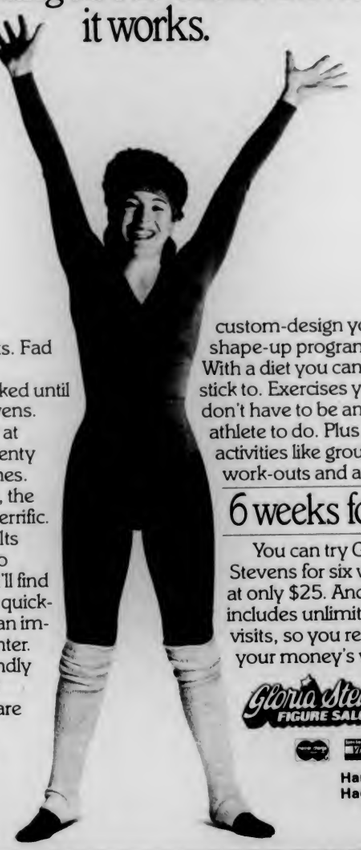
Lewis Schoenbrun received top honors in the documentary category with his production entitled "Reaching from the Silence." W. Keith Setterlund's "Dark Glass" was selected first in the avant garde category. Jason Kliot was declared the winner of the narrative category with his production entitled "Glances: 14th Street."

Runners-up in the three respective categories were Homer Meade, Hawley Hussey and James L. Nelson.

TONIGHT

POOR RICHARDS

Losing 20 pounds says something about Gloria Stevens: it works.



Pat Cotter tried everything. Fad diets. Fad exercises.

But nothing worked until she tried Gloria Stevens.

In just six weeks at Gloria's, she lost twenty pounds and 20 inches. And as you can see, the results were really terrific.

If you'd like results like Pat's, come in to Gloria Stevens. You'll find it's not just another quick-loss diet center. Or an impersonal fitness center.

It's a warm, friendly place where expert technicians really care about you.

They'll help you custom-design your own shape-up program. With a diet you can actually stick to. Exercises you don't have to be an athlete to do. Plus fun activities like group work-outs and aerobics.

6 weeks for $25.

You can try Gloria Stevens for six weeks at only $25. And that includes unlimited visits, so you really get your money's worth.

Gloria Stevens FIGURE SALONS

Hampshire Mall
Hadley, Route 9
584-0105

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert
by

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
Victor
BORGE

Conducting, playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

MASSACHUSETTS BAY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
Division of Continuing Education

Quality Education at Affordable Prices

For only $35.00 per credit hour you can get a headstart on next semester, or catch up on this semester. Mass Bay Community College offers 3 credit courses and non-credit workshops in your area of interest, day or evening this summer. Classes begin May 31 (Session 1) and July 12 (Session 2).

50 Oakland Street,
Wellesley Hills, MA 02181
tel. (617) 237-1100 ext. 132

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Monetary muddle makes mess

How does one plan our economy? Our economy is not a planned economy, unlike the Russians we do not have five year plans. Instead we have men who aspire to be president every four years. In that sense we do have our own four year plan. Every time a candidate is elected or reelected there is the annual promise that all our problems will be solved if we continue to support him. Let's take a look at the last man to claim this priviledge, Ronald Reagan.

According to the President his taxing policies should be credited for slowing down the rate of inflation. This accomplishment however, is the result of the Federal Reserve's monetary policy of restricting the growth of the money supply. This in itself is not remarkable, history is filled with people who take credit for someone else's work. What is remarkable has been the high degree of national tolerance that the public has given to the President.

Chris Ferretti

The President has dismissed the New Deal, but with twelve million people jobless, his administration has also garnered the dubious credit for having produced the highest levels of unemployment by any administration since the Great Depression.

The Reagan Administration is not only much more conservative than the Carter Administration, but it has shown itself to be significantly more conservative than the earlier post-war Republican Administrations of Presidents Eisenhower, Nixon, and Ford. This conservative shift is evident by a heavy reliance upon monetarist economics, which is the result of a disillusionment with traditional Keynesian economics and its inflationary tendencies.

Monetarism has been used by all presidents since Roosevelt as a means to control credit and interest rates, but never has this reliance been so extensive.

Monetarism is a form of economic conservatism that is widely recognized as the Economist Milton Friedman's brand of idealogy. An idealogy that centers on controlling the growth of the economy's money supply. There is a general belief that such control is sufficient to bring down the rate of inflation while allowing real growth to continue.

Monetarism has worked fairly well for the most part on our economy, — the stock market is reaching new highs on the Dow Jones figures, and the interest rates are low in comparison to three years ago but we have had to pay a price for this.

The fact that the Reagan Administration has reduced social spending in lieu of increased allocations for defense is not exactly new, but due to these cuts there is less financial aid for education.

In January for example, the University's Financial Aid Office was only able to meet a third of the total, that's total student need.

Or consider how easy it is to finance your education with a Guaranteed Student Loan today, as opposed to three and a half years ago before the implimentation of the needs-test?

How is one to interpret the unemployment figures cited by the President when military personnel are included in this computation as honest figures?

Is this the sign of a truly competent administration?

Monetarism is a more than adequate means to control sudden and explosive inflationary growth, that is what it was designed to do. But as far as being a tool of economic reform its powers are limited by its drawbacks. In the past year the President's policies have caused a drop in the prime rate, but unemployment has increased proportionally. Will this level of unemployment increase or decrease with the continuance of his economic policies?

I cannot answer that, but in two months I will be able to find out which employment statistic I am destined to become part of.

W.C. Fields is famous for his line "never give a sucker an even break." Who is the "sucker" these days?

Chris Ferretti is a Collegian columnist

Give UMass some credit

I for one, am really sick and tired of hearing students constantly putting down UMass. It is really disheartening to hear students gossiping furiously about the downfalls of this University and never mention one of its many assets. I am not from Massachusetts and I came to this school because in the eyes of the rest of the country, it has a great reputation — it's just too bad that the students here don't appreciate that. This school is like a self-run, independent city. It does not cater to anyone. If you want to be spoon fed it certainly is not the school for you. However, if you want to learn how to make it on your own, make your own decisions, and choose your own lifestyle. UMass is indeed a perfect choice.

Kelly McDonald

Sure, sometimes the red tape and the interminable webs of complications at Whitmore can get you down. But when things finally come together, the reward is self-satisfaction. The diversity of the education that can be acquired at UMass is limitless. But the key word here is "can be acquired". You have to go out and get it yourself — the school is not the education, rather the instrument through which to acquire the education. It is up to us to decide just what we want that education to be. It's up to us to decide how much we want to learn. Some of us at this school will graduate and go on to be the future decision makers of the country and perhaps the world; others will slide through, doing just enough to get by. If that's what you choose to do, that's fine. But don't bring the rest of us or the school down with you.

Some of us have great pride in this University and view it as a golden opportunity to achieve many of our dreams, a truly revealing experience that teaches us so much about the world in which we live and even more about ourselves. UMass offers us, as students, so many doors to the future — but the doorknob is on our side. It is ultimately up to us.

So when things aren't going your way at this school, do something about it. But with constructive action not destructive criticism. Don't spend your time searching for new demeaning adjectives to describe UMass — spend your time taking a good look at yourself and try to decide why you're here and what you want to accomplish. If you're here because it's the "right thing" to do after high school, then it's not surprising that you're not very happy. But don't use the quality of education here at UMass as the scapegoat, when the problem really comes down to you not knowing what you want to do with your life.

Of course UMass is far from perfect, just like everything else in life. But this school serves as an excellent instrument for a quality education to those who choose a quality education as their goal. So next time you find yourself saying ZooMass or another degrading slogan, stop and realize that you're really putting down yourself not the school. And for those of us who work hard to try and acquire the education we value so much, UMass certainly is a great state university!

Kelly McDonald is a UMass student

Letters

Thanks for successful survey

To the Editor:

Over the course of this school year Campus Crusade for Christ, an interdenominational student organization, has conducted 190 personal interviews with individuals all over campus taking a fifteen question student religious survey. We thought the results would be of interest to the student body.

After being asked about their philosophy of life, each person was asked what they thought was the basic problem of humanity, usually answering self-centeredness. Out of 190 people interviewed, only 50 thought that their philosophy of life included a solution for the basic problem of man.

An especially surprising point was that 116 of the 190 said that they believed in a God who is both infinite and personal. 165 said, if they could, they would be interested in knowing God personally.

We were impressed most by students' desire to know God personally, but also by their openness to discuss spiritual issues.

We appreciate all those who helped us with the survey.

Bob Coffey
Campus Crusade for Christ

Poor Senior Day planning

To the Editor:

The Chancellor's Reception for Seniors (Senior Day) will be held Thursday, May 26 from 12 to 5 p.m., which also happens to be the last day of finals. Some seniors, such as myself, have finals that are scheduled that day. Mine is at 1:30, therefore, I can attend the last hour and a half, but what about the seniors who have one at 4 p.m.? Don't we all deserve the right to attend all of Senior Day if we want to?

We've paid tuition and put up with all the hassles and hardships of UMass for 4 years; at least we all should be able to finally celebrate getting our degrees together. Scheduling Senior Day for the last day of finals was inconsiderate, reckless, and in extremely poor taste. It should be rescheduled so every senior can attend.

I made several phone calls with my complaint and was informed that the Chancellor had another reception to attend at the Campus Center on Friday and having Senior Day then would be a conflict. I am not sure whether the conflict is: the noise factor, the litter, the Chancellor's inability to attend (although, to the best of my knowledge, I've never known the Chancellor to attend), or some other reason. But, whatever it is, if they held it on Friday in the Northeast Quad like they have done in the past then at least the noise wouldn't be heard, the litter wouldn't be seen, and the Chancellor could drop by if he wanted to.

It is grossly insensitive to schedule Senior Day on the last day of finals. I hope the administration will have the courtesy to schedule future Senior Days after all finals are over. We and future seniors have the right to enjoy Senior Day.

Kimberly Watterud
Amherst

Collegian

Board of Editors

Kevin Bowe Editor-in-Chief
Ed Levine Managing Editor
Jamés Shanahan Production Manager
Joel Myerson Business Manager
John Hudson Executive Editor
John DiPalazzo News Editor
Cris Schuster Women's Editor
Doug Muise Arts Editor
Gus Martins Black Affairs Editor
Billy Shea Sports Editor
Kevin J. Fachetti Photo Editor

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Sweeties
FINE CHOCOLATES AND CONFECTIONS
WE'VE GOT YOUR CONE!
Soft-Serve
63 N. Pleasant St., 253-5589

KRONE
Clogs
Mathews SHOE STORE
The Village Common, Amherst

Now in Stock
CONVERSE
BOLLES SHOES
8 Main St.
across from the common
253-5598 open Mon - Sat 9:00 - 5:30

VALLEY BICYCLES
Authorized Dealer
FUJI
NISHIKI
Sales, Service
Rentals
• 3 speeds
• 10 speeds
• accessories
starting at $7.00/day
89 Main St, Amherst
256-0880
Behind the Cheese Shop
and Valley Farms Dairy Shop

Scholl Exercise Sandals
the patented sandal
Cool comfort from sculptured European beechwood, foam-cushioned straps. In light or dark-toned wood and strap colors that go everywhere with everything.
Regular Scholl's Sandals $12.99
with this coupon expires 5/17

Bic Pens..... 19¢
5-Subject Notebook
150 sheet Reg. $2.29..... now $1.29
3-Subject Notebook 120 sheet..... $1.19
50¢ OFF
all tanning lotions in stock
with this coupon expires 5/17
CAMBRIDGE DIET
available at COLLEGE DRUG
4 MAIN STREET, AMHERST, Phone 253-2523

Great Spring
SALE!
Clothing Jewelry
Chinese Shoes
20% off all Bedspreads
20 - 40% off selected Clothing
30% off selected Jewelry
Daily 10 AM - 6 PM
Use the BUS STOP out front
great gifts - great prices
THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS

COPIES
4¢ high quality-while you wait
3½¢ high quality-overnight
3¢ regular quality - while you wait
2½¢ regular quality overnight
WORKER OWNED 1983
Collective Copies 256-6425
25 N. Pleasant St. Amherst
HOURS: M-F 8am-midnight SAT. 9-5, SUN 11-5
• THESIS QUALITY
• ACID-FREE PAPER
• REDUCTIONS
• BINDING $1.25

Commencement is coming!
Join the excitement in the Collegian's Commencement special to be handed out to graduates and relatives during Commencement '83 in Alumni Stadium May 28, 1983
Reserve your space now!
Call 545-3500 for details

Summertime & the Reading gets easy
with ½ price new books to take your mind traveling, gardening, fantasizing... or wherever your heart desires.
The Reading Remedy
NEW BOOKS AT HALF PRICE
★ Great Graduation Gifts
★ Always paying cash for current texts
71 N Pleasant St., Amherst 256-6498
(across from Louis Foods) Open Mon-sat 10-6

Typewriter Ribbons & Typewriter Paper
at
A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

Memo to UMass Faculty
We would appreciate your Course Book order for the summer or fall semester. It will be given our prompt efficient and loving attention.
Jeffery Amherst Bookshop
55 S. Pleasant St
Amherst
253-3381

DELANO'S
MAY HAPPY HOUR SPECIAL
Beck's Bottles
2 for 1
plus our original twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a must
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

MAY ICE CREAM OF THE MONTH
MISSISSIPPI MUDD ICE CREAM
Here's mud in your eye
Mississippi Mud to be exact. A yummy combination of Milk Chocolate and Chocolate Fudge that's marbled on a delicious chocolate base.
Scoop some up with a taste today.
Baskin-Robbins. More of what you love ice cream for.
MISSISSIPPI MUDD
Strawberry
Chocolate Almond
Chocolate Chip
Rocky Road
Chocolate Mint
Jamoca Almond Fudge
Butter Pecan
Pralines 'n Cream
Peanut Butter 'n Chocolate
Chocolate Fudge
French Vanilla
Burgundy Cherries Jubilee
Jamoca
Pistachio Almond
and many more
BASKIN-ROBBINS ICE CREAM STORE 31
28 Main St., 253-9774
Store Hrs 11 am - 10 pm
across from the common

GREEK NIGHT
TUESDAY
TWO FOR ONE
all liquor drinks
9 till 11
with music by
RACK-A-DISC
9 til 1 NO COVER
THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

Keep up with the PBS series

COSMOS
CARL SAGAN

Hardcover was $23.00
Paperback NOW$12.95

UNIVERSITY STORE
Open
M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
Located in the Campus Center

★Rhetoric Exemption Exam★

The Rhetoric Exemption Exam will be given on:

★WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1983★
6:30 - 8:30 p.m.
BARTLETT 61

The test is open only to students who entered as freshmen prior to Fall 1982 or transfers who will be Juniors before Fall 1984. This is the last time this exam will be given this semester. Bring student I.D. and a pen.

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS

ONLY $7.00
(with this coupon only)
$10.00 with Shampoo & Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
expires 5/30/83
VA

FREE CONSULTATIONS

Please Call for an Appointment
Styles by Deborah
65 University Drive Amherst, MA 549-5610

BUS DRIVING JOBS
U-Mass Transit Service will accept applications for its Summer Training Program
Thurs. May 5
6:00 PM
Rm 174 - 6 Campus Center

Minimum Qualifications:
- 18 years of age
- Held Class III license for at least 1 year
- Enrolled in a U-Mass degree program with at least 3 semesters remaining must show schedule or transcript as proof of class year

Only 75 Applications
Will Be Accepted

Both work study and non-work study are acceptable
U-Mass Transit is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer

GOING SOMEWHERE
IN A GROUP?
For your next trip—any size group—call or visit us for a price quotation. No obligation—it will be our pleasure to quote you our economical rates.

CHARTER SERVICE
To All Points In The U.S.A. And Canada.

• Mini-buses • School buses • Hotel, Meal & Sightseeing Arrangements • Luxurious Highway Coaches Restroom Equipped and Air-Conditioned • Express Bus Service to Bradley Airport. For Information, Call 781-3320

Travel Time Bus Lines Inc.
99 Arnold Street, Springfield, MA
General Office & Charter Service: 783-0211
Toll Free in MA 1-800-322-0297

MARTHA'S VINEYARD
ECONOMICS
SUMMER COURSES
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
AT AMHERST
ECONOMICS 103 — INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS (3CR) June 13-July 13
ECONOMICS 104 — INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS (3CR) July 25-August 23
Classes meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 7:45 - 10:45 a.m. For additional information, contact:
Debra Lyon
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0530

Arts

Superb instrumentation

NEW YORK CHAMBER SOLOISTS
Saturday, April 30
Fine Arts Center

By JULIE PROCOPIOW
Collegian Staff

The lights were dimmed, the curtain rose, and the first concerto began.

"Delightful," I mumbled to myself as I nestled back in my seat and concentrated on the music of Bach coming from the stage. For a second I thought I was in Carnegie Hall, the home of the nation's finest musical talent.

I nervously looked around the concert hall to see if anyone else shared my confusion. Unfortunately, my glances were simply greeted by the tranquil, smiling faces of the audience engrossed in the concert. I checked my program and realized that I wasn't in Carnegie Hall at all, but right on campus, in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. The New York Chamber Soloists had come here to mesmerize us with their superlative instrumentation!

The six Brandenberg Concerti, by the Johann Sebastian Bach, constituted the program for Saturday night's performance, and yet nobody was disappointed at having to listen solely to one composer all night. The title "Brandenburg Concertos" was derived from Bach's dedication to Margrave Christian Ludwig of Brandenburg. Nevertheless, they were not conceived together as a set nor as a direct response to the Margrave's request.

Bach described this set of concertos as "Six Concerts avec plusiers instruments" (six concertos with several instruments). The pieces highlight the beautiful sounds of the violin, viola, cello, double bass, flute, oboe, bassoon, trumpet, french horn, and harpsichord.

The pieces were not played in numerical order; the concert began with Concerto no. 3 and ended with Concerto No. 2. This made for a more exciting program as it was interesting to note why the various pieces were played in the order that they were.

Concerto No. 3 in G Major was scored for strings, consisting of three violins, three violas, and three cellos. This variation was effective in outlining the three distinct pitches of these instruments.

Concerto No. 5 in D Major followed and was the most exceptional of the concertos. In this piece, the three different movements were distinguished by the playing of separate instruments. The flute and violin, for example, took control of the second movement (Affetuoso). This followed an engaging harpsichord solo passage played by Harriet Wingreen, who simply amazed the audience with her endurance and skill.

Next came Concerto No. 1 in F Major which brought in the French horn, oboe, and bassoon for the first time. This piece is distinctive for its continual motif of thirds, incorporating Menuetto-Trio passages in the music towards the end of the piece. After intermission, the program recommenced with Concerto No. 6 in B-flat Major, which included the cello, viola, double bass, and harpsichord. This was my least favorite piece of the concertos just because there didn't seem to be as much variety in it as the others.

The New York Chamber soloists.

Concerto No. 4 in G Major made up for it though, as the two flutes enlivened the stage in "dialogue"; they were assisted by the background accompaniment of the bass, cello, harpsichord, violin, and viola.

Concerto No. 2 in F Major ended the performance, bringing in the trumpet for the first time. Due to the illness of the regular trumpet player, another trumpeter substituted who was, unfortunately, not as exceptional as the other players. However, the piece possessed the same amount of charm as the others and did not hinder the audiences reaction one way or the other.

I left the concert hall feeling so lucky to have the opportunity to hear such musical virtuosos right here on campus. With groups like the New York Chamber Soloists coming to the university to treat us to their fine musical talents, who needs Carnegie Hall?

Live from the Hatch

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

Between 6 and 7 p.m., every day the lights at the "Back of the Hatch" are lowered. Although this practice is personally annoying, there are at least two good reasons why this is done.

These two reasons emerge Thursday and Friday nights when the bass booming jukebox is turned off. Then the bar offers reduced prices on draft beers, and the Hatch sponsors live entertainment.

"The Hatch provides a good, but not a formidible stage, there is less pressure and it gives the artist a chance to develop their talent and gain some experience," said John Furbish, the entertainment Coordinator for the Hatch.

"The only such opportunities on campus are the dormitory coffee houses. The Hatch offers a chance for a performing group to form its own identity," he said.

Larry Jeffers, added, "We don't pay, it's largely voluntary, but we'll give them a free meal and a beer."

Of the acts performing there were two that I caught. "Olaja," who performed two weeks ago, is a group that blends Afro-Brazilian drum music and dancing.

Another group, "Fred Clayton and Friends," offers a blend of progressive jazz and has continued to play for repeat performances at the Hatch in honor of Martin Luther King Week and the 12th annual Black Musicians Conference.

On Thursday and Friday nights when the lights are lowered and the jukebox is turned off, you know that there is one more alternative for entertainment besides the T.O.C. and the Bluewall. Besides, its free and who knows, one of these days maybe it will be you performing.

For information about booking you can contact either John or Larry at the Hatch.

Si Kahn, a folksong performer, described by the Boston Globe as "a living legend on the folk circuit," will give his first Valley concert at 7:30 p.m., on May 5 at Northampton High School Auditorium, Northampton. The concert is a benefit for Mass Fair Share. Tickets are $5.50 in advance, $6.50 at the door. For more information, call (413) 732-2353.

A blast from the past

Non Fiction (Warner Bros.)
The Blasters

By DON NAREY
Collegian Staff

It's unlikely that Kasey Kasem will soon be telling an anecdote of how "his friends," the Blasters, made it to number one, but then there's more to rock music than the Saturday morning countdown. There's spirit, style and energy. The Blasters chose to look to the past for those things. They haven't been merely influenced by 50's rock, they play it flat out. Though their lyrics are all original, one gets the distinct feeling that he's heard them before. Their authenticity is both good and bad.

The good part is that the Blasters have learned well from the founding fathers who've inspired them. The voice of Phil Alvin is slick and full-bodied, complete with an occasional Holly-like hiccup. Working class love stories and reflections of teenage angst hold the lyrics to the tradition of early rock 'n roll. "Jubilee Train" offers a taste of old-fashioned American optimism. Praising the "New Deal comin'," it's rock seasoned with southern gospel reminiscent of upbeat traditional hymns like "Uncloudy Day."

"Long White Cadillac" has new meaning when one notes that it's dedicated to the legendary Hank Williams. What he had and we lost is recalled in this rowdy tribute:

"One time I had all that I wanted
But it just slipped through my hands
One time I sang away the sorrow
One time I took it like a man."

There's no denying that, at times, the Blasters shine. Their musicianship is fine and Phil Alvin's voice is unfaltering. What this band lacks may not have a name, but it's what makes your hair stand on end at the sound of wailing blues or makes you want to jump up and down just to become part of a rock 'n roll beat. It's a lot to expect from any band, yet from rock traditionalists we expect it even more. The lack of both force and originality will keep the Blasters from the ranks of album oriented radio and their fortunate distaste for mainstream pop will keep them off the singles charts. They remain good rock purists in a no man's land held from greatness by their insistence upon limiting themselves so strictly.

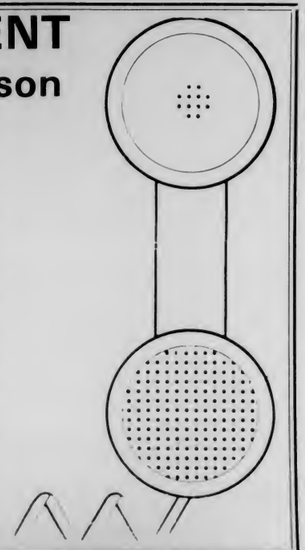
But, take heart. There's still time for the Blasters to find a place and yes, Kasey, there is life beyond the top forty.

whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free
Delivery
256-8587

4 FREE VIDEO GAMES
with a purchase of 4 games, for college students present ad plus student ID - 1 coupon per nite, expires May 5th. Signature_____
TUES-WED-or THURS * 6 PM thru 1 AM
Special Bonus on machines at all times
(example - Robotron 20 men to start, Joust 12 birds, etc) video games located in
BACK ROOM RECORD & VIDEO SHOP
233 N Pleasant St, in Carriage Shops, near Pub

whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera
Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small
2 item pizza
Only $4.00

EMPLOYMENT
Person to Person
. . .that's how we are reaching out to thousands of UMass alumni for their support—by telephone.
The Telefund Program needs your help in this effort and we are willing to pay $4.00/hour and more for your time—a few evenings each week for the Spring, Summer, Fall.
If you are mature, reliable, and can talk about the University and its needs, we can train you to be an effective caller.
Get off to an early start by stopping at the Telefund office, at Memorial Hall and completing an application, or by calling 545-2317 for further information.



COMPANY
Music and lyrics by STEPHEN SONDHEIM
Book by GEORGE FURTH
Originally Produced and Directed on Broadway by Harold Prince
THE RAND THEATER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
FINE ARTS CENTER
May 5-7, 11-14, 1983, 8:00 PM
RESERVATIONS, 545-3511

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and the surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed on the day they will take place and are listed only once. Announcements MUST be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian office, 113 Campus Center, and returned by 3:45 p.m. Friday before the event is to be held. All submissions should be written in the same style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Firday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

UMASS BICYCLE CLUB MEETING — General Meeting. Nominations for New Officers. Pretrip meeting for Martha's Vineyard Tour - May 6, 7 and 8. If you are interested, please attend. New Members always welcome. 7:30 p.m., CC Rm. 911-15.

"A REPORT ON VISITS TO THE USSR" — Dr. Gabriel Horvay, Professor Emeritus at UMass, spent 8 months living and lecturing inside Russian academia starting in the fall of 1981, first as a Fulbright Lecturer at the Leningrad Polytechnic Institute and then as a Nat'l Academy Exchange Scholar at the Institutes of Mechanics in Moscow, Lvov, Yerevan and Novosibirsk. 4 p.m., Herter 231.

PEOPLE'S GAY ALLIANCE — People's Gay Alliance meeting everyone welcome. 6 p.m., 413 B Student Union.

RIGHTS AND REPRODUCTIVE FREEDOM — "The Right to Abortion is not guaranteed under the Constitution." This passed the Senate Judiciary Committee and is headed to the Senate floor...Together we can stop it. 6:30 p.m., CC 902.

JOURNALISM CLUB MEETING — Orientation meeting for next week's lecturer. Plans to be finalized. New and old members encouraged to attend. Everyone welcome. 7 p.m., 108 Bartlett.

OXFAM SLIDE SHOW AND DISCUSSION — sponsored by the UMass Hunger Task Force for anyone interested in learning more about world hunger and what is being done about it. 7 p.m., Butterfield.

MASS PIB WOMEN'S BIBLE STUDY — All women are invited to come and study with us in an informal setting, the life and teachings of Jesus Christ as described in the Bible. 8 p.m. CC 901.

JAZZ PIANIST — MAKOTO OZONE — in from Berkeley School of Music. Free. All are welcome. 8 p.m., Webster Main Lounge.

FREE SODAS whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY FREE SODAS
363 Main St. Amherst
Large Pepperoni Pizza
for only $6.25
(2 free sodas upon request)
call 256-8587

Undergraduate Teaching Assistantships
The Department of Mathematics and Statistics is seeking qualified undergraduates to assist faculty teaching large lecture sections of Precalculus, Calculus, and Statistics courses. Applicants should have completed at a minimum Math 131-132. Preference in hiring will be given to those who have completed more advanced mathematical courses while maintaining a solid academic record. The job requires about 10 hours per week for attending lectures, taking attendeance, grading papers, tutoring or running discussion sections. The pay is around $550 per semester. Applications are available in the Mathematics Department from Cyndy Magelinski (Room 1623B GTwr) or Mike Gauger (Room 1115J GTwr) and must be submitted by May 20, 1983.

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall By R. Miller

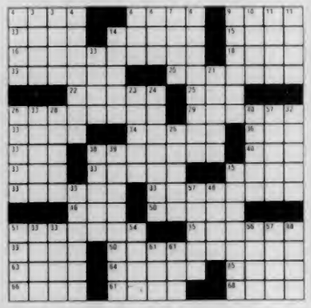
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

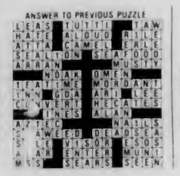
© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 One way to reach first base
5 Travel
9 "Two Years Before the ——"
13 Opposite of baja
14 Small role for a big star
15 Bread spread
16 Wild extravagance?
18 Systematic
19 Muscle
20 Shrews
22 Wide open
25 "The Way" in Confucianism
26 Like a scoundrel
29 Cays
33 Out of control
34 Spinner of fabulous tales
36 The Cumberland ——
37 Foot of sorts
38 Speaker's dais
40 Carnival city
41 Become like Suffix
42 Backward: Prefix
43 Rip
44 Go off the track
46 Brunch treat
49 First name in movie lore
50 Very important people
51 Pamper
55 Bivouac
59 Cookout, e.g.
60 Risk taker
63 Loblolly
64 Records
65 Actress Raines
66 Board of a sort
67 Biographer Ludwig
68 Comedienne Goodman

DOWN
1 Piece
2 Plant used for cosmetics
3 Musical
4 Sorry character
5 Conflict
6 Australian bird
7 No. to a Ham burger
8 Gift
9 Genghis Khan
10 Sailor's course
11 Scorch
12 Babes
14 Pink
17 Robe
21 Quebec peninsula
23 Queue
24 Something to lift?
26 Abrupt
27 Astound
28 Disseminator
30 Heron
31 Smirch
32 English potter Josiah
35 Finland, to a Finn
38 Test
39 Consign
43 Succored
45 Talisman
47 Ties up
48 Mardi Gras follower
51 Little devils
52 Diamond
53 Author of 9 Across
54 Cheese town
56 One of the Guthries
57 Pinochle term
58 Invocate
61 Blacksburg inst.
62 Teleost



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE



WEATHER

Variable cloudiness today with temperatures peaking around 70. Lows tonight in the mid 40's. Mostly cloudy manana and a wee bit cooler with highs approaching 60.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Chicken cutlet sandwich
Cranberry sauce
Tomato Torte

BASICS LUNCH
Chicken cutlet sandwich
Cranberry sauce
Tomato Torte

DINNER
Chili Cheese Puff
Reuben Sandwich
Roast pork
Gravy, applesauce

BASICS DINNER
Hi-Protein spaghetti
Tomato sauce
with Tofu and mushrooms
Chili Cheese Puff

Typists wanted
Gain experience working for the largest college newspaper
Apply Room 113 Campus Center
Wednesday Night
7:00 p.m.

Men's tennis places sixth

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

NEW HAVEN, Ct. — They have always said tennis was a rich man's sport. To play it well involves not only talent, but substantial expenses for raquets, shoes, coaching and club membership.

Therefore it is not surprising that the top three finishers at the New England tennis championships this past weekend were Harvard, Yale, and Brown, all of whom belong to the Ivy League.

The University of Massachusetts men's tennis team ended the tournament in sixth place out of ten teams. Besides the Ivy schools, Boston University and Dartmouth, another Ivy Leaguer, also finished ahead of the Minutemen.

The most impressive performances for UMass were by Neal Mackertich in "A" singles and the tandem of Steve Jordan and Rich Lindgren in "B" doubles. Mackertich advanced to the semifinals of his bracket before falling to number one seed Glen Layendecker of Yale, 7-5, 6-2. Previous to that match, Mackertich had beaten Chris Ditmar (Providence) in the first round, 6-4, 6-2, and crushed John Hare (Brown) in the second round, 6-1, 6-2.

"If Neal had played great tennis he would have beaten him (Layendecker), but he didn't and still almost beat him," said Coach Bob Szlosek. "(Layendecker) made Neal miss some shots that he normally wouldn't miss."

Jordan/Lindgren advanced to the semis of their doubles bracket, but lost to the Harvard number two team of Adam Beren/Dave Beckman (who defeated UCLA's two doubles tandem earlier this year) 6-2, 6-3. In the first two rounds Jordan/Lindgren defeated Boston College's and Rhode Island's #2 doubles teams.

Other than Mackertich, all other singles players lost in the first round.

Women learn at Atlantic 10

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

In a learning experience this past weekend in the Atlantic 10 tennis championships at Penn State, the University of Massachusetts Women's tennis team rebounded from a poor start to claim fifth place.

UMass opened the tournament, which had team competition instead of a individual competition and lost to Rutgers, who finished third, 7-2 in the opening round.

From then on, UMass was regulated to the consolation bracket and won the bracket by beating Temple 6-3 and routing Rhode Island 7-0.

Number one singles player Ariel Fowler went 2-1 on the weekend (play was on Friday and Saturday), losing only to Rutgers. Elizabeth Sullivan, at the number two spot, struggled with the flu and finished with a 1-2 record.

Nancy Bolger, who got stronger as the tourney progressed, went undefeated, 3-0. She shut out URI 6-0, 6-0 and blasted Temple 6-1, 6-0.

Chris Frazier, at number four, also went undefeated at 3-0.

Patricia Sullivan (number five) went C-3 and Karen Orlowski (number six) went 1-1 on the weekend.

In the doubles, number one team of Elizabeth Sullivan-Chris Frazier went 1-2. Their only win was a hard earned 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 win over URI. Number two doubles Ariel Fowler-Nancy Bolger went 2-1 highlighted by a 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 comeback win.

Number three team of Maureen Hanlon-Wendy Scheerer also went 2-1 absorbing a tough 7-6, 6-3 loss to Rutgers.

The Minutewomen are not going to rest now hosting Brown today at 4 p.m. at NOPE.

Baseball team still hot

By TONY BETROS
Collegian Staff

FAIRFIELD, Ct. — Thirteen out of sixteen.

It sounds like something the men's lacrosse team would accomplish, but the surprise team of the season has got to be the University of Massachusetts men's baseball team. They improved their record to 15-13 with a come-from-behind 8-6 victory over Fairfield University yesterday.

The win puts UMass at 8-4 in the ECAC, right up there with the University of Maine and the University of Connecticut, who the Minutemen face in a crucial game today at 3 p.m. at Lorden Field.

The heroics started in the top of the eighth, with UMass down 6-4. It got that way due to a three-run homer by freshman designated hitter Joe Charno in the bottom of the seventh. But enough of that; let's talk about the fun stuff.

Bruce Kingman led off the eighth with a walk for UMass and Andy Conners pushed him to second with a single. UMass looked to be in good shape. Right? Wrong.

Todd Ezold hit into a double play, leaving the Minutemen with a runner on third and two outs. Rally over. Right? Wrong.

Steve Messina stroked a single, driving in Kingman. Co-captain Dean Bennett singled Messina to third and later stole second. That brought up Bruce Emerson, who banged a clutch single, driving in two runs to give UMass a 7-6 lead. Angelo Salustri hit a home run in the ninth to ice the game.

Emerson led the way for UMass, knocking in three runs and also picking up the win for Scott Foster. So, the stage is set for UConn, and UMass is ready to perform.

Susienka wins tourney

University of Massachusetts senior Marlene Susienka ran away from the field blowing off the nearest competitor by ten strokes to capture the New England Championship with a two round total of 152.

Susienka, who has won six of her seven matches this year, may be the top woman golfer New England has seen in the last five or six years, according to UMass coach Jack Leaman.

Jane Eagan was the next UMass finisher with a 186, while Nola Eddy finished with a 188.

Amherst College won the team title with a 669, followed by Dartmouth (682) and UMass (721).

— Billy Shea

Intramural playoffs to begin

Playoff action will be taking place at Boyden intramural field as the men's, women's, co-rec, and grad-fac softball will all be starting playoff competition.

The men's division will kick things off today with first round competition. To qualify, teams must have a 3-2 record or better. One-hundred twenty six teams have made the playoffs for the mens, so if you're not sure if your team made it, call Boyden at 5-2876 or 5-0022.

Next Monday May 9, will be the starting time for the women's bracket. Grad-fac starts one week from today and co-rec begins this Thursday.

Anyone with questions can call Boyden.

— Tony Betros

Tour de france

GRAND PRIZE: 12 SPEED PEUGEOT
FITTED TO WINNER

Winners to be Drawn at Bluewall Luncheon Wed. May 4, 1983
WINNERS NEED NOT BE PRESENT

BICYCLE RAFFLE!

EXCITING RUNNER-UP PRIZES!
Team Peugeot Racing Jersey • Repair Book
(3) Bicycle Seat Bags • Tune-up Certificate
Light with Generator

Any Purchase ($2.00 minimum) in the Bluewall Cafeteria Entitles a Customer to One (1) Raffle Ticket

Amherst center. 3 min to Pub rent negot call 546-9027

Summer sublet fall option 76 Chestnut St, Amherst. easy walk to campus. Available June 1. Call 549-4127 ask for Jim. 150 + per month

Summer sublet Colonial Village one bedroom $225/mth call Tom 256-6659

One bedroom apt w/fall option, AC, pool, tennis, on bus route, $225/month utilities included 665-2538

Brandywine summer sublet 2 bdrm furnished rent neg 549-6440 AC pool

Beautiful large 3 bedroom apt in house Amherst Center excellent location June -Sept 1 $400/month call now 253-2169

4 bedroom Squire Village June thru August fall/option bus route 550/month 665-3686 Tom

Summer sublet/fall option 2 bedroom Northwood Apts. Hot water incl. On bus route. Pool. $200/month neg. Call evenings or before 9:30 AM 665-2939

One bedroom in five bedroom house. Two blocks from UMess $155 545-0794 w/fall option

Two bedroom apt available in Brandywine June to Sept price negotiable call Jennifer 546-5390

w/fall option space available in Colonial Vil apt rent negotiable call 253-7662 after 5

TOWNHOUSE APT 3 bdrm, furnished, rent negotiable call Mike 546-4229 or Rich 256-6041

Puffton Village 1 bdrm in a 3 bdrm apt summer sublet fall option 549-4791

Summer sublet/fall option 1 bed in 2 bed Brittany manor apt 256-0298

2 bedroom Cliffside Apt $285 month includes nice big POOL, tennis courts playing fields all utilities 665-4644

2 bedroom Southwood apt with fall option. Hot water and heat included. 253-7373 early mornings and evenings best

Summer sublet Puffton 2 bedrooms in a 3 bedroom apt bus route pool AC rent neg call 549-6999

TO SUBLET

Mery Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet with fall option. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

TWO BEDROOM TOWNEHOUSE APT. fully furnished. June 1 to Aug 31 negotiable rent call 549-4585

Squire Village townhouse two bedrooms summer sublet fall option $380 + 665-4886

3 bdrm apt available 115 neg utilities incl fall opt 253-9753

Room in Amherst Center for summer sublet $125/month utilities included 253-7396

Two bedrooms in four bedroom apt summer sublet/whole apartment fall option 253-2052

Sunderland 2 bedroom apt on bus route available June 1 w/fall option 325 call 665-7552

2 bedroom apartment in Northwood air conditioner, small garden plot asking $310 but price negotiable call Mir, Lisa, Julia evenings 665-4793

3 bdrm Townehouse Apt fully furnished air conditioned close to campus 549-5848

Two bedroom apartment in Cliffside pool, tennis call 665-4953 negotiable

3 bedroom $336/mo Northwood bus route pool avail June 1 or July 1 665-7783 fall opt

3 bedroom apt furnished June 1 - Sept 1 $296/mo call 549-4047

Presidentiel Apt sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms call 549-0886

ROLLING GREEN 2 BEDROOM TOWNHOUSE AVAILABLE JUNE – SEPTEMBER 1 CHEAP!! CALL 253-9431

TO SUBLET W/FALL OPTION

Practically brand new Brittany Manor 2 bedroom apartment - all applicances are new and in excellent working condition, new wall to wall carpeting, free heat, pool call 256-0391, rent is negotiable

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Students interested in getting money for school expenses 665-3482

Wanted Records -- Cash or trade call Dynamite Records 584-1580

WANTED TO RENT

Two students went house and roommates or just room in Hyannis or Yarmouth. Have money. Dan 253-2071, 256-8785

4 room apartment, long term, starting 6/1. 1 - 2 bedroom, no complexes. Single non-student, references. Fred 253-9884

Wanted 1 bedroom in house or apt for fall will take summer option, if necessary call Laurie 546-5407 after 10:30 pm

Wanted bdrm or apt in Brandywine for summer sublet w/fall option please call 546-7928

Sterling June 1, 1 bdrm apt., walking dist. to Grad Research Cntr., call 546-1948

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

72 VW Van runs great! Must see $1100.00 549-5631

Toyota Truck 1976 excellent mechical condition, new tires, brakes. $1200 268-3216

Saab 99E 1970 mechanically new, no rust needs minor body work $2500 549-6861 BJ after 5:00

350 Nova great engine good body a steal at $650 549-1278

1977 Fiat 128 excellent condition, good gas mileage. $1500 549-0056 evenings

75 Chevy Suburban rust, dents but runs excellent with long future BO Mitch 256-6712

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7822

BROTHERS

of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity welcome all males attending UMass as an undergraduate to an Open Rush at our home on 374 N. Pleasant St. and Fearing St. The big blue house on the way to town. Come down, have a beer with us and find out what we're all about. Wed. May 4 8:30 to 11 PM 545-0244

CAPE COD RENTAL

Quiet couple seeks another couple to share cottage in So. Orleans. Close to Chatham, Brewster, Harwich. 6/1-9/26 Call after 7 567-8478

CAPE COD SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Jasons, Cape Cods finest nightclub, will be conducting interviews for all bar personel on 4/30 and 5/7 from 12:00 to 3:00 pm. 228 Lower County Road Dennisport. Where the happy people go.

CONFIDENTIAL HERPES RESEARCH

Psychology Graduate Student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm. Thanks!

ENTERTAINMENT

Rockadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

Blue Band for hire Indoor/Outdoor Parties call 546-1080 anytime

FOR RENT

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

Brandywine one bedroom apt A/C, dishwasher, disposal, WW, on bus route avail. June 1 - Sept 1 very nicely furn 320/month 549-0450

1 bedroom Brandywine summer sublet w/fall option, AC, dishwasher, disposal 549-0781

We're looking for a 3 bedroom apartment for September. Call anytime, day or night. Ask for Mike, Mike or Bill. Phone 256-0543

Chic, cheap, apt for summer rent 275 + 2 br, on bus route 253-9389

STUDENT HOUSING Chi Rho welcome applications from single grads and undergrads including freshmen and sophomores. Contact First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian ministry house call 549-3596 or 256-6691

One bedroom in Puffton apartment Fall option 549-0837

Rent great Brandywine Apt for summer possible fall option - cheap! 549-1463

Colonial Village summer sublet w/fall option 2 bedroom $295/mo 256-0556

FOR SALE

For Sale Portable Stereo/Tapedeck SR 2100 series still under warranty call 546-9819 for info

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5589

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Airtight woodstove excellent condition $325 call Margaret at 549-6633

2 brand new Penesonic speakers $80 or best offer lauren 6-8392

Full size bed, bookshelf, stereo call for prices 549-0056 evening

Brand new, never been ridden. Must sell immediately call Rob 586-5424

Refrigeretor - dorm size Kenmore, used 2 semesters $80 546-4016

2 dressers bed couch bench bookcase BO 256-6086 keep trying

FOUND

Found woman's watch in 221 MRST. Call Bill at 6-4342

HELLUVA BARGAIN

Townhouse summer sublet 3 bdrm, AC, extremely negotiable call 546-6667 or 546-5204

HELP WANTED

CATE worker full time summer position available 5/27 8/31 typesetting, writing, editing and organizational skills essential. Pickup applications at SGA Office 420 Student Union or call 545-0341 AA/EEO

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

Collegian Drivers' positions available for fall '83. Must have car, morning hours free. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer.

Looking for experienced restaurant help for Cape restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

Worcester Area - Full or part time work phys-ed graduate. Boys and girls gymnastics. Resume to Box #2 Cherry Valley, Mass 01611

Wanted work-study and non work-study assistants to SGA Co-Presidents. Jobs involve research and advocacy around social and educational issues. Skills in related areas, ability to type, and general office skills helpful. Pickup applications in Rm 406E Student Union Building. Applications due May 13. For more information call 545-0341. The SGA is an affirmative action employer

ECE 222: need tutor for assembly lang. Please call Pete 665-3075

Summer Jobs promotong ecology safe energy and consumer rights MASSPIRG the state's largest public inteest organization has summer and permanent staff positions available for public education and fundrassing will train 150-250/wk for interviews call 256-6434 2-5 PM

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate psychology student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. if you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 PM

LOST

Macroeconomics book on NEAG bus to NYC on April 23 call 6-9374

Lost: red key clip, keys: 2 car by Campus Pond or Whitmore if found call 6-9776

PENTHOUSE FOR RENT

Looking for a couple only to share a beautiful co-op house 1 block away from campus and Amherst Ctr. There are four of us in the house now --- 2 males 2 females. Entire third floor is available for $225/month starting June 1. Includes private bathroom! Call soon, 549-6550

PERSONALS

Sharon, Happy 20th now we can be twins love Chris

Dear Peanut Happy Birthday its only a day late! Here's to excellent times ahead! Love, your future roommate D

Hey Accounting Mejors!! It's all going to pay off! Good Luck on the C.P.A. exam!

Glennfred - Happy one day - late two-o your sis Jill

Anne Happy 21st Birthday! Love, Freeds, MB, and Brita

Free trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counseling referral MTuThF 4-9 pm 433SU 545-2645

Jill Halpern - alright I like you Happy Birthday sweetie love ya Marilyn

Stephen was it just lust love Froggie

Deadline Today to register for the UMASS ULTIMATE SHOWDOWN MAY 4, 1983

Bring a team roster (7-15 people per team) to the Sporting Goods Co-op 322 Student Union by today at 4:00 & get complete details
UMASS SPORTING GOODS CO-OP
THE ULTIMATE CONNECTION

STUDENT UNION SPRING SIDEWALK SALE

May 4, 1983 in front of the Student Union
Sponsored by the Student Run Businesses
come by and see what we have to offer

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

RIDE WANTED

Ride needed to Colorado - Denver Area after finals! Will share driving & $ call Gary 546-6027

ROOMMATES WANTED

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Manor Apt fall semester call 6-5237 or 6-5243

Brittany Manor - female for own bedroom in 2 bedroom apt starting September - Lisa 253-3568

Two responsible females to share Brandywine Apt starts June 1st 549-1463

3 roommates needed - summer sublet w/fall option in Brittany Manor 256-8388

Female roommate wanted for summer nonsmoker Sunderland apt in house $85 a month call Janet 546-6882 after 9 pm

1 bedroom available in Brittany Manor apartment starting in September good condition two males or 2 females call Don 256-6041

Brandywine lrg bedroom avail for one or two roommates Neal 549-2808

SERVICES

Typing, short papers to manuscripts reasonable phone 665-4223 Debbie

SUMMER RENTALS

The ideal place: centrally located on campus, everything and more included. $250 for singles, $150. for double's for the full summer. Call Glenn S. at 545-0047 or 545-2150

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Townehouse Apt - 3 bedroom - summer sublet fully furnished - AC - cable call anytime 549-3843

Beautiful 3 bdrm Townehouse for summer sublet. Please call 549-1215

2 bdrm apt Amherst Canter $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

Cheap cheap rent for a 3 bdrm townehouse apt fully furnished call 549-1833/549-3853

Cool, light efficiency apartment, furnished, Triangle St., Amherst, rent negotiable, 549-0457 or 545-0854

Puffton Village summer sublet one or two rooms $100 Jay 549-5921

Spacious Squire Apt balcony, walk-in closets, cable, bus route, $360 665-2998 fall option

July and August only. 3 bedroom apt.

THE HUNGRY-U

Your Weekly Calendar — Take A Closer Look

TUESDAY "LADIES NITE" Strawberry daiquiri's — $1.25 — 99¢ bar drinks — 9:00 CLOSE

WEDNESDAY QUARTER NITE — 25¢ beer THE HUNGRY-U — GET BUN AROUND TOWN — 9:00 MIDNIGHT

THURSDAY "HAPPY HOUR" FREE PIZZA
• 99¢ bar drinks
• 50¢ drafts
9:00 CLOSE

FRIDAY AFTERNOON ONCE AGAIN Happy Hour
FREE PIZZA
60 oz Pitchers Happy Hour priced at $2.75
drafts ..... 50¢
Your choice of bar drink. .... 99¢
2:00-5:30

SUMMER SESSION REGISTRATION BEGINS MAY 2

Register now for UMass/Amherst summer courses at the Records and Registration Office, Division of Continuing Education, Southeast Entrance, University Library. Copies of the Course Listing are available at the Division's information desk. Don't wait until classes are full. Register now for optimum choice.

Sports

Ultimate Frisbee sporting goods is sponsoring a tournament, called the UMass Ultimate Showdown, 3 p.m. Wednesday at Southwest playing fields.

More sports on Page 14

Will the real lax fan please show up?

fair weather fans (far wether fanz) pl. n. — a group of supposed sports fans who follow their team until the team fails to win as many games as the fans think it should at which time this group disappears from the spectating area at game time and spends most of their time criticizing the team. (See also — hypocrites)

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

Well, now is the hour when Garber's Gorillas, also known as the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team, will find out just what kind of fan support they really have.

The team is off to one of the worst starts in its 30 year history, posting a 3-7 mark up to this point in the season and, with New England's number one ranked team, Dartmouth College coming to Boyden Hill at 3 p.m. to battle the Gorillas, it would be very easy for some fans to pack things in and head for the library to study for finals.

But, in all seriousness, finals don't start for another three weeks and ths edition of UMass lacrosse is not (repeat not) a bad team.

"I still think we can beat anybody we play," said head coach Dick Garber very matter-of-factly last night. "There's a certain element where if you win they love you and if you lose they don't. But, I believe our student body goes to lacrosse games because they like the action of the game.

"Assuming it's a decent day, we'll get a good crowd," said Garber. "It's a chance to see a real good lacrosse game. Dartmouth is the best they've been for a number of years."

The crucial factor in the game may be the amount of fan support that the Gorillas receive now that they have finally returned back to the Hill after a tough 1-3 road excursion.

Collegian photo by John Doucette

The Gorillas will be looking for the vocal support of the Boyden Hill fans when they host Dartmouth 3 p.m. today at Boyden field.

This is, after all, a team that is used to hearing thunderous ovations from jam packed crowds. The fans have been good to the Gorillas and, in return, the Gorillas have been pretty good to the fans. The question now is, will the team falling on hard times effect the support they receive?

The team itself will face a dual adjustment. Regardless of support from the Hill, the game is still played on the field. Whether the fans decide to prove their loyalty and come out or not will be a factor but, the players must be ready to both adjust to whatever situation should arise on the Hill and, shake off the facts that the record is bad, playoff hopes are gone, and that this may be the first losing men's lacrosse team since 1965 (a very long time for non-math majors).

"The team attitude is good," said senior Paul Fogarty. "We just have to start shooting better.

"It would be easy to give up but, I've got five games left so I might as well go all out for five games," Fogarty added. "Win or lose we're gonna try our hardest and that means it's gonna be exciting lacrosse."

Exciting and hopefully, packed with people. The grass was cut on the field yesterday but not on the Hill. It was not known at press time whether it would be cut or not. Stop by and see. Real fans will.

UMass softball team to host Lowell today

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The University of Lowell is coming to town this afternoon to play the University of Massachusetts in a softball game at 4 p.m. at NOPE fields. Ho, Hum.

Lowell? You know, that school up there by Boston way with a great hockey team. Yeah, Lowell is a Division II school. UMass? You gotta know they are 23-8 and as of last week were the number one ranked team in New England, Division I, the big guys. Blow out city huh? Not on your life!

No way! Today's game with Lowell is going to be a tough one for UMass. Three years ago, after UMass went to the AIAW World Series, Lowell beat UMass at home.

This year, Lowell took Rutgers (the same team UMass split with) to 12 innings before losing. This weekend, Lowell, a Division II school pounded Vermont, who just happens to be Division I.

UMass has a game on their hands.

"When Lowell comes to play us," said head coach Elaine Sortino "They come to play!"

UMass had better be on their toes. The Minutewomen are coming of a disappointing week. Last week UMass dropped four of their seven games. With two tough losses at the Atlantic 10 tournament, UMass dropped the bag.

"If we had done well, we would have had it (NCAA berth) in the bag," said Sortino. The playoff picture is very cloudy now."

The Northeast NCAA bid will come down to three teams, UMass, URI and Rutgers. URI holds a 2-1 head to head edge over UMass and Massachusetts holds a 2-1 edge over the Scarlet Kings.

UMass has seven games left, URI four, and Rutgers has heavyweights such as Adelphi and South Carolina as the competition of the Atlantic 10 tourney to deal with. The best that URI can finish is 28-10. UMass can finish 30-8.

"It's crucial that we go on a seven game winning streak," explained Sortino. "Anything less spells disaster. We've dug ourselves into a hole."

"I told the team (yesterday at practice) that we have a shot for a 30 win season. I'm not willing to concede anything yet playoff wise," said Sortino. "Nothing has been decided. We are going to play at 150 percent."

"This team has too much pride to fold up and die."

But a seven game winning streak starts with one game. And the Minutewomen have to put all their energy into this afternoon's game and not worry about upcoming doubleheaders with Springfield College Adelphi and Bridgewater.

"I feel as if we haven't peaked yet, said Sortino.

They have struggled in the last seven games and the coach hinted at a few surprises for today's game.

Two sport All-American Gaw winding up spectacular UM career

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

A more experienced catcher was needed behind the plate. In the second game of a doubleheader with the University of Connecticut two weeks ago senior Jackie Gaw was in right field to rest her ailing shoulder that was sore and she was still not one hundred percent.

Gaw caught the game and boosted UMass by going 3 for 4 with a triple, two singles and a RBI.

How did her arm feel? "Okay, just a little sore," said Gaw.

The team's leading hitter for the last three years with a .466 average this year, went 5 for 8 against the University of Massachusetts.

Jackie Gaw is not the kind of athlete that makes excuses. She will play with the pain and she won't let a little pain interfere with her performance.

"Jackie Gaw in the four years that I've worked with her," said UMass softball coach Ealine Sortino, "has never offered one excuse for not getting the job done."

A typical example in her dealings with the sore shoulder this season. Against Vermont and New Hampshire, Gaw bit the bullet and went behind the plate because Beth Talbott, the second string catcher was hurt.

"If we need a hit, she comes through. If we need a bunt, she comes through. If we need an extra base hit, she comes through. God blessed her. She's a great athlete," said Sortino.

"She is one of the finest examples of a team player," said Sortino. "Her intensity and concentration is remarkable."

Gaw, a four year veteran of both the women's soccer team and the softball team won All-American status in both sports in 1982. She was an All-American pick for Kalekeni Banda's soccer team at center fullback this past fall. Gaw was an All-American catcher last spring.

She came to UMass from Cathedral in Springfield and played softball and basketball four years. She went out for the soccer team as a junior and was All-State as a senior.

She is a four year vet of the soccer program and has won the MVP award for three of the last four years, including this years team that went to the National quarterfinals.

"This year's team was the best talent wise," said Gaw. "We had so many chances to win."

She was part of the team that went to the College World series when she was a freshman. And she sees similarities between this years team and the one four years ago.

"This years team could go as far as we want to. This is the best hitting team we've had and one of the smartest. They know what to do," Gaw said.

This year will end and next up for Gaw will be a second year of playing for Raybestos (Stamford, Ct.) softball. Raybestos is one of the best softball teams in the nation. At the end of June Gaw will tryout for the Pan-American softball team.

"That's my big goal," said Gaw. "to make the team."

After that the business major is looking for a possible legal career. (But, softball and soccer, which, played such a big part of Jackie Gaw's college career, will be a part of her forever.)

"Soccer and softball have been very important to me. They made me grow up and mature a lot. I've met people and gone through experiences and seen that I will never forget," said Gaw.

Be sure, UMass will never forget what Jackie Gaw did here.

Collegian photo by Chris Jungmann

Two-time All-American Jackie Gaw is hitting at a .466 clip.

SJC ruling pressures universities for security

By DAN STOCKFORD
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts may be legally liable for protecting students from outside attackers as the result of a recent Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court (SJC) ruling.

The court upheld on Monday a $175,000 award in favor of a woman raped by an intruder at Pine Manor College in Brookline in 1977. This is the first time the SJC has ruled colleges responsible for protecting their students from the criminal acts of other people.

"A college or university certainly has a responsibility to protect its students," said Joseph Zannini, executive director of Umass housing services.

Zannini said although he feels security on campus is doing its job well, "there is always room for greater efficiency and improvement."

Six rapes and attempted rapes were reported to UMass police in 1982, according to Lawrence G. Holmes, assistant director of public safety at UMass.

Holmes said the department of public safety puts emphasis on the prevention of crimes.

"Instead of being reactive, we prefer to be proactive," Holmes said.

Improved lighting, safer doors and locking mechanisms, and emergency phones are ways in which the department of public safety is improving security on campus, he said.

Jane Zbyszynski, a member of the Women's Issues team of the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA) said, "I think there's a lot more that could be done by the University toward protecting students."

Zbyszynski said UMass often does not react to problems until it is pressured to do so. The responsibiltiy for rape prevention and awareness is delegated by the University to other groups such as the Everywoman's Center rather than dealt with directly by the administration, she said.

"I would like to see a lot more foot patrols on campus, including a bigger backing of the Student Escort Service by the administration," she said.

"I would also like more awareness programs on campus.

"Many people don't realize most rapes are committed by acquaintances of the victim," she said, "rather than out in the dark behind some trees."

Carol Ann Radzik, UMass housing security coordinator said the major problems in dormitory security, "come from students who bring in guests and don't follow the rules by signing them in."

"One thing we may need to do is spend more time educating residents to lock their doors and check in their guests," Radzik said.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 127 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Wednesday, May 4, 1983

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

The courtyard of the Whitmore Administration Building is reflected in Director of the Office of Handicapped Affairs Paul Appleby's baritone during a lunchtime concert given there by the UMass Oompah Band yesterday. See story and other photo, page 3.

Class overcrowding brings repercussions

By KEN BAZINET
Collegian Staff

Overcrowding in classrooms at the University of Massachusetts has paralled the growth of the institution. It is not a new problem, and it is something the administration and faculty have continually tried to deal with.

The most recent effort to eliminate this problem began on Monday when a group of students circulated a petition requesting that UMass consider juggling its resources to alleviate the problem. The group's goal is to get 13,000 student signatures before delivering the petition to Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey within the next two weeks.

News Analysis

After the petition is delivered, the next step should be to organize a combined effort among the faculty, administration and students.

Prof. Jay Savereid, chair of the communication studies department which, with over 800 undergraduate majors, has long suffered from overcrowded classes, yesterday said it is most important for departments to know well in advance whether more instructors will be added to a faculty.

"This is the only proper way for us to be able to conduct a search," Savereid said. "It is difficult to arrange a schedule at the beginning of the school year."

Savereid said overcrowded classes is a good area for students to voice their grievances, and he would support their petition.

"The students have been amazingly good, maybe too good, about the way they don't get into required classes," he said, "especially the freshmen."

Prof. Norman Aitken, undergraduate director of the economics department, yesterday said his department's own procedure of allowing students who do not get into a class to sign a form which guarantees their enrollment the following semester has worked well as a temporary solution.

"Either the individual departments or the scheduling office should follow our procedure," he said. "This would end these horror stories of students waiting two or three years to get into a class."

Several other department heads yesterday agreed that alternative plans should be developed. The consensus is that because UMass lacks a specific policy to deal with overcrowded classes, it could take a while to eliminate the problem.

Dean Harry Allan of the School of Management said it may take a while to reduce the size of classes.

Senate to review Zannini housing plan

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Executive Director of Housing Services at the University of Massachusetts Dr. Joseph Zannini will explain a housing reorganization proposal to a meeting of the Undergraduate Student Senate tonight.

Speaker of the Senate Chris Sullivan said Zannini's reorganization proposal would "cut down the number of housing staff, raise salaries, try to improve staff qualifications and remove them from students."

Sullivan said he invited Zannini to speak to the Senate because "a lot of people were concerned" about the reorganization proposal and the future of the residential colleges. Sullivan said the senators are also concerned about "the rise in the number of racial incidents" in dormitories.

The reorganization plan "was something that we proposed last year, and that we've been working on," Zannini said. He withheld details on the plan until the meeting tonight.

Many students protested a housing reorganization plan introduced by Zannini last spring that proposed to divide the campus into an East side and a West side.

Under the plan, dormitories would be grouped into "clusters" headed by one resident director. The system is similar to the one in the Orchard Hill and Central residential areas.

Opponents claim the plan would cut the residence hall staff by one-third and would leave most buildings without a full-time staff. Graduate assistants in each dormitory would become part-time staff.

The plan "is going to have less of them (housing staff) do more work," Sullivan said. "But the work they do will be less connected with dealing with students. Students won't have someone to go to with their problems."

Hair dances with success in Southwest and Smith College

By LISA MOSLEY
Collegian Staff

Playing to a few thousand people in a makeshift outdoor theater hardly compares to a Broadway opening, but to Larry Cox and his troupe, it means almost as much.

Cox, a junior communications major, is the director of the UMass Music Theater Guild's production of the musical Hair, which has been performed in Southwest and at Smith College last week and will be brought to the Orchard Hill basketball courts at 7:30 tonight and tomorrow night.

According to Cox, the idea for a full-scale student-produced outdoor musical originated last year, when he and UMass graduate Scott Cunningham were part of the Music Theater Guild's production of Godspell, which 5,000 people viewed when it was performed in Southwest.

The show was so well received that Cox decided to produce a play that would be performed in several areas on several dates.

Apparently Hair was as much of a success as Cox and Cunningham hoped it would be, because police estimates fixed the crowd for the Southwest shows at about 7,000.

According to Cox, Hair was chosen because it is a play that is geared toward a college audience.

"It's important that it's a show that students can recognize and are interested in," said Cox. He also stressed the importance of putting on an "almost operatic" play.

Cox said because the play takes place outdoors, where the acoustics are not the best, and the audience's attention is liable to wander, the higher the percentage of the play made up of songs, the better.

Hair's production cost of $8,000 is pretty slim for a full-scale musical, he said. The impressive aspect of the show's cost, however, is that it was funded solely by grants.

When asked how the $8,000 was raised, Cox said, "We wrote a lot of proposals, and did a lot of leg work."

Funding came from diverse on-campus sources, such as area governments and individual dormitories.

According to Cox, the most financial support came from the University of Massachusetts Arts Council, because it had the most to give, but that all of the contributors gave as much as they possibly could.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Polish protesters attacked by police in Warsaw after group exits church

WARSAW, Poland — Riot police attacked about 7,000 men and women marching peacefully from Mass in downtown Warsaw yesterday evening, penning them in with water cannon and then beating them.

Similar police attacks were reported in other Polish cities, including the Baltic port of Gdansk and the southern industrial city of Nowa Huta, both traditional hotbeds of unrest.

Yesterday was Constitution Day, the national day before World War II, and riot police had been on patrol in the major cities all day to prevent a repetition of the May Day protests last Sunday by thousands of supporters of the outlawed Solidarity labor federation.

This year, after the violence Sunday, Solidarity's underground committee urged its supporters to abstain from street rallies and instead wear union badges to demonstrate their support.

House panel votes down covert aid supporting anti-Sandinista forces

WASHINGTON — The House Intelligence Committee, in a blow to President Reagan's Central American policy, voted yesterday to cut off covert aid to rebels fighting against Nicaragua's leftist government.

The 9-5 vote to eliminate the CIA support was along party lines, with the panel's Democrats providing the margin of approval.

Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., committee chairman, said the committee voted the aid cut-off because it felt that "what we were doing in that area was counterproductive."

However, Rep. C.W. Young, R-Fla., a committee member, said the vote made it "an exciting day in Managua, for the Sandinistas — a great morale boost."

The bill, which the Reagan administration lobbied vigorously against, will also be considered by the House Foreign Affairs Committee and then be voted on by the full House. The Senate Intelligence Committee was considering a similar proposal.

Bishops denounce Reagan nuclear arms policy in new pastoral letter

CHICAGO — Declaring their opposition to decades of U.S. nuclear thinking, America's Catholic bishops overwhelmingly approved a pastoral letter yesterday that condemns the first use of nuclear weapons, all but rules out their use in retaliation and demands a "halt" to the growth of superpower arsenals.

Their pastoral letter on nuclear arms, which will be the basis for teaching in the 51 million-member American church, was adopted after two years of debate despite Reagan administration objections to the call for a nuclear freeze.

By a ballot vote of 238-9, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops adopted their 44,000- word pastoral letter, "The Challenge of Peace: God's Promise and Our Response."

It is the church's first comprehensive appraisal of moral imperatives in a nuclear age.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Bill Wall
Copy Editor — Edward L. Birk
Layout Technician — Jim Finkle
Photo Technician — Jim Powers
Composition — Donna Maurice, Nancy Gallo
Mat Atkins, Sue Koczela, Joy McCarty
Lauri Neely, Laura Shanahan, Doug Chapman
Stuart Sajdak, Will Hopkins, Lesley Clark

Subscription Rates

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Looking for a meaningful

SUMMER JOB

Massachusetts Fair Share

The country's largest statewide citizen action organization

Has full time and summer openings for fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building to shape hazardous waste, energy, and other policies in this state. Hours 2:00 -10:00pm, pay: $175 - $225 average per week and benefits. Will train.

Call: 586-8713,

9 AM - 1:30 PM

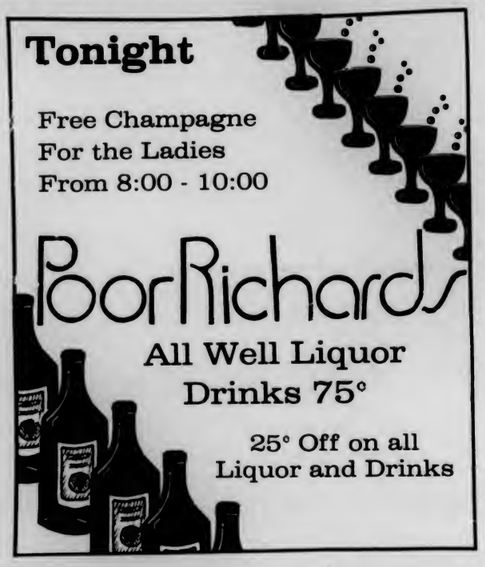
Mon - Fri for Western Mass.

For work in Boston Area call:

1-800-952-7478

Tonight

Free Champagne
For the Ladies
From 8:00 - 10:00



Poor Richard's

All Well Liquor
Drinks 75°

25° Off on all
Liquor and Drinks

BLUE WALL

CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS

TONIGHT

MARX BROTHERS

in

DUCK SOUP

and

Animal Crackers

FREE

Show times:
8 pm & 10 pm

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

SPECIAL ATTRACTION

A Benefit Pops Concert

by

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

and

Victor

BORGE

Conducting playing and having fun

Wednesday, May 11 8 PM

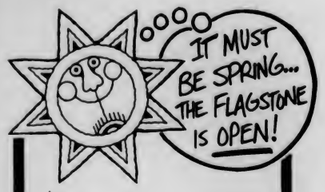
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now

(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)

Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.

(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall



Flagstone

CAMPUS CENTER Cafe

Located Outdoors on the 3rd Floor Terrace
Lunch: 11 am-2 pm/ Monday-Friday
Weather Permitting

University 'Oompah Band' plays it by ear

By MARY-SHEILA LOUGHLIN
Collegian Staff

A group of faculty and administrators who call themselves the University of Massachusetts "Oompah Band" entertained a lunch time crowd yesterday in the Whitmore courtyard.

"The UMass Oompah Band is similar to a polka band," UMass Coordinator of Community Relations Gerald Grady said yesterday. "It resembles the small bands that play in the cities and small towns of Germany."

The band, comprised mostly of brass instruments and clarinets, formed about 10 years ago at a University employee picnic, according to Grady, who plays trumpet for the band.

"We needed a band for the picnic," Grady said. "I grew up in the mid-west with a German background.

"I liked German music and knew how to play the trumpet from high school so I got the band together."

The band consists of about 20 people, although all of them are not always available to play, Grady said.

"We need to have at least 10 people to perform," Grady said. "The Minuteman Marching Band fills in when they are needed too."

The Oompah Band performs at University events and in the surrounding community.

"We play free of charge," Grady said. "We don't compete for union events."

"We never practice and we talk during the pieces to decide what we should play next," Grady said. "The clarinets are especially good so we always make them stand up for applause."

There was a question of whether the band would play yesterday because of a threat of rain, Grady said. However, they did perform and the sun briefly showed itself.

Members of the crowd lunched on hotdogs and homemade sauerkraut while listening to the band. Grady acted as commentator.

"In Germany, beer is served while the people listen to the band, but since Whitmore doesn't allow beer, we sing "Happy Birthday" to someone in the audience," Grady said.

Since no one in the audience would admit to having a recent birthday, Grady chose a student eating lunch in the courtyard. The band played their version of "Happy Birthday," sprinkled confetti on the chosen person, and gave him a stein with a UMass logo.

The UMass Oompah band played on Friday during Charter Day celebrations on a small boat travelling across the campus pond.

"Our next engagement is scheduled to be on the Queen Elizabeth 2 luxury liner," Grady joked. "You can all come and see us there."

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

Jeff Holmes of the music department performs for the UMass Oompah band yesterday.

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

Nikolaos Sinodinos marches outside Amherst Chrysler Plymouth yesterday, joined by Edward Tamm and Hampshire College student Terry Miner.

New Chrysler Corporation not good enough for motorist

By DAVID SUMMERSBY
Collegian Staff

Holding a sign reading "All I want from the Chrysler Dealer is a fair shake," an Amherst resident picketed in front of Amherst Chrysler yesterday and the day before with several friends to protest that company's negligence concerning a used car he purchased.

Nikolaos Sinodinos said he plans to continue his demonstration against Chrysler until he hears directly from the president of the corporation.

Officials at Amherst Chrysler refused to comment on the issue. "We don't talk to student newspapers," they said.

The angry owner of a 1978 Chrysler Horizon he bought used in December, 1981 claims his car is a "lemon" which the Amherst dealer has refused to check and take responsibility for.

Although the car was purchased in Springfield at an Oldsmobile Dealer, Amherst Chrysler has taken on most of the major repairs and Sinodinos said that every time the mechanics work on the car it gets worse. "The heater is broken, the windows don't roll up properly, the automatic shifting is faulty and the transaxle on the bottom of the car is broken," Sinodinos said. "I have spent over $1,000 and got no service."

The last straw provoking the demonstration came a week ago when the transmission of the car broke down and Sinodinos said Amherst Chrysler told him it would cost $300 to repair.

"I didn't buy the car from them, but they have got my money and I am not going to give them any more," he said.

Sinodinos said a Chrysler representative in Boston told him his problems "were just bad luck."

"They (the Amherst dealer) said it is Chrysler's policy not to check out other dealerships' cars," he said.

Another problem Sinodinos said he has had with Amherst Chrysler stems from the dealer's refusal to check out the car after he first acquired it.

According to his wife, Maria Sinodinos, the Easthampton Chrysler dealer said this policy is not true and he would have been glad to check out the car.

She also said the Easthampton dealer gave her the phone number of a Chrysler customer relations office in Boston which the Amherst dealer never offered to do.

"No dealer has the right to refuse to check a car made by their company. The car is falling apart and if they accept my money, why can't they help me?" Sinodinos said.

"At this point I don't want money. I just want to speak to the president of Chrysler and ask him why he lets dealers of his company treat customers this way," he said.

Hampshire College student, John Gigg, another demonstrator, said, "He has a point. I think they have been ripped off."

Graduate Senate motion proposes new payment plan

By SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Graduate Student Senate unanimously passed last night a motion which calls on the University administration to provide a more relaxed payment system for graduate student tuition bills.

The Senate was addressed by Ramesh Malla, a graduate senator in the civil engineering department who lives in Prince House. Malla explained that, although graduate students are allowed to pay their semester bills six weeks later than undergraduates, the requirement of paying the bill in its entirety is an extreme hardship for many students.

The motion reads: "In view of the financial hardship and pressure felt by the graduate students resulting from the University's policy requiring a graduate student to pay his/her semester bill in lump sum amount at one time, the Graduate Student Senate urges the University administration to include the following provisions in its policy regarding the graduate student bill payment system:

1. An option be given to graduate students to pay their semester bills in installments, and 2. An option be provided to graduate students who are active in the University payroll, such as research and teaching assistants, to have their semester bill paid directly to the University Bursar through a payroll deduction, if they so chose.

"Many other Universities have these options, so why doesn't this one?" Malla asked.

Malla added it has apparently been considered by the administration to implement this type of payment system for undergraduates.

Also last night, the Senate closed presidential and vice-presidential nominations and heard short speeches from the candidates.

Running for president for the '83-84 academic year are Barb Baker, a two-year senator from the political science department, against Sanjiv Dugal, current vice-president of the Senate. Nominees for the vice-presidency are Bill Hollis, a two-and-a-half-year senator from the sociology department, against David Wazeter, a first-year senator from the Labor Center.

Elections will be held next Monday and Tuesday near the Blue Wall end of the Campus Center. Any currently-registered graduate student may vote.

Rape and pornography causes affect men as well as women

By CATHERINE COLLINS
Collegian Correspondent

Magazines and posters which degrade women and films shown in dormitories, the most obvious forms of pornography appearing on the University of Massachusetts campus, raised questions about the impact of pornography on men and women, Eric Radack, a member of Men Against Violence Against Women (MAVAW), said.

Radack said, "pornography fosters a women-hating culture."

He cited the recent rape in a New Bedford bar where onlookers cheered the rapists as an example of the effects of pornography on society. The men involved were "living in a pornographic fantasy world. It's their idea of pleasure," he said.

Marta Tapia, an Educator/Advocate at the Everywomen's Center, said, "It (pornography) is a societal problem which is deeply ingrained, and the University is integrated into that society."

The University has a special responsibility because the students who go on from the University will become important influences in society, she said.

"The Year Toward Civility was an attempt to address the issues from an administrative perspective," Tapia said.

Pornography, Tapia said, is "images that objectify and humiliate women." Regarding the issue of pornographic magazines, "nudity is not the issue. It's how it's used," Tapia said.

Magazines such as Playboy are common forms of pornography at the University. Tapia said concerned women often tell of friends subscribing to Playboy.

The impact of pornography on the attitudes of men and society is an issue of concern among anti-pornography organizations. MAVAW, an on-campus organization, is working to change men's attitudes about women. In the past this organization has counseled partners of women who have been raped and has offered workshops on sexism.

"Pornography fosters a women-hating culture," Eric Radack, member of Men Against Violence Against Women

Bruce Frauman, a MAVAW member said, "we combat men's attitudes through these workshops."

Radack said the workshops conducted are designed to "help men understand how the stuff they're looking at affects the women they're involved with and how it affects their own sexuality and their view of women."

Concerned groups are continuing to work to educate men and women on the issue of pornography.

"Even one person can create enough pressure to change something," Tapia said.

As for change occuring here at the University, Radack said, "I credit people our age to move more quickly. I am more hopeful for change among students."

Student businesses run outdoor sale

An Ultimate Frisbee tournament, food raffle and merchandise sale will highlight the first annual Student Union Sale, to be held in front of the Student Union today.

Some student run businesses will be selling their products at the event, which runs from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., while others will be offering advice. The frisbee tournament will be at Boyden field.

Among those participating are College Auto Repair, the Collegian, Earthfoods, the Outing Club, People's Market, Recycling Project, snackbars from residential areas, the Sporting Goods Co-op, Student Notes and Printing Service, Union Records and Valley Women's Voice.

MILLER NITE
at
TIME OUT

Free T-Shirts, Hats and other prizes

Amherst's Biggest Little Bar
37 N Pleasant St.

MARTHA'S VINEYARD
ECONOMICS
SUMMER COURSES

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

ECONOMICS 103 — INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS (3CR) June 13-July 13

ECONOMICS 104 — INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS (3CR) July 25-August 23

Classes meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 7:45 - 10:45 a.m. For additional information, contact:

Debra Lyon
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0530

Wholewheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

Wholewheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small 2 item pizza
Only $4.00

TRIATHLON

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1983 9:00 AM ¼ swim, 15 mi. cycle, 10 mi. run. $10.00 Entry donation to the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado. Register at the intramural office or at BKO. T-shirts for all entrants.

TRIATHLON SPORTS INJURIES & PERFORMANCE ENHANCEMENT WORKSHOP FRIDAY MAY 6, 8 PM CC 174 - 176 ALL ARE WELCOME!

Given by Dr. Keith McCormick a chiropractic physician and former Olympian. One of the world's top competitors in the Pentathlon and member of the 1976 Olympic Pentathlon team who last year placed 19th in the Ironman Triathlon World Championship in Kona Hawaii.

Miller HIGH LIFE
UNITED STATES OLYMPIC TRAINING CENTER

Dr. Keith McCormick finishing the Hawaiian Triathlon 1982

Sarajevo '84

NATIONAL SPORTS FESTIVAL

FOR TRIATHLON OR WORKSHOP INFORMATION CONTACT: CRAIG B. KEENAN BKO 549-4066 or 253-9071 OR THE INTRAMURAL OFFICE 545-2693

DR. KEITH McCORMICK, HADLEY PROFESSIONAL VILLAGE, 48 BAY ROAD, HADLEY 01035 586-9209
OFFICES WILL OPEN IN MID MAY

EDITORIAL/OPINION

A quiet naval bombing

Barbara Johnston

As a graduate student in Anthropology, I have been dividing my time between studies at UMass, and working in the Virgin Islands. When the opportunity came up last month to fly south for a working vacation, I jumped at the chance to escape the fast-paced, pressure-filled life in the States. So, like many college students, I spent my break in the islands. I returned somewhat less enthusiastically, lugging my typewriter, books and unfinished papers. And I came home with many questions. This last visit to St. Thomas has stood out from all others. The escape from current problems was not to be found. I found myself instead, thanks to the United States Military, very much the center of things.

The U.S. Military has always been a presence in the Virgin Islands, and it is not uncommon to see large battleships or aircraft carriers anchored off our shores, while their crew enjoy a shoreleave in "America's Paradise". However, for the past month (March 10 to April 4), life in the islands has been interrupted by much more than a few thousand vacationing sailors. Jetfighters hurtle through the skies, flying low through the passages between islands, abruptly changing direction in their seemingly erratic flight patterns. A low, continuous thundering in the distance sends shock waves through the island chain. For a full 24 hours in late March, the houses, buildings, and windows on St. Thomas shook at the impacts of explosions on an island that is only occasionally visible on the horizon. The Navy was bombing Vieques.

Searching the local papers daily for some word or explanation, I found a short paragraph on March 23, almost two weeks after the bombing started. The article was titled "It's not an earthquake, it's the Navy!" This article explained the origins of the noise and tremors. The Daily News followed up this story with an interview of island residents, asking if they thought that the bombing was louder than normal this year. Most commented on the lack of information. I searched the Stateside papers for further information, to no avail. There appeared to be a media blackout on the event. Other than a brief statement in the St. Thomas Daily News, and a couple of articles in the San Juan Star there seems to be no media attention on these Wargames. This is scary. According to the U.S. Navy spokesman John Tull, the bombing is part of an exercise called Readex-83, or popularly known as "Bombs for Freedom". It is the biggest ever readiness exercise taking place in the Western Atlantic, envolving 77 ships and 300 jetfighters. The Navy will not disclose what types of explosives are being used on Vieques.

This exercise, according to the Navy spokesman, is necessary to keep U.S. forces ready and to demonstrate the country's presence in the Caribbean. After living with the bombing and sonic booms for two weeks, both day and night, I was convinced. I certainly felt the country's presence. Startled by the jetblasts, people would raise their heads to the skies, and I listened to their comments. Some shook their heads at the wonders of such technology, others at the destructive capabilities that these machines represent. One old friend told of the moment of his birth: his mother was working in the fields on the Northside of St. Thomas and was startled by a strange sound. Looking up, she saw the first airplane to ever fly over the island. Scared, she ran all the way home, and her exertions brought on a premature delivery. She thought the world had come to an end.

Have we become so used to a world in which airplanes are a common feature in cant to note the difference between a passenger plane and a jetcraft carrying bombs? Why is there no media coverage of this largest ever "readiness exercise" in the Western Atlantic? We need to question just what the military is preparing for, to try and perceive the depths of human terror that these machines can inflict, and to question just whose freedom these bombs are making.

If we cannot depend upon the media to keep us informed, then we must search out sources of information. What is happening in the Caribbean right now? Why all the military activity? And how do these events relate to congress? I urge people to take the time to attend the public talks sponsored by organizations on campus.

Barbara Johnston is a UMass student

The Reagan Reality

Brown & McRae

In the not-to-distant future, you may realize that summer is just a few days away. Semester's almost over. On your way outside for a muddy game of frisbee, you discover a letter from the Financial Aid Office in your mailbox. You open it. "Holy $!! What!? No longer eligible by order of the Selective Service?? "How am I supposed to come back to school next fall?" you ask. "No way I'll save enough money this summer making $2.50 per hour!" You have just entered the Reagan Reality.

What, you may ask, does the Selective Service have to do with financial aid, and how can someone be paid $2.50 an hour? Well, while we're all busy being students, Ronnie and his gang are conjuring up all sorts of schemes to pay for the military budget and further militarize the country. One such scheme is the so-called Solomon amendment, requiring men of draft age to register for the draft by July 1 of this year in order to receive any form of federal financial aid. In addition, the Subminimum-wage proposal under current deliberation in Congress, affects all those, including college students, of 22 years of age and under, slashing the legal minimum wage from $3.35 to $2.50 per hour. Think about trying to save money for school over the summer while earning $100.00 gross per week!!! Do we have to act out this script written for us by Ronnie and his gang? OR, can we change the script for a happier ending?

Registering for the draft is not an abstract question, or simply a question of duty to ones country, but rather, it is a very concrete matter. It means that if you rely on financial aid, then, under the Solomon amendment, you will be forced to join in the Reagan preparation for intervention in whatever region is declared to be of "vital interest" to the United States. The Subminimum-wage proposal is another attempt to implement Reaganomics: to provide a pool of cheap labor for the corporations while allegedly helping the young and unemployed out. This situation is not a necessary outcome. The Reagan Reality is not preordained; alternative approaches must be considered.

These issues are of common concern to all students, regardless of race, national origin, or gender. We, as students, must not allow ourselves to be diverted from addressing these questions, nor allow ourselves to be divided in response. The Board of Regents, controlling Massachusetts' system of higher education, serves as a pointed example. For, the Regents, instead of addressing the steady decline of real spending since the first Dukakis administration, blame the declining quality of education in Massachusetts on us, the students, saying that we are not "qualified", necessitating the use of minimum SAT requirements. The Regents thereby advocate restricting access to public higher education, by means of the SAT criterion, which is known to consistently discriminate by race and income, and is widely viewed as a poor indicator, at best, of academic and career performance. We need real solutions, not policies that add to our problems. To get real solutions we must pull together as students, or we will be pulled apart; we will be working for $2.50 an hour, while fewer of us will be back next fall.

We need to raise these issues of common concern in our classrooms, in our dorms, in the Bluewall, in the gymnasium and everywhere that we are. These issues are as much of what UMass students are about as reading Shakespeare and getting the difference between miosis and miotis straight. Only through a united response can we hope to promote a thoughtful approach to the real problems that exist.

Angela Brown and Doug McRae are UMass students

Letters

UNH vs. John Sununu

To the Editor:

New Hampshire is a state resplendent with natural beauty, and unpronouncable names (Lake Winnapesaukee), a state of diverse characteristics and intriguing political composition. The state of Mel Thomson and now of John Sununu.

Sununu: Tuft's "conservative of the year." The Governor who, by all accounts, controls the budget process better than any of his predecessors. (If this is true we could perhaps interest Ronald Reagan in the man). The man who, while talking to the UNH Student Senate, suggested that, "students should work harder and pay more."

Then there is the Manchester Union Leader. What more need be said about this paper, than to mention its name? Just ask any non-conservative what it is like competing with the Union Leader, in the field of ideas.

There is, of course, one other thing that attracts all the folk from Massachusetts, we don't have an income tax. This is wonderful for the tax payer, but less good for the social structure of the state.

UNH has one of the lowest budgets in the country, and is the forty-seventh state university in terms of state support. Despite this, it still manages to offer an excellent education. All this could change with the administration of John Sununu.

Education could soon become a luxury, and the UNH student body may well elect to follow UNH President Evelyn Handler south (she's headed for Brandeis).

Meanwhile the rock group of Decker and Goble are at work on their next song.

The new song will go something along the lines of:

Up here in New Hampshire
Education's a crime,
So let's go down to the bay and learn something new.

Chris Fauske
New Hampshire's* University Forum

Congrats to new menu

To the Editor:

As I near graduation after nearly four years at UMass, I'm convinced that even the most obtuse observer can see that our left, our liberals, our "progressives" are as prone to imposing their own moral judgements as are the conservatives. Armed with logic scarcely more than an ideological adaptation of that employed by the Moral Majority, their folly surfaces once again, this time with the strident demand to change the Hatch menu. As with most hollow gestures, this, too, is accompanied by the customary trumpeting of various student "leaders," naturally elated that after three years of intense struggle, they can now finally point to at least one tangible accomplishment. My congratulations.

J. Garrels
Amherst

From tests to brews

To the Editor:

Once again, it seems that the luck of the Irish has shone through for me. My finals end on Tuesday the 24th so I get to attend Senior Day on Thursday the 26th (the last day of finals).

Is there anyone else as fortunate as I, who can party on Senior Day? Please let me know, I hate to drink alone.

Glenn D. Flaherty
Amherst

Sound off with letters to the editor

Black Affairs

Panel emphasizes Latin women's roles in revolutions

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

According to the consensus reached at a panel discussion entitled "Women's Struggles" last Friday April 29, Latin American women are the key participants in the revolutionary movements calling for restoration of basic human rights in their respective countries.

Speaking on the panel were America Ugante from Women for Guatemala in Washington; Guadalupe Gonzalez of the Democratic Revolutionary Front from El Salvador; Sonia Rivera Valdez of Circulo de Cultura Cubano in New York and Maria Menenses from Casa Nicaragua also from New York.

The panel opened with Ugante discussing the Guatemalan struggle by telling the story of a woman who left her children and her job to join the revolution.

"Why does a woman want to join the revolution," Ugante asked? An overview of the conditions of Guatemalans similar to those in other Latin America countries provided an answer "no water facilities...no education...no health facilities for children...".

In the past, many Latin American women resisted passively, praying for improvement while men took action. Seeing no prominent changes, women joined the struggles for liberation. "Without women we can not have revolution," Rivera Valdez said.

"I cannot see women struggles separate from Guatemalan struggles," Ugante said. This was the major difference between Latin American women and women from the United States that were presented in the panel.

"In the United States women want to liberate themselves, but in Latin American countries women want to liberate everyone and then liberate themselves," Rivera-Valdez said.

Women in Latin America have integrated into the work force to help the economy, they have organized political work with the peasants and have taken seats in governmental offices to enact laws. In general, women have taken a "combative role in changing the society" Gonzales said.

Nicaraguan women have always participated in the struggles for liberation, from colonization times to the present, according to Menenses. Presently women are involved in all levels of sovereignty "the Sandinista Revolution has opened doors for women," Menenses said.

Ultimately, there is no difference between the struggles women in Nicaragua and women in El Salvador are waging to the struggles of Guatemalan women, according to the panel.

Gonzalez who represented El Salvador said that sexism was not set up by men, but "by a system of oppression."

According to Rivera Valdez, the 35 years of revolution in Cuba have improved women's lives drastically. Ninety thousand women had left the domestic service to join urban reforms, said Rivera Valdez. Racism and sexism are punished by law; yet there is a major confrontation "intervention of the United States."

Menenses denounced U.S. intervention in Nicaragua calling Reagan a "danger." Menenses also denounced Reagan's accusation of Nicaragua having the biggest army in Latin America. "As a free and sovereign country we have the right to arm ourselves because we are being threatened."

Menenses ended by saying, "We have an armed country ready to defend our sovereignty through our militia."

The panel was part of the Latin American Week celebration which ended April 30.

Samuel Pierce turns out to be Reagan's HUD dud

By DR. MANNING MARABLE
From The Grassroots

Almost three years ago, a number of prominent blacks — including media star Tony Brown, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, and Hosea Williams — made fools of themselves by defending blacks who supported Reagan's candidacy. Now it's clear that even those blacks within the Reagan administration rival their incompetent, aged boss in their contempt for the unemployed, the poor, and the disposed.

Even the Wall Street Journal, that staunch defender of Reaganism, recently concluded that the chief black administrator inside the cabinet, Housing and Urban Development head Samuel Pierce, was "reclusive," lacked "interest" in urban problems, and often "doesn't always know what he's talking about." The Journal article noted, "Increasingly, from Capitol Hill to city halls and even in the White House, officials wonder why Mr. Pierce remains at HUD. The stories about the reclusive cabinet member, whom Mr. Reagan once called 'Mr. Mayor' by mistake, are becoming legion." Pierce's latest nickname is "the dud at HUD."

Pierce, who earns $80,100 per year, was unqualified for the post from the outset. A labor attorney and a protege of the Nelson Rockefeller/Jacob Javits wing of the Republican party, Pierce had little knowledge of urban affairs. Pierce has yet to schedule meetings with key members of the Congressional Black Caucus. He failed to push for strong fair-housing legislation which he had promised over a year ago. He has lost several important budget fights with OMB director David Stockman, according to the Journal, and now "some housing-industry officials maintain that Mr. Stockman has more power than the HUD chief over urban policy." When housing, real estate, and urban groups do get a chance to speak with the dud at HUD, "they come away surprised at his lack of interest in their concerns."

What has Pierce accomplished in two and one half years? HUD's full time work force has been cut by 11 percent, down to 13,412 workers. Rent-subsidies to poor black, Latino and white families have been drastically reduced. Pierce has ordered that all low-rent apartments constructed with federal government subsidies be halted. In short, this black Reaganite is a "loyal soldier" for the President.

Announcements

African Students Association of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and the Five College Areas invites all African students, staff and faculty to be members of the association. For more information call Mulu at 549-5091, Ahmed at 665-2275 or Juliette at 538-3531.

BMCP Board meeting Wednesday May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the New Africa House. All members must attend and new members are encouraged to come also.

The Office of Third World Affairs and The Third World Caucus continue to present the Distinguished Speaker Series: Wednesday, May 4 — Arthur Jackson, Director of Financial Aid, Room 805-9, Campus Center.

Huey Johnson, 23 years old, a former Tampa, Fla., student, was an original litigant challenging Florida's functional literacy test. Johnson, an avid weightlifter, says the test is unfair.

Campus Center/Student Union Board of Governors

Attention All Students!

Are you self-motivated, enthusiastic, and full of energy?
Do you want to become part of a dynamic team that oversees all administrative and political proceedings in the Campus Center Complex?
If so, the

Campus Center/Student Union Board of Governors
is accepting applications for the following coordinator positions:

Governors Program Council
University Store Retail Services
Food Services
Space Economic Development
Finance
Special Projects
Public Relations
Conference Services/ Accomodations
Display
Building Operations
Vendor Certification

Jobs begin Sept. 1983
Applications available in Campus Center 817
Deadline Thursday, May 12, 1983, 4:00 pm
Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert
by
CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
Victor
BORGE
Conducting, playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Arts

Triumph: the good, the bad, and the ugly.

Cattle on the Stage

ELIMINATOR (Warner Bros.)
ZZ Top

NEVER SURRENDER (RCA) Triumph

NONA (RCA)
Nona Hendryx

FLASHDANCE SOUNDTRACK (Casablanca)
Various Artists

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

With the price of oil finally coming down it will be interesting to see if the record companies start taking bigger chances in terms of what they put out. In the meantime, the American public will continue to have to deal with a constant recycling of old bands and their ideas. The question is how well do these serious attempts by artists to express themselves come across to the general public. This review might be considered a sample response from a sample member of the popular music public.

At the mention of ZZ Top, most people tend to get up and leave the room babbling about Southern blah blah blah, cattle on stage, and other various curses. But ZZ's latest release, Eliminator, is a fine piece of nostalgia from the late 60's and early 70's. This sounds facetious, but in a way it is really refreshing. They have returned to basic blues and boogie, and even though every note is predictable, it's kind of nice in a way. Guitarist Billy Gibbons has his riffs down pat and songs go through enough changes to make the album listenable a side at a time. The lyrics aren't even that offensive.

Triumph's new album, on the other hand, is just plain bad. Unlike ZZ Top, they are trying to take a step forward into "message music." Unfortunately, the message is buried in cryptic lyrics that even though you can understand, you can't "understand" them. I guess this is a serious effort to direct kids in a certain direction, but the real problem with Never Surrender is that musically it's so boring that no one will listen to it often enough to start picking up the lyrics. Triumph's sound has been sterilized with synthesizers and crap like that which gives their songs that "radio" sound. There aren't even any guitar solos worth speaking about. I would avoid paying for this album or even listening to it for that matter.

On the other hand, the new Nona Hendryx album, Nona, is well worth your while to give a listen to. Produced by New York avant-garde funksters, Material, the album is a well-rounded conglomeration of Hendryx's interests at this point, ranging from slow gospel-like ballads to futuristic space-funk. Lots of concepts to give names to. Each song on the album is interesting in its own right. Examples include "Transformation" and "Design for Living," the latter which features Tina Weymouth, Laurie Anderson, and Nancy Wilson (the guitarist for Heart).

Unlike Nona, Flashdance has no soul. I can't understand how the title tune has become the most popular song in the Valley (according to the Advocate). There are a few semi-palatable songs on the album, but only in the most commercial way.

So there it is; four efforts maked or breaked by me. Or as Lou Reed put it, "Can you imagine working for a whole year on an album and some creep from the Village Voice goes and puts it in a box with a little "C plus" on the side?"

The chic way to shop!
ONCE MORE WITH FEELING
Seasonal clothing and sportswear at prices you can afford!
Family Resale Clothing
Carriage Shops 233 N. Pleasant
Amherst, MA. 549-3772

Positions available in

COMPUTER SCIENCE & ROBOTICS

for graduates in Mathematics
Computer Science
Electrical Engineering
Mechanical Engineering

Opportunities in programming and engineering:

- VLSI design
- Supercomputer architectures
- Robotic systems and control
- Artificial intelligence
- Expert systems
- Intelligent management systems
- Image and speech processing
- Multiple large networks
- Personal computers
- Unix and VMS enhancements
- Network operating systems
- Multi-media message systems
- Programming environments
- Graphics applications

RECRUITING AT HAMPSHIRE HOUSE MONDAY MAY 9, 1983

Carnegie-Mellon University
We are an equal opportunity affirmative action employer

Send resumes to:
Director of Research Facilities
Computer Science Department
Carnegie-Mellon University
Pittsburgh, PA 15213
(412) 578-2591

BUS DRIVING JOBS

U-Mass Transit Service will accept applications for its Summer Training Program

Thurs. May 5
6:00 PM
Rm 174 - 6 Campus Center

Minimum Qualifications:
- 18 years of age
- Held Class III license for at least 1 year
- Enrolled in a U-Mass degree program with at least 3 semesters remaining must show schedule or transcript as proof of class year

Only 75 Applications Will Be Accepted

Both work study and non-work study are acceptable

U-Mass Transit is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer

Tour de france

WED. MAY 4 BLUE WALL

LUNCHEON MENU

Soupe a L'oignon Au Gratin
French Onion Soup with cheese

Beouf Bourguingnonne
Braised Beef in Burgundy Wine

Quiche Lorraine
Bacon and Cheese Pie

Pommes De Terre

Choux Brocolis Polonaise
Brocoli in Lemon-Butter Sauce

Salad Americaine (Vinaigrette)

Mousse Au Chocolat
Chocolate Mousse

Tartes aux Cerise
Cherry Tarts

Hypercurricula...

"IS NON-VIOLENCE THE ANSWER?" — Today's topic for theological discussion in the weekly Brown Bag Theology series, facilitated by Rev. Phil Ward. Everyone welcome! 12:15 p.m., 428 Student Union.

UMASS AMATEUR RADIO ASSOCIATION MEETING — This will be our last official meeting this semester. Important plans for summer will be made. Check Campus Center schedule for room number. 4:30 p.m., Campus Center.

STRATEGY GAMES CLUB — The club will meet tonight to recreate a Napoleonic battle thru the use of miniatures. The club invites interested gamers. 6:30 p.m., C.C. 165.

HANG GLIDING MEETING — Topics to include: new members' partial lesson refund, fund raiser success, officer election (including president, vice president, treasurer, secretary). Probably our last meeting, so don't miss it. 7 to 9 p.m., C.C. 803.

A MULTIMEDIA PRESENTATION — Meditation and society. A slide show on the spiritual/political synthesis. Presented by a visiting yogic monk. Discover a rational humanistic philosophy based on the highest human values. For info, call 253-9354. 7 p.m., Campus Center.

INVESTMENT CLUB MEETING — There will be a general meeting to discuss the club's portfolio and the election of next year's officers. New members are welcome! 7 p.m., SOM room 107.

ISRAELI FOLK DANCING — Come dance to the beautiful rhythms! Instruction available at all levels. Open to all. 7:30 beginners, 8:30 all others, Commonwealth room, Student Union.

Engineering professors net award and $500 prize for assembly text

Professors Geoffrey Boothroyd, Corrado Poli and Laurence E. Murch of the department of mechanical engineering received the M. Eugene Merchant Manufacturing Textbook Award for their text, "Automatic Assembly." The text was one of four candidates for award consideration.

They each were awarded a $500 prize from the SME Manufacturing Engineering Education Foundation.

Writing placement test required for entrance in summer program

A writing program placement test for students planning to take English 112 (190A), 'B' core, during the summer through the Division of Continuing Education will be held at 7 p.m. May 19, in Bartlett 61 (1st session) and at 9 a.m. July 7 in Bartlett 61 (2nd session). No one will be admitted into English 112 for the summer without taking the test. Bring I.D. and writing instrument.

1983 GRADUATES YEARBOOK INFO

The 1983 INDEX will be ready for delivery or distribution in the Fall.

If you would like a copy of it sent to you please send the form below, along with $2.50 for postage and handling. to: INDEX, 103 Campus Center, UMass

If you are going to be in the area during the fall, you can come to the office to pick up your copy free of charge.

Name _____

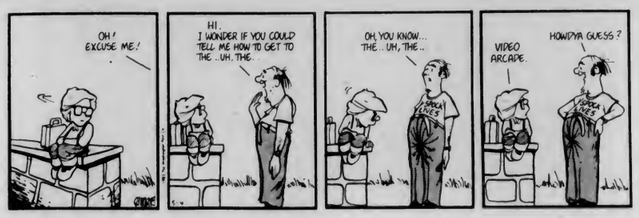
Permanent Address (Fall)_____

_____

I.D.# _____

Make checks payable to INDEX
103 Campus Center, UMass, Amherst, MA 01003

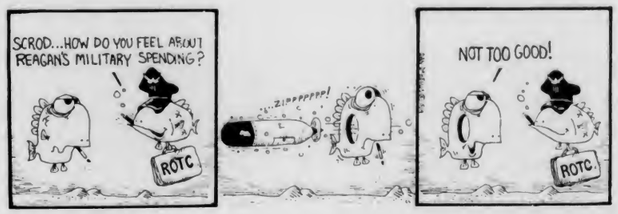
Bloom County By Berke Breathed



The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis



After the Fall By R. Miller

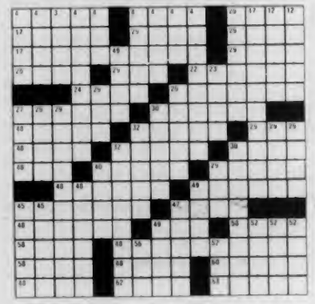
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Brazilian dance
6 Among
10 Ski slope adjunct
14 Egg-shaped
15 Prefix with gram
16 Major under Custer
17 "The little woman"
19 "—— Mad, Mad, ——"
20 Highlander
21 Hide-and-seek word
22 Wore well
24 Selves
26 Ball players, at times
27 Certain snakes
30 Grocery purchase
31 The way to get —— is to use it
32 Charlotte Armstrong and Tallyho
33 Berwick beret
36 Rests
37 Locations
38 Former Venetian magistrate
39 Small amount
40 One of the Titans
41 Augers
42 Atelier gear
44 Eva and Magda
45 Tonsorial artists
47 Reduce gradually
48 Authenticate again
49 Beetle
50 Dessert cart item
54 City on the Oka
55 "—— to have loved and
58 Stratagem
59 Church part
60 Brawl
61 Ship shaped clocks
62 Mardi ——
63 Reliance

DOWN
1 Cries
2 With, in Paris
3 Marquand's detective
4 —— aloes (sour)
5 Lemon or lime additive
6 Musketeer
7 The edible part
8 Kind of wind
9 Lessens in amount
10 Sorrowful
11 Economically more prosperous
12 Guose genus
13 Travelers' ways
18 Greek letters
23 Old Siamese coins
25 Ramble idly
26 Doubledeckers
27 Dramatis personae
28 Mississippi feeder
29 More kindly instincts of one
30 Leather wine bags
32 Small streams
34 Ripening agent
35 Military meal
37 High quality
38 Improve
40 Cruising
41 Ballet student's need
43 Poplars
44 Apparel
45 Bear or Betty
46 Eagle's nest
47 Strikes an attitude
49 Scotto, for one
51 Aleutian island
52 Steeps
53 Gait
56 "Pinafore character
57 Time zone



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

WEATHER

Today showers ending followed by partial clearing during afternoon. High temperature, near 70. Tonight, partly cloudy, low temperatures, 45 to 55.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Italian Hoagie
Eggroll, soy sauce
Duc sauce

BASICS LUNCH
Vegetable grinder
Eggroll, soy sauce
Duc sauce

DINNER
STEAK AND SALAD NIGHT
Sirloin steak
Mushroom sauce
Cannelloni in tomato sauce

BASICS DINNER
Breaded scallops
Tartar sauce, cocktail sauce
Deep dish vegetable pie
Puff pastry

Typists wanted

Gain experience
working for the largest college newspaper

Apply Room 113 Campus Center
Wednesday Night
7:00 p.m.

"IN ISRAEL, THE WORD 'HERITAGE' MEANT SOMETHING TO ME!"

We offer the widest choice of programs including...
TOURING • KIBBUTZ • STUDY • SPORTS • RELIGIOUS PROGRAMS
Over 50,000 students have experienced 'our' Israel
Call or write for free brochure

Call Debora Propper
302 Student Union
545-2526

SUMMER SESSION REGISTRATION BEGINS MAY 2

Register now for UMass/Amherst summer courses at the Records and Registration Office Division of Continuing Education, Southeast Entrance University Library Copies of the Course Listing are available at the Division's Information desk Don't wait until classes are full. Register now for optimum choice.

You'll love and you'll love and you and you'll love And you'll love and you'll love and you and you'll love and you'll love you' Company' Company' Company

COMPANY

Music and lyrics by STEPHEN SONDHEIM
Book by GEORGE FURTH

Originally Produced and Directed on Broadway by Harold Prince
THE RAND THEATER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
FINE ARTS CENTER
May 5-7, 11-14, 1983, 8:00 PM
RESERVATIONS 545-3511

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

ROLLING GREN APT

Summer sublet, two bedrooms, AC, all utilities, furnished, negotiable. Joal 256-0435 nights

ROOMMATES WANTED

Female roommate wanted for summer nonsmoker Sunderland apt in house $85 a month call Janet 546-6882 after 9 pm

1 bedroom available in Brittany Manor apartment starting in September good condition two males or 2 females call Don 256-6041

Townehouse Apt. summer sublet/fall option for 2 people 1 room 549-6313

Responsible roommate wanted to share room in Southwood. Summer and possible fall option. Cheap rent. Call Jim 256-8471 evening

2 female roommates wanted for fall 120/mo Brittany Manor ht included call 256-0719

Room for rent in 2 bedroom Brandywine apt summer and/or fall 549-5934

3 roommates for great house in Hyannisport on Craigvillebeach - Lisa 253-3568

1 man 1 woman Townehouse - 2 bedrooms cheap call 549-6353 or 546-5134

1 or 2 females to share large bedroom for fall cheap Rolling Green 256-0807

SERVICES

Typing, short papers to manuscripts reasonable phone 665-4223 Debbie

Fast accurate typing $1.50/page Leslea 584-3433

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

Beautiful 3 bdrm Townehouse for summer sublet. Please call 549-1215

2 bdrm apt Amherst Center $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

Cool, light efficiency apartment, furnished, Triangle St., Amherst, rent negotiable, 549-0457 or 545-0854

Spacious Squire Apt balcony, walk-in closets, cable, bus route, $360 665-2998 fall option

July and August only. 3 bedroom apt. Amherst center. 3 min to Pub rent negot call 546-9027

Summer sublet fall option 76 Chestnut St, Amherst. easy walk to campus. Available June 1. Call 549-4127 ask for Jim. 150 + per month

Summer sublet Colonial Village one bedroom $225/mth call Tom 256-6659

One bedroom apt w/fall option, AC, pool, tennis, on bus route, $225/month utilities included 665-2538

Brandywine summer sublet 2 bdrm furnished rent negotiable 549-6440 AC pool

Beautiful large 3 bedroom apt in house Amherst Center excellent location June -Sept 1 $400/month call now 253-2169

Summer sublet/fall option 2 bedroom Northwood Apts. Hot water incl. On bus route. Pool. $200/month neg. Call evenings or before 9:30 AM 665-2939

Two bedroom apt available in Brandywine June to Sept price negotiable call Jennifer 546-5390

w/fall option space available in Colonial Vil apt rent negotiable call 253-7662 after 5

TOWNHOUSE APT 3 bdrm, furnished, rent negotiable call Mike 546-4229 or Rich 256-6041

Puffton Village 1 bdrm in a 3 bdrm apt summer sublet fall option 549-4791

Summer sublet/fall option 1 bed in 2 bed Brittany manor apt 256-0298

2 bedroom Cliffside Apt $285 month includes nice big POOL, tennis courts playing fields all utilities 665-4644

2 bedroom Southwood apt with fall option. Hot water and heat included. 253-7373 early mornings and evenings best

Summer sublet Puffton 2 bedrooms in a 3 bedroom apt bus route pool AC rent neg call 549-6999

Cheap Brandywine apt $200/mo negotiable females only 549-0116

Puffton 1 bdrm furnished $111.25/mo AC/pool/tennis 549-5258

Summer sublet 2 bedroom Riverglade Apt rent negotiable 256-8137

Brandywine Summer/fall option 1 bdrm available AC/pool/bus rt/rent negotiable call Laura 549-6313

One bedroom in Sunderland Center apartment $150/mo summer only bus route 549-6802 Tony

Hadley House Rte 9 5 bedroom 375 or 80 per room 584-4807

Furnished Townehouse Apt. AC, rent negotiable, call Scott or Rich 549-0516

Rolling Green furnished 3 bedroom apt 400/mo everything included AC pool call now Diane 256-8261 Pam 546-8122

Brittany Manor 2 bedroom cheap across from bus stop 253-3301

Amherst Ctr apt 4 bdrm furnished $150 + elect ea call 253-5298

Puffton Village three bedroom - furnished rent cheap call Kim or Monica 549-4736

Fall option large bedroom in two bedoom apt Colonial Village on busline $100/month Eileen 253-3941

TO SUBLET

Mary Poppins would approve! Fully furnished Brandywine apartment. June 1 -Aug 31 call 549-1511

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet with fall option. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

Room in Amherst Center for summer sublet $125/month utilities included 253-7396

Two bedrooms in four bedroom apt summer sublet/whole apartment fall option 253-2052

Sunderland 2 bedroom apt on bus route available June 1 w/fall option 325 call 665-7552

Two bedroom apartment in Cliffside pool, tennis call 665-4953 negotiable

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished June 1 - Sept 1 $296/mo call 549-4047

Presidential Apt sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms call 549-0886

ROLLING GREEN 2 BEDROOM TOWNHOUSE AVAILABLE JUNE - SEPTEMBER 1 CHEAP!! CALL 253-9431

1 bdrm apt Squire Village summer sublet with fall option $310 for summer August rent free 665-4737

Sublet 6/1 to 9/1 2 bdrm Townehouse apt furnished North Amherst $300 + 549-3819

Want to live in Harwich this summer? For info call Jamie 546-1167

CHEAP and spacious apartment in Squire Village fall option summer rent even cheaper 665-2719

Southwood Apt 2 bdrm furnished rent very negotiable call 253-5900

1 bdrm Puffton Village avail June 1 w/fall option $290 includes heat 549-0815

Summer fall option on bus route 290 inclusive 2 bedroom call after 4 PM pool tennis basketball 665-3079

Brandywine Apt 2 bedrooms pool AC negotiable call 549-0747

2 bedroom apartment in Brittany Manor $300/month with fall option 256-0854

Amherst center Apt one or two bedrooms summer sublet fall option 256-8097

Summer sublet w/fall option 2 bedroom apt in Colonial Village 100 ft from bus stop Mark 253-7287 after 5 pm

Looking to get rid of a No Amherst 3 bedroom apt for-ever take it for the summer and pay less than 2 months rent walk to campus call Karen 549-1377

Northampton beautiful 4 bedroom house furnished avail 6/1. Possible fall opt 584-2905

Sunny 2 bdrm June 1 - Aug 31 $295/mo + elec 256-8027 early aft or after mid

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Students interested in getting money for school expenses 665-3482

Wanted Records -- Cash or trade call Dynamite Records 584-1580

WANTED TO RENT

4 room apartment, long term, starting 6/1. 1 - 2 bedroom, no complexes. Single non-student, references. Fred 253-9884

Wanted bdrm or apt in Brandywine for summer sublet w/fall option please call 546-7928

Starting June 1, 1 bdrm apt., walking dist. to Grad Research Cntr., call 546-1493

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

72 VW Van runs great! Must see $1100.00 549-5631

Toyota Truck 1976 excellent mechanical condition, new tires, brakes. $1200 268-3216

Saab 99E 1970 mechanically new, no rust needs minor body work $2500 549-6861 BJ after 5:00

350 Nova great engine good body a steal at $650 549-1278

1977 Fiat 128 excellent condition, good gas mileage. $1500 549-0056 evenings

75 Chevy Suburban rust, dents but runs excellent with long future BO Mitch 256-6712

1966 Chevy Impala, 283cl; new battery; $375 firm, call Scott 546-5834

Convertible - 1969 Ford Galaxie runs well $300 or BO call 253-7221 after 5

1975 Datsun runs great needs body work 550 549-5159

70 Nova 8 cyl., std., stereo new brakes, shocks, exc. cond. $1000. 546-7560

1980 Toyota Celica five speed air conditioning AM/FM superb engine dependable $5700 549-6923

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereza, 253-7622

BROTHERS

of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity welcome all males attending UMass as an undergraduate to an Open Rush at our home on 374 N. Pleasant St. and Fearing St. The big blue house on the way to town. Come down, have a beer with us and find out what we're all about. Wed. May 4 8:30 to 11 PM 545-0244

CAPE COD BOUND?

Female roommate wanted for summer rental in Yarmouth 2 monute walk to the beach 3 minute walk to Rte. 28 call 546-4133 546-4136 253-2541 after 6 pm keep trying

CAPE COD SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Jasons, Cape Cods finest nightclub, will be conducting interviews for all bar personel on 4/30 and 5/7 from 12:00 to 3:00 pm. 228 Lower County Road Dennisport. Where the happy people go.

CONFIDENTIAL HERPES RESEARCH

Psychology Graduate Student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm. Thanks!

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Enterteinment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Seve. Paul 549-4405

FOR RENT

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

1 bedroom Brendywine summer sublet w/fall option, AC, dishwasher, disposal 549-0781

We're looking for a 3 bedroom apartment for September. Call anytime, day or night.Ask for Mike, Mike or Bill. Phone 256-0543

STUDENT HOUSING Chi Rho welcome applications from single grads and undergrads including freshmen and sophomores. Contact First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian ministry house call 549-3596 or 256-6691

One bedroom in Puffton apartment Fall option 549-0837

Colonial Village summer sublet w/fall option 2 bedroom $295/mo 256-0556

Fall Rental large Sunderland house 6 bedrooms 3 full baths complete kitchen washer-dryer large living room enclosed porch on bus route $150/mo + util call 665-4803

Berkshire Rental Great Barrington women needs persons for cooperative house. 586-6810

Free August rent fully fimished 2 bdrm Northwood Apts summer sublet w/fall option 665-7076 eves

Call Us Quick summer sublet with fall option Southwood Apt 2 bedroom front view first come - first serve 253-9083

FOR SALE

King size Waterbed - heater, liner, mattress, cover, headboard etc good condition 2 yrs old call 549-5689

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

2 brand new Panasonic speakers $80 or best offer lauren 6-8392

Full size bed, bookshelf, stereo call for prices 549-0056 evening

Brand new, never been ridden. Must sell immediately call Rob 586-5424

Couch good condition $50 call Tracey 256-0653

Just in time for Spring! 10 speed bicycle. Viscount Aerospace Sport. Excellent condition. Call Mike 546-5613

Ibanez Concorde ecoustic w/pickup $225 moog prodigy lead synth $300 546-7976

1969 Volkswegon - great mileage, new battery, starter, tune-up. Must sell $450 or BO. 545-2150 ask for Dave S.

Sanyp AM-FM Stereo 8 track built in turntable 75. Dave 546-5359

FOUND

Single Key on ring found near pond Friday Apr. 29 Phone 549-3527 or come to ELab 322.

Cross writing instrument call 549-0306 to identify found outside Morrill.

Keys Sunday at Southwest Concert call 256-6379 after 6:00.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MIC

Mic-y You're so fine! You blow my mind all the time, because you're all mine!

HELLUVA BARGAIN

Townhouse summer sublet 3 bdrm, AC, extremely negotiable call 546-6667 or 546-5204

HELP WANTED

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

Looking for experienced restaurant help for Cape restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

Worcester Area - Full or part time work phys-ed graduate. Boys and girls gymnastics. Resume to Box #2 Cherry Valley, Mass 01611

ECE 222: need tutor for assembly lang. Please call Pete 665-3075

Summer Jobs promotong ecology safe energy and consumer rights MASSPIRG the state's largest public inteest organization has summer and permanent staff positions available for public education and fundraising will train 150-250/wk for interviews call 256-6434 2-5 PM

The CC/SU Board of Governors is accepting applications for its eleven paid coordinator positions for the Fall. Applications are available in 817 of the CC due May 12.

The SGA Treasurer's Office is now hiring for two positions for the summer and fall: SGA Controller and Treasurer's Assistant. Accounting and office work experience is essential. Pickup applications at the Treasurer's Office, 407 S.U.B. - Deadline is May 11 We are an AA/EEO employer.

Drive a mobile vending truck on Cape Cod this summer Pete 253-5218.

LOST

Lost: red key clip, keys: 2 car by Campus Pond or Whitmore if found call 6-9776

Keys - 4/30 Southwest Pyramids -Keychain is leather triangle with "B" in center 546-5048 Dan

Lost Friday 4/29 a khaki purse, in front of downtown Peter Pan Terminal has my only I.D. please call Jill at 546-6496.

Yellow Cross Court Sweatshirt. Wed. 4/27 between Fearing St and town personal favorite please call Kim 549-1414.

MOTORCYCLES

1973 TC125 Susuki excellent cond 1900 miles on/off road $350. 256-8964.

MOVE TO PUFFTON

Three Bedroom Puffton apt is up for grabs, we're graduating! 549-5208.

STUDENT UNION SPRING SIDEWALK SALE

May 4, 1983 in front of the Student Union
Sponsored by the Student Run Businesses
come by and see what we have to offer

UMASS ULTIMATE SHOWDOWN MAY 4, 1983

Ultimate Frisbee Tournament
3 pm to 6 pm Southwest playing field
Prizes - T-Shirts - Refreshments
sponsored by the Sporting Goods Co-op
THE ULTIMATE CONNECTION

MOVIE

MOVIE
The Rose
CCA 6($1.00) 8:30 11 ($1.50)
Tonight 5/4

PERSONALS

To my philosophical friend: Yes, Doritos are God. So are Bowie and Jung. Pseudo-studs are not God, even though they think they are! Memories. . .You can do anything!

Syracuse Riders needed May 6-8 call Jaq 549-5258

To the most wenchiest woman - Happy 20 Birthday Wabbal Make it a good one -want to go to Friendlys or would your transit time be better at the Pub?

FREE SODAS — whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY — FREE SODAS

363 Main St. Amherst
Large Pepperoni Pizza for only $6.25
(2 free sodas upon request)
call 256-8587

WEDNESDAY
PUB MUG NIGHT
Music By
AL STONER
DISCO-ROCK
35¢ PUB MUGS
9 pm - 1 am no cover
THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

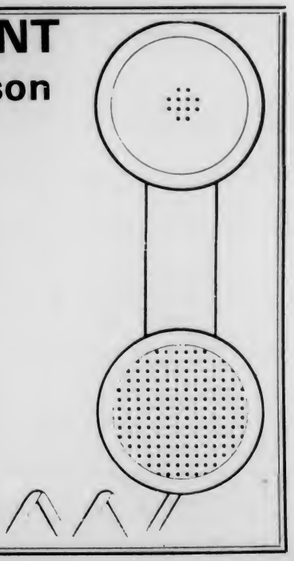
EMPLOYMENT
Person to Person

. . .that's how we are reaching out to thousands of UMass alumni for their support—by telephone.

The Telefund Program needs your help in this effort and we are willing to pay $4.00/hour and more for your time—a few evenings each week for the Spring, Summer, Fall.

If you are mature, reliable, and can talk about the University and its needs, we can train you to be an effective caller.

Get off to an early start by stopping at the Telefund office, at Memorial Hall and completing an application, or by calling 545-2317 for further information.



Sports

The women's lacross team plays their last home game of the season today at 3 p.m. at NOPE fields against Northeastern.

Undergraduate students must turn in their gym clothes, towels, and locks signed out this semester to the equipment rooms (Boyden or NOPE) from where they were assigned no later than 5 p.m., Thursday, May 26, 1983. Students will be billed for items not returned through the Bursar's office.

Gorillas trounce Dartmouth, 16-5

To host Syracuse Friday

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

The Gorillas came up with a big game in a major confrontation with the number one ranked team in New England, Dartmouth College, yesterday and demolished the visitors to Boyden Field, 16-5.

It was a swarming Big 'D' that put the clamps on the Big Green when the ball was in the UMass end of the field that helped the offense, which controlled the ball as well as it has all season, to put on a show for the 1,000 fans that sprinkled themselves over Boyden Hill.

"That's the way we're capable of playing," said head coach Dick Garber. "I've said all year long that we've played well in spots. Today we played well almost the whole game."

Anybody with any doubts as to the fact that the Gorillas were not going to roll over and die after being besieged all season long with bad breaks had those thoughts dissipated in the first six minutes of play.

After just 1:28 had ticked off the game clock, the Gorillas took the lead for good at 1-0 when Rich Messina scored on an unassisted tally.

Just over four minutes later, at the 5:38 mark of the period, Paul Fogarty took a pass from Ernie Shapiro and drilled the ball past the Dartmouth goalie to up the ante to 2-0.

Jim Goodhart obviously became envious of his teammates who were doing all the high-fiving up till that point in the game because just nine seconds later, he too scored and all of a sudden, Dartmouth was worried.

The Big Green would have been even more worried had a shot on an exposed net by Greg Fisk just 34 seconds later gone in. But, as has happened so many times this year, the shot was just off the mark.

A late Dartmouth goal by Dave Burt narrowed the gap to 4-1 before the buzzer sounded to end the period.

In the second period, the Gorillas were once again frustrated as Mike Fiorini hit the pipe with a bounce shot that the Dartmouth goalie never even saw but an undaunted Gorilla attack scored nine seconds later in the person of Fisk who scooped up a nice pass from Fogarty and wisked it into the net to make it 5-1.

UMass put two more goals onto the board, the first by Dave McEntee (who led the team with three goals on the afternoon) at the 7:57 mark and the second at the 10:07 mark for Fogarty's second goal, before a Dartmouth goal created the 7-2 halftime score.

In the third quarter, the Gorillas mauled the Big Green all over the field, beating them to balls and barrelling their opponents over when a Dartmouth player was unlucky enough to get to the loose ball first.

"I think it (the hard hitting) was a result of running more and going for the ball more," said Garber. "That's intensity."

On top of pushing the visitors around, the local laxters also put the game into the almost-out-of-reach category as they picked up goals by Fiorini, Fisk, Peter Martino and Chris Schmitz while the Big Green got a big nothing. The period ended with the Gorillas on top 11-2.

In the final stanza, five UMass goals and three Dartmouth tallies rounded out the final score.

There will be no time to rest on the laurels of what the pollsters will consider an upset victory because this weekend Syracuse University and the University of Maryland are coming to town as the number three and number seven ranked teams nationally.

"We're gonna hafta tighten on our crash helmets for this weekend," said Garber.

Garber expects Boyden Field to be the site of the best lacrosse that New England has seen in some time this weekend.

Collegian staff photo by John Doucette

Umass' Dave McEntee takes a shot while teammate Mike Fiorini looks on during the Gorillas' 16-5 victory over Dartmouth yesterday at Boyden Field.

Softball routs Lowell

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The University of Lowell got swelled heads yesterday after reading of the University of Massachusetts respect for their team.

Out on the playing diamond, though, UMass showed no respect and jumped on their Massachusetts rivals for five runs in the first inning enroute to a 7-1 romp yesterday at NOPE.

UMass, now 24-8, got six hits good for seven runs in the first two innings but were held to only two hits the rest of the way by relief pitcher Sue Gehm.

The only real problem the Minutewomen had all day was the same old problem that haunted them at the Atlantic 10 championships — leaving too many baserunners stranded.

UMass left ten runners stranded on the basepaths, including runners on second and third with only one out.

"We left too many runners on base today," said head coach Elaine Sortino. "That's inexcusable. Even if the intensity level gets down (that will happen when you are up 7-0) that is no excuse. It will come back to kill you in important games."

And Sortino said that the problem is not confined to the bottom of the order or the top or the middle but it is the whole team.

It's a problem that UMass must overcome.

In the first two innings, UMass overcame everything. UMass went through the entire batting order with Jackie Gaw, Tina Coffin (1 RBI), and Mary Ann Lombardi (2 RBI) getting the hits. In the second, Sally Maher tripled to center/left to drive in Gaw and Chris Coughlin singled to score Maher and give the Minutewomen a cozy 7-0 cushion.

Lynn Stockley only gave up two hits, fanned five, and was never really threatened at all yesterday.

Mary Ann Lombardi almost made the play of the game in the first inning as the Lowell leadoff batter Colleen O'Neil lofted a Texas league fly into left. Lombardi dove and got a piece of the ball, but it bounced out of her glove.

The Minutewomen take their highly ranked show to Bridgewater State tomorrow for another two before closing the season with back to back doubleheaders with Adelphi and Springfield at home.

The junior varsity Minutewomen dropped their first games of the year to Eastern Connecticut 6-4, 6-4. Kathy Horrigan's crew drops to 5-2.

Krista Stanton, who struck out two in the opener, came on in relief in the nightcap and pitched well in both games.

UMass saw their last rally fall before a controversial play as Michelle Satrowski was thrown out trying to steal home in the bottom of the sixth in the second game. The bases were loaded at the time with two outs.

Baseball tear continues

By TONY BETROS
Collegian Staff

I'm winning...I'm winning,
I'm winning, and I don't intend on losing again.

— Santana

Yes, the University of Massachusetts men's baseball team is winning. Consider these numbers. Seven wins in a row. Fourteen out of seventeen. 9-4 in the ECAC, and 16-13 overall. Boy, are they winning.

They did it again yesterday at Lorden Field in dramatic fashion, coming from three runs down to defeat the University of Connecticut, 7-6. The win sets the stage for UMass' final ECAC match, a big doubleheader at Providence today at 1 p.m.

Dave Valdanbrini (1-3, 2.25 ERA) was the starting pitcher for UMass, going up against Mike Mancini. Both hurlers started out strong, but Valdanbrini got into trouble in the third, giving up four hits. A double play by the defense held UConn to only one run.

The Minutemen got the run back in the third, as Bruce Kingman led off with a double and later scored on a double play ball. UMass took the lead in the fourth on Angelo Salustri's solo shot with two outs.

Valdanbrini couldn't hold the lead, however, as UConn broke out for three runs in the fifth. Dave Ford dealt the big blow for the Huskies with a two-run double. That brought in Jim Gallagher, and the freshman pitcher responded and shut UMass out of the inning.

In the seventh, Gallagher made the cardinal sin of walking a batter with two outs. It was costly as Larry Keough drilled a double, giving UConn a 5-2 lead. With Mancini pitching the way he was, things looked bleak.

Andy Conners led off the bottom of the seventh with a pop fly to first base. As first baseman Dave Ford was settling under it, the wind picked up and gently deposited the ball to Ford's left — base hit Conners.

One out later, Bruce Kingman laid a beautiful bunt single down the third base line, putting runners on first and third. Steve Messina then hit a base hit to left field and it was 5-3 UConn. The next batter Dean Bennett dropped a nice sacrifice bunt to advance the runners.

This brought up Bruce Emerson, who had won Monday's game against Fairfield with a clutch two-out single. Could lightning strike twice? Well, on a 1-2 pitch, Emerson hit a bolt to right field, driving in two and tying the game at 5-5.

Todd Comeau doubled to put runners on second and third, bringing up Chris Waszczuk, leading the Minutemen in RBI's with 30. Um, make that 32. "Waz" went for the first pitch off reliever Joe Fraser, and banged a single to right, putting UMass ahead 7-5 and placing "Waz" 5 RBI's behind the UMass record of 37 set by Bob Hansen in 1969.

Of course, things got rough the rest of the way. Paul Tinkham hit a home run for UConn in the eighth, closing the gap to 7-6. But it was in the ninth where things really got hairy.

A one-out single spelled the end for Gallagher, going over three innings and doing a fine job. Ace reliever Matt Suboez came in, but gave up a quick single to put runners on first and third. After a pop out, Suboez walked the next batter, loading the bases with two outs. Suboez held tough, though, getting Pete Vincent to ground out and picking up his 4th save. Gallagher got the win.

"It was a good, exciting, old-fashioned, college game," said an elated coach Dick Berquist. "The players really showed me something. I love this team." So do we, coach.

Penn Relays are too tough

By LAURIE FISHER
Collegian Staff

John Wright from the men's track team and the six women from the women's track team have two things in common: they all went to the Penn Relays last weekend with high expectations and they all returned disappointed.

All seven competitors from UMass were eliminated in the trial heats — high hurdler John Wright for the third year in a row. Wright, who had broken the school record with a time of 13.8 seconds the week before at the Boston College Relays, ran a 14.1 to take fifth out of nine in one of three heats.

Wright had hoped running against faster competitors would improve his time.

"I went with high expectations and I think I just psychologically pushed too hard," he said.

Although also eliminated in the trials, the women throwers, Elizabeth Patterson and Cindy Krupa, both first year students, broke records in Pennsylvania. Krupa threw the javelin 133'3¼", her personal best, and Patterson set the school shotput record at 41'1".

The 4x400 relay team was not quite so fortunate. The first and third leg runners, Debbie Smith and Maureen O'Reilly were hit and bumped, making it impossible for them to separate themselves from the field.

"It is tough to compete against top athletes in a huge stadium, nonetheless, I was dissappointed," womens coach Kelekeni Banda said.

Thirty men from the mens track team have qualified for the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Association Championships to be held this Saturday at Springfield College.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

Volume CXII, Issue 128 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Thursday, May 5, 1983

Collegian photo by Katie Watters

Janitors in the Campus Center take a break Wednesday morning, sitting near the video arcade room.

Zannini says reorganization will not hurt dorm residents

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

The architect of the residence hall system reorganization plan last night denied charges that the proposal to decrease staff would lead to the system's reduced ability to meet student's needs.

Joseph A. Zannini, executive director of Housing Services, said the plan, which has been opposed since its first draft last spring, has since been revised by a committee of students and staff to address student needs and provide "more balance" between the east and west sides of campus.

"Hopefully, we will have a more responsive residence hall system (as a result of the plan)," Zannini said. "There will be consistency in policies and training, and also people (staff) will have a common purpose of concerns."

The plan calls for the replacement of heads of residence (HRS) with assistant directors who would live in one dormitory but preside over several. Graduate assistants would function as live-in staff in the other dorms. The role of resident assistants (RAs) would not change.

A survey taken of 25 colleges with residence hall systems housing more than 6,000 students, to which 21 schools responded, "gave data which substantiated staffing ratios," Zannini said.

The money saved by paying assistant directors $14,000 in place of the $10,000 salary now paid to HRs, and paying graduate assistants their current stipend of $4,400 would be used to provide more intensive staff training to better address student needs, Zannini said.

"The ratio (between students and the number of staff) is not necessarily related to responding and the quality of that response," he said.

Zannini also stressed increased "professionalism" among staff which would be sought under the new plan.

"With the implementation of consolidation, we will have a staff with a total approach," he said.

Collegian photo by Katie Watters

Dr. Joseph A. Zannini, executive director of Housing Services, speaks before the Undergraduate Student Senate meeting last night.

No current housing employees will be terminated as a result of the reorganization, as the plan will be phased in over the next few years as current staff leave, he said. He estimated it will be two or three years before the entire plan is in effect.

Zannini said staff morale concerning the new plan, which Speaker of the Senate Chris Sullivan said was low when the proposal was introduced last year, had improved.

"A number of them understand the model and the development of the model," he said, which has led to more "positive feeling" among the staff.

Senators also questioned the ability of the decreased staff to handle what they saw as an increasing number of racial incidents on campus.

"That's an important issue," Zannini said. "That's one thing we want to focus in on."

A staff trained with an increased emphasis on social awareness would help to combat the problem, he said.

Statehouse approves funds for Tower Library renovations

By KEN BAZINET
Collegian Staff

The Tower Library, the University of Massachusetts' structural nemisis since its closing four years ago, could be fully operative by 1985 following the approval of funding by the state legislature.

Earlier this week, the House approved legislation which will free $2.5 million for the repair and rennovation of the library. The $2.5 million was authorized in 1980, but because of a problem in the language of the legislation, that money was never accepted by UMass.

The current provisions, rewritten to ensure acceptance by UMass, now must be approved by the Senate. Stan Rosenberg, aide Sen. John Olver, D-Amherst, yesterday said "there is no question (the legislation) will be approved."

According to several UMass officials, both Olver and Rep. James Collins, D-Amherst, have been primary movers of the legislation.

H. Jackson Littlefield, UMass director of facilities planning, yesterday said the language will allow for a protective entrance to be contructed and for repairs of the library's five elevators to be completed. Improvements in the current entrance level and the installation of multi-level shelves are also planned, he said.

"We hope to regain full occupancy of the library by the summer of 1985," Littlefield said. "This will depend on the repair process."

UMass officials would not accept the original proposal when it became apparent that the repairs would be long and complicated, Littlefield said. The original proposal would have had the library be closed during the repair process. The new language calls for the repairs to occur while the 29 story library remains open.

Students accessability will remain on a restricted basis similar to the current system while the library undergoes its repairs, Littlefield said.

The brick design work will cost an estimated $500,000 and the other improvements should cost from $1.5 million to $2 million, the Springfield Morning Union reported yesterday.

Law Firm reacts 'positively' to SGA suit for SATF funds

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Student Government Association (SGA) co-President Charlene Allen last night told the Undergraduate Student Senate a New York law firm responded "positively" to the chances of an SGA suit to win control of the Student Activities Trust Fund (SATF).

A group of SGA leaders and Legal Services Office personnel went to New York Friday, April 29 to consult with the law firm of Rabinowitz, Boudin and Standard on the possibility of the suit against the University of Massachusetts, Allen said.

"The results were positive," Allen said. "They asked us for more information. A lot of the things they find important to the case are things we didn't even realize were important."

Allen said this consulting session was the first step in developing a case against the University. She said the SGA must collect more documentation of University administration "abuse" of student funds and consult further with the law firm before they could decide whether or not to actually sue the University.

The Senate granted former SGA President Jim Murphy $2,000 to pay for the consulting at their March 10 meeting.

At that time, Murphy and his assistant, Bruce Levy, outlined University abuses of funds. They accused Student Activities Office Director Randy Donant in particular of increasing the budget for his office at the expense of student activities.

Levy said that both Donant and Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis L. Madson have "ignored established personnel policies" which he said guaranteed student input into hiring and promotions at the SAO.

Allen said last night that Rabinowitz, Boudin and Standard "are going to give us a deal," on the consultation fee. The firm promised not to go over the $2,000 limit, Allen said.

The Senate also voted last night to designate the State Student Association of Massachusetts (SSAM) as the official representative for UMass-Amherst student government in lobbying for student concerns in the State Legislature and other educational policy-making bodies.

Speaker of the Senate Chris Sullivan said a bill has passed the state legislature that is "designed to prevent groups from lobbying in the legislature unless they are designated by their student government as the official representative."

The senate's action will "eliminate any legal questions" about the matter, and strengthen SSAM's lobbying efforts, Sullivan said.

In other business last night, the senate tabled a motion by SGA Treasurer Eric Nitzsche that would remove all SAO personnel from the Summer Budgets Committee, which allocates student activities fees paid by students for summer session.

World and National News

Submarine finally sited by Swedes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A mini-submarine was sighted yesterday in a narrow channel off Sweden's east coast where a hunt has been on since last week, and the navy set off mines on the sea floor, a naval spokesman reported.

"We don't know yet what effect the explosions had," Comdr. Bertil Daggfeldt said on a late-night TV newscast. But a television reporter in the area said he saw what appeared to be an oil slick after the mines went off.

Daggfeldt said the armed forces commander, Gen. Lennart Ljung, authorized the mines set off in a bay northeast of Alno Island after military units made "optical observations of what was undoubtedly a mini-submarine showing the periscope."

He said the sub was seen heading north through the narrow Alno Strait between the mainland and the island, which is east of the city of Sundsvall and 250 miles north of Stockholm.

Daggfeldt said anti-submarine helicopters were searching the area, so far without success, "but that does not mean that it is not lying on the bottom."

"The submarine could have gotten away," he added. "You cannot be completely sure until you get the submarine up."

AP Laserphoto

Students on motorbikes pass a burning barricade in Lyon, France, during violent protests involving students and police. French medical students have been on strike for two months to protest new regulations affecting medical students.

Reagan wavering on nuke stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said yesterday the United States would give "serious consideration" to a new Soviet proposal to reduce the number of nuclear warheads in Europe.

While terming the proposal positive, Reagan said that the sincerity of the Soviet Union would be determined only when negotiations over the extent of medium-range nuclear weapons resume May 17 in Geneva.

"We're encouraged by the fact that they are at the table ... and have made a proposal of their own," Reagan said in an interview with a group of reporters.

Reagan's comments on the offer were his first since Yuri V. Andropov, the Soviet leader, made his proposal in a speech Tuesday in Moscow.

Corpses found in steel drums

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — X-rays on yesterday disclosed the remains of two human bodies encased in two concrete sealed steel drums, one of them leaking human blood, that were found in Golden Gate Park, the coroner's office said.

The 55-gallon drums were not to be opened until after a "painstaking" examination and fingerprinting of the exterior of the plastic-wrapped containers. City Administrative Coroner Joseph Surdyca said the X-rays did not disclose whether the bodies were whole or in pieces. No other details were disclosed.

"They (the bodies) were scrunched up," he said. No skull was found, but the X-rays showed a forearm in one drum, and other bones in the other. A ring and chain could been seen in one X-ray, he said.

"Every square inch of those drums is being painstaking examined," he said. "We have to be very careful." Opening the drums too quickly, he said, "would destroy the integrity of any evidence on the outside."

Police said the case was being "treated as a homicide."

A investigation was under way to determine if the bodies could be linked to any missing persons, Surdyca said.

The drums were found Tuesday in a bushy grove on the north edge of Golden Gate Park, one of the nation's largest urban recreational facilities.

Digest

By the Associated Press

Boston 'scofflaws' may lose liscenses

BOSTON — For owing as little as $5 of the $30 million Boston figures it has coming in parking tickets, a Massachusetts motorist could become a pedestrian.

Clerks at the state Registry of Motor Vehicles have been told not to renew drivers' licenses or motor vehicle registrations of applicants who owe even one Boston parking ticket. And, the computer age is going to help.

Registrar Alan Mackey said Tuesday that the names of Boston scofflaws are being "flagged" in the registry computer.

Officials say this could affect as many as a half million drivers.

Mackey said several other communities are waiting to see how the Boston program works before deciding whether to send in their scofflaw lists.

John A. Vigaliano, Boston traffic and parking commissioner, estimates there are 1.3 million unpaid Boston parking tickets, dating back to January 1978.

He said that translates into more than 500,000 motorists who owe the city a total of about $30 million, coincidentally the amount the city expects to be short on its budget.

State official knocks acid rain approach

BOSTON — A federal environmental official said Wednesday that it's too early to clamp controls on industry to rid the nation of acid rain, but a state official called the federal approach "a travesty."

"We are dealing with a very complex chain of circumstantial evidence," Bart Hague, chief of environmental studies for the Boston office of the federal Environmental Protection Agency said during a panel discussion at the Statehouse on acid rain.

"It's not a simple chain. It involves judgment and interpretations along the way."

Hague said the EPA plans a 10-year research program, and while the federal government "may embark on some type of emissions control program while the research proceeds," the Reagan administration first wants a connection between industrial emissions and acid rain "more solidly nailed down."

Governor's office says other options to 2½

BOSTON — A plan to scrap the bill allowing 11 communities to defer some Proposition 2½ tax cuts and instead allow them to borrow from the state has surfaced at the Statehouse. But the governor's office reported yesterday other options also are being considered.

"We're looking at other things, too," said James Dorsey, press aide to Gov. Michael Dukakis.

He declined to say what else is under consideration. But a legislative source, who requested anonymity, said the only options being considered are whether the borrowing program would take the form of a bill or be implemented administratively.

The source said it would be possible to hand out the loans without legislation, but there are some technical problems.

Meanwhile, Brad Allen, spokesman for Senate Ways and Means Chairman Chester G. Atkins, said the proposal would allow communities facing third-year Proposition 2½ tax cuts to "borrow from future state aid."

The state would float bonds to finance the loans, he said.

Final arguments given in child murder trial

CAMBRIDGE — A jury was asked yesterday to decide if a live-in babysitter was guilty of "extreme atrocity and cruelty" in the death of a 3-year-old girl or was herself a victim of abuse by the child's father.

"Accept the challenge and speak the truth that she beat the child to death," said Assistant District Attorney Thomas Drechsler in closing arguments of the murder trial of Elizabeth Hutchinson, 31.

Ms. Hutchinson is charged with the beating death of Brandy Mallett. The prosecution contends that the defendant seriously beat the child and then flung her down the stairs of an Everett row house on Oct. 16, 1982.

The child died two weeks later from a brain injury. Doctors testified her thigh bone also was snapped in two.

The defense said the injuries were suffered in a fall down the stairs.

But Drechsler told the jury the defendant systematically beat the child.

"Elizabeth Hutchinson made the determination that that child was not to live," he said.

SJC upholds ruling in drug search case

BOSTON — The drug conviction of a man arrested on an assault and battery charge but later found to have LSD in his wallet during a jail search was upheld by the state Supreme Court on Wednesday.

The court held that the search of the wallet owned by the defendant, identified as Richard E. Wilson, "was not an unreasonable search in violation of his rights..."

According to the opinion, Wilson was placed in protective custody at the Amherst campus of the University of Massachusetts April 17, 1981, and later taken to the Amherst police station on a charge of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon.

Brian Blackburn, assistant Hampshire County district attorney, said Wilson was a student at the school, and the arrest stemmed from a fight in which someone else received a knife wound.

Judge orders arrest of absentee jurors

SPRINGFIELD, —A Superior Court judge, angered over a growing absentee rate, has ordered the arrest of Hampden County residents who fail to show up for jury duty.

"I've seen this happen before, but never in such large numbers," said Judge John Moriarity after issuing warrants Tuesday for the arrest of 15 absentees from the May jury pool of 250.

After six of the first seven absentees brought before him said they had never received the proper summons telling them to report, Moriarity directed sheriff's deputies to "tighten up" their notification procedures.

Group vows to fight condo conversion bill

BOSTON — A coalition vowed Wednesday to fight a real estate industry bill regulating condominium conversions that an opponent says only delays the "execution date for thousands of tenants."

An industry spokesman said the bill was a generous one for tenants in terms of notice of the conversions and relocation assistance.

"The fight is far from over," Grant Young, spokesman for the Massachusetts Tenants Organization, said at a news conference. "The landlord-supported legislation is weak, flawed, unenforceable and unworkable, and will not become the law of the commonwealth."

The coalition opposing the bill includes legislators, and municipal, tenant and elderly organizations.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — John DiPalazzo
Copy Editor — Paul N. Belval
Layout Technician — Steve Anderson
Photo Technician — Katie Watters
Composition — Lauri Neely, Tracey Lang, Ed Tausky
Stuart Sajdak, James Shanahan, Sue Hawkins, Jamie Katz
Marianne Walsh, Joanne Gaudette, Tim Riviere, Joy McCarty
Brian Fitz Maurice, Dave Rath, Sheryl Silver, Terri Cooper
Margie Hochman, Gail Tanzer, Laurie Frank, Adrianne Dufour

Subscription Rates

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 333-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Sign language may no longer fulfill requirement

By TRICIA A. YACOVONE
Collegian Staff

Faculty in the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) will vote by mail ballot next week whether the American Sign Language (ASL) course will remain an acceptable course to fulfill the foreign language requirement at the University of Massachusetts.

In a vote at the annual meeting of the College's faculty on April 13, ASL was determined an acceptable fulfillment of the foreign language requirement. However, Professor Donald Gjertson of the Asian languages and literatures department does not agree with this acceptance and has taken the necessary steps to obtain the necessary signatures for a mail ballot.

Gjertson said he feels ASL is not a foreign language at all.

"I think it is inappropriate to consider ASL as a foreign language. My main objection is that there is no written language (in the program), and gaining access to foreign literature gives access to that culture," Gjertson said.

But Geary Gravel, a teacher and interpreter of ASL disagrees.

"There is a literature in American Sign Language, a folklore that just doesn't lend itself to being written. There is a culture behind it," he said.

The CAS steering committee has been investigating the credibility of ASL as a foreign language this semester under Dean James Shaw, director of the CAS Information and Advising Center (CASIAC) and non-voting ex-officio chair of the steering committee. He said the committee's argument is that ASL has the attributes of a true language.

"It is more like traditional languages than unlike them because it is a sole means of communication among people. It is a vehicle for significant ideas in that it has past, present and future: it is the fourth most used language in this country; and it possesses an independent structure," Shaw said.

"I have no quibble with getting the full faculty's feeling on the issue, but I don't know how fully informed they are on the issue. The most informed people already voted at the meeting in April," he said.

Merle Ryan, the Coordinator of Deaf Services, said she is disappointed that the first decision is being repealed, and fears that people who voted in favor of ASL originally may not do so again in the mail ballot.

"Faculty members may overlook the (mail) ballots because it is the end of the semester, so only negative ballots will come in," he said.

Gravel agreed.

"People really against it will make sure to vote against it in this second vote, while those who voted in favor of it before may just throw the ballots away," he said.

Guaranteed Student Loans available at local banks soon

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL) applications which will be available at area banks in the next few weeks, should be filed by June 30, said a spokesperson for the University of Massachusetts Financial Aid Office.

Applications are reviewed by staff to determine need. Banks award available loan funds on a first-come, first-serve basis, Lyn Santner, assistant director of financial aid at UMass, said recently.

"This year the deadline is set earlier to ensure that all applications can be processed before the fall semester begins," she said, noting that last year over 10,000 applications were filed in the 10-person office between June 1 and mid-July.

"It takes eight to 10 weeks for the whole process to take place," Santner said. "It is better to get the application in early because a backlog builds up once the semester begins."

If a problem should develop, such as the bank being late, the office can notify the Bursar's Office to defer the amount of the loan from the person's bill so the bill will be processed in time, Santner said.

To apply for a GSL, a student must complete either a Needs Test form or a Financial Aid Form (FAF) to determine whether the student has a need for financial aid, Santner said.

Last year the criteria required that an applicant either have an adjusted gross family income of $30,000 or less, or be able to demonstrate financial need.

GSL applications must be submitted to a bank that participates in the federal loan program.

They will be reviewed by a bank loan officer and sent to the student's school, according to Massachusetts Higher Education Assistance Corporation spokesperson Carol Cane.

"The financial aid officer at your school will determine how much you are elligible to borrow," Cane said. "The school will verify your enrollment and return the application to the bank."

There is a five percent billing charge on the loan that is paid to the federal government as an "origination" fee, Cane said.

Budget stalls Town Meeting

By MITCH ZEMEL
Collegian Staff

The second session of the 244th annual Town Meeting of Amherst got off to a slow start last night, as not one article was covered within the first two hours.

Article 10, the town operating budget, which was first discussed on Monday night, was the source of much controversy last night.

At least an hour was spent on the Human Services section of the budget. A subsection of this, Town Celebrations and Veterans' Graves Officer, was the source of a heated discussion.

Selectman Edith Wilkinson made a motion to reduce the amount appropriated from $4125 to $1125. This reduction of $3000 was requested because the Selectmen did not feel that the money was needed. This $3000 would go to the Fourth of July celebration, or more specifically, fireworks.

In the past, fireworks were funded by private contributions. Frederick Rice, a Town Meeting member, said that he and his family have gone out and tried to solicit money door-to-door. "It was not a great deal of fun, but we feel that the Fourth is a great celebration. We did not collect a lot of money," he said.

Rice spoke against the motion because many people try to collect money, but, they are getting burned out.

Another Town Meeting member said that "Fireworks receive lots of oohs and ahs," and some of the costs should become a town expense. He also said that charging admission doesn't work because the "fireworks are too high."

A standing vote was taken, and the motion lost, 112-56.

Four other subsections were voted on, and all passed. $1,006,801 was appropriated for highway and street maintenance; $145,499 was appropriated for environmental purposes; and $545,343 was appropriated for Human Services.

Collegian photo by Ann Lamery

Two Central Residential College residents took time out on Saturday for some mud wrestling. Beth Weinstein, left, engages in mudslinging with Sharon Spitzer.

Staff photo by John Pinderski

The Minuteman I, an all-terrain vehicle developed by UMass engineering students, cruises through the Campus Pond recently. The vehicle is now headed to a national competition in Maryland.

UMass' all terrain vehicle enters contest in Maryland

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

After having made its maiden voyage in the Campus Pond during Friday's Charter Day celebrations, the Minuteman I travels today to compete in a nationally sponsored engineering contest hosted by the University of Maryland.

The Minuteman I, an all ter.ain vehicle that can float on water and climb steep hills, is the product of a five month project by 11 University of Massachusetts mechanical engineering studenis.

"A group of us heard about this contest and wanted to enter. It's the first time for the University to be entered in this contest," said senior Doug Hammer, a native of Marblehead.

The annual contest is sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers (S.A.E.) as a forum for students to design and construct an all terrain vehicle given the restraints of cost, safety and weight.

The project was sponsored by donations from the dean of the School of Engineering, the Southern New England Chapter of the S.A.E., and Tau Beta Phi, the University engineering honor society.

Don Scott, the head of the mechanical engineering shop where the vehicle was constructed, said, "They are a sharp group. I did not have to show them much, they are very quick to learn. It's a great feeling to watch this project take place."

The contest will take place over two days beginning Thursday. The vehicle will compete with entries from 49 other schools in seven events: maneuverability, hill climb, water race, drag race, braking test, faculty advisor race, and an endurance race.

"The endurance race is the big one—that is why the contest is called the "Mini Baja East." It is a 15 mile race that will test the limits of the vehicle, said sophomore Russ Hammer.

"We took it on the pond on Friday afternoon to see if it would float. It gave us a chance to run circles around the S.S. UMass and to chase the ducks," said his brother Doug.

Music dept. honors students for excellence in achievement

By MICHELE DOLAN
Collegian Correspondent

The Music Department at the University of Massachusetts presented scholarship awards to music majors who have demonstrated excellence in their field at a convocation Tuesday in Bezanson Recital Hall.

"We start the school year with a convocation to introduce students to the department and end the school year with an honorary convocation to honor graduate students and graduating seniors," Music Department Chairman Charles Bestor said yesterday.

Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey addressed the seniors at the convocation, where 41 of the music department's 250 students received scholarship awards. Some scholarships were newly awarded while others were renewed from previous years.

"About a third of our student body have scholarships of one kind or another," Bestor said. "We award them in every field that we offer degrees. They vary in monetary value and go towards payment of tuition."

The Howard M. Lebow Scholarship, the Chancellor's Talent Award and other music scholarships were presented to undergraduates. The Howard M. Lebow Scholarship, a scholarship worth almost a full-year's tuition, was presented to George Weremchuk and Kurt Phinney for their musical talent.

"It's awarded to the music major who demonstrates the highest standard of artistic achievement," Bestor said. The recipient is elected by the entire music faculty. The two winners were a result of the tie vote this year.

Both recipients are now in their junior year at UMass.

Bestor said that Phinney, a composer and pianist, very successfully had two of his own compositions performed at the University recently.

Weremchuk is the principal saxophonist in the University Wind Ensemble and a member of the University's best saxophone quartet, Bestor said.

The award honors the late Howard M. Lebow, an internationally known pianist who was a faculty member at UMass. The scholarship was set up in his memory after an unexpected death. The award has been given annually since 1970.

"It's the most important award the department gives to one of its students," Bestor said. "Some of the most successful graduates that were in the music department from the University have held it while they were here," Bestor said. The Chancellor's Talent Award is given to incoming freshmen, but is occasionally given to upper classmen, Bestor said.

Performing talent and excellence are the criteria for this award.

"Everybody's admitted to the department on the basis of their performing talent," Bestor said. The music department's scholarship selects the recipients of the award.

Gwynne Cushing, John Drohan, Edwin Fisher, Steven Hilt, Lisa Lasson and Susan Metzger won the award.

Jill Mongeau, Lisa Parent, Susan Ramsey, Joseph Rodgers and Brian Yankee were additional recipients.

Other music scholarships presented at the convocation were also chosen by the scholarship committee. They range from a few hundred dollars to $1,000, Bestor said.

Stawn Barber, Francine Broughton, Judith Bruneau, David Campbell, Todd Campbell, Sheila Connor, Robert D'Ambrosio, Susan Fontaine, Amy Gates, Susan Hatfield, Jane Hirshberg and Edmund Jones were among the students winning these awards.

Howard Katz, Carol Kropewnicki, Albert Lamoureux, Peter Levesque, Katherine McGarry, John Malloy Carolyn Oakley, Joan Palermo, Faith Patterson, Joseph Perednia, Julie Pratt, Gina Puccetti, Stacey Winkley, Ken Wolff and Alan Van Tol also won scholarships. The music department offers majors in performance, theory composition, vocal or instrumental music education, Afro-American music, and vocal or instrumental jazz.

Syphilis research needs more funds

By ERIC LEHAN
Collegian Correspondent

A University of Massachusetts researcher has just completed a federal grant proposal of nearly $500,000 to further his research of the syphilis-causing bacteria, Treponoma Pallidum.

Dr. Charles D. Cox, researcher and former head of the UMass microbiology department, said that such grant proposals are not unusual but he is concerned, as are many researchers, that the money will not be granted.

"Bioscience research takes a lot of money," said Dr. Cox. "What we are working with is not cheap."

Despite standard procedures to detect and treat syphilis, little is known about the human body's immunological response to the pallid corkscrew-shaped T. Pallidum bacteria.

Research by Dr. Cox in 1974, showed the syphilis-causing bacteria to be capable of oxygen intake, a fact which contradicted the widely held belief that T. Pallidum was incapable of survival in oxygen.

Syphilis, sometimes known as "the great masquerader" because of its ambiguous symptoms, occurs in three stages. In the first stage, a canker sore may appear. In the second stage, a rash, spots, or hair loss may occur. The most harmful effects occur in ths systemic infection of the third stage where heart disease, blindness, or death may occur.

"Most bacteriological diseases have a hypersensitivity that goes with them," Cox said in an interview Friday. "The same immunological system which protects us in some cases can also be injurious to us."

Since T. Pallidum has so far defied attempts at artificial, or in-vitro, cultivation, the bacteria is usually obtained by extraction from infected rabbit testes.

Successful in-vitro cultivation of T. Pallidum may lead to an understanding of the immunological mechanisms involved and may ultimately lead to the development of a syphilis vaccine.

Cox said one of the problems facing researchers—inconsistency of federal funding for basic research projects—makes persistent research of one subject difficult.

Campus Center/Student Union Board of Governors
is accepting applications for the following coordinator positions:

Governors Program Council
University Store Retail Services
Food Services
Space Economic Development
Finance
Special Projects
Public Relations
Conference Services/Accomodations
Display
Building Operations
Vendor Certification

Jobs begin Sept. 1983
Applications available in Campus Center 817
Deadline Thursday, May 12, 1983, 4:00 pm
Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

Marjon Hair Design Inc.
GOODBYE WINTER. . .
HELLO SPRING!
Hair will remain short this season, color and volume very important
Highlights, lowlights, bobs, root perms . . .these are just the start. Call us now at
MARJON HAIR DESIGN
"We are a cut above the rest"
Hyper-Marche Mall
Rt 9 Hadley, MA
586-4561

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert
by
CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
Victor BORGE
Conducting, playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

HANGAR ONE
TONIGHT MAY 5
GREEK WEEK
DANCE PARTY
Fomerly scheduled at Kappa Sig. DJ's by Rack-A-Disc, APM.
Frat or sorority with most members present at midnight wins 25 free passes to the Stompers at the Hangar May 12th.
Let's party
Free Admission
Fri May 6
Hottest New Boston band
November Group
2 for 1 drinks 'till 10
$3.00
Sat May 7
James Montgomery
also Peter Newland & friends
18 & older with ID
253-2280

BUDGET TRAVEL SAVERS
PARIS • LONDON
AMSTERDAM
one way / round trip
Amsterdam from $209 ... $418
London ..... from $212 .... $410
Paris ..... from $249 ... $479
CIEE • COUNCIL TRAVEL
(617) 497-1497
1278 Mass. Ave., Harvard Square, Cambridge, MA

All evil to be cleansed from country through disasters, spiritual leader says

By GLEN GOLDSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Rolling Thunder, a Native American spiritual leader, spoke of "spiritual cleansing" at a press conference last night in advance of his appearance Friday at the Fine Arts Center at the University of Massachusetts.

"Been having any storms?" Rolling Thunder asked.

He nodded at reports of recent storms in the area.

"First the blessed storms to settle the smog. Not like the desert. I don't wish anyone bad luck. If they don't clean it up, the Great Spirit will."

"Mother Earth has a way of cleansing herself," Rolling Thunder said.

Rolling Thunder cited the volcanic eruption of Mt. St. Helens in Washington as the first of 17 volcanic eruptions due on the West Coast as a means of cleansing our society.

As part of this cleansing, Rolling Thunder said that there will be floods followed by droughts and 30 feet of snow in places like Florida that do not usually get snow.

Rolling Thunder said that he is now travelling to spread this word. He usually lives at Meta Tantay, the community he helped found in the Nevada desert.

"People said that we wouldn't last six months out there. We've been there for seven years now.

The funds raised from Rolling Thunder's speaking engagements goes back to Meta Tantay to feed the 40 people who currently live there, Mike Thor, one of Rolling Thunder's aides said.

The credit for the Indians' survival in the desert is attributed in part to their technology, which Rolling Thunder said is superior in many ways to our modern technology.

"The experts said that we couldn't grow anything out there. We've fired the experts. We're growing turnips that won't fit into a gallon bucket," Rolling Thunder said.

Part of the problem with modern technology is the type of thinking that goes on behind it, according to Rolling Thunder.

"Anything that modern man creates will be imperfect because their minds are already cluttered up. Ancient man was a clear thinker," Rolling Thunder said.

"There were no wheels then. Anything created didn't pollute or destroy. They could move 20 ton boulders together so that a knife blade couldn't be inserted between them," Rolling Thunder said.

When 15 years old Rolling Thunder built his first house, where he lived by himself, he said. Up until several years ago he worked as a railroad engineer. He said he drew complaints from co-workers at that job because he would stop the train to give food to hobos that had hitched rides on the train.

Fiddling with a corn cob pipe during the press conference, Rolling Thunder said that he does not smoke marijuana.

"I smoke this," he said, fumbling with a store-bought pouch of tobacco. "It's called 'Five Brother' and it's the strongest tobacco you can buy. There's only four brothers now; one of them couldn't take the stuff," Rolling Thunder said, laughing.

Rolling Thunder, an American Indian spiritual leader, spoke of his prophesies during a recent press conference as a preview of his speech at the University of Massachusetts tomorrow.

The American political system bothers Rolling Thunder. He said that America is the only industrial country that does not supply free medical treatment and education to its people. Rolling Thunder said the government instead spends money on supporting dictators in places like Guatemala.

"I make the most powerful medicine in the world, speaking modestly," Rolling Thunder said. "I have a medicine...three drops of it makes a person unable to speak. I'm saving that medicine in case I ever go to Washington, D.C. Every time some politician says 'atomic' this or 'nuclear' that, I'm going to put some on their tongue," he laughed.

Summer courses can offer students something special

By MICHAEL HOTALING
Collegian Correspondent

Instead of simply relaxing at the beach or working at a tedious job this summer, students may broaden their horizons while getting University of Massachusetts course credits through the Division of Continuing Education.

Courses for both major and core requirements, as well as non-credit courses, will be offered by 52 departments in two six week sessions beginning June 7 and July 19. Preregistration began Monday and will continue through May 23 for the first session and July 1 for the second. Courses cost $55 per undergraduate credit with a $45 summer session fee.

This summer, an attempt is being made to offer courses off-campus. Two Economics 103 and 104 courses will be offered on Martha's Vineyard.

"In this way we hope to help students working in hotels and restaurants in the area," said Angel G. Ramirez, coordinator of credit courses at the Division of Continuing Education.

In the Boston area, three education courses will be available.

"These courses are possible because members of the faculty live in these areas for the summer," Ramirez said.

A variety of non-credit workshops will also be available, including several new programs, according to Honore David, manager of non-credit programs at UMass.

The Hitchcock Center in Amherst and the UMass Division of Continuing Education will combine efforts to offer a White Mountains ecology weekend. An introduction to early American decorative arts will be available through a cooperation with Old Deerfield Village.

"The non-credit program allows people to sample topics of possible interest," David said. She said popular programs in the past include aerobics, test preparation and mixology.

"Last summer I took a non-credit workshop in swimming training which I really enjoyed," said Jean Slosak, a junior anthropology major. "This year I'm interested in a math course for auditing in order to get my GRE (Graduate Research Examination) scores up."

"I'd like to take an exercise course in tennis or running," said Bill Lamothe, a graduating political science major. "I'll be in the area this summer and I'd like to get in shape."

Collegian
APPLICATIONS are now being accepted for the following Fall 1983 positions:

Associate Managing Editors (5), Associate Executive Editor, Associate Sports Editor, Associate News Editors (2), Associate Arts Editor, Associate Women's Editor, Associate Black Affairs Editor, Associate Photo Editor, Assistant Photo Editors (4), Day News Editors (3), Copy Editors (5), Layout Technicians (5), Librarian, Drivers, Training Coordinator, Cable News Coordinator

Applications will be accepted until May 18
Apply in person to Rm. 113 Campus Center
The Collegian is an Equal Opportunity Employer

BARSELOTTI'S
Thursday Night Special
DOWNTOWN AMHERST
$1.00 off any name Pitcher of beer
with this coupon
DON'T FORGET OUR FRIDAY HAPPY HOUR
WITH MORE FOOD THAN EVER!

SUMMER SALE!!!
SPEAKERS all sale speakers less than 200/pair (demo's only)
EQUIPMENT
10% OFF all new & used electronics
(week of 5/5/83 - 4/14/83, with this ad only)
TAPE
Max UDXLII C-90. . 2.99 @/34.00 case 12
TDK SA-90. . .2.75 @/26.50 case 10
Bring in your repairs now!!
• FREE pick up & delivery (to campus only)
• FREE estimates
• 48 hr service available
Beat the last week rush — get your stereo repaired in time for summer fun

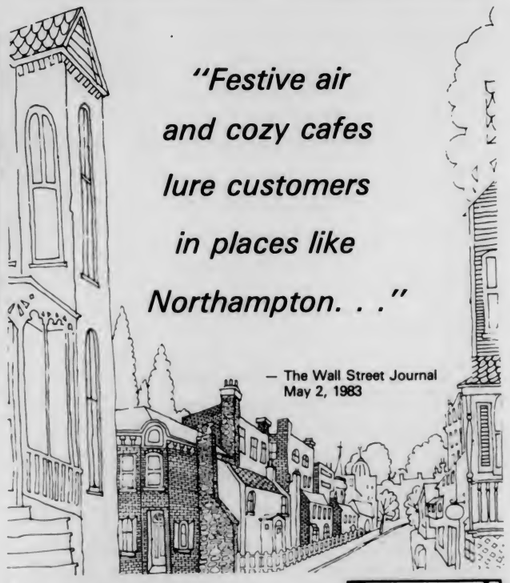
UNDERGROUND SOUND, INC.
253-9507 71 No. Pleasant (across the street from the fire station) Amherst

Northampton
a shopping event!

THE GLOBE BOOKSHOP
Open 9 am til 9 pm
Monday - Saturday
Open 10 - 3
on Sunday
Fine New & Used Books Bought & Sold

BETTER YET
56 Main St.
Northampton, MA 01060

NOW OPEN at the GRANARY 109 Main St. Northampton 584-0591
TOWN FARM
RESTAURANT & SALAD EXPRESS
Watch for our Fresh Fruit & Salad Cart AT the bus stop in Amherst Ctr.
International & Vegetarian Specialties



"Festive air and cozy cafes lure customers in places like Northampton. . ."
— The Wall Street Journal May 2, 1983

CHONA
Henry Grethel
Williwear Men
Daniel Hechter
Ruffini
British Khaki

CONTEMPORARY FASHION FOR MEN
now open Sunday 12-5
MEN
2nd FLOOR
THORNES MARKET
150 MAIN STREET NORTHAMPTON

SALE
NIKE Valkyre

$35.00
reg - $52.00
excellent cushioning with good flexibility in Nike's top of the line woman's shoe.
Runner Shop
114 Main St., Northampton
Mon-Sat 9:30-5
586-1971

DYNAMITE RECORDS
Regular Spring Tape
★★★Prices★★★
TDK-SA 90 - $2.50
MAXELL-UDXL II - $3.00
$30/case of 12
we buy LPs
There was a better place!

"Look what's cooking"
Roberto's
"HOME OF ITALIAN FOODS"
Kitchen Hours 11:30 A.M.-11:30 P.M.
223 Pleasant St., Northampton
584-0204
PIZZA OUR SPECIALTY
CHICKEN - SPAGHETTI
ORDERS PUT UP TO TAKE OUT

FREE SODAS
whole wheat PIZZA FACTORY
FREE SODAS
363 Main St. Amherst
Large Mushroom Pizza for only $5.50
(2 free sodas upon request)
Call 256-8587

VALUABLE COUPONS
James H. McManus eating place
BREAKFAST SPECIAL
2 EGGS
2 PANCAKES
2 STRIPS BACON
2 LINKS SAUSAGE
Reg. $2.55
With This Coupon
2 For $3.99
Please present coupon when ordering
Coupon Expires May 16, 1983
SERVED ALL DAY ANYTIME C
FISH DINNER
Our Famous Batter-Dipped Fillets English Style — Served with French Fries, or Baked Potato, Cole Slaw, Roll & Butter
With This Coupon
2 For $5.95
Please present coupon when ordering
Coupon Expires May 16, 1983
SERVED 11 A.M.-10 P.M. C
SWEET & SOUR CHICKEN
ALL YOU CAN EAT
Sweet & Sour Chicken in delicious tempura batter served with french fries, coleslaw, rolls & butter.
WITH THIS COUPON
$4.95
Please present coupon when ordering
Coupon Expires May 16, 1983
SERVED 11 A.M.-10 P.M. C
Sun.-Thurs. 7 a.m.-3 a.m.
Fri. & Sat. 24 Hours
James H. McManus eating place
SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNTS
DISCOUNTS 3-5 P.M. 20%
ALL OTHER TIMES 10%
Does Not Apply To Specials
CAMPUS SHOPPING PLAZA RTE. 9, HADLEY, 256-6869

Newslines . . .

League of Women Voters to hold booksale on common

The Amherst League of Women Voters will hold its 35th Annual Booksale at the Amherst Town Common today, Friday, and Saturday. The sale will run from 9 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. today and Friday, and between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday.

Donated books will be collected at Louis' Foods, Price Chopper, Heritage Savings Bank, the Munson Memorial Library, the North Amherst Library, and the Mercantile in the Amherst Carriage Shops.

Board of Regents chairman to address Faculty Senate today

James R. Martin, Chairman of the Massachusetts Board of Regents, will speak today at the Faculty Senate meeting.

In other business expected today, the Academic Matters Council will recommend new courses in the areas of education, food and research economics, sociology, and Hebrew. The Graduate Council will also recommend new courses in the same areas, and in food science and nutrition, forestry, microbiology, psychology, and public health.

Other topics for discussion include: the by-law change, concerning General Education, which will be read; the Library Committee will present a special report urging the University administration to increase library funding.

The Rules Committee will present a special report involving University involvement with South Africa. Special reports will also be presented by the Ad Hoc Committee and Academic Matters concerning the Junior Writing Program and increasing access to majors. The meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m. in Room 120, in the School of Management.

— MARY ANNE BEEN

WMUA will broadcast talk by nuclear freeze activist

A speech by Randall Kehler, the national coordinator of the Nuclear Weapons Freeze Campaign, will be broadcast on WMUA, 91.1 FM, tonight at 6 p.m.

Kehler spoke Saturday in Northampton at a fundraiser sponsored by the Western Massachusetts office of the American Friends Service Committee.

Faculty to debate failure of management in America

The School of Management will sponsor a faculty debate, titled "Failures in Management of American Institutions" at 8 p.m. tonight in Room 120 of the School of Management.

The debate, which will be moderated by Prof. Robert E. McGarrah, will include Professors Leonard A. Rapping, Deirdre A. Ling, A. Elliott Carlisle, Jay Demerath, Charlotte K. Spivak, and Linda G. Lockwood, director of the Honors Program.

Annual Video Art Festival winners recently announced

The Union Video Center and the University of Massachusetts Arts Council recently announced the winners of the Fourth Annual Video Art Festival.

Lewis Schoenbrun took first place in the documentary category with his tape, titled "Reaching from the Silence." W. Keith Setterlund won the avant garde category competition with "Dark Glass," and Jason Kliot took top honors in the narrative category with "Glances: 14th Street."

Frisbee tournament to highlight today's Student Union sale

An Ultimate Frisbee tournament, food raffle and merchandise sale will highlight the first annual Student Union Sale, to be held in front of the Student Union today.

The event was rescheduled for today after it was cancelled because of rain yesterday.

Student run businesses will be selling their products at the sale between 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. The Frisbee tournament will take place at the Boyden field.

Student run businesses that will be participating in the sale will be College Auto Repair, the Collegian, Earthfoods, the Outing Club, People's Market, the Recycling Project, snackbars from residential areas, the Sporting Goods Co-op, Student Notes and Printing Service, Union Records Unlimited, and the Valley Women's Voice.

1983 GRADUATES YEARBOOK INFO

The 1983 INDEX will be ready for delivery or distribution in the Fall.

If you would like a copy of it sent to you please send the form below, along with $2.50 for postage and handling. to: INDEX, 103 Campus Center, UMass

If you are going to be in the area during the fall, you can come to the office to pick up your copy free of charge.

Name _____

Permanent Address (Fall)_____

_____

I.D.# _____

Make checks payable to INDEX
103 Campus Center, UMass, Amherst, MA 01003

DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Now in Stock

BOLLES SHOES

8 Main St.
across from the common
253-5598 open Mon - Sat 9:00 - 5:30

VALLEY BICYCLES Ltd.

Authorized Dealer

FUJI

NISHIKI

Sales, Service
Rentals

- 3 speeds
- 10 speeds
- accessories

starting at $7.00/day

89 Main St, Amherst
256-0880

Behind the Cheese Shop
and Valley Farms Dairy Shop

Scholl Exercise Sandals
the patented sandal

Cool comfort from sculptured European beechwood foam-cushioned straps. In light or dark-toned wood and strap colors that go everywhere, with everything.

Regular Scholl's Sandals $12.99
with this coupon expires 5/17

Bic Pens.....19¢
5-Subject Notebook
150 sheet Reg. $2.29.....now $1.29
3-Subject Notebook 120 sheet.....$1.19

50¢ OFF
all tanning lotions in stock
with this coupon expires 5/17

CAMBRIDGE DIET

available at COLLEGE DRUG
4 MAIN STREET, AMHERST, Phone 253-2523
9-9 weekdays 9-5 Sat / 9-3 Sun

COPIES

4¢ high quality-while you wait
3½¢ high quality-overnight
3¢ regular quality - while you wait
2½¢ regular quality overnight

WORKER 1983 OWNED
Collective Copies 256-6425
25 N. Pleasant St. Amherst

HOURS: M-F 8am-midnight SAT. 9-5, SUN 11-5

- THESIS QUALITY ACID-FREE PAPER
- REDUCTIONS
- BINDING $1.25

Great Spring SALE!

Clothing Jewelry
Chinese Shoes

20% off all Bedspreads
20 - 40% off selected Clothing
30% off selected Jewelry

Daily 10 AM - 6 PM
Use the BUS STOP out front
great gifts - great prices

THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS

Remember...

When patronizing our advertisers, make sure to tell them that you saw their ads in the Collegian.

DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Summertime & the Reading gets easy
with ½ price new books to take your mind traveling, gardening, fantasizing... or wherever your heart desires.

The Reading Remedy
NEW BOOKS AT HALF PRICE

★ Great Graduation Gifts
★ Always paying cash for current texts

71 N Pleasant St., Amherst 256-6498
(across from Louis Foods) Open Mon-sat 10-6

Thesis Paper
Typewriter Ribbons
& Typing Paper
at
A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

Commencement is coming!

Join the excitement in the Collegian's Commencement special to be handed out to graduates and relatives during Commencement '83 in Alumni Stadium May 28, 1983
Reserve your space now!
Call 545-3500 for details

DELANO'S

MAY HAPPY HOUR SPECIAL
Beck's Bottles
2 for 1
plus our original twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a must
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

Sweeties

FINE CHOCOLATES AND CONFECTIONS

WE'VE GOT YOUR CONE!

Soft-Serve
63 N. Pleasant St., 253-5589

Attention Amherst Merchants reserve your space for the special NOW!
Call Craig at 545-3500 for details

Memo to UMass Faculty
We would appreciate your Course Book order for the summer or fall semester. It will be given our prompt efficient and loving attention.

Jeffery Amherst Bookshop
55 S. Pleasant St
Amherst
253-3381

Thursday
OLDIES
with
Gregg Adams
TWO FOR ONE
9 til 11
all liquor drinks
no cover

THE PUB
15 East Pleasant St.
AMHERST

MAY FLAVOR OF THE MONTH

MISSISSIPPI MUDD ICE CREAM

Here's mud in your eye. Mississippi Mud to be exact. A yummy combination of Milk Chocolate and Chocolate Fudge Ripple mixed by a delicious chocolate river. Scoop some up with a taste spoon.

Baskin-Robbins. More of what you love ice cream for.

MISSISSIPPI MUDD
Fudge Brownie
English Toffee
Baseball Nut
Strawberry Shortcake
Gold medal Ribbon
Blackberry Custard
Cherry Bon Bon

Peach
Chocolate Cheesecake
Coconut Alomond Fudge
Banana's 'n' Strawberry
Rainbow Sherbet
Orange Sherbet
Jungle Fruit Sherbet
and many more

BASKIN-ROBBINS ICE CREAM STORE
28 Main St., 253-9774
Store Hrs 11 am - 10 pm
across from the common

KRONE

Clogs

Mathews SHOE STORE
The Village Common, Amherst

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

College Pro Painters
Recruiting on campus Monday May 9, 1983
For more info call your Student Information Ctr.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

We all forgot Kent State

Yesterday marked the thirteenth anniversary of the shooting of four students at Kent State University in Ohio. This paper carried no mention of the event. The day itself was another cloudy and rainy day, a day in which most students were beginning the final push for semester's end. It's rather ironic that both this newspaper and the campus itself on the whole ignored this tragic footnote in our nation's history, a footnote which symbolized the violence, the turmoil, and the student involvement in the upheavals which some argue changed the very face of this country. But just how much have we changed since that fatal day some thirteen years ago?

Ask any student organizer or leader and they'll tell you we are smarter, more well organized, a group which on the whole has adjusted to the political process and learned how to play the game. These types of students are fine but are just about as representative of the "average" student as UMass is the real world.

John F. Hudson

Ask that so-called "average" student how they feel about issues, about Reagan and the education cuts, about El Salvador and our growing military presence in Central and South America, about the E.P.A. and its prostitution of our environment — just ask.

In most cases, I would venture to say at least 80 percent, they'll look at you, scratch their heads and shrug their shoulders in an indifferent, casual way.

Now ask them about the Bruins or Celtics, finals, or how drunk they got last Saturday night. Ask them what they think about D.C. food or lousy bus service, classes or their latest drug experience.

Watch their eyes light up, listen to the animated conversation, the arguments they present, the way they plead with you and try to convince you that Yaz has one more season left in him, or how they have that summer job lined up, or that great bash that's coming up on Friday night at Brittany Manor.

Since Kent State we have changed. Students have become more self-centered, selfish and apathetic. Dying peasants in El Salvador or nuclear protests in Europe are about as real to most students as Spiderman or Theodore "Beaver" Cleaver.

The obvious question has to be why? Why have students lost the vigor, the intensity, the commitment they so fervently displayed in the tumultous nineteen-sixties?

Economics, as usual, played a large part in the metamorphasis. Times are tougher. Money is tight. Jobs must be secured. Conversely, in the sixties many of the student protesters were pretty well insulated from the world. They were white, middle or upper class, protesting for civil-rights they already had, economic justice they already enjoyed, and an end to the war which left them unscathed within the safety of their college campuses. An idyllic picture of the protesters has been drawn for us by many historians which isn't necessarily true. Yet for all their drawbacks they did change the "world", they did make a difference.

Aside from economics, who is to blame for this malaise?

A select few at UMass have such an overwhelming commitment to their education and/or the financing of their schooling, that they just don't have the time to become involved. It is not those that are at fault.

It is those that selfishly deny their own responsibility to work for postitive social change who are at fault.

Ironically, it is those same students who will complain the loudest when they are drafted to fight Reagan's war in Central America. They will bitch when tuition goes up, but forego involvement in any protest against it.

The sad part is that all will pay if more students do not commit themselves to work against the forces which threaten our rights, our futures and our very lives. Yet with a little more work, these threats can be battled and can be stopped. At Kent State they died for what they believed in.

Would you?

John F. Hudson is the Collegian Executive Editor

Collegian

Board of Editors

Kevin Bowe	Editor-in-Chief
Ed Levine	Managing Editor
James Shanahan	Production Manager
Joel Myerson	Business Manager
John Hudson	Executive Editor
John DiPalazzo	News Editor
Cris Schuster	Women's Editor
Doug Muise	Arts Editor
Gus Martins	Black Affairs Editor
Billy Shea	Sports Editor
Kevin J. Fachetti	Photo Editor

Letters

Another question of judgement

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the article "The King Is Usurped", which appeared in the April 26 issue of the Collegian. We realize that everyone is entitled to their own opinion, but the implications made by the reviewer in reference to the success of Evelyn King's performance were absolutely preposterous.

First of all, it is impossible to measure the depth of a performance on the basis of supposed data derived from the response of an audience. It is not feasible to determine the appreciation level of an entire audience in this manner because people enjoy music in various ways. Some like to "get into" the music, while others prefer to sit back and give the performer their undivided attention so that they can completely appreciate them. This doesn't mean the latter enjoy the performance any less than the others, nor does it mean that they are in some way disappointed with the performance.

In regard to the reviewer's statement about the greater response of the crowd to Soulsonic Force than to Ms. King, there is a simple explanation. The music of these performers is of different lyrical denomination. Soulsonic Force's music has a "rap" type of structure which would inevitably generate more crowd involvement than Ms. King's music which is more conservative.

Another debatable issue is the question of Ms. King's talent as a vocalist. According to the reviewer, "her voice is not exceptional" and she has only a "hint of a good voice". From these statements coupled with her praise of King's ability to dance, one can safely conclude that she feels without this "saving grace", her career as a top vocalist would be unsalvageable. This is an absolutely absurd hypothesis about a young woman whose singing talents evoked the interest of the legendary Stevie Wonder (who was affiliated with the production of her first album) or perhaps in the reviewer's eyes, Stevie Wonder has only mediocre talent.

For your information, Ms. King has been successful with several of her albums and that without the aid of her entertaining dance repetoire. This is a more accurate mechanism of talent measurement. After all, no one buys a record on the basis of a performers ability to dance. For if that were the case, any record recorded by Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire would have been legendary gold!

Wendy A. Ward
Judi-Anne Johnson
Amherst

How's this for reliability?

To the Editor:

In his recent letter, Evolution is a Fact, Mr. Sahaney accuses me of being the president of a club of ignorance. Many things were said with which I would like to take issue, but space does not permit, and so I would like to respond to his point that the Bible is equal in character to Aesop's Fables.

It seems to me that Mr. Sahaney needs to do some homework of his own. There are significant differences between Aesop's Fables and the Bible. Firstly, Aesop's Fables is a book of fiction and makes no claims to be historically based. The Bible, however, was written by real people who actually existed and claimed to be eyewitnesses to the events they were reporting. The Bible has been confirmed as s historical book time and again by both archaelogy and scholarly textual criticism. So I will not again be accused of ignorance here is an example:

Plato wrote from 427-347 BC. The earliest copy we have of his writing is dated at 900 AD. That's a time span of 1200 years from the original and the oldest available copy, and yet no one questions the account of Socrates death as historical. The New Testament was written by eyewitnesses from 40-110 AD and the earliest copy we have is dated at 125 AD, or a time span of just 25 years. I'd say that's a little better than 1200. A second test for reliability is to see how many manuscripts exist. We have only 7 copies of Plato's Tetralogies, and yet have no less than 24,000 copies of the New Testament. To quote F. F. Bruce, a scholar on books of antiquity, "There is no body of ancient literature in the world which enjoys such a wealth of good textual attestions as the New Testament."

Finally, I should say that I never said that science was just philosophical assumption. What I did say was that we must not arbitrarally overrule the possibility of the supernatural if the facts lead us in that direction.

Brian Kelley
Amherst

All lathered up over HAIR

To the Editor:

It's pretty disappointing that such a powerful performance as HAIR (Southwest, 4/26-4/28) could have been reviewed so poorly by the Collegian. The reviewer wrote about the expenses and crowd attendence of the show, yet failed to even mention any of the actors or members of the crew. After seeing the show three times it is obvious to me, and I think I can speak for many others, that a lot of time and effort went into the production.

The song and dance numbers were absolutely wonderful not to mention the actors' ability to keep the audience smiling and tapping their feet. They are a group of gifted young actors and actresses who have a very bright future ahead of them in theater. I think you could have at least revealed to us, the adoring audience, the names of these superb actors. The roles of Claude, Berger, Sheila, and Woof were particularly outstanding and unfortunately my letter alone cannot express the gratitude we UMass students feel for having been privileged with such unique talent.

Perhaps now you will write a real review of the Orchard Hill production of HAIR which will credit the actors and congratulate Larry Cox for putting together such an awesome and memorable production. But if you won't, then I guess we'll all just have to stand taller and clap louder at the next performance to show these people our true appreciation.

Stefanie Schmall
Amherst

Editors Note: This was not a review. It was a feature article designed to bring the efforts of the UMass Music Theater Guild to light. Reviews always appear on the Arts page.

If no cable TV; I'll watch free

One morning recently, I woke up, looked at the ceiling, and found myself with an incredible desire to run downstairs and turn on the television.

I ran down the stairs, tripped on a loose piece of gold carpeting and almost went head first through the front door. While lying on my back collecting my thoughts and trying to see if I had any broken bones, I looked over at the clock on the table next to the couch and saw it was just past 11 a.m.

This meant it was a.) time for "The Price is Right" and b.) a good excuse to blow off my 11:15 class and just lay around the house for a while.

"The Price is Right" next to "Late Night with David Letterman" it is just about my favorite show.

Scott Hersey

I was quivering with anticipation as I reached for the on-off button.

Bob Barker, Johnny Olson, and the endless variety of pricing games were just moments away. I could sit and play along. Guess on the games and even see if I could win the famous "The Price is Right Showcase."

But nothing came on. I sat and stared at the static. I quickly flipped the channel, hoping that it was only that one station that was out. But no matter where I turned to, only endless gray static stared back.

The inevitable had happened. The cablevision had been shut off.

I couldn't believe it. What was I going to do?

I'm a TV-aholic you see. As soon as I get home, I turn on the tube. My roommates and I eat dinner every night in the living room in front of the set. On nights when I have no money, I'm perfectly happy to sit at home and watch whatever is on.

What would I do without cable? This meant no M*A*S*H during dinner. I meant no great, clear reception. It meant no movie channel. And worst of all, it meant no Bruins playoffs.

How would I live without cable? The answer is pretty well.

If there is one word I would use to describe the cable company, it's sleazy.

I first realized this when I came back from New Year's and turned on Channel 56. It was gone. And in its place was a message stating that recent federal rulings had made it too expensive to carry certain stations. There was no warning that they were going to take the station off and even worse, there was no replacement.

No replacement came for over a month, so I naturally figured that my bill would go down. But if there's one thing that the cable company does right, it is send out their bills. When the February bill came, it was for the regular amount.

When the station was finally replaced, it was replaced with a Christian broadcasting station which offered nothing but call-in religious shows and dull old re-runs.

This, along with the sudden disappearance of a major movie channel and the prolonged absence of a promised music station have led a lot of people to question the company's commitment to the community.

But they have no problem with billing. When my system was cut we owed about $35. About $20 of the $35 was for the month of April, which we never got to see because the system was shut off. Since the shut-off, I have received bills for the month of May and a movie channel catalog.

So how am I living without cable? Just fine thank you.

We have put a special antenna on the television — made of old speaker wire — and get Boston stations.

I realize now that the movie channel wasn't really watched all that much.

As far as the Bruins go, I have gone out to local bars and enjoyed a few cold beers with the game or have visited friends where we watched the game together.

And best of all, I have $17 more per month now to spend on other things.

I had forgotten that television could be free.

Scott Hersey is a Collegian columnist

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

Reshaping our contact with S. Africa

Why should the University community, in particular the UMass Faculty Senate, engage itself in the debate currently taking place on campus over UMass-South Africa academic control? Judging from the decision taken by the Faculty Senate at its meeting on April 21, which served to prevent debate of the issue on the Senate floor, one could conclude that some members of the faculty did not consider the issue to be worthy of debate. Even worse, some faculty members were not prepared to engage themselves in the issue because of its potential explosive nature. Whatever conclusion is to be drawn from that decision, it seems fair to state that the decision fails to reflect the democratic ideas of this institution, upon which it prides itself, and the broader humane ideals of the U.S. society.

George McKiunzie

My sense is that those members of the faculty who voted against the motion to place the issue on the senate floor for debate have had more time to reflect upon the position taken, and its broader implications for the University. Therefore, I hope they will come forward at their May 5th meeting prepared to open the debate on the issue, and even to pass the pending resolution calling for the establishment of a university policy consistent with the international community, the state of Massachusetts and academic values.

While we await the results of Thursday's meeting there is need to clarify this debate and to point to additional facts which demonstrate the validity of the position taken by the sum 1,500 undergraduate students here, in their own vote last month, in support of the establishment of university guidelines to regulate academic contact between UMass and South Africa.

In the current debate many have raised the issue of academic freedom. It has been argued that by moving to establish a policy to regulate academic contact we are setting a bad precedent. It is argued that any attempt to define the terms of relationship between this institution and apartheid South Africa could be carried over inappropriately into other areas of academic work, or work in other countries that may or may not enjoy friendly relations with a particular U.S. administration.

We share the concerns of those who raise the issue of academic freedom. There is, however, a larger question that is a function of the uniqueness of apartheid South Africa. South Africa as it presently exists, is a singular case — one that transcends the usual issue of academic freedom. We call for restrictions of academic contact with South Africa on the basis of protection for simple human dignity and fundamental human rights. We call for restriction here and now in the hope that someday all people in South Africa may have such safeguards as academic freedom.

To turn to some hard facts, we can note that in 1980, the British Association of University Teachers, a group consisting of 31,000 members, voted to end the traditionally strong links between British and South Africa University. It is also interesting to note that in 1982 the South African government responded to this B.A.U.T. action by creating within its London embassy a new "counselor for cultural affairs" whose specific job is to recruit academic contacts for apartheid universities.

On the other side, we have to note that some U.S. and other universities have played and continue to play an active role in helping to shore up the illegal genocidal regime of apartheid, by providing technical training and assistance. Cooperation between western universities and South Africa have been extensive, especially since 1957. For example, from 1957 to 1977, U.S. universities trained more than 90 South African nuclear scientists, and have since now more than 155 American scientists presently work in South Africa. Britain, France, and West Germany unfortunately have also been active in this field, providing technical training and expertise to South Africa. Thus, western universities can now boast of having made it possible for the 1979 explosion by South Africa of a nuclear bomb. We must ask if this is the type of contact that UMass wishes to support?

We must also ask, What the case is for academic contact between UMass and South Africa? Does the ideal of "free flow of information and idea" require that we offer a cloak of legitamacy to the oppression and annihilation of the African majority of the South African population? Can we seriously speak of academic freedom as our standard when South Africa has proven itself incapable of assuring a personal freedom of black South Africans? Surely we do not think that academic freedom is intended just to protect the individual interests of American scholars in conjunction with their white South African counterparts.

Brwten Berytenbech, the white South African poet released from prison this year, recently commented in an interview with the New York Times, "Even the condemmed man's last meal is subject to apartheid. Before being hanged, the white prisoner gets a whole roast chicken. The black prisoner gets half a chicken." Black people in South Africa get even less than half of the opportunities and rewards of scholarship and science. As the doctrine of academic freedom is meant to safeguard choice of inquiry and intellectual opportunity, it hardly seems that it can be applied to actions such as support of South African institutions which actively inhibits free and humane development of all members of that society. It is in this light that we look forward to a faculty senate affirmation, today, that calls for the reshaping of our contact with South Africa.

George McKiunzie is a UMass student

Reagan and the corporate coup de grace

Escaping from the dangers of their own community they are virtually suburban refugees. They are the people of Times-Beach Mo., the sight of the latest battle in the on-going war against chemical waste in this country.

Paul Hetznecker

The recent controversy involving the Environmental Protection Agency has revealed the severity of the situation. Congressional committees investigating the E.P.A. report that there are literally thousands of known hazardous waste dumps throughout the country and that it would cost upwards of $40 billion to clean them up. The tragedy for the people in Times-Beach not only makes us all wary about what is going on in our own backyards, but reinforces the realization that there is very little we can do about it. Reports of illegal hazardous waste dumps and other threats to health and safety are commonplace. Such inquiries are accompanied by the usual corporate stonewalling and denials. Lawsuits have reached into the hundreds of millions of dollars with little corporate concern because as executives have stated, the lawsuits pose no threat to company profits. Insurance covers the cost of any potential casualties. Problems in public relations are offset by advertising and quick out of court settlements. Nothing can deter these companies from continuing to jeopardize the health and safety of the public in their efforts to save on costs, not even the E.P.A.

The on-going struggle with chemical wastes contains a broader issue, one that has once again come thundering into political view on the back of the recent hazardous waste crisis. It is an issue that has traversed our entire social lives for the last five or six decades but one that has become increasingly important as time goes on. It is the question of the responsibility that corporations have toward the public. This issue is at the heart of the hazardous waste crisis, not simply a crisis in public policy but a crisis in democracy. It would be ludicrous to ever believe that social responsibility could ever be a corporate imperative in a system that puts priority on profits over the lives and safety of people. So traditionally it has been the Federal government that the public has put faith in to insure their protection. However, the recent controversy surrounding the E.P.A. is an illustration of the fundamental structural changes occurring in the Federal government.

Never before has the corporate-government interface manifested itself so clearly than in the Reagan administration's term in office. Likewise, never before have profits been greater at the expense of the public's welfare. The corporate coup that occurred when Reagan took office has big business wearing the mask of the public servant while they administer regulatory agencies for their own special, private interests. Increasingly government control of the private economy is done so on behalf of, and directly by a corporate elite. Along with defense contract subsidies of industry and the re-organized tax structure which ensures that 80 percent of the benefits go to 1,700 of the largest corporations, we are witnessing the institutionalization of corporate control over public bureaucracies. Gradually over the last fifty years, the take-over of democratic institutions by undemocratic forces has taken place. It is a process that did not start with Reagan, but one that his administration is trying to complete.

The efforts made by the corporate state to decrease environmental safety standards, bust unions, rape the land, dismantle social services and increase defense spending all result from the fact that the Federal government administers and enforces policies made by big business, an institution which is not accountable to the democratic forces on which the government is theoretically based. Although corporations spend approximately one third of their tax deductible advertising dollars to influence consumers politically, along with millions in campaign contributions, the coporate elite has made it clear time and again that democracy is not in the best interests of private capital, but the political power it has created is. So while communities across the country struggle to rid themselves of hazardous wastes, our ability to make political changes, to ensure our health and safety within the system, has diminished. The corporate structure has realized that it is easier to seize the state than to fight it and has done so, creating the foundations for a totalitarian political-economic order. Underlying the controversy involving the E.P.A. and the problems of hazardous waste is this crisis in democracy which threatens to alter the nature of our political life.

Paul Hetznecker is a UMass student

Arts

Kang comes alive

DONG SUK KANG
Tuesday, April 14
Bezanson Recital

By ELLEN SMITH
Collegian Correspondent

On April 19, the Emerging Artists Series at UMass presented violinist Dong-Suk Kang at Bezanson Recital Hall. Kang has been widely hailed for his outstanding artistry, musicianship, and virtuosity. He has appeared with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Munich Philharmonic, the National Symphony, and the Montreal Symphony to name a few. He has also performed in New York at Carnegie Hall, Alice Tully Hall, the Frick Collection, and has also appeared as a guest artist with the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center and the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

A native of Korea, and now a resident of Paris, Dong-Suk Kang has won several national and international competitions, including the San Francisco, the Carl Flesch in London, and the Queen Elizabeth in Brussels.

If Kang's credentials are impressive, his performance was even more so. From the first note of the program, the love and understanding he has for music came through. Every dynamic bow-stroke was carefully thought-out and executed beautifully. Each note was caressed and made important.

His interpretation of the Mozart Adagio in E and Rondo in C was somewhat romantic, yet appropriately elegant and exquisite. His other pieces were the Prodofier Sonata in D major, which was originally written for the flute, and the Sonata in A Major by Franck. Both pieces came alive, with Kang playing with extraordinary sensitivity and understanding.

Bruce G. McInnes

Bruce G. McInnes will conduct a performance of Handel's "Israel in Egypt" by the Amherst College and UMass Chamber Choirs, along with the Valley Festival Orchestra at 8:15 p.m. on Friday, May 6, in Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College. Admission is free.

New dance in the Valley

By LISA MOSLEY
Collegian Staff

Attention dance enthusiasts: if you crave variety but don't often find it, then be sure to be at Hampden Theater May 13 and 14 for "Against All Odds," a dance concert featuring the works of three different choreographers.

In this concert, Jill Esterson, Ariel Weiss and Fiona Marcotti will display several different approaches to the challenges and risks of choreography.

Jill Esterson has had many years of formal dance training with the American Ballet Theatre School, the Alvin Ailey School and the Twylia Tharp Company. She began dancing and choreographing in the Pioneer Valley five years ago.

Fiona Marcotti is a UMass student who has been dancing and presenting her own work in Boston for the past several years. Her pieces to be performed at Hampden were developed through her studies with choreographer Lucinda Childs.

Ariel Weiss, also a student of Lucinda Childs, centers her dances around the theme of the individual struggling alone and with others. She will be presenting three works.

Both performances will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 for the general public, and $1.50 for students, children and senior citizens.

For more information or reservations, call 545-2227.

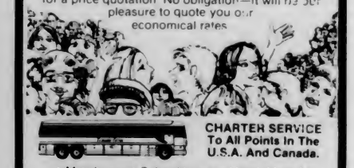
COMPANY

Music and lyrics by STEPHEN SONDHEIM
Book by GEORGE FURTH

Originally Produced and Directed on Broadway by Harold Prince
THE RAND THEATER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
FINE ARTS CENTER
May 5-7, 11-14, 1983, 8:00 PM
RESERVATIONS: 545-3511

GOING SOMEWHERE IN A GROUP?

For your next trip—any size group—call or visit us for a price quotation. No obligation—it will be our pleasure to quote you our economical rates.



CHARTER SERVICE To All Points In The U.S.A. And Canada.

• Mini-buses • School buses • Hotel, Meal & Sightseeing Arrangements • Luxurious Highway Coaches Restroom Equipped and Air-Conditioned • Express Bus Service to Bradley Airport For Information, Call 781-3320

Travel Time Bus Lines Inc.
99 Arnold Street, Springfield, MA
General Office & Charter Service: 783-0211
Toll Free in MA 1-800-322-0297

MARTHA'S VINEYARD
ECONOMICS
SUMMER COURSES

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

ECONOMICS 103 — INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS (3CR) June 13-July 13

ECONOMICS 104 — INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS (3CR) July 25-August 23

Classes meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 7:45 - 10:45 a.m. For additional information, contact:

Debra Lyon
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0530

Arts

Live Wire

by Dave Chevan

At least one good show every night this weekend and plenty of live music for all tastes, but the big news of the week isn't weekend sounds, its the foreshadowing of a summer of fun. This is going to be one of those dream come true summers with several highly anticipated shows going on the road. With "Lets Dance" already the number three song in the nation and quickly heading to number 1, David Bowie's long awaited summer tour is enough to make anyone's summer complete. But there's more. Roxy Music will be touring later this month and so will George Clinton and the P-Funk gang. There are distant rumors of a new Talking Heads album complete with tour to boot. All in all I'd say this is one summer I'm looking forward to.

Meanwhile the valley is blessed with the opportunity to catch Max Roach and his quartet in a free concert at the Fine Arts Center this evening. Roach is still one of the finest jazz drummers alive. Unlike many of his contemporaries, he has never allowed his music to become outdated or outmoded. Undoubtedly tonight's concert will feature both the older bebop and the newer free jazz Roach is known for. His band is comprised of some of the best players in the jazz world; after all a man of Roach's caliber does not have to settle for second best. Also performing at the concert will be the UMass Jazz Ensemble, a big band consisting of some of the most talented musicians this school has to offer.

Tomorrow night's main event is the return of NRBQ to the Rusty Nail. Hot off the release of their first album for Bearsville, Grooves in Orbit, the BQ's play Rhythm and Blues in a manner that defies superlatives. Also performing in the area tomorrow is every hep person's favorite band, The November Group, at the Hanger One, and Bratt will be at the Wok.

Saturday night, Blues singer Rory Block will play at the Iron Horse Coffeehouse while blues abuser Vast Ed Vadas and his Fabulous Heavyweights will blast through the Seperate Entrance in South Deerfield. Bratt will again be playing at the Wok, while Fast, Clean, Safe aka, Torture Urid, will do their thing at Sheehan's Cafe.

For you TOC loungers, Yimbo Melody will be there to provide entainment to sooth your cocktail disertation.

All in all, a full weekend of sound.

Me and the boys: NRBQ will be performing at the Rusty Nail Friday Night.

Mime under wraps: the drama-dance troupe Mummenschanz will perform on February 7 as part of the Fine Arts Center's up-coming '83-84 season.

Play by Play

by Pam Madnick

Tonight is your last chance to see the UMass Music Theater Guild's outdoor production of Hair. This colorful 60's musical will be performed tonight at 7:30 on the Orchard Hill/Central basketball court. The show is free. Rumor has it you have to get there early for a good seat.

The University Ensemble Theater will close its 82-83 season with Stephen Sondheim's Company tonight, tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Rand Theater. Tickets are $2.50 for students and senior citizens; $3.50 for the general public. For reservations, call 545-3511.

The Amherst Masquers production of Slawomir Mrozek's Vatslav will be held tonight, tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Kirby Theater, Amherst College. For ticket information, call 542-2277.

A Peasant of El Salvador by Peter Gould will be performed tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Newman Center. This play, set in an El Salvadoran village, 1975 through the present, tells of information and events drawn from travel experiences and interviews with several performers. Donations will be accepted. For more info., call the Newman Center.

Just one final note on the upcoming 83-84 Fine Arts Center season: Evita will be here September 27 and 28. Other Broadway/FAC show dates have not been released. Mummenschanz, an acting and dancing troupe, will do a one-night stand at the FAC, February 7. Tickets will go on sale two weeks before the performance. For info., call the FAC box office 545-2511.

Plain Jane drives you insane

PLAIN JANE WORKS OUT
By Linda Sunshine
Bantam Books

By Lisa Mosley
Collegian Staff

Parodies are everywhere these days. Take a look in any bookstore, and you're sure to find more take-offs of Newsweek and the Wall Street Journal than real copies of those solomn publications.

In a world where even the Bible has been parodied, we should have realized that it would be only a matter of time before even Jane Fonda, this generation's sacred cow, became the target of satire's sharp dagger (or, in this case, it's a dull meat cleaver).

Plain Jane Works Out is, in case you haven't already guessed, a take-off on The Jane Fonda Workout Book — and workout record, and workout videocassette, and a $40-a-shot one hour workout session led by Jane herself, and — well, you get the picture.

Like too many parodies that crowd the shelves today, Plain Jane is, for the most part, unsuccessful. To be perfectly blunt, it's a very boring, unfunny book. But like your mother always said, "It's the thought that counts."

Personally, I was apalled when I heard that Jane Fonda had published an exercise manual, and even more distraught when it stayed on the bestseller list week after week.

There's just something not very kosher about Jane's fighting for the rights and images of the working woman, and then advocating, in glossy oversized pictures, that women should conform to the age-old male concept of physical beauty.

Sure, if I had a body as great as Fonda's I'd want color pictures of it (clad in form fitting spandex, natch), plastered all over the country, too. Compared to the suggestions in Plain Jane Works Out, however, wearing neon-colored size ten basketball sneakers is a pretty tame technique for camoflauging the results of too many cones (OK, OK, I'll admit it — pints) of Haagen Dazs. Sunshine suggests wearing an entire parachute (as opposed to those trendy parachute pants) when you feel "absolutely obese."

What Plain Jane is, in a nutshell, is the antithesis of Fonda's manual. Instead of strenuous exercise, Sunshine recommends staying as idle as possible. Exercises like putting on panty hose and opening the refrigerator door are illustrated and explained in detail.

The Plain Jane diet also recommends lots of white bread, refined sugar, soda pop, and chocolate. A Plain Jane diet tip, for instance, reminds wavering dieters that "High-fat food tastes better than low-fat. Use sour cream in place of yogurt." Yuk, yuk.

The big problem with Plain Jane, is that there's no subtle humor to be found on its pages. Warm ups, for instance, consist of standing in front of a kerosene heater. Get it — warm-ups?

There's also one particularly offensive bit on buttocks lifts, complete with an illustration of a couple of guys squeezing a woman's ass. (The suggested accompanying music is "Moon Over Miami," just in case you're interested). Tacky, yes, but far from funny.

If you bought The Jane Fonda Workout Book, did all the exercises, and still have thighs that are lumpier than O.C. mashed potatoes, then buy this book for a quick chuckle but if you want biting satire and lots of belly laughs, look elsewhere.

Plain Jane helps Bunny do leg lifts.

The
UNIVERSITY OF ST. LUCIA
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
invites you to participate in
A GREAT ADVENTURE IN MEDICAL EDUCATION

Chartered by the government of St. Lucia, and in association with Victoria Hospital, the largest medical health care facility on St. Lucia where the University is centered, the School of Medicine has established a unique program, to commence in September 1983

THE PROGRAM
- a thirty four month trimester program with instruction in English leading to the Doctor of Medicine Degree
- utilizes an interdisciplinary clinically correlated approach, focusing on organ systems
- integrates from the very outset of the medical school experience traditional academic medicine with active patient care responsibilities
- includes participation in comprehensive health care of members of the St. Lucian community
- utilizes state of the art educational media and communication resources such as Computer Assisted Instruction
- includes guaranteed supervised clerkships for all qualified students
- provides supportive programs and services for spouses and school age children

THE FACULTY
- skilled and effective international educators
- qualified M.D.s or clinically oriented Ph.D.s (or equivalent) dedicated to practical patient care
- personable and enthusiastic professionals committed to working in a team environment

FACILITIES
- the beautiful Caribbean Island paradise of St. Lucia, a stable democratic government, and an independent member of the British Commonwealth
- luxurious dormitory facilities

Qualified and motivated students interested in taking the first step toward a rewarding experience in 21st century medical education should contact by mail or phone

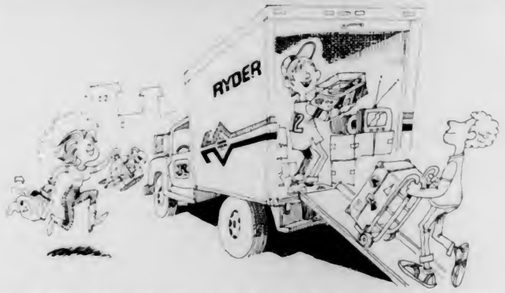
Educators International Inc
Official United States Representatives of
The University of St. Lucia
School of Medicine
The Lincoln Building
60 East 42nd Street
Suite 2201
New York City, N.Y. 10017
attention: Dr. Isaac Bailey
Dean of Admissions
Telephone: (U.S. 212) 10-3159 (13)(34)

If you would like us to visit your school and give our slide presentation, please have your Pre-Med Advisor call us. Applications are now being taken for the September 1983 Class. We provide complete admission services with no requirement fee

JOIN US IN THE GREAT ADVENTURE

"the secret of patient care is caring for the patient!"

Move Yourself,
All Your Stuff,
And Save, Too!



It's as easy as renting a Ryder truck, one way.

Compare costs before you make plans for moving at the end of the semester.

If you're 18 or older and have a valid driver's license, you can use a Ryder truck, rent-it-here, leave-it-there. Load up your stereo, 10-speed, clothes; everything. You'll still have room, no doubt, for one or two friends with their things to share the cost.

Compare that to the price of a plane ticket. Or even a bus. Plus shipping.

Rent a newer truck from the best-maintained, most dependable fleet in the world – Ryder. The best truck money can rent.

WE'LL BE ON CAMPUS
to show you how easy it is to move yourself RIGHT.

We'll gladly quote you rates and answer your questions. Come see us.

RYDER TRUCK RENTAL
SAVE!!! 10% on your next Truck Rental
inquire at the Collegian
for your student discount card.
- For Reservation Information call -

253-5843 College St. Arco 260 College St. Amherst, Mass.
549-0010 No. Amherst Motors 40 Montague Rd. No. Amherst, Mass.
586-6364 Ricks Auto Repair & Rental 442 Elm St. Northampton, Mass.

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and the surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed on the day they will take place and are listed only once. Announcements MUST be submitted on "Hypercurricula" forms available in the Collegian office, 113 Campus Center, and returned by 3:45 p.m. Friday before the event is to be held. All submissions should be written in the same style as they appear in the paper.

"Hypercurricula" notices not submitted on the standard form and not submitted by the Firday before the week the event will take place will not be run. Due to space limitations, the Collegian cannot guarantee printing of all "Hypercurricula" notices. Priority will be given to UMass organizations.

PRAYER MEETING – NATIONAL PRAYER DAY – Campus-wide Christian prayer meeting. Come join with Christians all across the nation to pray for the campus, the nation, and the world. 12 to 1 p.m., Campus Pond.

THE LEGAL STUDIES STUDENT ASSOCIATION – There will be a general meeting of the L.S.S.A. Majors and Non-majors welcome. Topics include: Speakers (lectures and discussion) Legal Newsletter, Resource Center. Bring suggestions. 4 p.m., 168 Campus Center.

ANTI-RACISM TEAM MEETING – Anti-Racism team meeting – everyone welcome. 4 p.m., CC 801.

UMASS HUNGER TASK FORCE – Will facilitate discussions of food, agriculture, health and related topics with Earthfoods' members. 5:30-7 p.m., 428 Student Union.

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION MEETING – Do you care about animals? Learn what happens to them come to our educational meeting tonight. For more information call 546-4789. 6 p.m., 169 Campus Center.

NEW TESTAMENT FELLOWSHIP – Come join us for our weekly meeting of fellowship, worship and teaching from the Bible. 7:30 p.m., 175 Chestnut St.

"CAMERA BUFF" IN POLISH WITH ENGLISH SUBTITLES – Krzysztof Kieslowski's film "Camera Buff" ("Amator") shared top prize at the 1980 Moscow Film Festival and was shown at the New York Film Festival the same year. It's a comedy about a young man who is transformed into a raging, movie maker after he buys a movie camera. 7:30 p.m., 231 Herter Hall.

CONCERT: MAX ROACH QUARTET AND JAZZ ENSEMBLE I – The UMass Jazz Ensemble I will appear in a free concert. Program will include selections by Jeff Holmes, Thad Jones, Duke Ellington, Fred Tillis, and Sam Nestico. 8 p.m., Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

25 PLUS CLUB MEETING & SOCIAL – Older students – Help plan upcoming party. 8 p.m., Commuter Office.

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone By Mark Rollins

Katfood By ARK

Scrod By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall By R. Miller

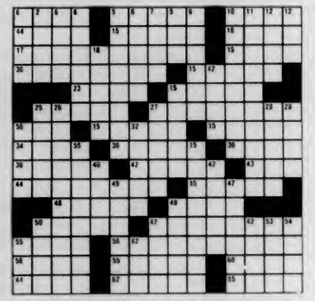
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

©1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 River into the North Sea
5 Like some prices
10 Rhine feeder
14 Who's sorry now?
15 Orchestral instrument
16 Word for a prude
17 Leading forces
19 Eagles, Orioles, etc.
20 Pressures
21 Corrida performers
23 Wriggling
24 Showy parrot
25 Winterwear
27 Certain believers
30 —— Deco
31 Tree, in Toledo
33 Founder of the Ottoman Empire
34 Baltic seaport
36 Seasonal figure
38 Land of the leprechaun
39 Blue
41 German greetings
43 Foot feature
44 Lady's get-together
46 Something for sore eyes
48 Mexican money
49 —— Hari
50 Sections in a theatre
51 Sabbath
55 Former Secretary of State
56 Toy weapons
58 Kind of bus
59 City in Florida
60 Put-in-Bay's lake
61 Roman states man
62 City on the Ruhr
63 Raise

DOWN
1 Once, once
2 Velez of the Silver Screen
3 Has —
4 Classroom cleaner
5 Learned ones
6 Very small
7 High notes, old style
8 Antiquity
9 Kind of card or order
10 Judge
11 Novel by Sinclair Lewis
12 Grande y Branco
13 Bad ——, Germany
18 Fiume, Yugoslavia, to a Serb
22 Eight: Prefix
24 ——millionaire
25 Olympian's goal
26 Under a dire threat
27 —— Island, N.Y.
28 Card of fortune
29 Snick's partner
30 Irish expletive
Var.
32 Coins in Bangkok
35 Certain musical chord
37 German shepherd
40 Facility
42 Place of origin
45 Tanner of tennis
47 British order
49 Syrup provider
50 Priest of the East
51 13 Down and others
52 French illustrator and painter
53 In another way
Lat.
54 River through Belgium
55 Ad follower
57 —— Rec. Bank ing abbr.



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	A	M	B	A	■	A	M	I	■	B	A	I	R
D	V	O	T	E	■	M	E	L	■	R	N	O
E	P	I	N	A	L	■	A	R	I	S	A
S	O	■	H	O	■	A	S	T	■	E	D
■	E	G	O	■	B	A	T	E	■	■	■
C	O	B	R	A	■	P	U	T	T	E	R
A	H	E	A	D	■	P	O	S	■	S	A	M
S	■	S	T	I	R	■	■	D	O	G	E
T	O	P	■	■	O	■	D	O	T	S	■
■	■	A	G	E	■	S	■	R	A	B	B	I	S
B	A	R	B	E	R	■	P	A	R	■	■	■
E	T	E	■	■	D	O	N	■	A	R	T
O	N	E	■	I	D	O	S	■	E	L	I	N
W	I	L	■	N	A	V	E	■	S	E	T	O
N	E	P	■	G	R	A	S	■	T	R	U	S	T

WEATHER

Partly sunny and windy today with highs in the 60s. Clear tonight, with lows in the 40s. Sunny Friday, highs reaching the low 70s.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Hamburg on roll
Spinach Noodle Casserole

BASICS LUNCH
Golden burgers
Spinach Noodle Casserole

DINNER
Baked chicken
Newburg Sauce
Eggs with Sharp Cheese
Cold Plate
Southern Beef and Noodle Casserole

BASICS DINNER
Fresh Zucchini Pie
Baked Cod
Newburg Sauce
Eggs with sharp cheese
Cold plate

Typists wanted

Gain experience
working for the largest college newspaper

Apply Room 113 Campus Center
Monday Night
6:00 p.m.

BUS DRIVING JOBS

U-Mass Transit Service will accept applications for its Summer Training Program

Thurs. May 5
6:00 PM
Rm 174 - 6 Campus Center

Minimum Qualifications:
- 18 years of age
- Hold Class III license for at least 1 year
- Enrolled in a U-Mass degree program with at least 3 semesters remaining must show schedule or transcript as proof of class year

Only 75 Applications Will Be Accepted

Both work study and non-work study are acceptable

U-Mass Transit is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer

SUMMER SESSION REGISTRATION BEGINS MAY 2

Register now for UMass/Amherst summer courses at the Records and Registration Office, Division of Continuing Education, Southeast Entrance University Library. Copies of the Course Listing are available at the Division's Information desk. Don't wait until classes are full. Register now for optimum choice.

"IN ISRAEL, THE WORD 'HERITAGE' MEANT SOMETHING TO ME!"

We offer the widest choice of programs including...
TOURING • KIBBUTZ • STUDY • SPORTS • RELIGIOUS PROGRAMS
Over 50,000 students have experienced 'our' Israel
Call or write for free brochure

Call or write for a free brochure:
American Zionist Youth Foundation
515 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10022
(212) 751-6070
Call: Debora Propper 302 Student Union 545-2526

Positions available in

COMPUTER SCIENCE & ROBOTICS

for graduates in

Mathematics
Computer Science
Electrical Engineering
Mechanical Engineering

Opportunities in programming and engineering:

- VLSI design
- Supercomputer architectures
- Robotic systems and control
- Artificial intelligence
- Expert systems
- Intelligent management systems
- Image and speech processing
- Multiple large networks
- Personal computers
- Unix and VMS enhancements
- Network operating systems
- Multi-media message systems
- Programming environments
- Graphics applications

RECRUITING AT HAMPSHIRE HOUSE MONDAY MAY 9 1983

Send resumes to:
Director of Research Facilities
Computer Science Department
Carnegie-Mellon University
Pittsburgh, PA 15213
(412) [illegible]391

Budweiser.
KING OF BEERS.

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

1st Round Softball Results
M. Batters WBF, U.Mutants 3 K. Krusher 1, A. Supporters 5 Mounties 4, S. Begonias 8 C. Meat 2, T Bags 5 Buckuheint 1, PSK 19 Phelgm 1, Cowchips 7 Missionaries 3
N. Assets WBF, SJBD - WBF, Brittany Boys WBF, Skoal Bros WBF, Guzzlers WBF, SBB 3 ATJ 1, Wild Kingdom 8 Rebels 5
B Patrol 11 Bushmen, Men form Yum 11 AWD 2, MB 2 Keg Dregs 1, Last Chance WBF, Omegas 23 Whatever 6, Delta Chi 5 Black Sheep 4
OTTMD 15 Cance Dugouts 14, Disposables 21 Big Stick 0, Caucasian Invasion WBF, Johnson Jazz 19 Swillagers 1

Beta Kappa Phi 17 Chadbourne Maroons 2, BAMF WBF, TCS 2 Superflies 1
QUEEF Alert 7 Memphis Southmen 6, Attractions 9 Clockwork 2 Nine Inches 1 Peens 0, Munsters 10 69ers 8, Softball WBF Sigma Alpha Mu WBF

Metawampe Bicycle Race held Sunday 1 May
Novice Race David Schaeffer
25 mile expert race Matthew Pool 1:05
David Leblanc 1:06, Miles C Washburn 3rd
18 riders 18 happy finishers

Co-Rec Tennis Playoffs begin 9th May
Soccer Tournament drawing Thurs 5 May 6 pm 223 Boyden
Soccer Tournament begins Tuesday 10 May

IM Football Forum - Touch vs Flag (screen block only)
Thurs 5 May 8 pm Room 251 or Mon 9 May 8 pm 251 Boyden

this Buds for you!

On to Bridgewater: softball

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts softball team had a little fun at yesterday's practice in preparation for today's doubleheader with Bridgewater State.

They put on their biggest smiles and had some fun showing their stuff to Channel 22 television (Springfield), who was here in Amherst yesterday to do a story on the Minutewomen, currently 24-8. The story will be run on Friday night.

But yesterday's practice was not all 'Lights, camera, action!' The UMass team worked hard to prepare for Bridgewater, another Division II school, because UMass cannot afford another loss this season, especially to a Division II school.

As coach Elaine Sortino said earlier this week, "We must go on a seven game winning streak. Anything less spells disaster." And Rolaids couldn't fix that.

"We have to be on our toes," said Sortino. "I don't know what to expect."

Massachusetts, though, knows what they have to do.

"We have to go out and play our game," said co-captain Allyson Rioux. "We can't have mental lapses."

The only major flaw in that game has been the problem of stranding baserunners. In that last four games, UMass has outhit their opponents every sngle time but have left 32 baserunners aboard (total). You can't have that happen in close games (example: URI's 3-2 in with UMass stranding 7).

One of the team's goals said Rioux js to bring in (home) the runners in scoring position.

"A major objective for the last week," added Rioux, co-captain with Chris Coughlin, "Is to go 6-0 starting with tomorrow's (today) doubleheader and go right on through Saturday and Sunday." It will give the Minutewomen 30 wins if they can do it, a first in UMass softball.

And it will keep UMass in the hunt for the NCAA Northeast region playoff berth.

"We're not dead yet," proclaimed Rioux.

PLAYOFF NOTEBOOK: Rutgers, one of UMass rivals for the berth along with URI, dropped a 1-0 game to Monclair State (Division III) last week to give them seven losses (17-7)...RU could not reschedule doubleheaders with Providence or South Carolina and could only get UConn. This will also help UMass. It will hurt RU because they have not played all good schools...UMass has doubleheaders with rival Adelphi at home on Saturday at 2:00 and at home Sunday against Springfield.

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

Angelo Salustri attempts to catch a runner stealing in an earlier game this year. UMass narrowly lost to Providence 5-4 yesterday.

Netwomen overcome UConn

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

When the opponent is from the University of Connecticut, you know you will have a battle on your hands. The same holds true for the University of Massachusetts women's tennis team.

UMass had a rough time but they picked up their seventh win of the year in a 6-3 win over UConn yesterday at the NOPE courts.

Over half of the nine matches went the full three sets but the Minutewomen hung tough and prevailed in four of the five encounters.

Ariel Fowler, at number one, went down in a tough three setter, but Elizabeth Sullivan (2) won 6-2, 6-3 over Debbie Koemer.

Nancy Bolger (3) took a tough one from Kathy Eecert 6-4, 3 6, 6-4 and Chris Frazier (4) prevailed over Cindy Ulaski 1-6, 6-2, 6-1.

It has been Bolger, who went 3-0 at the Atlantic 10, and Frazier who have been playing very well as of late for UMass.

Trish Sullivan (5) outlasted Ginny Prouty 2-6, 6-4, 6-3 and Ann Marie Mackertich (6) gave the Minutewomen a 5-1 edge in singles play with a 6-3, 6-0 win over Carrie Silver.

Doubles wise, UConn gave UMass more trouble. The Lady Huskies took two of three. Beth Goldberg-Joyce Girasella (3) claimed the lone mass win with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 win.

Maureen Hanlon-Wendy Scheerer (1) dropped a tough 7-6, 6-3 decision and Laura Kaufmann-Gillian Nesgoes (2) lost by the same count.

"a complete turnaround from the fall (3-8) take on Brown today at 3 p.m. in their final match of the year, here at NOPE. Brown is tough but Stewart is confident that UMass can win.

Sports Notices

Anyone interested in being a manager for the 1983-84 men's basketball team should contact the basketball office. It is located in Boyden on the second floor.

Undergraduate students must turn in their gym clothes, towels and locks that they signed out this semester to the equipment rooms (Boyden or NOPE) from where they were assigned no later than 5 p.m. on Thursday, May 26 (the last day of finals). Students will be billed for items not returned through the bursar's office.

Student Housing, Chi Rho welcomes applications from single grads and undergrads, including freshman and sophomores. Contact the First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian Ministry House. Call 549-3596 or 256-6691.

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small 2 item pizza
Only $4.00

Spirit Haus
WINES & LIQUORS
Tel. 253-5384 338 College Street

Rolling Rock 12 oz export	$9.50/cse
Guiness Stout	$2.90/4 pk
Becks light and dark	$3.95/6 pk
Labatt's Beer & Ale (deposits not included)	$3.45/6 pk
Tanqueray Gin 750 ml	$9.99/ea
Stolichnaya Vodka 500 ml	$6.49/ea
Jose Cuervo Gold Tequila 750 ml	$8.75/ea

Many domestic and imported wines on sale.
ICE AND PLENTY OF COLD KEGS IN STOCK
not responsible for typographical errors

THE WEEKENDER
this side of heaven
ORIENTAL MENU
4:30 pm - 7:00 pm
Worcester & Hunan Styles
Meal Plan nuts $1.25

Amherst Chinese Foods
Best Mandarin Food
62-64 Main St.
Amherst
Closed Wednesdays
WE DO NOT USE MSG OR ARTIFICIAL COLOR
We use FRESH Vegetables from Our Own Farm
BEER & WINE LICENSE
SUNDAY BRUNCH
ALL YOU CAN EAT
$5.95
253-7836

THE HUNGRY-U
55 University Dr Amherst Mass
Your Weekly Calendar — Take A Closer Look

TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY
"LADIES NITE" Strawberry daiquiri's $1.25	QUARTER NITE 25¢ beer THE HUNGRY-U	"HAPPY HOUR" FREE PIZZA	AFTERNOON ONCE AGAIN Happy Hour
99¢ bar drinks	BEST BUN AROUND TOWN	★99¢ bar drinks ★50¢ drafts	FREE PIZZA 60 oz Pitchers Happy Hour priced at ..... $2.75 drafts ..... 50¢ Your choice of bar drink..... 99¢
9:00-CLOSE	9:00-MIDNIGHT	9:00-CLOSE	2:00-5:30

High Notes
Singing Telegrams
Balloon Deliveries &
Professional Bellydancers
for ALL occasions
Call 665-7664

GRADUATING SOON?

You're Needed All Over the World.

Ask Peace Corps volunteers why their ingenuity and flexibility are as vital as their degrees. They'll tell you they are helping the world's poorest peoples attain self sufficiency in the areas of food production, energy conservation, education, economic development and health services. And they'll tell you about the rewards of hands on career experience overseas. They'll tell you it's the toughest job you'll ever love.

PEACE CORPS

See Mary-Jo Langston, 12 Draper Hall,
UMASS, 545-2105
Tuesdays 12:00 - 3:30
Wednesdays 9:00 - 12:00
Thursdays 12:00 - 5:00

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS

ONLY $7.00 (with this coupon only)
$10.00 with Shampoo & Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
expires 5/30/83 VA

FREE CONSULTATIONS

Please Call for an Appointment
Styles by Deborah
65 University Drive Amherst, MA 549-5610

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT POSITIONS FOR GRADS OR THOSE WITHIN 18 MONTHS OF GRADUATION

If you're looking for responsibility, take a look at today's Navy Supply Corps. - As a Supply Corps Officer, you are the Navy's business manager, specializing in finance, transportation, inventory control and other fields of Supply logistics. We offer fully paid training programs with a salary range of $17,800 to start and over $28,000 within four years. Other benefits include:

- 30 days paid vacation each year
- Free medical and dental coverage
- Low-cost life insurance
- non-contributory retirement plan
- Tax-free allowance
- paid post-graduate educational opportunities

Positions require that you have a superior academic record, have a BS/BA or be within 18 months of your degree, be less than 34 years old (federal regulation) and can pass our physical and aptitude examinations. If you meet these basic requirements, you may be qualified to be one of the best. For more information, call collect:

Navy Management Programs
(518) 462-6119

Happy Hour

3:30 Dining Facilities Open

ACOUSTIC ROCK by Steven, Bob & Eric 6:30 -8:30

DRAFT BEER...60¢ ...All Brands

IRISH & POP with Sheila & Sean Casey

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT

the hatch

GROUND FLOOR STUDENT CENTER TODAY

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet with fall option. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

Room in Amherst Center for summer sublet $125/month utilities included 253-7396

Two bedrooms in four bedroom apt summer sublet/whole apartment fall option 253-2052

Sunderland 2 bedroom apt on bus route available June 1 w/fall option 325 call 665-7552

Presidential Apt sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms call 549-0886

ROLLING GREEN 2 BEDROOM TOWNHOUSE AVAILABLE JUNE - SEPTEMBER 1 CHEAP!! CALL 253-9431

1 bdrm apt Squire Village summer sublet with fall option $310 for summer August rent free 665-4737

Sublet 6/1 to 9/1 2 bdrm Townehouse apt furnished North Amherst $300 + 549-3819

Want to live in Harwich this summer? For info call Jamie 546-1167

CHEAP and spacious apartment in Squire Village fall option summer rent even cheaper 665-2719

Southwood Apt 2 bdrm furnished rent very negotiable call 253-5900

1 bdrm Puffton Village avail June 1 w/fall option $290 includes heat 549-0815

Summer fall option on bus route 290 inclusive 2 bedroom call after 4 PM pool tennis basketball 665-3079

Brandywine Apt 2 bedrooms pool AC negotiable call 549-0747

2 bedroom apartment in Brittany Manor $300/month with fall option 256-0864

Amherst center Apt one or two bedrooms summer sublet fall option 256-8097

Summer sublet w/fall option 2 bedroom apt in Colonial Village 100 ft from bus stop Mark 253-7287 after 5 pm

Looking to get rid of a No Amherst 3 bedroom apt for-ever take it for the summer and pay less than 2 months rent walk to campus call Karen 549-1377

Northempton beautiful 4 bedroom house furnished avail 6/1. Possible fall opt 584-2905

Sunny 2 bdrm June 1 - Aug 31 $295/mo + elec 256-8027 early aft or after mid

Summer at Townehouse Apt. furnished 2 rooms rent neg 549-6354

Brendywine 1 bedroom apt furnished June 1 - Sept 1 549-5825

Summer Sublet Fall Option 1 bedroom available in spacious, furnished Main St apartment great location! $12w0 253-3366

Summer sublet: 3 bedroom townhouse, N Amherst, on 2 bus routes, w/fall option, walk to campus $150 each neg 549-4849 late or early

One bedroom apt Puffton Village June, summer and fall option $310 monthly rates 549-5732 til 11:30 pm

Two bedroom Colonial Village Apt laundry and pool bus route 253-7158

Puffton 2 bedroom furnished rent neg June 1st - Sept 1st call Jane 549-5110

Summer Housing 2 min from Campus 120 per month or 300 per summer call Betsy or Bretta 549-0174 549-6823

AVAILABLE SUMMER lg of 3 bedroom in Puffton furnished rent neg 549-8622

Room for rent in Sunderland House Beautiful yard, dish & clothes washer $160/month plus utilities 549-1218

2 bdrm apartment in house 5 min walk to dwntn Amherst furnished nice yard near courts & pool cable 325+ or BO 256-8947

Townhouse Apts 2 bdrm, fully furnished air cond cable rent neg 549-8960

3 females needed to share 4 bedroom townhouse apartment forfall semester beautifully furnished on bus route call 549-6749 or 549-6850

Two bedroom Colonial Village fall opt pool bus call 256-0223 $295

Center of town - 3 bedroom apt summer sublet with fall option 549-6264

2 bedrm Brandywine availaJune to Sept rent neg 1 rm fall option 253-5949

Townehouse Apts for the summer; 3 bedroom apt, or rooms available. Air conditioned, fully furnished, 1 mile from campus, on bus route call Liz at 549-0307

Female roommate needed to sublet cheap fall opt 665-7503 keep trying!

Brandywine for summer two bedroom fall option $310 Dave 546-8730

Chic, cheap apt for summer rent 275 + 2 br on bus route 253-9389

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

3 bdrm apt for fall call 253-7336

One female to share beautiful townehouse apartment for summer and fall! On bus route -- own room! call carol 549-2638

WANTED TO RENT

Wanted bdrm or apt in Brandywine for summer sublet w/fall option please call 546-7928

Starting June 1, 1 bdrm apt., walking dist. to Grad Research Cntr., call 546-1498

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

Saab 99E 1970 mechanically new, no rust needs minor body work $2500 549-6861 BJ after 5:00

360 Nove great engine good body a steal at $650 549-1278

75 Chevy Suburben rust, dents but runs excellent with long future BO Mitch 256-6712

1966 Chevy Impala, 283cl; new battery; $375 firm, call Scott 546-5934

Convertible - 1969 Ford Gelaxie runs well $300 or BO call 253-7221 after 5

1975 Datsun runs great needs body work 560 549-5159

70 Nova 8 cyl., std., stereo new brakes, shocks, exc. cond. $1000. 546-7560

1980 Toyota Celica five speed air conditioning AM/FM superb engine dependable $5700 549-6823

71 Toyota great buy!! $300 best offer Nate 253-9015

1973 Chevy Bel Air runs beautifully, AC, super stereo some rust $650/BO 253-9467

1980 Chevy Monza 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 253-7779

BE AWARE

Kappas and dates get psyched for Spring Formal! Have one on us! Love, your new sisters

BELLYGRAMS!!

Delivered by professional bellydancer for most unusual gift. Thereze, 253-7822

BROTHERS

of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity welcome all males attending UMass as an undergraduate to an Open Rush at our home on 374 N. Pleasant St. and Fearing St. The big blue house on the way to town. Come down, have a beer with us and find out what we're all about. Wed. May 4 8:30 to 11 PM 545-0244

CAPE COD BOUND?

Female roommate wanted for summer rental in Yarmouth 2 monute walk to the beach 3 minute walk to Rte. 28 call 546-4133 546-4136 253-2541 after 6 pm keep trying

CAPE COD SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Jasons, Cape Cods finest nightclub, will be conducting interviews for all bar personel on 4/30 and 5/7 from 12:00 to 3:00 pm. 228 Lower County Road Dennisport. Where the happy people go.

DEBBIE DOO

Happy 21st Monkey Woman, Go Apell C.C.C.U.F.C.W. Love, K.K.

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

FALL APARTMENT FOR RENT

2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt for rent for fall. Apt will be semi-furnished & in excellent condition. Call 253-5560

FOR RENT

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

1 bedroom Brandywine summer sublet w/fall option, AC, dishwasher, disposal 549-0781

STUDENT HOUSING Chi Rho welcome applications from single grads and undergrads including freshmen and sophomores. Contact First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian ministry house call 549-3596 or 256-6691

One bedroom in Puffton apartment Fall option 549-0837

Colonial Village summer sublet w/fall option 2 bedroom $295/mo 256-0566

Fall Rental large Sunderland house 6 bedrooms 3 full baths complete kitchen washer-dryer large living room enclosed porch on bus route $150/mo + util call 665-4803

Berkshire Rental Great Barrington woman needs persons for cooperative house. 586-6810

Free August rent fully furnished 2 bdrm Northwood Apts summer sublet w/fall option 665-7078 eves

Cell Us Quick summer sublet with fall option Southwood Apt 2 bedroom front view first come - first serve 253-9083

Apt for rent - within walking distance to campus and town. Located on N. Pleasant St. NEAR SILVERSCAPE DESIGNS avail June 1st with fall option perfect for 2 people. Call 253-9889 after 5 pm

1 bedrm in 2 bedrm apertmt. yard, pets OK, walk to UMass. 162.50 + electric. Judy 256-6948 or Grace 253-7783

3 bedroom apt new, huge, center of town. Available June 1 with fall option. Call after five 549-0477

FOR SALE

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Brand new moped, never been ridden. Must sell immediately call Rob 586-5424

Couch good condition $50 call Tracey 256-0653

Just in time for Spring! 10 speed bicycle. Viscount Aerospace Sport. Excellent condition. Call Mike 546-5613

Ibanez Concorde acoustic w/pickup $225 moog prodigy lead synth $300 546-7976

Dorm size refrigerator $60 or BO runs like new 546-5069 keep trying

BSR 80 watt speakers, great sound excellent condition three-way. $130.00 or best offer 256-8697

Sm woodstove $80. also couch $25. dresser, desk, etc. call 549-4195

FOUND

Single Key on ring found near pond Friday Apr. 29 Phone 549-3527 or come to ELab 322.

Cross writing instrument call 549-0306 to identify found outside Morrill.

Keys Sunday at Southwest Concert call 256-6379 after 6:00.

HAVE I GOT A DEAL FOR YOU

One large bedroom in beautiful Rolling Green apartment utilities included pool June 1 to August 31 best offer keep trying Denise 253-5356 Laurie 546-5407

HELLUVA BARGAIN

Townhouse summer sublet 3 bdrm, AC, extremely negotiable call 546-6657 or 546-5204

HELP WANTED

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

Looking for experienced restaurant help for Cape restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

Worcester Area - Full or part time work phys-ed graduate. Boys and girls gymnastics. Resume to Box #2 Cherry Valley, Mass 01611

The CC/SU Board of Governors is accepting applications for its eleven paid coordinator positions for the Fall. Applications are available in 817 of the CC due May 12.

The SGA Treasurer's Office is now hiring for two positions for the summer and fall: SGA Controller and Treasurer's Assistant. Accounting and office work experience is essential. Pickup applications at the Treasurer's Office, 407 S.U.B. - Deadline is May 11 We are an AA/EEO employer.

SGA PRESIDENT'S OFFICE offers interns indep. studies, and credits working on research and advocacy of educational & social concern to students. Affirmative Action Employer Rm 406E SUB 545-0341

Experienced reliable childcare sought for 3½ yr old 3-5 afternoons a wk call Carolyn 253-3162

HERPES RESEARCH

Graduate Psychology Student doing thesis research on coping with genital herpes. If you have genital herpes, please call 549-1091 after 6:00 pm

HOUSES FOR RENT

4 bedrooms in Northempton for Sept. 5 bedrooms in Hadley for summer, 4 bedrooms in Apherst for summer, perhaps Sept option. Skibiski Realtors 584-3428

LOST

Keys - 4/30 Southwest Pyramids -Keychain is leather triangle with "B" in center 546-5048 Dan

Yellow Cross Court Sweatshirt. Wed. 4/27 between Fearing St and town personal favorite please call Kim 549-1414.

LEATHER SCROLL PORTFOLIO w/handle final project within call 546-5650

Lost on campus 4/29/83 set of keys on leather key chain Lyssa 6-6907

MOTORCYCLES

1973 TC125 Susuki excellent cond 1900 miles on/off road $350. 256-8964.

MOVE TO PUFFTON

Three Bedroom Puffton apt is up for grabs, we're graduating! 549-5208.

PERSONALS

Happy Birthdday T. Noonie Luppil Here's a quarter - have yourself a field day. Love, Meser.

Ivy - I'll always be there when you need a friend. Love Dave.

Jeff Thanks for a wonderful weekend. i hope there are more in store for us. Love Honey.

MPM - You probably wish I'd disappear, but before I do, hope you have the happiest 20th! Live it up!

You caught my eye twice at the University Store you fantastic profile and deep enticing stare at the card display drove me wild I'd love to get to know you the curly dark haired guy with the blue nylon windbreaker.

JULIENE, "Take it easy American Girl" have a happy birthday. Love, BBRHPRJ

Cheesecake:
Fitz's was great. The walk even better. Hottubs? Prepared? EARS.

Free Trained Lesbian/Gay Peer counselling, Referral MTuThF 4-8 p.m. 433SU 545-2645.

Fred: Happy 21st! Hope it's a good one and many more! Love, Julie.

Rich get psyched for Friday. Lots of good Kappa fun - Susan.

Graduating Senior with job in Boston looking for same to share apt. Starting 6/1 I already have great place rent resonable call Steve Mandell 545-2150 leave message.

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

ROLLING GREEN APT

Summer sublet, two bedrooms, AC, all utilities, furnished, negotiable. Joel 256-0435 nights

ROOMMATES WANTED

Female roommate wanted for summer nonsmoker Sunderland apt in house $85 a month call Janet 546-6882 after 9 pm

1 bedroom available in Brittany Manor apartment starting in September good condition two males or 2 females call Don 256-6041

Townehouse Apt. summer sublet/fall option for 2 people 1 room 549-6313

Responsible roommate wanted to share room in Southwood. Summer and possible fall option. Cheap rent. Call Jim 256-8471 evening

2 female roommates wanted for fall 120/mo Brittany Manor ht included call 256-0719

Room for rent in 2 bedroom Brandywine apt summer and/or fall 549-5934

3 roommates for great house in Hyannisport on Craigvillebeach - Lisa 253-3568

1 man 1 woman Townehouse - 2 bedrooms cheap call 549-6353 or 546-5134

1 or 2 females to share large bedroom for fall cheap Rolling Green 256-0807

Townehouse 2 people to share bdroom in 2 bdroom apt starts June 1 665-4669

Cape Cod Summer looking for females to rent modern duplex in Hyannis May 15 through Labor Day pre-payment required Julie 617-636-8501.

Brandywine Lrg bedroom avail for one or two responsible males nonsmokers Neal 549-2808.

1 or 2 females wanted for rm in 2 bedr Brandywine starting June or Sept 253-5949

SERVICES

Typing, short papers to manuscripts reasonable phone 665-4223 Debbie

SPRING CONCERT

Orchard Hill - Central Spring Concert
May 7, from 12-6 between OH/C
Joe Sallins and the J.J. Band,
The Armstrong Brothers,
The Ellis Hall Group, and
Robin Lane and The Shake
Rain location - S.U.B.

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm apt Amherst Center $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

Cool, light efficiency apertment, furnished, Triangle St., Amherst, rent negotiable, 549-0457 or 545-0854

Summer sublet fall option 76 Chestnut St, Amherst. easy walk to campus. Available June 1. Call 549-4127 ask for Jim. 150+ per month

Summer sublet Colonial Village one bedroom $225/mth call Tom 256-6659

One bedroom apt w/fall option, AC, pool, tennis, on bus route, $225/month utilities included 665-2538

Brandywine summer subiet 2 bdrm furnished rent neg 549-6440 AC pool

Beautiful large 3 bedroom apt in house Amherst Center excellent location June -Sept 1 $400/month call now 253-2169

Summer sublet/fall option 2 bedroom Northwood Apts. Hot water incl. On bus route. Pool. $200/month neg. Call evenings or before 9:30 AM 665-2939

Two bedroom apt available in Brandywine June to Sept price negotiable call Jennifer 546-5390

Puffton Village 1 bdrm in a 3 bdrm apt summer sublet fall option 549-4791

Summer sublet/fall option 1 bed in 2 bed Brittany manor apt 256-0298

2 bedroom Cliffside Apt $285 month includes nice big POOL, tennis courts playing fields all utilities 665-4644

2 bedroom Southwood apt with fall option. Hot water and heat included. 253-7373 early mornings and evenings best

Summer sublet 2 bedroom Riverglade Apt rent negotiable 256-8137

Brandywine! Summer/fall option 1 bdrm available AC/pool/bus rt/rent negotiable -call Laura 549-0313

One bedroom in Sunderland Center apartment $150/mo summer only bus route 549-6802 Tony

Hadley House Rte 9 5 bedroom 375 or 80 per room 584-4807

Furnished Townehouse Apt. AC, rent negotiable, call Scott or Rich 549-0516

Rolling Green furnished 3 bedroom apt 400/mo everything included AC pool call now Diane 256-8261 Pam 546-8122

Brittany Manor 2 bedroom cheap across from bus stop 253-3301

Amherst Ctr apt 4 bdrm furnished $150 + elect ea call 253-5298

Puffton Village three bedroom - furnished rent cheap call Kim or Monica 549-4736

Fall option large bedroom in two bedoom apt Colonial Village on busline $100/month Eileen 253-3941

Brandywine 2 bedroom beautifully furnished, cable, pool, AC, June 1 - Sept 1 rent negotiable 549-6465

Two cheap big rooms in country house 3 miles from campus, $80 month. 549-4729 before 8:30 am or after 5 pm fall option

1 bdrm in Amh house laundry fac, 2 furn housemates, short walk to campus, garden, 138/mo 253-3545 Sam, Rick, Jess

Brandywine two bedrooms full kitchen bathroom spacious livingroom pool two bedrooms cheap call 549-1405 negotiable

Puffton Village summer sublet fully furnished cheap Tom 549-6715

Brandywine apt fully furnished one bdr available for summer sublet. pool call Dunacn 549-1305 rent negotiable

Studio apartment in Belchertown summer sublet w/fall option near center, on bus route call 323-5896 evenings

Puffton 3 bedroom 2 bath, furnished $100/mo 549-1873

•• $215.00 SUNDERLAND 2 BDS •

Beautiful 2 bedroom apartment right on bus route furnished or nonfurnished summer sublet fall option call Anne or Tom 665-7518 Do not pass this up!

TO SUBLET

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished June 1 -Sept 1 $296/mo call 549-4047

Sports

MORE SPORTS ON PAGE 17

Gazelles leash the Huskies, 7-2

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team capped off their 1983 season yesterday at NOPE field the same way it began; with a win.

They defeated Northeastern University 7-2, to finish the season with an 11-1-1- mark. After dropping the second game of the year to James Madison, the Gazelles will carry an 11 game unbeaten streak into the first round of the NCAA tournament.

"We were sluggish today. The weekend took a lot out of us, and sometimes it is hard to get up for every game," said Gazelle coach Pam Hixon. "We did not look like we were ready to perform, but we did play well enough to win."

Linda Haytayan led the scoring for the stickwomen with four goals and two assists.

Pam Moryl contributed two goals, and Michelle Boyer chipped in two assists.

Moryl opened the scoring at the 1:19 mark of the first half off of a nice give and go from Haytayan. Northeastern tied the score at 1-1 and took a 2-1 lead at the 10:43 mark. UMass was slow and hesitant picking up loose balls and they weren't connecting with their passes.

But the stickwomen began to get their act together and eventually built up a comfortable 5-2 halftime lead, helped by three straight goals by Haytayan. Moryl made it 5-2 at 21:38 putting a rolling backhand shot past the Northeastern goalie.

The second half opened up sloppily for the Gazelles, but their tight defense and tough goaltending by Rita Hubner kept Northeastern off of the scoreboard. Haytayan scored her fourth goal of the game at 5:59, off a nice feed from Boyer. Tish Stevens added the final goal, and Stevens put in a backhand to the goalie's right.

UMass outshot Northeastern 22-10. Rita Hubner made eight saves while the Northeastern goalkeeper made 15. The lax-women will wait until Monday, when they hear who they will play in the NCAA playoffs. The tournament begins on May 11th with the top four teams getting first round byes.

"We did not look like we were ready to perform, but we did play well enough to win."

"We were fifth last week and it is difficult to move up. I would rather play in the first round than get a bye. To prepare for the playoffs, we will by changing the offense and defense and try to set up more strategically by moving people," said Hixon. We need scoring from more people to be effective."

"I have to be pleased with this season. We played some really good games with some big league teams. We were in some close games and played well. The defense has been consistent all season long. But coming down the stretch, we will need more balanced scoring. The goal output has been far less later in the season, and the offense can be complacent," commented Hixon.

Collegian photo by Chris Jungmann

Linda Haytayan (mouthguard) shoots on goal against Dartmouth earlier this season. Haytayan led the UMass attack with four goals and two assists.

Dr. J gets recognition but not from UMass

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

Well, oh mighty administrators of the venerable institution known as the University of Massachusetts, you folks really blew this one.

As I sat in front of my television watching the Philadelphia 76'ers take apart the New York Knicks last Saturday afternoon, one of the announcers proudly told the national television audience that one of the members of the 76'ers was going to receive an honorary doctorate from Temple University.

"Julius Erving," my ears heard come from the speaker on the video. The Doctor was going to become a real doctor after all.

Commentary

It seemed to me that giving one of the greatest basketball players of all time an honorary degree was a great idea, especially since that player had, through most of his career, been called the Doctor.

But, Temple University? Why had the Owls given Erving a degree? After all, he never went to Temple University.

I'll tell you why. Because the administration of Temple University has far more foresight than the unsportsminded mentors here at UMass.

No, Julius Erving never did graduate from UMass. He went hardship after his junior year and entered into the now defunct ABA. He didn't get 120 credits and fulfill his language requirement. He didn't have to stand in line for hours on end trying to get into courses that were already closed a seventh and eighth time.

All Julius Erving did for the university was, in his two years as a varsity performer on the basketball team (freshmen didn't play varsity when the Doc went ' was become the number two scorer in school history (Erving's two year total of 1370 is beaten only by Mike Pyatt's four year total of 1503).

Erving's two years rank as the number one and two single season scoring marks. He has the highest career scoring average, most rebounds in a career, most foul shots made in a career, and the top four games with the most rebounds.

Forget about taking the time to list all the things that Julius Erving did for the UMass basketball team. As far as individual Minuteman basketball records, Julius Erving's name appears 26 times in this year's press guide. They even printed his picture twice.

But, an honorary degree? Nope. It took Temple to pull that rabbit out of their hat.

Did the university forget about all those years when it received $1,000 toward the general scholarship fund in Erving's name each time he was named player of the game in a nationally televised contest? Looks that way.

I know, let's give a degree to Ed King, ex-governor of Massachusetts instead. After all, he helped to cut back on state aid to schools didn't he? That's the type of accomplishment the school should land.

No sense in inviting the most well known person ever to attend UMass back on commencement day to solidify a relationship with someone who has made it as an athlete, an entrepreneur (Erving owns and manages his own chain of shoe stores), and a personality.

All I know is that I'll shrink back a little deeper in my seat when the PA announcer calls the Doctor out onto the basketball floor.

"And starting at forward, from the University of Massachusetts but remembered and honored by Temple University, the Doctor, Julius Erving, Erving, Erving . . ."

Sometimes I think that UMass sucks. This is one of them.

Friars sneak out with narrow 5-4 win over UM

By KEVIN DeLUCA
Collegian Staff

PROVIDENCE, R.I. - Yesterday, in an exciting, tumultuous nine inning contest against Providence College the University of Massachusetts finally lost a game, 5-4.

Despite the loss, the Minutemen are still expected to receive an ECAC playoff bid when the ECAC committee meets at St. Johns Saturday.

Nothing went smoothly for UMass, as rain cancelled the scheduled doubleheader and turned it into a single game that started nearly two hours after the scheduled 1 p.m. start.

Once the game started it was obvious Minuteman starter Tony Presnal (5-1) did not have his best stuff. After struggling through the first inning, Presnal gave up two runs in the second and was lifted in favor of reliever Matt Subocz.

The UMass offense meanwhile, started abusing Friar starter Jim Olakis in the second inning. Chris Waszczuk led off the second with a ground rule double and scored the first run of the game on a Angelo Salustri single. UMass struck again against Olakis in the fourth to tie the game when Salustri walked stole second, and was knocked in by a single by Andy Connors.

In the fifth both teams exploded. Emerson led off with his first home run of the year to give UMass a 3-2 lead. Then, like the previous inning, Salustri walked stole (12 for 12 in that department) and crossed the plate on a Connors single.

However, in the PC half of the inning, they scored two runs on a John Caiabiella double to knot the score.

UMass pitcher Subocz finally tired in the seventh, throwing two consecutive wild pitches to allow Friar Ken Leahey to score what proved to be the game winning run.

Nothing much happened until the UMass ninth. Mike Bais, replaced Dean Bennett who was thrown out of the game after an altercation with the Providence third baseman. Tim Cavanaugh led off the ninth with a single and moved to second on an Emerson bunt. Todd Comeau got an infield hit to put runners on first and third with one out and Wosczcuk and Salustri scheduled to bat for UMass.

Unfortunately for the Minutemen, PC reliever Chuck Howard (3-1) came in throwing smoke and struck out both Woszczuk and Salustri to end the game.

The loss drops UMass to 16-14 on the year and upped Providence to 20-13. UMass plays today at Amherst College at 3 p.m.

IM flag football proposed

By JUDY KELLIHER
Collegian Staff

The intramural department is proposing to change the present procedures for intramural football play. The plan is to go from touch to flag football.

The intramural department will be holding two forums to discuss the prospective plans with the students. The forums will be held tonight (May 5) and Monday May 9 at 8 p.m. in Room 251 Boyden. Student input is vital and wanted by the IM Staff.

The new rules would not only provide for the use of flags, but also the implementation of screen blocking. This means blocking must occur without contact. The blocker must have his arms at his side or back. Any use of the arms or legs to initiate contact is illegal.

The reasoning behind this is to eliminate the unnecessary roughness that occurs between the offensive and defensive lines. This should reduce the risk of injury from needless pushing and shoving.

Colleges such as Ohio State, the University of Maryland and University of Illinois have credited the change to flag football as the reason for a lower injury rate, at the colleges from IM football.

Let your feelings be known at the forums. Remember, the IM staff aren't the ones out there playing. You are.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 129 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Friday, May 6, 1983

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

Massachusetts Board of Regents Chairman James Martin addressed the Faculty Senate yesterday.

Low interest student loans favored by Regent Chairman

By KEVIN BOWE
Collegian Staff

The Chairman of the Board of Regents James Martin advocated the elimination of scholarship aid to financially needy students and criticized the state's opening meeting law at the Faculty Senate meeting yesterday.

Martin also committed himself to guaranteeing access to higher education for all students motivated to attend.

"It is our objective that no (qualified) student should be barred access solely because of monetary reasons," Martin said.

Martin said that he found granting scholarship aid to students inneed of financial assistance "reprehensible" and favored low interest loans to needy students.

"It is a pet idea of mine," Martin said.

Martin said tuition increases are often needed to persuade the Legislature to fully fund the budget of public higher education.

"The budgeting process requires us, sometimes, to show the ability to raise funds," Martin said.

Martin blamed a perceived bad public image of the Board of Regents on the original reorganization law that created the Regents in 1980.

"There were no public hearings or debate on the matter," he said.

Martin said criticism of the Regents by some members of the Legislature was caused by the fact that they have lost their patronage privileges of substanially controlling the budgets of the 27 public colleges and universities in Massachusetts.

"If drinking is the curse of the working man then the open meeting law is the curse of the Board of Regents," Martin said, in reference to the controls placed on the Regents.

The Regents' agenda for the future is clearly spelled out in their long range plan, passed last spring, "(so) you need not bother coming to our meetings," Martin said.

In his opening comments Martin mentioned a scene in the movie Patton in which actor George C. Scott said, "Here's a chance to see what a first-class son-of-a-bitch really looks like."

"If you believe what some state representatives, some union leaders and most student activists say, then Patton was an archangel (compared to me)", Martin said.

EWC head denies charges made by three employees

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

Allegations of "lack of due process" and the staff's "fighting like cats and dogs," made by three Everywomen's Center employees who lost their jobs, were denied Wednesday by the Center's Director, Ruth Weekes-Washington.

Weekes-Washington and other members of the Everywomen's Center staff maintain that the decisions to fire these women were justified, despite allegations by the released employees.

Mary Wentworth, coordinator of the Poor Women's Task Force, and Malika Jones, co-coordinator of the Third World Women's Program filed grievance procedures after being notified in March that their contracts would be terminated. A performance evaluation claimed they weren't fulfilling their job descriptions.

The two women also filed grievances against Weekes-Washington in March because they said they were not given six months notice before being told their contracts would not be renewed in June.

Wentworth said the reason behind her termination is because she has been too outspoken politically and questioned whether the Everywomen's Center is becoming more accountable to the "white male-dominated" administration than to women.

Ruth Fessenden, research reference coordinator, who has worked at the Everywomen's Center since 1976 said the center has maintained its support of women since she has worked there.

She said the Everywomen's Center is an autonomous organization. "We set our own goals and objectives and determine our own priorities."

Wentworth said the Everywomen's Center has always been a stressful place to work. "People can't meet the job descriptions because of their responsibilities at home," she said.

Weekes-Washington said, "I don't think the social aspect is an issue. The decision was based on an evaluative process."

Jones received a letter from Weekes-Washington in December saying her contract might not be renewed in June on the basis of evaluations done by Robert Welsh, special assistant to the chancellor. She said she received her official letter of termination in March. Jones' grievance is the "lack of due process" she received from Weekes-Washington because she was not given sufficient notice.

However, Jim Coopee, assistant personnel director said, according to University policy, only full-time permanent employees must be given six months notice, and that Wentworth and Jones, as professional non-academic employees, do not fall into that category.

Each of the women feel the decisions made by Weekes-Washington were unjustified.

However, Weekes-Washington and other Everywomen's Center empoyees feel that the decisions were justified.

"They were well thought out, difficult decisions, but correct in each case," said Suzanne Slater, coordinator of Counseling Services. "I have total confidence in the actions of Ruth Weekes-Washington.

"This is not the result of institutionalized oppression based on any socio-economic factors. It is an issue of job performance."

Fessenden said, "There are other older women and other single women with children. They are not the only representatives of those categories on staff."

Another Everywomen's Center employee, Marianne O'Leary, sought legal counsel, after being fired by Weekes-Washington from the clerk/typist position she has held since November for not fulfilling her job qualifications.

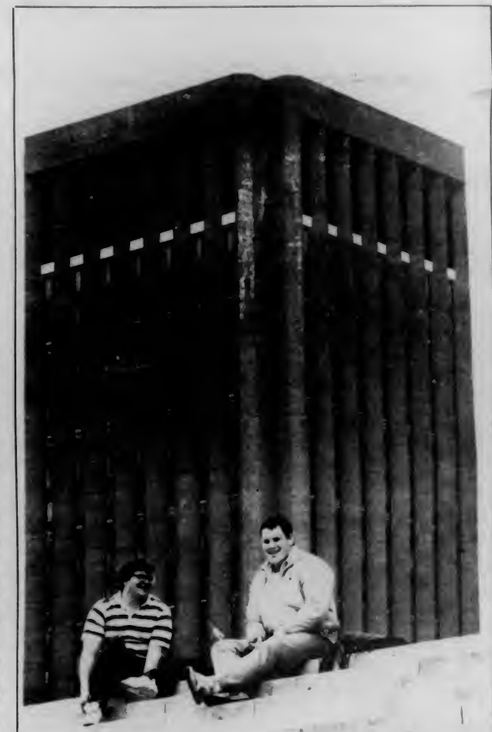
O'Leary said she was hired as a Grade 4 clerk on a probation basis and two months later was given an additional page to her job description, yet her pay grade remained unchanged.

She said two weeks before she was to become a permanent staff member, she was fired by Weekes-Washington for a failure to fulfill her job description. "That was an inappropriate time to fire me," she said.

Weekes-Washington said O'Leary was not given additional work, but clarification of what she had to do as a clerk at the Everywomen's Center. "It was two months, not two weeks," Weekes-Washington said.

O'Leary said the situation has a lot to do with Center politics.

"There was a lot of stress in that office. The staff was fighting like cats and dogs," she said.



Collegian photo by Ann Lazery

Rugby shirt-clad Jeff McNeil and Larry Sheedy enjoy yesterday's warm temperatures on the Campus Center steps outside the Flagstone Cafe as the University library towers in the background.

World and National News

Fighting continues in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Amin Gemayel alerted his fledgling air force and artillery yesterday night for their first combat after Christian-Druse fighting in the hills spilled over onto Beirut. The capital suffered its heaviest bombardment since the end of the Israeli-Palestinian war last summer.

Senior military sources said Gemayel ordered the air force, which consists of eight Hawker Hunter jet fighters and a squadron of missile-equipped helicopter gunships, and the army artillery to "attack and silence" the batteries that rained shells on Beirut if they resumed the attack.

It had not been determined who was responsible for the firing.

Dozens of rockets and shells were fired into the city from the hills over a period of more than five hours yesterday afternoon, killing at least seven people and wounding 25, police said.

One shell landed near an Israeli convoy southeast of the city, killing an Israeli sergeant and wounding nine others, the Israeli military command announced.

Three machine-gun rounds hit a helicopter carrying Col. James M. Mead of Boston, commander of U.S. Marine peacekeeping forces, who was trying to find out which side was shelling the city. None of the Americans was hurt, but Mead had to terminate his mission abruptly.

The hills where the shelling originated are occupied by rightist Christian and leftist Druse militias as well as the Israeli army. All denied any involvement, and there was no way to prove who initiated or kept up the shelling.

AP Laserphoto

A woman clutches her child as a shell lands in West Beirut's Moslem neighborhood of Museitbeh yesterday. Shelling continued on the capital as Christian and Islamic Drise militamen battled in the hills.

AP Laserphoto

Violence continued in Paris yesterday as businessmen and police officers clash. Above, a member of a small businessmen union strikes a helmeted riot police officer with a wooden stick. Several people were taken to the hospital in serious condition as a result of the violent scuffles.

Chinese hijackers seize plane

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Armed hijackers, apparently seeking to defect from China, took over a Chinese airliner yesterday with 105 people aboard and diverted it to a U.S. military base near Seoul in the first confirmed case of a hijacking in China.

Details of the incident were still sketchy early Friday and there was no official word on the fate of the hijackers, who apparently surrendered or were captured after the plane landed yesterday afternoon.

U.S. defense officials in Washington said they were told that South Korean security agents took five men and one woman into custody at the military base.

Some reports said two crew members were shot, apparently by the hijackers, and were taken to a hospital. Other reports said two people were wounded by Chinese security agents stationed in the plane.

Government officials reported the others aboard were safe and in good condition after spending some nine hours aboard the three-engine, British-built Trident, which was kept under heavy military guard throughout the hot afternoon and into the night.

Although China and South Korea have no diplomatic relations, the official Xinhua news agency said the director of the Civil Aviation Administration of China, Shen Tu, had asked for permission to travel to Seoul "in order to deal with this matter."

Chinese officials said "armed thugs" hijacked CAAC airline Flight 6501 on a flight between Shenyang, about 350 miles northwest of Seoul in extreme northeast China, and Shanghai.

An airline spokesman said there were 96 passengers and nine crew members aboard, but did not mention any possible motive for the hijacking.

AP Laserphoto

More than 1,000 Brockton High School students walked out of classes this morning and marched to City Hall where they protested a one million dollar school budget cut proposed by the Brockton mayor. The cuts would result inthe loss of 118 teaching positions and the annihilation of the entire athletic program.

Today's Staff

Night Editor	Ray Beauchemin
Copy Editor	Cris Schuster
Layout Technician	Will Hopkins
Photo Technician	Ann Lamery
Composition	Liz Ward, Alice Klingener, Lauri Neely, Matt Sajdak, Stuart Sajdak Mat Atkins, Suzi Hawkins, Laurie B. Frank I, Adrienne B. Dufur II, Gail Tanzer Terri Cooper, Joy McCarthy

Digest

By the Associated Press

Abortion foes protest Chisholm speech

CHICOPEE, Mass. — Abortion opponents say they want a Catholic women's college to cancel a speech by former congresswoman Shirley Chisholm because she supported abortion.

Our Lady of the Elms College refuses to cancel the speech Saturday, and the Most Rev. Joseph Maguire, bishop of the western Massachusetts Roman Catholic diocese, said Thursday he supports the college as long as Ms. Chisholm doesn't speak on abortion.

Ms. Chisholm, a visiting professor at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, is scheduled to speak about the "Historic Perspective of Sexism." Her speech follows workshops about the status of women in America.

"Elms is there to protect the faith and promote the faith of these young girls," John Day, regional coordinator of the Massachusetts Citizens for Life, said.

Officals announce $36 M for river cleanups

BOSTON — Massachusetts residents cannot swim or fish in half their 1,600 miles of river — the worst record in New England — and officials yesterday announced $36 million in grants to help them clean up.

"Due to its higher concentration of population and industry, Massachusetts has the lower percentage of fishable, swimmable waters — 48 percent in 1982," Lester A. Sutton, regional administrator for the federal Environmental Protection Agency, said.

The remaining 52 percent does not meet state water quality standards, according to officials.

Geese beaten to death in S. Hadley park

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP) — Vandals broke into Buttery Brook Park, tore down animal cages and bludgeoned five geese to death, park workers said yesterday.

"You have to have something wrong with you to come in and beat an animal to death," said Joseph W. Taylor, superintendent of the town park and playgrounds department. "You've got to be sick, sick sick."

Taylor said Thaddeus Trybus, a park worker discovered the damage about 8:30 a.m. Thursday when he arrived to feed the geese and two rabbits, kept in a small animal enclosure in the 40-acre park. The rabbits' cages were smashed and they were missing, he said.

"There are going to be a lot of broken hearts," Joseph Ledeaux, park foreman, said of the animals which had been a popular attraction for local children.

Babysitter found guilty of assault and battery

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — A live-in babysitter was convicted and sentenced to life in prison yesterday for murdering a 3-year-old girl who prosecutors said pleaded, "Please don't hit me again," during repeated beatings.

Elizabeth Hutchinson also was found guilty of assault and battery in the October 1982 death of Brandy Mallett, one of three children the babysitter cared for in the family's rented rowhouse in Everett.

Judge James Nixon immediately imposed the life sentence mandatory under Massachusetts law. The babysitter was led away.

Ms. Hutchinson, one eye covered by a surgical eyepatch she wore throughout the three-week trial, showed no emotion as the verdicts were returned by a Middlesex Superior Court jury after five hours of deliberation over two days.

Fac Senate stops S. Africa academic funds

By MARY ANNE BEEN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Faculty Senate yesterday unanimously voted to endorse a resolution concerning University involvement in South Africa, despite initial opposition at the last meeting.

The resolution states that UMass shall not provide sponsorship for any form of academic or professional contact with South Africa, including teaching, research or conference attendance. Further, the University will not provide funds for any scholar visiting from South Africa for the purposes of teaching, research, conferences or other forms of academic activity at the University.

Bheki Langa, a UMass student from South Africa, said he was quite pleased at his opportunity to speak in favor of the resolution.

"I would not have been given the opportunity in South Africa," Langa said.

According to the resolution presented by the Faculty Senate, the University shall not provide or administer funds for South African academic endeavors, regardless of source.

"The South African government is a dangerous tiger and anyone who rides it is in danger of being swallowed," Langa said.

Edwin Gere, associate professor of political science, was hesitant about the resolution and suggested an amendment.

"This resolution impinges on academic freedom. What if a student or colleague wanted to go to South Africa to study?" Gere said.

"I see no reason why this body disrupts academic freedom," said Chester Davis, associate professor of Afro-American studies. "We must no sponsor this kind of exchange with such an inhumane regime. We won't lose much in the way of knowledge or research. Colleagues can come up with the funding somewhere if they wish to go there."

"I completely support this resolution. I dont't think that it prohibits anything as far as academic freedom is concerned," said Jesse Ortiz, associate professor of public heath.

The endorsement was seen as a positive assertion of the academic and moral integrity on the Senate's part, according to Tom Aharen, Student Government Association co-president.

"I think the meeting was handled well and the outcome was super," Ahearn said.

"I am quite pleased with the outcome of this meeting," Davis said. "I expected some opposition, although I had some confidence that the resolution would indeed be endorsed."

The Senate's support of this resolution, according to Otto Stein, professor of botany, offers a glimmer of hope to those in similar situations.

Town Meeting acts on bus funding, SAP, other articles

By CHRIS FERRETTI
Collegian Staff

Town Meeting members approved Article 29 of the Town Meeting Warrant to continue their endorsement of existing no-fare public transit services in Amherst last night.

The services, which will cost the town $18,645 for fiscal year 1984, would fund the following four routes: Echo Hill, Orchard Valley, Cushman, and Elf Hill, and service to Northampton.

Edith Wilkinson, chairman of the Amherst Board of Selectmen, spoke in favor of Article 32 to appropriate $32,500 for the Speed Alcohol Enforcement Program.

Since the start of the program in September 1981, she said, the number of alcohol and speed related incidents have declined from 446 before the programs implemented to 328 this past year.

The program, designed to discourage alcohol-related accicents between 9 p.m. and 3 a.m. when accidents were likely to occur in the town, was passed unanimously.

The Town Meeting approved a measure introduced by the Conservation Committee to appropriate $60,000 for a feasibility study to improve the water quality of Puffers Pond.

With little debate the Town Meeting approved Article 34 sponsored by the Child Care Committee for $8,000 to implement a sliding fee scale to be used for the summer recreation program.

The purpose of this measure is to make "Adventure Playground" more accessible to lower-income families.

CERRF Sponsors write-in

By CRIS SCHUSTER
Collegian Staff

In a final on-campus attempt to help stop an anti-abortion amendment from passing in the U.S. Senate, the Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom (CERRF) is conducting a letter writing campaign at the University of Massachusetts.

More than 75 letters signed by students will be sent to senators protesting the Eagleton Amendment which states "A woman's right to an abortion is not gauranteed under the Constitution." The amendment which went through without approval of the Senate Judiciary Committee, will probably come up for a vote on the Senate floor in late June or July.

Senators who have not previously voted pro-choice and especially out-of-state Senators are being targeted by the write-in campaign, according to Lisa Nazzaro, a member of CERRF. However, Nazzaro said Senators Edward M. Kennedy and Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts will probably receive most of the letters even though they have already taken a pro-choice stand.

"It (the amendment) is ten words which denies a right to an abortion is not secured by the Constitution. That's all it is," Nazzaro said. "It's easy for people to unite behind it because it specifically targets the abortion issue."

Nazzaro said the amendment has a very good chance of passing in the Senate.

"My personal opinion is that it is going to go through and it is going to go through fast. There is not a hell of a lot there (within the amendment) to argue about," she said. "It is something easy to unite behind and that is why it is so dangerous."

Students are being encouraged by CERRF to write their senators or call them because it carries more weight, Nazzaro said.

"Everything helps," she said.

A table on the Campus Concourse was set up this week to get students to sign a CERRF form letter or to write a hand-written letter.

Statements included in the CERRF form letter were "I understand that the only reason this bill has reached the floor is because of a political deal..." and "Please help stop this waste of your time! Eighty percent of the voters in America are Pro-choice."

Collegian photo by Ann Lamery

Andy Wise displays a homemade biplane kite he flew yesterday. Sunny and cloudless skies are expected for kite-flying enthusiasts and others this weekend.

Students react to Senate bill

By MARY BALDWIN
Collegian Staff

A woman, not a government, should have the right to choose whether a woman should have an abortion, several University of Massachusetts students agreed in separate interviews conducted this week.

Students voiced their opinions on the Eagleton amendment, anti-abortion legislation which was passed on to the Senate floor to be debated in July.

Andrew Fenniman, a junior French major, said, "Abortion is against my religious beliefs. But you can't force Christian morality on a nation. I can't tell someone who doesn't hold those beliefs to think otherwise."

Lisa Vatske, a sophomore business major, said, "I think an amendment to wipe out someone's right to decide whether or not they should have a baby is awful. It's an individual's right to decide. I hope it doesn't get passed. If it did, I would hate to see the consequences."

According tot he Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom (CERRF) at UMass, the amendment made it to the Senate floor without the recommendation of the Judiciary Committee because of political maneuvering by Republican senators Orrin Hatch and Howard Baker.

In response to this Charlene Allen, co-president of the Student Government association, said, "This is a gross distortion of the due process and an attempt to get something through that will not get passed. The intent of the sleazy procedure is to get it through unnoticed. They are assured of the fact that if people knew what was going on it wouldn't get through. I think 80 percent of the country is pro-choice and at least 80 percent of the campus is pro-choice."

Percy Bunink, a senior linguistic psychology major, said, "They are trying to circumvent the judiciary process instead of representing the opinion of 80 percent of the voters in America. It's ridiculous, of course, and it doesn't seem to be very democratic. We voted them into office to protect our rights and wishes and that's not what they seem to be doing. I don't think it will pass. I hope it won't."

Special interests debated

By DAVE LINTON
Collegian Staff

A panel of six University of Massachusetts faculty debated whether special interests dominate common interests of industry, government and higher education last night at the Third Annual UMass Faculty Debate.

A. Elliot Carlisle, a professor in the School of Management opened the debate by saying management's pursuit of short term profits is the dominant interest in the country's top corporations. He said because management's success to increase profits is rewarded, "the consumer's concerns are minimized."

"In the case of higher education, funds are donated to those areas which are concerned with profits," he said.

Leonard A. Rapping, professor in the economics department said the dominance of special interest in our society is a major social problem." He said society must balance special interests and common interests. Rapping warned about the dangers of special interests in a nuclear world.

Assistant Chancellor Deirdre A. Ling cited the number of special interests groups in the country and the power those groups have through the use of the media. She said corporate managers in the 1960's did not take special interests groups seriously. Today, she said, corporate managers recognize the ability of groups to organize and become effective.

Jay Demerath 3rd, sociology professor, dismissed the dangers of special interest groups and said that they are beneficial to society.

"Only because of special interests were important issues such as civil rights, the women's movement and Vietnam injected into the political process," he said.

Linda G. Lockwood, director of the Honors Program, said the media have overblown "victories" of special interest groups.

"Ultimately special interests are common interests. In diversity there is stability. One diversity keeps the other honest," she said.

Amherst liquor store robbed

Amherst police yesterday said the South Amherst liquor store was broken into around 6 a.m. Thursday. Police said two suspects entered a front glass door setting off a burglar alarm.

One of the suspects was arrested and charged by Belchertown police with driving under the influence. The second was held in protective custody by Amherst police.

An unknown amount of liquor and cigarettes were reported missing, police said. An inventory will be conducted by the owners to determine the exact amount.

Police said the suspects' car was seen leaving the liquor store by witnesses.

In other police action:

●A 30-year-old Springfield man was arrested at 5:20 p.m. Wednesday and charged with shoplifting in connection with an incident that occurred at the Ann August clothing store on North Pleasant street. Police said a store employee saw the man put five shirts into a bag and leave.

●A car stereo valued at $200 was reported stolen from a vehicle parked overnight at Amherst Auto Parts, police said.

●A Shawmut bank official reported to Amherst police that a man attempted to cash an altered check. The check was originally made out for $145.50 police said, but was changed to $2,145.50. The man had attempted to cash the same check at Hampshire National Bank, police said.

Newslines...

Amherst Record, Campus Connection sold

The Amherst Record was sold last week to David A. Schansberg, the former publisher of a New Hampshire paper.

The sale was announced Wednesday in the weekly edition of the 138-year-old paper.

Schansberg, who did not disclose the amount of the purchase of both the Record and The Campus Connection, said he plans no immediate changes in the paper, except to look for more space.

Schansberg was publisher of the Claremont, N.H. Eagle Times from 1980 until the end of March. Previous to that he published the Globe and Advertiser Newspaper of Washington, D.C. and the Malone Evening Telegram of Malone, N.Y.

Hazardous site director to speak at UMass

The Distinguished Visitors Program of the University of Massachusetts will present Hugh Kaufman, an Enviromental Protection Agency official who is the assistant director of the Hazardous Site Control Division in Washington. Kaufman will speak on "The Great Toxic Waste Scandal," at 8:00 p.m., Monday in the Student Union Ballroom. The lecture is free and open to the Five College Community.

Student fashion show to be held Monday

The UMass Fashion Marketing Department will present a Fashion Show at 8 p.m. Monday at Hangar One in Hadley to benefit the American Cancer Society. Models will present contemporary clothing from area retail establishments. Cosmetology by John Delaria. Tickets are available at the main office in Skinner Hall and at the door.

Collegian

APPLICATIONS are now being accepted for the following Fall 1983 positions:

Associate Managing Editors (5), Associate Executive Editor, Associate Sports Editor, Associate News Editors (2), Associate Arts Editor, Associate Women's Editor, Associate Black Affairs Editor, Associate Photo Editor, Assistant Photo Editors (4), Day News Editors (3), Copy Editors (5), Layout Technicians (5), Librarian, Drivers, Training Coordinator, Cable News Coordinator

Applications will be accepted until May 18

Apply in person to Rm. 113 Campus Center

The Collegian is an Equal Opportunity Employer

家鄉園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant

"The Best Chinese Food"

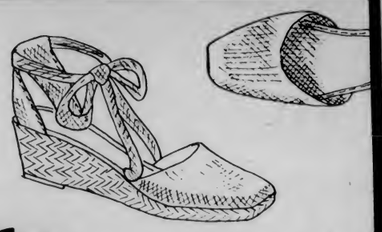
MENU
Hot & Sour Soup
Beef with green pepper
Chicken Pan Fried Noodels
Sweet & Spur Chicken
Chinese Style BBQ Pork
Pan Fried Ravioli
Chicken Fingers

BUFFET
Mon - Thurs
5 pm - 8 pm
Sunday Brunch
11:30 am - 3 pm
ALL YOU CAN EAT
$5.25 per person

Luncheon Special & Take-Out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun - Thurs 11:30 am - 10 pm
Fri & Sat 11:30 am - 11 pm
10 Belchertown Road
at Rte 9, Amherst
256-6252

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert
by

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
Victor BORGE
Conducting, playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall



the SHOE BIN think spring!
187 n. pleasant st., amherst

Looking for a meaningful
SUMMER JOB
Massachusetts Fair Share
The country's largest statewide citizen action organization.
Has full time and summer openings for fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building to shape hazardous waste, energy, and other policies in this state.
Hours 2:00 -10:00 pm, pay: $175 - $225 average per week and benefits. Will train.
Call: 586-8713,
2 PM - 10 PM
Mon - Fri for Western Mass.
For work in Boston Area call:
1-800-952-7478

Dinner for Two Enjoy
any two entrees
with salad bar and a complimentary n/a beverage
12.95
Every Friday

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center • UMass

Student controlled businesses receive exposure at fair

By DAN STOCKFORD
Collegian Staff

The grassy knoll outside the entrance to the Student Union Building at the University of Massachusetts was transformed into an outdoor fair yesterday as the student-run businesses of the University participated in the Student Controlled Business Fair.

The fair gave Student Controlled Businesses such as the UMass Recycling Project a chance to publicize their services.

The Project's Redemption Service was implemented at the beginning of this week and has been met with an "overwhelming response," according to Recycling Project Operations manager Michael Pattavina.

"We have been taking in an average of 2,000 containers per evening," Pattavina said. The Redemption Service visits a different location on campus every night of the week and services students by redeeming their deposits on bottles and cans, Pattavina said.

Enabling students to serve students is one of the purposes of student controlled businesses, said Nancy Shwert, acting co-director of the Economic Development Office. The Economic Development Office is responsible for guiding and supporting all student controlled businesses on campus.

"Student controlled businesses give students experience in working with people," said Shwert, a senior marketing major. "They also provide an economic base for students while giving them managing and marketing responsibility."

Co-organizer of the fair Rick Adams said the purpose of the event was to get people to use the services of student controlled businesses.

"Student controlled businesses run at such a low profit rate that we need exposure like this to get people to use them," Adams said.

"This fair is really a stepping stone for next semester," Adams said. "We want to get all the student run businesses working together."

Kathryn Esche, a food service consultant at the Economic Development Office, explained that her office provides support and consulting services to student businesses through departments including finance, accounting, organizational development and food services.

"Each department helps the student-controlled businesses to implement effective strategy," Esche said.

Student charged in radio theft

By RAY BEAUCHEMIN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police yesterday arrested a 19-year-old Cashin dormitory resident who was observed attempting to break into a car.

The man was charged with breaking and entering into a motor vehicle, larceny over $100 for the attempted theft of a $300 AM/FM stereo cassette player, and possession of burglary instruments (a silver table knife and yellow needle-nosed pliers.).

Police said the Burlington man was observed at 1:51 a.m. yesterday by a security guard who said the man looked like he was attempting to break into a car parked in Lot 44. When police arrived, the man was stopped and found to be in possession of the knife, the pliers and the cassette player.

Police would not speculate whether the arrest was related to the reported thefts of a AM/FM stereo cassette player from a car in Lot 32 or the reported theft of a similar radio from a car on Orchard Hill road Monday night.

In other police action:

●A group of 15 to 20 students was dispersed from around a fire in a wooded area north of the Sylvan Residential Area, yesterday.

Police said the students were gathered around a brush fire in a trash barrel about 12:55 a.m. yesterday. When police arrived several students ran further into the woods with a keg of beer, police said.

●Two car seats were reported missing from a 1972 Mercury Capri parked in the fraternity/sorority parking lot, police said. The two front seats, valued at $50 were last seen Sunday. Perpetrators gained entrance by removing a glass out of the back window, police said.

Duke considering bail out plan for 11 communities hit by 2½

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. Michael S. Dukakis is leaning toward an alternative plan to bail out the 11 communities forced to cut back spending next year to comply with Proposition 2½.

The governor told a Statehouse news conference Thursday he is looking very closely at a new plan permitting the communities to borrow against future state aid.

His earlier solution to allow community councils to override Proposition 2½ provisions without a referendum appears dead in the Legislature.

"If there is a way to do it without amending Proposition 2½, I am all for it," Dukakis said. "But, I am very strongly committed to at least providing an opportunity to those communities to get some help."

Proposition 2½, passed in a 1980 referendum, requires all communities to lower their property tax rates to 2.5 percent of fair market value.

Legislative leaders are considering the lending alternative, whether it can be done administratively or by statute and how to handle interest costs.

Dukakis said he did not know when the new plan will be ready but he did not think there would be much delay.

"The goal that we set for ouselves when we put our local aid package together was to acknowledge not only all communities but to provide special help for 11 communities that need it, and need it very badly...at their option," he said.

The governor said the alternative "would involve advancing of moneys, or something, against next year's local aid which conceivably would have exactly the same result as we attempted to achieve in the two-year phase bill.

"I want to make sure that what we propose is authorized (by law), is possible and makes sense. We are looking at it very seriously."

The governor said problems affecting the communities are not their fault, even though other other cities and towns have lowered their rate to the required 2.5 percent.

"That is not a reflection of a lack of will," he said. "It is a reflection of a property base which is very, very thin and which makes the burden on these local communities extremely heavy."

Citizens For Limited Taxation, prime sponsors of the 1980 Proposition 2½ law limiting property tax collection indicated support for an alternative.

Barbara Anderson, CLT executive director, led the public fight against the now stalled override bill.

"With the decision to leave Proposition 2½ intact, the Legislature and the administration have shown their willingness to respond to the genuine concern of the taxpayers and voters who contacted them about (the bill)," Ms. Anderson said.

"The big winners in this decision are not only these taxpayers and voters, but the system iteself; if people care enough to make their wishes known, government does work in their best interest."

She said if the 11 communities can borrow in anticipation of local aid "the interest on this loan will not come from property tax increases, since the property tax cannot increase beyond the 2½ limit next year."

The affected communities include Boston, Brockton, Cambridge, Chelsea, Greenfield, Lynn, Pittsfield, Quincy, Revere, Somerville and Worcester.

The Great Toxic Scandal

HUGH KAUFMAN

Instrumental in uncovering wrong doings in Reagan E.P.A.

"If a foreign agent wanted to poison the American people, he wouldn't change U.S. hazardous waste policies one iota"

STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
Monday May 9, 1983
8:00 p.m.

DVP DVP

Sweeties
FINE CHOCOLATES AND CONFECTIONS
MOTHER'S DAY
MAY 8th
63 N. Pleasant St, Amherst
253-5589

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

FOUR SEASONS

Molson Golden	bts	$11.99
Miller	bts	$10.99
Bud	bts	$10.99
Lite	cans	$10.60
Tuborg	refund coupons available bts	$9.25

MOTHER'S DAY SPECIAL

Amaretto Di Saronno	750	$10.75
Codornio Brut Classico	750	$4.99
Gallo Varietals	1.5	$3.99
Vodka & Gin	1.75	$7.99
Southern Comfort	750	$15.99

Lots of Matts Beer balls available

Kegs Delivery
Bring your empties to us.
Wines/Liquors
rte 9 hadley m. 584-8174

1983 GRADUATES YEARBOOK INFO

The 1983 INDEX will be ready for delivery or distribution in the Fall.

If you would like a copy of it sent to you please send the form below, along with $2.50 for postage and handling. to: INDEX, 103 Campus Center, UMass

If you are going to be in the area during the fall, you can come to the office to pick up your copy free of charge.

Name _____

Permanent Address (Fall)_____

_____

I.D.# _____

Make checks payable to INDEX
103 Campus Center, UMass, Amherst, MA 01003

Foreign policy to be debated

Current American foreign policy in Central America and other nations will be the central force of a teach-in, debate and discussion tomorrow at the University of Massachusetts.

The event, which is sponsored by the Graduate Student Senate, the Western Mass. Committee for Latin American Solidarity, and the Distinguished Visitors' Program, will feature several speakers from the State Department, Latin America and Vietnam and Robert White, former ambassador to El Salvador.

Sessions will be held continuously from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. including discussions on superpower confrontation between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., the U.S. in Central America, the possible Vietnamization of El Salvador and nuclear arms and the U.S. economy.

All presentations will be held in Mahar Auditorium.

University of Massachusetts Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey said the events are "an important step in presenting a balanced picture of U.S. foreign policy."

Tommie Sue Montgomery, of Ithaca College, Ithaca, N.Y., a panelist who has spent a considerable amount of time in Latin America, addressed "The Role of The Church in Latin America" last night in the Campus Center in conjunction with Saturday's events.

Also scheduled in conjunction with the teach-in is a documentary film festival entitled Latin American and Apartheid: Social Change and U.S. Foreign Policy. Featured is the American premiere of the film Letters from Morazan, 11 other films and a slide show. The festival will run continuously today in the Cape Cod Lounge of the Student Union Building, the Campus Center Concourse and Room 101 in the Campus Center.

BOG's attitudes criticized

By SAMUEL CHALFEN
Collegian Staff

When the director of the Campus Center last night criticized the Board of Governors' (BOG) performance during this semester, the BOG's vice chair agreed.

Campus Center Director William Harris urged the board to set up an internal assessment and standards procedure, saying, "You shouldn't come to these meetings just to earn points on a resume." Harris, who became the Campus Center director in 1977, also said, "A lot of you offer no active participation in Board meetings, a lot of you offer no input to the committees...We have had in the past Boards that really looked out for the interests of the students."

While no Board member rebutted Harris, Board Vice Chair Michael Reilly said, "The Board as a whole hasn't been doing its job, but rather selective people on the Board have been doing their jobs."

BOG Treasurer Michael Ferretti said the BOG/Campus social two weeks ago cost $1,300. He said the Campus Center and the BOG would split the costs. The social offered hors d'oevres and four kegs of Molson's beer.

The installation of air conditioning in the Hatch, the video games room, the games room and other areas of the first floor of the Student Union was proposed by Harris at an estimated $70,000. Reilly estimated the cost of repairs to the roofs of the Blue Wall and the Student Union and other areas as over $2 million.

Harris also said the Campus Center is currently meeting with several area banks to gather bids for the installation of an automatic bank teller machine in the Campus Center. If approved the teller will probably be located by the Campus Center's escalator, Harris said.

The BOG also announced a Food Service Improvement committee meeting to be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the BOG office. BOG member Paul Night said the meeting will be open to all students and Food Service employees.

CLASSIFIED PERSONALS

I read the Collegian

In a recent survey of UMass undergrads, 81.2 percent said they read the Collegian regularly, and half of those said they read it every day. That's more than three times the UMass readers of any other area paper!

The Collegian #1 at UMass

amc THEATRES
$2.00 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW
amc HAMPSHIRE 6 584-7550
amc MOUNTAIN FARMS 6 584-9153

PORKY'S — You'll be glad you came! Fri 5:00 @ 12:00 7:15, 9:45 Sat & Sun 12:00 to 5:00 @ 12:00 7:15, 9:45

CHEECH & CHONG STILL SMOKIN — Fri 5:00 @ 12:00 7:15, 9:45 Sat & Sun 12:00 to 5:00 @ 12:00 7:15, 9:45

Flashdance — It's as far as you can go. Fri 5:15 @ 12:00 7:30, 9:45 Sat & Sun 12:15 to 5:15 @ 12:00 7:30, 9:45

MONTY PYTHON'S THE MEANING OF LIFE — Fri 5:30 @ 12:00 8:00, 10:15 Sat & Sun 12:15 to 5:30 @ 12:00 8:00, 10:15

A Magical Comedy — BURT LANCASTER — LOCAL HERO — PG

the Hunger — R — Fri 5:30 @ 12:00 7:45, 10:15 Sat & Sun 12:30 to 5:30 @ 12:00 7:45, 10:15

Something Wicked This Way Comes — PG — Fri 5:30 @ 12:00 7:45, 9:55 Sat & Sun 12:45 to 5:30 @ 12:00 7:45, 9:55

Dan Aykroyd in DR. DETROIT — PG — Fri 5:15 @ 12:00 7:30, 9:55 Sat & Sun 12:15 to 5:15 @ 12:00 7:30, 9:55

MIDNIGHT MOVIE MADNESS — FRI & SAT at 12:15 a.m. — ALL SEATS $2.50

ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW

You'll be glad you came PORKY'S

THE SONG REMAINS THE SAME — R

WIZARDS — PG

FREE
OFF CAMPUS DELIVERY
$15.00 Minimum
TELEPHONE 253-3091
WHY PAY MORE?

Schaefer 12 oz refillables	$7.49/case + dep
Taylor California Burgundy	$5.99/3 liters
Steinhauser German	$3.99/6 pk + dep
Vodka 80°	$4.99/liter
Cabernet Sauvignon	$1.99/750 ml
Riesling	$1.99/750 ml

C & C PACKAGE STORE
61 MAIN STREET
"Across the street from Plumbleys"

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
FRIDAY
A Hot Night with...
MITCH CHAKOUR BAND
$1.00 COVER

La Cuchina

WEEKEND SPECIAL !!!
Spaghetti Dinner
includes: small salad and garlic bread...
only $1.99
Saturday & Sunday
5:00 pm-11:00 pm
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR/STUDENT UNION

LEARN ALASKA

This summer the nation's foremost wilderness training center, THE NATIONAL OUTDOOR LEADERSHIP SCHOOL, will offer a unique backcountry educational program—The Summer Semester in Alaska.

Learn and practice an extensive curriculum of wilderness skills while exploring the remarkable backcountry of America's last frontier. This intensive 75-day course includes:

- One month kayaking among the remote islands and glaciers of Prince William Sound
- A full scale four-week glacier expedition which includes thorough instruction in snow and ice climbing, route finding and glaciology.
- A two-week backpacking expedition, studying the ecology and biology of the arctic tundra.

This rigorous wilderness experience is open to men and women 17 years and older

SUMMER SEMESTER IN ALASKA
16 units of college credit (optional)
June 1—August 15
June 8—August 23
June 15—August 29

For more information write:
NOLS SEMESTER IN ALASKA,
P.O. Box AA, Dept: G 83
Lander, Wyoming, 82520
or call (307) 332-6973

LA MIA PIZZA

9 East Pleasant St. next to Carriage Shops

Fast, Free,
30 min Delivery
CALL 549-1880

Open Daily 11:00 am - 2:00 am
Fri/Sat/Sun 11:00 am - 3:00 am

Like in Italy
Pizza
cooked on stone
Florentine style
all regular items plus
broccoli, spinach,
fresh garlic & black olives

$1.00 OFF
ANY LARGE PIZZA
WITH
2 OR MORE ITEMS
between 5:30 pm - 10:30 pm Mon-Fri

EDITORIAL/OPINION

From rents to tents and back

Because Robin called from Rutgers University to say "hello", and because my checkbook hadn't been balanced in three months, and because my roommate and I invested in a box of Twinkies and held a major munch-athon, I didn't sit down to do homework until 10:30 that night. And because my delinquent friend, Jack, poked his Gentleman's Quarterly-style face through my doorway at 10:35, it didn't get done at all. Not on that particular night, anyway.

Elizabeth Luciano

"Hi! C'mon in!" I shut my books gratefully, rationalizing that if the Fates had wanted me to study, they wouldn't have sent Jack over.

"Thanks. How are you doing, kiddo?" He gave me a hug, which wasn't easy, considering his 6'4" frame. He looked around the Z-room approvingly. "Hey, you painted the room, right?" Jack asked. I nodded. "It looks good. Pink and blue aren't the colors I would've chosen, personally, but it does look really nice." He stuffed his hands into his pockets and peered out the window. "Nice view, too."

"It comes with the territory." I told him, for I reside in a Southwest tower which boasts airplane warning lights on the roof. "It's small, but we call it home." I joked. Jack didn't laugh, but glumly sat down on my director's chair.

"I wish I were living in a dorm next semester," he sighed.

"I thought you liked living off-campus."

"Well, I do, but the rent is pretty expensive. Housing Services won't let me back into the dorms, either. I defaced University property during finals, last December."

"They caught you decorating the stairwells, right?" I guessed. He's always pulling out a Magic Marker and writing corny helpful hints like 'Nothing dries faster than a tear' all over the walls.

"No, what happened was I threw my stereo out the window, and they basically threw me out after it. It's so unfair! I was defacing my property, not theirs," he said moodily. "And I can't even listen to my tapes anymore, either."

"I think you missed the point," I said quietly, picturing a victim on the pavement below, with a stereo speaker protruding from his mouth.

"The point is that I don't have a place to live in September."

"You could pledge a fraternity," I suggested.

"No way!" Jack replied, "I'd have to learn all those Greek letters, and I can barely remember the English ones. They'd never let me live in a frat house."

"Excuse me, Jack, but I believe fraternity residence is a more appropriate term," I corrected him gently. He ignored me.

"I was going to live in my AMC Pacer, but the backseat isn't even big enough for a Keebler elf to stretch out on. It would've been great, though. I've already paid for the parking sticker, too." He paused, and then continued,

"I was considering living in the Campus Center, as a bag man. Like those ladies in New York, you know? The problem is, I have so much stuff. I'd need at least nine sturdy shopping bags, and the most I could carry would be three or four. Unless I use the lockers. . ."

"Some people live in the library." I hesitantly tried to cheer him up.

"Not literally," Jack said. "That would entail hiding in the men's room with my feet up while they close the place. How degrading! besides, I'm not the literary type." Then he slowly smiled.

"I could apply to Tillson," he said," but it's difficult to be accepted."

"Don't you have to be a horse to live there?" I asked doubtfully.

"Yeah," he said, "Is that oppression, or what? I'm being denied a stall on the basis of my species. Isn't there some kind of law against that?"

"I don't think so, Jack," I laughed, then quickly added, "You're joking, right?"

"Where's your phone book?" he asked, distractedly. "I've got to get in touch with Legal Services!" Jack regarded me gravely. "I believe in justice, truth, beauty, and the American way! I believe in God, Mother, country, and apple pie!" Jack's patriotic monologue left him breathless.

"Why don't you move back home with your parents, and commute?" I asked mildly.

"My parents live in a retirement village in Key West, Florida. It'd be one hell of a drive," Jack sneered.

"Yeah," I agreed, "and gas costs a fortune these days, too. You'd probably spend less if you just stayed in the apartment."

"Then I'd actually be saving money, wouldn't I?" he smiled, as if we'd struck upon a revelation. "I'd probably save at least six or seven hundred dollars! I can't pass up a bargain like that! That's it — you just convinced me."

"What?"

"I'm living off-campus again, next semester."

*Elizabeth Luciano is a*Collegian columnist

Having your cake and eating it too

They dress in busines suits, we dress in blue jeans. They drive in Oldsmobiles, we ride on ten-speeds. They have Charter Day, we have Southwest Week.

The last few weeks of school are traditionally chock full of outdoor activities. Everyone wants to take advantage of the warmer weather that comes to clear out our dismal New England winters. Last week was a prime example of different kinds of people taking advantage of this nice climatic change in very different ways.

Mary Beth Hebert

Take Charter Day, for example. The activities promoted on the advertising posters seemed juvenile at best. While students have often faced derision from the administration and the occasionally over-critical general public for behaving like a bunch of prepubsecents, certainly no other affairs in recent UMass history could even come close to seeming as childish as a Charter Day which touted as its highlights such treats as birthday cakes and balloons.

And boats. Dear God, I almost forgot to mention the boat. Those who failed to pass by the Campus Center Pond last Thursday and Friday missed an incredible sight. Floating on the surface of the pond was a thirty-two foot long pontoon boat, not surprisingly christened the S. S. UMass. The only thing that looked funnier than seeing a 32 foot long boat on the Campus Center Pond was seeing a German Om-pah band floating around on it while it was steered by two men with long poles. The thought comes to mind that perhaps a small model of the Titanic would have been more appropriate.

Of course, when assessing the success of Charter Day, one must not forget the very reason for its conception. Ostensibly, of course, this celebration was designed to note the 120th anniversary of UMass' charter as a land-grant college. But there were other forces at work that perhaps are not so apparent. For example, is it mere coincidence that Chancellor Duffey was officially coronated that weekend? Was the House Ways and Means Committee meeting here that very same wekend just another coincidence? And maybe it was just another fluke that Charter Day marked the end of Greek Week and that the Greek's were well-represented in the events scheduled around the festivities. For me, it was a few coincidences too many.

Nonetheless, Charter Day went off remarkably well. None of the cake bearers dropped any of the 120 smaller cakes that were designed to let the masses eat cake and none of the members of the Om-pah band were electrocuted. Of course, the rope for the tug-of-war did break, but the administration managed to save face in the light of public scrutiny by claiming that since it had been the student's responsibility to provide the rope, the administrators won by default.

Southwest Week, on the other hand, was a decided victory for students. It proved, one and for all, that students could design, sponsor and enjoy their own entertainment.

While the marimba band which entertained us on Charter Day was good (I especially liked the "Star Wars" music they played), it was certainly nothing to be compared with the days of ruckus rock 'n' roll that infested the pyramids. And maybe there were some people who went to, and enjoyed the history of UMass slide show at the SUB, but can it really be compared to the smiling crowds that laughed their way through the 3 Stooges movies sponsored by SWAG?

And let us not forget to mention Saturday's late night party at the Horseshoe and David Johansen on the playing fields on Sunday. In both instances, the crowds were rowdy but well-behaved. At any rate, they were certainly more fun to be with than the white sugar stuffed celebrants that graced the lawn to the Campus Center Pond on Charter Day.

Ironically enough, only about 1,000 people participated in Charter Day while over 7,000 turned out to see Johansen alone. And that definitely takes the cake.

Mary Beth Hebert is a Collegian columnist

Letters

Missiles don't replace food

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the mural presently hanging outside the Campus Center garage. In a recent Collegian article, the artist was quoted as saying, "The cup that the boy is holding is empty because of the missiles that are being made. The industrial world is depriving the third world of the food that they need just by making the bomb." I dare say there is no one whose heart does not go out to a starving child, but to place the blame for that hunger on the production of missiles is another country is entirely wrong and will never produce one iota of food.

I, for one, reject the artist's presupposition that missile production in industrial countries limits the quantity of food in undeveloped countries. If, however, we are talking about a country which both produces missiles and has mass starvation, then obviously the choice is between food and missiles.

The availability of food in one country is not, and should never be considered, a function ofthe budgetary processes of another country. The lack of food and other commodities in an undeveloped country is the result of culture, politics, and economic policies to that country.

I offer this advice to the artist: design a mural whose theme is freedom, to be hung in undeveloped countries. The message should be that if a country upholds individual rights (freedom of action, liberty), their efforts will bear the fruit that all free countries have come to enjoy. Such a mural will convey a sense of hope and self-respect that is far more nourishing than what most of these people have received from their "leaders."

Michael J. Fayer
Amherst

"Ranchero" spurs up debate

To the Editor:

Noting the recent attention concerning the choice of food names in the Hatch, I would like to add another one that I find considerably offensive. Being a self-proclaimed cowboy and rancher, I find the Hatch breakfast "The Ranchero" particularly disturbing. It is stereotypical names such as this that result in the condescending attitude towards ranchers and cowboys. Such names as "The Ranchero" create an image of a flamboyant rhinestoned Rex Trailer type of individual. Perhaps marketing majors in the School of Management could come up with a better name.

Seriously, folks, aren't there more important things to discuss in this forum?

Bill "Tex" Collins
The Southwest Territory

A thanks to the blood donors

To the Editor:

We want to thank all you wonderful UMass people who have donated blood this year. Good luck and best wishes to all of you who will be moving on. We will miss you.

Loretta, Helen, Edie and Mary
Amherst

CASH PAID FOR BOOKS

bring your books to:

The Textbook Annex

May 19-21, 23-27

9:00-4:00

I.D. Required

These are some of the books we will be buying.

UNIVERSITY STORE TEXTBOOK ANNEX

AUTHOR	Title	We are paying
Anton	Calculus w/Analytic Geometry	$17.50
Bobrow	Elem. Linear Circuit Analysis	$18.00
Clydesdale	Food, Nutrition & You	$8.00
Clydesdale	Human Ecological Issues	$5.00
Copeland	Puerta: A La Lingua Espanola	$9.00
Curtis	Biology	$14.00
Dawe	One to One	$5.50
De Paola	Marketing Todays Fashion	$9.50
Earle	Drafting Technology	$14.00
Elkins	Management: Structures, Functions, Prac.	$12.00

BUY-BACK BOOK RECEIPT

Black Affairs

Picket line's purpose was to draw attention to the Palestinian's plight

By R. C. O'NEAL
Special to Black Affairs

April 23 commemorated a celebration for Zionist's worldwide of the 35th year after the founding of the Israeli state. However to Palestinian people it was not a celebration, but the remembrance of the invasion of their right to sovereignty.

As a symbol of the Palestinian fight to regain sovereignty in Palestine, some students at the University of Massachusetts joined with members of the Organization of Arab Students (OAS) in a picket line.

This picket line coincided with the Israeli celebration, both were held in the Campus Center. The purpose of the picket line was to distract attention from the Israeli celebration and to focus on the real situation in the middle East. For it is felt among some American and Arab Students that many Jewish Americans are not aware that the forming of the Israeli state cost many Palestinians a homeland, too.

Commentary

The area in the Middle East, which is now called Israel, was once shared by all semitic peoples, whether they were of Jewish, Christian, or Muslim faiths.

This picket line was not only to stand for peace, but also for true acknowledgement of all Semitic people. O.A.S. members and their friends shouted from the line, "Jewish people yes, Zionism no!"

"And Begin, Hitler is the same the only difference is the name!"

This last comment was used to acknowledge that all Middle Eastern people are from semitic tribes, and that Begin's similarity with Hitler is that Hitler was Jewish and tried to extinguish Jews for his own idealism, now Begin is attempting to do the same to the Palestinian semitic tribe, for the sake of Zionism.

Words seem to mean a lot in the media game. When Palestinians fight for their right to sovereignty they are called "terrorists," and when Israeli people fight for their Zionism it is called self-determination. Once I was called an anti-semitic person because I was for Palestinian sovereignty, however this comment only showed the ignorance of my accuser, for Palestinians are also semites.

Bible history shows that all these tribes were started by brothers who were jealous and envious of each other, "has anything changed?"

To focus on the thought of "Palestinian terrorism," it was felt that the bombing of the American Embassy in Beirut was done by the P.L.O. However few held the thought that it may have been an Israeli plot to create an epidsode of insecurity to give them a reason to remain in Lebanon.

The Reagan administration's stance with the Middle East question has been one of "Self determination." If the Administration truly believed in "self determination" why are we arming Israel? Is it to protect our military bases in the Middle East? I feel American's are no more Pro-Israel than they are pro-Reaganomics unless they are aware of some personal benefit received from either. Americans in general are blank to the middle east issue and allows the news media to fill in the blank!

For example the night of the OAS picket line and the Israel celebration Channel 40 News covered the events. The used such words as "Protest" versus picket line, and "Interrupted" versus "Distracted form." They also said "Israeli students were singing a song for peace."

Although the word picket line and protest are synonyms, there is a slight difference in the connotation. The word "interrupted" give the idea that the Israeli celebration ended, when it went right on as scheduled.

Yet the O.A.S. student picket line did distract enough attention from the celebration to receive Channel 40's coverage.

I would like to say last but not least to the Israel students who were singing for peace, would it have not been a better jesture to have joined in the picket line with your semitic brother in their march for peace?

Photo by Barron Roland

Robin Bowles, Theo Moore, and Monique Harris are caught laughing it up in Boyden gym earlier this week.

Announcements, and weekend reports

The Collegiate Committee for the Education of Black and other Minority Students will be sponsoring their eighth annual Family Day on Sunday May 6, 1983. The event will be held in the Campus Center Auditorium from 10:30 - 3:00 p.m.

CCEBMS has been sponsoring Family Dya for the past eight years in order to recognize the achievements of minority students, something which the University itself does not do, according to Rick Townes, a counselor in the CCEBMS department. The celebration and special recognition of seniors and other students who have demonstrated outstanding academic and community achievements will be the central theme.

In addition to the parents of the CCEBMS, several alumni have been invited to attend the special event. The parents are given the opportunity to tour the campus and meet the university faculty.

The keynote speaker will be Johnetta Cole, Associate Provost for Undergraduate Education. Ms. Cole will be speaking on Third World women in honor of Mother's Day.

Provided the weather is good, the Malcolm X Center in Southwest will hold its annual picnic Saturday May 7 at the Horseshoe in the Southwest Residential area.

The picnic will begin at approximately 11:00 a.m. or 12:00 p.m. running until night-break. A varied menu will be offered, basketball tourney final round games, music by BMCP d.j.'s and tons of fun will highlight this year's activities.

The Malcolm X picnics have had a history of success. It is a time to get together with old friends, get acquainted with new ones and just enjoy yourself.

The weatherman has predicted a sunny mild day for Saturday; just what the doctor ordered for a good turnout. Come Saturday afternoon to the Horseshoe in Southwest and have fun in the sun.

Saturday night the Black Mass Communications Project will present its 4th annual BMCP FUNK-A-THON from 10 p.m. until.

In the past three years the parties have drawn people from as far as Philadelphia, New York and Boston. This is proof of the wide recognition BMCP Funk-A-Thons have received.

So wear your funkiest attire and sunglasses and come ready to get down.

A DAY OF DISCUSSION AND DEBATE:
TEACH-IN ON U.S. FOREIGN POLICY
Friday, May 6
7:00 - 9:00 p.m. — South African Liberation and U.S. Imperialism: Future Prospects
Introduction: Nikoi Kote-Nikoi
Speaker: Ben Magubane, author of The Political Economy of Race and Class in South Africa
Place: Room 101, Campus Center UMass

Saturday, May 7
Mahar Auditorium UMass
10:30 - 12:30 — US/USSR
1:00 - 3:00 — U.S. Policy in Central America
3:30 - 5:30 — The Vietnamization of El Salvador?
7:00 - 9:00 — Nuclear Arms and the Domestic Economy

Sponsors:
UMass Graduate Student Senate, Distinguished Visitors Program, Western Mass Latin American Solidarity Committee, Social Theory and Political Economy Department

Zimbabwe's Mugabe faces hard road toward mixed economy

By DR. MANNING MARABLE
"From the Grassroots"

In recent months, the American media has delivered a grim eulogy for the "democratic experiment" of Zimbabwe. The government of Prime Minister Robert Mugabe has received intense criticism from the right and, not surprisingly, from some elements of the left sympathetic to Magube's rival Joshua Nkomo, leader of the opposition ZANU party. Over a thousand people have been killed since December in the fighting between the nation's two major ethnic groups, the majority Shona and the minority Ndebele. Western aid and investment in Zimbabwe has been halted; reporters and opponents of Mugabe's dominant ZAPU party talk of the creation of a "black police state."

No analysis of Zimbabwe's present crisis is possible outside of a brief review of the fundamental historical burden facing all African nations today: the legacy of colonialism and systematic underdevelopment by the capitalist West. The brutal realities can be summed up in a brief set of statistics: 22 of the 30 poorest nations in the world are in black Africa; from 1970-1980, the economies of eight black nations shrank, and the combined debt of all 30 countries in these years soared by 1000 percent; only 3 countries currently grow enough food to feed their indigenous populations.

Even Wall Street Journal noted recently, "Africa is a continent of poor soils and unfriendly climates. Markets are too small and scattered to support local manufacturing. Distances are too vast for effective transportation and communication . . . Africa's economies are based on external demand, on prices set by the West of raw materials that, with few exceptions, can be bought from any number of sellers." None of the countries "make the manufactured goods the others need. None of them want the weak, overvalued currencies of their neighbors. And it's cheaper anyway to buy maize and sugar, bicycles and hoes, from the West than from each other."

The International Monetary Fund has metted out its most severe "medicine" to the new African regimes. Under IMF pressure, notes the Journal, "Zimbabwe devalued its dollar by 20 percent in recent months. It has frozen wages and raised the price of maize, its staple food, by 40 percent. Sudan devalued the pound, introduced incentives on its state farms and raised the price of sugar. The list goes on: Kenya, Botswana, Zambia, Malawi, the Ivory Coast, all of them are acceding to the IMF."

Zimbabwe's acquiescence to IMF demands followed a series of economic problems. Many African workers' salaries were increased by one-third to two-thirds after independence, while white professionals earning above $20,000 had their wages frozen. The economic recession of 1982, a severe drought which reduced agricultural output and the decline of gold prices produced a burgeoning balance of payments deficit. The growth rate of the GNP declined from 15 percent in 1980 to only 2 percent in 1982.

Western investment and technical services to some degree a necessary and inevitable aspect of development, even under Marxist governments. Thus in recent months, for instance, Mozambique has invited technicians from U.S. and Dutch companies to bid for oil concessions under agreements which guarantee 50 percent of the profits to the state.

Specialists from France, Brazil, East Germany, Sweden and the Soviet Union are prospecting for new coal reserves, which are currently estimated at 300 million tons. Star-Kist Foods of California recently met with Maputo officials to initiate fishing activities along the Indian Ocean coastline. Zimbabwe is thus following the path charted in part by both Angola and Mozambique.

To date, there has been only one major firm from the Heinz corporation, which has established an important factory since independence. Zimbabwe's pressing need for foreign exchange and for the development of a local industrial and commercial infrastructure must of necessity involve relations with the capitalist West.

Agricultural reconstruction in Zimbabwe has been agonizingly slow, but steady. Three years ago, 6,000 Rhodesian white settlers controlled over one half of Zimbabwe's farmland. Under the Mugabe government, five million acres of land has been sold or seized, and then given to 20,000 Black families. By 1985, the whites will control roughly one quarter of the land, and another 162,000 African families will receive farmland.

La Raclette

WINE DOWN

AFTER CLASS
2:30-5:00
OR AFTER THE SHOW
9:00-11:00

CHEESE and WINE SAMPLER

$2.50

YOUR CHOICE OF ANY 3 OF THE FOLLOWING WINES.

FRENCH

VAL DE LOIRE
ROSE D'ANJOU
GRAND MAITRE

BORDEAUX
ENTRE DEUX MERS
BARRIERE
CHATEAU DE CLYDES

BOURGOGNE
LA VIELLE FERME
ROUGE OR BLANC

GERMAN

KANZEMER—SONNENBERG
RIESLING KABINETT 1977

CALIFORNIA VARIETALS

WENTE BROTHERS
1980 GREY RIESLING

WENTE BROTHERS
1980 SAUVIGNON BLANC

BERINGER VINEYARDS
1980 CHARDONNAY

COMMONWEALTH WINES
PLYMOUTH, MASS

CRANBERRY APPLE ROSE
SEYVAL BLANC
DE CHAUNAC

AND ANY 3 SELECTIONS FROM OUR INTERNATIONAL CHEESE BOARD.

WINES

On The Boltwood Walk
103 North Pleasant Street
Amherst, Massachusetts 01002
253-5927

MARTHA'S VINEYARD
ECONOMICS
SUMMER COURSES

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
AT AMHERST

ECONOMICS 103 — INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS (3CR) June 13-July 13

ECONOMICS 104 — INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS (3CR) July 25-August 23

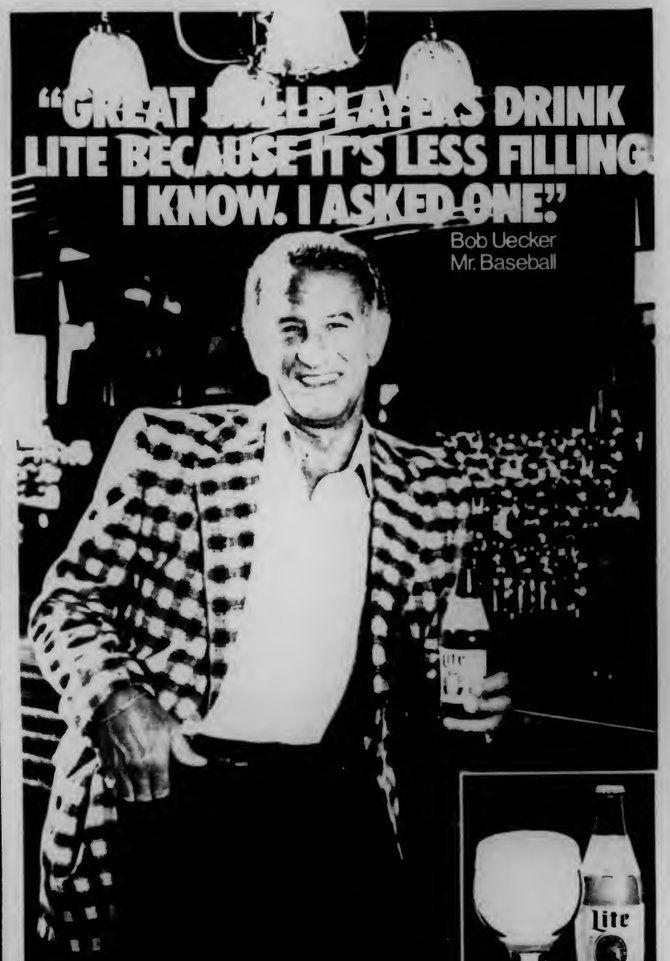
Classes meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 7:45 - 10:45 a.m. For additional information, contact:

Debra Lyon
Division of Continuing Education
University Library
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0530

Still the Best Happy Hour in town.
Buffet including Hot & Cold dishes.
All you can carry & eat only $1.00
also 65 oz Pitchers of Rolling Rock Beer $2.95
3:00 - 7:00
Bottles of Rolling Rock $1.45

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

"GREAT BALLPLAYERS DRINK LITE BECAUSE IT'S LESS FILLING. I KNOW. I ASKED ONE."
Bob Uecker
Mr. Baseball



EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED IN A BEER. AND LESS.

© 1982 Miller Brewing Co. Milwaukee, WI

Arts

Borge conducts benefit

By DOUGLAS MUISE
Collegian Staff

Victor Borge is truly the stuff of legend.

Though he is most celebrated as a humorist, Borge's accomplishments as an artist and entertainer run the full gamut of methods and mediums. Borge has done just about everything a performer can do and his biography is exhaustive indeed. He's performed on radio, in films, on television, Broadway, in nightclubs, large concert halls, at the White House — even on Dial-A-Joke; he's written two books, been knighted by four countries, honored by Congress, the United Nations, and called the "funniest man in the world" by none other than the New York Times. A man of seemingly boundless creative capacities, Borge is indefatigable.

the arts as well, often helping to raise funds for organizations in the arts by making guest appearances with major orchestras. At 8 p.m. on Wednesday May 11, Borge will guest conduct a pops concert of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra at the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall to benefit none other than that sprawling, concrete structure we've all come to associate with the finer arts on campus — the Fine Arts Center.

Borge is no neophyte when it comes to the art of baton wielding. He has conducted almost every major symphony orchestra from the Amsterdam Concertgebouw to the New York Philharmonic.

Now, you might wonder why the Fine Arts Center would need to stage a benefit at all — is the center really that desperate for funds? According to Judith Allen, Director of Programming for the FAC, things aren't too good. The Fine Arts Center actually loses money when it stages those big broadway shows like A Chorus Line and Annie; not a significant amount, but it still hurts.

Allen said that the Fine Arts Center Concert Series runs on the money it produces through ticket sales, but often that just isn't enough to pay for the shows.

"In order for us to continue to bring major concerts to the community," said Allen, "we had to set-up some sort of fund-raising benefit."

By purchasing a ticket for the show, people are in effect donating money to the Fine Arts Center. They then become an automatic member of the Friends of the Fine Arts Center, a recently established organization that will help — through the generosity of its members — to support the FAC. "This is something most arts centers already have," remarked Allen.

Allen went on to say that the entire FAC staff is rather exuberant about getting Borge and the Symphony to do the benefit.

"Borge and the orchestra are only playing eight dates on this tour, and with UMass selected as one stop, we're all very excited we could get them."

Allen called a past Borge performance she attended "one of the most up-lifting evenings I've ever spent at the theater."

"Frankly, it's just funny and nutty, and yet you've still got the music to off-set this."

"With Borge and the Cleveland Symphony, you've got the best of two worlds," Allen said.

Victor Borge will guest conduct a concert by the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra to benefit the Fine Arts Center at 8 p.m., on May 11 at the FAC.

Tickets for the concert are $15, $13, and $11 for the general public — half-price for Five-College students — and may be purchased at the Fine Arts Center box office. All ticket proceeds will go towards maintaining the FAC's Orchestra Series as well as other events. For reservations or further information, call the box office at 545-2511.

McGarrigles attain euphoria

KATE AND ANNA MCGARRIGLE
Hangar One

By HEATHER LEVI
Collegian Correspondent

Q: How many instruments can Kate play?
A: A lot

Q: Is it necessary to have at least three accordians for one concert?
A: Evidently.
Q: Are there other Mcgarrigles lurking in the Canadian wilderness?
A: Yup.
Q: What's a heart like?
A: A wheel.

The Mcgarrigles and their more than competent back-up band (which included their mysterious sister Jane) were a bit late in starting. They claimed this was due to a housing shortage which was due to Parent's Week. A pox on all parents, then. Once on stage, though, they launched into a fine program taking in the full range of their rather eclectic style.

The great thing about the Mcgarrigles is their sensitivity to life's various minor ironies. They express such things as the joys and pains of sticking together despite the fact that the mailbox has been knocked over by a snow plow. They included several French numbers.

The one thing which occasionally disturbs me about the Mcgarrigles is their obsession with comparing hearts to wheels. I know of at least three songs using the line, including the one popularized by Linda Ronstadt, and one which they played at the Hangar which I had not heard before.

Ranging in style from moderate rockers to five part gospel harmonies the show seemed to end all too soon. They finished with one of the better known songs from their first album, Kiss and Say Goodbye. They said they'd return, now that they know there are "people in Hadley." Fine with me. The woman in front of me, who was in an advanced state of euphoria said they were "amazing." Who am I to argue with euphoria?

Moms are very, very special.

Be sure to remember yours with a beautiful Mother's Day Card.

AMERICAN GREETINGS
...for that special person

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Read Arts until it hurts!

Do you own a Personal computer? Before you buy anything, check out THE COMPETITION

Diskette Storage Box $23.95
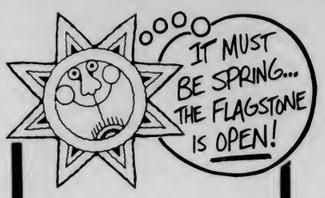
Sug. Retail $29.95
Elephant Memory Disc's
Single side, single density
$23.50 Box of 10
Single side, double density
$23.50 Box of 10
Double side, double density
$31.50 Box of 10

We carry entire
Elephant Memory System line.
Enquire for a comprehensive price list.
P.O. Box 136, Amherst, Mass. 01004



Flagstone
CAMPUS Cafe
CENTER
Located Outdoors on the 3rd Floor Terrace
Lunch: 11 am-2 pm/ Monday-Friday
Weather Permitting

Uncle Wheaty's
PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small
2 item pizza
Only $4.00

AmHERST CINEMA
$2.50 Double Feature
Wednesday - Saturday
Day for Night 7:00
DIVA 9:05
Sunday - Tuesday
Citizen Kane 7:00
Magnificent Ambersons 9:00
Downtown Amherst
253-5426

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS STUDENTS . . .
You're Needed All Over the World.
Ask Peace Corps volunteers why their ingenuity and flexibility are as vital as their degrees. They'll tell you they are helping the world's poorest peoples attain self sufficiency in the areas of food production, energy conservation, education, economic development and health services. And they'll tell you about the rewards of hands on career experience overseas. They'll tell you it's the toughest job you'll ever love.
PEACE CORPS
See Mary-Jo Langston, 12 Draper Hall, UMass 545-2105

More tours, better tours than ever summer tours to the soviet union
begin June 26
We offer young people: general "get acquainted" tours • study-tours of socialism in practice • peace seminars • farm tours • rail tours • sports tours • Russian language study-tours • folk dance study-tours • the Moscow International Marathon —all featuring meetings and personal contact with Soviet youths.
Prices begin at an incredibly low $1450, all-inclusive from/to New York.
Write for Brochure
voices of the future
250 West 57th Street, Suite 1428, New York, N.Y. 10107
(212) 245-7501 or Out-of-State (800)-223-1336

INTELLECTUAL SOFTWARE PRESENTS
Score High on the LSAT
by Jonathan D. Kantrowitz J.D. Harvard Law School
Apple / IBM PC disks $195.00
Queue Inc
5 Chapel Hill Drive
Fairfield, CT 06432

Congratulate your special graduate!
Graduation greeting cards for
• Primary School
• Junior High
• High School
• College
AMERICAN GREETINGS ...for that special person
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

You Au To
Wash Your Car
where you can soap,
BUBBLEBRUSH rinse, wax, engine degrease and whitewall clean.
Amherst Sunshine Car Wash
381 College St.
(across from Spirit Haus)
- Open 24 hours of every day -

Hypercurricula

Today

FILMS: LATIN AMERICA AND APARTHEID — Continuous screening of twelve films on aspects of social change in Latin America and South Africa, especially regarding U.S. policy in these areas. 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., Cape Cod Lounge, Campus Center Concourse and Campus Center 101.

SLIDE SHOW: NICARAGUA'S REVOLUTION — Lisa Veneklasen, recently returned from several months work with the literacy campaign in Nicaragua, presents this look at their social revolution. 12:30 p.m., Campus Center 101.

STATE STUDENT ASSOCIATION MEETING (SSAM) — Tuition hikes — Financial aid cutbacks...it affects you!! Want to make a change?? Come to the SSAM meeting — help us to help you. 4 p.m., CC rm 168.

SHABBAT SERVICES AND DINNER — Special service tonight will celebrate with those individuals who have recently converted to Judaism. Shabbat dinner will follow (please sign up by 10 a.m. in the Hillel office). 7 p.m., Dukes room, S.U. 310.

AMHERST BALLET THEATRE COMPANY — Varied dance performance, featuring "One Thousand Cranes" which deals with a young victim of Hiroshima. Includes Jazz and Classical Ballet. 8 p.m., Bowker Auditorium.

A PEASANT OF EL SALVADOR — A play staged and performed by Peter Gould and Steven Stearns. 8 p.m., Newman Center.

ORIENTEERING OUTING — We will be going to Quabbin Hill to do the Thinking Sport. Moderate difficulty; a few hours, beginners welcome. For info., call James at 549-5921. 10 a.m.

"A DAY OF DISCUSSION AND DEBATE: TEACHIN ON U.S. FOREIGN POLICY" — State Department Representatives, scholars, and activists will discuss, with audience participation, major foreign policy issues: Central America, South East Asia, El Salvador, Nuclear Arms and the U.S. economy! 10:30 a.m.-9 p.m., Mahar Auditorium.

Saturday

25 PLUS CLUB SPRING FLING — Older students: Meet at 4 p.m. for car pool for party "Somewhere in Whately". Bring dish for potluck supper. Volleyball, badminton, music. For info, telephone 545-2145 or 665-4856. 4 p.m.-12 a.m., meet at CC Info Desk.

Sunday

JEWISH GRAD, OLDER UNDERGRADS AND WORKING FOLK GO SWING DANCE!! — The Grad group goes Swing Dancing. Learn a few new steps, and have some fun. At the East St. Dance Studio, 47 East St., Hadley. Call 253-9360 for more information. 9 p.m., East St. Dance Studio.

NEED A RIDE TO CHURCH? — The CHURCH BUS leaves at 9:30 from Prince House and stops at Hills North, Greenough, Grayson, Fraternity-Sorority Park, Cashin, and NOPE enroute to the Amherst churches. Call UCF, 545-2661 for more information.

STRATEGY GAMES CLUB — The club meets every Sunday to play miniatures and boardgames. Newcomers are welcome. Noon to midnite, CC 904-08.

SPRING PERFORMANCE OF UMASS OPERA WORKSHOP — The saintly members of the UMass Opera Workshop will present Act II of Four Saints in Three Acts and songs by Stephen Sondheim. Directors are Dorothy Ornest and Dennis Wemm; choreographer is Bonnie Novak. The performance is free of admission charge. 3 p.m., Bezanson Recital Hall, Sunday. 3:00 p.m.

AMHERST AREA NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH — Come join us for our weekly service or worship, praise, and teaching from the Bible. 3:30 p.m., Campus Center.

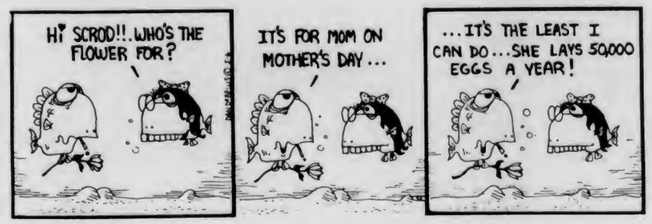
AFSers — There will be a meeting to discuss forming a club. We need the help of returnees, host brothers and sisters. All are welcome. 7:30 p.m., Wheeler Dorm B-6.

Bloom County — By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone — By Mark Rollins

Katfood — By ARK

Scrod — By Dan DeBellis



After the Fall — By R. Miller

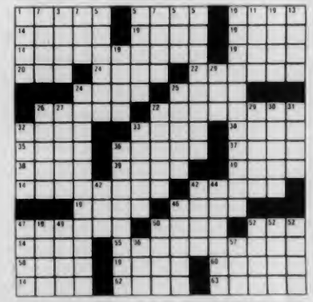
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Home of the hare
6 In addition
10 Moves like 17 Across
14 Chateaubriand love story
15 Caspian Sea port
16 —— were (so to speak)
17 Swift leporid
19 No gentlemen he!
20 Adherent: Suffix
21 Contends
22 Ogle, in a way
24 Depend
25 Arm, for one
26 Bows one's head
28 Youngsters at 1 Across
32 Part of a cord
33 Cover with concrete
34 Jai ——
35 English essayist
36 Man, is one
37 " —— love with..."
38 Yours, in Tours
39 To join, to Jean
40 Norseman's name
41 Man from the "Equality State"
43 Scoffs
45 Hares
46 Part of a campus, for short
47 Good taste
50 Brazen Bunny
51 Slimmer's salon
54 Allen Drury's "—— Against the Gods"
55 Kind of proportional representation
58 Knee joint
59 Consumer
60 Cockatoo
61 River of myth
62 Player on the links
63 Arranges

DOWN
1 Pilgrim to Mecca
2 Actress Hagen and others
3 Diplomacy
4 Time piece: Abbr
5 Mary Chase's rabbit
6 Monastery
7 Places for experiments
8 Use a T-bar
9 Lasted longer than
10 Reckless or flighty
11 Eskers
12 Rabbit-like rodent
13 Printer's direction
18 Is indisposed
23 Wiggly, Scottish style
24 John Updike novel
25 Pry
26 Athenian philosopher
27 Actor Navarro
28 17-Across is one
29 Victim of 50 Across
30 Furry features
31 Iniquities
32 Bridge bid
33 Pineapples, in Palermo
36 Dance popular in the early 1900s
42 Or, to Vergil
43 Wine holders
44 —— pie
46 Ask
47 Annoys
48 "—— a kick out of you"
49 European rabbit
50 —— Rabbit
51 Eddie Rabbitt, for one
52 Sassy
53 Amo, ——, etc.
56 Mad —— March hare
57 Sign of a hit



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

WEATHER

Today mostly sunny, temperatures in the 70s. Tomorrow, continued sunshine. Highs in the 80s. Extended weekend forecast: Mother's Day, partly sunny, chance of showers, in the 70s.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Tuna Salad on Water Roll, Turkey Divan

BASICS LUNCH
Herbed Soybean Casserole, Turkey Divan

DINNER
Baked Cod/Newburg Sauce, Eggs with Sharp Cheese Cold Plate, Southern Beef and Noodle Casserole

BASICS DINNER
Fresh Zucchini Pie, Baked Cod/Newburg Sauce, Eggs with Sharp Cheese Cold Plate

Typists wanted
Gain experience working for the largest college newspaper
Apply Room 113 Campus Center
Monday Night
6:00 p.m.

SONY

MICRO CASSETTE-CORDER WHICH PROVES THAT SMALL IS BEAUTIFUL

Sony proves that small is as handy as it is beautiful. The M-9 micro cassette-corder is tiny enough to take along to school, the office, or any meeting. But it has large, easy-to-use buttons and one-touch recording, so the student and executive alike will find it a cinch to operate. Two speeds allow up to 2 hours of recording. And when you're finished, pop it into your pocket. The economical M-9. A great little Sony for those very big assignments.

Sale $49.95 list 64.95

Save $15.00 off of list price

model number M-9

quantities limited

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

OPEN M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

STUDY IN ROME

FALL • SPRING • SUMMER

Barbieri Center/Rome Campus of Trinity College

Write: BC/RC, Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut 06106

Applications still welcome

Budweiser.
KING OF BEERS.

KEG ROLL "83"

sponsored by PHI SIG
for benefit of Jimmy Fund

Fri Happy Hour at Blue Wall

(raffle & free Anheuser Busch giveaways)

- Send-off Sat 10:30 am at Phi Sig to Fenway Park Boston

check presentation to Jimmy Fund prior to Red Sox Game

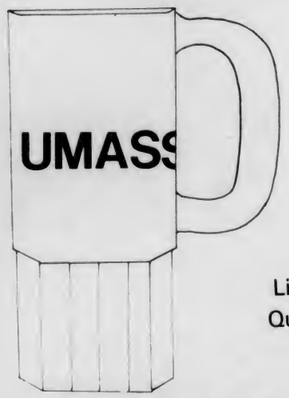
- Thank you for all donations
The Brotherhood of
Phi Sigma Kappa

GENUINE GENUINE

this Bud's for you!

SPECIAL VALUE

$1.50



Limited Quantity

UMass Plastic 12 oz. Tankard

Blue - Red - Green

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Grateful Dead

The Official Book of the Dead Heads

Great Graduation Gift

SUPER SALE

SALE PRICES

Paperback: Our Price: $10.99

Hardcover: Reg.: $12.95 Our Price: $19.99 Reg.: $24.95

UNIVERSITY STORE Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center

Gazelles wait for bid

The University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team will find out Monday if they will be selected for the NCAA tournament.

A bid goes to the top eight teams in the country, so the fifth ranked Gazelles (11-1-1) are expected to be chosen by the NCAA committee.

The Gazelles are the defending national champions of women's lacrosse. A home field advantage goes to the top four teams in the nation.

★ softball

Continued from page 16

followed with a single up the middle and UMass led 6-5.

But the Bridgewater seventh saw consecutive singles to put runners on first and second. Two ground outs followed and Bridgewater was down to the last out. But Deb Macardy stepped up and tripled in the winning run.

The second game was all UMass as the Minutewomen scored one run in the second, two in the third, one in the fourth, and three in the sixth to win easily 7-1.

Rioux went three for three and Deb Pickett went two for two while Gaw was two for four with three RBIs.

The Minutewomen face important doubleheaders at home 2 p.m. Saturday against Adelphi and Sunday against Springfield College. The Minutewomen need two sweeps to be considered for a playoff berth.

★ baseball

Continued from page 16

But Amherst struck back quickly, scoring three runs in their half of the inning. A double to left-center by pinch-hitter Chip Gollaher started things off. A single by Tom McDavitt and a double by Ostberg knocked out freshman reliever Jon Martin who had replaced Kostro in the fourth. Jeff Hughes greeted Martin with a sacrifice fly to close the scoring in the inning.

UMass almost looked their way back into the game in the seventh as reliever Ron Liable, who replaced the second pitcher for Amherst, John Nimons at the start of the inning, walked the bases loaded. But an Andy Connors groundout ended the threat.

"It was a major disappointment because we have to live with it for a year. They are a fair team and we're a good team and things were just reversed today. We played very poorly," said Bergquist.

Today the Minutemen will play American International College at Lorden Field at 3 p.m. This weekend the ECAC selection committee will decide on the participants in the post-season tourney. UMass is expected to get a bid.

Remember...

When patronizing our advertisers, make sure to tell them that you saw their ads in the Collegian.

STADIUM

10 a.m. til 11 p.m.

253-5595

U. Mass. Amherst

LIQUORS

Kegs • Beer • Wine • Ice

University Drive, Amherst, Mass.

Just past UMass Stadium, from SW dorms

not responsible for typographical errors

Miller Lt 12 oz cans	$10.60	+ $1.20
Miller 12 pk bot	$5.40	+ .60
Bud or Bud Lt 12 oz cans	$9.95	+ $1.20
Molson	$12.25	$1.20
Busch 12 ox bot	$9.00	+ $1.50
Rolling Rock 12 pk cans	$5.00	+ .60
Duke 12 oz bottles	$6.95	$1.50
Genese Ale 12 oz bot	$8.95	$1.50
Hamms 12 oz cans	$7.95	+ $1.20
Seagrams 7 1.75	$12.95
Canadian Mist 1.75	$12.59
Piccala 1 L	$6.99
Canadian Rare 1.75	$10.25
Gallo Premium 3 L	$5.99
Inglenook 3 L	$5.99
Paul Masson 1.5	$3.99

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS

18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Schaefer 12 oz long necks.....$7.99/cse + dep
Budweiser 12 oz cans.....$11.00/cse + dep
Rolling Rock 12 oz long necks.....$10.00/cse + dep
Schlitz 12 pk cans.....$4.99 + dep
Molsons beer, ale, golden.....$3.75/6 pk + dep
Gin or Vodka 80°.....$5.45/1 liter
Paul Masson Wines
Rhine, Burgundy, Rose, Chablis.....$3.99/1.5L

All Beer & Wine Specials are ICE COLD!!

TIME OUT

Free Popcorn

A GOOD PLACE TO START A CONVERSATION HAPPY HOUR

4 - 7 PM

SUNDAY NITE SPECIAL

RUM & COKE
GIN & TONIC $1.00

Two TV's

Amherst's Biggest Little Bar
37 N Pleasant St.

This Mother's Day, express a beautiful thought to Mom and others dear to you.

☐ Mom ☐ Aunt
☐ Wife ☐ Godmother
☐ Grandmother ☐ Daughter
☐ Sister ☐ Someone Special

AMERICAN GREETINGS
...for that special person

Open
M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

FREE SODAS — Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY — FREE SODAS

363 Main St., Amherst
256-8587
WEEKEND SPECIAL
Large 2 - Item Pizza
only $6.50
(2 free sodas upon request)

HANGAR ONE

Fri. May 6 — Boston's Hottest New Band!
NOVEMBER GROUP
and special guests
2 for 1 drinks til 10 — $3

Sat. May 7 — A Legend in Rock and Blues!
JAMES MONTGOMERY
also
Peter Newland and friends
Free Draft 8-9 — 2 for 1 9-10
only $3.50 with UMass ID

Coming:
The Stompers 5/12
Fountainhead 5/13

Booking September Parties Now!

18 and older with ID — 253-2280

One bedroom Amherst Ctr apt summer sublet fall opt utils incl 253-2157

Summer sublet Brandywine 1 bedroom neg furnished AC call 549-0343

2 bedroom Townehouse Apt rent negotiable June to August 549-5103

Cheap Brandywine Apt $200/mo negotiable females only 549-0116

Room available in house Amherst Center 2 porches great location $130 month + ult 253-9403

•• $215.00 SUNDERLAND 2 BDS •

Beautiful 2 bedroom apartment right on bus route furnished or nonfurnished summer sublet fall option call Anne or Tom 665-7918 Do not pass this up!

TARZAN

DL7FCI GIUFHSVI BS6J 516 51SLAJ MG FC1 21J LD "H" 36K1 41GF FLGM8CF, ME Jane

TO SUBLET

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet with fall option. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

3 bedroom Puffton apt furnished June 1 -Sept 1 $296/mo call 549-4047

Presidential Apt sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms call 549-0886

Sublet 6/1 to 9/1 2 bdrm Townehouse apt furnished North Amherst $300 + 549-3819

Want to live in Herwich this summer? For info call Jamie 546-1167

CHEAP and spacious apartment in Squire Village fall option summer rent even cheaper 665-2719

Southwood Apt 2 bdrm furnished rent very negotiable call 253-5500

1 bdrm Puffton Village avail June 1 w/fall option $290 includes heat 549-0815

2 bedroom apartment in Brittany Manor $300/month with fall option 256-0854

Looking to get rid of a No Amherst 3 bedroom apt for-ever take it for the summer and pay less than 2 months rent walk to campus call Karen 549-1377

Northampton beautiful 4 bedroom house furnished avail 6/1. Possible fall opt 584-2905

Sunny 2 bdrm June 1 - Aug 31 $295/mo + elec 256-8027 early aft or after mid

Summer at Townehouse Apt. furnished 2 rooms rent neg 549-6354

Brendywine 1 bedroom apt furnished June 1 - Sept 1 549-5825

Summer Sublet Fall Option 1 bedroom available in spacious, furnished Main St apartment great location! $12w0 253-3366

Chic, cheap apt for summer rent 275 + 2 br on bus route 253-9389

Summer sublet: 3 bedroom townhouse, N Amherst, on 2 bus routes, w/fall option, walk to campus $150 each neg 549-4849 late or early

One bedroom apt Puffton Village June, summer and fall option $310 monthly rates 549-5732 til 11:30 pm

Two bedroom Colonial Village Apt laundry and pool bus route 253-7158

Puffton 2 bedroom furnished rent neg June 1st - Sept 1st call Jane 549-5110

Summer Housing 2 min from Campus 120 per month or 300 per summer call Betsy or Bretta 549-0174 549-6823

AVAILABLE SUMMER lg of 3 bedroom in Puffton furnished rent neg 549-6622

Room for rent in Sunderland House Beautiful yard, dish & clothes washer $160/month plus utilities 549-1218

2 bdrm apartment in house 5 min walk to dwntn Amherst furnished nice yard near courts & pool cable 325 + or BO 256-8947

3 females needed to share 4 bedroom townhouse apartment forfall semester beautifully furnished on bus route call 549-6749 or 549-6850

Two bedroom Colonial Village fall opt pool bus call 256-0223 $295

Center of town - 3 bedroom apt summer sublet with fall option 549-6264

2 bedrm Brendywine availaJune to Sept rent neg 1 rm fall option 253-5949

Townehouse Apts for the summer; 3 bedroom apt, or rooms available. Air conditioned, fully furnished, 1 mile from campus, on bus route call Liz at 54[illegible]-0307

Female roommate needed to sublet cheap fall opt 665-7503 keep trying!

Brandywine for summer two bedroom fall option $275 Dave 546-8730

Summer sublet wanted share Presidential apt furn rent neg 549-0896

Summer sublet/fall option 2 bedroom Sunderland apartment bus route $330/month 665-3097

Colonial Village June 1 - Aug 31 call 253-5288

Must sublet Puffton apartment $350 per person call 549-1672 keep trying

Townhouse apts 3 bedrooms furnished rent negotiable call 549-6709 or 546-9589

Excellent apt 2 lrg bdrms new carpet & floors balcony 665-2081

Riverglede summer sublet for 2-4 people w/fall option 2 256-8139

Summer sublet fall option Southwood for three females pool, tennis, heat included South Amherst bus call 253-9924

nester bdr in condo June 1 - Aug 31 furn xcellent on bus line 256-0768 253-9764

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

3 bdrm apt for fall call 253-7336

One female to shara beautiful townehosue apartment for summer and falll On bus route -- own roomI call carol 549-2638

WANTED TO RENT

Starting June 1, 1 bdrm apt., walking dist. to Grad Research Cntr., call 546-1498

Quiet senior seeks room in Amherst house w/basement starting 9/1/83 excellent cook 253-2756

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUGUST FREE

One bedroom in two bedroom apt, large enough for two. Fall option. 180/ + 665-7772

AUTO FOR SALE

Saab 99E 1970 mechanically new, no rust needs minor body work $2500 549-6861 BJ after 5:00

75 Chevy Suburban rust, dents but runs excellent with long future BO Mitch 256-6712

1966 Chevy Impala, 283cl; new battery; $375 firm, call Scott 546-5934

Convertible - 1969 Ford Galaxie runs well $300 or BO call 253-7221 after 5

1975 Datsun runs great needs body work 550 549-5159

1980 Toyota Celica five speed air conditioning AM/FM superb engine dependable $5700 549-6923

71 Toyota great buy!! $300 best offer Nate 253-9015

1973 Chevy Bel Air runs beautifully, AC, super stereo some rust $650/BO 253-9467

1980 Chevy Monza 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 253-7779

1973 Buick Electra good condition new engine $700 or BO 549-4136

CAPE COD BOUND?

Meture couple wanted to rent room at Cape Cod for the summer. JUne 19 to Aug 31, South Orleans Mass. Large rooms, deck, fireplace, close to beach. Call 367-2606 or 549-5829

ENTERTAINMENT

Rackadisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

PROFESSIONAL DJs FOR LESS! Dorms, Greeks, Semis. Call-N-Save. Paul 549-4405

Blues/Rock Band for hire Indoor or Outdoor Parties - Weekends - day or night 546-1080

FALL APARTMENT FOR RENT

2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt for rent for fall. Apt will be semi-furnished & in excellent condition. Call 253-5560

FOR RENT

Parent(s) with child(ren) wanted for North Amherst cooperative household. Longterm. 549-4006

STUDENT HOUSING Chi Rho welcome applications from single grads and undergrads including freshmen and sophomores. Contact First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian ministry house call 549-3596 or 256-6691

One bedroom in Puffton apartment Fall option 549-0837

Colonial Villege summer sublet w/fall option 2 bedroom $295/mo 256-0556

Fall Rental large Sunderland house 6 bedrooms 3 full baths complete kitchen washer-dryer large living room enclosed porch on bus route $150/mo + util call 665-4803

Free August rent fully furnished 2 bdrm Northwood Apts summer sublet w/fall option 665-7076 eves

Call Us Quick summer sublet with fall option Southwood Apt 2 bedroom front view first come - first serve 253-9083

Apt for rant - within walking distance to campus and town. Located on N. Pleasant St. NEAR SILVERSCAPE DESIGNS avail June 1st with fall option perfect for 2 people. Call 253-9889 after 5 pm

1 bedrm in 2 bedrm apartmt. yard, pets OK, walk to UMass. 162.50 + electric. Judy 256-6948 or Grace 253-7783

3 bedroom apt new, huge, center of town. Available June 1 with fall option. Call after five 549-0477

Definite fall option female roommate for single bedroom nonsmoker available 6-1 rent 120 + negotiable apt on Amherst Belchertown line no walk to bus wait inside call Susan 256-8784 or 323-6311 ext 257

Four badroom apartment Amherst, summer only rent very negotiable 1 room possible fall option 6-7175/6-7164

Two bedroom Colonial Village, summer sublet/fall option. Negotiable. 256-8451

FOR SALE

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Brand new moped, never been ridden. Must sell immediately call Rob 586-5424

Ibanez Concorde acoustic w/pickup $225 moog prodigy lead synth $300 546-7976

BSR 60 watt speakers, great sound excellent condition three-way. $130.00 or best offer 256-8697

Sm woodstove $60. also couch $25. dresser, desk, etc. call 549-4195

Sanyo AM-FM Stereo 8 track built in turntable 75. Dave 546-5359

1980 Vespe Motorscooter P125. Only 750 miles. 100 + mpg. $1000. Call 467-9046

FOUND

Found car and room key on keychain Tues night by FAC call Mary 6-3298 to identify

Found keys in SW fields, Friday 4/29 call to identify Tommy or Dan 546-7831

HAVE I GOT A DEAL FOR YOU

One large bedroom in beautiful Rolling Green apartment utilities included pool June 1 to August 31 best offer keep trying Denise 253-5356 Laurie 546-5407

HELLUVA BARGAIN

Townhouse summer sublet 3 bdrm, AC, extremely negotiable call 546-6667 or 546-5204

HELP WANTED

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175 225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

Looking for experienced restaurant help for Cape restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

Worcester Area - Full or part time work phys-ed graduate. Boys and girls gymnastics. Resume to Box #2 Cherry Valley, Mass 01611

The CC/SU Board of Governors is accepting applications for its eleven paid coordinator positions for the Fall. Applications are available in 817 of the CC due May 12.

The SGA Treasurer's Office is now hiring for two positions for the summer and fall: SGA Controller and Treasurer's Assistant. Accounting and office work experience is essential. Pickup applications at the Treasurer's Office, 407 S.U.B. - Deadline is May 11 We are an AA/EEO employer.

SGA PRESIDENT'S OFFICE offers interns indep. studies, and credits working on research and advocacy of educational & social concern to students. Affirmative Action Employer Rm 406E SUB 545-0341

Experiencad reliable childcare sought for 3½ yr old 3-5 afternoons a wk call Carolyn 253-3162

Collegien Drivers' positions available for Fall '83. Must have car, morning hours free. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer

Summer work 320 per wk and up, travel hard workers car preferred but not required send name address and phone to Summer Work Box 299 Amherst MA

GREENPEACE, The international environmental organization seeking summer help for outreach/fundraising. Help save endangered species, preserve the marine environment and end the arms race. Hrs 2 pm - 10 pm Pay 140-200 wk Campus Center Interviews Tues May 10 CC 901 10 am - noon & 1 pm - 4 pm or call 253-7282 10-5

HOUSES FOR RENT

4 bedrooms in Northempton for Sept. 5 bedrooms in Hadley for summer, 4 bedrooms in Amherst for summer, perhaps Sept option. Skibiski Realtors 584-3428

I'VE GOT THE BEST!

Some people heve e loving mother. Some a caring one. Some have an understanding mom. But mine is these and so much more. HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY to the best mom and best friend a kid could want. Go to Bingo win on I22 spend the money at OSCO and enjoy! Love Rita Marie!!!!

LOST

Keys - 4/30 Southwest Pyramids -Keychain is leather triangle with "B" in center 546-5048 Dan

LEATHER SCROLL PORTFOLIO w/handle final project within call 546-5650

Lost on campus 4/29/83 set of keys on leather key chain Lyssa 6-6907

3 keys on chain in fields across from Boyden. Call 546-7365

Small black female cat with white reflector collar. Last seen April 25. Has abscess on stomach which needs attention. Please any indo call 253-5803, 584-0056

Gold necklace lost at a DC Brandywine party night of April 23. Reward 546-6237

MOTORCYCLES

1973 TC125 Susuki excellent cond 1900 miles on/off road $350. 256-8964.

MOVIE

Friday Night: Dr. Strangelove shows at 5,7,9,11 5 at $1. & 7,9,11 at $1.50
Mahar Auditorium
sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Pi

PERSONALS

You caught my eye twice at the University Store you fantastic profile and deep enticing stare at the card display drove me wild I'd love to get to know you the curly dark haired guy with the blue nylon windbreaker.

Graduating Senior with job in Boston looking for same to share apt. Starting 6/1 I already have great place rent resonable call Steve Mandell 545-2150 leave message.

•

TonightTonightTonightTonight
T M O V I E T
O Dr. Strangelove O
N Peter Sellers and George C. Scott N
I shows @ 5,7,9,11 5/$1. & 7,9,11/$1.50 I
G Mahar Auditorium G
H sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Pi H
T*Tonight*Tonight*Tonight*Tonight*T

Jean Z. can't you see the real me? 154-8495

Steve S. - Happy Birthday!! Hope it's the best. Love Cheryl & Spot, arf! arf!

Peter! Happy Birthday! Let's celebrate love Karen

Big Bucks summer positions $310 per wk travel cat not required but preferred call anytime for info 549-4085

To the hurting unit movers you will never catch the spirit signed #1 Team

Mar, Ange, Kath, Jen, Ja, Ei. Cer - Thanx guys for the "sweet" unforgetable 20th - Jill

Leah you're one of the funny & nicest suite-mates a girl could ask for. Here's to leg lifts in the hallway with Rick & Teddy!! C.M.G.

Lisa Happy Birthday! Come on down to the game for ray brews and Cadbury eggs see ya there! Stray Cats Bob

Glenn Fleherty My one and only final is May 24 Let's party all week. MSE

Debby Lynne, I love you. Joey G.

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertetions, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

ROLLING GREEN APT

Summer sublet, two bedrooms, AC, all utilities, furnished, negotiable. Joel 256-0435 nights

ROOM WANTED

2 males nead housing on Cape in Bourne, Hyannis area Mark 256-6986 or 253-5482

Room wanted in Puffton or Townhouse apt will pay for summer w/fall option call Sheryl 549-1352

ROOMMATES WANTED

1 bedroom available in Brittany Manor apartment starting in September good condition two males or 2 females call Don 256-6041

Townehouse Apt. summer sublet/fall option for 2 people 1 room 549-6313

Responsibla roommate wantad to share room in Southwood. Summer and possible fall option. Cheap rent. Call Jim 256-8471 evening

2 famale roommates wentad for fall 120/mo Brittany Manor ht included call 256-0719

Room for rent in 2 bedroom Brandywine apt summer and/or fall 549-5834

1 or 2 females to share large bedroom for fall cheap Rolling Green 256-0807

Townehouse 2 people to share bdroom in 2 bdroom apt starts June 1 665-4669

Cape Cod Summer looking for females to rent modern duplex in Hyannis May 15 through Labor Day pre-payment required Julie 617-636-8501.

1 or 2 females wanted for rm in 2 bedr Brandywine starting June or Sept 253-5949

Room available for two females in Brandywine apt as of August w/fall option call Chris 549-1577

Rolling Green apt female for own bdrm in 3 bdrm apt call 253-2264

Female roommate wanted for Brittany Manor apt summer sublet with fall option call 546-5095 or 546-8573

Two roommates wanted for fall Brandywine apt call 549-4114

Rolling Green - one female to share bedroom $118/mo all utilities incl starting Sept 1 for fall 256-8335

Cape Cod housemates wanted Truro, house on beach 10 min from Provincetown contact immediately: Carla 6-4954 Cathy 6-9692

SERVICES

Fast Accurate Typing $1.50/page Leslea 584-3433

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm apt Amherst Center $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

Cool, light efficiency apartment, furnished, Triangle St., Amherst, rent negotiable, 549-0457 or 545-0854

Brandywine summer sublet 2 bdrm furnished rent neg 549-6440 AC pool

Beautiful large 3 bedroom apt in house Amherst Center excellent location June -Sept 1 $400/month call now 253-2169

Summer sublet/fall option 2 bedroom Northwood Apts. Hot water incl. On bus route. Pool. $200/month neg. Call evenings or before 9:30 AM 665-2939

Two bedroom apt available in Brandywine June to Sept price negotiable call Jennifer 546-5390

Summer sublet/fall option 1 bed in 2 bed Brittany manor apt 256-0298

Summer sublet 2 bedroom Riverglade Apt rent negotiable 256-8137

Brendywinel Summer/fall option 1 bdrm available AC/pool/bus rt/rent negotiable -call Laura 549-0313

One bedroom in Sunderland Center apartment $150/mo summer only bus route 549-6802 Tony

Furnished Townehouse Apt. AC, rent negotiable, call Scott or Rich 549-0516

Brittany Manor 2 bedroom cheap across from bus stop 253-3301

Amherst Ctr apt 4 bdrm furnished $150 + elect ea call 253-5298

Brendywine 2 bedroom beautifully furnished, cable, pool, AC, June 1 - Sept 1 rent negotiable 549-6465

Two cheap big rooms in country house 3 miles from campus. $80 month. 549-4729 before 8:30 am or after 5 pm fall option

1 bdrm in Amh house laundry fac, 2 furn housemates, short walk to campus, garden, 138/mo 253-3545 Sam, Rick, Jess

Brandywine two bedrooms full kitchen bathroom spacious livingroom pool two bedrooms cheap call 549-1405 negotiable

Puffton Village summer sublet fully furnished cheap Tom 549-6715

Brandywine apt fully furnished one bdr available for summer sublet. pool call Dunacn 549-1305 rent negotiable

Studio apartment in Belchertown summer sublet w/fall option near center, on bus route call 323-5886 evenings

Puffton 3 bedroom 2 bath, furnished $100/mo 549-1873

Fall option - 1 bedroom Brandywine 107/mo includes utilities call 549-5234

•••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••

3 bedroom Puffton Village exceptionelly well kept, pool, tennis courts only $100 per person, will negotiate call Bev at 549-1865

•••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••••

Closest to campus Presidential apartments 2 bedrooms rent negotiable call 549-5808

Large sunny four bedroom apartment adjacent to campus on Phillips St available for summer sublet only $475.00/mo negotiable call Debbie 549-0546

Summer fall option 2 bedrooms in beautiful house, swimming, bus, $155 253-5511

Only baeutiful 3 floor two bedroom Riverfront apt master bedroom still available only $149 suitable for two pool air furnished 549-4405

2 furnished rooms in house $150/month June 1 - Aug 31 females only ask for Mary 253-2414

Sports

More Sports on page 17

Ranked teams in for "lax" weekend

No 2 Syracuse 3pm today; Maryland 1pm Sunday

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

At the beginning of the season this coming weekend was billed as the "big lacrosse weekend."

Of course, this was before the Gorillas stumbled out of the starting gate early, falling out of contention for a national playoff bid that goes to the top eight teams in the nation.

This weekend was supposed to be "big" because it was thought the Gorillas (4-7) would be fighting for a playoff bid. They're not.

What they are fighting is the chance they could become the first Gorilla gang since 1965 to finish the season with a losing record.

But, make no mistake about it, this weekend is still "big".

Area hotels are booked solid as parents and friends of the Gorillas will swarm to Boyden field for the annual lacrosse party. A buffet for team members, their families, and former Gorilla players is scheduled for Sunday after the Maryland game. Gorilla Coach Dick Garber says over 100 of his former players are expected to attend.

So it is a big weekend, a reunion of sorts. Not only for players and family members but also for some Gorillas and members of the Syracuse squad.

"We went and stayed with some of them in the fall," said midfielder Stuart Orns "so it'll be kinda weird playing against them."

This weekend isn't only "big" for UMass but for Syracuse and Maryland as well. Syracuse (9-1), ranked second in the nation, has a playoff slot virtually locked up but now the Orangemen are fighting for the home field advantage which the top four teams receive in the first round of the NCAA tourney and the top two teams receive for the first two rounds.

For Maryland, (5-4), ranked number eight in the nation this is a must game. The Terrapins are in a battle for the last playoff spot and a loss to the Gorillas Sunday could severely damage their chance at a berth.

In fact, the Gorillas could creep back into the national rankings with an impressive weekend.

The problem will be stopping the potent Syracuse offense that averages 17 goals a game. Syracuse employs a run and gun offense and has great shooters on attack.

The Gorillas must decide if they should run with Syracuse and if they do and are successful, whether they should try to outshoot the best shooting team in the nation for the full 60 minutes.

It will be a double dose of tough lacrosse this weekend at Boyden Hill but Garber gave his team a message yesterday at practice.

"The next 72 hours are going to be fun lacrosse," he said.

It will be fun for them. It could be fun for you too.

Collegian photo by John Doucette

Chris Schmitz scoops a loose ball in the 16-5 Gorilla win over Dartmouth Tuesday.

Amherst tops UMass

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

It certainly wasn't of the magnitude of the Titanic and the Great San Francisco Earthquake, but please spell yesterday's baseball game between Amherst College and the University of Massachusetts D-I-S-A-S-T-E-R, especially for the boys from the big, bad state university.

It was awful. The pitching and the hitting was poor (although Chris Waszczuk did smash his eleventh homer of the season). You name it, everything went wrong in the Minutemen's 10-4 loss.

Jumping on UMass starter Bob Kostro early, the Lord Jeffs (15 hits in all) scored five runs in the first two innings. In the opening frame, the big blow was Frank Anderson's two-run single. In the second, Amherst scored three unearned runs as the UMass defense committed two errors.

The leadoff hitter in the inning, Brian Austin, reached base when Kostro dropped second baseman Dean Bennett's throw at first base. A throwing error by catcher Todd Ezold, a sacrifice fly by Rob Ostberg, and a single by Jeff Hughes brought the runs home.

The lone bright spot for UMass in the early innings was Waszczuk's homer in the second, a long blast over the left field fence.

In the fourth the Lord Jeffs struck for two more runs, knocking Kostro out of the game.

"Kostro really had a poor day, his poorest day all year," said UMass Coach Dick Bergquist. "He had no velocity at all, he had no location, and I was very disappointed. Now I'm very concerned because Presnal didn't look good yesterday (Wednesday) and Kostro didn't look good today. So now I'm concerned about our number one and two pitchers.

Down 7-1, UMass rallied in the fifth with two outs. A Brian Kingman walk, a Dan Clifford single, and an error by shortstop Frank Anderson on Bennett's grounder loaded the bases. A Bruce Everson single to right field scored two runs.

Continued on page 17

Minutewomen split; playoff chances hurt

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

BRIDGEWATER, Ma. — For the University of Massachusetts' women's softball team, yesterday was a day of frustration when the Minutewomen traveled to Bridgewater State and split a doubleheader, losing the first game 7-6, and taking the second game 7-1.

It was frustrating because Bridgewater is a Division II team and UMass should beat Division II teams. It was frustrating because with four games remaining the loss deprives UMass (25-9) a 30 win season and doesn't help chances of a post season playoff bid.

It was frustrating because the umpires were not at their best. It was frustrating because despite playing mediocre softball the Minutewomen still could have come back to Amherst with the sweep they needed so badly.

After falling behind 5-2 after four innings, UMass got two runs back in each the fifth and seventh innings to take the lead. In the fifth, Beth Talbot singled to right and All-American Jackie Gaw tripled her home. Missy Oman followed with a single to left to score Gaw and UMass trailed 5-4.

In the seventh, Allison Rioux walked and moved to second on a Talbot sacrifice. Gaw (2 for 4) tripled again to right field scoring Rioux and then scored when Oman again

Continued on page 17

Eastern Ultimate Championships at Southwest

Women's final 2pm Sunday

By JUDY KELLIHER
Collegian Staff

Some compete in sports for recognition. Others compete for the social aspects of sports. But there are those who compete because they love their sport and they love to compete. The women's frisbee team at the University of Massachusetts, better known as Zulu, loves to compete.

The defending National Champions completed a very successful weekend of tournament play. Zulu hosted the Northeast Regional tournament at the Southwest playing fields and won the tourney, defeating a tough Spinters team 16-10 in the final on Sunday.

Ultimate frisbee is a special sport. Just ask Donna Levine, Zulu's leader of competitiveness. She feels they work as hard and are as organized as other sports at the university. Ultimate frisbee has no officials, and according to Levine, is truly a "gentleperson's" game.

An unfortunate aspect of playing for a non-varsity or non-club sport is lack of funding. All expenses during the season come directly from the player's pocket. When Zulu competed in the National Championships in Texas last fall, almost the entire trip was funded by the players.

Watching Zulu compete in an ultimate frisbee contest can be as entertaining as watching any sport on campus. Unlike frisbee played on the beach, the ultimate game is fastpaced, well organized, involving diving catches, precise throws and tenacious defense which all combine to make Zulu one of the more interesting teams to watch.

This coming Saturday and Sunday, Zulu will host the East Coast Championships. There will be 15 teams from the East Coast coming to the Southwest playing fields. Play will begin each day at 10 a.m.

Don't let the efforts of these 18 women go unnoticed. They play because they love the sport. A little recognition never hurt anyone. Spend some time this weekend supporting the ultimate frisbee team. It will be time well spent.

Men's final 3pm Sunday

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

To most a game of frisbee consists of simply tossing a frisbee back and forth for recreational purposes.

For others, more specifically the University of Massachusetts men's frisbee team, it goes a bit further than that.

In fact, the ZooDisc, as they are better known, captured the first ever Collegiate Championships in the 14 year history of organized frisbee last weekend.

ZooDisc, 21-1 on the season, plays numerous tournaments throughout the season, against fields consisting of both college and club teams. This year was the first year a tourney was held solely for collegiate teams and ZooDisc blew through the tournament and defeated Glasboro State 11-8 in the final.

The turning point in the championship game as a fast break keyed by a Tim Riviere to Jim Melody to Craig Homenko pass which ended with a sprawling grab by Homenko in the endzone.

"Our victory over 'Boro', the two-time national champ for the first time in 12 or more tries was easily the high point of the season," said ZooDisc member Ken Boardman.

But the season isn't over yet for the collegiate champs. This weekend at the Southwest playing field, ZooDisc will host the Eastern National Championships all day Saturday and Sunday starting at 10 a.m. each day.

The finals are scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday and a parachute demonstration will kickoff the final game of the most prestigious tournament of the spring season.

Teams from Florida, St. Louis, Chicago, Michigan and the entire Eastern seaboard will make up the 20 team men's field. A 16 team women's tourney will also be held with the final scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday.

"Our progress has been escalating all season," said Boardman. "Hopefully this momentum will carry us to the Eastern Championships."

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXII, Issue 130 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500 Monday, May 9, 1983

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

Hadley is known for its ramshackled old barns. One might be surprised to find out that this relic is near the civilized society known as the Hampshire Mall.

Cage renovation plans still incomplete

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

Administrators met Friday to evaluate and adjust architectural plans for the Curry Hicks Cage renovation project but those plans must be finalized and a means of funding established before construction can begin, according to a representative of the physical education department.

"We know what the plan looks like," said School of Physical Education Assistant to the Dean John Volpe, explaining that "the general outlay" of the Cage has been determined but lacks interior details, such as materials to be used.

A meeting with the plan's architects, CBT-Childs, Bertram, Tseckares and Casendino, Inc. of Boston, should take place within the next few weeks to finalize those specifics, he said.

The plan would entail the renovation of the Cage itself at an estimated cost of $1.170 million. A new cover for the dirt floor, a new ceiling, new bleacher seats, a new indoor track, improved lighting and a removable wood basketball floor are included in that figure.

In addition to the south side of the building with its own entrance and a main foyer to make the Cage "a building in itself" would also be built, Volpe said. The addition will house new locker rooms, a treatment room, a concession stand, public restroms and storage space for an estimated $846,000.

Director of Facilities Planning R. H. Littlefield, who was also at the meeting, said the three means of funding proposed earlier are still under consideration.

"There has been no decision made yet as to the funding (source)," he said.

But Littlefield said the sources originally suggested — a fund raising drive, capital outlay or a student fee, — estimated at $20 per year by UMass President David C. Knapp to two choices.

"There are possible limitations as to capital outlay," he said, noting that there are "many other high priority items" that would receive grants first.

Volpe said construction would begin next April at the earliest, pending the selection of a method of financing and how quickly funds become available through that method. The project will take between 12 and 18 months to complete, he said, disrupting at least one season of indoor sports and physical education classes.

SATF suit needs detail

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

A New York law firm said the Student Government Association (SGA) needs a more specific complaint against the University of Massachusetts before it can sue the University for control of the Student Activities Trust Fund (SATF), SGA leaders said Friday.

Former SGA President Jim Murphy said the law firm of Rabinowitz,Boudin and Standard told SGA leaders during a consulting session that a broad decision on a suit would not help the SGA gain control of the SATF.

Murphy said the SGA complaint centers on the Student Activities Office (SAO), which he said is "bleeding the SATF," to increase its personnel budget.

SGA leaders would like to split the SAO's Program and Business units and resume budgetary control over the Programming office, Murphy said.

The SGA lost control of the SAO budget in 1980, when the SATF was put on the University accounting system, assistant to the SGA President Bruce Levy said, Before 1980, the SATF was on a manual accounting system run by the SGA, he said.

The old system was not efficient, and the UMass Board of Trustees took away SGA control of the fund after a $200,000 deficit was run up in the SATF,Levy said.

Murphy and Levy went to New York Friday, April 29, along with SGA co - Presidents Tom Ahern and Charlene Allen, undergraduate Student Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan, Senator Mindy Chateauvert, and Michael Pill and Charles DeMare from the UMass Legal Services Office (LSO), to consult with the law firm on the possibility of a suit.

SGA leaders said last week that the consulting session was a success, but was not enough to make any final decision on a suit.

"A three - hour talk is by no means enough basis to take a case to court," Murphy said.

Ahern called the meeting "a positive first step," and said the firm was "enthusiastically surprised with what we had."

The law firm, which Murphy called "a very progressive law firm," won the LSO the right to sue the University in 1975 and is "interested in protecting the rights of students," he said.

"Their enthusiasm was reflected by the fact that we met with three of their senior partners," Murphy said.

The group met with Leonard Boudin, Haywood Burns, the firm's legal counsel who is the provost of City College of New York, and Edward Copeland, "junior partner who specializes in trust fund law," Murphy said.

"A strong point they were interested in is that since we've lost control of the SAO, the (SAO) budget has grown by $80,000, and that's $80,000 that's been taken out of student activities," Levy said.

Figures compiled by Sullivan show that while the SAO budget has increased by $80,000 since 1981, money for salaries and benefits has increased by $105,000 in that time.

"That means they are reallocating funds to pay for personnel," Murphy said.

SAO Director Randy Donant said all state employees recieve automatic cost of living and fringe benefit increases, and "if you program out these increases and look at the percentage of increase in personnel, then I am saying that our increase is reasonable."

Donant added that the SAO budget request for 1984 is less than their 1983 request.

"We're the only budget who has done that," Donant said. "We're not eating up the SATF."

The senate appropriated $2,000 on March 9 for the initial consulting.

Panels debate foreign policy at teach-in

By TRICIA A. YACOVONE
DAVID B. MINER
and BROOKE STATES
Collegian Staff

Politics and passion were mixed at "A Day of Discussion and Debate: Teach-In on Foreign Policy" Saturday at Mahar Auditorium at the University of Massachusetts.

The event was divided into four two hour panel discussion sessions attended by a total of approximately 500 people.

The debate on U.S. foreign policy with the U.S.S.R. concentrated on the increase of nuclear weapons and their effects.

The first speaker, Jan Dizard, a professor of sociology at Amherst College, discussed how society has affected the arms race.

"Verifiability (of an arms reduction) is very shaky in the U.S. because of years of anti-Soviet ideas pumped into the people," he said.

Dizard was followed by Robert MacNeal, a professor specializing in the history of Russia at the University of Massachusetts, who said an arms redaction does not ultimately lead to world peace.

Professor Roberta Manning of the History department at Boston College noted the threat of the Soviet Union, but called the increase in arms now the most irresponsible action ever taken by the U.S. government.

Pavel Machala a professor of Political Science at Amherst College called his argument "Tale of Two Evils," the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

Among the points on which the four member panel agreed were that it is now a critical point in time in El Salvador, that there are realistic grounds for open dialogue between all parties involved in El Salvador and that a mutually acceptable mediator could be found.

One major disagreement with President Reagan's address to Congress on El Salvador was brought out by former U.S. Ambassador Robert White.

For those of you who think that Reagan has precluded sending American troops to Central America, think again. You are not familiar with bureaucratic language," he said.

Other panel members included Tommie Sue Montgomery, an assistant professor at Ithaca College, Janet Shenk, a staff member of the North American Congress on Latin America and Robert Driscoll from the U.S. State Department.

Questions and discussions between the four panelists and the audience became heated in regard to the policies of socialist countries in the recent past. The nature of socialist forms of government versus Third World countries that the U.S. backs was also discussed.

According to former South Vietnamese Doan Van Toai, the situation in the Third World is not black or white with regards to communism and fascism.

UMass history professor Richard Minear disagreed. "In some areas things are so polarized that there can be no third force for solving these problems," he said.

"Revolutions do not happen in the Third World because of the U.S. and U.S.S.R.," said Brian Boland, pastor of Hadley's St. Patricks Catholic Church. "They have to do with the conditions in that country, and the rebels in El Salvador want to negotiate," he said.

The panel also contained UMass sociology Professor Paul Hollander and was moderated by Bruce Laurie, former Massachusetts Society of Professors president and history professor at UMass.

The final panel discussion became a debate as Vice President of the International Association of Machinists Ben Sharman, one of five panel members, told the audience the trade unions support the nuclear arms freeze and a decrease in overall military spending.

Edward Feit, a professor of political science at UMass, said that what is at stake is free choice.

World and National News

Peace sought for Pope visit

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Roman Catholic Cardinal Jozef Glemp on Sunday accused police of lobbing tear-gas grenades into churches to smash anti-government protests, and told 60,000 faithful that Poland needs "peace, peace, peace."

Speaking in the southern city of Krakow at ceremonies honoring St. Stanislaw Day, the spiritual leader of Polish Catholics also said churches should not be used as a forum for politics. Glemp's remarks were reported by reliable sources who attended the ceremonies.

He spoke a day after Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, the Communist Party chief and premier, acknowledged the existence of wide protests last problems" remain between the government and the church.

Glemp and other religious leaders have called on the government to revive the outlawed solidarity labor union and free political prisoners for Polish born Pope John Paul II's visit next month.

"We do not want that there are any political demonstrations in churches," Glemp said. "But on the other hand we do not want that tear gas grenades should be thrown into sanctuaries."

Glemp did not specify any instance in which a church was tear-gassed. Reporters and witnesses have said they saw police lob tear gas and spray powerful water jets at demonstrators during protests outside churches. The government has never said whether police have used tear gas in churches.

The cardinal's statement followed a reported attack last week on six church workers in Warsaw by 15 to 20 men in street clothes posing as demonstrators. Dissidents claim the men were government agents.

AP Laserphoto

Shen Tu, right, Chinese civil aviation chief, sits across from South Korean deputy Foreign Minister Kong Ro-myung Sunday as negotiations continue for the return of a hijacked Chinese jet, its passengers and crew. The jet was diverted to South Korea last Thursday by an armed group of six Chinese.

Fake diaries spur resignations

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A top editor of Stern magazine who resigned after the purported Hitler diaries were labeled fraudulent said Sunday he fears there "may be an ugly story" behind Stern's purchase and publication of the documents.

"I don't know who wrote them," former Stern editor-in-chief Peter Koch said during a telephone interview with The Associated Press from his Hamburg home.

"As far as I know maybe (reporter Gerd) Heidemann wrote them, but I don't think so," Koch said, referring to the Stern reporter who said he had tracked down the purported diaries of Adolf Hitler in East Germany.

Koch and Felix Schmidt, two of Stern's three chief editors, stepped down Saturday, one day after the West German government said chemical tests and historical analysis had shown the 62 volumes of diaries and other writings were "obvious fakes."

Stern has promised to tell its readers this week how it got the documents and decided to publish them.

The Hamburg-based Welt am Sonntag newspaper said in an unattributed report Sunday that Chancellor Helmut Kohl has ordered the secret service to find out whether the East bloc was to blame for the forgery of Hitler's "secret diaries" as some reports have suggested.

Porno charges evict diplomat

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Afghanistan's Moscow-backed government on Sunday ordered a U.S. diplomat to leave the country within 48 hours, claiming he "engaged in the sex and pornography business."

Radio Kabul said in a newscast monitored in New Delhi that the diplomat, Peter Graham, had violated diplomatic regulations and Islamic and Afghan traditions by engaging in what it called immoral activity aimed at "perverting Afghan youth."

The broadcast by the government station attributed its account to "authentic reports of the security forces," but did not specify the exact charges against the diplomat.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Joe Reap said the Afghan claim that Graham "was using pornographic literature to purchase rugs is ludicrous and wholly without foundation."

"We do not know what the Afghan motivation might be," Reap said. "We have pointed out that there is no substance to the explanation they have given us and have asked whether they could provide another.

"We are also puzzled and concerned about recent arrests by the Afghan secret police of most of our embassy's white collar Afghan employees who were performing routine administrative duties in the embassy. We are considering what our further response might be."

Reap said the United States was informed Saturday of the action against Graham, and added the diplomat had been scheduled to leave Kabul for a new assignment at the end of this month.

Chisholm gets flack for abortion stance

CHICOPEE — Former U.S. Rep. Shirley Chisholm drew protests from antiabortion demonstrators during a speech at a Catholic women's college, but students who heard the talk gave the former lawmaker a standing ovation.

While Ms. Chisholm spoke Saturday to 200 students at Our Lady of the Elms College, about 40 abortion opponents picketed quietly outside. Protest leaders said they protested her voting record in Congress on abortion issues. They carried signs reading, "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

However, Ms. Chisholm said nothing about abortion in her hour-long talk on a historical perspective of feminism.

She said the women's movement "has been part of a greater humanist movement rooted in people who have not been allowed to share in all the rights and all the responsibilities of this democracy."

Ms. Chisholm, 57, a former Democratic representative from New York, is now a visiting professor at Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley.

Advisor sure as Ivory Reagan will run again

MINNEAPOLIS — Lyn Nofziger, a former top advisor to President Reagan, calls the president an "Ivory soap candidate."

"I call him my Ivory soap candidate because I'mm 99 and 44 one - hundredths percent sure;; that Reagan will run for another term, said Nofziger. Ivory has long claimed to be 99.44 percent pure.

Nofziger, 58, is a political consultant who left the Reagan administration in January 1982 and says he now has no ties to the White House.

He spoke Friday to the Elephant Club, a group of Minneapolis Republicans.

He said he is sure Reagan will win re-election and suggested other potential GOP candidates should not get into a race with Reagan because of the president's strong record on the economy and other issues.

Digest

By the Associated Press

AP Laserphoto

Rescue workers look over the smoldering remains of a sports car that had wrecked, pinning its driver. Passing motorists heard the screams of Mark Williamson, of Bedford, Virginia and braved the flames to lift the car so Williamson could be freed. Williamson suffered second- and third-degree burns on his head and back.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Rich Nangle
Copy Editor — Anne McCrory
Layout Technician — Jim Floyd
Photo Technician — Drew Ogier
Composition — Lauri Neely, Donna Maurice, Stuart Sajdak, Alyssa Rusiecki, Mat Atkins, Julie Marcinek, Sue Koczela, Joyce Haglund

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian (USPS 343-220) is published daily Monday through Friday excluding vacations, exam periods, or holidays. Subscriptions are available for $18 at 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts. Postmaster: Send address changes to the Massachusetts Daily Collegian, 113 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003.

Mom speaks out against nuclear arms

BOSTON — Americans must love the Soviets and recognize them as fellow human beings as a step toward ending the nuclear arms race, a founder of the nuclear freeze movement told a Mother's Day crowd Sunday.

"My drive is fear,fear for my kids," said Dr. Helen Caldicott, founder of Women's Action for Nuclear Disarmament and a founder of Physicians for Social Responsibility.

Mrs. Caldicott, a pediatrician, said many children fear nuclear conflict above all else.

"Our children know for a fact they are not going to grow up," she told the crowd of several hundred outside the Boston Children's Museum.

She said the United States and the Soviets must try to understand each other, and must stop interfering with other nations.

"The dynamic that's driving this (the arms race) along is a primitive hatred and superstition of the Russians," she said. "There aren't Communist babies. There aren't capitalist babies. A babys a baby is a baby."

Liberace nears 64th birthday with fans

LONDON — Scores of women showered Liberace with flowers and kisses when he arrived in London on Sunday for four concerts.

"I'm going to appear with the London Philharmonic Orchestra," he said. "I shall be wearing my costumes and beads and they will be in evening dress."

Liberace said he will have an early birthday celebration here with 300 "lovely ladies" from his fan club. Then, he said, he'll return to Las Vegas, Nev.,for a birthday opening of his own restaurant on the big day - May 16.

"Although I will be 63, I never think of retiring," he said. Records show, however, he'll be turning 64.

Group concerned over Everywoman's policies

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

A support group for three Everywoman's Center employees who lost their jobs said Friday the center lacks political focus and is no longer a feminist organization since it abandoned its collective structure two years ago.

At a hearing in Whitmore Administration Building, members of the group expressed their concerns and demands about the three women to Robert Welch, special assistant to the vice chancellor of student affairs and Gloria DeGuevera, unit head director for educational access and outreach at the University of Massachusetts.

The group gathered in support of Mary Wentworth, co-ordinator of the Poor Women's Task Force and Malika Jones, co-ordinator of the Third World Women's Program,who were notified in March their contracts would not be renewed in June. They also support Marianne O'Leary, a clerk whose job was terminated in April.

Demands made by the group at the hearing included the reappointment of all three women at the center, the funding for an additional position for educational access and outreach, and the establishment of a community advisory board for the center.

Welch, who said he and DeGuevera would report the group's concerns to the Everywoman's Center, staff and vice chancellor said the decisions to respond to the group's demands would be made by either the Everywoman's Center, the vice chancellor, or the chancellor.

Members of the support group expressed concern about the consolidation of power that took place at the center when two years ago staff members decided to adopt a hierarchical model in place of its collective structure. They said as a result of this change, women's programs have been compromised.

One woman said, "I am concerned about the change of value systems. The Everywoman's Center is not a feminist organization anymore. It's basically just another administrative office at UMass."

Another woman said, "It irks me that a male dominated administration is having such a big hand in deciding what the needs of women in this community are."

Welch said the decision to change the structure of the center came directly from the center staff and not from University administration.

The people who came to the hearing, UMass students, community members and patrons of the Everywoman's Center, expressed their respect for the recently fired Mary Wentworth and the other women.

"I have not met one single person in the Amherst area who knows the town and knows the needs of poor women as Mary Wentworth does," one man said.

Rev. Donna Schaper said, "This University distinguished itself by keeping inferior people. We do know that Mary is more radical than most people, but middle-of-the-road people get away with doing middle of the road things."

Laura Gallant, a member of the Student Center for Educatonal Research and Advocacy (SCERA), said she attended the hearing to find "some guarantee that there will be a just and open discussion of what's going on," and that the discussion would not be "caught up in the Whitmore shuffle."

UMass dancers acclaimed

By MICHELE DOLAN
Collegian Staff

In addition to performing overseas and across the United States, students in the University of Massachusetts dance department recently performed at the National College Dance Festival in Washington D.C.

The UMass dance department has performed in Iran, Italy, and Greece, as well as at an American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation Convention.

Last month they performed two pieces at the National College Dance Festival at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington.

UMass Dance Coordinator Andrea Watkins said that the UMass troupe had to compete in a regional festival before being eligible for selection in the national festival.

UMass decided to enter two pieces in the Northeast and New England Regional Festival this year, which was held during March in New York City. Out of 75 entries in the regional competition, nine were chosen to perform in the Regional Gala Concert. UMass was the only University to have two pieces selected.

"Out of the nine (pieces) that were chosen, two were from UMass which is pretty phenomenal," Watkins said. A total of 36 pieces were selected from four regional competitions for subsequent performances at Regional Gala Concerts across the nation. Eighteen of those pieces were chosen for the the National College Dance Festival on April 25 in Washington. UMass was again the only school to have two pieces selected.

"We honestly weren't sure that they'd do two pieces from one school," Watkins said.

Eleven students were involved in the two dances performed by UMass. Five female students performed "Through the Edge," a dramatic modern piece choreographed by Watkins. "Shout," a jazz dance involving four men and six women, was choreographed by UMass dance faculty member Richard Jones.

The UMass dance department is a member of the Five College Dance Program, which performs collectively in the Five College area.

There will be a Five College Dance Faculty Concert this Friday and Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m. in Studio 14 at Smith College, and next Friday and Saturday nights, at 8:00 p.m. in Kirby Theater at Amherst College.

Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

If you think the Collegian is useful only to line birdcages, think again. Your bird might be educating itself as this pigeon is while you amble on in ignorance. Then again, this may be proof positive that the Collegian is for the birds.

Collegian photo by Dave Deuber

Sydney and Sam, the infamous Campus Pond swans make friends with junior Marketing major Sheila McCarthey.

Clipped winged Minutemen

By DAVID MUNIZ
Collegian Correspondent

Probably the two most well - known figures on the UMass campus next to Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey and Jim Murphy are Sidney and Sam, the two swans in the campus pond.

On any given day, they can be seen paddling around the campus pond, or accepting handouts from people eager to feed them.

The two male swans were bought from a company in Rhode Island called "Mute Swans Inc." about 8 years ago. According to Jim LaRose of the Physical Plant, there used to be 11 baby swans in the campus pond before Sidney and Sam arrived. "We hatched the first group of swans ourselves, 11 in all, but dogs got some, and the winter got some, and some of them used to hide in the bushes or fly away. Sidney and Sam's wings are pinned so they won't fly away."

These two swans are "mute" swans. Mute swans are different from other North American swans in several ways in that they have an S - shaped curve to their necks, erectile wing feathers, and a knob on their bills.

"The swans could survive on the pond all winter, wherever there is unfrozen water" LaRose said. "But we take them out of the pond for the winter so that they'll be safe from the dogs that could walk out on the ice and attack them."

In the winter, the swans are sent to Tillson farm where they live in a pen with domesticated geese. There they are cared for all winter long.

"The swans are usually taken out of the pond during Thanksgiving break so students won't interfere with their capture," LaRose added. "As soon as the pond thaws, they are put back."

While the swans are in the pond, they are totally self - sufficient.

"They can take care of themselves," LaRose said. Sidney and Sam live on grass, algae, bugs. "And everyone is always feeding them popcorn, bread, and potato chips," he added.

On any sunny day, students may sit along the banks of the campus pond looking at the swans.

Female cops are underdogs

By LAURIE FISHER
Collegian Staff

Editors note: This is the first in a two part series focusing on female police officers.

The road female police officers have traveled has been long.

The reasons they have become police officers have changed and most importantly the way their colleagues and the public react to them has improved, said a University of Massachusetts woman police officer.

Mary Dumas, a 15-year veteran of the UMass police department said it has been difficult for women to merge into an occupation with little training and negative attitudes from the public.

"They gave us a badge and said see ya. We had no formal training, we were wearing an above-the-knee skirt, a hat that blew off at the slightest hint of a breeze, a shirt that exposed our midriffs whenever we moved and we had no place to put our guns," she said.

Sergeant David Grader has been on the UMass force 11 years and remembers when (not too long ago) women had a rougher road to travel.

"They always had to be one notch better and not prove themselves as officers but as women officers. Less than 10 years ago it was thought to be a male role," he said.

Previously women looked to nursing and teaching for jobs, said Gerald T. O'Neil, director of the Department of Public Safety.

"It is becoming just another option," he said. "The public is beginning to realize women are capable of police work."

Grader said, "Before women could enter the field they had to pry open the door, then after reaching a certain point about three years ago, the door opened rapidly. The hardest part is over."

Six years ago male officers had a tougher time than the public accepting women. "The pioneer women have to take a lot of credit," he said.

Mary Dumas was a pioneer. On the UMass police force since 1968, she was the first woman on patrol command in New England, and the only UMass sergeant. Currently, in addition to being vice president of the International Association for Women Police Officers, she is a staff assistant in charge of community relations/staff development at UMass.

Dumas joined the force not realizing she was breaking new ground, she said. "The hours fit my needs as a mother of three young children. It never dawned on me that there were not women involved."

The difficulties soon became apparent, she said. In 1970 when she first applied for an officer's position, the administration thought she was joking. The second time she applied, they accepted her because of seniority, she said. Although she was in the department, she could not attend the state police academy because women were not allowed to live in the barracks. As a result, her job was restricted to desk duty. The situation changed in 1972 after Dumas filed a complaint with the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination against the UMass police department.

"I've paid for being outspoken. We women need exposure, but every word we say to the press is weighed. They are looking for us to trip up," Dumas said.

In 1976 Dumas became a staff sergeant and the problems continued. A grievance was filed against Dumas and she won "not because I was the most qualified as my written exam indicated (it was 14 points higher than any other candidate) but because I was a minority candidate," she said.

Dumas said an officer working under her told her it was against his religion to work under a woman.

"Eventually the men came around but I still believe if a woman screws up she is going to get notices a whole lot sooner. She does not have to be good; she has to be better than her male colleagues," she said.

Women's Week

TUESDAY

The Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom (CERRF) will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Campus Center room 902.

Two movies dealing with the media's portrayal of woman and battering will be held at the Bangs Community Center in Amherst. The movies are being sponsored by Men Against Violence Against Women. For more information, including the time of the movies call 256-0294.

THURSDAY

The Anti-Racism Team will meet at 4 p.m. in room 801 of the Campus Center.

"Hollandia 45" a drama by Sarah Dreber will be held at 8 p.m. at the Present Stage Theatre in Northampton. The play is being presented by the Women's Community Theatre.

SATURDAY

A Jazzercise Marathon to benefit the Everywoman's Center will be held from 1-4 p.m. at the Jazzercise Studio in the Hampshire Mall.

Triathlon to be held at Hampshire

Entries are now being accepted for the first annual T. Melchionda Triathlon, to be held at Hampshire College on Sunday.

The event will begin at 10 a.m. with a 4.5 mile foot race from the Hampshire campus to the Sportsman's arena in Hadley. The second leg will be a 4.5 mile canoe or kayak paddle to Mitch's Marina on the Connecticut River, and the triathlon will finish with a 5.5 mile bicycle ride from the marina along Route 47 to Bay Road, and back to the Hampshire campus.

The triathlon is being held in commemoration of Anthony Melchionda, former director of health services at Hampshire and a staff physician at the University of Massachusetts Health Services, who died in February. Participants may enter as individuals or in teams.

Prizes will be awarded to the first three finishers, and the first 75 entrants will be given T-shirts. The triathlon will be limited to 100 entries. Entry forms are available at local sporting goods stores and at physical education buildings at each of the Five Colleges. The entry fee is $5 (free to Hampshire students). Registration will be held at Hampshire from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. on the day of the triathlon. For further information call 549-4600, ext. 536 or ext. 470.

Balloon ride awarded at Earth Day

The five winners of the Earth Day Raffle were; first prize, a balloon ride for two with Amherst Balloon Co., Jean Zimmerman; second prize, a pair of tickets for a Greenpeace Whalewatch trip, Mike Lewis; third prize, a pass to New Haven Hot Tubs, Ione Minot; fourth and fifth prizes, two pairs of passes to the Boston Museum of Science, Betsy McLinden and Howard Gabor.

Deadline to renew parking

The deadline for renewing parking assignments for the 1983-84 academic year is Friday, May 13, 1983. Anyone submitting an application after that date will be assigned parking after all renewals and the waiting list applicants have been processed and will be treated as new applicants.

Smith library forgives all

Students may return books to the Smith College Neilson Library without penalty today through Saturday only.

Collegian

APPLICATIONS are now being accepted for the following Fall 1983 positions:

Associate Managing Editors (5), Associate Executive Editor, Associate Sports Editor, Associate News Editors (2), Associate Arts Editor, Associate Women's Editor, Associate Black Affairs Editor, Associate Photo Editor, Assistant Photo Editors (4), Day News Editors (3), Copy Editors (5), Layout Technicians (5), Librarian, Drivers, Training Coordinator, Cable News Coordinator

Applications will be accepted until May 18

Apply in person to Rm. 113 Campus Center

The Collegian is an Equal Opportunity Employer

Attention — All National Student Exchange Students:

Don't forget about the "Farewell Get-Together" at The Pub on Tuesday, May 10, 1983 from 6:00 pm -9:00 pm!

Come on down, relax, and have a good time. See 'ya there!

Marjon Hair Design Inc

GOODBYE WINTER... HELLO SPRING!

Hair will remain short this season, color and volume very important

Highlights, lowlights bobs root perms these are just the start Call us now at

MARJON HAIR DESIGN

"We are a cut above the rest"

Hyper-Marche Mall
Rt 9 Hadley, MA

586-4551

The People's Gay Alliance presents a

Lesbian/Gay May

THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
May 12, 1983	May 13, 1983	May 14, 1983
2:30 - David Scondras BOSTON CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE	2:30 - Keren Guida David Gearhart on LESBIAN/GAY LEGISLATIONEFFORTS plus workshops all day and DANCE 9-2:00 10th floor CC Admission $2.	Lesbian/Gay Liberation March Northampton, MA start: 1:00 PM Location: Pulaski Park Northampton
7:30 - Dr. James Abel on Gay Health Issues CC 905-09

AmHerst CINEMA
$2.50 Double Feature
Sunday - Tuesday
Citizen Kane 7:00
Magnificent Ambersons 9:00
Wednesday - Sat.
MASH 7:00
Nashville 9:00
Downtown Amherst
253-5426

Whole Wheat Pizza Factory
363 Main St. Amherst
256-8587
Soap Opera Special
11:30 am - 7 pm
Small 2 item pizza
Only $4.00

Resume Paper & Matching Envelopes at A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

Visiting prof exposes Hemingway's FBI file

By TURA GUDMUNSSON
Collegian Staff

A visiting professor to the University of Massachusetts' English and Comparative Literature departments received national media attention recently when he discovered the FBI file on Ernest Hemingway while researching his biography of the famous author.

Jeffrey Meyers, who has been at UMass for the past year, said, "The FBI tried to destroy Hemingway because he got in their way."

Federal authorities "increased Hemingway's fears and mental breakdown," by spying on him, "and therefore contributed in some way that can't be measured to his suicide," in 1961, Meyers said.

"They feared him because he was famous and he was a supporter of the anti-Franco forces in the Spanish Civil War (in the 1930's), while the United States supported Franco," Meyers said.

The FBI files revealed that the State Department asked Hemingway to set up a spy network against fascist and pro-Nazi elements in Cuba while he was living in Cuba during World War II, Meyers said. The FBI, which received Hemingway's reports through the State Department, claimed his information was worthless and eventually turned against him, Meyers said.

Meyers, a specialist in literary criticism and biographical writing, has written extensively on novelists George Orwell, D. H. Lawrence, and Katherine Mansfield, and has won a Guggenheim fellowship for his work.

"His (Hemingway's) life is very likely the most interesting of any American writer of this century," he said, explaining why he chose to study Hemingway's life.

The last Hemingway biography, written in 1969, was "an official and dull one," Meyers said.

A good biography "should show patterns and meanings and not just be a conglomeration of facts," Meyers said.

Biographical writing is never like fiction writing, Meyers said.

"You have to use your imagination to understand how that other person would think and act," he said.

Since his graduation from the University of California at Berkeley in 1965, Meyers has taught at universities in Japan and England and is a faculty member at Colorado State University.

UMass appealed to Meyers because of it's proximity to the Kennedy Library in Boston, which has one of the largest collections of Hemingway papers. Also, many former friends of Hemingway's that Meyers wanted to interview live on the northeast coast, he said.

Meyers, who has written 20 books and 200 articles in the past 18 years, said most books do not sell more than a few thousand copies, and sometimes a writer might spend more money writing the book than he will eventually earn on it, with copying, mailing and travelling costs, and time a writer spends writing and researching.

The American Council of Learned Societies granted Meyers $15,000 to finish Hemingway's biography.

Collegian photo by Steve Gallowar

One is never too old to enjoy the simple pleasures of a backyard wading pool as some UMass students found out Saturday during the Orchard Hill/Central concerts.

Dyslexia may be hereditary

By BRIAN FITZ MAURICE
Collegian Staff

New neurological studies suggest dyslexia may be hereditary, according to Dr. Albert Galaburda, assistant professor of Neurology at Harvard Medical School, who was a guest speaker of the Dyslexic Student Organization Friday night in the Campus Center at the University of Massachusetts.

Speaking to an audience of approximately 30 students, administrators, faculty, and concerned parents, Galaburda said that preliminary studies suggest a strong genetic link between the 15th chromosome and the underdevelopment of the language area, or left hemisphere, of the dyslexic's brain.

In related studies of brains of fetuses and the brains of diagnosed dyslexics, Galaburda and associates were able to link the unique structure present in the left side of the dyslexic's brain with that of the developing stages in fetus' brain, he said.

The "neurological migration" of cells necessary in the early development of the brain seems to have been halted or not completed in the area of dyslexics' brains thought to be responsible for language, Galaburda said.

The dyslexic's brain has compensated for the underdevelopment of the language side of the brain with stronger development in other areas, he said.

Almost 10 percent of the U.S. population is likely to have dyslexia, Galaburda said.

"Dyslexia is an artifact of the literate society, and it should be obvious that if it is so common, this formation of the brain must have some advantage," Galaburda said.

Galaburda concluded by saying that since we are dealing with an inefficient system in the language side of the dyslexic brain, it will take them longer to learn and demand "a great deal more compensation" to grasp basic language skills.

He suggested that the education of these otherwise normally intelligent, "if not gifted" children should focus on areas in which they might have a strong talent and may miss discovering.

"Dyslexia is a specific problem with learning under the present methods of education. It is not a learning disability, because learning from the world is more than learning basic language skills," he said.

EPA official to give speech

By PAUL BASKEN
Collegian Staff

The "whistleblower" whose inside testimony has fueled several congressional investigations into the Environmental Protection Agency will speak tonight at the University of Massachusetts.

Hugh Kaufman, assistant director of the Hazardous Site Control Division of the EPA in Washington, will speak on the nation's "Great Toxic Waste Scandal."

An engineer by training, Kaufman has been with the EPA since it was formed under the Nixon Administration in 1971. He is one of the authors of the federal Superfund legislation passed by Congress to clean up and control the many toxic waste dumps in the nation.

Kaufman was at the center of controversy when administrator Anne Burford and 13 other EPA officials resigned this year following allegations of mismanagement and political misuse of the fund which he claimed could be traced to the White House.

Although Kaufman has been outspoken against the Reagan Administration's environmental policies, he said he was "at least as critical of the Carter Administration in not enforcing the hazardous waste laws." In 1978, Kaufman testified to congressional committees concerning toxic waste poisoning in Love Canal, N.Y., leading the federal government to eventually buy out homeowners in the contaminated area.

Last year Kaufman came under investigation by the EPA's Inspector General's Office in what he termed an attempt by officials "to harass me" as a result of his congressional testimony.

Kaufman, whose appearance is being sponsored by the Distinguished Visitors Program, will speak at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Admission is free.

BUDGET TRAVEL SAVERS

PARIS • LONDON AMSTERDAM

	one way	round trip
Amsterdam	from $209	$418
London	from $212	$410
Paris	from $249	$479

CIEE • COUNCIL TRAVEL
(617) 497-1497
1278 Mass. Ave., Harvard Square, Cambridge, MA

ENGINEERING STUDENTS

If you're a senior or second semester junior and have a 2.5 GPA in electrical engineering, you might qualify for the Air Force College Senior Engineering program (CSEP). CSEP members are paid nearly $1,000 per month during their senior year! Your commitment is 4 years as a commissioned officer on the Air Force Aerospace Engineering Team after graduation and completion of the three month Officer Training School. If you want to be part of the leading edge of technology. . . .

CHECK US OUT!!!
call Technical Sergeant Art Courtmanche at 413-785-0352

AIR FORCE
A great way of life.

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert by
CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA and Victor
BORGE
Conducting, playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Open 24 Hours–7 am Mon. thru Sat. Midnite–Sunday 12 Noon to 6 pm
in Hadley-Amherst and Pittsfield stores.

STOP & SHOP

MORE WAYS TO SAVE!

DOUBLE COUPON SAVINGS On Manufacturers' Coupons
Manufacturers' Coupons are more valuable at Stop & Shop because we double your savings. Details in store.

EVERYDAY LOW PRICES!
You'll find them all over the store. Plus hundreds of Warehouse Values.

HUNDREDS OF SPECIALS IN OUR CIRCULAR!
Including valuable Stop & Shop Coupons. Check out every page of the circular. It can save you dollars more. Pick one up in the store.

3 DELICIOUS MAIN-MEAL MAKERS AT ONE SPECIAL STOP & SHOP PRICE:

MASTER SMOKED PORK SHOULDER Colonial Picnic, Water Added 99¢ lb
U.S. GRADE A TURKEY BREAST 4-7 Pounds Frozen 99¢ lb
WHOLE CHICKEN BREAST White Gem or Perdue. White Gem Split Breast 4-5 lb pkg 99¢ lb

TREAT YOURSELF TO OUR FRESH GENUINE SPRING LAMB SPECIAL!
Tender and terrific tasting.
Shoulder Lamb Chops Fresh Lean Spring Lamb $1.99
Rib Lamb Chops Fresh American Spring Lamb $3.59
Loin Lamb Chops Fresh American Spring Lamb $4.59
Fresh Lamb Breast or Lamb for Stewing, Bone-in $1.69
Whole Lamb Legs Fresh American Spring Lamb $2.19

ONE NAME SAYS HIGH QUALITY AT LOW PRICE.
Bell White Gem
'White Gem' 4-5 lb pkg Chicken Legs . . . . lb .59
Chicken Leg Quarters White Gem With Back Attached 4-5 lb Pkg lb .49
Chicken Thighs White Gem 4-5 lb. Pkg lb .79
Chicken Drumsticks White Gem 4-5 lb. Pkg lb .89
Boneless Breasts White Gem Chicken Skinless lb 2.39
Chicken Legs Perdue 4-5 lb Pkg lb .69
Chicken Wings Perdue 4-5 lb Pkg lb .69
Boneless Breasts Perdue Chicken Skinless lb 2.49

WE GUARANTEE YOU'LL ENJOY IT EVERY TIME.
Otherwise, you'll get your money back. That's a promise from Stop & Shop.
USDA CHOICE
Shoulder Steak Cut London Broil USDA Choice Beef Chuck lb 1.99
Chuck Steak USDA Choice Boneless Beef Chuck lb 1.99
Boneless Blade Steak USDA Choice Beef Chuck lb 2.39
Cube Steak USDA Choice Beef Chuck lb 2.49
Rump Roast USDA Choice Beef Round Bottom Round lb 2.09
Eye Round Roast USDA Choice Beef Round lb 2.69
Lean Stewing Beef USDA Choice Beef Chuck lb 1.99
Corned Beef Brisket Plate Cuts lb 1.19
Corned Beef Brisket Flat Cuts lb 1.99

FRESH SEAFOOD SPECIALS!
Free seafood recipes in our store
Fresh Steamer Clams Tender Clams In The Shell $1.19
Fresh Haddock Fillets Scrod lb 2.49
Fresh Rainbow Trout Dressed Headless lb 2.79

THE BEST DELI FOODS IN TOWN Corner Deli
Available in stores with a service deli
Honey Cured Ham Wilson Continental $2.99
Frankfurters "Maple Leaf" Natural Casing $1.99

BIG NAMES! BIG VARIETY! BIG SAVINGS! SAVE ON ITEMS YOU USE EVERY DAY!

Hills Bros Coffee 1 lb Can Regular Grind 1.99
Pepsi Cola 2 Liter Reg or Diet Pepsi-Free, Reg or Diet Pepsi Light or Mountain Dew. 67¢ Dr Btl. Plus Deposit 1.19
La Rosa Pasta 16 Oz Pkg. Regular or Thin Spaghetti, Elbow Macaroni or Rotini .55
Sliced Peaches Stop & Shop Yellow Cling In Syrup 29 Oz Can .69
Wise Potato Chips 7 Ounce Bag .99
Sun Giant Raisins 15 Ounce Package 1.19
Solid White Tuna Chicken of the Sea 6½ Can In Water 1.09
Tomato Soup Stop & Shop 10½ Oz Can 4 for .89
Vanity Fair Towels 100 2 Ply Roll Print .59
Purina Cat Food 6½ Oz Can Asst'd Varieties 3 for .89
Shield Soap 3½ Oz Bar Ass'd Scents Deodorant 2 for 1
Toothpaste Stop & Shop 7 Oz Reg or Mint Gel 6.4 Oz Tube 99
Pert Shampoo 7 ounce bottle 1.29

SAVE ON FINE FROZEN FOODS:
Minute Maid Orange Juice 16 Oz Can Frozen Regular or More Pulp 1.39
Broccoli Spears Stop & Shop 10 Oz Pkg Frozen 2 for 1
Cheese Pizza Stop & Shop Nine Serving 24 Oz Pkg Frozen 1.99
Ice Cream Stop & Shop ½ Gallon Carton Assorted Flavors Frozen 1.59

SAVE ON FRESH BAKED GOODS:
Raisin Bread Stop & Shop 16 Oz Loaf .99
Drakes Value Pack Pkg of 10 Yankees 11½ Oz Pkg Coffee Cake Jrs. 17 Oz Pkg or Devil Dogs 13.4 Oz Pkg 1.99

SAVE ON FRESH DAIRY FOODS:
1% Low Fat Milk Stop & Shop Great Shape ½ Gallon Carton .89
Hood Orange Juice ½ Gallon Jug From Concentrate 1.29
LeShake Yogurt 6 Oz Cup Ass'd Flavors 3 for 1
Cottage Cheese Stop & Shop 24 Oz Cup Small or Large Curd or Low Fat 1.29

THE FRESHEST SALADS START AT A STOP & SHOP SALAD SALE.
CUCUMBERS Fresh and crisp 4 FOR $1
TOMATOES Fresh ripe for slicing 69¢ lb

LARGE BUNCH FRESH GREEN BROCCOLI
Counting calories? Serve cooked broccoli with a squeeze of lemon juice. Try some and enjoy! 79¢
Fresh Spinach Pick Your Own lb .59
Walden Farms Dressing ½ Oz Jar Thousand Island Italian Blue Cheese or Creamy French 1.19

FRESH FRUITS FROM OTHER LANDS! RED EMPEROR GRAPES Sweet and delicious. Pick your own bunch 79¢ lb
Black Ribier Grapes Imported From Chile lb .89
Granny Smith Apples Imported From Australia lb .69
Bosc Pears Imported From New Zealand lb .89
Passion Fruit Imported From New Zealand 2 for $1
Feijoas Imported From New Zealand 2 for $1
Tamarillos Imported From New Zealand 2 for $1

STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON — FREE! Scotties Facial Tissues 2 Ply Package of 200 White or Paste! C
STOP & SHOP FROZEN COUPON — FREE! Sun Glory Orange Juice 6 Ounce can Frozen C
STOP & SHOP DAIRY COUPON — FREE! La Shake Yogurt 6 oz cup Ass'd Flavors C
STOP & SHOP GROCERY COUPON — FREE! RC Cola, RC 100 or Diet Rite Cola 2 Liter Bottle Plus Deposit C
With this coupon and $7.50 purchase. Good Sun. May 8 thru Sat. May 14, 1983. Limit one per customer.

STOP & SHOP

IT'S TIME TO STOP & SHOP.

Prices effective Sun. May 8 Sat. May 14. In fairness to our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to more packages of any items offered for sale. Not available in case lots or to other dealers or wholesalers. Copyright 1983 by Stop & Shop Supermarkets. Not responsible for typographical errors.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

Anti-semitism is unconscionable

Morris H. Wheeler

The printing of any anti-Semitic comments under the guise of responsible journalism is always objectionable. Statements made in a "Commentary" by R. C. Oneal in the May 6 edition of the Collegian go far beyond objectionable.

Ms. Oneal states that "Hitler was Jewish and tried to extinguish the Jews for his own idealism." She makes no attempt to distance herself from this opinion, it would seem that she supports the extinction of Jews for idealism. Not since an anti-Semitic document stating that there existed a Jewish plot to take over the world through invoking economic collapse have the editors of a responsible publication allowed such venomously anti-Semitic lies to be propagated. It is ironic that the above mentioned document, the Protocols of the Elders of Zion, is being used to "educate" students in Alberta, Canada according to a recent Boston Globe news item. Anti-semitism is too prevalent in all parts of the world.

It pains me deeply to think that in our enlightened society anyone could be so ignorant of the truth. HITLER WAS NOT A JEW! The myth that he was Jewish was constructed by anti-Semites to shift the blame for the Holocaust onto the shoulders of the Jews. It is not a new thought, it has existed in anti-Semitic pamphlets for years.

I can see how this got past the editors of the Collegian. When I went to the Collegian office to protest the printing of this myth, a group of Collegian editors told me that I should be not upset since it is true.

The Collegian has a responsibility to educate the community on issues of social and cultural awareness. Their staff room is a good place to start.

The myth that Hitler was Jewish probably arose out of uncertainty surrounding the identity of Hitler's paternal grandfather. According to biographer Alan Bullock in his book Hitler: A Study in Tyranny, Hitler's father was the illegitimate son of a non-Jewish woman. The man who married her to legitimatize her son may have been Hitler's grandfather. He also may have been Jewish. Of those two things nobody is certain. Two things are certain. 1) To be a Jew you must either be born Jewish or convert. 2) To be born Jewish your mother must be Jewish. Hitler's parents were not Jewish. Hitler never converted to Judaism. Even if his paternal grandfather was Jewish this would not make Hitler a Jew. Clearly, the myth is a patent lie.

R. C. Oneal proceeds from a lie to this biased opinion: "The systematic destruction of 6 million Jews was an act of idealism." I truly hope that Ms. Oneal did not understand what she was saying; the concept that the extermination of human beings can be idealistic is as perverse as it is reprehensible to any intelligent person. That the Collegian would print this assertion implies their tacit approval, making them as guilty of spreading anti-Semitism as the article's author.

Ms. Oneal has argued that she can not be anti-Semitic since she supports the Jews' Semitic brothers, the Palestinians. This is hairsplitting of the worst kind. Hiding behind semantics does not lessen the anti-Jewish sentiment apparent in her writing. I defend anyone's right to freedom of speech on political matters. However I find the promulgation of prejudice through free speech abhorant. I invite Ms. Oneal to disprove claims of her anti-Semitic bias by writing a full retraction and apology for the article's anti-Semitic statements.

This printing of prejudicial comments by the Collegian shows a gross disregard for their commitment to responsible community service. I think an apology to the entire community for this outrage is in order.

Morris H. Wheeler is a UMass student

Stay off grass here at UMass

Gary Nedorostek

There's a problem on the University of Massachusetts campus and you are probably part of it. The problem is a lack of concern for campus grounds. Whether intentionally or unintentionally, people are causing sometimes irreparable damage to the UMass campus.

A minority of the student population can be blamed for part of the problem. The lack of concern they have comes out through intentional habits in the form of vandalism to the campus grounds. One example is the damage resulting from unlawful use of motor vehicles on grassed areas. Even though the students may have wrecked the grassed areas at times which can be related to drinking, a lack of feelings for the campus grounds is still evident. Another example is the lack of concern for plant material on campus. This is a recurring problem which happens especially over weekends. Students have been known to pull young trees and shrubs out of the ground. This destruction occurs because of the lack of respect they have for property they don't own. One other example to consider is the students who display feelings by writing on walls. Eventually, all that is written will vanish under a new coat of paint and the problem will temporarily be solved. But when students extend their writing habits to campus trees the problem becomes permanent. By carving into the bark, the tree is aesthetically ruined and weakened to a point which could be detrimental.

Obviously we are dealing with a small minority of the student population. People usually mature and outgrow this attitude because there comes a time when causing trouble isn't fun anymore. But does their concern for the campus change? Not necessarily.

There is a greater number of students who demonstrate their lack of feelings and concerns through unintentional habits such as parking on campus. A problem in itself, campus parking becomes damaging when people park on grassed areas. It is important that people recognize the problem they are creating. Soil compaction, which in turn causes the grass to die, may seem to be a small problem, but if it happens constantly and in various places it becomes costly and time-consuming to replant worn out areas every year.

However, the lack of concern that the mass of the student population is involved with becomes apparent through unintentional "people pressure." A lot of students don't use designated sidewalks. Why? Maybe it takes too long to walk around. Or maybe short cuts are easier and faster. Or is it because it doesn't matter if you walk on the grass or shrubbery?

This last reason is basically why the campus grounds, especially during spring, are deteriorating. The muddy path systems, which cut straight lines through campus, are proof of continuous lack of respect and feelings for the campus. People don't realize that when they use these paths they are causing soil compaction. Many of the paths cut over the roots of trees and can seriously damage the trees if the compactions gets serious enough. This is an extremely high price to pay for a short cut that saves very little time.

Even more importantly, the decline and mortality of trees, directly related to "people pressure," is increasing. This increase is becoming so prominent, not only on campus but in the entire country, that particular tree species are dying off, never to thrive in their native environment again.

The decline of campus grounds cannot be blamed solely on the attitude of students. Because there are so many people in this limited area, the environment has to be altered for the masses. However, people must realize misuse and mistreatment, no matter if it is intentional or unintentional, to our environment, is detrimental. Unless we can change the way people feel towards their surrounding environment, "people pressure" will increase with the population.

Hopefully there won't be any need to place signs on weakened trees, like this one near Goodell Library that says:

ATTENTION
This is the FIRST and OLDEST JAPANESE ELM in the country.
IT'S DYING
Because people walk across it's roots all the time.
HELP US SAVE IT – DON'T WALK HERE.

Gary Nedorostek is a UMass student

Letters

Here's to a new Old Glory

To the Editor:

I would like to raise an issue which has not been mentioned in your newspaper, an issue which does not readily come to mind, and an issue which few philosophers have pondered during the past decade(s). However, it is often seen, sometimes revered, infrequently payed tribute, but somehow ever present. I would like to mention the state of the American flag which diligently waves above the horseshoe drive to the east of the Whitmore Administration building.

One day while walking from Central to the concrete wilderlands of Southwest, I halted in my journey to pause and look up at a tattered banner. It was an American flag, I think. It had stripes. I stood there and counted the stars to see from which era in the history of these United States it did hail. Fourty-eight. Fourty-nine. Well, I'll be...Fifty stars. Even with the ominous blue band below the field of well coordinated stars. How could this flag have fifty stars? It looks like its been through WWII, the big one, and the Great War, to boot. Regardless, its condition was less than plausible. On a scale from one to ten, its shape was dismal.

Who's to blame for the condition of the nation's standard? Probably Old Man New England Winters, plural emphasised. Who's to blame for not replacing the flag or seeing to its care? Probably an oversight. It's too common, too continuous in its state of being to be the subject of anyone's agenda.

This problem may not seem as big as one may think. It may not be as big as the oppression of Soviet Jews, Cuban troops in Angola, Russian troops in Afghanistan, or American advisors in El Salvador. The issue may not be as grandiose as the state of the economy, or the terrible dimensions of our national unemployment situation. The flag issue may not be as important as the political infighting, backstabbing, and name calling to be found in the membership of the Student Government Association. Yet, it is an issue, and an issue which deserves attention. Attention which will be of little significant expense for an administration steeped in bureaucracy.

If all the red tape and all the stars which have been disenfranchised in recognition of academic excellence were combined, add some blue, perhaps murky blue, from the campus pond, we could construct a flag big enough to cover the tower library and prevent pieces of the structure from falling on passers-by. Barring this, I think enough resources could be pooled together to acquire a new flag to endear the flagpole outside of Whitmore.

A point to ponder. An issue to reflect on. A correctable problem to correct. An issue which is not blames on anyone in particular, because of its lack of controversy and its propensity to wave unendingly. An issue which should be considered, especially in the setting of a state school. An issue to pity those who do not regard the flag, the symbol of a nation which affords so much to so many, realizing both sides of this coin, with respect. An issue which without ceremony may be set right.

Hey, Whitmore! If you can't muster enough incentive to string up a new '83 old glory, then I'll be happy to lend you my '82 until you do.

Timmi Rudolph
Chadbourne Hall

Sound off with your letters to the editor!!

Now renting —
Squire Village Apts for September 1983

106 luxurious apartments on 10 acres of land, on the bus line, only minutes from campus. Oversized apartments: 2 bedroom, 1½ baths townhouses over 1100 sq. ft. Also, we have 1 and 2 bedroom garden apartments and 3 and 4 bedroom townhouses. Every apartment has carpeting, stove, refrigerator, disposal and air conditioner. Owner supplies hot water. Laundry facilities, concrete pool and playground on site.

We are looking for serious students who look for quality where they live. Squire Village is not the cheapest apartment, just the best! Rent one before you leave for the summer. Don't wait until it is too late.
665-2203

SQUIRE VILLAGE APARTMENTS
ROUTE 116
SUNDERLAND, MASSACHUSETTS, 01375

SPRING FASHIONS

Save $10.00 Off of regular prices
When you Buy all 3 pieces

Open M-F 9— 5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

MEN AT WORK,

PLUS MANY OTHER FAVORITES ON sale THIS WEEK ONLY!

$5.99 MOST ALBUMS!

Union Records unl.

The Student Run Record Store

The Great Toxic Scandal

HUGH KAUFMAN

Instrumental in uncovering wrong doings in Reagan E.P.A.

"If a foreign agent wanted to poison the American people, he wouldn't change U.S. hazardous waste policies one iota"

STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
Monday May 9, 1983
8:00 p.m.

DVP DVP

Arts

Collegian photo by Chris Jungmann

The UMass Music Theatre Guild's production of Hair reaches for the sky last week at Orchard Hill.

Skip the creme rinse

HAIR
UMass Music Theatre Guild
Orchard Hill B-Ball Court

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

To review the production of Hair that the UMass Music Theater Guild has graciously presented to us free of charge at the Orchard Hill Basketball Courts, one needed only listen to the applause of the crowds.

"Okay," you might be saying to yourself, "it was free but was it good?" (Read on and see).

There are a couple of types of applause. One is half-baked applause that is offered when something isn't very good but you feel obligated to clap. Another type of applause is well-meaning noise created in appreciation for a good performance.

Another type of response (please, sticklers for details, we know there are other types too, like hecklers, but leave this story alone) is one of delight, one that lets you know that the audience was entertained. Hair received that type of applause.

Hair is funny. Hair is serious. Hair has a message. Hair let's you not pay attention and still feel like you understand.

Hair was something different to just about everyone who watched it.

Or, stated a little more simplistically (big word, huh?), Hair was an excellent show to watch in an outdoor environment.

The cast itself emerged from performances of UMass Madness in the Dining Commons to put forth a much more professional performance with Hair. The actors were lively and energetic in one moment and graceful and quiet the next, providing a perfect forefront for a great performance from the band.

The band? You bet. This wasn't some chintzy little high school production. They had a live band playing the music. And not just a regular band either. These guys were good. So, even if you weren't into the show itself, you still got to listen to some very good rock.

You might be wondering to yourself right now, "Why is someone praising something so much?"

I was one of the people who clapped and screamed and whistled at Hair last week. I was entertained.

And it was free. I could afford it.

U2: a new sound that isn't "new music".

Bono breaks through

U2
Thursday, May 5
Orpheum Theater, Boston

By RICHARD NANGLE
Collegian Staff

"What can I say?" said Bono Hewson to the sell out crowd at the Orpheum Thursday night.

The crowd was roaring with approval as lead singer Bono and U2 had just ripped through their best song ("Gloria"), "I Threw a Brick Through a Window," "A Day Without Me," and "Seconds."

There's something special about U2 that makes them perhaps the best contemporary touring band. Maybe it's the exuberance, not to mention great singing talent of born-again Christian Bono. Or it could be the sharp notes from The Edge's piano when he's not playing guitar.

"There's been a lot of talk about new music and old music," Bono told the audience after climbing through the Opera boxes of the Orpheum during "Electric Co." "I want to stop that talk right now. This is not a new music group. We play U2 music."

Well, I don't think anyone believed him. No one could have sounded like U2 ten years ago. They are definitely a new music band who have been fortunate enough to avoid being placed into any specific category for the simple reason that they have no peers.

To show his appreciation to Boston, one of the places where U2 has been most successful, Bono stood at the edge of the stage and let himself fall into the audience. Although dressed like punks, that would be the extent of the U2 stage dives.

U2 only went through an 18 song set and part of the reason for that must have been because Bono began to lose his voice halfway through the show.

He was having trouble reaching the high notes in "Twilight" and although the last song of the set "Out of Control" was outstanding, the encores were anticlimactic.

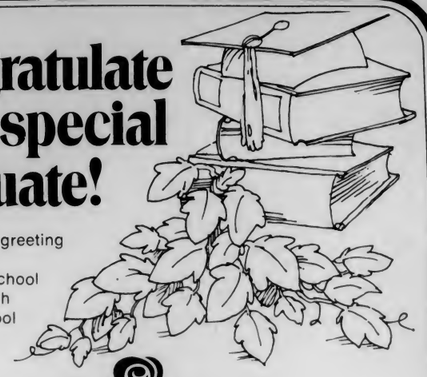
The songs were pretty evenly distributed from U2's three albums including a sprinkling of b-sides, as U2 has a great deal of good material from which to draw upon.

Right now, U2 is all over the place playing outdoor shows for colleges and cozy places like the Orpheum. Therefore, you would tend to believe the rumor that UPC and U2 connected for a great Pond Series Weekend. But nooo! Once again UPC proved itself "unable" to meet the needs of the students. You'll most likely not be pleased when you do find out who is coming this weekend.

But don't let UPC's alleged "talent hunt" get you down. U2 is playing June 28 at the Worcester Centrum. Tickets go on sale tomorrow. It will be interesting to see if they can fill the place with enthusiastic fans.

Robin Lane "hams it up" along with her band the Shake as a part of Orchard Hill Day last Saturday. Collegian photo by Drew Ogier

Congratulate your special graduate!



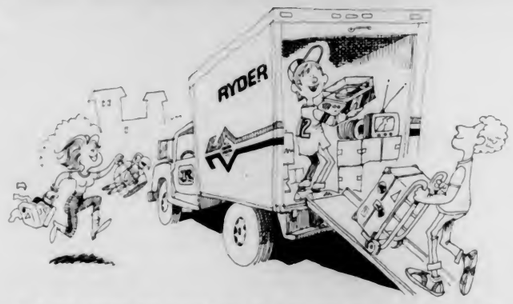
Graduation greeting cards for
- Primary School
- Junior High
- High School
- College

AMERICAN GREETINGS
...for that special person

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Move Yourself, Ail Your Stuff, And Save, Too!



It's as easy as renting a Ryder truck, one way.

Compare costs before you make plans for moving at the end of the semester.

If you're 18 or older and have a valid driver's license, you can use a Ryder truck, rent-it-here, leave-it-there. Load up your stereo, 10-speed, clothes; everything. You'll still have room, no doubt, for one or two friends with their things to share the cost.

Compare that to the price of a plane ticket. Or even a bus. Plus shipping.

Rent a newer truck from the best-maintained, most dependable fleet in the world - Ryder. The best truck money can rent.

WE'LL BE ON CAMPUS

to show you how easy it is to move yourself RIGHT.

We'll gladly quote you rates and answer your questions. Come see us.

RYDER TRUCK RENTAL

SAVE!!! 10% on your next Truck Rental inquire at the Collegian for your student discount card.

- For Reservation Information call -

253-5843	549-0010	586-6364
College St. Arco	No. Amherst Motors	Ricks Auto Repair & Rental
260 College St.	40 Montague Rd.	442 Elm St.
Amherst, Mass.	No. Amherst, Mass.	Northampton, Mass.

Hypercurricula

BOARD OF GOVERNORS HIRING — The CC/SU Board of Governors is accepting applications for their eleven paid coordinator positions. Applications are available in 817 CC. Due May 12.

UMASS HUNGER TASK FORCE MEETING — End of semester wrap-up and evaluation. 4 p.m., 428 Student Union.

AMERICAN INDIAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION MEETING — Organizational meeting for all people interested in Amercian Indian Issues. 5:30 p.m., first floor Melville House Lounge.

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION MEETING — Voting tonight for officers for next semester. Everyone is welcome! For more information, call 546-4789. 6 p.m., Room 905 CC.

WOMEN'S ISSUES TEAM MEETING — Join us to evaluate the semester and make summer plans. We will have wine and cheese. 6:30 p.m., CC 802.

STATE STUDENT ASSOCIATION MEETING (SSAM) — Tuition hikes - financial aid cutbacks . . . it affects you!!! Want to make a change? Come to the SSAM meeting. Help us to help you. 7 p.m., CC Rm. 917.

WHEELER GALLERY — OPENING RECEPTION — "Growing Pains" works by Lesli Palladino. All are welcome. 7:30 - 10 p.m., B7 Wheeler Dorm.

"RUSSIAN CALENDAR HOLIDAYS AS A CYCLE" — Talk by folklorist and musicologist Dr. Margarita Mazo. 7: 30 p.m., Herter 601.

MASS PTB WOMEN'S BIBLE STUDY — All women are invited to come and study with us in an informal setting the life and teachings of Jesus Christ as described in the Bible. 8 p.m., CC Rm 901.

SPRING CONCERT: UNIVERSITY WIND ENSEMBLE AND SYMPHONY BAND — conducted by Malcolm W. Rowell, Jr. A free concert of wind works with guests: Laura Klock, professor of horns at UMass, Roger Behrend, euphonium soloist with the U.S Coast Guard Band, and conductor Larry Rachleff of the University of Connecticut. 8 p.m., Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

BACKGAMMON TOURNAMENT — All players welcome, big cash prizes, two-dollar entry fee. 9 p.m., The Pub.

College Pro Painters
Recruiting on campus Monday May 9, 1983
For more info
go to c.c.rm. 902 from 11:30 - 5:00

Annual Rope Pull
across campus pond
Postponed until MAY 13th
12:00 noon - 5 pm
sign up
Campus Center Concourse Table
Tues April 19 Thru Thurs April 21
Hours 10 - 4

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST
SPECIAL ATTRACTION
A Benefit Pops Concert
by

CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
and
Victor
BORGE
Conducting, playing and having fun
Wednesday, May 11 8 PM
Tickets $15, 13, 11 - On Sale Now
(UMass, Hamp, Smith, MHC - ½ price)
Box Office: Noon to 4 p.m.
(413) 545-2511 Mastercard/Visa Accepted
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Bloom County — By Berke Breathed

The UMass Zone — By Mark Rollins

Katfood — By ARK

Scrod — By Dan DeBellis

After the Fall — By R. Miller

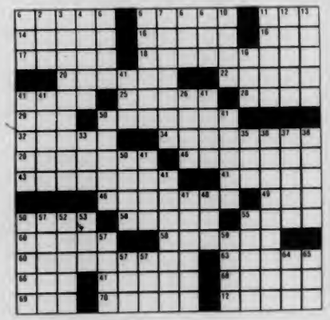
CROSSWORD

Edited by Margaret Farrar and Trude Jaffe

© 1983 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ACROSS
1 March saint, for short
6 Achieve success
11 One kind of station
14 Betel palm
15 River into the Orinoco
16 Yorkshire river
17 Strength
18 Kind of pudding
20 Exploits
22 English royal house
23 Prohibitionists
25 Quadrupeds
28 Small street, in London
29 Inexperienced
30 Falls
32 "—— lovely as a tree."
34 Significances
39 More temperamental
42 Like some handwritings
43 Law ——
45 Electricity
46 Said to be golden
49 —— alai
50 Facial feature
54 "Tippecanoe" and —— too"
55 Certain rays
56 Pass on
58 Think ——
60 Currently
63 Dinsmore of fiction
66 Give, to Burn
67 Swaying
68 Choose
69 Owns
70 Hair job
71 Recipient of a type

DOWN
1 Penrod's chum
2 Prefix with sect
3 Mama of TV fame
4 Heart and head
5 Makes edging
6 Most merry
7 American marsupial
8 Ermine
9 Neighbor of Tenn.
10 Siesta
11 Lead
12 Direction sign
13 Prophets
19 Be busy
21 Greek letter
23 Theatergoer's choice
24 A quick, sharp —— the door
26 Scottish uncles
27 Closing device
30 Eastern officials
31 Scissors stroke
33 Former name of Tokyo
35 Mc ventous words
36 The Garden State
37 Superl.
38 Mideast land
40 Work on a paper
41 Depend
44 Does tailoring
47 To vex
48 ——magnon man
50 Erin go ——
51 Networks
52 Wine flasks
53 Conflict
55 Beautiful: It.
57 Part of an age
59 Important person
61 Oriental title
62 Poetic dusk
64 Dry ——
65 French season



ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

WEATHER

Today, cloudy with the chance of a shower, breezy and cool with highs in the 50s. Tonight partly cloudy with lows in the 40s.

Tomorrow, more cloudiness with showers or baths. Highs near 50 or the flashcube.

D.C. MENU

LUNCH
Swiss Turkey Sandwich, Squash Bake

BASICS LUNCH
Caponata with Pocket Bread, Squash Bake

DINNER
Roast Top Round of Beef/Mushroom Sauce, Fried Shrimp Dinner/Cocktail Sauce, Tartar Sauce, Deviled Egg Cold Plate

BASICS DINNER
Garbanzo Cheese Loaf/Cheese Sauce, Fried Shrimp Dinner/Cocktail Sauce, Tartar Sauce, Deviled Egg Cold Plate

Typists wanted

Gain experience working for the largest college newspaper

Apply Room 113 Campus Center
Monday Night
6:00 p.m.

CASH PAID FOR BOOKS

bring your books to:

The Textbook Annex

May 19-21, 23-27

9:00-4:00

I.D. Required

These are some of the books we will be buying.

UNIVERSITY STORE TEXTBOOK ANNEX

Author	Title	We are paying:
Fagen	In the Beginning	$9.50
Fagen	People of the Earth	$7.50
Flinn	Engineering Materials & Their Appl.	$14.50
Foster	Programming a Microcomputer	$5.00
Fox	Sports Physiology	$11.50
Gwartney	Econ. Prob. & Public Choice crsbk	$5.00
Gwartney	Microeconomics	$8.65
Haas	Deutsch for All	$11.50
Hare	Basic programming	$8.50
Hart	Organic Chemistry: Short Case	$12.50

BUY-BACK BOOK RECEIPT

Sports

UM softball takes three; wait for playoff berth

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

They're still in the running. The University of Massachusetts softball team, after two thrilling victories over Springfield College yesterday and a split with Adelphi on Saturday, cannot be counted out in their pursuit of a playoff spot in the 1983 NCAA Tournament.

Yesterday, against the Springfield Chiefs, UMass had to count on two late inning rallies to pull off their first doubleheader sweep since April 18 in Providence.

UMass won the first game 1-0 in nine innings on a Missy Oman bases-loaded double to right. UMass came back from a 3-1 deficit in the bottom of the seventh in the second game,led by Chris Coughlin's bases loaded double to right to complete the sweep with a 4-3 win.

Against Adelphi Saturday, UMass won the opener 3 - 0, but couldn't pull off the second game, losing 1 - 0.

"This weekend we started to come into our own," said UMass head coach Elaine Sortino, whose team's record now stands at 28-10."It was a great thing to come back from being two runs down. We've been doing this all year (coming back) but we've just fallen short."

UMass did not fall short against Springfield. In the second game, the Chiefs took a 3-1 lead into the bottom of the seventh. Debbie Pickett led off for UMass, with her first hit of the game, a single to center and was followed by Allyson Rioux's single to left.

Jackie Gaw, who was awesome over the weekend, singled to left scoring Pickett,for a 3-2 Springfield lead. Missy Oman was intentionally walked to load the bases and freshman Sally Mahar hit a sacrifice fly to left, to score Rioux. Senior Chris Coughlin came up and laced the game winning double to right with two outs.

"I was just trying to hit a line drive," said Coughlin, who went two for three with a RBI. "We had to do it then."

In the first Springfield game, UMass was taken to the bottom of the ninth (softball is only seven innings) before they scored.

Rioux led off the ninth with a double to left and moved to third on Gaw's single. After Mahar was intentionally walked loading the bases, Oman smacked a double to right and UMass was a 1-0 victor.

Adelphi was just as tough on Senior Day. Pickett, Mary Ann Lombardi, Coughlin and Gaw were honored in their second to last home game. They didn't disappoint the 209 fans that showed up.

UMass got a break in the Adelphi opening when the second baseman dropped a easy Coughlin pop fly and two runs scored. UMass added another to give themselves a 3-0 margin.

In the second game, the Minutewomen bats could not get untracked. Even though Gaw went two for three, it wasn't enough and Adelphi pushed across a run in the fourth,good for a 1-0 Adelphi win.

Against Adelphi on the day, Gaw went four for five (three singles and a triple). Rioux went 2 for 6 on the day.

Lynn Stockley pitched very well on the weekend, picking up two wins and a save.

Hitting wise, Gaw was phenomenal. She went two for two, two for three, one for four and two for three. in the four games with one triple and a RBI. Rioux got a hit in every game and Beth Talbot went three for seven against Springfield (a single, double and triple).

Now it's a waiting game for UMass as they wait and see who the NCAA Northeast bid committee awards the single berth to.

"We deserve to go," said Sortino. "Our 28-10 record is more than adequate. We've proved ourselves. It's anybody's playoff."

Oman has a spectacular game in right field to yesterday making two shoestring catches, keeping the Chiefs off the basepaths.

UMass is in contention for the bid along with Rhode Island, Rutgers, and Adelphi. The bid will be awarded tonight.

The decision will be made tonight if UMass can continue on or if this weekend was a end of a super season.

If UMass is picked, they will play a best two out of three game series against a Midwest team for the right to go to the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska.

Young stars on the wrong course

By RUSS WHINNEM
Collegian Staff

It is a sad tale. A story of two men, two athletes, two pros. One found that his skyrocketing career is basically over. The other now awaits word on his own career while having his very life protected from some not so nice gentlemen. One is 20 years old, the other is 22. One is boxer Tony Ayala, the othere is Baltimore Colt quarterback Art Schlicter.

Ayala is 20 years old and the number one ranked junior middleweight contender in the world. He is also going to prison. That was decided when a jury convicted him of assaulting and raping a 30 year old woman. His sentence could carry a maximum term of 50 years.

Word is his next fight may have been for the title. Now, instead of shooting for a world championship he'll be shooting for parole. The bell that he'll hear will be the wake-up call. The hand that they'll raise will be cuffed. Twenty years old and the world at his feet. Now that's gone, poof, history. Just because Tony Ayala lost control of it all.

Sure he'll probably fight in prison. That is the one great thing he knows how to do. But how many title fights have been held in prison?

Schlicter holds the lesser of two crimes. He is a 22 year old who fell in love with gambling. Out of Ohio State and the number two pick in the college draft a year ago, he toils for the Baltimore Colts. Summer is coming and the pros will soon be thinking about training. Art Schlicter has much more on his mind.

Schlicter reportedly ran up a $159,000 debt to a certain bookie while losing nearly $400,000 total. When Schlicter realized he had dug too deep a hold, he looked for a way out. The direction in which he looked pointed to the FBI. They were more than happy to accept Schlicter's help and in an ensuing set-up grabbed four suspects.

End of problem? Not quite. For one thing, a professional quarterback who had admittedly gambled away thousands of dollars does not get a pat on the back. Not that he'll be booted from the NFL but a suspension is a possiblility. When Paul Hornung can be suspended and Willie Mays can be banned from having baseball ties, Art Schlicter can be punished.

The other thought that probably runs through Schlicter's mind is a scarier one, namely the friends, associates, etc. of the four men he helped turn in. In other words, he thinks about the mob and how they don't appreciate double crossers. That is the reason for the FBI protection.

Many believe Schlicter will not be touched because it would be too obvious. They say that the mob would rather take a $159,000 loss than a federal investigation. But would you want to chance it? Twenty-two years old and worried about his career and his life. Not a favorable position to be in.

So now the two wait and see. As has been said before, the waste of God-given talent is a tragedy. Sadly, there are now two tragedies. Tony Ayala may be through as a serious contender and while Art Schlicter's career is probably not over, how hard a penalty will he be hit with, and how long will he have to look over his shoulder every time he hears a sudden noise?

The lessons the two will learn are painful.

Sports Notices

Undergraduate students must turn in their gym clothes, towels, and locks signed out this semester to the equipment rooms (Boyden or NOPE) from where they were assigned no later than 5 p.m. Thursday, May 26. Students will be billed for items not returned through the Bursars office.

Wing clipped; but he didn't quit

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

Winners. You hear about them every day. They do spectacular things and put forth incredible bursts of drive and intensity. They are the elite, the cream of the crop, the best in their field.

But, there are times when losers can be winners too. Winning isn't everything and then again, for some people, winning can be something more than being number one.

Jeff Teeters completed a ¼ mile swim followed by a 15 mile bike ride and capped that off with a 10 mile run in 1:49.57 (that's a triathlon, folks) to be the first of a group of 18 individuals to finish the event sponsored on the University of Massachusetts by Miller Beer on Saturday.

One hour and 11 minutes later, a sophomore who didn't even know how to swim until he took a swimming class at the university last semester named Wing Chow finished up the course in 3:00.57 to wrap up the dead last position of the field.

Teeters is a winner. So is Wing.

"All I wanted to do was finish the race," said Chow on Sunday after having one day to recover from the ordeal.

And finish he did even though his body tried to keep him from his goal.

"When I started running, I got a cramp in my left leg," said Chow, "so I walked. Every time I tried to run the cramp came back."

Admittedly, Wing did not train too hard for the triathlon, a sport which is fastly gaining in popularity because of the grueling effect on the human body. (Which is the only type of body which could be tested under triathlon conditions, laboratory animals proved to be too intelligent to try such strenuous activities.)

"I only recently got up to a ¼ mile in swimming," he said, "and I didn't run very much at all."

But, the guy finished his first attempt at a triathlon. He didn't quit. He backstroked part of the swim instead of knifing through the water like some menacing shark. He hardly started breaking away in the biking segment of the race. And he walked the run. But, the bottom line remains the same, he finished.

And he'll be back. He'll cut his time under three hours. He'll eliminate the extra pain. He may not take Teeter's title away from him but, he'll be a winner again, next year. It's finishing the first one that gets you over the hump. The next one is easy.

"I'll be looking forward to it," Chow said with confidence.

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

Wing Chow uses the backstroke in the swimming phase of the triathlon competition.

Looking for a meaningful

SUMMER JOB

Massachusetts Fair Share

The country's largest statewide citizen action organization.

Has full time and summer openings for fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building to shape hazardous waste, energy, and other policies in this state. Hours 2:00 -10:00 pm, pay: $175 - $225 average per week and benefits. Will train.

Call: 586-8713,

2 PM - 10 PM

Mon - Fri for Western Mass.

For work in Boston Area call: 1-800-952-7478

JUNIORS/SENIORS

PUT YOUR DEGREE TO WORK

Whatever your degree will be, we can give you a management position (if you qualify). You'll get technical training and managerial experience. The Navy offers managerial positions in the following areas:

* AVIATION
* ELECTRONICS
* ENGINEERING
* BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION/ PURCHASING
* PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION
* SYSTEMS ANALYSIS

All positions require a superior academic record good health and th ability to pass our aptitude and physical exams. Age to 34 (federal age restriction) and U.S. citizenship is also required. Your benefits package includes 30 days vacation each year, free medical and dental coverage, low-cost life insurance and tax-free allowances. All of this, in addition to starting salary of over $17,800. If you're interested in gaining managerial and technical responsibilty fast, call collect:

Navy Management Programs

(518) 462-6119

IMPROVE STUDY HABITS
IMPROVE SPORTS ABILITY
HYPNOSIS CAN HELP YOU MAKE IT PERMANENT
Many of our clients are doctor referrals.
OVERCOME ANXIETIES, FEARS & PHOBIAS
Lose Weight• Stop Smoking • Insomnia • Nail Biting
Self Confidence • Sexual Problems •
HAMPSHIRE ETHICAL HYPNOSIS CENTER
Milton H. Askinoss, Member A.A.E.H.
Available Lecture Demonstrations
Call or Write for Free Brochure
The Farrick Building, Rte. 9, Hadley, Ma.
3/10 mile Hampshire Mall (next to Rocky's Hardware)
584-1919 by Appt. Only

Whole Wheat PIZZA FACTORY
363 Main St.
Amherst
Mon - Thur
11:30 am - 2 am
Fri - Sat
11:30 - 3 am
Fast Free Delivery
256-8587

Archer Kent SAVINGS START HERE!

COUPON
VISUAL SCENE Sunglasses
$4.00 OFF with coupon
Good only at Archer Kent Coupon expires 5/15/83
$4.00 $4.00

NOXZEMA
Antiseptic Skin Cleanser
4 oz.
$1.11
reg. $2.09

VISINE
EYE DROPS
1 oz.
$1.98
reg. $3.35

LISTERINE
Mint Breath Freshner
99¢
reg. $1.75

SENSODYNE
Toothpaste for Sensitive Teeth
4 oz
$1.77
reg. $3.05

TUSSY STICK DEODORANT
2 1/8
77¢
reg. $1.45

STYLE II
Moisturizing Shampoo
16 oz
$1.44
reg. $2.59

191 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst
253-3534
Prices effective through May 15.
Quantity Rights Reserved

Summer Housing 2 min from Campus 120 per month or 300 per summer call Betsy or Bretta 549-0174 549-6823

Room for rent in Sunderland House Beautiful yard, dish & clothes washer $160/month plus utilities 549-1218

2 bdrm apertment in house 5 min walk to dwntn Amherst furnished nice yard near courts & pool cable 325 + or BO 256-8947

Two bedroom Colonial Village fall opt pool bus call 256-0223 $295

Center of town - 3 bedroom apt summer sublet with fall option 549-6264

2 bedrm Brandywine availaJune to Sept rent neg 1 rm fall option 253-5949

Townehouse Apts for the summer; 3 bedroom apt, or rooms available. Air conditioned, fully furnished, 1 mile from campus, on bus route call Liz at 549-0307

Female roommete needed to sublet cheap fall opt 665-7503 keep trying!

Summer sublet wented share Presidential apt furn rent neg 549-0896

Summer sublet/fall option 2 bedroom Sunderland apartment bus route $330/month 665-3097

Colonial Village June 1 - Aug 31 call 253-5288

Must sublet Puffton apertment $350 per month call 549-1672 keep trying

Townhouse apts 3 bedrooms furnished rent negotiable call 549-6709 or 546-9589

Excellent apt 2 lrg bdrms new carpet & floors balcony 665-2081

Summer sublet fall option Southwood for three females pool, tennis, heat included South Amherst bus call 253-9924

mester bdr in condo June 1 - Aug 31 furn excellent on bus line 256-0768 253-9764

Brandywine apt open for summer sublet rent negotiable 546-6349

Colonial Village furnished $255 apt nonfurnished $230 + elec fall option busline morn & eve Linda 256-8796

To sublet w/fall option Brittany Manor still available 256-6818

Sublet w/fall option 1 bedrm apt Triangle St. Amherst 285 mo availa6/1 549-5515

Cheap! Summer sublet w/fall option. 1 bedroom apartment furnished, utilities included near Amherst center on bus route 253-7790

Brandywine fo sumemr two bedroom fall option $310 Dave 546-8730

Sleshed rent near Amherst Center fall option on bus route 253-2653

Sunderland 2 bedroom apt (enough for 3) on bus route for June to Aug pool tennis 546-1178 (Al)

Townehouse 2 bedroom fully furnished June - Aug rent neg 549-4781

Beautifully loceted two bedroom Mill Hollow apt call 549-1177 280 w/fall option

WANTED

Class Rings, Gold and Silver Jewelry and Coins. Daniel Smith, 25 North Pleasant, Amherst, 256-0710

CASH for your RECORDS, TAPES 545-2836 or 774-4409 (Jaromir/ leave message)

Aren't those old beseball cards just collecting dust? Collect cash for them 546-8583

WANTED TO RENT

Quiet senior seeks room in Amherst house w/basement starting 9/1/83 excellent cook 253-2756

Seek fall room in house near campus!!! Two females 546-1122/546-3290 late!!

WATERBED

The ultimate in weterbeds. Queen size waterbed - less than 1 year old. Includes sheets, neadboard, heating unit and pedestal. Price negotiable. Call Jay at 665-7574

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Come to Collegian Office CC 113 • 8:45-3:45 Monday - Friday • Deadline is 3:45 two days prior to publication day
Cash in advance • 15 consecutive days 10 % • discount • Phone number FREE

AUTO FOR SALE

Convertible - 1969 Ford Gelexie runs well $300 or BO call 253-7221 after 5

1975 Datsun runs great needs body work 550 549-5159

1980 Toyote Celice five speed air conditioning AM/FM superb engine dependable $5700 549-6923

71 Toyote great buy!! $300 best offer Nate 253-9015

1973 Chevy Bel Air runs beautifully, AC, super stereo some rust $650/BO 253-9467

1980 Chevy Monze 4 speed, sunroof, dependable, excellent gas mileage, very good condition. BO call 253-7779

1973 Buick Electre good condition new engine $700 or BO 549-4136

Pontiac Grend Prix, 76. T-roof, power windows, breaks, steering. All black. Runs well & in good condition. BO. 6-9660 Aamir

BACKGAMMON TOURNAMENT

Tonight 9 PM at the Pub Amherst Big Cash Prizes Be There!

BRITTANY MANOR FOR FALL

2 bdrm apt avail for June sublet w/fall option. First come first serve. 253-9409

CAPE COD BOUND?

Meture couple wanted to rent room at Cape Cod for the summer. JUne 19 to Aug 31, South Orleans Mass. Large rooms, deck, fireplace, close to beach. Call 367-2606 or 549-5829

CAPE COD SUMMER RENTAL

W. Yarmouth, Hyennis, Dennis; Largest inventory of studios, 1, 2, 3, & 4 bedroom units; Direct from owners. 1-617-528-8300 or 1-617-771-2233

ENTERTAINMENT

Reckedisc Entertainment Agency Inc. Bands Discjockeys guaranteed student functions 256-0739

FALL APARTMENT FOR RENT

2 bedroom Brittany Manor apt for rent for fall. Apt will be semi-furnished & in excellent condition. Call 253-5560

FOR RENT

STUDENT HOUSING Chi Rho welcome applications from single grads and undergrads including freshmen and sophomores. Contact First Baptist Church for more information about this Christian ministry house call 549-3596 or 256-6691

Fall Rentel large Sunderland house 6 bedrooms 3 full baths complete kitchen washer-dryer large living room enclosed porch on bus route $157/mo + util call 665-4803

Call Us Quick summer sublet with fall option Southwood Apt 2 bedroom front view first come - first serve 253-9083

3 bedroom apt new, huge, center of town. Available June 1 with fall option. Call after five 549-0477

Definite fall option female roommate for single bedroom nonsmoker available 6-1 rent 120+ negotiable apt on Amherst Belchertown line no walk to bus wait inside call Susan 256-8784 or 323-6311 ext 257

Four bedroom apartment Amherst, summer only rent very negotiable 1 room possible fall option 6-7175/6-7164

Two bedroom Colonial Village, summer sublet/fall option. Negotiable. 256-8451

1 bedroom in Mill Hollow Apts available Sept call Bruce 549-0437, 545-0528

FOR SALE

10000 used records just bought. Hundreds put out daily. MAIN STREET RECORDS, Northampton. Many hard to find 584-3130 or 586-5726

Brand new moped, never been ridden. Must sell immediately call Rob 586-5424

BSR 80 watt speekers, great sound excellent condition three-way. $130.00 or best offer 256-8697

1980 Vespa Motorscooter P125. Only 750 miles. 100 + mpg. $1000. Call 467-9046

I went to sell my ten speed bike please call 256-6818

Double bed with wooden platform, two wooden bureaus. $140 or BO call Linda 549-0307

Refrigeretor for sele 5 cu. ft. works great call 546-4763

Ricoh 500GX 35mm camere with sunpack auto flash $70 call Andrea 549-4460

Hendcrefted weterbed for sale. Call 253-5674 anytime.

FOUND

Found cer end room key on keychein Tues night by FAC call Mary 6-3298 to identify

Found keys in SW fields, Friday 4/29 call to identify Tommy or Dan 546-7831

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, GRIF

Hey Pemele Griffin, you've hit the big 19! Congrets, end heve e wonderful dey.

Lots of love
Liz

PS - Send me e postcerd from Italy, you jet-setter!
PS2 - "You ere en exemplery roomie." Thet men thinks so, too! (It's e privete joke, UMess)

HAVE I GOT A DEAL FOR YOU

One large bedroom in beautiful Rolling Green apartment utilities included pool June 1 to August 31 best offer keep trying Denise 253-5356 Laurie 546-5407

HELP WANTED

CITIZEN ACTION IN THE 80's: Summer and Full Time Jobs with Mass Fair Share, largest statewide citizen organization for community fundraising, outreach and citizen lobby building on consumer and environmental issues HRS: 2-10 PM PAY $175-225 ave/wk plus benefits CALL: 586-8713 9 AM - 1 PM Northampton for Boston area call 1-800-952-7478

Looking for experienced resteurent help for Cape restaurant. Also landscaping maintenence call 253-5482

The SGA Treasurer's Office is now hiring for two positions for the summer and fall: SGA Controller and Treasurer's Assistant. Accounting and office work experience is essential. Pickup applicstions at the Treasurer's Office, 407 S.U.B. - Deadline is May 11 We are an AA/EEO employer.

SGA PRESIDENT'S OFFICE offers interns indep. studies, and credits working on research and advocacy of educational & social concern to students. Affirmative Action Employer Rm 406E SUB 545-0341

Experienced reliable childcare sought for 3½ yr old 3-5 afternoons a wk call Carolyn 253-3162

Collegian Drivers' positions available for Fall '83. Must have car, morning hours free. Apply in person to Rm 113 Campus Center. The Collegian is an equal opportunity employer

Summer work 320 per wk and up, travel hard workers car preferred but not required send name address end phone to Summer Work Box 299 Amherst MA

GREENPEACE, The international environmental organization seeking summer help for outreach/fundraising. Help save endangered species, preserve the marine environment and end the erms race. Hrs 2 pm - 10 pm Pay 140-200 wk Campus Center Interviews Tues May 10 CC 901 10 am -noon & 1 pm - 4 pm or call 253-7282 10-5

Cruise Ship Jobs! Great income potential, all occupations. For information call: 602-837-3401 ext 833

Cook for Freternity starts next fall more info call 546-1452 after 7 pm

Summer Jobs promoting ecology, safe energy and consumer rights MASSPIRG the state's largest public interest organization has summer and permant staff positions available for public education and fin-draising, will train. $150-250/wk. For interviews call 256-6434 2-5 pm

HOUSES FOR RENT

4 bedrooms in Northempton for Sept. 5 bedrooms in Hadley for summer, 4 bedrooms in Amherst for summer, perhaps Sept option. Skibiski Realtors 584-3428

LOST

3 keys on chain in fields across from Boyden. Call 546-7365

Small black female cat with white reflector collar. Last seen April 25. Has abscess on stomach which needs attention. Please any indo call 253-5803, 584-0056

Gold necklace lost at a DC Brandywine party night of April 23. Reward 546-6237

Gold wetch inscription on back. $25 reward 546-9725

T-Squere lost in Mechmer or the Student Union or somewhere in between or neither of these places. I need it before finals or I'm screwed. If found please contact Andy at 253-2247

PERSONALS

Big Bucks summer positions $310 per wk travel cat not required but preferred call anytime for info 549-4085

To the hurting unit movers you will never catch the spirit signed #1 Team

It's not too late
Return your Course and Teacher Evaluation forms to Rm 420, St. Union
Help Us Help Us

Congratulations to the 24 wild new sisters of Alpha Chi! Love your sisters

Deer Terry, Here's to the 4 Muskateers but mostly you A.P. Have a great 20th! Love always, Megan

James - Thanks for a fantastic weekend! Love you forever, Coz

Liz, Happy 21st Birthday to our favorite redhead! Love, Laurie & Laura

Jill Amige Mia! Buenos Cumpleanos! Con todo, Minda

Craig Jordenesbesiment Happy 19th! 313! Ablueterate 'em! I love you! XOXOMNYAK 'N' SNYAK (S & M)

Mer, Ange, Keth, Jen, Je, Ei, Cer -Thanx guys for the "sweet" unforgetable 20th - Jill

Boyface: We didn't forget!! Happy 21st love, Diane, Donna, Sue, and Judy

Dear Terry: Happy 20th! One less person to sneak into Dicks! Love JoJo

LESBIAN/GAY MAY DAY - Friday May 13, 1983 speakers, workshops, dance and more. For further information call The People's Gay Alliance at 5-0154 or see the ad eisewhere in this paper

Free Trained Lesbian/Gay Peer Counselling, referral MTuThF 4-8 pm 433SU 545-2645

Benned in 30 Countries
Night of the Living Deed
Wednesday May 11
4, 7, 9, 11
sponsored by Pi Sigma Alpha

Donna - Happy 20th you are very special! Till the walls come tumblin' down I'll be there! Love Andy

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Dissertations, theses, cases, papers guaranteed acceptance low rates 5-0392, 584-7924 Nancy.

PUPPY

One adorable puppy is looking for a stable home 549-6339

RIDERS WANTED

Driving to Houston about June 1. Need one or two people to split expenses. Joel 256-0435 evenings

ROLLING GREEN APT

Summer sublet, two bedrooms, AC, all utilities, furnished, negotiable. Joel 256-0435 nights

ROOM WANTED

2 meles need housing on Cape in Bourne, Hyannis area Mark 256-6986 or 253-5482

ROOMMATES WANTED

Responsible roommate wanted to share room in Southwood. Summer and possible fall option. Cheap rent. Call Jim 256-8471 evening

Townehouse 2 people to share bdroom in 2 bdroom apt starts June 1 665-4669

1 or 2 femeles wanted for rm in 2 bedr Brandywine starting June or Sept 253-5949

Rolling Green apt female for own bdrm in 3 bdrm apt call 253-2264

Rolling Green - one female to share bedroom $118/mo all utilities incl starting Sept 1 for fall 256-8335

Looking for one or two people to fill one room in two bedroom apt for fall call 256-8630 now

Female roommete wanted to share room in Brandywine with summer sublet and fall for info call 546-6349

One bedroom in Southwood epertment non-smoking female. Fall option. Rent negotiable 256-0769

Roommete for W. Yermouth apt this sumemr good location near Seagull Beach 549-1643

SERVICES

Fest Accurate Typing $1.50/page Leslea 584-3433

SUMMER RENTALS

The ideel piece: centrally located on campus, everything and more included. $250. for singles, $150. for doubles for the full summer. call Glenn S. at 545-0047 or 545-2150

SUMMER SUBLET

2 bedrm Northwood furnished pool AC on bus route 100 each 256-6887 Jenifer

2 bdrm apt Amherst Center $400/mth avail 6/1 253-9577

Furnished Townehouse Apt. AC, rent negotiable, call Scott or Rich,549-0516

Britteny Manor 2 bedroom cheap across from bus stop 253-3301

Two cheap big rooms in country house 3 miles from campus. $80 month. 549-4729 before 8:30 am or after 5 pm fall option

1 bdrm in Amh house laundry fac, 2 furn housemates, short walk to campus, garden, 138/mo 253-3545 Sam, Rick, Jess

Puffton Villege summer sublet fully furnished cheap Tom 549-6715

Studio apertment in Belchertown summer sublet w/fall option near center, on bus route call 323-5886 evenings

Puffton 3 bedroom 2 bath, furnished $100/mo 549-1873

Fall option - 1 bedroom Brandywine 107/mo includes utilities call 549-5234

3 bedroom Puffton Village exceptionally well kept, pool, tennis courts only $100 per person, will negotiate call Bev at 549-1865

Large sunny four bedroom apartment adjacent to campus on Phillips St available for summer sublet only $475.00/mo negotiable call Debbie 549-0546

Summer fall option 2 bedrooms in beautiful house, swimming, bus, $155 253-5511

Only beautiful 3 floor two bedroom Riverfront apt master bedroom still available only $149 suitable for two pool air furnished 549-4405

2 furnished rooms in house $150/month June 1 - Aug 31 females only ask for Mary 253-2414

Summer sublet Brandywine 1 bedroom neg furnished AC call 549-0343

2 bedroom Townehouse Apt rent negotiable June to August 549-5103

Room aveilable in house Amherst Center 2 porches great location $130 month + ult 253-9403

Female wented to sumemr sublet Brandywine room for more information call 549-0425

Cheap Brandywine Apt $200 negotiable females only 549-0116

Brandywine two bedrooms full kitchen bathroom spacious livingroom pool two busroutes cheap call 549-1405 negotiable

Summer sublet/fell option bedroom in Swiss Vlg on bus route. $130 month utilities included. Call 253-3494

Amherst two rooms in house close to campus and town 253-3470

3 bedroom apt good location on bus route, balcony 100/month/person 549-1643

3 bedroom Puffton - all three bedrooms open for summer - double bedroom comes with fall option - cheap and convenient 549-1893

Britteny Menor fall option A/C top floor redone call 253-9678

* $215.00 SUNDERLAND 2 BDS ***

Beeutiful 2 bedroom apertment right on bus route furnished or nonfurnished summer sublet fell option call Anne or Tom 665-7918 Do not pass this up!

THE CAFE AT GUIDO'S

Cape Cod this summer? MEET ME AT GUIDO MURPHY'S BACKROOM, Hyannis, Massachusetts. Decadent drinks, terrific times, happier hours.

TO SUBLET

Wonderful, luxurious, cozy 4 bedroom apt to sublet with fell option. This sounds like your apartment, well it can be your apartment for summer all you have to do is call Jay or Rich at 665-7574. Price is very reasonable. Very.

Presidentiel Apt sublet for summer with fall option for 1 of two bedrooms call 549-0886

Sublet 6/1 to 9/1 2 bdrm Townehouse apt furnished North Amherst $300 + 549-3819

Looking to get rid of e No Amherst 3 bedroom apt for-ever take it for the summer and pay less than 2 months rent walk to campus call Karen 549-1377

Sunny 2 bdrm June 1 - Aug 31 $295/mo + elec 256-8027 early aft or after mid

Summer at Townehouse Apt. furnished 2 rooms rent neg 549-6354

Brendywine 1 bedroom apt furnished June 1 - Sept 1 549-5825

Sports

More sports on page 13

Baseball team gets ECAC bid

Top AIC 5-3 in comeback

By TONY BETROS
Collegian Staff

The big news this weekend concerning the University of Massachusetts men's baseball team was not the fact they once again came from behind to win, defeating American International College 5-3, but the fact Saturday they were selected for the ECAC playoffs.

UMass is seeded number two in a four team-double elimination tournament to begin on Thursday at McCoy Stadium in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, home of the Boston Red Sox Triple A farm club.

In Friday's game at Lorden field against AIC, neither side mounted much of an attack as UMass pitcher Bruce Emerson (3-3) and AIC hurler Rick White, dominated the game the first five innings.

The first inning was a little scary for Emerson as AIC put two runners on with two outs, but a deep fly to center by shortstop Dennis Ashe ended the inning.

UMass mounted a threat in the second inning, but couldn't capitalize. Chris Waszczuk led off the inning by reaching on an error. One out later, Andy Conners laid down a dandy of a bunt for a base hit, but both runners were stranded.

AIC, with the benefit of a few nice plays by the UMass defense, didn't produce a baserunner between the second and fifth innings. Conners made a fine stab to his glove side in the third, Dean Bennett made a beautiful play at second base in the fourth, and catcher Dan Clifford caught a tough foul pop in the fifth.

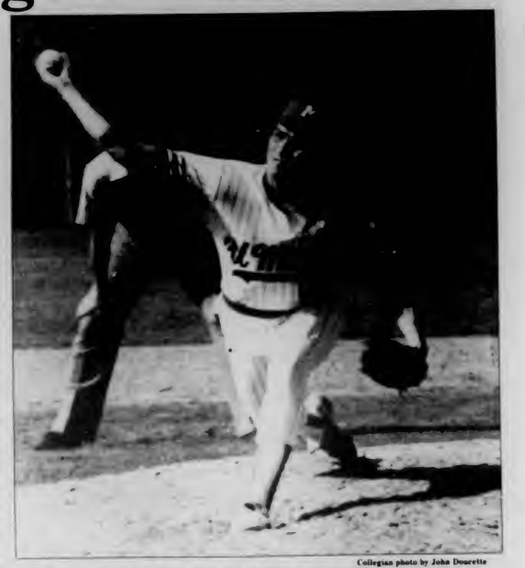
Emerson's fine pitching performance was going for naught as the UMass offense could not generate anything. When they did, the rally would end. Witness the fifth inning: Conners led off with a single, and left fielder Jeff Cimini followed with a base hit to right. After a sacrifice bunt by Bruce Kingman with two strikes, the Minutemen had runners on second and third with one out. Clifford hit a short fly to center (too short to get the runner in from third) and Bennett popped out to end the inning.

AIC exploded for three runs in the sixth inning, loading the bases on a double, an infield hit, and a walk with nobody out. That brought up first baseman Jim Roy, who responded with a two-run single. Emerson did get designated hitter Jim Van Houten to hit into a double play, but Ashe came up and delivered an 0-2 pitch to center field, driving in the third AIC run.

In the bottom half of the sixth, Emerson decided to take matters into his own hands, leading off with a double. Todd Comeau must have liked what he saw, hitting a double of his own, knocking in Emerson. Waszczuk singled, Angelo Salustri walked, and that was all for White. Conners came up against Scott Fitts, and on an 0-2 pitch, slammed a base hit, closing the gap to 3-2. Cimini, up with the bases loaded, went with the pitch and hit a double to right center, clearing the bases and giving UMass a 5-3 lead. Jay Casella came in to pitch and set down the Minutemen but the damage was done.

Jim Gallagher came on to pitch for UMass and allowed only one hit and one walk in the last three innings, saving the game for Emerson. Gallagher set down the side in order, finishing in style with a strikeout, to guarantee UMass at least a .500 record.

The final home game is Tuesday when the Minutemen face Dartmouth in a doubleheader starting at 1 p.m.



Collegian photo by John Doucette

Bruce Emerson was the winning pitcher in the Minutemen's 5-3 win over AIC.

Gorillas overwhelmed by Syracuse, Maryland

By BILL SHEA
Collegian Staff

When it came time for Dick Garber to arrange the 1983 lacrosse schedule, the University of Massachusetts head coach took a team poll to decide what schools the Gorillas would like to battle with this season.

Instead of scheduling Bunker Hill Community and Hampshire College the Gorillas, who receive no scholarship aid, decided to take on the elite of collegiate lacrosse. After all, Gorilla teams in the past had handled difficult schedules and strength of schedule would be in favor of the Gorillas if they wound up in a position to squeeze into post season action.

So Garber put together what many consider the most difficult lacrosse schedule in the country, which included games with Division III champion Hobart College, Army, Hofstra, Cornell, Syracuse and Maryland, all teams rated in the top ten in the country at some point in the year.

Well, this weekend the Gorillas hit a new season low, being outplayed by a superior Syracuse squad Friday, dropping a 15-7 decision and then turned in their biggest Jekyll and Hyde act losing to number eight Maryland 13-4 Sunday.

The home season that started so optimistically with a 11-4 opening game win over Hobart ended so miserably against Maryland, as the Terrapins, who trailed 4-1 in the first period, ripped off 12 consecutive goals, including eleven in a row in the second half.

Unlike the Syracuse game, when UMass made the mistake of trying to run with the Orangemen, the Denver Nuggets of collegiate (they average 17 goals a game) and fell behind 6-1 in the first period, the Gorillas slowed the ball down against Maryland and took an early 2-1 lead on a pair of goals by junior midfielder Stuart Orns.

Timmy Cutler scored and Tom Lukacovic added another goal, the last Gorilla tally of the day, with 52 seconds left in the first period. Maryland scored one more time and the Gorillas had a 4-2 halftime lead.

Then came the saddest half of lacrosse the Gorillas have played this year. Maryland was one step ahead, one move ahead of the Gorillas the entire half, bombarding Gorilla sacraficial lamb (a.k.a. a goaltender) Chris Benedette with 33 second half shots while the Gorillas managed just 14 shots on net the second half.

Watching this weekend it appears the Gorillas stacked the deck too high.

Collegian photo by John Doucette

Greg Fisk scores the first Gorilla goal in the 15-7 loss to the Syracuse Orangemen Friday.

Weller watches young Gorillas from the side

By JIM FLOYD
Collegian Staff

Jim Weller seemed to glide across the turf on Boyden Field as if he were waltzing on a cushion of air. He weaved onecourse with his feet and another with the lacrosse stick he carried. Smoothly, effortlessly he hypnotically moved in front of a tense goalie. No emotion, no hard work, just smooth.

Then, when you were just starting to enjoy the way he moved...TWAAP! The ball was in the net.

A goal for the Gorillas? Nope, just warm-up time for UMass goalkeeper Chris Benedetto before yesterday's 13-4 loss to the University of Maryland in a game that saw the Gorillas jump out to a 4-1 first quarter lead before slipping into some type of mysterious comatose.

Weller doesn't play lacross for UMass anymore. He's the assistant coach now, not the All-American attack who led the Gorillas in scoring for the three previous years. The money man of the Gorillas offense went and graduated.

"It's frustrating," said Weller of the role of spectating and coaching at games instead of checking and shooting, gliding and scoring, "but, I've learned to accept the fact that I won't be out there. You can't live in the past."

You can't. But, if you are a Gorilla fan, you may want to. The Maryland loss dropped the local laxters record to 4-9 and the two-loss weekend clinched the first losing season for UMass mentor Dick Garber since 1965.

Weller points to the tough schedule and he's right. The Gorillas are refuted by most lacrosse experts to play the most difficult schedule in the entire country.

The Ontario, Canada native and member of the Canadian national team also points to the relative youthfulness of this year's squad and says that the team will get better with maturity and that sounds reasonable, too.

What else?

"The fan support. This is the only year we haven't had the big crowds. We definitely would have done better with the fans behind us," Weller said.

And then he broke into stories of days past on Boyden Field, days when the team was winning and the crowds were wild before summing up this year's team.

"They are trying their best," he said, "They're just one second, one pass, one scooped ball that we should have had away from being a good team."

Frustrating, yes, it's just plain frustrating for Weller.

